

FAMILIES OF HAWKINS COUNTY, TENNESSEE

1786 – 1994

VOLUME 1

(REVISED 2007)

Families of Hawkins County, Tennessee 1786 – 1994 is a compilation of family histories written with obvious pride and affection by individuals in the county and in many other parts of the country and the world.

The Editor has made every effort to preserve the spirit and flavor of these articles and has made changes in style only when it was absolutely necessary. The editorial staff has made no attempt to verify the information presented herein, nor to gratuitously add information to any article. The staff reserved the right to correct spelling and punctuation and to clarify sentence structure when necessary.

This CD-ROM is a social history of Hawkins County families collected and published by the Hawkins County Genealogical & Historical Society. The Book Committee acknowledges with gratitude the courtesy of the contributors and the splendid cooperation of all those who assisted in the preparation of the book.

This CD-ROM is a collection of articles written by those with a nonprofessional interest in preserving our social history. No doubt, there will be some errors. If errors were introduced, we apologize. We did our best!

Questions concerning the content of any article should be addressed to the author submitting the material, who alone is responsible for its content. The final product is based upon material submitted to our society, and which we have authenticated to the best of our knowledge and ability. Please note that this material was originally published in 1994, so some authors are now deceased and some addresses have changed. We no longer have the original photographs that were published in the first edition.

Cover photo: William Harve & Martha Jane Manis Price family reunion, May 1937, Rogersville, TN

Hawkins County Genealogical & Historical Society
PO Box 429
Rogersville, Tennessee 37857-0429

<http://www.rootsweb.com/~tnhcghs/>

©2007 All Rights Reserved. No Duplication without permission.

CD design & revision by Michael Alvis

Wilson ABSHER

Wilson Absher, born 1836, son of John and Sarah Robinson Absher, married Susanette Alvis on 27 December 1859 by David D. Anderson, the Minister of Dunkard Church.

Wilson enlisted as a Private in the 43rd Reg't Tennessee Infantry, "E" Co., C.S.A. on 5 November 1861, at Rogersville, TN. He was captured on 4 July 1863 at Vicksburg, Mississippi and paroled 9 July 1863. Afterwards, he enlisted in the Union Army as a Private on the 16th day of March 1864 at Nashville, TN in the 3rd Regiment of Tennessee Cavalry Volunteers, "I" Co. He was reported as being a prisoner of war on 25 September 1864.

Wilson was killed on his way home by the explosion of the Steamer Sultana on 27 April 1865 on the Mississippi River near Memphis, TN. One hundred seventy four men from the 3rd Tennessee Cavalry lost their lives due to the explosion.

Wilson and Susanette's children were Armina and Henry Wilson. Armina Absher, born 2 March 1860, married J. W. Sizemore on 12 December 1881 by Jno. N. Spears, J.P. She died on 25 February 1938. J. W. was born on 22 June 1858 and died on 24 July 1938. Both are buried in the Highland Cemetery in Rogersville.

Henry Wilson Absher, born on 18 April 1864, married Elizabeth N. ca. 1884 (ed: Are these W. H. Absher and Elizabeth Starks who married 24 November 1884 in Hawkins County?). Henry died 5 August 1916. Elizabeth was born on 22 May 1861 and died 7 April 1926. Both are buried in the Jim Alvis Cemetery.

Related story:

Joseph H. Alvis

Submitted by:

*Raymond Absher
305 Ross Circle
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Charles Dabney ALVIS, Sr.

Charles Dabney Alvis, Sr., born 1777 in Hanover County, VA, died 1861 in Hawkins County, TN, married ca. 1806 in Hanover Co. to Rebecca Arnall. Rebecca was born 12 October 1784 in Hanover Co. VA, and died 28 November 1830 in Hawkins Co. TN. Charles is listed on the Hanover Co., VA personal property tax roll as paying 12 cent tax on one horse on 10 March 1803. Charles first joined the 74th Regt. of the VA Militia, commanded by Capt. Joseph F. Price, on 20 March 1813 at Hanover County. Later he was drafted for a term of six months to serve in the 6th Regt. of VA Militia, commanded by Capt. Wingfield. His father-in-law, Henry Arnall, Sr. was in the same regiment. Charles received an honorable discharge at Norfolk, VA on 28 December, 1813.

The last record found of Charles in Hanover Co. was on the tax roll of 20 March 1815. Charles, Rebecca, and five sons – Elias, Charles Jr., William, George, and John M. – moved to Hawkins Co. about 1818-19. The next child, Mary Ann, was born in 1819 in Hawkins Co. On 7 September 1824 Charles enters 50 acres of land on the north side of the Holston River in Caney Valley on the waters of Caney Creek.

After Rebecca died, Charles married Susan Arnall. She was born ca. 1779 in Hanover Co., VA and died ca. August 1867 in Hawkins Co., TN. They were the daughters of Henry and Mary Arnall of Hanover Co., VA. Charles was a farmer and lived in the Sulphur Springs community, Pressmen's Home, TN. Charles, Rebecca, and Susan are buried in the Winstead's Cemetery, Rogersville, TN.

His will was dated 22 March 1861, proven 3 February 1862, in Hawkins Co. Will Book 1, page 26. Joseph H. Alvis was appointed administrator on 5 August 1867 for the estate of Susan Alvis, in Minute Book 2, page 293.

Charles and Rebecca's children were: Elias Henry, Charles D., William A., George W., John M., Mary Ann, Virginia Rebecca, Joseph H., Thomas Jefferson, and Thaddaas Jackson Alvis.

Elias Henry Alvis, born 9 January 1807 in Hanover Co., VA, died 14 October 1867 in Kaufman Co., Texas, married on 26 January 1837 to Rebecca Turner Ogletree in Talladega, AL. Elias was a carpenter by trade. Rebecca was born 14 January 1821 in Wilkes Co., GA, and died 16 September 1902 in Terrell, Texas. Elias and Rebecca decided to move their family from Talladega on 25 October 1848. They left by wagon with six children going through Mississippi, Louisiana and finally stopped at Larissa, TX on 14 December 1848.

His diary states that they traveled 768 miles and spent a total of $66.41 for fodder, corn, sugar, pork, ferry service, etc. The family continued to grow in Larissa with the addition of four more children.

Charles D. Alvis, Jr., born 1809 in Hanover Co., VA, died ca. 1896 in Hawkins Co., TN, married 14 January 1835 to Sarah Johnson. Sarah was born 1817 in Hawkins Co. TN. Their burial place is unknown. Charles was a farmer in the Pressmen's Home, TN area. They were the parents of five children: Amanda, Davis, Garland M., Andrew, and Charles D. III.

William Anderson Alvis, born 10 March 1810 in Hanover Co., VA, died 28 February 1900 in Hawkins Co., TN, married ca. 1830 Elizabeth Johnson. Both are buried in the Jim Alvis Cemetery. William served as a Justice of the Peace and Commissioner for Hawkins Co. in addition to being a farmer. William had three sons that served in the Confederate Army: George N., William H., and Richard J. Alvis. They all enlisted in B Co., 61st Mounted Tenn. Infantry and were all captured at Big Black River, MS. on the 17th of May 1863.

George W. Alvis, born 10 December 1810 in Hanover Co., VA, married 30 January 1839 to Elizabeth Potts in Talladega, AL. Elizabeth was born ca. 1823 in Georgia, and died 11 September 1866 in Loachapoka, AL. George was a farmer. They were the parents of five children, all born in Alabama. George, Elizabeth, and three children appear in the 1850 Macon Co., AL census, and they cannot be found in any census until they appear in the 1900 Lee Co., AL census.

Mary Ann Susan Alvis, born 1819 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Michael Klepper. Michael and Susan were the parents of eight children. Michael was a farmer.

Virginia Rebecca Alvis, born 1820 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Moses Johnson ca. 1840-41. Moses and Rebecca were the parents of five children. Moses was a farmer.

Joseph H. Alvis, born 1821 in Hawkins

Co., TN. Refer to separate listing.

Thomas Jefferson Alvis, born ca. 1826 in Hawkins Co., TN, died before 1866 in Cherokee Co., TX, married Sarah McGehee 12 February 1852 in Montgomery Co., AL. Thomas was a carpenter by trade. Thomas was listed in his brother Elias' diary, however, I can not be certain this family went to Texas at the same time. The Hawkins County Minute Book #2, page 214, dated 5 November 1866 states that Joseph H. Alvis be appointed Guardian of the minor heirs (two in number) of Thomas J. Alvis.

Thaddaas Jackson Alvis, died unmarried according to Circuit Court records of 1869. No other information can be found on him.

Related stories:

Joseph H. Alvis.

William H. Alvis.

Submitted by:

*Haynes W. Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Haynes W. and Opal (PRICE) ALVIS

Haynes, son of Oscar and Clara Webb Alvis, was born 12 December 1928 at Pressmen's Home, Hawkins Co., TN. He met Opal, born 23 June 1930, daughter of Jackson & Byrd Carpenter Price, at Rogersville High School where they began dating 18 January 1946. They both attended Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, TN, where Haynes majored in business administration and Opal in Home Economics. They graduated together in 1950.

Haynes was employed by Home Service Co. in Rogersville and Opal taught at Clinch High School. They were married 1 June 1951 at the First Baptist Church in Rogersville, TN. Opal returned to school to earn an MS degree at the University of Tennessee and then taught at Rogersville High School.

In 1954 they moved to Tampa, FL where Haynes was employed by Phillips Petroleum Co. Opal taught 1st grade at Manhattan Elementary School five months and then resigned to await the arrival of their first child, Michael Haynes, born 26 April 1955. She then taught part time in the Hillsborough Co. Vocational School in the adult evening program. The family attended Ballast Point Baptist Church where Haynes was ordained as a deacon and Opal taught Sunday school. They bought a home and moved their membership to Bayshore Baptist Church. Their second child, Martha Diane, was born 2 March 1957. Opal continued her education and then began teaching at Grady Elementary School for a short time before changing to part time in the adult program.

In 1964 Haynes was transferred to the Regional office in Atlanta where the family purchased another home at 1287 Brookshire Lane. Michael and Martha graduated from Woodward Elementary School in Dekalb Co. They attended Cross Keys High School where Michael was selected for the Governor's Honors Program. Both children joined Brookhaven Baptist Church where they were baptized. Michael joined Boy Scouts and advanced to Eagle Scout. Martha became a Brownie and advanced through Girl Scouts to First Class Rank in Cadettes. Opal was her leader in Brownies and Cadettes.

The family moved to a new home at 2346 Shasta Way near Northlake Mall where Martha graduated from Lakeside High School. Opal taught clothing construction for Halperns Fabrics, then chose to teach nursery school at Wieuca Road Baptist Church where the family transferred their membership. She continued teaching there nine years.

Michael attended Carson-Newman College where he majored in Art. He worked as school photographer and was on the Appalachian yearbook and Orange & Blue newspaper staff. After graduating as Outstanding Graduate in Art he attended Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL where he majored in painting and photography. After earning the Master of Fine Arts degree, he returned to Carson-Newman to teach photography. Later he worked in Columbus, OH for Wilderness Trace, Inc. While there, he developed his interest in Asian culture. He studied Japanese language and culture at Ohio State University and also completed the Laubach course preparing him to teach English as a Second Language (ESL). After several years of experience teaching an English class for the Asians who attended his church, he applied for a position with the YMCA in Japan. He was assigned to teach at Omiya (now Saitama City), and the neighboring city, Urawa, which are located in Saitama Prefecture, near Tokyo. He found the experience to be very enjoyable and has just completed five years there (1988-1993). He returned in 1995 to teach at Fuji-mi-chu Gakko (Fuji-mi Junior High School) in Tsurugashima and Taiyo Ink (in Ranzan) for 1 year. Since 2001, he has been on the faculty of Carson-Newman College Art Department.

Martha also chose to attend college at Carson-Newman where she majored in Home Economics with an emphasis on child development. As a student she worked part time in the college library and later in the Registrar's office. While at C-N she met Perry F. Koons, a student from Laurel, MD. She and Perry, son of James A. and Nancy Merson Koons, were married 6 August 1976 at New Market Baptist Church, New Market, TN by Dr. Paul Brewer, a professor at C-N. They continued their studies, along with their jobs, until graduation – Martha in 1979 and Perry in 1980. Perry continued his education at the University of Tennessee, earning his MFA in painting while Martha worked at the UT Treasurer's office. Their first child, Perry Michael was born 1 August 1983 in Knoxville. After one year of his position as Artist-in-Residence in Grainger Co., TN schools Perry accepted a position with Hargrove, Inc., Lanham, MD where he is Director of Art. The family moved to Laurel, MD in 1985 and a daughter, Christie Lauren was born 12 July 1987.

In 1976 Haynes retired from Phillips Petroleum Co., and he and Opal moved back to Rogersville to open a business, Alvis Keepsakes, dealing in cards, gifts, Christian books and cake decorating supplies. In 1981 Opal began part-time work at the H.B. Stamps Memorial Library. Haynes closed the business in 1985 to work part-time at Gladson's (formerly Rod Armstrong Co.) and later at Gibson Girl Antiques. He is now fully retired, and Opal continued working at the library until she retired in 1993. They enjoy camping, traveling, and genealogy and are active at First Baptist Church, Rogersville where Haynes is an usher and Opal is a teacher.

Related stories:

Oscar Ronda "Happy" & Clara W. Alvis.

Sidney and Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout.

Milum Jackson and Byrd Carpenter Price.

Submitted by:

*Haynes W. Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

James Edward ALVIS

James Edward was the son of William H. and Mary Polly (Howe) Alvis, being from Hawkins Co., Tennessee. James was born 4 March 1872. His birthplace is a question, we were always told he was born in TN., his obit. says Missouri and census records has Washington Co., Arkansas.

Sometime after his mother's death, James, along with his father and brothers, moved from Tennessee to Washington Co., Arkansas.

James Edward was our grandfather. He remained in Springdale, Washington Co., Arkansas until his death.

Granddad was a farmer, a carpenter, rock layer, a Past Grand of the Oddfellows, a U.S. deputy marshal and also did some preaching. Everyone said he was a handsome man and very well liked. It is said he could do anything with his hands, which seems to be a trait handed down through the generations. The men in our family are all creative with wood, rock, cement, and the younger ones through art. The women are also creative, such as needlework, gardening, cooking, and writing. So far, it's been for their own pleasure. We all have an intense love of nature and the preservation of it. Personal traits we share are our eyes (a person who knows one of us can pick any of the rest of us out just from our eyes), silvery white hair (upon graying), and a most annoying cowlick at the crown of our heads.

One very unique item our granddad made was a solid wood miniature beehive. It was handed down to a great grandson.

On 7 August 1892, James Edward married Laura Alice Lemons in Washington Co., Arkansas, she and her family being formerly from Greeneville, Greene Co. Tennessee.

James and Laura had three children, Betty Ethel, born 13 February 1895, James Leslie, 26 July 1898, and our dad Lee Anderson, 31 December 1903.

When our dad was a very small child, James and Laura were divorced, she taking the children. Later they would both remarry. Laura married Sanford Pierson and moved to western Oklahoma to farm. They later relocated to Mayes County, Oklahoma.

James Edward married Callie Huckaby, 24 June 1908 in Springdale, Arkansas. They had three children. William Dale died as an infant, 13 July 1909, Edward Hal, born 27 June 1912. Edward Hal was married and had two sons, James Edward and Eugene. Edward died 28 December 1967. Onieta, James and Callie's only daughter, was born 18 May 1916. Onieta married Alfred Holland and had one son, Jimmie. Baby William, Onieta, and Alfred are all buried in Zion Cemetery, Springdale, Arkansas.

James Edward was working on a doctor's house in Grove, Oklahoma when the scaffolding gave away, causing him to fall. As a result, he broke a leg. His death certificate says gangrene set in and he died from complications of the fall. He died on 10 August 1931. He, too, is buried in Zion Cemetery, Springdale, Ark.

Related stories:

The Children of James Edward and Laura Alvis.

William H. Alvis.

Submitted by:

*Anna (Alvis) Turner, to
Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout
1121 North East Second Street
Pryor, OK 74361*

The Children of James Edward and Laura ALVIS

James Edward Alvis, 4 March 1872, was the son of William H. Alvis, 22 March 1837 Hawkins Co., TN. James married Laura Alice Lemons on 7 August 1892 in Washington Co., Arkansas.

James and Laura had three children, the eldest being Betty Ethel, born 13 February 1895. We called her Aunt Ethel. She was a charm. Ethel married Claude McCracken in Pryor, Mayes County, OK. They had one child, Ruth Louise, 5 June 1917. Ruth married Earl Guyaux. They had a son, Gary Thomas. Ruth died 25 October 1987.

Uncle Claude and Ethel farmed for some time, then he got into law enforcement. He was the jailer before becoming a deputy sheriff. As the jailer, they resided in the living quarters of the jail. This was in Pryor, Oklahoma. During their tenure, there was a jail break. Aunt Ethel wasn't the hostage, but the pursuer!! She held her ground, running after one inmate, shooting at him!! It brought newspaper reporters from all over to interview her. She held up well, until everything died down, then she had a nervous breakdown. She recovered though, to do what she did best, sew, quilt, needlework, and cook. You always loved going to her house. It was so homey, seems like she always had something cooking. She was never without a pie or cake. When she died on 12 December 1983, she left a ton of warm, happy memories. Aunt Ethel is buried in Fairview Cemetery, Pryor, Oklahoma.

James Leslie, 26 July 1898, was James and Laura's second child. Uncle Jim married Nola McCleery. They had four children, James, died as an infant, Casey Lee, 12 June 1925 never married and died in Chelsea, Rogers Co. OK in late 1992. Their third child, David Charles, 1 August 1927, Cave Springs, Washington Co. Arkansas, married Clarabell Wisdom. Reba was their only child. Edna Marie, the only daughter, was born 25 June 1929, northwest of Pryor, Mayes Co. OK. Edna married Tillman Bare and had three children. Those being: Dale, Anita, and Patti.

Uncle Jim and Aunt Nola lived in Arkansas for a few years, before moving back to Mayes Co., OK. Uncle Jim probably knew the Arkansas relatives better than the rest of the family, because he visited them more often.

Jim and Nola lived on a very wooded farm, on top of a hill. It was always interesting to go visit them. He would take you on hikes through the woods and find some of the most odd stuff. Uncle Jim was a preacher as well as a farmer, I'm told, I don't remember. Aunt Nola had a beautiful singing voice.

Uncle Jim died 6 October 1956. He is buried in Alberty Cemetery, southeast of Pryor, OK.

Lee Anderson was the youngest of James and Laura's children. He is our father. Another article will be about him.

Related stories:

James Edward Alvis.

Lee Anderson Alvis and his children.

Submitted by:

*Anna (Alvis) Turner, to
Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout
1121 North East Second Street
Pryor, OK 74361*

Joseph H. ALVIS

JOSEPH H. ALVIS born 1821 in Hawkins Co., TN, died ca. 1874-76, married Marinda Johnson ca. 1842-43. Marinda was born 1821 in Hawkins Co. Joseph was a farmer by trade. They had 3 girls and 7 boys.

Susanette Alvis, born 1844 in Hawkins Co., married: (1) Wilson Absher on 27 December 1859 by David D. Anderson, Minister of the Dunkard Church. On his way home after being imprisoned during the Civil War, Wilson was killed by the explosion of the Steamer Sultana which blew up in the Mississippi River on 27 April 1865. Susan married secondly to Pleasant Helton 24 November 1866. Pleasant was born 1847, and died 30 April 1897.

Joseph Pinkney Alvis, was born on 26 July 1845 in Hawkins Co., died 1 May 1886 in Hawkins Co., married (1) to Caroline Howe 26 May 1867. Caroline, born 1848, and died October 1879 in Hawkins Co., was the daughter of Nicholas and Polly Howe. Joseph married (2) Rosa Stapleton 11 March 1880. Rosa was born 17 October 1850, died 30 October 1930 in Downs, IL.

Richard Alvis, was born in 1848 in Hawkins Co., TN.

James Perry Alvis, was born October 1850 in Hawkins Co., and married Carolyn .

Sarah Rebecca Alvis, born March 1851 in Hawkins Co., TN, married William Porter Lipe on 25 November 1866 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Eliza Ann Alvis, born 1855 in Hawkins Co., and married George P. Helton on 5 November 1876 in Hawkins Co., TN.

James Harvey Alvis, born 17 December 1856 in Hawkins Co., died 13 December 1915, married (1) Mildred Baker 1881 in Hawkins Co., TN. Mildred was born 1859, and died 1883. Joseph married (2) Elizabeth A. Campbell on 10 June 1887. Elizabeth was born 17 January 1857 and died 26 June 1914. All three are buried in the Heyworth Cemetery in Randolph, IL.

Thomas Jefferson Alvis, was born 20 March 1860 in Hawkins Co. TN and died on 21 February 1924. He is buried in the Jim Alvis Cemetery.

Benson Turner Alvis, born in February 1862, died on 17 March 1936, married (1) Margaret Lipe on 21 January 1883 in Hawkins County, TN. Margaret was born September 1860. Turner married (2) Cornie Jane Klepper Johnson on 9 February 1920. Cornie was born in 1881 and died in 1961.

Bud Alvis, born 25 June 1863 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 26 February 1933, and married Lucy Alice Haynes 1 February 1890 in Hawkins Co. Lucy, born 28 April 1869, died 14 February 1936, was the daughter of John Mabin and Sallie K. Haynes. Bud was a carpenter by trade. They were the parents of 2 girls and 7 boys.

Eugene Haynes Alvis, born 30 December 1890 in Hawkins Co., died 22 January 1970, married 10 October 1925 Mary Jackson, born 4 November 1903 in Kentucky, and died 13 May 1991 in Louisville, KY. Eugene served in the Army during World War I. He was a house painter by trade.

Rex Wilmott Alvis, was born on 15 December 1892 in Hawkins Co., TN and died 6 May 1895.

Samuel Hubert Alvis, was born on 25 May 1894 in Hawkins Co., TN and died on 13 September 1896.

Oscar Ronda "Happy" Alvis, was born 6 October 1896 in Hawkins Co., died 26 April 1959, and married Clara Bell Webb on 26 December 1925 by Rev. J.R. Chiles. "Happy" served in the Navy during World War I. On returning from service, he went to work as a plasterer at Pressmen's Home, TN and while there, played baseball on the I.P.P. & A.U. team for many years. The family moved to Rogersville in 1929 and he went to work helping install the first presses at the International Playing Card & Label Co. He was foreman of the electroplating department there for 28 years.

Bonnie Alvis, born 25 June 1899 in Hawkins Co., died 16 September 1985, married on 27 January 1917 to John Hamblen. John was born in March 1891 and died 13 June 1958. Bonnie was a housewife.

Haynes Winfrey Alvis, was born on 22 September 1901 in Hawkins Co., TN and died 6 April 1902.

Aubrey Lee Alvis, born 5 March 1903 in Hawkins Co., died 26 May 1987 at Veterans Hospital, Mountain Home, TN, married (1) Barbara "Betty" Morse November 1927 in Dillon, SC. Betty was born 10 September 1902 in Germany, and died 11 December 1971 at Indian Rocks Beach, FL. He married (2) Dorothy Bernice Corum Werellus on 13 November 1979 in Carson City, NV. Aubrey joined the U.S. Army at the age of 15 and retired on 28 February 1950 after 30 years of service.

Gladys Mame Alvis, born 1 April 1905 in Hawkins Co., married John Alvis on 22 April 1931 in Gate City, VA. John was born 17 November 1901, and died 19 September 1987 in Hancock Co., TN. Gladys was a housewife.

John Hal Alvis, born 30 December 1907 in Hawkins Co., and died 14 December 1985, married Magester Mathis on 20 August 1932 in Gate City, VA. Magester was born on 4 December 1910, and died on 7 June 1979 in Kingsport, TN. Hal retired from the International Playing Card & Label Co.

Related Stories:

Wilson Absher.

Charles Dabney Alvis, Sr.

Haynes W. & Opal Price Alvis.

Oscar Ronda Alvis.

Nicholas Haynes.

Milum Jackson and Byrd Carpenter Price.

Albert Webb.

Submitted by:

*Glenn L. Alvis
219 Stewart Hills Dr
Rogersville, TN 37857-7673*

Lee Anderson ALVIS and his children

Lee Anderson Alvis, 31 December 1903, Washington Co., Ark. was the son of James Edward and Laura Alvis. He was the grandson of William H. and Mary Polly (Howe) Alvis, Hawkins Co. TN.

After the divorce of his parents, his mother later remarried. They moved from Arkansas to Western Oklahoma, later relocating in Mayes Co. OK.

Lee married Colista Setters on 24 December 1923 in Mayes County, OK. He was a charter member of the Pryor, OK chapter of the Oddfellows and Colista a charter member of the Rebecca's. They started their married life as farmers. Later, Dad had to take on outside work. He was a carpenter, rock mason, and cement finisher. One project he worked on was the Pensacola Dam (world's largest multi-arch dam), here in Mayes Co. Most of the rock work Dad did here in Pryor is gone now, due to progress.

In December of 1943 our family moved from Mayes Co. to Sacramento, CA. Life was never the same after that. Dad was away from home a lot with his work, and family problems arose.

May 31, 1945 our mother died. She is buried in the Oddfellow Cemetery, Sacramento, California.

Dad and Mom had seven children, all being born in Chouteau, Mayes County, OK, except myself. I am still trying to gather pertinent information on them.

They are as follows: James Henry 14 May 1925. He was married twice, first to Ada Hunt, then to Barbara Conrad. He and Ada had one daughter, Linda Laverne. He and Barbara had a daughter, Cherisse and a son James. Jim was in the army during WWII. After his discharge he entered construction. His work resume reads like a small history book of Sacramento and surrounding areas. Jim died 2 March 1985 at his home in Auburn, CA. He is buried in Sacramento Memorial Cemetery, Sacramento, CA.

My sister, Betty Juanita 11 Oct 19??, was married several times. Her children are: James William Richard (Lester Richard, his father), Raymond Eldon and Flava Elnora Ling (David Ling, their father), Lee McClellan and Anna Marie Robinson (John Robinson, their father). Betty and her present husband, Michael Raposa, have been married for several years. They had no children, except for all "THEIR BABIES" they've had at their day care. And what caretakers they have been! With as many as six children, under three years of age, the house stays immaculate, the children well behaved and loving them as parents.

Opal Laura 29 May 19??, married Manual Faulkner. They have four children, Herman Dwight, Wathenia Deloris, Coy Don, and Barry Michael. Except for about six years in California, they have spent their life in Mayes County.

Sanford Eugene 10 April 1933, had two marriages. The first to Margaret Johnson, the mother of his three daughters. His present wife is Barbara (Bonivert). Gene's girls are: Colista Mae, Andrea Gaye, and Gina Marie. Gene is retired now from the construction business. He and Barbara moved to Pryor, from California after their retirement.

Anna Elizabeth 20 August 1935, married Joseph Turner. They had five children, Deborah Lynn, Athena Gail, David Lee, JoAnna (died at birth) and LaVena Jo. Anna has only recently been divorced and has also returned to Pryor from California.

Norman Foster, born 12 July 1937 also had two marriages. First to Jeanette Conrad, next to Antonette Clark. Norm and Jeanette had four children, Jeanie (died as an infant), Norman Foster, Darrell, Desiree, and Robert Eugene. Antonette being the mother of daughter, Heather. Norm is self-employed and is a bicycle racer for charity. He, along with brother Sanford served in the army during the mid 1950's.

Ruth Athalea 19 March 1940, Pryor, Mayes Co., OK. Another story!!

Lee Anderson Alvis died 12 May 1955 in Sacramento, California. He is buried in Sacramento Memorial Cemetery, Sacramento, CA. His descendants, other than his children, to date are; 25 grandchildren and 39 great grandchildren. Of these, there are only three males to carry on the Alvis name.

Related stories:

James Edward Alvis.

Sidney and Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout.

William H. Alvis.

Submitted by:

*Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout
1121 North East Second Street
Pryor, OK 74361*

Oscar Ronda "Happy" & Clara W. ALVIS

OSCAR RONDA "Happy" ALVIS and CLARA BELL WEBB were married the 26th of December 1925 by the Rev. J.R. Chiles in Rogersville, TN. Happy was working as a plasterer at I.P.P & A.U. in Pressmen's Home at the time of their marriage. They moved into the middle house directly below the Pressmen's Home Dam by purchasing second hand furniture to set up housekeeping. Happy played first base for the Pressmen's Home baseball team for many years before injuring his throwing arm, forcing him to quit playing. On December 12, 1928, a son, Haynes Wilmott was born. The family moved to Rogersville in 1929 to 808 W. Main St., a house that Happy, his father Bud, and others had built. He had been offered a position at the newly formed company, International Playing Card & Label Co. He helped install some of the new presses and equipment. After the plant began operating he worked in the electroplating department making printing plates. A second son, Glenn Alvis, was born on January 7, 1932.

Happy was an avid fisherman and enjoyed fishing with his brother Hal, Ed Kilheffer, Barney Sumter and other friends. He was active in the Masonic Lodge where he advanced to the 32nd degree. He was active in civic affairs and served as a city alderman for many years. Clara was active in the Eastern Star for over 50 years. She also enjoyed participating in the Home Demonstration Club for many years.

The family attended the First Baptist Church, Clara teaching in the primary department and Happy serving as a deacon. The boys were in R.A.'s in church, and Haynes was in Boy Scouts. Both Haynes and Glenn attended elementary school and high school in the present Rogersville City School building. During vacation time, the family would go camping at the Berry farm in Mooresburg where they enjoyed fishing and boating. Also, they enjoyed visiting relatives and friends in Illinois, North Carolina, and New Jersey. When Haynes was in high school, he had a parttime job at Harrison Produce Company and was privileged to accompany the produce drivers hauling live and/or frozen chickens to New York market. Both boys graduated from Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, TN, Haynes in 1950 and Glenn in 1954. After graduation, Haynes worked at the International Playing Card & Label Co., Home Service Co., and in August, 1954, he and wife Opal decided to move to Tampa, FL to live. Haynes took a job with Phillips Petroleum Co. and retired after 23 years with the company.

In October 1954, Glenn joined the U.S. Army and took his basic training at Camp Gordon, GA. He was assigned to the Signal Corps and sent to Friedberg, Frankfurt, and Goepingen, Germany. From May 1955 to October 1956, he worked for the U. S. Army Intelligence and Classified Documents Dept. He was discharged at Ft. Jackson, South Carolina. From November 1956 until May 1957, he taught school at Clinch High School, Eidson, TN and boarded at Homer and Victoria Price's. Then he decided to enroll at the University of Tennessee where he received a Master's Degree in Social Science Education. He was the second person to ever receive a Science Degree in Education. He was offered a job at Zephyrhills High School, Zephyrhills, FL where he taught for one year before moving on to Henry Grady Elementary School, Tampa, FL. During the following years, he taught at Woodrow Wilson Junior High, John A. Coleman Junior High, T.R. Robinson Senior High and Bayshore Christian School. After his retirement in 1992, Glenn was offered a part-time position at the International Academy of Merchandising and Design where he is presently teaching. While stationed in the Army and during the summer months, his pastime is traveling in the U.S. and visiting several foreign countries.

Related stories:

Haynes W. & Opal Price Alvis.

Nicholas Haynes Alvis.

Milum Jackson and Byrd Carpenter Price.

Albert Webb.

Submitted by:

*Haynes W. Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

William H. ALVIS

We are not sure exactly where our heritage began. But, with a lot of help and documentation we have found we descend from Charles Dabney Alvis, Sr. ca. 1777, Hanover Co., VA and Rebecca Arnall, 1784, Hanover Co., VA, she being the daughter of Henry and Mary Arnall. From their children, William Anderson Alvis, 10 March 1810, Hanover Co., VA was our great-great grandfather. William married Elizabeth Johnson ca. 1815, Rogersville, Hawkins Co. TN. William would father eleven children. The fourth, William H. 22 March 1837, Hawkins Co., TN being our great-grandfather.

William H. served in Company B, 61st Regiment TN. Infantry in Cap't. Wm. F. Strum's Co. He enlisted 24 September 1862. He was captured and became a prisoner of war 17 May 1863 at Big Black River, Mississippi. Seems he may have been "lost" for awhile. Someone had put his name down as Wm. Oliver! On 10 May 1864 he was paroled.

12 January 1868, William H. married Mary Polly Howe, ca. 1844, in Rogersville, Hawkins Co., TN. She was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth (Cobb) Howe.

William and Mary had five sons. They were: Neal Tipton, ca. 1870, James Edward, 4 March 1872, Thomas Jefferson, ca. 1874, Eugene, ca. 1876, and William, ca. 1878.

It is unknown where Mary died or where she may be buried. We are fortunate to have a picture of her.

Sometime after Mary's death, William H. and sons moved to Washington Co., Arkansas.

After moving to Arkansas, Neal applied for and got his homestead in Washington Co. He married Elmira Graves on 7 January 1900. They had one son, Tipton Dane. Tipton married Jessie Inez Dial on 17 December 1923 in Washington Co., Ark. Neal must have loved his land, for in his will he stated: "That my heirs preserve the timber and not use it in a wasteful way, but to use it for fuel and improvement of the property." We have no date of Neal's death or his burial site. We're sure it would be in Washington Co., Arkansas.

Eugene also remained in Washington Co. He married Martha?, they had three children, Otis ca. 1904, who married Ola Lee McCormick on 4 November 1925 in Washington Co., Ark., and daughters Rosie and Jewel. A newspaper article reads: "Prof." Gene Alvis was one of the leading lights at the Breezy Minstrel Show Saturday night. Eugene died 5 April 1938. He and wife Martha are both buried at Stucky Cemetery, Johnson, Washington Co., Ark. His obituary listed his children at the time as: Mrs. Jewel Alexander of Ontario, CA, Rosie Easton of Buena Park, CA, his son Otis of Walnut Grove, CA.

William (Bill) moved to what was Indian Territory, later becoming Oklahoma. He married, but had no children. He is buried in the Cavalier Family Cemetery, south of Locust Grove, Mayes Co. OK.

Thomas Jefferson also came to Indian Territory. He and Bill lived only about a mile apart. Jeff married Fannie? and had one daughter, Onita. Onita never married. Uncle Jeff is also buried at the Cavalier Family Cemetery.

James Edward, our grandfather, remained in Springdale, Washington Co. Ark. He will appear in another article.

William H. remarried after moving to Arkansas. On 1 October 1887, he married Mary Elder. They had two children. Daughter Lura married George White on 27 June 1909. Lura and George are both buried in Douglas Cemetery, Washington Co. Arkansas. Son Robert married Effie Watts 10 Aug 1922. He was in the Army and we believe they moved to California.

Newspaper articles refer to William H., giving his "famous lecture" on "TRAVELS and ADVENTURES in the WILD WEST."

The following obituary was taken from the FAYETTEVILLE DEMOCRAT March 28, 1901: Mr. W. H. Alvis died at his home near Johnson on Friday (22 March 1901) of pneumonia. He was in town the first of the week and his illness was only of three days duration. Mr. Alvis was a good farmer and was well known throughout the county, having made two contests for representative. He leaves two small children and several grown children.

Related stories:

Charles Dabney Alvis, Sr.

James Edward Alvis.

Submitted by:

*Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout
1121 North East Second Street
Pryor, OK 74361*

AMIS

Thomas Amis, the emigrant arrived in the Virginia Colony in 1638, sponsored by Thomas Symonds, Upper Norfolk Co., Virginia. He apparently arrived from England.

Several stories are presented as to the origin of the Amis line.

1. Born in France and came to Virginia with two brothers, one named John. All brothers mentioned as members of the Nansemond Colony of Huguenots. Only Thomas is however, mentioned by Greer as being sponsored. The main body of Huguenots coming from France & England arrived in Virginia in 1700 at the Manakintown settlement.

2. Four brothers came to Virginia shortly after settlement from England. One ultimately returned to England.

Although some Amis genealogies state the Amis name came into England at the time of the Norman Conquest in 1066 A.D., there seems better indication that the name Amis, Amys, Amies came to England from France in 1559 A.D. when many Huguenots were fleeing France as the protestant persecution increased. The name is found in Essex and Kent. A William Amys settled in Essex County in 1559.

The pronunciation of Amis is cited as Amy in Ramsay's Annals. One branch of the family anglicized the name by adding the second s and for easier pronunciation. The Amiss line founded the community called Amissville, then in Culpeper, now Rappahannock Co., VA.

Thomas Amis, the emigrant apparently married in Virginia as there is no record of a wife having been transported with him as yet found. It is also believed that Thomas was the father (not brother) of John Amis who sold lands in Essex Co., Virginia in 169 and 1698 and purchased land in Middlesex Co., Virginia in 1690 and 1692. It also seems that Thomas also had a son, Thomas II who obtained lands in Gloucester Co., Virginia in 1676. It is Thomas II who had Louis, that became the father of the Thomas who married Rachel Daniel, daughter of James and Margaret Vivion Daniel and granddaughter of Capt. William Daniel, Middlesex County, Virginia.

Huguenot records indicate that Louis Amis, 1670-1750 was a member of the sect at Manakintown. His first name is also seen as Lewis. Amis genealogy indicates he married a Miss Knight. There is again no known record but it is possible as a Peter Knight was in the new Norfolk Co. in the spring of 1638. No Amis records have been found in Goochland Co., where Manakintown is located which also questions earlier statements that he is cited in Huguenot records.

The records of Petworth Parish show the marriage of Louis' son Thomas Amis, Gentleman to Rachiel Daniel, 14 November 1722. They lived in Petsworth Parish, Middlesex Co., Virginia til about 1727. He may be the one who died 1791 in Surry Co., Virginia. His son, John was born in Virginia, 20 August 1724, married Mary Dillard in 1743. He died in Northampton Co., North Carolina in 1764 where his will names a son, Thomas. It is this Thomas that was active in the American Revolution and the early settlement of East Tennessee.

Capt. Thomas Amis came to what is now Hawkins Co., Tennessee after the Revolutionary War where he built his home in 1781 on a thousand acres granted him by the government. The house, still in the Amis family, is listed on the National Register of Historic Sites.

Related Stories:

Thomas AMIS.

John & Tabitha AMIS COX, Janes & Sarah COLLINS COX.

Richard and Frances AMIS GRANTHAM.

Compiled by:

*Mrs. Dorothy Hale Amis
8730 Ferncliff Ave., N.E.
Bainbridge Island, WA 98110*

Submitted by:

Mrs. Ruth Wheeler

Joseph Bradford AMIS

Joseph Bradford Amis was born on the 3rd of June in 1888, and was the youngest son of Henry Bradford Amis (1836-1910) and Mary Frances Spears (1844-1896). Henry Bradford was the youngest son of the marriage of James Amis (1790-1871) and his wife Mary G. Armstrong (1796-1868). Both "H.B." and his son were probably named for Mary's brother-in-law, Henry Bradford, who married her younger sister, Elizabeth.

James Amis was one of the fourteen children of Thomas Amis, the first settler on lower Big Creek near Rogersville. Why James Amis came to reside just below the intersection of Carters Valley Road and Cove Springs Road on one of the feeder branches of Bradley Creek is unclear, but it is probably because his wife Mary inherited the land from her father, William Armstrong (1757-1835).

H.B. and Mary Frances had nine children in all, but only seven lived to adulthood. After his mother died little Joe and the others were cared for at home by Frances Hensley. Joe had four older brothers and two sisters to follow, so he learned to share and accept hand-me-downs at an early age.

The H.B. Amis family farmed during the twilight of the age of horse and mule power. The Amis boys and girls learned milking, shearing, plowing, sowing, mowing, raking, and harvesting. Later the farm would enter the steam powered age. One of the most unforgettable photos of Joe Amis pictures him with an early steam engine complete with iron wheels. His father was a lucky man to have so many sons to help with the chores. This also allowed his youngest son to put a little more time on his schooling, and young Joe did well. He attended Cold Springs School in his elementary years and Maxwell Academy at Stony Point for the higher grades.

Early in his school years Joe Amis met and became fast friends with a boy named Clyde Harrell. Both boys walked the same path to school each day. They were so close in those days that one teacher questioned whether a prank was done by "Joe Harrell" or "Clyde Amis." Joe Amis liked to tell the story of following Clyde thru the snow to school one winter day attempting to walk in his friend's footsteps. As Clyde was quite a bit longer legged than Joe, this effort wore the shorter boy out, long before they got to school.

Shortly after Joe finished his last year at Maxwell Academy, his father died and Clyde convinced Joe to join him in enrolling at Hiwassee College in Madisonville, Tennessee. The two went to school as roommates and were first accommodated by a family who could only offer them straw tick bedding. Clyde was not comfortable with this and complained to Joe that they must seek other arrangements. Joe confided later that the beds were comfortable compared to his own bed in their crowded house. They did find room with better beds with the Dyer family near the college.

After completing their studies at Hiwassee, the young men enrolled at Lincoln

Memorial College in Harrogate, Tennessee. However, family finances did not allow Joe to complete his studies, and he returned to the family farm.

Home was not the same as before he had left for school, and before long Joe heard the call to "Go West, young man" and he headed West. He wound up in Idaho, where he became a sheep herder. With a flock of sheep, and several dogs, he spent months on the range. Each night was spent at a new location, sleeping on a bedroll on the ground. The pay was not great, and the future prospects in the job were not encouraging either. After some time, Joe decided to head back East to the people he loved.

Joe B. Amis returned home and accepted his inheritance of the family home, as was the tradition in his family for the youngest child. Along with this he received his share of the farmland. Not long afterwards, he met, and fell in love with, and married nineteen year old Alpha Elma Green, who had moved to Hawkins County to live with her grandparents, Aaron Judge (1857-1918) and Sarah (1854-1920) Collier, when her mother died.

Alpha had been born on November 2nd, 1897 near Ft. Blackmore, Virginia. She was the daughter of John Floyd Green (1877-1965) and his first wife Lucy Jane Collier (1877-1905). The young couple married on April 21, 1917 and in June of the following year they had their first child, Belva Elizabeth. Three years later they another girl was born and named Jessie Alice. Their last child, Thelma Agnes, was born two years later.

Another beginning at this time that was to profoundly influence the young couple and their neighborhood was the founding of Amis' Chapel Church on land taken from the original James Amis farm. Joe and Alpha became charter members of this Methodist Church, and some of their descendants remain a part of this church today.

Joe and Alpha Amis worked hard to make their church, their children, and their farm prosper.

They lived to see most of their children and their children's children reach advanced educational levels. Their church is a pillar in the community. The farm on which Joseph Bradford Amis lived most of his life is still going.

Joe succumbed to illness on June 10th, 1973. His wife continued to live on the farm as long as she could, but she moved to "town" in her later years. Alpha died on December 8, 1985, having seen the birth of many great-grandchildren.

(Ed: Clyde Harrell established two academic scholarships to benefit local students, at Surgoinsville and Church Hill High Schools, later merged as Volunteer High School. He also donated quite liberally to local churches.)

Related Stories:

Amis.

Thomas Amis.

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond, m/2 Susannah Carr.

Submitted by:

Jack Pierce
Route 2, Box 597
Surgoinsville, TN 37873

Thomas AMIS

The Amis family (French – pronounced "Aim ee") lived in France until religious persecution forced them to go to England. Later, they came to America to Manakin, Virginia. Louis Amis had a son, John, who married Mary Dillard. They had six children; the oldest of whom was The Thomas Amis (1744-1797). He married Alice Gale (1744-1784), and they lived in Bladen County, North Carolina. They and their family are the ones who made it to what is now Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Thomas Amis, a Captain in the American Revolution, was a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, a prosperous businessman, and a legislator. He was noted to be a man of quick temper and one who knew what he wanted and was accustomed to getting it.

Thomas and Alice had eleven children: Tabitha Cox, Frances Grantham, Mary Rogers, Elizabeth, John, Rachel Hagan, Willis, Lincoln (who married Ann Nicholson), Alice Gordon, Thomas Gale, and Penelope. Alice died soon after Penelope's birth.

Thomas built a house of native stone (designed by the architect, Thomas Harlen) - sturdy and strong for protection from the Indians. It was a story and half with walls 18 inches thick and doors of double thickness. It was built near the big spring and not far from Big Creek. The house was remodeled in the middle 1800's and now has a full story, and the kitchen and dining room are now connected to the original house. The three enclosed stairways are still there, as are the fireplaces in each room, but the inside entrance to the cellar is closed. The saddle room - off the front porch - and the English boxwoods remain.

In March, 1787, Thomas was remarried - to Lucy Haynes (born 1761, daughter of Francis and Anne Haynes). They had four children: Haynes (born 1788, married Mary Howell), William (died in childhood), James (born in 1790, married Mary Armstrong), and Nancy (born 1793, married E. Jesse Howell).

Thomas built a store, distillery, blacksmith shop, and tavern on land granted him for his service in the American Revolution and was granted and bought land until he had accumulated around 5,000 acres. Later, a post office was established at "Amis". The area was also known as "Hog Town" (so named, we think, because of the great number of hogs that ran loose). The area was in both Spencer County, Franklin, and Hawkins County, North Carolina.

Joseph Rogers (1764-1833) came from Ireland as a young man and worked for Thomas Amis in his store. While Amis was away at the legislature and/or business, Joseph eloped with Mary Amis (1766-1833) his third child. Since it was inappropriate for a landowner's daughter to marry the "hired man", this greatly upset Amis. He gave them land where Rogersville is now - as far away from his home as possible. Later Joseph Rogers gave land for the town square and hence its name. Rogers was the first postmaster, and he operated a prosperous tavern. He and his wife, Mary, died of "fever" and are buried in the "Rogers Cemetery" off West Main Street in Rogersville, near the grandparents of Davy Crockett.

The tavern and home of Thomas Amis entertained many distinguished guests such as John Sevier, Andrew Jackson, Dr. Thomas Walker, and Bishop Frances Asbury, who carried Methodism to the area. Bishop Asbury called Captain Amis "a poor sinner." (Amis complained about his loud praying, because it disturbed the other guests). It should be noted that two Methodist Churches are built on Amis land; namely, Ebbing & Flowing Spring United Methodist Church, near Rogersville, and Amis Chapel United Methodist Church in Carter's Valley. Both are active churches. Amis was also criticized for making and selling whiskey and keeping slaves.

Thomas Amis' son, Haynes, whose tombstone is legible in the family cemetery near the house, inherited that land. His children included Thomas Jefferson Amis (1807-1890), who married Matilda Ann Lee (1813-1886). They are buried in Ebbing & Flowing Spring Cemetery. Matilda Ann was the daughter of Edward and Sarah Tinsley Lee of Lee Valley. Her sister Teresa Lopez Lee, married Joseph Galbraith of Galbraith Springs - thus joining two prominent early settlers' families.

Thomas J. Amis inherited the "home place" and to his children: William H., Sarah L. Morison, Mary Teresa Beal, Edward Lee, Rev. James H. Amis, and Barsha Huggins, he left his land. Mary Teresa married Lt. Newton T. Beal on May 15, 1866. To them the following children were born: Thomas E. E. Beal, Lula Armstrong, Matilda Ann (Tillie), Sarah Lee (Sally) Sensabaugh, and Charles James Beal (this writer's father).

The Rev. James H. Amis, being a Methodist Minister, was away on his appointments, so he sold his acreage to his nephew, Charles J. Beal.

This land included the section where Ebbing & Flowing Spring is located. The famous spring is unique. It ebbs and flows at regular intervals. It takes nearly 3 hours for the spring to complete the cycle. It gets very low as it ebbs. When it has reached its lowest, it begins to flow rapidly until it peaks in about 10 minutes. Then it slowly ebbs again. The spring has attracted thousands of visitors from all over through the years and is listed in many travelers' guides.

Charles J. Beal inherited part of his mother's (Mary's) acreage and later bought out his siblings' parts which included the brick house and rock spring house on what is now Burem Road. The bricks for the house were burned at the Amis family home and the timbers were cut from the forest. The walls are four bricks thick and the floors are heart pine. Lt. Newt Beal began building this house for his bride, Mary, soon after their wedding. The house and land remain in the Beal family.

On the hill above Ebbing & Flowing Spring are the little one-room school (abandoned in 1956) and the Ebbing & Flowing Spring United Methodist Church. Both are kept in their original state. In Thomas Amis' will he said, "I leave my books to my school." This school was built early, but we don't know positively how early. We do know that many of his descendants attended there and at least 3 of them taught there. It was used as a church on Sundays until the church was built in 1898-9. We feel that Bishop Asbury had services there when he visited several times in 1790. The church is open for services on Sundays, and tours are given at times of the school.

The cemetery is in front of the church. Thomas J. and Matilda Amis are buried there. Their son, James H. Amis, the owner of the land at that time, requested that the church face his parents' graves when he gave the land for the building.

The land above mentioned has been in Amis descendants' possession for over 200 years and is still being cultivated and cared for.

Related Stories:

AMIS.

John BEAL.

The BEAL Family of Hawkins Co. TN.

John & Tabitha AMIS COX, James & Sarah COLLINS COX.

Richard and Frances AMIS GRANTHAM.

Richard H. MITCHELL.

Sources:

Family Bibles.

Family Papers.

Courthouse Records.

Submitted by:

Mary Teresa Beal Doty
(g-g-g granddaughter of Thomas Amis)
223 Bell Street
Blountville, TN 37617

The David ANDERSON Family

Family tradition, as relayed in a letter dated December 27, 1929, from Lucinda (ANDERSON) CREECH of Surgoinville, Tennessee, to Minnie CREECH, Lucinda's niece by marriage, of Bellwood, Nebraska, appears to be the earliest source of information on David ANDERSON and his family, of Hawkins County, Tennessee. Lucinda wrote as follows:

"Great Granfather (sic) Anderson was a soldier in the revolutionary war, came from Belfast Irland (sic), settled in the Valley of Virginia, Married Elizabeth Hardy, that is all I can tell you about the family."

Although we do not have an actual date of marriage for David and Elizabeth ANDERSON, Amherst Co. VA marriage records (Order Book 1782-1784, page 1) show their marriage bond was "returned at a court held August 5, 1782." Married by the Rev. Benjamin Berger, both were believed to be Presbyterians of Scotch-Irish heritage.

David ANDERSON is listed in the Parish of Amherst, First District, in the Amherst County (VA) - Tax List "A" for 1787. He was charged with tax for "self" and one cow.

He almost surely was the David ANDERSON seen in the Washington County, Virginia, U. S. Census for 1810. Possibly a few of the children had married and no longer lived at home, by 1810. That census showed three sons (two between 16 and 26, one under 10) and four daughters (one, 16 - 26, and three, 10 - 16) in David's family.

According to daughter Elizabeth (ANDERSON) CHRISTIAN's (War of 1812) widow's pension request papers, she married James CHRISTIAN, son of Lewis CHRISTIAN and Peggy (Margaret FELKNER?), in the Hawkins Co. home of James' brother, Allen, 14 January 1812.

This indicates that the Anderson and Christian families became acquainted before David moved his family to Hawkins Co. in about 1815, perhaps in Buckingham Co., VA, where several ANDERSON's (including at least one David) appeared on tax lists as early as 1764 and where Lewis CHRISTIAN was taxed in 1774.

David's will, dated August 6, 1822, in Hawkins Co., names only the youngest son, David M. ANDERSON, and daughter Elizabeth CHRISTIAN, further devising "to all my lawful sons and daughters one dollar, each in twelve months after my decease, if applied for, and I will a Bequeath to my beloved wife Elizabeth all my real and perishable property of every kind," etc.

After David ANDERSON, Sr. died, his widow, Elizabeth, married Elisha CASEY. The couple are shown as living next door to Marvel and Nancy DERRICK in the Hawkins County 1830 census. (Nancy either was a daughter or daughter-in-law of David and Elizabeth.) Elizabeth was a widow again by the taking of the 1840 census. In 1844, she sold 66 acres of land (as described in the Francis Goddard to David Anderson deed of 1815), to Thomas ANDERSON, and apparently was deceased by 1850, when she no longer is found in the census.

The Thomas (wife Mary) ANDERSON living in close proximity to ANDERSON family members in every census tabulation for Hawkins County from 1830 through 1870 surely was an elder son of David and Elizabeth. Thomas' name figured prominently in many ANDERSON family indentures and deeds.

Born in Hawkins County, the children of Elizabeth and James CHRISTIAN were: Margaret, married David JONES; David A., married Mary Ann VAUGHAN; James, married Mary Anna? HOLT; Nancy, married John TUSSEY, moved to Floyd Co., KY; Lewis, married Sarah VAUGHAN; Elizabeth, never married; Joseph, married another Sarah; Virginia Jane, married 25 October 1849, Thomas ALLEN; John, married Ludemia ROBINETT?; Thomas, married Prudence HARMON; Allen, married 20 January 1853, Margaret Jane VAUGHAN; and Lucinda, of whom there may be "no further record." James Jr. married (2) Mary GRISSOM, and (3) Mary CROSS; Joseph married (2) Jane RAMEY; and Allen married (2) in 1895, Mary LINDSEY.

Probably, Rachel JONES, wife of Wells, also was an ANDERSON daughter, as the Wells JONES family lived intermingled with other family members and also were named frequently in family indentures and deeds.

The eight children of son David M. and Margaret (surname unknown), also born in Hawkins County, were the following: Thomas, married Sarah Ann COLLINS c. 1849, and he died in 1883; Mary; Robert; James; Lewis; Allan; Elizabeth; and George, married Bettie ALLEN?

Related stories:

The Third Generation, The David D. Anderson Family.

The Marvel Derrick, Sr. Family.

Andrew Winegar (Wininger), etc.

Sources:

Letter dated December 27, 1929, from Lucinda (Anderson) Creech of Surgoinville, Tennessee, to Minnie Creech, Lucinda's niece by marriage, of Bellwood, Nebraska.

MARRIAGE BONDS AND OTHER MARRIAGE RECORDS OF AMHERST COUNTY, VIRGINIA 1763 - 1800 by William Montgomery Sweeney, Baltimore, Genealogical Publishing Company, 1973.

Amherst Co. VA Tax List "A" for 1787.

Washington Co., VA U.S. Census, 1810.

Elizabeth (Anderson) Christian's War of 1812 Widow's Pension Request Papers.

Hawkins Co., TN deed, 1815, Francis Goddard to David Anderson.

Buckingham Co., VA tax lists.

David Anderson's will, dated August 6, 1822, Hawkins Co., TN.

Hawkins Co., TN U.S. Census returns for 1830, 1840, 1850, 1860, & 1870.

Anderson, Derrick, Jones, etc., indentures and deeds, Hawkins Co. TN.

Hawkins Co., TN Court Records & Marriage Records.

Christian family book, by Marshall McClanahan.

Submitted by:

Naomi Hopperstead
1224 Otto Blvd., #1
Chicago Heights, IL 60411

The Third Generation: The David D. ANDERSON Family

David D. ANDERSON undeniably was the son of Nancy ANDERSON DERRICK. But, as the name of his father remains unknown after several years of diligent research on the part of a handful of researchers, there is considerable question as to whether Nancy was the daughter or daughter-in-law of David and Elizabeth ANDERSON. One (third-hand) source states that David D. also had a brother, who was said to have been "killed at age 8 by a runaway horse." U.S. Census returns for 1830 Hawkins County, Tennessee, show three young males in the Marvel DERRICK household. The elder surely was David D., and one in the five to 10 category would have been Andrew Jackson DERRICK, the first and only son born to the DERRICK's until 1835.

David D., born 23 December 1820, grew up in the home of his mother and stepfather. (He commonly was known as David DERRICK). He married Lucinda (daughter of Benjamin Walker and Martha SIMMONS VAUGHAN) in late 1845?, when she still was just 16 years old (she was born on 30 November 1829). Both were born and died in Hawkins County, Tn.; David D. Sr., age 66, of typhoid fever after a 13-day illness, 4 November 1887, and Lucinda, on 21 April 1902).

In early childhood, David D. became a member of the (Dunkard) Church of the Brethren, and a circuit riding Minister of the Gospel for the church in his young manhood. He farmed 1,000 acres (according to his granddaughter, Murrel CREECH COCHRAN), fathered 10 children, and became the legal guardian of several more. He was widely known for his kindly philanthropy and willingness to help others in need.

Murrel COCHRAN wrote of her maternal grandfather: "He rode horseback all over the hills & preached...He had saddle bags and carried his Bible and song book, on one side and a change of clothes on the other." She said that "Mother's folks had a 10 room log house..."

Children of David D. and Lucinda ANDER-

SON were: Marvel D., Margaret Catherine, Benjamin W., Nancy, Robert A., Martha, Rachel, Samuel Simmons, Lucinda, and David D. ANDERSON Jr.

Marvel D., born 6 October 1846, married 2 December 1872, in Scott Co., Virginia, Nancy Ann, the daughter of Andrew and Rosannah (DARTER) WINEGAR; Nancy Ann was born 10 August 1850, Scott Co., VA, died 25 April 1905 or 1906. Marvel D. died 2 February 1901, after being thrown from his runaway horse. Both are buried in the ANDERSON family graveyard in Hawkins Co.

Daughter Margaret Catherine, who would marry William Jesse CREECH after he return from Union army service in the Civil War, will be dealt with in the succeeding piece on the CREECH families.

Benjamin W., born 22 June 1852, married 27 or 29 April 1874, Margaret Jane BARRETT, daughter of William Nelson and Nancy (SULLIVAN, d/o Ezekiel) BARRETT, born 1853?, died 22 February 1914. He married (2) Lulu BUTCHER, 31 January 1917, and died 21 May 1929, in Nemaha County, Kansas.

Nancy, born 20 January 1855, married 10 March 1883, Cleon BERRY (s/o Thomas) and died 3 October 1906, at the home of William Jesse and Margaret CREECH near Bluevale (York Co.), Nebraska.

Robert A., born 11 October 1857, became a much revered physician, at age 51 married Sibyl A. WATTERSON on 4 March 1908 in Hawkins County and they adopted two sons. He, too, rode horseback over much of the county, delivering babies, and treating patients. He died, aged 68, suddenly of "heart failure", 30 October 1925, after just such a day spent on horseback.

Martha, born 23 November 1859, died unmarried at age 27 of typhoid fever, 28 September 1887.

Her sister, Rachel, born 23 December 1861, also never married, died aged 76, of "apoplexy," 19 June 1938, and is buried in Midway Church of the Brethren Cemetery.

Samuel Simmons (eighth child), born 2 July 1864, married 2 October 1898, at Seneca, Kansas, Agnes C. SCOTT. A farmer, he died, aged 62, 24 November 1926, suddenly "at home" in Baileyville (Nemaha Co.) Kansas.

Youngest daughter, Lucinda, born 20 June 1867, became, on 18 January 1911, the second wife of her widowed brother-in-law, William Jesse CREECH. She outlived him, dying 16 December 1932.

David D. ANDERSON Jr., the 10th, and youngest child, was born 20 May 1870, never married, and died in Idaho, 16 April 1954.

All of the children were born near Snowflake, TN., now Surgoinsville.

Related stories:

The David Anderson Family.

The Stephen Nelson Creech and William Jesse Creech Families.

Christian and Catherine (Amend/Emmons) Simmons.

Sources:

The late (Aunt) Minnie CREECH, of Lincoln, Nebraska; information collected from many relatives through the years.

Letter of 5 August 1980 from Dorothy GAMBLE CROSBY, of Somerset, PA, to Naomi HOPPERSTEAD.

DERRICK Family Group Sheet from Marilyn FERGUSON PULLIAM, of Yakima, WA.

Letter from the late (Aunt) Murrel CREECH COCHRAN, of Grand Junction, CO, to Naomi HOPPERSTEAD, in 1971.

Hawkins County, TN Court and Death records.

ANDERSON family obituaries.

Scott Co., VA marriage records.

Rachel ANDERSON's death certificate.

Midway Church of the Brethren cemetery records.

Samuel Simmons ANDERSON's death certificate.

Nemaha Co., KS marriage record.

COUSINS, by Jan SIMMONS JOHNSON, a family history of Jacob SIMMONS' descendants.

Various Hawkins Co., TN census compilations.

Mrs. Laura (W. P.) DAVIS, of Surgoinsville, TN 1982, '83.

Submitted by:

*Naomi Hopperstead
1224 Otto Blvd., #1
Chicago Heights, IL 60411*

Sidney and Ruth Athalea (ALVIS) ARMONTROUT

My quest for knowing my heritage began at an early age. For whatever reasons, our line of the family never gave out much information. Neither was much information kept, or recorded. As a child, I remember my grandmother having a trunk. In it she kept letters, postcards, greeting cards, and other such memorabilia that family members had sent her. Upon her death, all of this was trashed, along with most of her pictures. Even her own daughter didn't know it, until after the fact. It was very heartbreaking.

My biggest break came by chance. For over a year I held onto a name and a town I had seen on our PBS television station. After I got the nerve, I wrote. To my surprise, the man's daughter puts out an Alvis newsletter. She, in turn, put me in touch with what turned out to be a far removed cousin, Haynes Alvis of Rogersville, Tennessee. He has been a tremendous help to me. I will forever cherish these two families. In 1992, within only a few months apart, I had the opportunity to meet both families. I was thrilled and deeply touched that each had stopped in Pryor to meet me.

With the exception of one older second cousin, to our knowledge, all generations before mine are now gone.

Now, to me! I wish I could say I had done something great or that I had led an exciting life, but I can't. I'm just me.

William H. Alvis, of Rogersville, Hawkins Co., Tennessee was my great grandfather.

I was born 19 March 1940 in Pryor, Mayes County Oklahoma, the daughter of Lee Anderson and Colista Alvis, and the youngest of seven children.

I married Sidney Armontrout, who was born and raised in Pryor. I was to learn his parents and mine had been friends in years past. They joined the Oddfellows and Rebeccas together. But my family had moved from the Pryor area to go to California, when I was only three years old.

Sid and I have three children, all being born in Pryor. Cynthia (Cindy) Jean, 22 April 1959 is our oldest. She blessed us with a granddaughter, Courtney Danielle Armontrout, 18 September 1988. They reside with us, and Cindy has just started a new job.

Nena Lynn, our second, was born 22 April 1962. Nena is a nurse. Upon graduation, there were no jobs available in this area. She decided to visit a friend in Western Kansas. Three days later she called home saying "Mom send my uniforms." She had a job, a year later she had a husband. They have given us two grandchildren, Jeremiah Heath 6 February 1985 and Randi Raelunn 1 April 1988.

Our son, James William, 4 June 1964 WAS NOT named for my side of the family. How many James's and William's can a family have!! It was Sid's family who wanted to keep the James William Armontrout name going. Jim married Teresa Wilson, and they have one son Timothy Ross, 19 October 1987. They are expecting another son in July 1993. Jim works with his dad in the plumbing business.

Sid is a self-employed plumbing contractor as was his father before him. He does the labor, and I do the rest. In other words, I'm his "GO-FER"!!

My loves are family, home, and all aspects of nature. I have two goals to reach before my time is up. Number one is to find out when and where my great-grandmother, Mary Polly (Howe) Alvis died and where she is buried. She was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth (Cobb) Howe, of Hawkins Co., Tennessee. My second goal is to visit Hawkins and Greene Counties, TN.

I have so much more family history to gather. Hopefully, I can leave my children a good knowledge of their "roots".

Related stories:

Haynes W. & Opal Price Alvis.

Lee Anderson Alvis and his children.

William H. Alvis.

Submitted by:

*Ruth Athalea (Alvis) Armontrout
1121 North East Second St.
Pryor, OK 74361*

James Madison ARMSTRONG

James Madison Armstrong left Hawkins County, Tennessee shortly after his first wife, Sarah Ann Amis died. She left 2 small girls, Lucy Ann and Louisiana. It is thought James left the oldest, Lucy Ann, with his mother Leah, and went to McMinn Co., Tenn. He was married there to Celinda Baker in 1838. Eleven children were born to James and Celinda: Thomas Haynes, Sarah, Joseph Baker, Mary J., Annis, Hugh L., John E., Ollivia, James M. Jr., Susan E., and William M.

Information is scarce regarding James and Celinda and their children, but from deeds and records, it is clear they were in McDonald Co. and Marion Co., Mo., Madison Co., Ark., and in Texas. James & Celinda filed a homestead in Lamar Co., north of Paris, Texas, and owned several large tracts of land in the area, where mules and cattle were raised. Cattle and livestock brands were recorded to Hugh, John E., and "Andrew" a grandson. A ferry across Red River was said to be owned or operated by the family also. As my research progresses, I become more fascinated by this pioneer ancestor and his journeys westward in the settlement of our country.

Related story:

Thomas Haynes Armstrong

Sources:

Census Records.

Marriage License.

Land Deeds.

Brands Registered.

Family interviews.

Submitted by:

Edna O. Turner

(Gr. Gr. Granddaughter)
7001 Grandview Ave.
Arvada, CO 80002

James Washington ARMSTRONG

J. W. Armstrong was born in Spring Valley, Arkansas on 24 February 1867, the son of Thomas Haynes and Nancy Catherine (Vaughan) Armstrong, and grandson of James Madison and Celinda (Baker) Armstrong, from Hawkins Co., Tennessee.

J.W. lived in Arkansas, Indian Territory, and Texas during his young years, helping on the family farm in Arkansas, -- raising cattle and mules in Texas, -- truck farming in Greer Co., Texas (now Oklahoma), -- and mining in Oklahoma Territory.

After his marriage to Lula Wade, J.W. went to Indian Territory and worked as a missionary to the Choctaw Indians. He was a minister in the Church of Christ, and officiated at the marriages of some of his children. J. W. and Lula eventually made their home in Atoka County, in a rural community called Greasy Bend, east of Stringtown, Oklahoma.

Seven children were born to J. W. and Lula: Jessie A., Thomas W., F. Wade, A. Murl, Otah T., Viva S., and an infant who died at birth. The oldest, Jessie, reflected her Indian heritage very much. An Indian family tried to buy her, and as a result she was "not allowed out of her parents' sight" until she was an adult.

J. W. later taught school in Indian Territory. He gave land for the first school in Greasy Bend. This site was on the old "Clay Mountain Road". The school was built in 1907, and in use until 1920/21, when it burned. The district was named Armstrong School District, after J. W. The schoolhouse was built by Jessie's husband Paul Fincher, J. W.'s son-in-law.

In 1927, J. W.'s doctor advised him to leave Oklahoma for health reasons. He and Lula went to Wilson, Texas, where Jessie lived, to see if his health would improve. He died there about 2 weeks later, on May 16 and is buried in the Slaton, Texas cemetery.

Related story:

Thomas Haynes Armstrong

Sources:

Bible Records.

Marriage License.

Cemetery Records.

Family interviews.

Census Records.

Submitted by:

Edna O. Turner
(Granddaughter)
7001 Grandview Ave.
Arvada, CO 80002

Thomas Haynes ARMSTRONG

From Tennessee to Missouri to Arkansas to Texas and Oklahoma.! Let's "head West" with T. H. When T. H. was about 9 (circa 1848) his father, James Madison, and Celinda Armstrong left Tennessee. The family lived in Missouri and Arkansas until the Civil War, when T. H., J. B., and "Matt" enlisted in the Missouri Infantry. The three brothers were in the same company throughout the war. T. H. was captured at Pleasant Hill in 1863, then later was surrendered at Shreveport, Louisiana and paroled at Alexandria, Louisiana in 1865.

After the war - in 1866 - he married Nancy C. Vaughan/Spindle, a widow with 2 children, George A. and Maggie C. Spindle, whose father disappeared during the war and was presumed dead. T. H. and Nancy were the parents of 7 children: James W., Mary A., Andrew J., Emma O., Otah T., William R., and Motah M.

Family legend says T. H. and Nancy settled down in Arkansas, where they farmed and raised mules for the Army at Ft. Smith. One night a "minor law officer" rode up to rustle the mules, and shot at the house. T.H. shot back and killed the man. T. H. left the area and was gone a few years before he learned no charges were filed. It is thought he was in Texas during this time, as he went back and moved his family to Texas, where he raised mules and cattle with his father and 2 brothers, Hugh & Joseph B. By 1875 T. H. and his family were in Jones Co., Texas, still in the livestock business. His son Andrew, age 8, was the registered owner of a cattle brand at this time. The family lived near Anson, Texas for several years, then moved to Greer County, which later was declared a part of Oklahoma.

T. H. was a farmer - a miner - a cattleman - a mule raiser - and "lived off of the land". He and his sons had a truck farm and ferried the vegetables across the Red River to sell in Quanah, Texas. He died near Elk City, Oklahoma. in 1921 and is buried in Red Hill Cemetery at Hammon, Oklahoma.

Related stories:

James Madison Armstrong.

James Washington Armstrong.

Sources:

Census Records.

Military Pension Application.

Death Certificate.

Cemetery Records.

Bible Records.

Submitted by:

Edna O. Turner
(Gr. Granddaughter)
7001 Grandview Ave.
Arvada, CO 80002

The ARNOLD Family

John Arnold, the ancestor of our family, was born in England. He came to the United States and settled in Hawkins County, Tn. John was here in the 1700's. Like most of the early settlers, he was a farmer. He died before 1809 in Hawkins County. John Arnold left no will, but his heirs disposed of the 230 acre land grant made to "The Heirs of John Arnold" by Tennessee in 1811. There probably were eight heirs, since each disposed of 28-1/2 acres. John left surviving widow Mary Hensley, daughter of Isham Hensley. He probably had a previous wife named Franky Jennings, daughter of Robert Jennings. John supposedly had two daughters whose names are unknown, and six sons who were: John K., Larkin, Doctor, Claibourne, George, and Stephen.

Larkin, Stephen, and John left this area early. Doctor, Claibourne, and George were living in Hawkins County in 1850.

This Family of Arnolds lived (in what is now McPheeters Bend Community) on the south side of the Holston River, opposite the present town of Church Hill. James Arnold was living some twenty-five miles away, about five miles west of Rogersville.

John K. Arnold married Martha, they had eleven children: William, Andrew, Jack, John, Granville, Thomas G., Eliza, Sarah, Julia Ann, Harvey, George, and Alfred.

Doctor Arnold married Susanna Mullins, they were the parents of nine children: William, John, Francis, Wright, James, Baker, Jane, Calvin, and Nathan.

George Arnold, from whom my family is descended, was born in 1805. He married Margaret Christian, daughter of John Christian and Nancy Skelton. George and Margaret had seven children, they were: Andy, Ellen, Seth, Mary, Jane, Eliza, and William C.

Seth Arnold was born in 1837 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Elizabeth Reynolds, daughter of Eli and Sarah Reynolds. To this union was born eleven children: Mary, Sarah, George, Lafayette, Sally, Baxter, Margaret, Elizabeth, William, Richard, and Fanny. Seth served in the war between the states. He was a private in the Confederate Army from September 1862 to July 1863. He was a prisoner of war at Vicksburg, Mississippi. In October 1863, Seth at age twenty-seven, volunteered in the Federal Army. He received an honorable discharge August 2, 1865. Seth died February 8, 1898. Both he and Elizabeth are buried in McPheeters Bend Cemetery.

Great Grandma Sally Arnold was a strong, dedicated woman. She raised eight children and "took in washing and ironing" to help support her family. I have been told by family members that she was a marvelous cook, and her table was always filled with delicious dishes she prepared daily. Sally's children were: Belle, Marion, Elbert, Julia, Sydney, Burlie, James, and Dixie.

James Arnold was born July 24, 1886. He married Cecile Kincheloe, daughter of John Kincheloe and Julia Skelton. James was a hard working farmer. James was also a very caring person, always "taking in" strangers who were hungry or needed a place to stay. The children of James and Cecile are: Mae, Carl, Flora, Maude, Layle, Woodrow, Fain, and Hiram.

Carl Arnold married Hazel Collins, they are parents of four sons: Carl Jr., James Samuel, Albert, and Eddie.

Flora Arnold married Floyd Woods, their children are: Nell, Billy, Janet, Benny, and Jacky.

Maude Arnold married Marion Powell, they had one son Alley.

Layle Arnold married Myrtle Skelton, their three children are: Jimmy, Elaine, and Patsy.

Woodrow Arnold married Beulah Cox, they are the parents of two sons and three daughters: Blanch, Curtis, Sue, Joey, and Lindsey.

Hiram Arnold married Lotus Smith, and their children are; Stanley, Randy, Valerie, Steve, and Lisa.

Fain Arnold, born October 3, 1922, married Ida Head, daughter of William Arch Head and Alice Simpson. Fain has been a farmer, a construction worker, has worked at local plants and is now retired from Alladin Plastics. He is also a Baptist Minister and has pastored several local churches. He is presently pastor of Longs Bend Missionary Baptist Church. Fain and Ida have devoted their lives to the work of God. Many people have been helped by their devotion and labor of love. Fain and Ida are parents of three daughters and one son, all of whom reside in Hawkins County. They are: Joyce, Phyllis, Linda, and Scott.

Joyce Arnold married Ted Brice, they have three children: Tammy, Greg, and Michael. Greg married Kennetha Conant, daughter of Leo and Stella Conant. They have one son Jared Ethan.

Phyllis married Richard Manis, they had two children, Sondra and Shawn. Richard died May 30, 1976. Phyllis is now married to Stanley Carter.

Linda married James Dickerson, they have one son Jon Marc.

Scott married Sheila Shanks, they have two children, Tara and Alexander.

Related Story:

Arnold-Moody.

The Lewis Christian Family.

William Lewis Christian.

Head Family.

Sources:

Census records.

Military records.

Family members.

Submitted by:

*Joyce Arnold Brice
Route #1, Box 559
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

ARNOLD - MOODY

Andrew Jackson Arnold, born in 1831, and died in 1900, was the son of John K. and Martha Arnold. He married Martha Edna Moody, born 9 February 1838, died 17 May 1876, the daughter of William and Mary Childress Moody. The family was in the 1850 Hawkins County census. They had six children:

William T. Arnold, born in 1857, died ca. 1900, married (1) on 9 August 1877 to Martha E. Dickson, and (2) on 24 July 1879 to Letitia M. Coates.

George A. Arnold, was born 21 April 1860, died 4 November 1916, married 15 January 1885 to Mary E. Banks.

Mary Frances Arnold, born 5 October 1862, died 25 June 1913, married on 8 May 1881 to George J. Bowery, the son of Samuel and Frances Rhea Rogers Bowery.

John N. Arnold, born in 1867, married Sarah.

Martha E. Arnold, born 31 July 1869, died 26 February 1911, married George W. (Bud) Moody.

James A. Arnold, born in March 1871, died ca. 1913, married on 10 December 1904 to Mary A. Ford.

Related Story:

The Arnold Family

Submitted by:

Mary F. Carter
516 Red Oak Lane
Kingsport, TN 37663

William Minnis ARNOT 1772-1863

William Minnis Arnot was born in 1772 in Goshen, Orange County, New York. He was the first son of John and Isabel Arnot. At the tender age of five he moved with his parents to Sussex County, New Jersey. By 1785 the family had sold all their land that John had inherited from his father Peter Arnot and moved to Gap Mills, Monroe County, Virginia (later West Virginia). Here William was reared to manhood. On 24 January 1796 he married Miss Susannah Bowyer in Greenbrier County, Virginia. Susannah was the daughter of Adam Bowyer and Christiana (Lauterbach) Bowyer. While in Monroe County, Virginia they became the parents of nine children: Elizabeth, Jacob, Nancy, Adam B., Frances, George W., Andrew B., Susan, and William M. About 1815 the family migrated to Hawkins County, Tennessee.

William M. Arnot was an extensive land owner and stockman. He was the owner of many slaves, all of whom were freed before the Civil War. In Hawkins Co. Tennessee, you will still find descendants of the Arnott slaves who still bear the Arnott name.

Mr. Arnot changed the spelling of the name to Arnott. He was an extremely religious man and a devout member of the Methodist Church. He served with courage and bravery in the War of 1812 as a member of the 108 Regiment Virginia Militia with the rank of 3rd Corporal under Shanklin.

At the death of Mr. Arnott he was the owner of some one thousand acres of land lying on the south side of the Holston River in Hawkins County, Tn. He is buried in the Long Cemetery near Whitehorn in Hawkins County, Tennessee. This cemetery is located in the vicinity of the old Arnott homestead. In this cemetery is also buried his beloved wife Susannah and several of his children and grandchildren as well as many of his descendants.

Sources of information:

History of Monroe Co., West Virginia by Morton.

History of East Tennessee by Goodspeed.

Hawkins Co., TN Land Deeds.

Marriage Records.

Censuses.

Tennessee Cousins, by Ray.

Family Bibles.

Cemetery Records.

Personal Knowledge.

Submitted by:

Miss Pauline Arnott
Rte. 7 Box 1910
Rogersville, TN 37857

George Peter BAIR/BARE

My ancestors began with George Peter Bair and his wife Catherine. They came on the Rowland from Rotterdam, Holland to the U.S.A. and landed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on the 29th of September 1753 after several weeks of suffering many hardships at sea. Both were born in Germany in 1730. The date of George Peter's death is unknown, but Catherine died in Virginia in 1790.

While on this ship coming to America, a daughter was born to this couple. Her name was Katy (Catherine) Bair. This family settled first in Frederick County, Virginia, where a son, Peter was born in 1756. George Peter bought 108 acres of land near a place called Swan Pond in Frederick County.

In 1778 Katy met and married one of the three brothers of the Wolf family also of German descent - John Wolf, who was born in 1752. Of this union was born 10 children: Henry, John, Catherine, Adam, George, Hannah, Jonas, Mary, Margaret, and Jacob. John Wolf died in 1811 in Scott Co., Virginia. Katy died in 1835, also in Scott County.

In 1774 Peter Bair got married to Eady (maiden name not known), born in 1760. Peter and Eady had eleven children: Peter Jr., Henry, Michael, George, Matthias, Nancy, Barbara, Deborah, Susan, Jacob, and Jane.

In 1801 Peter and family moved from Virginia to Tennessee where Peter bought 90 acres of land in Hawkins County on Poor Valley Creek. Peter died in 1829 in Hawkins County. Eady died shortly after. Peter left a will, it is recorded in Hawkins County.

Peter and Katy are the only known children of George Peter Bair and wife Catherine. Adam Wolf who married Jemima McCoy were my great, great, great grandparents.

Sources of information:

U.S. Census.

Family history.

Wills.

Archives.

Submitted by:

Juanita Wells
9809 Home Place
Dallas, TX 75217

The BANNER Family 1700-1993

Jacob Banner came to America in 1728 from Germany and settled in Philadelphia.

Between 1727 - 1776, there were some 30,000 who came into Pennsylvania alone. "They were Principally farmers who depended more upon themselves than upon others. They wielded the mattoxe, axe, and maul. By the power of brawny arms, they rooted up the grubs, removed saplings, felled the majestic oaks, the walnut, poplar, and cleaved such as suited the purpose into rails for fences, and persevered untiringly until the forests were changed into arable fields."

Jacob married a woman whose name was Delph (first name, date and place of birth are unknown). Their son, John Banner I, was born in Virginia but spent time in North Carolina before settling in Russell Co., VA where he married Elizabeth Rackinpaugh. She bore him John Jr., Sarah, Jacob Kent, Cathern, Susanna, Ida, and Mary. Supposedly, John Banner I died in 1799 of Rabies after being bitten on the hand.

Jacob Kent Banner lived most of his life in Scott Co., VA, where he met and married an Irish girl, Phoeby Finny. They had the following children: James, William (who died young), John, David J., Marion, Charles Henderson, Stephen, Reuben, and Elizabeth. Jacob Kent died March 24, 1847, and Phoeby died sometime during the Civil War.

David J. Banner, born June 14, 1824, married Eliza Smith, born January 25, 1825, the daughter of John Smith and Tobiatha Porter of Russell Co., VA. Their children were: Mary Ann, Nan, Elizabeth Jane, Vastine S., and Emma. David J. died December 15, 1904, and Eliza on March 30, 1913.

Mary Ann Banner, born on November 8, 1852, was the first wife of John James Koger, born on March 19, 1852, of Lee Co., VA. They were married on February 26, 1873 while John James was studying to become a doctor. Their children were: Emmet Bascom, Ida Jane, Marvin Vastine, Grove Anthony, Dwight Layman, and Eugene Forrest.

Emmet Bascom Koger was born March 10, 1874 in Lee Co. VA. He too, became a physician, and married Addie Lee Neighbors of Alabama on July 3, 1901. He practiced in Sedalia, TN, Bean Station, TN, Morristown, TN, and in 1923 moved, with his family, to Miami, FL, where he became Dade County Health Officer and had a private practice until his death on August 14, 1941. He is buried there in Graceland Memorial Park. Their children and grandchildren are: William Curtis, born May 18, 1902, and died July 16, 1956, in South America, no children; James Thurston, born February 11, 1904, died March 24, 1911, train accident; Grace Banner, born August 4, 1907, died July 27, 1976, children: Barbara Camille Taylor Miller, resident of Mooresburg, Hawkins Co., TN; Mary Thomason, born August 4, 1907, died February 11, 1962, children: Philip Talbot Hershberger, resident of St. Louis, MO; Daniel Stuart, born on October 4, 1910, died on August 25, 1974, children: (adopted) Joseph Eugene Barnes, born on September 21, 1942, John Edward Barnes, born on December 20, 1943, and Carol Ann Barnes, born July 20, 1945; (natural) Daneil Marie, born August 11, 1952, Maura Antoinette, born May 3, 1954, and Daniel Gerald, born August 16, 1956; Nell, born September 9, 1913, died on February 26, 1987, children: Katherine Lee Harper, born March 23, 1935, resident of Pulaski, GA.

Ida Jane Koger, born May 1, 1876, Lee Co., VA, died August 6, 1940, buried in Methodist Cemetery, Rogersville, TN, married Eugene Patterson, no children.

Marvin Vastine Koger, born April 7, 1879, Cariboo, Butler Co., Kansas, died December 1, 1961, buried Knoxville, TN, married Ann Murphy, no children.

Grove Anthony Koger born November 30, 1882, Lee Co., VA, died February 12, 1970, buried Meridian, Idaho, married 1st Lucy Main, no children, married 2nd Mary Miller Coleman, children: Grove A. Jr..

Dwight Layman Koger, born on December 28, 1885, Hancock Co., TN, died February 3, 1949, married Cordie Watts, no children.

Eugene Forrest Koger, born March 2, 1888, Claiborne Co., TN, died March 15, 1911 of typhoid fever in Knoxville, TN, buried in Rogersville, TN, no children.

Mary Ann Banner Koger died July 17, 1891 of complications following pneumonia. She is buried in the Fletcher-Fannon Cemetery on Wallen's Ridge, Lee Co., VA.

John James Koger then married her sister, Nan, on January 3, 1892. Together they had the following children: Mary Virginia, John Carroll, Joseph French, and Ruth Lillian.

Mary Virginia Koger, born October 6, 1892, in Claiborne Co., TN, married Henry Wilson Addington, and their children were: Ruth Elizabeth, born December 8, 1919, still living in Kingsport, TN, married Ellis W. Moore, children: E. W. Moore, Jr.; Henry W. born September 14, 1922, married Charlotte Ritchie, and is a pharmacist in Richmond, VA, children: (adopted) Carol Paige, born May 31, 1955; Forrest Eugene, born August 2, 1924, married Georgia Little and lives in Jacksonville, FL, children: Suzanne Marie, born on September 17, 1948, and Sheila Nannette, born on January 28, 1952; Mary Catherine, born June 28, 1926, married 1st Earl Allen, children: Shirley, born on January 29, 1959, married 2nd Leo Mahoney, no children, they live in Hawkins

Co., TN; Martha Nan, born on July 18, 1928, married Robert E. Lee White, and live in Kingsport, TN, children: Martha Jane, born July 20, 1950, and David Lee, born on February 12, 1954; John James, born September 8, 1930, married Martha Alice Snowden of Greeneville, TN, children: Debora Ann, born March 18, 1954, John James, Jr., born on April 26, 1956, Martha Yvonne, born on March 21, 1959, and Virginia Lee, born December 11, 1960.

John Carroll Koger born September 27, 1894 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Jennie Mae Rogers. As a farmer he was a lifelong resident of Hawkins Co. He died October 19, 1963, and both are buried in Highland Cemetery, Rogersville, TN. Their children are: Frances Banner, born March 10, 1920, married Donald E. Wakefield, and their children are: (adopted) Frances Molina (Mollie), born on February 6, 1955, and Rod Koger, born October 6, 1957; Marian, born on September 14, 1921, married Thomas Somerset Slaughter, Jr., who has been a veterinarian in Rogersville since 1946. Their children are: Thomas S. Slaughter III, born November 4, 1954 (resides in Louisville, KY), and John Koger Slaughter, born May 16, 1958, who is also a veterinarian in Rogersville, practicing with his father since his graduation from U.T.; Alice Marie born on July 17, 1924, married Ralph Shanks. Their children are: Lawrence Edward, born September 16, 1946, and Michael Carlos, born on November 23, 1947. They reside in Hixon, TN.; John James, born on June 9, 1927, married Ethel Marie Walker. John retired from AFG Industries and still resides in Rogersville, TN. Their children are: Linda Dihan, born May 15, 1949, and John David, born on October 18, 1951.

Joseph French Koger, born September 16, 1896 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Frances Jones. Child: Nina Helen, born September 2, 1936. French died in St. Louis and is buried in Miami, FL.

Ruth Lillian Koger, born January 9, 1903 in Hawkins Co., TN, died November 30, 1972 and is buried in Rogersville, TN, married O.E. Knox.

Before ending this brief history of the Banner/Koger family, I think it is appropriate that we mention Marvin Vastine Koger's many contributions to the agricultural interests of Southern Virginia and Eastern Tennessee. He served as County Agent in Hawkins Co., Tn, from 1917 to 1923 where he was, to a great extent, responsible for the introduction of tobacco as a money crop. He served in the same capacity from 1924 to 1938 in Lee Co., VA, with a short span in Hancock Co., TN.

It is mostly due to his great knowledge and the interest of John James Addington in the Banner/Koger family history that make so much information available to all who want it.

Related Stories:

John David Koger.

The Koger Family.

Thomas Somerset Slaughter, Jr.

Submitted by:

Cecil & Barbara Miller
(Great granddaughter of Mary Banner Koger)
Rte 2, Galbraith Springs Rd.
Mooresburg, TN 37811

The William Nelson BARRETT Family

William Nelson Barrett, born 27 Dec 1814 in Hawkins County, TN, was the son of Thomas Barrett, Sr. and Winnie Harrel Shaner Barrett.

Thomas Barrett was a farmer and early settler in Hawkins County as verified by a Hawkins County deed on which he was a witness (Bennoni Caldwell to George Waller, 29 November 1799). His parents, siblings, and place of birth are unknown. Hawkins County marriage records show his marriage to Winnie Harrel Shaner on 1 February 1802. Winnie was a daughter of John Harrel, named in his will, dated 9 September 1815 (Hawkins County Will Book I). Thomas Barrett, Sr. died in 1855. His will names his wife and all of his children (Hawkins Co. Will Book I, p. 50). Since Winnie Barrett is not found on the 1860 census, her death must have occurred between 1855 and 1860.

William Nelson Barrett's brothers and sisters were: Hetty (possibly a daughter of Thomas or Winnie by a first marriage), married Isaac Ford; Pleasant, married (1)

Mary (2) Sarah; Elizabeth "Betsy", married Wm. C. Reynolds; Hugh, married (1) Mary Brice and (2) Maria Richardson; John, married Priscilla Wright; Clinton, married Melinda Williams; Polly and Nancy; Louisa, married Lewis Gross; Malinda, married (1) D. Carrier and (2) John Vaughn; Thomas T., married Susan Charles; Alfred P. K. Kendrick, married (1) Betty and (2) Mary B.

About 1840, William Nelson Barrett married Nancy Sullivan, the daughter of Ezekiel Sullivan, confirmed by his will dated 31 Mar 1847 (Hawkins Co. Will Book I, pp. 450-451). Nancy's brothers and sisters were: William, married Sandle Mitchell; Margaret "Peggy", married James Bloomer; John; Thomas, married Mahala Martin?; Elizabeth, married Edward Bray; Mary "Polly", married Elijah? Herd.

William Nelson Bennett was a farmer, as was his father before him. He and his older brother, Hugh, apparently died within days of each other in April 1860 (TN Mortality Sched. 1850-60-70 and Hawkins Co. Court Minutes, dated 7 May 1860, p. 369). William Nelson Barrett was 45 years of age at his death. He and Nancy had 8 children: William Clinton, married Elizabeth Fields; Sarah A., married Nimrod Hughes; Ezekiel Haynes, married (1) Rebecca Ann Church and (2) Lucy; James Arthur, married Amanda Jane Lyday; Mary Elizabeth; Margaret "Peggy" Jane, married Benjamin Anderson; Thomas Orville, married (1) Nancy Derrick and (2) Florence Johnson; Martha Cornelia.

Thomas Orville Barrett, known as "T. O.", was born on 18 September 1855 in Hawkins County, TN, and only 4 years old when his father died. He married Nancy Derrick, daughter of Andrew J. and Julia (Wineinger) Derrick, on 8 January 1880. They settled in Surgoinsville, then moved to Robinson, Kansas where they lived at the time of Nancy Derrick Barrett's death on 13 August 1923. She is buried at Mt. Hope Cemetery, Hiawatha, KS. "T.O." and Nancy Barrett had 5 children: Walter Carson, married Rosa Annis Palmer; Lissie, married Jeptha B. Culbertson; Roy W., married Effie Darter; Andrew "Andy", married Cecil Wilcox; Onzie R., married Hattie Moore.

After Nancy Barrett's death, "T.O." returned to Surgoinsville and married Mrs.

Florence Johnson on 6 January 1932. He died on 6 Feb 1941 and is buried in Bethel Cemetery in Hawkins County. His granddaughter, Muriel Culbertson, still lives in the home place in Surgoinsville.

Walter Carson Barrett was born December 27, 1880 in Surgoinsville, the oldest son of "T.O." and Nancy Barrett. He married Rosa "Rose" Annis Palmer, a daughter of Zachariah and Almira (Church) Palmer, in Scott Co., VA on 2 February 1902. A year or two later, they moved to Montrose, SD where Derrick cousins had settled. Their second daughter, Nannie "Nan", was born there on 30 May 1905. After returning to VA and TN for a short duration, the family followed Derrick aunts and uncles to the Kittitas Valley, Ellensburg, WA, about 1910. Walter farmed near Ellensburg for many years, then was employed in his later years by the City of Ellensburg. Walter died 5 November 1953, and Rose died 4 February 1959. Both are buried at Terrace Heights Memorial Park in Yakima, WA.

Related stories:

The William "Billy" Church Family.

The Marvel Derrick, Sr. Family.

Submitted by:

Marilyn Pulliam
224 Westover Dr.
Yakima, WA 98908

The BEAL Family of Hawkins County, TN

John Beal (2), patriarch of the Beal family in Tennessee, was born in Pennsylvania in 1774. He came to Hawkins County with his wife Eve Kiefer, and their children in 1819. John Beal and his seven sons were listed as heads of households in Hawkins County in 1830. By 1840 when John died, the majority of his sons were still living in the County, but by 1860, at least four had migrated elsewhere. The eldest son, John (3), inherited his father's farm and remained in the County until his death in 1869. Elias Beal, son of John (3) in his turn inherited the farm, married, and raised his family in the County.

As an aid to those wishing to identify early ancestors, I shall list the children of the immigrant Nicholas Beal (1), those of his son John (2), and those of John (3).

(1) John Nicholas Beal is the immigrant ancestor of the Beal line. He was head of a household in Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania in 1767. He served in the American Revolution with the Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania militia.

Sometime between 1783 and 1787 Nicholas Beal and family migrated to Washington Co., Maryland. Nicholas died there in 1790.

(1) John Nicholas Beal, born ?, died 1790, married Maria Elisabeth _____, born 1750, died after 1795. The children of this union were: (i) John Frederick Beal, born February 8, 1767; (ii) Henry (Heinrick) Beal, born February 21, 1769; (iii) George Beal, born February 24, 1770; (iv) Elizabeth Beal, born July 28, 1772; (v) Martin Beal, born 1773; (+2) (vi) John Beal, born November 11, 1774; (vii) Catherine Beal, born August 2, 1778; (viii) Eve Beal, born October 25, 1782, and (ix) George Beal, born October 10, 1788.

(2) John Beal, son of Nicholas Beal (1) married Eve Kiefer in Maryland on September 11, 1792. Her birth place and date are not known. At the death of Nicholas, John (2) inherited the Maryland farm. He sold it in 1802 and moved to Rockingham Co., VA.

In August 1818, John Beal (2) sold the Virginia farm and moved his wife and children to Hawkins Co., TN. He settled near Malinda's Ferry on the Holston River, a few miles below Rogersville. His home was on the north side of the Holston near the mouth of Crockett's Creek and adjoining the Stage Road.

John (2) died in 1840. The location of his grave has been lost, as has that of his wife, who died after 1847.

(2) John Beal, born 1767, died 1840, married Eve Kiefer, born ?, died after 1847. The children of this union were: (+3) (i) John Beal, born October 12, 1793; (ii) George Beal, born November 24, 1794, moved to Ohio; (iii) Martin Beal, born December 8, 1796, moved to Illinois; (iv) Jacob Beal, born March 10, 1798, moved to Illinois; (v) Frederick Beal, born February 18, 1800, married Jane Rice; (vi) Elizabeth Beal, born March 28, 1802, married 1st Jacob King, 2nd George White; (vii) Peter Beal, born January 26, 1804, moved to Arkansas; (viii) Katherine Beal, born March 10, 1806, no information; (ix) David Beal, born May 1, 1808, moved to Knox County, TN; (x) Maria Beal, born March 11, 1811, no information; (xi) Anna Beal, born October 5, 1814, married Joseph Wright; (xii) Margaret Beal, born March 18, 1817, married _____ Murphy.

(3) John Beal married Elizabeth Bertram in Rockingham Co., VA in 1811. She was the daughter of Julius Bertram and Eve Bertram (née Lauk).

John (3) moved to Hawkins Co., TN in 1818 with his wife, parents, siblings and two of his wife's brothers (J. Henry and Samuel Bertram). John (3) and his wife also settled in Rogersville near the present location of the railroad bridge over the Holston River.

The farm was inherited by Elias Beal, and later by one of Elias' daughters. (3) John Beal, born October 12, 1793, died March 27, 1869, married Mary Elizabeth Bertram, born June 27, 1794, died December 21, 1874. The children of this union were: (+4) (i) George W. Beal, born October 14, 1813, married Margaret Boger; (+5) (ii) Elias Beal, born May 7, 1819, married Nancy E. Boothe; (iii) Lucinda Beal, born 1821, married William Piper; (iv) Diana Beal, born 1822, married Joseph Johnson; and (v) Andrew Julius Beal, born 1825, married Dianah Henley.

George W. Beal (4) had two sons who were in military service during the Civil War. John W. Beal was in the Confederate Army. Joseph A. Beal served in the Union Army, and did not survive the war.

Elias Beal (5), and his son Newton Thompson Beal served in the Union Army and survived the Civil War. Elias later became Sheriff of Hawkins County.

Related Story:

John BEAL

Submitted by:

*W. David Beal
144 Forest Rd.
Moorestown, NJ 08057*

John BEAL

Late in 1818 or early in 1819 John Beal, his wife, his parents, some of his brothers and sisters, and two of his wife's brothers, J. Henry Bertram and Samuel Bertram, came to Hawkins County. Born on October 12, 1793 in Washington County, Maryland to John and Eva Biel, John was married to Mary Elizabeth Bertram on October 27, 1811, in Rockingham County, Virginia. John Beal's grandfather, Nicholas Beal, came to this country from Germany, entering at Philadelphia.

It is assumed that John and Mary Beal settled at once near Rogersville where they made their home for the rest of their lives and which became known as the old Beal home. It remained in the Beal family for about 142 years. After John and Mary Beal, their son, Elias Beal and his wife, Nancy Booth Beal, and their family occupied the home. From them it passed to their daughter, Capitola Beal Lyon and her husband, Henderson K. Lyon who passed it to their eldest son, Charles M. Lyon, following whose death it was sold. The house was occupied until it was destroyed by fire in 1991.

John and Mary Bertram Beal's children were George (1813-1879) who married Margaret Boger, Diannah born 1816 who married Joseph R. Johnston, Elias (1819-1893) who married Nancy Elizabeth Booth, Lucinda born in 1822, who married William Piper, and Andrew, born 1825 who married Diannah Henley. Elias was the first child born in Tennessee.

John Beal's will dated April 26, 1867, leaves the farm to his son, Elias, and money to his son, George W., and money to his daughters, Diannah Johnston and Lucinda Piper. Andrew preceded his father in death and left no surviving children.

John Beal himself selected the site at the crest of the hill behind his home where he was buried in 1869. In 1874 Mary Beal was laid to rest beside her husband. Over the years they were joined by children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren; the last was Charles Moore Lyon, a great-grandson, who died July 3, 1957.

Elias Beal was born May 7, 1819, in Hawkins County. On September 29, 1840, he married Nancy Elizabeth Booth who was born June 21, 1819, in Washington County, Tennessee. Elias, like his father, was a farmer. As was usual at that time both knew something of a number of trades. In the Census of 1850, Elias' occupation is listed as "bootmaker" and John's as "shoemaker." There was a blacksmith shop on their homeplace where farm implements were made and repaired and where horses were shod.

During the Civil War, Elias served in the Union Army in Company H of the 8th Regiment of Tennessee Infantry Volunteers. In April 1864, while on recruiting service, he was captured by the Confederates near Bulls Gap, Tennessee, and spent time in Confederate prisons at Richmond, Danville, Savannah, etc. After the war Elias Beal served as Sheriff of Hawkins County for a number of years. He died February 1, 1893.

The children of Elias and Nancy Booth Beal were Newton Thompson, Joseph Johnson, James Hamilton, Mary Elizabeth, Martha Ella, and Capitola Leonora.

Newton was born on October 10, 1841. During the Civil War he served in the Union Army in the 1st Regiment Tennessee Cavalry Volunteers reaching the rank of second lieutenant in 1865. The family has a letter written by him in 1864 to his grandparents in Graysville, Georgia, where he was serving with the troops marching against Atlanta.

On May 15, 1866, Newton Thompson Beal married Mary Teresa Amis (1848-1917) and they settled on Amis land on Burem Road near Rogersville. Newton died on March 13, 1890 at Galbraith's Springs, Tennessee. Newton and Mary Beal had five children: Thomas E., Lula, Matilda, Sarah Lee, and Charles James. Thomas E. who was born in 1867, married Margaret Hawkins, and they had no children. Lula married Anderson Armstrong and they had one son, Roy, who died as a young man and was unmarried. Matilda, who was unmarried, died April 22, 1934. Sarah Lee (1874-1942) married William Maxwell Sensabaugh (1874-1963) and they had three children: Raymond, Mildred, and Mary Katherine. Charles James (1878-1963) married Lucy Maxwell, and they had two daughters: Matilda Ann and Mary Teresa.

Charles and his family continued to live in the house built by his parents. This house was destroyed by fire in the early 1960's, and a brick house was built on the same spot. Charles was a member of the Ebbing and Flowing Spring Methodist Church which he helped to build on his grandfather's land and for which he furnished the lumber. He was a member of the Hawkins County Court for twelve years, and as a farmer and dairyman he took a leadership position in these fields in his community.

Joseph Johnson Beal, the second son of Elias and Nancy Booth Beal, was born March 6, 1843. During the Civil War he served as a sergeant in the Union Army in the First Tennessee Regiment Cavalry Volunteers. He was wounded on March 8, 1863, and as a result suffered from poor health until his death on August 27, 1889.

On January 18, 1866, Joseph Beal married Sarah M. Steele (1844-1906) in Scott County, Virginia. After living for a short while in Sneedville, Tennessee, the couple moved to a farm adjoining that of his father, Elias. Joseph purchased this land on the north side of Holston River from Joshua Smith. There was an old log house on the property, and Joseph built two additional rooms.

The children of Joseph and Sarah Steele Beal were Nancy Elizabeth (1866-1939), Viola Delany (1868-1950), Leila Mary (1870-1942), John Henry (1873-1938), and Frederick Owen (1875-1931). Nancy was born in Sneedville, Tennessee; the others were all born in Hawkins County. Viola and Fred were unmarried. John married Martha Jane Steele, but there were no surviving children.

On December 24, 1889, Nancy E. Beal was married to James McCrary of Bristol, Virginia at her parents' home in Hawkins County. Their children were: James Hamilton (1892-1991), Dixie Lee (1895-1986), Frederic Henry (1899-1979), and Charles William (1901-1951). They made their home in Bristol but always maintained strong ties with relatives in Hawkins County. The Elias Beal farm became the property of Dixie McCrary and was held by her until the 1960's.

In 1906 Leila Mary (Lee) Beal married Charles C. Southern, and they made their home in Bulls Gap, Tennessee. Their daughter, Janie Steele (1906-1962), married William Terry in 1931, and their two sons, Charles Robert (1933-) and Frederick John (1934-) continue to reside in Bulls Gap.

James Hamilton Beal (1848-1925), the third son of Elias and Nancy Booth Beal, married Igira C. Brown on March 7, 1867. They lived in Hamblen Co., Tennessee, and did not have any children.

Mary Elizabeth Beal (1852-1925) married George Alexander Steele on May 3, 1876. They made their home on the Holston River within a short distance of the home of Mary's brother, Joseph whose wife Sarah was a sister of George A. Steele.

Dixie L. McCrary was a gifted amateur genealogist whose interest in genealogy spanned almost her entire life. As a child she visited frequently with Hawkins County relatives and wrote down information about the family which they gave her. As an adult she did exhaustive searches of public records and systematically organized this information in notebooks.

Related Stories:

Thomas Amis.

The Beal Family of Hawkins Co. TN.

Compiled from:

Information contained in notebooks of Dixie L. McCrary, aunt of Nancy McCrary Cuthill.

Submitted by:

*Nancy McCrary Cuthill
400 Mockingbird Rd.
Bristol, TN 37620*

BEAN - SETZER - BROOKS - ELKINS - JONES

John "Dickey" Calvin Bean (1792-1878) was born in North Carolina and died in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was married in 1825 in Burke Co., North Carolina to Alley Alice Setzer (1809-1880+), who was born in North Carolina and died in Tennessee. She being a Cherokee Indian, they ran to Tennessee with her mother Jane Setzer to avoid the Trail of Tears and settled in the Poor Valley part of Hawkins County. They owned a farm and farmed the land. John is buried in the McGinnis Cemetery there, and Alice is buried in a cemetery on the side of Clinch Mountain. John and Alice Bean's children were: Mary, Jemima, Jane, George, William Peyton, John, Elizabeth, Susan, Columbus, Lydia, Alice, and Nancy.

Their son William Peyton Bean (1835-bef. 1900), born in North Carolina, and died in Hawkins County, married in 1860 to Nancy Brooks (1840-1893), daughter of William D. and Susannah "Price" Brooks. William Bean inherited land from his father and later lost it (reason unknown) in Poor Valley. They then settled in the Bunker Hill, part of Hawkins County, later in Choptack. They were charter members of the Gills Chapel Baptist Church. They are buried in unmarked graves on the Kenneth Brooks Farm in Choptack, Tennessee. William and Nancy Bean's children were: William, Eli, Leah, Mary, James Columbus, Georgia, Emoner, and 3 that died young.

Their son, James Columbus "Clum" Bean (1873-1945), was born and died in Hawkins County. He first settled in Choptack, and married first Lida Elkins. Their children were: Minnie and Willie Belle. He married second in 1902 to Mollie Elkins (1884-1956). She was the daughter of Absolum and Rebecca "Bowlin" Elkins. Clum and Mollie Burns children were: Hattie, Kyle, Bertha, John, Clara, James, and Louise. They lived in Choptack until 1913 when they moved by mule and wagon to the Miller Place in Surgoinsville on the Holston River where they farmed the land. Clum and Mollie are buried in the Surgoinsville Baptist Church Cemetery.

Their son, John Edward Bean, (1908 - ?) was born in Choptack. He married in 1929 in Rogersville to Ruby Beatrice Jones (1912 -), the daughter of Jake and Nancy "Wallen" Jones of Keplar. They farmed in Tennessee for six years, and had sons Van, John, and Donald. Then in 1936 looking for work, they moved to Maryland where they worked on a farm. They had a son Lewis and daughter Donna in Maryland. They are still living in Laytonsville, MD. Their son Donald R. Bean (1934-), born in Tennessee, and married in 1963 to Juanita C. Furlow (1942-), the daughter of Delmar and Arline "Revercomb" Furlow. Their children: David Brian and Jennifer.

Related story:

WAX-PRICE-BROOKS-BEAN

Submitted by:

*Donald R. Bean
14207 Chelmsford Rd.
Rockville, MD*

My Grandparents BENNETT, KEIRSEY, VAUGHN, SPEARS

Recently, I had the opportunity to meet some family members and friends that grew up with my father. They told me some wonderful stories about my grandparents. Together, we shared some great stories that our parents told us when we were growing up. Some were good times, and some were bad times, but through it all, all our families loved Hawkins County, and this place will always be a big part of our lives.

My grandparents are John Thomas "Tom" Bennett and Carrie Francis Keirsey. Tom was born on August 11, 1874 in Seneca, Oconee County, South Carolina and died on June 1, 1955 in Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. His parents are John Thomas Bennett, Sr. and Frances Reece Bennett. I have no further information on them at this time. Carrie was born on April 21, 1890 in Hawkins County, and died on November 18, 1961 in Rogersville. They were married on August 5, 1906 in Hawkins County. Both are buried on the farm they owned at that time, in a family cemetery. They had eight children.

Jesse Franklin was born on May 27, 1908 in Hawkins County and died on September 7, 1982 in Knoxville, Tennessee. David Coleman was born on July 9, 1911 in Hawkins County and died on June 29, 1974 in Rogersville. Mary Margaret Swan was born on June 18, 1914 in Hawkins County and is presently living in Turlock, California with her husband. My father, Aron Thomas was born on April 30, 1916 in Hawkins County and died October 30, 1965 in Annapolis, Maryland. Willie B. was born on April 1, 1918 in Hawkins County and died April 22, 1993 in Knoxville, Tennessee. Fanannia B. Ward was born September 29, 1921 in Hawkins County and died May 1, 1992 in Laurel, Maryland. J. T. was born on June 17, 1924 in Hawkins County and is presently living in Marion, Indiana with his wife Stella. Connie Hoover was born on June 17, 1928 in Hawkins Co. and died on January 23, 1965 in Jessup, Maryland.

My grandparents on my mother's side are John Claude Vaughn and Anna Mae Spears. John was born on January 8, 1900 in either Virginia or Tennessee, depending on what census was used. He died on September 6, 1963 in Baltimore, Maryland. Anna Mae "Maxie" was born on May 28, 1901 in Virginia, and she died on April 4, 1954 at home in Savage, Maryland. Approx. 1918, they were married in Hawkins County. They had 16 children, most of them born in Hawkins County. Most of this family is deceased. The six still living are Beatrice, Kate, Neal, C. J., Elizabeth, and Nadine. This family has many ties with Hawkins County, but little is known to this day. I am researching the history of the Vaughns at this time.

My grandparents (Bennetts) bought their first acres of land in 1926 from my grandmother Carrie's brother, Charles Keirsey. This land is located in Rogersville, Tennessee. By 1938, they owned 32 acres, which they made a farm and called it "Bunkers Hill" because it was on top of a big hill. They were farmers until their deaths. In April of 1993, I visited this place for the first time. While there, I began remembering all the great stories my parents had told me, and stories which other members of the family had shared with me. To this day, there are some people still living in Hawkins County, who remember a lot about my family back in those days. As I stood there on that farm, I began imagining that life was still going on there with my parents, grandparents, and all the family members that lived there during that time. As I was leaving, all I could think of was all the great memories that I was leaving behind, and they will never be forgotten. Hawkins County will always be a part of my family history.

Related story:

My parents, Bennett, Vaughn

Submitted by:

*Joyce A. Deputy
1327 Chapelview Dr.
Odenton, MD 21113*

My Parents - BENNETT, VAUGHN

I am very proud to be the youngest daughter of Aron Thomas Bennett and Savannah Blanche Vaughn. Even though I was born and raised in the state of Maryland, I have many family ties in Hawkins County. Both sides of my parents' families were born and raised in Hawkins County, from Church Hill to Rogersville. The Bennett family and Vaughn family grew up together from children to adults.

My father, Aron, was born on April 30, 1916 in Seneca, South Carolina and came to Hawkins County circa 1923/24 with his family. He died on October 30, 1965 in Annapolis, Maryland from a boating accident while fishing. He chartered big boats during the summer months and went deep sea fishing. I remember he caught some big fish in his lifetime. Fishing was his life.

My mother, Blanche, was born July 17, 1921 in Scott Co., Virginia and came to Hawkins County when her family moved here. She died on November 2, 1984 in Laurel, Maryland from a longtime illness. She was a full-time homemaker. My mother spent her spare time listening to country music, and she loved gospel music.

My parents were married in Hawkins County on September 12, 1935. Circa 1935 my father built a four room house on the farm that his parents owned in Rogersville, Tennessee. They named this house "The Cross House" for reasons unknown. They had ten children.

Their first two children were twins, James Earnest and Mary Cathern, born at home on October 17, 1936 and died a few days later at home, reason unknown. After this tragedy, they moved to Norton in Wise County, Va. This is where my oldest living brother was born. William Roscoe was born on June 30, 1938 and is now living in Glen Burnie, Maryland with his wife Ima Gean. They have one daughter and two grandchildren. Ima Gean has two daughters and five grandchildren from previous marriage. Ca. 1940 my parents moved back to the farm in Hawkins County, where the next five children were born.

Clarence Oliver "John Henry" was born on January 27, 1941 and now lives in Churchville, Virginia with his wife Brenda. They have two daughters, one son, and one grand-child. Brenda has two daughters, two sons, and five grandchildren from previous marriage.

Della Mae was born on August 6, 1944 and lives in Brookville, Florida with her husband Bill Fellers. They have two daughters, two sons, and seven grandchildren.

Betty Sue was born on August 8, 1946 and lives in Savage, Maryland, divorced from Elmer Taylor. They have two sons and two grandchildren.

Edward Franklin "Eddie" was born on January 25, 1948 and lives in Glen Burnie, Maryland with his wife Beverly. They have one daughter and two grandchildren. Eddie has one daughter, two sons, and three grandchildren from previous marriage.

Charles Douglas "J. D." was born on March 13, 1950 and is now living in Waynesboro, Virginia, divorced from Nina Coulter. They have two sons and one grandchild.

In the latter months of 1950 my parents decided to move to Savage, Maryland. By this time, most of my mother's family was living there. Some of my father's family had moved there too. My father worked at several different jobs, eventually managing a big farm growing trees and plants. He became a great landscaper. This farm was located in Howard County, Savage, Maryland. My family lived on this farm until my father's death in 1965.

In 1952, in Jessup, Maryland, Patsy Jeanette was born on May 29 at our aunt's house. She is now living in Glen Burnie, Maryland with her husband Terry Renwick. They have no children. Patsy has one daughter and no grandchildren.

Joyce Ann was born on March 14, 1954 in Baltimore, Maryland and is now living in Odenton, Maryland with her husband Wayne Deputy. They have one son. Joyce has one daughter and no grandchildren from previous marriage.

In the early 1970's, my brothers John Henry, J. D., my sister Della and I moved to Hawkins County. My mother moved back to Hawkins County also, she had brothers and sisters living there at the time. But within five years, we all moved back to Maryland because employment was down.

My father was in the U.S. Army in WWII in 1944. He was given an Honorable Discharge. My brother, John Henry was in the Viet Nam War from 1963 to 1965, in the U.S. Army and also was given an Honorable Discharge. They never talked much about this time while I was growing up. My brother, to this day, does not mention that part of his life.

Recently I visited Hawkins County to research my family history. While there I met some people that grew up with my parents. They told me some wonderful stories about them growing up together. They remembered the Bennett family and Vaughn family as if it were back in those days. I will never forget these stories they shared with me. Life there in Hawkins County for them must have been a great time back in those days. I also went to the farm where my parents once lived. The house that my father built for them is still standing. While there, the memories all came back to me as if life was still going on. In the future, I plan to visit Hawkins County every chance I get. This place holds a lot of family history for me. I want to dedicate this story to my parents, Aron and Blanche Bennett, you are always in my thoughts and memories.

Related stories:

My grandparents Bennett, Keirse, Vaughn, Spears

Submitted by:

Joyce A. Deputy
1327 Chapelview Dr.
Odenton, MD 21113

BERNARD Family

There have been a lot of Bernards in Hawkins County, Tennessee. It has been spelled many ways--Barnate, Barnett, Barnard, and Bernard are some. The first I have a record of was John Barnard, Sr. He was born in 1750 in England and came to what is now Bristol, Virginia at the close of the Revolutionary War. Tradition says that seven brothers met there and then separated to various areas.

John, Sr. came to Beech Creek in Sullivan County. He received a North Carolina land grant of 600 acres of land on Beech Creek on January 20, 1785. This land grant was made to "John Barnate" and was reprinted in Volume 10, No. 1 of the Hawkins County Genealogical Society's DISTANT CROSSROADS in 1993.

John, Sr. married Anna Carr, and they had 9 children: Ruben, John, Mary, David, Elijah, Rebecca, Sarah, Eleanor, and one more, name unknown. Anna died, and he remarried to Sarah Bachman. Sarah's parents were Samuel and Rachel Owens Bachman, who came from Germany to Switzerland and then to America. Her parents were married January 18, 1763 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and then moved to Tennessee. In the 1780 census, they were living in Sullivan County, TN.

John, Sr. and Sarah had 6 children; Jonathan, Mary Elizebeth, Lydia, Samuel, Zakok, and John C. Barnard, Jr. (this makes two Marys and three Johns???). Two of these sons later enlisted in Captain Miller's Co., (local defense troops) in 1863. Their group was called the "Beech Creek Jerkers."

John, Sr. drowned in the Holston River near Burem, TN (a few miles east of Rogersville) sometime between 1811 and 1813. He was buried on the bank of the river. Sarah remarried to John Lane.

John Sr.'s youngest son, John C. Barnard, Jr. was born in 1805. He married (name unknown) and about here the name Barnard was changed to Bernard. They had six children: Granville Henderson Bernard (our ancestor), born 1832, died 1922; Amanda Bernard West; Michael Bernard; Andrew Jackson Bernard, born 1839; Jane Bernard, and Ellen Bernard. After John Jr.'s wife died, he married Hannah, and they had one son, Thomas Mahlon Bernard, born 1842.

Thomas wore "blue" in the Civil War, and later received a pension of $8.00 per month. John, Jr. and both wives are buried in a small abandoned cemetery in Hawkins County with only field stones for markers, covered with brambles and bushes.

Granville Henderson Bernard, John, Jr.'s oldest child, was born near Bulls Gap, Tennessee. He was a tobacco farmer in what was called "Barnett Holler," living near Bulls Gap all of his 89 years. He was a primitive Baptist, and was known as "peacemaker," often called upon to settle disputes. He was part Pennsylvania-Dutch and part Scotch-Irish, and was called Henderson. Henderson married Mary Jane Long, daughter of Jackie and Fannie Long of Tennessee. Henderson died in 1922. Henderson and Mary Jane had eight children: Nancy Bernard West, born 1866; Martha Francis Bernard, born 1868; Sarah Bernard Buchanan, born 1870; Samuel Preston Bernard, born 1872; William Mahlon Bernard, born 1875; Susan Bernard West, born 1878; Mary Angeline Bernard Hudgens, born 1881; and Millie Lou Bernard, born 1884, died 1893.

Most of these children settled in Hawkins County and Sullivan County. Some of their descendants still live in Bulls Gap and Whitesburg, Tennessee.

Henderson's son, William Mahlon Bernard, settled in Nebraska. He married Josephine Cornelia Berry, daughter of Jonathan Berry of Otis, Tennessee. Jonathan also was a tobacco farmer. Josephine and William were married on horseback in the middle of the road in St. Clair, Tennessee by her preacher brother, Thomas Berry. They came to Nebraska with a group of friends from Tennessee who all settled in the Holmesville, NE area (southeastern NE). Will owned a farm there and farmed for many years, retiring early to care for his wife who was in ill health. Will died in 1956 and was buried at Holmesville Church of Brethren Cemetery.

Will and Josephine had two children: Gladys Louisa Bernard, born 1906; and Jonathan Henderson Bernard, called "Jay", named after his two grandfathers, Jonathan Berry and G. Henderson Bernard. He was born in 1909 and died in 1990. He lived in Holmesville, NE all his life and farmed his father's farm among others. He has two sons, James and Robert. James still owns and farms the family farm.

This is our direct line of descent from John Barnate, Sr.

Related Story:

Jonathan Berry and Louisa Price

Submitted by:

Sharon Bernard
(wife of James)
Box 64
Holmesville, NE 68374

Jonathan BERRY

Jonathan Berry was born in 1856 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He lived his whole life near Otis and Bulls Gap, TN growing tobacco.

His father was Alfred Berry, born in 1825 in Tennessee. Alfred was in the Civil War, he and his brother were recruited by Capt. Thomas Berry. He died of a seizure while in the army, possibly from injury. His mother was Susan Long, born 1831 in Tennessee. She died 1896 and is buried in Long Cemetery, Bulls Gap.

His grandfather was John W. Berry, and his great-grandfather was John Berry also. His great-grandfather came from Ireland when small in the days of the great potato famine. Four boatloads came together.

Jonathan married Louisa Price, the daughter of Thomas Price and Mirari Walker. She was born 10-17-1856 in Tennessee, and died 11-7-1881 (possibly childbirth), leaving two daughters: Josephine Cornelia Berry, born 1879, and Hessie Berry Short, born 1881.

In 1883 Jonathan remarried Hannah Berry, his 16-year-old cousin (their fathers, John Berry and Thomas Berry, were brothers). They had five children together: Sarai M. Berry, born 1884, died 1870; Mollie E. Berry Shepherd, born 1886, died 1912, died of childbirth, she and child buried Shepard Cemetery, Bulls Gap, TN; Thomas A. Berry, born 1890, died 1945, Thomas was a preacher in Otis or Bulls Gap area; Frank Berry, born 1898, died 1962, Frank was a lawyer in TN; and Fred Berry, born 1903, died 1981, he was a farmer in Hawkins County.

Jonathan died in 1923 and is buried at Otis Methodist Church Cemetery at Otis, TN. His wife Hannah died in 1951 and is buried there also.

Jonathan's daughter, Josephine Cornelia Berry (called "Joda"), married William Bernard of Bulls Gap, TN. His father, Granville Henderson Bernard, was a tobacco farmer near there. Their marriage ceremony was performed by her brother Thomas Berry, a preacher, in 1903. They were married on horseback in the middle of the road at St. Clair, TN. They came to southeastern Nebraska with a group of friends from TN and settled near Holmesville, NE, where they lived out their lives. Joda always remained homesick for her native Tennessee. She was ill in later years, and Will retired to care for her.

Josephine had two children: Gladys Louisa Bernard, born 1906, and Jonathan Henderson Bernard, born 1909 and named after his two grandfathers. Jonathan Bernard, called "Jay" took over his parents' farm, and it has now been passed on to Josephine's grandson, James Bernard, son of Jay.

Related Story:

Bernard Family

Submitted by:

Sharon Bernard

Box 64

Holmesville, NE 68374

The BLAND-TATE Family

Remus Watson Bland (1899-1961) of Hawkins County, Tennessee and formerly of Scott County, Virginia, was born in Martin Co., North Carolina. He was the fourth child of Simon Turner (1869-1910) and Virginia (Everett) Bland (1872-1906), also of North Carolina.

Remus, at the age of 10, became orphaned as the result of a yellow fever epidemic. He and his two sisters and two younger brothers went to live at Thompson Children's Home in Charlotte, North Carolina. The Episcopal Church at Hamilton, Martin Co., NC and their local Masonic Lodge were instrumental in locating the children at Thompson. At this time, the means of placing children in such homes was through a church or organization. His two older brothers stayed in the Martin County area for several years. Remus left the orphanage in 1914 and went to Patterson School, Legerwood, and after about a year, he went to Black Mountain and later to the Mast Farm at Valle Crucis, NC. From Valle Crucis, he went to Richmond to live and work with his oldest brother.

From there, Remus went to the Colorado area for awhile, then back to Bristol, Tennessee to work at a hosiery mill. Later, he was transferred to a mill in Kingsport where he met Mary Tate. Remus later worked for Bays Mountain Construction Company, and farmed.

Remus married Mary ("Mollie") Tate (1904-1977) in Sullivan County, Tennessee in 1925. She was the daughter (and youngest of nine children) of William Milburn (1855-1927) and Ellen (Davidson) Tate (1866-1935) of Scott County, Virginia. Remus and "Mollie" were the parents of nine children. Seven children were born in Scott County in the Yuma area, and the youngest two were born in Hawkins County in the Grange Hall community of Carter's Valley.

The Bland children are: Mary Ellen (1926-1986) married Ralph McClellan Wolfe; Eva Kate married Ray Wilson Taylor, Ira Wilmoth, Sr., and Arther Eugene Kimbler; Janie Faye married James Earl Ellis; Frances Elizabeth married Donald Curtis Ellis; Eugene Tate married Mary Kathleen Davidson; Earl Ray married Carolyn Gaye Linkous; Harvey Norman married Barbara Louise Jessee; Remus Wayne married Nancy Mae Hammonds; and David Lee married Linda Hope Noe.

Mary Ellen (Bland) Wolfe is buried at Oak Hill Cemetery, Kingsport. Remus and Mary are buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery in Mt. Carmel, Hawkins Co., TN. Janie (Bland) Ellis now resides in Sullivan County and Eva (Bland) Kimbler in Scott County, VA. The other Bland family members all remain residents of Hawkins County.

Related Story:

George Robert and Harriet (Birchfield) Noe

Submitted by:

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Bland

Route 4

Church Hill, TN 37642

William P. and Emeline (DEBORD) BLANKENBECKLER

My great great grandparents, Emeline (DeBord) and William Blankenbeckler came to Hawkins County, Tennessee from Smyth County, Virginia probably about 1842. They were living in Hawkins in 1850 with daughters Nancy, Elizabeth, Sarah, and Martha. After 1850 they had two boys, Ira and William Perry.

William was the son of Aaron Blankenbeckler and his wife Betsy Williams of Rye Valley, Smyth County. Aaron was the son of the early Wythe County settler, Zachariah Blankenbeckler who had come there around the time of the Revolution from the home Germanna Colony in what is now Madison County. Zachariah served in the Revolutionary War for a short while. Betsy was the daughter of Kezziah (Cole) and Richard Williams whose maternal ancestry can be traced to the Mayflower.

Emeline was the daughter of Abijah and Madema (Wells) DeBord and her paternal ancestry also has New England settlers as her great grandfather was Justus Hubble, a Revolutionary War veteran from Ulster Co., New York.

William (1 June 1820-21 November 1893) is buried in the Brewer Cemetery at War Creek in Hancock County, TN. Emeline (30 March 1825-16 April 1905) is buried beside him. Don't look for a Blankenbeckler, he is buried as Beckler, the name which he decided at some time to use, it is said because the children hated to spell the longer name in school. For whatever reason, his first cousin, James Madison Blankenbeckler's descendants use the name Blanken, so the Blankens and Becklers in the same area are closely related but with different shortened names. In Roane County the Blankenbecklers have shortened their name to just Blank.

We do not know what happened to Nancy (circa 1840-?); perhaps she died young. No marriage is recorded for her and no one remembers her being mentioned in later years. Elizabeth (1842-1886) married Lafayette Heck, and had Andrew Jackson, Lee Milton, William Jacob, Robert Roy, Mayme, Stoke, Nicholas Grant, Horace Butler, Frankie, Randolph Wheeler, Martha Alice, Mary Molly and Eliza Heck. Most of that family went to Illinois and then points west.

Sarah Jane (5 February 1847-3 April 1921) was my great grandmother and married "Fate" Heck's nephew, Nathaniel Reece Heck, a veteran of the Civil War on the Union Side, the son of George Washington Heck and Lucy Crowder. They had only three children, Lucy, Maggie (my grandmother) and Martha Heck.

Martha (5 June 1852?-17 July 1931) married William Brewer, and had a large family, many of which stayed in East Tennessee. Their children were Nancy, Maggie, Perry, Mollie, Bob, Sallie, Tom, Laura, Mack and Dora Brewer.

Ira (5 July 1854-June 1949) married Adaline Johns and had Mattie, Lydia, George, Tom, John, Kelly, and Mary Eva Beckler.

William Perry (10 February 1862-2 June 1928) married Sarah Bean Yount and had only one son, William Anderson (Bill) Beckler. He also married Nola Mathis and Mary Elizabeth Wilder, but as far as I can determine had no children by them.

I have traced the Blankenbeckler family (the name was originally Plankenpickel) to their ancestral home in Austria and the farm Plankenpickel which gave them their name. The house, built in 1584, is still standing and the farm still carries that name. In a delightful visit in 1991 we were told that we were the first Americans to ever visit there.

The Plankenpickles were Protestants and after the Protestants lost the Thirty Years War in Austria, they emigrated to a part of Germany that was safe for Protestants. They remained in Germany for only a century before our branch came to the Germanna colony in 1717, part of the second group of settlers there. Our ancestor, Zachariah, mentioned above, was a grandson of the emigrant Hans Nicholas (sometimes called John Nicholas). Zachariah's father, also named Zachariah, was actually born in Germany and has citizenship papers. Hans Nicholas also had two brothers, a sister, and step siblings and his mother who also made the longer journey with him.

I am trying to trace all the descendants of the second Zachariah Blankenbeckler and would like to hear of any people that I have not already contacted for inclusion in a book about this branch of the American family.

Related Story:

Heck-Woodard-Orrick

Submitted by:

*Hallie Price Garner
8923 Woodshore Dr.
Dallas, TX 75243*

BONDURANT/BUNDRANT Family

In 1874 an entire branch of Bondurants, often spelled Bundrant, of Henry Co., Virginia gathered their possessions together, tied their cows behind covered wagons and moved to Hawkins Co., TN. This was the family of John William Bondurant and his wife, Esther Flannigan, who were married before 1830. Esther Bondurant made the journey with her children and their families. She is buried at Ross Camp Ground, according to family tradition, but no marker has been found. John William, a "paddy", died before 1874 and is buried in Henry Co., VA.

The children of John William Bondurant and Esther Flannigan were all born in Henry Co., VA, but most ended their days in Hawkins County. They were:

(1) Sally Bondurant (born 15 July 1830) who married James Agee. They made their home near Ross Camp Ground. She died on 20 February 1900, and her husband died on 8 June 1906. Both are buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery, Hawkins Co.

(2) Francis Lucinda Bondurant (born 6 August 1833) is detailed below.

(3) Caroline Bondurant (born 17 March 1834) married Hiram Fair. She died on 5 May 1923 and is buried in the Nelms Family Cemetery beside Ross Camp Ground Methodist Church.

(4) William Henry Harrison Bondurant married Sally Bellamy and lived in Rogersville.

(5) Jane Bondurant married N. Jefferson Chaney and remained in Hawkins County.

(6) Betty Bondurant married Joe Dalton and remained in Hawkins County.

(7) James Bondurant who went to Texas and was never heard from again.

Lucinda and Jack Carter (1831-1916), great-great grandparents of the submitter, lived in Hawkins Co. for a time, then bought a farm in Sullivan Co., TN and finally moved to Boone's Creek in Washington Co., TN. Jack, son of Elijah Carter and Amelia Sprouse of Patrick Co., VA and great grandson of Stephen Carter of Goochland County, VA was a Confederate soldier. He was wounded, taken prisoner, exchanged and sent home to recover but never returned to active duty.

Cindy Bondurant Carter, a pragmatic woman who smoked a corn cob pipe, was a midwife who also tended the sick when the doctor wasn't available. She died on 10 December 1927 and is buried at Wheeler Cemetery in Sullivan Co.

The Carter children, all born in Henry Co., VA were:

(1) William Fountain (W.F.) Carter (born 20 March 1861). He married Mary Alice Rogers of Hawkins Co. in 1888. He started his career at age 20 in Hawkins Co. as a "patent medicine peddler" and became one of the most successful business men in Tennessee. He purchased a farm in Boone's Creek, Washington Co., and gradually increased it to 1500 acres. He was a banker, financier, cattleman, farmer, politician, and friend to all who knew him. When he died on 11 January 1932, the Johnson City Chronicle front page tributes to him dominated the front page. He is buried in Monta Vista Cemetery near Johnson City.

(2) Sarah Lucinda Carter (born 29 October 1862) married Andrew Jackson Hickam on 12 February 1880. They had 11 children, the oldest of which was this submitter's grandfather, Ellis Kelly Hickam (1881-1956), who married Maude Lee Weems, daughter of Martin Dale Weems and Harriet Parilee Seaver, was born in Hawkins Co. in 1822. After her husband's untimely death at age 44, Sarah Hickam successfully managed the farm and reared her children alone. All finished high school, and three completed college. She died on 27 November 1953 and is buried in Wheeler Church Cemetery in Sullivan Co., TN.

(3) Mary Jane Carter (Aunt Jennie) (born 4 May 1865) who married Michael Judson Sanders (Uncle Judd) and lived in Sullivan County. They had 10 children, they youngest two, Vashti and Hazel, married brothers Fred and Clarence Slaughter. Mary Jane died on 1 June 1927 and is buried in Sullivan Co.

This submitter believes that the pioneer spirit and strength of character so potently exhibited in the lives of Cindy Bondurant and her children typifies the lives and character of her siblings who stayed in Hawkins Co. the remainder of their lives, rearing their families and contributing to the development and culture of Hawkins Co. in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

Related Stories:

Henry Clinton Seaver and Family.

The Family of Paralee Seaver and

M.D. Weems.

Sources:

Papers of Jackie H. Pectol.

Information from Hazel Sanders Slaughter.

Hawkins County, TN Cemeteries.

Marriage Records.

Personal information and research; oral interviews.

Johnson City Chronicle, January 12, 1932.

Submitted by:

Jane Stephenson Fairburn
314 Palmer Lane
McCormick, SC 29835

David S. BOOKER

David S. Booker was born on May 16, 1834 in Washington County, Virginia. His parents were born in Pennsylvania, possibly Lancaster County. He married Lorinda Maria Thompson on September 2, 1859 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Maria was born in May of 1841 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. She was the daughter of Nancy Thompson, a widow.

The Bookers had eight children: Christopher S., James Walker, Willie G., Ulysses Grant "Poss", Mira, David B. "Doc", Jane Maria, and Mary. Three of the children died at young ages: Willie G., Mira, and Mary.

David served as a private in Company D of the 39th East Tennessee Mounted Cavalry during the Civil War. He fought at the Battle of Vicksburg, Mississippi and was captured on July 4, 1863 when the city fell to Union forces. David signed a loyalty oath and was paroled to return home.

David S. Booker died June 1, 1912 in Stacy, Tennessee, and Maria took to her sick bed where she died June 19, 1912. They were buried on the mountain above their home in Grassey Creek. Their markers were destroyed some years later by grazing animals.

Christopher S. Booker was born on November 8, 1861 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Chris was married twice. His first wife was Nancy Jane Mathas. They were married March 25, 1880 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. They had one daughter, Nevil "Nerry" Booker.

Chris married his second wife, Sarah Elizabeth Schultz, December 28, 1883 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. They had seven children: Viola Booker, Mary Booker, Dona Belle Booker, Martha Booker, Lulu Booker, James William Daniel Booker, and Otto Booker.

Sarah Booker died August 20, 1938, and Chris died February 10, 1944. They were buried in the Booker-Harris Cemetery near Church Hill, Tennessee.

James Walker Booker was born June 30, 1867 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Lavinia Ann Yankee June 26, 1886 in Hawkins County. Lavinia was the daughter of James Michael Yankee and Leah Manerva Davis. They had 12 children: Florence, Walter Gail, Bertha Mae, David, James Michael, Leah Margaret, Leslie, Edward Carmack, Alice Lenora, Ann Laura, Edith Christine, and Thomas Earl Booker.

James Walker Booker died January 25, 1923 in Hawkins County. Lavinia died on July 6, 1932. They were buried in the same small family cemetery overlooking the home of David and Maria. Their markers were destroyed in later years by grazing animals.

Ulysses Grant "Poss" Booker was born in July of 1870. He married (ed: on December 3, 1890 in Hawkins County) Sarah L. Moody, daughter of Alfred Moody. Sarah was born in June of 1874 in Tennessee. By 1900 they had four children: Rebecca M., John D., James W., and one child who had died in infancy.

David B. "Doc" Booker was born on 25 September 1877 in Hawkins County. He married Sarah Frances Patterson. They lived in Big Stone Gap, Virginia. Sarah died July 2, 1948. David died May 26, 1963 in Big Stone Gap. They were buried in Glencoe Cemetery in Big Stone Gap.

Jane Maria Booker was born June 2, 1882 in Hawkins County. She married Sherman Mathews on April 25, 1896 in Hawkins County. They had four children:

Walter, Elsie, Goldie, and Ruby. Jane died on November 20, 1950, and Sherman Mathews died August 27, 1952. They were buried in the Grassey Creek Cemetery near Church Hill, Tennessee.

Sources:

David S. Booker's Pension Application

U.S. Census 1880 & 1900 Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Descendants of Hezekiah Davis, I by Arch Oliver Heck.

International Genealogical Index.

Submitted by:

Roy Booker
1226 12th St.
Rock Island, IL 61201

Kelley George BRADSHAW

Kelley George Bradshaw, born April 2, 1905, married Lula Fay Jenkins, born March 14, 1909, on February 24, 1924. Kelley was the son of Roy Albert Bradshaw and Fanny Kate Sandidge. Lula was the daughter of Roy Ballard Jenkins and Mary Alice Thacker.

Kelley and Lula had nine children. The oldest was a son, Regie Murrel, born March 30, 1925; Roy Ballard, born January 28, 1927; Kelley Jr., born May 26, 1929; Benjamin Frank, born May 13, 1931; Eliza, born 1933; twins James and Johnny, born 1934; Gertrude Lee, born July 9, 1935; Shields George, born July 7, 1939.

Eliza was born just hours before the deadly tornado of 1933 ripped through Hawkins County, destroying her home and scattering her family in the ruins of their neighborhood. This tragic storm left Eliza dead, her family injured and in shock. Eliza was laid to rest in the cemetery at what was left of Bradshaw's Chapel, as it blew away also. The Chapel was later rebuilt and is now one of the few original country churches still in use in Hawkins County.

Neither Johnny nor James celebrated their first birthday. They both died within two months of their birth. One son was found dead in his crib, and one month later the other son was found dead. The cause of their deaths was presumed to be AIDS. They were both buried at Bradshaw's Chapel beside their sister Eliza.

Kelley provided for his family by working shift work at Penn-Dixie Cement plant in Kingsport and operating his own saw-mill part time. After many years of this strenuous working schedule Kelley suffered the first of several strokes. The first stroke he suffered was soon before the marriage of his youngest son Shields. Kelley suffered several more strokes, but he did not stop enjoying his life. He took pleasure in his family and friends. His sister Cleo "Tee" came to live with them in 1966, after the death of their father, and helped care for him. Kelley died in 1976 in Indian Path Hospital in Kingsport after a lingering illness resulting from his strokes.

After Kelley's death, Lula moved from Hawkins County to Sullivan County. Lula was well known in the area where she lived for her sewing abilities, her cooking, and her permanent waves and hair-cuts. She made many quilts, that are still in use by her children, grandchildren, and friends. Lula was a person that would take on any adventure, from climbing apple trees to killing a wayward snake in her yard. Lula died in 1985, also at Indian Path Hospital. Both Kelley and Lula are buried at Jenkins Chapel Cemetery in Hawkins County.

They had a lot of horrible times, but they also lived life to the fullest. Never backing down from a struggle and enjoying every chuckle.

Related Story:

Shields George Bradshaw, Sr.

Sources:

Family memories

Submitted by:

Sheila M. Bradshaw & Shields G. Bradshaw, Sr.
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615

Shields George BRADSHAW, Sr.

Shields George Bradshaw Sr., born July 7, 1939, is the youngest son born to Kelley George and Lula Fay Jenkins Bradshaw. Shields is married to Shirley Byington, the eldest of four children of Paul and Lillie Thacker Byington. They have two children: Shields George Bradshaw Jr., and Sheila Marie Bradshaw. They also have three grandchildren: Kimberly Ann, Kayla Marie, and Christopher Gerald.

Shields worked at Honest John's Cabinet Shop, what is now known as Pratt's Barn. He worked at several construction companies before opening his own. Shields now owns his own company, S. G Bradshaw Construction. His business is very successful.

He lived in Hawkins County until he got married, then moved to Washington County.

Shields does a lot of farming. He has cattle, horses, dogs, cats, and many other animals.

Shields' daughter and wife have set up many family reunions. The reunions have been fairly successful.

Shields has eight brothers and sisters, one of which died in the terrible tornado of 1933. Two of his brothers were found dead in their cribs.

Shields' family was responsible for creating Bradshaw's Chapel. Shields has many family members buried there.

A lot of Shields' family still lives in Hawkins County.

Related Story:

Kelley George Bradshaw

Submitted by:

Kimberly A. Bradshaw
(Granddaughter)
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615

BREWER - SEALE - TRENT - AMYX

On July 4, 1832, Nancy Brewer married Samuel Seale, one of many marriages between the Brewers and Seales. The marriage is recorded in Rogersville, Tn. The submitter of this article is a great-great-granddaughter of Samuel and Nancy Brewer Seale.

Nancy Brewer descended from a long line of English immigrants who came to the Virginia Colonies around 1624. William Brewer (1520-1618), is the first known and proven ancestor of our Brewer line. He married Deannes Baker, died circa 1614. They had a son, Thomas Brewer, 1540-1637. It is believed that Thomas lived in Chard but later moved to London, England.

The son of Thomas Brewer, John Brewer I, (1565-1635) married a lady by the name of Mary Grove. They left England and immigrated to Virginia around 1624. John I served in the Virginia House of Burgesses from 1629-1630, later he served on the governor's council from 1632-1634. John I owned a large plantation called Brewer's Burrough.

John Brewer II acquired his father's plantation, and he too was a member of the House of Burgesses from 1637-1658. John and his wife, Anne, had several sons.

John Brewer III (1635-1701) lived and died in the Isle of Wight County, Virginia. Not much is known about him except that he had a son by the name of George.

George Brewer (1680-1744) was born in Isle of Wight County, VA, and married Sarah Lanier (1686-1729). They had ten children. George died in Brunswick County, VA.

Howell Brewer, born in Surrey Co., VA ca. 1722, married twice. His wives were Marion and Rebecca. Howell moved to Western Tennessee and died there. Howell had at least six children: Ambrose, Ann, Isaac, Reuben, George, and Howell, Jr.

Ambrose was born in Brunswick Co., VA ca. 1753. He moved to Hawkins Co., and then back to N.C. where he fought in the American Revolutionary War. The Indians supposedly drove him out of Tennessee. He served under Colonel Cleveland, at the Battle of King's Mountain in Catawba Co., NC.

Ambrose later moved back to Tennessee and pioneered around War Creek, now Hancock County. He is buried there on a hill between two slaves close to Cool Branch Church. Ambrose died ca. 1855. His children were: Millenton, Pleasant, Frederick, George, Ambrose, Lucinda, Ona, and Howell Cobb. His two wives were: _____ Russell and Oma Richardson.

Howell Cobb Brewer, born 10-20-1790, died 4-19-1886, married Nancy Short on 9-10-1810. Nancy died 4-22-1834. They had eleven children: Nancy, Mary "Polly", Joab, Ambrose, Howell P., Sarah, James, George, William, Orville, and Martha.

Nancy Brewer, the daughter of Howell Cobb and Nancy Short, married Samuel Seale, a descendant of Zachariah Seale, another pioneering family that settled in Hawkins Co. around 1804. Samuel was born in Hawkins Co. in 1815, died in 1891. They had 17 children, of which eleven grew to maturity. They were: Pleasant, Lucy, Elizabeth, Mary, Zannie, Sarah, Nancy, Manervia, Martha, Samuel, and Eliza.

Zannie Seale, my great grandmother, was born in 1843. She married James Madison Trent, son of Alexander Trent and Mary Martin, and the grandson of William Trent and Charity Burton Osborne. James Madison Trent was born in 1841 and served in the Civil War for the Union. Zannie and "Black Matt" as he was called, had three children: Orlena, Madison, and Elijah.

Orlena Trent, born 9-29-1859, died 9-16-1913, married William Harvey Amyx, born 4-21-1856, and died 9-23-1936. William Harvey was the descendant of a Colonial homesteader and pioneer, Matthew Amyx, from Botetourt Co., VA whose descendants found their way over the Cumberland Gap and settled in Hawkins and Hancock Counties. Orlena and William had 13 children: Mattie, Samuel, Bill, Coy, Jack, Fannie, Hattie, Carrie, Zannie, Henry, Myrtle, Fred, and Frank (Tide).

Myrtle Amyx, born 2-2-1901, died 3-4-1983, married William Clinton Rice, born 5-7-1895, died 7-18-1961. They had eight children: Lewis, Nancy, Vencil, Margaret, Floyd, Clara, Gloria, and Jolene.

Gloria Rice, born 1-10-1942, married Roy E. West, born 8-18-1938. They married 4-27-1959. They have four children: Debra, Sarah, Chris, and Laura, and seven grandchildren: Heather, Rachel, Aaron, Christopher, Joshua, Katie, and Savannah.

Related story:

Lawrence Pearson

Submitted by:

*Gloria Rice West
1204 Kingston Drive
Yukon, OK 73099*

BRICE Family

William Brice was born in 1762 in Belfast, Ireland. He came to this country and settled in Hawkins County. In 1793 William married Mary Brooks, daughter of Castleton Brooks and Elizabeth Kincannon. Castleton Brooks settled the Hickory Cove community in 1774. He was killed by Indians in 1777, when his daughter Mary was only two years old. On 8 February 1780, after many lawsuits, Mary received the property in Hickory Cove, owned by her father. William and Mary made their home here. They were the parents of twelve children, from which are descended the Brice's of Hawkins County.

Robert Brice was born in 1798, he married Katherine Carmack. William, born in 1805, married Luvenia Gillenwaters; Elizabeth, born 1807, married Wiley Blount Wilson; John S., born in 1809, married Sarah Gillenwaters; Sarah, born in 1813 married Henry Sensabaugh. The names of the other children are not known to this researcher.

Napoleon Bonaparte Brice, son of Robert and Katherine Brice, was born in 1822. He married Minerva Looney, daughter of Benjamin Looney and Jane Caldwell. Napoleon was the owner of one of the most noted homes in Skaggstown, called "Brice's Tavern". This home stood where the old and new Rutledge Pike now joins Knox-Grainger County lines. Napoleon acquired the Armstrong Inn and gave it his name. James Armstrong erected the log structure in 1786. Presidents Jackson and Polk once stayed at the inn.

Christopher Columbus Brice was born in 1827, in Hawkins County, the son of Robert and Katherine Brice. He married Virginia (Jane) Looney, daughter of John Looney and Elizabeth Johnson. Their four children were: Alice E. C. who married Isaac Cox; Mary C. married John K. Brice; Laura J. C. married Doc C. Major, and Orville Christopher, who married Orlean Henderson, daughter of William Winton Henderson and Julia Winger. Christopher Columbus Brice served in the Confederate Army in the War Between the States. He was with the 63rd Tennessee Infantry, C Company. Christopher was killed in the battle at Drury's Bluff, Virginia, May 16, 1864.

Orville Christopher Brice and Orlean Henderson were married on 22 October 1887. They made their home in the Cold Springs Community. They were the parents of nine children.

Herbert Brice married Sue Ledbetter, Ada Brice married W.B. Murray, Thomas Henderson Brice married Constance Greer, John Looney Brice married Geneva Greer, sister of Constance. Grace Brice married Jim Horn, Gobal Brice never married, Goldie Brice married Leonard McPeck, Peter Brice married Lillie Lewis, and Winton Christopher Brice, who married Anna Herdrider. Orville Christopher Brice died 17 October 1938. Orlean died 16 July 1960. They are both buried in Cold Springs Cemetery.

Thomas Henderson, son of Orville Christopher and Orlean Brice, was born 14 November 1893. He married Constance Greer, daughter of David Washington Greer and Millie Jane Blevins. Thomas and Constance were married 12 October 1912. They also lived in the Cold Springs Community. To this union was born twelve children.

Phyllis Brice, born 28 July 1914, married Champ (Chad) Mayo; Constance Brice, born 29 April 1916, married William Simmons; Delcie Brice, born 1 March 1918, married James Lee; Julia Geneva Brice, born 28 April 1920, died 10 September 1928; Crisella Brice, born 11 April 1922, married Cecile Reeves; Rometta Brice, born 19 May 1924, married Miller Bowery; Chalmer Brice, born 25 April 1926, married Charmaine Lee; Jewel Brice, born 20 April 1930, married James Williams; Bobbie Jean Brice, born 3 April 1933, married H.P. Fuller; Thelma Brice, born 26 July 1935, married Herbert Linkous; Sue Brice, born 28 August 1937; and Talmadge "Ted" Henderson Brice, born 16 May 1940, married Joyce Arnold.

Thomas "Tom" Henderson Brice was a prominent Hawkins County farmer. He raised turkeys to sell, which he shipped to New York and other places. His crops were always the best quality and sold for top prices. Tom was an intelligent and honest businessman. At the end of the day, when his work was done, he liked to sit in his yard and sing hymns. Tom owned much property in Carters Valley, on which his descendants live today. Tom died 10 December 1949, and he is buried in Cold Springs Cemetery. At this writing Constance Brice is still living, at age 96.

Related Stories:

Isaac E. Cox.

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond,
m/2 Susannah Carr.

Greer Family.

Sources:

Deeds.

Marriage records.

Census records.

Military records.

Submitted by:

*Joyce Arnold Brice
Route #1, Box 559
Surgovinsville, TN 37873*

Early Clouds Creek BROOKS Family and Descendants

Thomas Brooks was born May, 1760. In January, 1779, he was living in Sullivan County, TN, which was part of Washington County, VA, before being changed to Sullivan County, NC. He enlisted in the U. S. Army in Virginia, serving on Chickamauga Raids and the Illinois Expedition. After discharge in 1780, he volunteered and went on expeditions to Illinois country and to the South.

Later, he was an Indian spy along the Holston River. He was one of the two first settlers in Hawkins County and received a North Carolina Land Grant of 400 acres on Clouds Creek in 1790. Sarah Boone and he were married in 1786. Their children were: William Dixon (1784-1854) married Susan (or Susanna) Price (1798-1859); John, born 1787: Anthony (1801-1856) married Hannah Price (1789-1870); James, born between 1790 and 1800; Henry, born after 1800; Andrew J., born about 1815; daughter Patsy or Polly. Thomas died in Hawkins County in 1840.

William Dixon Brooks and Susannah had 14 children: Margaret; George Washington; James Etter; William Dixon (died age 21); Cellina (Paschal moved to and died in Washington Co., Arkansas); Mary (Webb); Susanna (Bassett); Lafayette (lived and died in Madison Co., Ark.); Thomas (Washington Co., Ark.); John; Rachel (Washington Co., Ark.); Albert; Leah (Bean); and Nancy (Bean). James Etter and Albert married sisters - Mary Elizabeth and Sarah Williams. Thomas and James Etter were Lieutenants in the Union Army during the Civil War.

In 1866, Thomas, Lafayette and Susannah sold to James Etter for $200 each their interest in William Dixon's property on both sides of Clouds Creek.

James Etter and Mary Elizabeth had 12 children: William D.; Silas; Mary Susan; Minerva; Abigail; Laura; Ann Cornelia; Hascue (died at age 2); Lennie; Kate; Margaret Lucinda; and Nancy Lula. Mary Susan married Bill Elkins and they had 6 children: Jim; Harve; Nealie; Robert; Rebecca; and Annie. Rebecca married I. D. Brooks, Sr. Their children were: Jessie L.; Annabell (Kenner); M. P.; Chloa (Carpenter); Mildred (Carpenter); Lola; and I. D., Jr.

William D. and Alice Webb Brooks had 12 children. They were: James Riley; Robert Luther; Lillie; Charles Edward; Mamie; Phoebe (Price); Melvin; Gabriel Webb; Harvey; Deadrick; Arthur; and Andrew. Four of these brothers were in World War I.

Anthony, William Dixon's brother, married Hannah Price, who was Susannah's sister. They had 4 children: John; Stokely D.; Alice; and Catherine. Catherine married Ward Mustin, a Cherokee Indian and Union Soldier. Ward was wounded and died in the Civil War. In 1865, John sold to Stokely for $650 his interest in the undivided tract of Anthony's land - 130 acres on the north side of Holston River, south side of Stone Mountain.

Stokely D. (1825-1894) married Elizabeth Jane Lipe (1823-1899) in 1845. Their children were: Annis (Lovin); William Anthony (W. A. married Annis Brooks); Mary E. (Price); Robert F. (married Sarah Brooks, sister of Annis); Laura (married Robert D. Hicks); Joseph D. (married Annis Williams); Henry C. (married Jane Webb); Stokely D. (married Elizabeth Williams, niece of Annis Williams); D. H. (Hugh was a school teacher); and Amanda (married Robert D. Hicks after Laura's death).

Henry and Jane had 4 sons and 2 daughters. They were: Sam; I. D.; Harve; Nancy; Bessie; and Sterling. I. D. married Rebecca Elkins.

W. A. and Annis had: Lady Alice Wright, Mary Lenora (Mollie) Carpenter, Sarah Lillian Price, Susan Annah, William Stoke-ly, and James Hugh. Lady Alice married Ralph Wright. They had 3 children: George E.; Lida Mae; and Charles Everett. Lady died at age 28, when Charles was born in 1900. Charles died 1 month later. W. A. and Annis raised George and Lida Mae (grandchildren). Ralph married Susan Annah, and they had 6 children.

Lida Mae Wright and Gabriel Webb Brooks married April 4, 1918. Lida Mae and Gabriel had 5 children: Alma; Mack L.; Kathleen (died 13 months old in 1928); George L.; and Robert L. Lida Mae and "Gabe" are my parents and I. D. Brooks, Jr. is my husband.

Related Stories:

The Brooks Family.

Anthony and Hannah (Price) Brooks.

Jesse James and Louise (Mustin) Carpenter.

Submitted by:

*Alma Ruth Brooks
Rogersville, TN 37857*

The BROOKS Family

Thomas Brooks was born in May 1760 and died in 1840. His wife was born in 1760, her name is not known to this writer, and she died between 1840 and 1850. He received a North Carolina Land Grant of 400 acres on Clouds Creek in 1790. He filed a pension application on 1 October 1832 in Hawkins County, at the age of 72. He enlisted in the Army 15 January 1779, for twelve months, but actually served sixteen, in the Indian War.

Their son, Anthony was born June 4, 1801 and died in March 1856. In 1822 he married Hannah Price who was born August 8, 1799 and died on June 14, 1876. He served twelve months in the Cherokee War and was discharged July 31, 1836. They lived on Clouds Creek at what we now call the Charlie Harrell place, and both are buried there in the Brooks-Harrell Cemetery. He probably was the Brooks who started this cemetery. They had four children. John, born July 11, 1823 and died May 13, 1889. On July 19, 1845, he married Elizabeth Conner, who was born March 4, 1826 and died 1896. They lived at Big Hill near Mooresburg and are buried there.

Stokley D. (my great-grandfather) was born June 23, 1825 and died December 12, 1894. He and Elizabeth Jane Lipe from Arkansas were married on February 9, 1845. They are buried in the Brooks-Harrell Cemetery. They had eleven children.

Alice Brooks married Joseph Cooper.

Catherine Brooks married Ward Mustin, a Cherokee Indian from North Carolina on November 6, 1851. She is buried in the Mustin-Carpenter Cemetery on Clouds Creek. He died during the Civil War and is buried in Decatur, Alabama. They had two children.

Stokley and Elizabeth's children were: Annis, William, Mary, Robert, James, Laura, Joseph (my Grand-father), Henry, Hugh, Amanda, and Stokley.

Joseph was born August 12, 1857 and died February 25, 1923. He married Annis Williams on Christmas Day in 1878. She was born on August 18, 1860 and died September 29, 1894. They had nine children: Eliza Jane, Albert, Joseph Anthony, Laura, Amanda, Fred, Nora, Maude (my mother), and Andrew.

Maude was born April 15, 1892 and died April 24, 1926. She married Chris Brooks who was born February 13, 1891 and died March 23, 1929. They lived near St. Clair. Their children were: Lonnie, Mary Lucille, Joseph Earl, Lochiel, Vola, Ross, J.C., Guy, and Helen.

Helen was born March 23, 1924 and married December 22, 1945 Earl Carpenter who was born on September 29, 1921. They had one daughter, Linda Gail who married Kenneth Ball. They have two grand-children, and one great-grand-son.

Related Stories:

Early Clouds Creek Brooks Family and Descendants.

Jesse James and Louise Mustin Carpenter.

Sources:

Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Family Bible.

Submitted by:

*Helen B. Carpenter
1450 Leeland Dr.
Kingsport, TN 37660*

Anthony and Hannah (PRICE) BROOKS

Anthony Brooks, son of Thomas Brooks, was married in 1822 to Hannah Price (b. in Virginia), daughter of Henry and Catherine Wax Price. Anthony's gravestone gives birthdate as June 4, 1801, death date as March 1866, and Hannah's stone gives birthdate as August 8, 1799, death date as June 14, 1876. Both are buried in the Brooks & Harrell Cemetery at Clouds Creek.

There were four children (possibly more) born to this union: John (b. 7/11/1823), Stokley Deaderick (b. 6/23/ 1825), Alice (b. 11/17/1830), and Catherine (b. 8/17/1832). Another source gives the name of Martha as a daughter.

John married Elizabeth C. Conner on July 19, 1845.

Stokley Deaderick married Elizabeth Jane Lipe on February 9, 1845. She also went by Eliza Jane or Lizzy Jane.

Stokley served in the State Legislature. The following appeared in the Rogersville Herald, December 12, 19, 1894. Corrections have been made as to spelling of names.

"Brooks, Stokley Deaderick (1824-1894)

"HOUSE, 40th General Assembly, 1877-79; representing Hawkins County; Democrat. Born in Tennessee, exact place unknown, on June 23, 1824; names of parents unknown. No information on extent of schooling. Farmer at Choptack, in the 11th Civil District of Hawkins County. He and his wife, Elizabeth J. Brooks, had twelve children - Annie, William A., Mary, Robert F., Sarah Laura, Joseph B., Henry C., Houston, Amanda, and Stokley Brooks. Member of Baptist Church. Died at his home in Hawkins County on December 12, 1894. Father of Henry Clay Brooks, sometime member Tennessee General Assembly."

Stokley Deaderick Brooks was listed as "Stockley Donelson" Brooks, and Henry Clay Brooks was listed as Henry "Charles" Brooks.

The birthdates (Bible) for Stokley's children are as follows: Annis (January 10, 1844), William A. (April 29, 1845), Mary E. Brooks (October 26, 1849), Robert F. (January 5, 1852), James H. (September 14, 1853 -d. August 12, 1855), Laura (October 22, 1855), Joseph D. (August 12, 1857), Henry (March 14, 1859), Doctor Hugh (November 12, 1860), Amanda (November 6, 1862), and Stokely Kyle (February 23, 1867).

Alice was married to Joseph Cooper in 1858. She died on March 2, 1910.

Catherine was married to Ward Mustin on November 6, 1851. Ward was a Cherokee Indian from North Carolina. He died during the Civil War and is buried in Decatur, Alabama. He was a Union (Federal) soldier. She died on March 25, 1904.

Anthony's brother, William Deaderick Brooks, married Hannah's sister, Susanah.

The parentage of Elizabeth Jane Lipe is uncertain, but it appears that she was the daughter of William (b. 9/15/1802), and Frances Lipe (b. 7/27/1802). There were 10 children listed in this family, beginning with Elizabeth Jane (b. 8/15/1823), Joseph B. (b. 12/9/1826), Mary Ann (b. 10/23/1828), Daniel F. (b. 7/1/1830), William Eldridge (b. 6/24/1832), Rufus (b. 7/3/1834), Francis D. (b. 1/27/1837), George (b. 12/9/1838), Laura (b. 5/9/1841), and Robert D. (b. 9/22/1943).

The following concerning Henry Clay Brooks appeared in Biographical Directory of the Tennessee General Assembly, II, page 95. Again corrections have been made as to spelling of names, etc.

"Brooks, Henry Clay (c. 1859--?)

"HOUSE, 56th General Assembly, 1909-1911; representing Hawkins County; Democrat, Born c. 1859 in Choptack, Hawkins County; son of Stokley Deaderick and Elizabeth J. Brooks; mother's maiden name unknown. Extent of education not indicated. Wife's name was Jane _____; maiden name, date and place of marriage not given; children, if any, unknown. Listed in the 1880 Census as a laborer. Member of the Baptist Church. Resident of Mooresburg, Hawkins county, during legislative service. Date of death and burial place unknown. Son of Representative Stokley Deaderick Brooks, 40th General Assembly, 1877-1879."

Name was listed as Henry "Charles" Brooks, and father's name was listed as "Stockley Donelson."

Related Stories:

The Brooks Family.

Early Clouds Creek Brooks Family and Descendants.

Henry Clay and Catherine Jane (Webb) Brooks.

Jesse James and Louise (Mustin) Carpenter.

Wax-Price-Brooks-Bean.

Sources:

Biographical Directory of the Tennessee General Assembly, II, page 95.

Hawkins County Cemetery Book I, page 190.

Rogersville Herald, December 12, 19, 1894.

Submitted by:

Beatrice Brooks Isbel
1561 Kings Road
Kingsport, TN 37664

Henry Clay and Catherine Jane (WEBB) BROOKS

Henry Clay Brooks, son of Stokley Deaderick and Elizabeth (Lizzie) Jane Lipe Brooks, was born on March 14, 1859, Clouds Creek, Hawkins County. He was married to Catherine Jane Webb, daughter of David and Polly Ann Kenner Webb, on July 30, 1879, in Rogersville. She was born September 4, 1860, at Choptack. He died on September 13, 1926, and was buried on September 15, in the Brooks Harrell Cemetery, Clouds Creek. She died on August 14, 1931, and was buried on August 16, also in the Brooks Harrell Cemetery.

Their children are listed as follows: Samuel Miller (b. September 27, 1880-

d. March 9, 1954), Isaac Deaderick (b. October 27, 1882), Harvey Franklin (b. September 25, 1884), Bessie Kate (b. June 29, 1893), Nancy Ann (b. February 14, 1888), and Sterling Blevins (b. November 14, 1895), all born at Rogersville.

Samuel Miller married Sally Wright (b. November 18, 1894-d. December 19, 1970), on September 4, 1932. He was 52 years old, and she was two months from her 48th birthday when they married. Her father was W. A. Wright (b. 1851-d. September 5, 1935). He is buried in the Brooks Harrell Cemetery, she in the Mark Kenner Cemetery.

Isaac Deaderick married Mary Rebecca Elkins (b. February 2, 1886-d. December 6, 1959) on September 2, 1902. Her parents were William (b. 1855), and Mary Susan (Cis) Brooks Elkins (b. December 25, 1860-d. March 1907). He died on December 27, 1964. Both are buried in the Brooks Harrell Cemetery. Their children are listed as follows: Anna Bell (b. December 7, 1907), Chloe (b. December 6, 1914), Jessie Lewis (b. July 10, d.-year not known), Mildred Georgia (b. December 23, 1916), Malcolm Patterson (b. December 11, 1908), Isaac Deaderick (b. May 18, 1923), and Lola (b. May 12, 1919).

Harvey Franklin married Mary Lochiel Murray on June 9, 1915.

Bessie Kate married Robert Brooks on October 1, 1910. She died on November 4, 1964.

Nancy Ann married Robert Elkins (d. February 4, 1919) on July 10, 1904. She died on March 14, 1965. Their children were: Nellie (b. April 25, 1905), Hiscle (b. November 11 1906), Herschell (b. June 6, 1910), Zana (b. March 4, 1913), and Bonnie (b. April 19, 1917), all born at Clouds Creek. Hiscle died at age 9 of blood poisoning, and Zana is now at Greystone Nursing Home. Nellie married Newbern C. Brooks, Herschell married Ruth Purson, and Bonnie married Jess Thomas Walker.

Sterling Blevins was married in 1917 to Lola Robb (b. April 12, 1900-d. April 12, 1989). He died from cancer on June 19, 1968, in Davenport, Iowa. She died from diabetes in Davenport, Iowa. They had no children. He was in World War I in France, and spent most of his life with the VFW.

Related stories:

Anthony and Hannah (Price) Brooks

Submitted by:

Beatrice Brooks Isbel
1561 Kings Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37664

Littleton BROOKS, Sr.

Littleton Brooks was an early inhabitant of present Hawkins County, and he was what is known as a frontiersman. According to his Revolutionary War Pension record he was born in 1758 in then Brunswick County, VA but must have removed to southwest VA by the 1760's where his believed elder brother, Castleton Brooks, was engaging in the "Long Hunts" with Elisha Wallen/Walden, Blevins', and others.

Littleton was in Capt. Evan Shelby's Militia Company along with Castleton in 1773 in Washington Co., VA and signed one copy of the "Sycamore Shoals" Treaty between Richard Henderson and Co., and the Cherokee Indians in March, 1775. Castleton signed another copy of the same Treaty. At that time there were witnesses to this Treaty, and Littleton was about seventeen.

Castleton Brooks was killed by Indians in 1777 while patrolling the settlement below Patterson's Fort in present Hawkins County. Littleton evidently didn't like something about the court settlement of Castleton's Estate as he was fined for using profanity at the time.

Littleton didn't give much information in his application for Pension but mentioned the battle at the Long Island of the Holston and campaigns against the hostile Cherokee towns. He also did much scouting in and around the early forts of the VA-TN border area. He didn't mention being at the famous battle of "King's Mountain," but records show he was, probably under Shelby. He did say he was often shot at, but never wounded.

Littleton married about 1790 to Elizabeth/ "Betsy" Wallen, whom I believe was a daughter of James Wallen/

Walling/Walden who left a Will in Montgomery Co., VA 1785/6. James is reported to have been a son of old Elisha Wallen and Mary (Blevins) Wallen.

Littleton Brooks, Sr. died in Hawkins County in 1840.

I have not been able to determine his children. I believe my Great Great Grandmother Mary/Polly (Brooks) Reed was one of the youngest children, although she may have been a granddaughter. The 1830 Hawkins Census shows Littleton with a female the right age to be Polly. Polly married on 3 January 1832 in Hawkins Co. to Enoch B. Reed/Reade but they moved shortly after 1840 to Missouri.

Littleton is believed to have had brothers: Castleton, Thomas, George, and John, and sisters: Leah who married Robert Kyle and one who married Samuel Wilson about 1762. I have listed the children of Polly and Enoch B. Reed's family in my story on the Reeds. Family lore said the name Littleton was from an ancestor. It has been used for several descendants in our Reed line.

Related Stories:

Kyle Family.

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

Reed/Reade/Reid.

Wallen/Walling/Walden

Submitted by:

Tharell Ann Morrow
122 North Louisville
Tulsa, OK 74115

Thomas East BROWN

The earliest Brown I know of was Thomas East Brown, born in 1794. He married Sarah Sizemore, born in 1795. They had twelve children. Their names were Polly, Iredell Campbell, Jessie, Thomas Eastman, Elizabeth (died in infancy), Nancy, Elizabeth (II), Owen Montgomery, Sarah

T., Clinton A., Matilda S., and James Young Crawford Brown.

I descend from Owen Montgomery Brown (1830-1886). He was a physician and surgeon by profession and served with the Union Army as a surgeon in the Civil War. He married Nancy Louise Faulkner, and they had seven children. These were Luther Faulkner (1857-1926), Rebecca Paralee (1860-1894), Sarah Emily (1863-1937), Owen Montgomery, Jr. (1871-?), and three who died in infancy, Elbert Poindexter, Walter Leon, and Elizabeth.

Dr. Brown died at the home of his son, Dr. Luther Faulkner Brown near Rogersville.

Rebecca Paralee Brown married Lloyd Livesay in 1882, and they had six children: Nora, Walter, Owen, Mary, Leonard, and Willie. Owen Montgomery Brown, Jr. married Kathleen Hartigan and had one daughter, Lucille, in Florida.

It is interesting that two of the Brown children of this generation married two of the Gillenwaters children. Luther Faulkner Brown married Tennessee Gillenwaters in October, 1880. In April, 1880 Sarah Emily Brown married Orville Rice Gillenwaters--my Grandparents! She lived in Rogersville until her husband died. She then came to live in Kingsport with her daughter, Mary Alma, my Mother.

I have a hazy remembrance of my Grandmother. I was about four years old, and she was on her death bed. When she was not in pain, she would talk to me as I stood or sat beside her bed. Now, I certainly appreciate her patience and gentleness with me at such a time. Apparently, I would slip into her room when no one noticed.

In happier times, she played the "Jew's Harp." She was short and quite plump. She is remembered as wearing long white aprons over the long dresses of the day. For fun on Sunday afternoons, her girls would walk to the edge of town. This was a distance of about three and one-half miles. They had two mules and two horses. The children sometimes rode the mules as they were gentle animals.

My Grandmother "took in" a young, twelve year old African-American girl named Mary Liza. She had named herself. "Mama" taught her to cook, and Mary Liza helped her in the house during the day and went to her home at night. Another African-American, Uncle Tom Miller, worked in the garden and came in for his meals. He also went home at night to his home. At that time, apparently, African-Americans lived in an area called Gravel Town which was up in back of the Gillenwaters house.

Great-Uncle Luther Faulkner Brown (1857-1926) was a doctor. He attended medical college in Baltimore, MD. and practiced medicine in Rogersville most of his life. He retired in 1916 and moved to Atlanta, Georgia to be near his children. He died there. He and his wife, Tennessee, had six sons and one daughter. They were: Joel Leonard, Ballard Orville, William Luther, Oscar Reed, Samuel Gault, Tyler Rupert, and Mary Maud. All of the men attended McMinn Military School at Rogersville. Mary Maud went to Rogersville Synodical College. Joel Leonard also attended Peabody College in Nashville, TN. William Luther was a printer, journalist, traveler, soldier in a World War, and Editor of the Atlanta Times. He wrote a marvelous book on his family's genealogy. He worked on it for six years and finished it in April of 1937.

Samuel Gault Brown and Tyler Rupert Brown worked with their brother on the Atlanta Times. These were the only two of this generation to marry. Gault had two sons, and Tyler had a boy and a girl.

Oscar Reed Brown (1891-1918) was a pioneer in the auto business. He held agency contracts for some of the leading cars for the Southern States during that time. They were Kissel Kar, Lambert, Hupmobile, Wescott, Dart, and Chevrolet.

I do not know the lady in the center of the picture of the three ladies. Her name being Livesay, I would suspect she was maybe a future sister-in-law or such, to Rebecca Paralee Brown as Paralee did marry a Livesay.

Related story:

Mary Alma Gillenwaters

Sources:

My Ancestors and Their Descendants, by William Luther Brown, 1937.

Mary Alma Gillenwaters Marsh Depew.

Emily Kathleen Gillenwaters Woodruff.

Mrs. Kurtz Horne.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Leanna Depew Anderson
Route 4, Box 240
Olde Fruitland Road
Salisbury, MD 21801*

BROWN-WILLIAMS

Lida Salome Brown was born August 14, 1887 in Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. She was the daughter of Richard Johnson Brown (November 10, 1847-May 19, 1932) in Blaine, Grainger Co., TN) and Francis Jane Grigsby (born 1859 in Hawkins County, died December 7, 1937 in Blaine, Grainger Co.).

Richard Johnson Brown was the son of George Brown (born about 1793 in North Carolina) and Pulcherry Smith (born about 1809 in Tennessee). George Brown was also the son of a George Brown. Pulcherry Smith was the daughter of Samuel B. Smith (born 1787 in Virginia) and Judith Grigsby (born September 21, 1788 in Rockingham Co., VA, died 1863 in Arkansas). Judith was the daughter of John Grigsby (known as "Tennessee John") and Winifred Breeding.

Francis Jane Grigsby, known as "Fanny", was the daughter of Samuel Grigsby (born January 3, 1840 in Hawkins Co., TN, died June 1, 1897 in Strahl, Hawkins Co., TN) and Susan Kite (born August 13, 1841 in Strahl, Hawkins Co., died August 5, 1915 in Hawkins Co.).

Samuel Grigsby was the son of Nathaniel Grigsby (born June 6, 1806, died March 4, 1859 in Hawkins Co.) and Elizabeth Jane Louderback (born August 25, 1808, died March 11, 1877). Nathaniel was the son of "Tennessee John" Grigsby and Winifred Breeding.

Susan Kite was the daughter of George Sizemore Kite, Jr. (November 8, 1802-1864 in the Civil War) and Matilda Spears (born about 1826). George Sizemore Kite, Jr. was the son of George Sizemore Kite, Sr. and Sally Louderback. Matilda Spears was the daughter of Samuel Spears and Rebecca Smith.

Lida Salome Brown was one of nine children of Richard and Francis (Grigsby) Brown. The others were:

(1) Samuel Grigsby Brown (1879-1957), married Maud Slagel and had no children.

(2) Julia May Brown (born 1880), married Martin Weil and had no children.

(3) Robert Taylor Brown (1883-1959), married Mary Stair and had no children.

(4) Delia Walters Brown (1882-1970), married Marshall Hignett and had no children.

(5) John Rufas Brown (1889-1941) married twice.

(6) George Henry Brown (1895-?), married Zelma West and had six children: Mary, Raymond, Juanita, Betty, Bobby, and Jackie.

(7) William Richard Brown (1898-1982), married 1st Bessie Anderson and had four children: Clyde "Buster", Joe, Lawrence, and Reba. He married 2nd Ellen and had four children: Brenda, David, Joyce, and Nancy.

(8) Mary Matilda Brown (?-1968), married Louis T. Stock and had no children.

Lida Brown married John Sampson Williams, born March 4, 1878 in Sneedville, Hancock Co., TN. He was the son of James Sampson Williams, born April 13, 1856 in Hancock Co., died January 16, 1941 in Knoxville, Knox Co., TN). John's mother was a Stubblefield. James Sampson Williams was the son of Sampson Williams, born February 8, 1825 in Hancock Co. and died September 26, 1908 in TN, and Lydia Brewer (born about 1822 in TN).

Sampson Williams was a lawyer and planter, the son of Moses and Nancy (Wilder) Williams, both born in TN. Moses was in the War of 1812 and worked as a farmer. In 1842 he and Nancy moved to Kentucky and in 1869 moved to Arkansas. Sampson remained in Tennessee and was primarily a farmer. From 1848 to 1861 he was a deputy sheriff and studied the law. In 1877 he was admitted to the bar and became a prominent attorney in Circuit, County and Federal Courts. For five years he served as United States Commissioner.

Lida Brown was ahead of her time. From an early age, her father encouraged her to develop her business sense. At age 12 she was raising turkeys - so many that it took her and her father on horseback, and a hired man on foot to drive them to market. She too was quite a young horse woman and used to race the local doctor across the countryside, winning as often as he did. As a young woman she worked in retail sales - modeling fur coats and traveling as far as New York City to buy ready-to-wear and to Oklahoma to help open a new department store.

Lida married late in life - about age 37 - to John Sampson Williams, who sold real estate in Knoxville. She immediately dismissed his secretary and started running his office, as well as selling real estate herself.

Lida and John had three children:

(1) Kay Ruth, born 1921 in Knoxville, TN, died 1982 in El Paso, TX, married William Vineyard and had three daughters, Lana, Elaine, and Nancy.

(2) Georgia Louis, born 1923 in Knoxville, currently living in El Paso, TX, married Frank Matthew Lynch. They had two children, Frank Lynch, Jr. (also an attorney), and Vinita Shaw.

(3) Jack Brown Williams, born 1926 in Knoxville, currently lives in Blaine, TN, married Nadine Shiflet. They had four children: Lynn Harmon, Greg, Debbie Whitmire, and Jackie.

About 1933 Lida moved to El Paso, TX to be near her sisters and where the dry warm weather would be better for her health. She continued to work in retail sales until she retired. She passed away March 4, 1966 in El Paso at age 84. However, as had always been her wish, she was returned to Grainger Co., TN where she was buried with her parents in Block Spring Cemetery. John Sampson Williams passed away on October 24, 1950 in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

The John Grigsby Family.

George Kite.

Submitted by:

*Vinita Lynch Shaw
7217 Alto Rey
El Paso, TX 79912*

John BUCHANAN

John Buchanan was born about 1783 in Cravens County, North Carolina, and died between 1850 and 1860, probably in Caldwell County, North Carolina.

He had children: George Buchanan, born in the 1820's in North Carolina, Mary Hedrick Buchanan, and William Allen Buchanan, born 4 January 1833 in Burke Co., North Carolina.

George came to Hawkins County, Tennessee after the Civil War.

William Allen, called "Allen" married in Caldwell County, NC in August 1855 to Sarah Harriet Setzer. Allen and Harriet were in Hawkins Co. by 1859. They had the following children.

Millard Fillmore Buchanan, born 17 September 1859 in Tenn. He married 11 June 1879 in Hawkins County to Barsha Locke.

Winfield S. Buchanan was born about 1861. On 13 January 1888 he married Sarah Bernard/Barnett.

Sarah C. Buchanan, born 11 September 1863. She married first on 13 August 1884 to John Painter, and married second to Frank White. She died 6 December 1929 in Happy, Swisher Co., Texas.

Robert Grant, born 11 October 1866 in Tennessee. He married in April 1887 to Dorthula Short. He died 11 June 1954 in Bulls Gap, Hawkins County.

I have also been told they had a son Felix who married a White.

Allen took as a second wife Elizabeth Jane Hawkins on 30 October 1873. She was the daughter of Solomon Hawkins and Mary James.

When Elizabeth knew she was getting married, she grew her own flax, tended it, and wove herself 6 towels for her house.

Allen and Elizabeth had the following children:

Lucinda Loport Buchanan, born 24 November 1874. She married James Martin Synamon and raised a large family in Hawkins County.

James A. Buchanan was born 25 April 1876 and died 2 May 1940. He married Mattie Peavler.

George Alexander Buchanan was born on 18 November 1877. He married Mattie Ellen Gibson.

Mary E. Buchanan was born about 1879. She married late in life to a Mr. Simons. She was a nurse and lived in Hawkins County.

Chester Venoy Buchanan was born on 6 October 1881 in Hawkins Co. He married first Paralee Parvin, a daughter of Hugh Henry Parvin and Susan Lovin. He married second Lulu Viola Knox.

Joseph Andrew Buchanan was born on 26 November 1888. In 1909 he married Kate Mustin.

Effie May Buchanan was born about 1891. She married Dr. Lisle B. Robinson. Effie May and her husband drove ambulances in France in World War I.

Annie Buchanan died young.

My ancestor, Chester Venoy Buchanan, followed Paralee Parvin and her brother Hugh Henry Parvin to Texas. They were married in 1906. Chester Venoy was called "Buck". They had 6 children. Only 3 survived. Mary Esta Lee, born 1907, Henry Allen, born 1908 in Henrietta, Texas, Hazel Ola, born 1910 in Clay County, Texas, one infant boy is buried in Mena, Arkansas. One daughter Thelma was born 1914. This child died 1914, just 9 days before her mother Paralee died.

After the death of Paralee, Buck left his children with neighbors and went back to Hawkins County and grew at least one crop before returning to Texas.

In 1919 Buck married Lulu Viola Knox. They lived in rural Randall County, Texas. There he farmed on the edge of the canyon. There they had children: Thelma Ceona, Knox, and Marvelle Annice.

They then moved to Happy, Texas in Swisher County in about 1926. Viola Knox was the first teacher in Happy, and Buck was constable.

The depression came and times were hard. About 1936 they borrowed $100.00 and started a help yourself laundry.

The last 2 children of Buck and Viola, Merna Jean and Clyde Lanier Buchanan, were born in Happy.

My Dad, Henry Allen Buchanan (called Allen or Buck) was named after his two Hawkins County Grandfathers, Henry Parvin and William Allen Buchanan. Allen married first Vida D. Davis in 1929. She was the daughter of Carl Davis and Rebecca Mullinax. They had 3 children: Ysleta Lee, Henry Allen, Jr., and Betty June Buchanan.

In 1937 Allen married Joyce Jackson, and had Robert Charles Buchanan.

Ysleta married Vernie Young Bradshaw, and had Scott Verne.

Henry Allen Jr. married Barbara Nan Brandon and had Jill and Lisa. Jill married James Alan Tromanhauser, and they have one son Mark Allen.

Betty June married Eddie Martin, and they had E. Dale Martin who married Julia Lane Berggren, and their grandson Robert Edward Martin was born 29 August 1988 in Dallas, TX.

Robert Charles Buchanan, Jr. is married to Carolyn Lawson, and they have Robert Charles Jr.

Information from:

Census records.

Marriage records.

Death records.

Family records.

Submitted by:

*Betty Buchanan Martin
217 N.W. Jayellen
Burlison, TX 76028*

William BUSSELL, A Heritage Of Citizen Soldiers

General Eisenhower called America's Citizen Soldiers, "our greatest asset." Many of these Citizen Soldiers had their roots in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. This is part of the lineage of a few good Citizen Soldiers.

William Bussell was born in Prince William County, Virginia in 1759. His bond to marry Sarah Wyatt, also of Prince William County, is dated January 21, 1790. Sarah was born December 8, 1763 and died in Hawkins County 102 years later on May 26, 1866. William died on October 13, 1840. They had three sons and three daughters. I do not know when they arrived in Hawkins County, but one son, Benjamin Ludwell Bussell, was born in Virginia on October 30, 1794. Benjamin married Mary Sanders of Hawkins County around 1820. They had at least six sons and two daughters. One of the daughters, Virinda Grace Bussell, married John Pitzer Charles. John Pitzer was the grandson of the "original" James Charles, and his maternal grandfather was early Hawkins County settler Peter Miller. John and Virinda lost four children to Scarlet Fever within a period of six months (DISTANT CROSSROADS, April 1993, page 56). A surviving son was Wiley Winton Charles, born May 24, 1841. Wiley married Sarah "Sallie" Francisco, born January 20, 1843. Wiley and Sallie had two daughters, Virginia Amanda, born February 11, 1862, and Maud Lee, born in 1868. On May 6, 1883 Virginia married John Wesley Richardson, son of John Richardson of Churchill and grandson of John E. Ellis, II. Maud Lee married Henry A. Dykes, a medical doctor of Hawkins County. Their wedding was held at the Hale Springs Inn in Rogersville. Virginia and John W. Richardson had seven sons and one daughter. They were: Charles Ray, James Hale, and twin Henry Edward, John Wesley, Jr., Shields, Sarah Virginia, Joseph Ellis, and Robert Roadman. Maud Lee Charles Dykes and Henry A. Dykes had two children, John Henry and Sarah Ada Dykes.

William Bussell was drafted in Prince William Co., Virginia for service in the Revolutionary War on May 1, 1780. He served under Captain Ewell for service against the British invasion plans along the Potomac River. He was recalled in 1780 and marched to Fredericksburg under Captain Samuel Love. He served again in January, 1781 under Captain Valentine Peyton and did duty first at Williamsburg and later in the fort at Yorktown. William also served three years in the state artillery and received a land grant for this service.

Benjamin Ludwell Bussell was a member of Captain James Cummings' Company of Volunteer Mounted Gun Men East Tennessee Militia during the War of 1812. They served under the command of Brigadier General John Coffee and were mustered into service October 8, 1814 in Rogersville and mustered out on May 13, 1815 at Rogersville. These men were probably with Jackson at New Orleans. From The War of 1812, "Coffee with five hundred men, held the extreme left of the line on the edge of the swamp, where his men were compelled to stand in the water and to sleep on floating logs which they lashed to the trees" (DISTANT CROSSROADS, October 1987, page 124).

Virinda Bussell Charles' husband John Pitzer Charles and their son Wiley W. were a father and son team for the Confederacy. John Pitzer served with the "Beech Creek Jerkers" under Captain Jacob Miller as local defense troops (DISTANT CROSSROADS July 1992, page 78). Wiley W. Charles entered the service of the Confederacy in May 1862 and served until April 1865. He was a member of Co. A 1st Tennessee Battalion of Cavalry and assigned to the 12th Battalion Tennessee Cavalry under Major T. W. Adrain. The company did a great deal of hard service. They participated in the battles of Perryville, Kentucky, October 1862, Murfreesboro, December 1862, Chickamauga September 1863, Siege of Knoxville 1863, Piedmont, Va. June 1864, Lynchburg June 1864, and hundreds of skirmishes. On June 2, 1864 Wiley Charles killed a Colonel of the 2nd N.Y. Zouaves and his mount with a single shot. The Colonel was leading a charge into an ambush laid by Confederates. Wiley fired at the Colonel and at that instant his horse reined and the shot passed thru the horse's head and into the Colonel's body. The brother of Wiley Charles' wife, Daniel Francisco, was a Confederate soldier and died in a Federal Prison, a fate I feel was worse than that of the Colonel (DISTANT CROSSROADS, July 1991, page 91).

Virginia Charles Richardson and John's son Joseph Ellis served in France in World War I with an ambulance unit from Washington and Lee University. Their son, Robert Roadman was rejected by both the Canadian and U.S. Military because of a bad eye, and he spent the war working for DuPont loading shells. He was a foreman and had the dangerous job of clearing production jams. Sarah Richardson Neely's husband Kenneth A. Neely served in France as a 1st Lt. He was an early airborne observer. John Wesley Richardson, Sr. and some of his sons operated a large horse and mule shipping company in Norfolk, Virginia. During the war they shipped thousands of horses and mules to the allies in Europe.

John and Virginia Richardson had 12 grandsons in the Military during World War II, the Korean War, and the Viet Nam War. Some served in more than one of these conflicts. The Richardsons were: Capt. Charles Robert USA; Staff Sgt. Robert Roadman Jr. USAAF; Cpl. William M. USMC; PFC Henry W. USA; Master Sgt. Fred Q. USA; Major Joe B. USA; Chief Master Sgt. Neal USAF; Sgt. William M. USA; 1st Lt. James W. USAAF; S/1c & 1st Lt. Charles Ray USN & USA. Also, PFC William C. Neely USA and Tech. Sgt. Kenneth A. Neely Jr. USAAF.

Maud Lee Charles Dykes' husband Dr. Henry A. Dykes was a Lt. Colonel in the Medical Corp. and served in the Spanish American War. Their son John H. Dykes was an Infantry Captain during World War I and his son Delmer Dykes served in WWII. Sarah Ada Dykes married Henry Pegues. Henry was an Army Officer in World War I.

This of course is just one line from William and Sarah Bussell, remember they had six children, and only one line of Benjamin and Mary Bussell. They had at least eight children. There must be many more Citizen Soldiers from those early Hawkins County settlers.

Related story:

John Richardson

Submitted by:

Charles Ray Richardson

James BUTTRY

According to Hawkins County court records, James Buttry married Jane Ausburn February 4, 1839. James was the son of William and Levisa King Buttry and was born around 1820 in Tennessee. Jane's parents are as yet unknown, but according to census records she was born around 1822 in Tennessee. James and Jane made their home in Hawkins County and had seven children. David C. was born around 1842. George was born around 1845. Levisa was born circa 1848, and she married Tom Hand. Nancy was born around 1852. Although census records indicate Jesse was born around 1853, other records list his birthdate as May 20, 1861. Jacob was born around 1858. Tipton was born in February 1855 according to the 1900 census.

Jesse Buttry married first Sarah Burton. Sarah's parentage is obscure. Her mother was named Cecelia, and after Sarah's father died, Cecelia married James Lawson. Sarah's parents had six children. Nancy was born around 1842 and married Perry C. Willis. Elizabeth was born around 1846. Jane was born around 1850 and married Andrew Ausburn. Minerva was born around 1852. Sarah was born in April 1855 and died in 1922. Andrew was born around 1859. Cecelia and James Lawson had two children. Martelia was born circa 1864 and Mary around 1868.

Jesse and Sarah Burton Buttry had five children. Walker was born in December 1878 and married Daisy Trent. Minnie was born in April 1880 and married Jess Trent. John was born in March 1882 and married Hattie Buttry. He died in 1957. Andy was born July 31, 1885 and died December 6, 1945. He married on December 24, 1906 to Daisy Johnson. Willie was born November 17, 1887.

Jesse married second Lizzie Pratt, born September 8, 1894 and died July 17, 1963. Jesse and Lizzie had one son, Hobart. Jesse died May 20, 1934 in Hancock County.

Willie Buttry was the youngest child of Jesse and Sarah Burton Buttry. He was a Baptist minister and preached in many churches in the Hawkins and Hancock County area. He married on September 3, 1906 to Susan Johnson, daughter of John and Amanda Jane Collins Johnson. Susan was born on March 22, 1888 in Hancock County. Willie and Susan had nine children. Maude was born October 18, 1907 and died in February 1908. Eva Mae was born February 18, 1909 and died on June 9, 1987. She married Leonard Anderson on April 20, 1929. Laura was born on February 11, 1911 and married first April 20, 1929 to Grady Ramsey, second to George Rainey and third to Don Baker. Robert Green was born November 29, 1913. He married on October 5, 1931 to Avis Wilder. Arlie Boister "Dee" was born March 6, 1916 and died September 27, 1982. He married Dorothy Johnson Cavin on December 27, 1953. Elbert Lee "Dock" was born March 8, 1918. He married first Virginia Barnett, second Ann Redford and third Marleen Hecker. Lloyd Yeckle "Yeck" was born July 19, 1920 and died September 28, 1972. He married first on December 24, 1937 to Eula V. "A.B." Collins, second Martha Sexton. Burble was born on July 20, 1923. Mary Ruth Edith was born May 15, 1926 and she married Ed Neal on December 9, 1944. Willie died on February 21, 1928 in Hawkins County Susan died May 24, 1960 in Lee Co., Virginia.

After Willie died, Susan took her children to live in Lee County. In June of 1930 Susan married Morgan Welch and moved to adjoining Hancock County. It was there that Burble met his future wife, Lurlie.

Lurlie Gracie Hargraves was born on November 16, 1926 in Hancock County, the daughter of Neal S. Bryant and Sallie Mae Welch Hargraves. On April 6, 1953 Lurlie and Burble were married in Jonesville, Virginia.

Their daughter, Brenda Yvonne, was born August 3, 1956 in Lee County. Brenda married first November 23, 1973 in Claiborne County, Tennessee to Rocky Ray Burke, son of James, Jr. and Marilyn Kinser Burke. They have two sons, James David, born September 5, 1974 in Sumter Co., South Carolina and Gregory Jason, born January 28, 1978 in Wayne County, NC. Brenda married second April 14, 1988 in Lee Co. to Brian Keith Nichols, son of Henry K. and Mildred Hickam Nichols. Their daughter, Amanda Katherine, was born February 22, 1991 in Sullivan County, Tennessee.

Submitted by:

Brenda Y. Nichols
Rt. 1, Box 34
Hiltons, VA 24258

BYINGTON Family

The Byington Family originally came from Yorkshire, England. During the early years the Byington name was De Boynton. It was changed to Boynton by Sir William Boynton between the years of 1213 and 1277 A.D. The reason for the name change is unexplained.

The Boynton family continued living in Yorkshire, England until 1638, when William, born in 1606, and his brother John, born in 1614, emigrated to America on the ship "JOHN OF LONDON." William settled in Rowley, Massachusetts and married Elizabeth Jackson. Both died around 1686.

William and Elizabeth's son Caleb moved to Newbury, Massachusetts, and married Mary Moore on June 24, 1672. They later moved to Ipswich, Massachusetts.

John Byington, born April 9, 1676, son of Caleb and Mary, moved to Bradford, Connecticut, where he married Jane Swain. The name change occurred when John was given a land grant from England, his name was spelled Byington, and as it took a long time to send letters to and from England, he decided to change the spelling, thus the name Byington was founded.

The Byington family remained in Fairfield County, Connecticut for many years thereafter.

John Byington, born in 1764, married Mary Abbott. Their son, Moses, was born in Fairfield County, CT during the year 1798, but he was raised in New York state. Moses moved to Henry County, Virginia, and married Cynthia Cheely on April 7, 1821. Moses and Cynthia had four children: (1) Alford Rhoten Byington, (2) William Preston Byington, (3) Sarah H. Byington, and (4) Amanda Maryland Byington. Cynthia died in 1834 in Virginia.

On several occasions Moses was found living in Scott County, Virginia.

Moses then married Mary Ann White on June 9, 1834 in Scott County, VA. Moses and Mary had six children: (1) William Jefferson Byington, (2) Margaret Byington, (3) Moses Byington, (4) Alexander Byington, (5) Isaac Byington, and (6) Rev. Hezekiah Karr Byington.

In 1835 Moses was a resident of Washington County, TN where he was one of 600 men to sign a petition asking the State to furnish financial aid for a railroad through Washington Co., TN.

Soon after that Moses and his family moved to Hawkins Co., TN. Moses lived and worked, providing for his family as a hatter and by farming near Bradshaw's Chapel in the Church Hill, TN area.

Although I am unsure of the date of Moses' death, I believe it was before 1880, because on the 1880 Hawkins Co. Census report, his wife, Mary, was living with their son, Isaac.

I also believe that both Moses and Mary are buried in unmarked graves at Bradshaw's Chapel Cemetery in Hawkins County.

Most all Byington's living in this area can trace their roots back to Moses, as he was the first Byington to come to Hawkins County.

Sources:

Hawkins Co., TN Census reports: 1840, 1870, 1880.

Scott Co., VA Marriages, 1815-1853.

Washington Co., TN History 1988.

Related Story:

Hezekiah Karr Byington

Submitted by:

*Sheila M. Bradshaw
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615*

Rev. Hezekiah Karr BYINGTON

Hezekiah Karr Byington was born in January of 1847 in Scott County, Virginia. He was the son of Moses and Mary Ann White Byington. The family later moved back to Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Hezekiah married Mary M. Fish on January 12, 1871 in Hawkins County.

After Mary's death, Hezekiah married Rhoda A. Banks. It is unknown at this time the second marriage date or the death dates of either wife. With the two wives, Hezekiah had thirteen children: (1) George W., born 1871, (2) Mary L., born 1874, (3) Rhoda M., born 1875, (4) Alexander, born 1879, (5) Rev. Moses E., born in 1882, (6) George, born 1882, (7) Richard Carr, born 1886, (8) William Jefferson "Babe", born 1888, (9) Lou, born 1890, (10) Flora B., born in 1892, (11) Alford, born 1895, (12) Nan E., born 1897, and (13) Edward, born in 1899.

After the death of Rhoda, Hezekiah married Rebecca "Bette" Wright. They had seven children, all of which died as infants. None were ever named on a census report. The cause of their deaths is unknown. In all total Hezekiah fathered twenty children.

Hezekiah worked as a blacksmith, he had a shop that is still standing in the area of Bradshaw's Chapel Church. In addition to his work as a blacksmith. He was also a Preacher and may have held services at Bradshaw's Chapel. The blacksmith shop he started was later operated by his oldest son George W. Byington.

Hezekiah is buried in Bradshaw's Chapel Cemetery, in an unmarked grave beside his younger son George. It is also believed that the seven infant children are there along with his second and third wives.

Related Stories:

BYINGTON Family.

Richard Carr "Dick" BYINGTON.

Sources:

Hawkins Co. TN Census.

Scott Co. VA Census.

Submitted by:

*Sheila M. Bradshaw
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615*

Richard Carr "Dick" BYINGTON

Richard Carr Byington, the son of Rev. Hezekiah Karr Byington and Rhoda Banks

Byington, was born in 1886 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Roxie Myrtle Bruner, the daughter of Andy and Mollie Hensley Bruner. Roxie was born in 1894 in Virginia.

Dick was a very good cook. In his early years he was a cook for the railroad. He was also a farmer and enjoyed having bees in the back yard. He would lie on the back porch and watch his bees in the late afternoon. He liked to hunt and fish as well. He enjoyed squirrel hunting with his dog "Frank."

Roxie was a homemaker and mother. She was also a Midwife, having delivered most of her grandchildren. She made clothing for the grandchildren, as she was a very good seamstress.

Dick and Roxie had eleven children: (1) Carl, (2) Daisy, (3) Robert, (4) Paul, (5) Pearl, (6) Dee, (7) Garnie, (8) Mary, (9) Georgia, (10) Charles, and (11) William Henry who died at eleven months of age.

Dick and Roxie were very kind and loving people, and very well liked in the community. Dick developed cancer and was ill for some time before his death in 1952. Roxie died in 1963. They are both buried at Piney Grove Church Cemetery in Caney Valley in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Their son Paul married Lillie Thacker. Lillie is the daughter of James Peart and Mollie Emily Herron Thacker. Paul and Lillie have four children: Shirley, Martha, Cecil, and Nicholas. Paul and Lillie still live at Route 2, Surgoinsville, TN in Caney Valley.

Shirley Byington, the oldest of four children, was born to Paul and Lillie Thacker Byington on July 30, 1940 in Hawkins County. She spent a lot of time with her grandparents Dick and Roxie Byington.

Shirley married Shields George Bradshaw on January 23, 1958 in Scott County, VA. They lived in Hawkins County for several years before moving to Sullivan County.

In August of 1964 Shirley was involved in an accident, in which several sheets of plate glass fell on her legs. She was severely cut and spent many months bedridden. She now bears severe scars on her legs.

Shirley and Shields later moved to Washington County, TN. After many years they were able to start their own business, S.G. Bradshaw Construction. They have been in business for over twenty years.

They reside in Gray, TN, and have two children: (1) Shields Jr., and (2) Shelia Marie, who both also live in Gray. The couple also have three grandchildren: (1) Kimberly Ann, (2) Christopher Gerald, and (3) Kayla Marie.

Related Stories:

Hezekiah Karr BYINGTON.

Dan THACKER, Jr.

Source:

Paul Byington

Submitted by:

*Shirley Byington Bradshaw
(granddaughter of "Dick")
Christopher G. Bradshaw
(great grandson of "Dick")
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615*

The CALDWELL Family

Richard (Dick) Caldwell was born 1849 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was the son of Andrew Caldwell and Hulda Dinsmore. He was known as Anderson Caldwell in the census and marriage records. After his marriage on 19 December 1870, he is known as Richard or Dick Caldwell. On his will and deeds he is called R.C. Caldwell. He married Patience (Pasha) Morrison. She had a son John Floyd Morrison who married Laura Feagins, daughter of John Feagins and Caroline McLain. Pasha was the daughter of Elenore Morelock who married Joseph Britton 1859-60.

Dick Caldwell was a blacksmith in the Longs Bend/War Valley area of Hawkins County. He owned a small mountain farm and had eight children: Alice Caldwell, died on 27 January 1957, buried in Surgoinsville Cemetery; Elijah Caldwell, born 6 October 1874, married Lillie Frazier, daughter of Rev. Silas Frazier; Bonnie Caldwell, born in October 1876, married John Hunley; Laura Caldwell, born October 1878, died 12 August 1907;

Charlie Caldwell, born 11 January 1880, died on 13 May 1947, married 1st Ruthie Hunley, 2nd Crata Ball; Fannie Caldwell, born January 1883; Thomas Clinton Caldwell, born 17 September 1884, married 1st Julie Bailey, the daughter of Cora and Bill Bailey, 2nd Leslie Booker; James Byrd Caldwell, born 20 December 1889. Richard died 31 December 1917 of pneumonia at the age of sixty-six. He was buried in the Longs Bend Cemetery. Pasha probably died before 20 January 1912 because she was not mentioned in the will of her husband which was made on that date.

James Byrd Caldwell, the youngest child of Dick and Pasha was married on 3 December 1910 to Beatrice Dobbs, daughter of Catherine Miles and David Dobbs. Beatrice was born in 1891 in Hawkins County. Byrd was a farmer in the Longs Bend/War Valley area. He was a diabetic and died 15 November 1949 at the age of 60. After Byrd's death, Beatrice continued to live with her daughter on the homeplace until her death on 3 May 1973. Both Byrd and Beatrice are buried in Longs Bend Cemetery. All their children were born in Hawkins County. Dolly Caldwell died on 10 August 1911; Roy Shields Caldwell, born on 15 December 1915, married Nellie Mae Light; Verna Mae Caldwell, born 11 December 1917; D.C. Caldwell, died in childhood; Richard Clarence Caldwell, married Pauline Bishop and had two children: Audry Jean Caldwell Wagner and Judith (Judy) Andrea Caldwell Mannes; R.C. Caldwell, born on 27 December 1925, married Gladys Mullins. They had two children: Ronald and Diane Caldwell.

Shields Caldwell and Nannie Light were married on 30 May 1936 in Scott County, Virginia. Nellie, the daughter of Nathan Light and Dona Bell Booker, was born on 19 September 1919 and died 7 April 1990. Shields and Nellie lived in the Longs Bend community and raised five children: Margaret Virginia, born on 5 January 1939, married Thomas Larkins; Frances June, born 10 September 1941, married Gene Wendell (Dale) Dykes; Richard Lee, born 28 September 1943, married Dorothy Henley; Charles David, born 29 April 1945, married Kay Tunnell; Roy Truman, married 1st Sharon Johnson, 2nd Doris Rimer Fain.

Charles David Caldwell, the fourth child of Shields and Nellie Caldwell, was born 29 April 1945 in Hawkins County. He went to school at Longs Bend, Kepar, and Surgoinsville. He sold milk and helped with the farm work. He married Kay Tunnell on 25 November 1964, at the Longs Bend Baptist Church. They bought a home in Surgoinsville on Hill Street and lived there until July 1973 when they moved to the farm they had bought from Kate Hyder on Watterson Gap Road between Carters and Stanley Valley. Charles farms and works full time at the Kingsport Press in Hawkins Co., now known as Arcata Graphics. They had a son Charles David II, born 26 December 1969. In 1977, they adopted a daughter Robin Marie, born on 6 December 1970. David and Robin graduated from Volunteer High School in 1989. They are all members of the Longs Bend Church. Charles serves as Deacon, Kay as Church Clerk and David is assistant song leader.

Related Stories:

Shields and Nellie CALDWELL.

DOBBS.

Harlow and Mary Dell TUNNELL.

Sources:

Census Records.

Family Records.

Submitted by:

*Kay Tunnell Caldwell
Route 2, Box 243
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

Shields and Nellie CALDWELL

Nellie was born 19 September 1919 to Nathan and Dona Booker Light. She spent her childhood living on Chimney Top Mountain on Beech Creek of Hawkins County, Tennessee. Times were hard when she was growing up. Everywhere she went, she had to walk, to school, church, or visit relatives. When she could, she would stay with relatives and help them with their children just so she could get off the mountain for a while. During those years and particularly that part of the County, making bootleg whiskey was a way of life, and she was always eager to get away from it.

Shields and Nellie were married 30 May 1936 in Gate City, Virginia. Their first child was Margaret. She was a beautiful, healthy looking baby, but when she was three years old, she was stricken with a disease that ate the bones out of her chin. For years she had to be taken to Nashville to doctors. This was hard for Nellie because Margaret was so sick and in pain and needed special attention, but Nellie had four more babies during those years.

Nellie was a hard worker. She had to help her husband with the crops plus put out a big wash on a wringer washer. She had a big garden with canning to do, to last through the winter months. Her shelves were full of beans, corn, tomatoes, pickles, fruit, jams, jellies, relishes, and soup. She was a really good cook. Everyone loved to eat at her table. She was especially known for her cornbread. I always thought it was the best because she put so much love into it that gave it that special taste.

Nellie loved to quilt. When she was raising her family, she made quilts for warmth against the cold winter months. In later years, she pieced beautiful quilts for her family and some to sell. She took great pride in her quilt tops and her stitches were neat and small. She always tried to take a picture of her tops and kept a record of who she gave or sold them to. She quilted quilt squares and made cushions for her grandchildren.

Shields had to work hard to pay the medical bills and feed his family of five children. His farm had fields of corn and tobacco, the rest was in hay and pasture. He not only farmed his farm, but he tended his mother's two farms, one she lived on near Rimer's Store in Longs Bend. The other was a mountain farm in War Valley. It was sold in the mid 1950's to Roy Barrett. Horses were used to farm with until the first tractor was bought. Shields believed in hard work and expected no less from his children. Many hot days were spent with a hoe in hand chopping weeds out of the fields. It had to be done right, too. Nothing done sloppy was gotten away with. Age didn't matter with Shields. If you were big enough to carry a hoe you were big enough to chop weeds. Even after a hard day in the fields their work wasn't over. Wood for the cookstove was to be chopped and carried into the house everyday. In winter wood for the heating stove had to be gotten in. The boys would drag the logs in from the woods with a mule. Cows had to be milked, usually at least five or six hogs had to be fed, corn for the chickens had to be shelled, and the eggs gathered.

In the fall walnuts were gathered, put in sacks, and hauled to the house by horse and sled. Winter nights weren't spent in front of a T.V. set. The family would get a big rock each and hammer, turn the radio to WCKY in Cincinnati to the Wayne Rainey and Lonnie Glossen Radio Show, and crack walnuts listening to the radio. The radio wasn't stereo. And it wasn't an electric you plugged into the wall either. It ran on a battery! They would sell their walnuts to buy Christmas presents.

Fall was also a time for gathering pumpkins. The corn fields were covered in big yellow pumpkins. The children would carry them to the horse sled, and sled after sled was hauled to the shed to be fed to the hogs during the months ahead.

Another family project in the fall was making applebutter. On Sunday afternoon the family would pile in the old truck and go to the War Valley farm. Apples were gathered by the sackful and carried off the mountain to where the truck was parked. Then on Monday the apples were peeled and sliced ready for the next days applebutter making. Tuesday morning a fire was built outside under the brass kettle. The children would take turns stirring the butter, all the while trying to stay out of the path of the smoke. The apples had to be cooked down until they were thick, then taken off the fire and poured in jars and put in the smokehouse.

Shields and Nellie lived in the same house for over fifty years. The house was moved from War Valley on two trucks, one truck drove forward, the other backed all the way.

Nellie had a couple of heart attacks. She asked the Lord to just take her on to heaven the next time. On 7 April 1990 Shields came in the house and found Nellie on the kitchen floor with her dishwasher still running in the sink. God had answered her prayer. The homeplace is lonesome now but Shields is still there.

He still has cattle, puts up his hay and keeps busy with the farm he has loved so much. He is 77 years old.

Their five children all married and have children and grandchildren.

Related Story:

The CALDWELL Family

Submitted by:

Charles D. Caldwell
(son of Shields and Nellie Caldwell)
Route 2, Box 243
Surgoinsville, TN 37873

Jeanetta (MOUNTCASTLE) CARDEN

"Mrs. Jeanetta Mountcastle Carden may be the Oldest Confederate Mother," written in a Special to the Sentinel by A. H. Webster, Jefferson City, January 14 (1903).

"Three miles east of this city lives Mrs. Jeanetta Mountcastle Carden, than whom probably no more intelligent and interesting lady of her age now lives in this Southland. Born at Edgefield, South Carolina, January 10, 1812. She had seen 93 winters and enjoys the distinction as far as can be learned of being the oldest living "Confederate Mother." She is also entitled to membership as a Daughter of the American Revolution. Though her father did not fight in that great war, he volunteered and stood in readiness with his regiment to march to the defense of his country; the war closing before he was needed.

Mrs. Carden was the 5th child of William and Susan Mountcastle, who reared a family of 10; 5 sons and 5 daughters. The late Major Andrew Mountcastle, who lived for many years at this city being one of the sons, and she is the aunt of Tennessee's distinguished member of the Democratic National Committee, Hon. R.E.L. Mountcastle of Knoxville, and of the late Ralph Mountcastle.

Her father was one of two English brothers who came to America when he was a lad of 14 years of age. He settled in Virginia, and his brother in Pennsylvania. William married a Miss Heart of South Carolina, a daughter of a prominent planter of that state.

When quite young, her parents moved to Tennessee and settled in Jonesboro where they lived several years, then moved to Rogersville where they lived many years and where the family mostly grew up, and where she met and was wooed by a gallant young Tennessean, Robert Carden, to whom she was married March 18, 1835.

As the fruits of this marriage she raised 2 sons and one daughter. Viz: Samuel R. Carden, who served through the Civil War in Col. Ashby's dashing regiment "Ole Cavalry," and with General Joe Wheeler from 1861 to April 1865 and went through many a hard fought battle without a scratch and lived to get home and is the stay and support of his old mother in the closing of her long and eventful life. He is 64 years of age, hale and hearty and never fails to attend every Confederate reunion, no matter where.

The other son, Joseph, who served in a Texas regiment, never lived to get home, but gave up his life for the defense of his beloved Southland at Shreveport, Louisiana in 1865.

The daughter, Mrs. Divina, died some 2 years ago. Mrs. Mountcastle belonged to one of the old and cultured southern families and was given a liberal education, attending the best schools of the state; being at Rogersville and Athens, Tennessee. After completing her education, having a large acquaintance, being highly cultured and popular, she was sought after as a teacher, and altho being a daughter of wealthy and prominent parents, and not compelled to earn a livelihood; she taught school for quite a number of years in East Tennessee and quite a while at Athens, Tennessee, and became one of the most prominent teachers in East Tennessee, at that day and time until her marriage.

When a young lady, she moved in the best circles of society and has met and known many of the prominent public men of that day, among were General Andrew Jackson, when he came to Rogersville as a young practicing attorney attending court; Landon C. Hayes, and John Calhoun.

While a girl of 16 or 18 she saw Jackson many times, when with Judge Peck and many other lawyers. They boarded at the Rogers Tavern in Rogersville, which was situated near her father's home. She and her schoolmates would pass by the large porch in front of the tavern where Jackson and all the court people stopped. This tavern was a one story long affair with a long room at each end and one in the center. The family occupied one of the end rooms and the boarders attending court, the other. The one in the center was the dining room. The kitchen being several feet in the rear, opposite the dining room. This was the only tavern in the town, and received all of the patronage of the day and was frequently the temporary home of the prominent men of the country.

She remembers that the fireplace and hearth to the large room where the lawyers stayed was very broad and wide. And at one time when Jackson was there, the tavern people were placing new rock in, and repairing the hearth; that he went and dressed out a handsome smooth rock, carried it in, and placed it in the hearth and sat on it. And ever after it was called the "Jackson Rock." And time and time again the old tavern was repaired and the hearth relaid, but care was always taken to preserve and put back in its place this same rock, and it was there in the hearth when last she saw it.

The country at that time around the town was mostly a cane break wilderness.

Her husband died at Rogersville (where they had lived since their marriage) in 1845, leaving her the 3 children to raise and educate, which she succeeded in well doing. When the Great Civil War came, she was for the Union if it could stand and be in peace, but said she told a neighbor when talking about succession that if the north and south could not live in peace, they had better separate. And when the State of Tennessee went out of the Union, she gave her all for the land she loved so well and bid a fond farewell and her blessing to her 2 sons as they left her to take up arms in defense of their homeland, one whose bright young face she was never to look into again.

Being alone, her married daughter living in Texas, at the beginning of the War she went to live with the daughter and remained until its close. She then returned to Tennessee and settled on the farm where she now lives. Here surrounded with every comfort and where want and attention is supplied by the loving hands of her devoted son Samuel, and her niece, Susan Hendrix.

Her eyesight being dim and not being able to read the old family Bible, which looks like it might be a 100 years old. These friends are a source of great pleasure. She joined the Presbyterian Church at Rogersville when she was 16 years of age and has been a devoted Christian ever since, and is at this time a member of the Presbyterian Church of this city and has been a continuous subscriber to that great religious journal "The Christian Observer" for the past 88 years, which paper being only one year younger than she; having been established in the year 1813.

It is a pleasure to meet and converse with this refined and cultured witness of God's handiwork and mercy, enabling her to live so long and useful a life. Which life has been so full of Christian work and beautiful example to so many generations of her kith and kin and friends who have passed over the great river years and years ago. This saintly lady whose mind is as clear as though only 50 years of age, delights to converse on things of the long life. Her memory being good, she can relate many interesting happenings of her girlhood days at the close of the sunset of her long and beautiful life shall appear she will celebrate her one hundred birthday."

There are 2 discrepancies in this story. One is that her mother was Susan Moore, not Susan Heart. The other one is the death of her husband was not 1845 but, as a will stated, he died before December 1841.

Related Story:

William Mountcastle

Source:

The Knoxville Sentinel, by A. H. Webster, January 14, 1903

Submitted by:

Nita Wells
9809 Home Place
Dallas, TX 75217

Etter Walter CARPENTER

Etter Walter Carpenter, born June 8, 1890 on Clouds Creek, just northwest of Rogersville in Hawkins County, TN, died on March 10, 1959 in Kingsport, Sullivan Co., TN, and is buried in Carpenter-Mustin Cemetery, Hawkins Co. He was the oldest child of John Williams Carpenter, born January 8, 1868, died June 11, 1944 and Annis "Ann" Cornielus Brooks Carpenter, born April 5, 1870, died February 13, 1944.

Lelia Mustin, born June 28, 1892 on Clouds Creek, died March 4, 1939 in Hawkins County, was the daughter of Anthony Kyle Mustin, born February 22, 1863, died November 20, 1919 and Alice Brooks Mustin, born August 22, 1866, died September 8, 1959.

Etter Carpenter and Lelia Mustin fell in love and planned to get married, but her father Anthony Mustin loved his young beautiful daughter so much, he refused to let her go. On a cold winter night, February 11, 1912, with snow on the ground, Etter plans to steal his bride. He takes friends with him travelling through the back fields on foot, not daring to use the main road. Soon after dark and the father retired for the night, Lelia quietly tip-toed from her home to meet her lover. When realizing his daughter was missing, the father jumps from the bed, taking his gun and chases after her, shooting into the air, trying to stop them, but they were too far ahead, so he sadly gives up the chase and turns back.

The lovers hurried on through creeks and over fences to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Price, where the minister and other friends were waiting to perform the wedding ceremony. God must have been pleased because He blessed their home with eleven children, all born on Cloud's Creek: Agnes M., Cecile, Eugene I., Clarence Earl, Bobbie Ruth, Charles M., Maxine Opel, Roy Eldridge, Nola Fay, Lola Kay, and Kathlene.

Agnes M. Carpenter, born November 16, 1912, and on December 24, 1930 married Silas Clinton Harrell, born January 17, 1909, died October 16, 1964, buried in EastLawn Cemetery, Kingsport, TN. They have 4 children: Betty Wanda, born January 13, 1932; Silas Clinton Jr., born April 22, 1934; Benny Thomas, born September 30 1936; and Jasper, born February 25, 1941.

Cecile Carpenter, born December 11, 1914, and on January 4, 1934 married Harold Hicks, born May 9, 1912. They have 3 children: Jackie, born June 8, 1935; Jimmy, born June 20, 1940; and Eddie, born April 19, 1943.

Eugene I. Carpenter, born on May 29, 1917, died January 12, 1973, and on July 3, 1937 married Mildred Georgia Brooks, born December 23, 1917. They have 4 children: Tommy Gene, born August 27, 1941; Peggy Ann, born July 8, 1943; Joe Phil, born September 29, 1945; and Larry Wayne, born February 14, 1949.

Clarence Earl Carpenter, born on September 29, 1921, and on December 22, 1945 married Helen Brooks, born March 23, 1924. They have 1 daughter, Linda, born August 14, 1949.

Bobbie Ruth Carpenter, born April 27, 1924, and on November 30, 1945 married William Harve Price, born May 31, 1919. They have 1 son, Robert Steve, born December 31, 1949.

Charles M. Carpenter, born December 26, 1926, and on January 8, 1948 married Ethel Church born June 15, 1927. They have no children.

Maxine Opel Carpenter born August 25, 1929, and on January 14, 1949 married Ralph Courtney, born July 17. They have 1 son, William Roger, born October 26, 1949.

Roy Eldridge Carpenter, born May 2, 1932, and on May 5, 1956 married Bobbie Phillips, born November 29, 1936. They have 3 children: Rodney Etter, born September 7, 1957; Susie Ann, born August 28, 1958; and Lester Ross, born December 8, 1960.

Nola Fay Carpenter (twin), born July 20, 1934, and on September 12, 1952 married Carl Begley, born May 20, 1929. They have 2 children: Teresa Ann, born June 14, 1953; and Richard Allen, born November 10, 1955.

Lola Kay Carpenter (twin), born July 20, 1934, and on December 24, 1955 married Milton Wilder, born September 9, 1928. They have 2 children: Audrey Kay, born June 15, 1957; and Ronnie Lynn, born May 27, 1967.

Kathlene Carpenter born June 7, 1937, and on June 20, 1959 married first Charlie Pete Murphy, born October 2, 1932, divorced 1969, and on August 12, 1971 married second Buddy Shelton, born April, 1934, with 1 son, Curtis Etter, by the first marriage, born June 22, 1961.

Like most of the residents of Clouds Creek, Etter was a farmer, and for the last 15 years of his life he was also a deputy sheriff of Hawkins Co.

Related story:

Memories of the John William Carpenter home.

Sources:

Excerpts from Carpenter 1774-1976, by Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Written by:

Anna Lou Carpenter Price

Submitted by:

*Phyllis Williams Wolfe
(great neice of Etter Walter Carpenter)
Route 3, Box 3145
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Felix Houston CARPENTER

Felix Houston Carpenter, born on 11 February 1875, at Luther, Hancock County, TN, was the son of Wiley Carpenter, born 1847, died 11 June 1891, a descendant of John and Yelberton Carpenter. His mother was Nancy Edwards, born 25 October 1853 to Aaron and Sarah Edwards of Knox County, KY. Nancy died 12 December 1936 and was buried in the Carpenter Cemetery in Hancock County.

Tragedy struck when Wiley was shot and killed along with Jephtha Wolfe when Felix was a young boy, leaving him to help his widowed mother provide for the seven younger children in the family.

At age 25, 1 April 1900 in Hancock Co., he married Susie Lee Parker, born 27 October 1881 in Hancock Co., daughter of Elijah Samuel, born 17 September 1857, died on 11 February 1931, and Lina Allen Parker, born 1862, died 1941, and they made their home near his mother in Luther. To them were born two daughters; Lillie Mae, born 22 January 1901, married Jesse Brooks 11 February 1917, died 23 February 1991 in Bloomington, IL; and Byrd Ethel, born on 20 December 1902, married Jackson Price 23 October 1921 Hawkins County, TN; and a son Landon Wiley, born on 19 March 1907, married Elsie Mullins December 1937, died 17 December 1963 in Hawkins Co.

Felix moved his family across the mountain into Hawkins Co., and bought a sawmill and country store at Spruce Pine, near Mooresburg. There the other children were born: Hazel, born 7 May 1908, m1 Charles Winstead on 25 July 1926, m2 Thomas Young, died 26 December 1952 Knoxville, TN; Jay S. Carpenter, born 8 June 1910, married Kate Skelton 25 April 1931, died, 13 March 1957 St. Clair (Bulls Gap) TN; Hurdle Hooper, born 7 July 1912, married Mona Gertrude Wells. He died 21 September 1973; Otey Elijah, born 25 December 1914, married Dennie Marie Collier 21 September 1946, died on 11 September 1988 in Kingsport, TN; and Bonnie Sue, born on 7 June 1918, m1 David Guffey Phelps, 6 March 1945, m2 Leo John Gauthier, Hillsboro Co., FL.

A year after Bonnie was born, Susie contracted typhoid fever and died 27 July 1919. Mae was already married, so the responsibility fell on Byrd to care for Bonnie and the other small children.

On 6 March 1920 Felix married Zora Amos Vaughn, whose husband, Berg, had died leaving a small son, Earl. Zora, a resourceful woman, born on 7 August 1893, accepted the responsibility of the home and soon endeared herself to the motherless children. She and Felix then had five more children: Nora Madge, born on 12 February 1921, married Adam Carpenter 23 March 1938; Felix Reese, born 11 April 1923, married Jannette Reed on 11 December 1942 Cocke Co., TN; Calvin Wayne, born 7 February 1925, married Mildred Janet Lee Manis 11 November 1947 in Hamblen Co., TN; Laura Blanche, born and died 12 February 1927; Alvin L., born 19 July 1930, married Hazel Dalton, on 5 August 1950 in Hamblen Co.

Four of the Carpenter sons served their country in World War II - Hurdle and Reese in the Army, Otey in the Navy, and Wayne in the Marines.

Felix was an admirable man who liked to talk and tell stories. He regaled his grandchildren with tales of growing up in Hancock Co. and life around the Sawmill. Having a large family usually meant lots of company on Sunday, with Zora and the other women family members frying chicken and cooking a large variety of vegetables, desserts, etc. The men would fill up the long table to eat first; next the women ate; and finally the children who usually had to settle for a chicken neck or wing. Then, after dishwashing, there would be more visiting while the little ones took naps and the older children waded the creek or climbed nearby apple trees. It was fascinating to go to Felix's store where gasoline was dispensed from old fashioned pumps and customers frequently asked for a "dope" (soft drink) and tried their luck on a punchboard.

Felix died 16 September 1948 of congestive heart failure and was buried beside Susie in the Carpenter Cemetery at Spruce Pine. Zora died on 27 January 1966, and was buried next to her first husband, Burg, in the Carpenter Cemetery.

Related stories:

Milan Jackson and Byrd Carpenter Price.

Jeptha Thomas Wolfe.

Submitted by:

*Ruby Price
Knoxville, TN*

Jesse James and Louise (MUSTIN) CARPENTER

My Dad, Jesse James (J.J.) "Jim" Carpenter was born on 12 June 1902 and died 17 June 1982. He was married on 3 June 1922 to Louise Mustin, born 22 September 1904. She died 4 March 1980. They are buried in the Carpenter and Mustin Cemetery in Cloud's Creek.

Dad and Mom were both born and raised on Cloud's Creek and all of their children were born there.

Dad was the son of John William Carpenter, born on 8 January 1868 and died 11 June 1944. He was married 11 October 1888 to Annis "Ann" Cornelius Brooks, born on 5 April 1870 and died 13 February 1944. John and Ann are buried in the Carpenter and Mustin Cemetery on Cloud's Creek.

John W. Carpenter, the eldest of seven boys, was born in Estill Co., Kentucky, near the town of Erwin or Richmond, and was one of twelve children born to Wilson Carpenter and his first wife Nancy McSwain Carpenter. Nancy was born 19 February 1848 and died 25 November 1905. She was buried at Chesnut Ridge, on Cloud's Creek.

Wilson Carpenter, born 10 May 1840, and died 1 August 1927, was the son of Allen Carpenter, born 1815, died on 10 June 1889, and his wife Sarah (Sally) Altom, born 16 April 1823, and died on 1 January 1879. Sally's parents were William Altom, born in 1789, died 1861, and Katherine Price Altom, born 1789 and died 1857. Allen and Sarah were buried at Spruce Pine.

On 19 March 1906 in Morristown, TN, Wilson remarried Jane Smalley, born 1867 and died 1961. Wilson and Jane had no children. They are buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery in Morristown.

Allen Carpenter was the son of Yelberton Carpenter, born 1774, and died on 27 June 1848, and his wife Hannah Allen, born in 1777. Yelberton and Hannah were married on 26 March 1793 in Pendleton Co., South Carolina by Thomas Gilbert, a parson.

Yelberton was drafted at Rogersville on 8 January 1814, and served for six months in Captain Griffin's Company in the Regiment of Tennessee Militia, commanded by Colonel Ellison in the war against the Creek Indians.

In his will, Yelberton left a tract of land on Cloud's Creek, where he lived, to his son Allen. That same tract of land had been purchased from William Altom, probably a relative.

Ann Brooks was the daughter of James E. and Mary E. Williams Brooks.

Mom, one of fourteen children. Her parents were Anthony Kyle Mustin, born 22 February 1863 and died on 20 November 1919, married on 19 December 1881 to Sarah Alice Brooks, born on 22 August 1866 and died 8 September 1959. Anthony and Sarah are buried in the Carpenter and Mustin Cemetery on Cloud's Creek.

My Dad's Mother, Ann Brooks Carpenter, was born on Cloud's Creek and also her Dad, James Etter Brooks. Grandpa Carpenter came to Hawkins County, Tennessee when he was about 15 years old. He came to Cloud's Creek in a covered wagon. He was married there, and all his children were born there. My Dad went to school in the church. It was a log church on the right of where the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church is now. The old church was called Cloud's Creek Baptist Church.

My Mom's Dad, Anthony Mustin, was born on Cloud's Creek and also his Mother Catharine Brooks Mustin. She married Ward Mustin. He was a full-blooded Cherokee Indian. He died during the Civil War on 4 July 1865 and she raised Grandfather and daughter on her pension of $8.00 a month. How far would $8.00 go today? When she died she left a big lot of land and money to be divided between Anthony's children. Etter Carpenter was the executor of the estate.

My Great-Great-Great Grandfather was Thomas Brooks, born 1760 and died 1840. He had a North Carolina Land Grant in Hawkins County of 400 acres on Cloud's Creek. This land is still in the family today almost 200 years later.

Clouds Creek is a small valley nestled near the foothills of Stone Mountain in Hawkins County, eight miles northwest of Rogersville, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

The Brooks Family.

Early Clouds Creek Brooks Family and Descendants.

Sources:

Excerpts from Carpenter (1774-1976) by Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Submitted by:

*Phyllis Williams Wolfe (Grand-daughter of J.J. Carpenter and Louise Mustin Carpenter, and submitted in memory of her mother, Bernice Carpenter Williams.)
Route 3, Box 3145
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Memories of the John William CARPENTER home

Near the foothills of Stone Mountain in Hawkins County, eight miles northwest of Rogersville, Tennessee is nestled a small valley called Clouds Creek. Many happy families have lived in this community. They have worked on small farms, reared their children, and worshiped together at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church for many years.

A peaceful stream of water flows from the mountain and as it finds its way through the valley it brings joy to many children. One could find them splashing in the swimming holes or fishing along the banks on a hot summer day. On Sunday afternoon from time to time the people would gather near the creek for a baptizing service. Many hearts were made to rejoice on those occasions.

Among the families of Clouds Creek, was the family of John William CARPENTER and Annis Cornelius BROOKS CARPENTER lived from 1888 - 1944.

As we turn back the pages of our memories, let us cherish the joys of our home. Whether it be a palace or a cottage, it is home. Home is in the soul itself. Next to the Love of God, home sentiment is the strongest in the human heart. At the name of home the impulse of every heart awakens.

John William CARPENTER was the son of Wilson and Nancy McSwain Carpenter, born January 8, 1868 in the State of Kentucky near the town of Erwin or Richmond. He lived there until the age of thirteen when the family came to Tennessee in a horse-drawn wagon. He enjoyed telling the story to his children and grandchildren. He was the oldest of seven boys.

Annis Cornelius BROOKS CARPENTER was the daughter of James E. and Mary E. Williams Brooks, born April 5, 1870 and she lived her seventy-three years in the same community. Her birthplace still stands today.

The wedding date for John William CARPENTER and Annis C. BROOKS was October 7, 1888. They lived their entire married life of fifty-six years in the Clouds Creek community.

We appreciate and are thankful for the guidance and love of our parents. There is joy in every thought of our home. Joy is heightened and pain is lightened by being shared, but home is the only place on earth where they can be fully shared.

We may not recall all the experiences and struggles of life, but every feature of our childhood home, every play house, and every grapevine swing is photographed upon our hearts never to fade away. The golden light of eternity will not dim the brightness of that picture. Whatever else the heart may forget, it cannot forget the memories of the wooden hand made wagons, the sleds, the tom-walkers, the rag dolls, the stick horses, the ball games in the front yard, the sister's fond caress, the brother's generous aid, the father's loving counsel, and the mother's anxious prayers.

No words of ours are necessary to impress the significance of these occasions upon the minds of those who are members of our family. With feelings of delight we looked forward to the hour when the family could meet together at home for Sunday dinner. Even on a short afternoon visit we always found a warm welcome and were greeted with a smile from Mother's blue eyes. We usually found her wearing her favorite bonnet and apron. We often found her in the kitchen preparing a meal on the Home Comfort range. The range must have been strong since it was heated so often. On the right side of the range was a tank that held the water to heat for our Saturday night baths. Behind the stove was a cozy place for two or three boys to warm their toes on a cool frosty morning. The warmer across the top kept the bread and potatoes warm. The long table in the kitchen was always loaded with good things to eat. One specialty was chicken and dressing with home-made biscuits, which were mixed in a large wooden tray. It took a large pan of biscuits to feed all the CARPENTER boys. Another favorite aroma from the kitchen was coffee perking in the pot. Drinking good coffee was Dad's favorite past time and no doubt this tradition has been passed down to the present generation.

Other times we found Mother seated near the fireplace piecing quilts or patching overalls for her sons or overseeing a cotton picking. Immediately after supper the hearth was swept clean and a large bundle of home grown cotton was placed before the fire to warm in order to make it easier to separate the seed. The handmade cotton gin was placed on two chairs, and two children were called to operate it, which wasn't a very pleasant job, but we knew better than to refuse. The fluffy white cotton was made into bats which made wonderful soft quilts. This seemed to be Mother's work during the winter months.

Mother was a lover of books; she enjoyed reading at all times. She didn't have a degree from any high school or college, but she was interested in seeing that her children were kept in school as much as possible. She was a charter member of Pleasant Hill Sunday School where she taught a Bible Class for many years.

Mother was never without her anxieties, her heartaches, her cares, or her fears which beset her path in rearing her children and those grandchildren who came into her care after their mother was called to rest. She always went to God in prayer when she needed help with this great task. Her days were filled with ceaseless rounds of little tasks and nights brought little rest, but at last, "He giveth his beloved rest." We honor her most, not by nursing our grief, but going forth to continue our work. We can leave no greater monument than pressing on to victory in the cause which was so near to the heart of our Mother.

Father's favorite chores were feeding the pigs and going out into the fields to salt the cattle. He took pride in his few white face cows and calves. So many times he was seen clasping his hands behind him and making his way through the meadows and hills. His dog was always with him wherever he went. Nothing pleased him as much as holding his grandchildren on each knee, telling a joke or relating a story of some of his boyhood experiences.

When our dear ones fall from the ranks our first impulse is to give up in despair but when we look back over our father's life and recall how he toiled to provide for his children and grandchildren our burdens are lightened and we think what Jesus said, "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." We cannot forget the day when a chastening hand drew still closer the cords of love and bound the little circle in sorrow. The day when footsteps were no longer heard in the house and the silent rooms were filled with the fragrance of flowers, the door opened and a casket passed through.

Related story:

Etter Walter Carpenter

Sources:

Excerpts from Carpenter (1774-1976), by Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Written by:

Anna Lou Carpenter Price

Submitted by:

*Phyllis Williams Wolfe
(great-granddaughter of John William Carpenter)
Route 3, Box 3145
Rogersville, TN 37857*

A. J. and Louverna (MANIS) CARTER

Andrew Jackson "Jack" Carter was a Baptist minister living in the Big Creek area of Hawkins County. He is a eighth generation descendent of Captain Thomas Carter, Jr. that emigrated from England to Lancaster County, Virginia in the mid-1600's. A.J. was born July 18, 1876 and died January 12, 1958, and was the son of Henry and Amanda Taylor Carter and the grandson of Winfield and Flavilla Bowen Carter.

He married Louverna Manis about 1901. She was born March 24, 1885, died on July 29, 1944; and the daughter of Malin and Sarah Hilton Manis. A. J. and Louverna's ten children were: (1) Mandy Elizabeth Carter, born March 20, 1903 died June 12, 1972, married to Samuel Patton Jones on March 8, 1922 (Virgie Mae, Dinell, Iona, Lester, Kenneth); (2) Ora Mazella Carter, born January 2, 1905 married Walter Cook on January 31, 1920 (Arthell, A.J., Estell, Betty, Forest, Barbara, Phyllis, Howard, Annette, Hazel, George, Jane); (3) Eva Marie Carter, born May 27, 1907 died May 18, 1991; (4) Loranza Dow Carter, born in 1909, died about 1920 in Clifton, SC; (5) Jess B. Carter, born September 16, 1911 married Nella Mae Dean December 27, 1941 (Faye, Allen, Gary); (6) Curtis Carter, born 1913 died ?; (7) Sarah Ellen Carter, born March 15, 1916 died December 5, 1980 (T.J., R.C., Lowell, Hughie, Verna, Julia); (8) Willard Harvey Carter, born September 15, 1918 married Effie Head June 21, 1941 (Charlotte, Loretta, Elizabeth, Dwight, Jeauetta); (9) Lillian Betty Carter, born December 29, 1921 died March 5, 1987 married Dock Gibson August 14, 1946 (Sarah, William, Thomas, Cindy); (10) Bertha Inez Carter, born November 15, 1925 married Paul Nelson May 25, 1945 (Vernita, Leota, Timothy).

Related Stories:

C. W. and Martha Ann (Dean) Hurd.

Malin A. Manis and Family.

Submitted by:

*Faye Carter Gryder
Rte. 4, Box 4C4
Youngsville, NC 27596*

Ellis C. and Nancy Rose (BOHANNON) CARTER

Ellis C. Carter (June 23, 1842-January 31, 1918) was the son of Ephraim Carter and Elizabeth Anderson Carter and the grandson of Jacob and Mary Polly Guffie Carter of Carter's Station and the Lick Creek area of Greene County, Tennessee. On July 27, 1865, Ellis (spelled Elias in the marriage record) and Nancy Rose Bohannon (October 17, 1845-February 22, 1923) were married. They bought 300 acres of farm land with some timber and a free flowing spring that straddled the Hawkins-Greene County line. They built a fine log home on a terraced hill just above the county line "landmark oak tree." Both house and tree are still standing.

Ellis' siblings were: Sleta Carter; Mary Carter; Margaret Carter; Robert Carter (married Mary Polly Hughes); Alexander Carter (m. Smith); and Lucy Carter (m. George Morison).

Nancy Rose was the daughter of Simon and Edie Greer Bohannon. Siblings were: Patsy, John, P. L., Sarah, and Simon Bohannon.

The children of Ellis and Nancy Rose were: Dora K. Carter (1866-1944), married James Smith; Margaret Carter (1863-1899), married Johnny Carter (of Raleigh Carter); Laura Carter (1870-1926), married John Woods; James Thomas Carter (1872-1950), married Sarah Ann Venable; Simon Carter (1873-1874); Mary Belle Carter (1875-1960), married Rev. David T. Lawson, Mary Belle and Preacher "Davey" lived in the Ellis homeplace in Hawkins Co. until their deaths; Ephraim Louis Carter (1880-1959), married Vada Robinette; and Lucy Jane Carter (1882-1933), who never married.

This quote from The History of Providence Baptist Church: "Providence Baptist Church was organized by a group of pioneers of this community. They were a hardy group of people, hardworking, honest, and personally religious. They felt the need of a place to worship our God and let His will govern the community. So they set about to establish a house of worship." Providence Baptist Church began on May 23, 1869, with Elder Joseph Flora as the first moderator. The original member list leads with Ellis Carter, the first deacon; Nancy Rose, his wife; Robert Carter and Alexander Carter, his brothers.

Ellis was a staunch Republican and a very active member of the Unionist Home Guard during the Civil War.

When the children were grown, Ellis and Nancy bought a place (still standing today) in the area of Takoma Hospital. Ellis was not happy away from his country home, so in a few short years, they moved back to the County Line Community of Hawkins Co., added a wing onto the house, and clapboarded over the logs.

The only other travelling for Ellis was as a small child when his parents took the family to Missouri in a covered wagon. Ellis' mother died enroute. They buried Elizabeth near Joliet, Missouri, and the family sadly returned home. This was on July 30, 1859.

Ellis' father, Ephraim, was the executor of his great grandmother Elizabeth's (widow of John Carter II) will.

Ellis' farm was divided to his heirs when Nancy Rose died in 1923. Sections are still in the family.

Ellis and at least four generations of this Carter family are buried at County Line Cemetery in Hawkins Co.

Ellis' father Ephraim, grandparents Jacob and Mary Polly Guffie Carter, great grandparents Elizabeth and John Carter II, and great-grandfather John are all buried at Carter's Station in Greene County.

Ellis Carter's church, family and, his land were important to him. These same values are important to his many progeny today.

Related Story:

Ephraim and Vada Carter

Sources of information:

Ephraim Carter family Bible.

Stella Carter D. Hagood Bible.

Census Records.

Hawkins County Court House.

Tennessee State Archives, Nashville.

National Archives, Washington D.C.

Greene County Will Book.

Greene County Cemetery Records.

Submitted by:

*Betty Hagood (Mrs. L. B. Richardson)
609 Douglas Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Ephraim and Vada (ROBINETTE) CARTER

Sitting in a buggy at McClouds Station, in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, Ephraim Lewis Carter (4-10-1881/December 31, 1959) and Vada Robinette (9-12-1894/2-3-1979) were married by the Rev. D. L. Lawson on September 9, 1910. Ephraim's parents, Ellis Carter and Nancy Rose Bohannon Carter purchased a house and some acres of land on Carson Street in Greeneville, TN. They lived there for only one year. The house is still very livable. When Ephraim's parents returned to the home place where he and his bride were living, Ephraim and Vada moved into the small house on the forty-seven acres he had purchased from his father.

Ephraim and Vada enlarged the farm to two hundred acres. They bought land shares of his sisters' inheritances. They also built their home into a typical large farm house.

Vada was not only a Robinette, but a Hatfield from the Hatfield and McCoy clan. She was a daughter of Rev. Marian Robinette and Jane Hatfield Robinette.

Vada was a great storyteller. The archives at the University of Tennessee has a tape of her telling about life when she was growing up.

Vada had a great love for her family. She shared that love with her neighbors. She was a born nurse. She often assisted country doctors in delivering babies in the home. She cut hair, made clothes, shared her beautiful flowers, of course all without pay.

Ephraim loved his farm. His crop rows were always straight, and his hay was nicely stacked. He was of a gentle nature, even with his farm animals. He cared very deeply for Providence Baptist Church. The church sits on the Greene-Hawkins County line. His parents were charter members.

Ephraim had a beautiful singing voice. He was never too busy to go with the quartet with whom he sang (Harvey Heck, Hobert Woods, and Cleo Woods) to help with a funeral or other needs.

Ephraim and Vada were the parents of five children: Nessie H. Carter (deceased 11-7-1991); Howard C. Carter (deceased 5-8-1982); Mona Rose Carter Haun of Morristown, TN; Edith Carter Cloude of Kingsport, TN; and Dawn Carter Bradley of Louisville, TN.

The children all attended Walnut Hill. A one-room school was fun. They went to Baileytown High School. The older children helped with the smaller ones, played ball, and rode pines down the hill on the snow. The school had chapel programs, spelling bees and ice cream suppers, cake walks, and homemade lemonade served from a new washing tub. The parents in the community cooperated in helping with the school. Something very binding was lost when it became necessary to bus the children to other schools.

The Carter farm is located on route eleven and joins the Hawkins County line. The Carter children and grandchildren are still in ownership of the farm.

After the death of Ephriam, Vada lived her last few years near her daughter, Mona Rose Haun, who at that time lived in Greeneville. The apartment building in which she lived has been replaced by a McDonald's on Tusculum Blvd.

Related Stories:

Ellis C. and Nancy Rose Bohannon Carter.

Clouds Creek School Days (1919-1957).

Sources:

Personal knowledge.

Parents' Family Bible.

Wills and Land Deeds.

Submitted by:

*Mona Rose Carter Haun
706 Choctaw St.
Morristown, TN 37813*

James Harmon and Johanna (BROWN) CARTER

James Harmon Carter was born 28 July 1839 in Scott County, Virginia and died 4 May 1927 in Hawkins Co., TN. He was a farmer and for many years was Overseer on Captain Clay's large farm in the Mount Carmel section of Hawkins County. He married on 17 October 1871 to Mary Johanna Brown, born 1 April 1853 in Virginia and died 29 June 1929 in Hawkins Co. She was the daughter of John Brown, born 3 June 1805 in Ireland, died 8 June 1902, and Mary Ash Brown, born on 28 September 1828 in Ireland and died 14 June 1902. Both John and Mary died in Sullivan Co., TN.

James Harmon and Johanna Carter are buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery, Hawkins Co., TN. They had twelve children: Mary Ellen, Ida, Robert Lee, Johnnie, Alberta, Frank, Florence Emaline, Melvina, Joseph Henry, Winfrey B., Harry, and Floyd Charlie.

Mary Ellen Carter (13 July 1872 - 8 August 1936) married on 8 December 1889 to Enoch Shipley. They had twelve children:

Hattie Brown Shipley (14 March 1891-20 July 1971) married Oscar Franklin Shipley.

James Maurice Shipley (16 March 1892-27 August 1947) married Allie Taylor.

John Guy Shipley (3 October 1893-19 June 1894).

Mary Ann Shipley (6 March 1895-27 July 1945) married Walter Benjamin Shipley.

Ernest Alvin Shipley (15 September 1896-16 November 1958) married Ida Mae Harr.

Wilmer Ivan Shipley (3 March 1899-28 September 1933) married Lena Hobbs.

Thomas Henry Shipley (23 March 1901-1 December 1970) married Ann Childress.

Nathan Miller Shipley (22 November 1904-26 March 1951) married Audrey Layne.

George Edward Shipley (13 December 1908-6 March 1971) married Maude Pyle.

Floyd Lynn Shipley (17 January 1910-6 June 1937), never married.

Enoch Howard Shipley (born 12 August 1912) married 1st Mabel Harr, and 2nd Betty Beverly.

Eugene Franklin Shipley (born 16 February 1916) married Mildred Poore.

Ida Carter (2 October 1874-16 January 1908) married 12 July 1901 to James Charles Tate. They had two children: James Harmon Tate (2 July 1903-16 February 1981) married Henrietta Crandall; and Mabel Lee Tate (13 November 1905-14 January 1993) married Kelly H. Moore.

Robert Lee (Ira) Carter, M.D. (18 December 1876-20 July 1955) married on 8 December 1909 to Eliza Larkin. They had no children.

Johnnie Carter (October 1878-May 1879).

Alberta (Bertie) Carter (1 September 1880-1 July 1962) married 7 January 1898 to Henry Oscar Poe. They had nine children:

Unnamed son, born and died 11 October 1900.

Mary Gladys Poe (22 September 1902-24 August 1987) married Luther Green.

Garnet Lillian Poe (born 11 August 1904), married Henry Lynn.

Simon Austin Poe (20 August 1906-10 November 1909).

Tina Pearl Poe (born 19 May 1909), married Virgil Leonard Eaton.

Della Maude Poe (born 19 September 1912), married 1st Landon Guiles Eaton, 2nd Everett Williams, and 3rd Ralph Moore.

Fannie Clay Poe (12 January 1914-10 December 1988), married James Paul Creasy.

Nell Poe (born 7 November 1915) married 1st Calvin Rowland, 2nd Ernest Jenkins, and 3rd Willie B. Phillips.

Clarence (Bun) Poe (11 November 1919-24 May 1989), married Odell Strupe.

Frank Carter (December 1881-June 1882).

Florence Emaline Carter (5 July 1884-31 December 1941), married 10 August 1903 to James W. Skelton. They had one son: Carl G. Skelton (13 May 1905-19 January 1968), never married.

Melvina Carter (5 November 1886-9 August 1927) married on 29 May 1904 to John Engram Feagins. They had three children:

Thelma LaFrance Feagins (15 May 1909-19 December 1919).

Helen Elizabeth Feagins (born 24 October 1914), married John Gilbert Jackson.

Floyd Carter Feagins (27 March 1918-24 September 1975), married Edna Bombailey.

Joseph Henry Carter (9 January 1889-11 June 1965), married on 22 November 1922 to Alice Larkin. They had one daughter: Mary Hazel (born 29 September 1923), married Paul Francisco.

Winfrey B. Carter (13 July 1991-18 April 1970), married on 4 February 1917 to Ethel K. Looney. They had four children:

Lena Helen Carter, married Clarence D. Noe.

Elmer Looney Carter, married Mary Alice Moore.

Frances Hope Carter, married 1st Joseph Marshall Noe, and 2nd Marion Moore.

Lucille Joyce Carter, married Arrie Rex Cradic.

Henry Carter (5 October 1893-11 June 1896).

Floyd Charlie Carter (14 February 1896-27 December 1972) married on 24 November 1921 to Ernia Bradshaw. They had two sons:

Floyd Charlie Carter, Jr. (born 26 November 1922), married Margaret Henry.

Blake William Carter (30 July 1924-28 July 1977), married Jo Ann Reeser.

Related Story:

George Robert and Harriet (Birchfield) Noe.

Submitted by:

Elizabeth Shipley Collins
1800 Stratford Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37664

David Lyons CHRISTIAN (1853-1912)

David Lyons Christian was born 24 September 1853 in Hawkins County, Tennessee near Blossom. He was the youngest child of William Lewis Christian and Elizabeth H. Thrasher. His father died in 1861 when he was only 8 years old. As the older children married and left home to establish their own homes, he was left to care for his mother. They lived in the old home place left to his father by his maternal grand-father William Skelton.

David married Ellen P. Bailey, daughter of Lewis Bailey and Lucretia Patterson on 15 November 1871. They reared a family of eleven children.

Silas Nathaniel Christian (24 September 1872-10 July 1961) who married Adrian Bishop. He lived in Bristol where he was a businessman, founding the Christian-Taylor Hat Company and the S. N. Christian Company. He had a daughter Evelyn (Mrs. T. L. W. Hughes) and a son Joe. He moved to Ashland, Virginia in his later years.

Maxie Christian (21 July 1877-5 September 1972), who married Robert L. Long.

Mr. Long was Postmaster at Church Hill, Tennessee for many years. They had Nola, Monnie, Blanton, Ruby, Verlin, Carl, and Gladys.

Minnie Christian died young and is buried in Goshen Valley Cemetery in an unmarked grave.

Chrissie Christain (28 November 1879-21 September 1912), married Thomas E. Hicks. She died young, leaving two small girls, Mary (Winegar) and Effie (Larkins).

Samuel Floyd Christian (3 May 1882-18 October 1963), married June Pearson. He left Hawkins County and went to Wellston, Oklahoma where he struck oil in his later years. Their children were Samuel Marion, and Evelyn (Mrs. Ralph Hickman).

Martha Christian married Noah Bailey and had two children, Douglas, and an infant. Martha and the infant died at its birth and were buried in the same casket in Goshen Valley Cemetery in an unmarked grave. Douglas died at age 4.

Zollie David Christian (30 March 1886-23 October 1918) died of pneumonia in France during World War I and is buried in Goshen Valley Cemetery. He was not married.

Ethel Christian (14 August 1889-29 February 1968) married Dr. John K. Walters and had two children, a son Raymond Christian Walters who flew with the Sons of Satan, and a daughter Virginia (Mrs. Robert Livingston).

William Thurman Christian (23 December 1893-30 September 1967) married Elizabeth Allen. He was a partner in the S. N. Christian Company with his older brother Silas before becoming Postmaster of Roane Mountain, Tennessee in 1934. He retired there. He and Elizabeth had no children.

Claude Tank Christian (8 August 1894-1968) married Mary Jane Alley, daughter of Clayton G. Alley and his 2nd wife Melissa Dotson. They had three children: Nelle (Mrs. G. C. Mowl, Jr.), Hazelle (Mrs. Lyle Harris), and Blanton.

Hale Robert Christian (9 September 1897-19 March 1980) married Betty Gladys Humphreys and had William Gilbert and David Hale. David died at 4 months of age.

Hale was only 15 years old when his father died, and as the others left home to establish their own homes, he and his brother Claude were left to care for their mother who lived to be 93 years old. They were farmers and lived on the homeplace.

The descendants of David Lyons and his wife Ellen P. have contributed much to society. Among them are doctors, pharmacists, postmasters, businessmen, factory workers, teachers and farmers, just to name a few.

David died 15 September 1912 and is interred in the center row of Goshen Valley Cemetery along with other family members, many of whom are remembered only by a fieldstone.

Related Story:

William Lewis Christian

Submitted by:

Nancy A. (Mrs. William G.) Christian
443 S. Central Ave.
Church Hill, TN 37642

CLOUD's Creek School Days 1919-1957

The first part of this story is excerpted from Cloud's Creek School Days, 1919-1957, by Bernice Carpenter Williams (who was a pupil there). The remainder is from several other people, - teachers, and students - who taught or attended the small one or two room county schools. Not all school situations were alike, and some varied in the way things were done, but this will give you a general idea.

School began at 8:30 each morning. We had to march into the little room on the left side. The big room was on the right side. If you got out of line or was caught talking in line, she (ed: the teacher) sent you to the back and you were the last to get to your desk.

We had devotion every morning and we could sing a couple of songs and repeat the Lord's Prayer and also we repeated the pledge to the flag.

We had recess at 10 o'clock and lunch at 12 o'clock for one hour and another 15 minute recess at 2:15. School was out at 3:30.

We had no inside plumbing. We carried our water in a bucket and most of us had our own drinking cups or would make one out of paper. If you didn't, you got a drink out of the dipper. Lunch was brought from home -- a cold biscuit with sausage or ham, a sweet potatoe, and homemade cookies. My Mom could make the best molasses cookies and cakes. Some children would bring cornbread and milk, soup beans and cornbread, or cornbread with jelly or apple-butter on it. Just what ever they had. We didn't have paper bags. Most children carried it in a 4 lb. lard bucket.

Sometime someone else would eat our lunch and we would have to walk home for something else or do without. We always shared our things with each other.

My Mom sewed and she was always making something for someone else.

There were two outside toilets and no toilet paper. We used Sear's Roebuck catalog.

We had an Ice Cream Supper every year to buy coal for heating and oil for the floors. The only thing the county furnished was glass for the windows, but some years later they did better, but not during my school years.

Most of the teachers boarded with someone in the Community and walked to school. She would give some of the older boys the key and a little money if they would come early and build the fire. Most of the coal was carried inside the evening before.

I remember one time when someone did something and he was going to be punished. She sent two of the older boys to cut some switches. When they came back they had cut notches in every one of them and every time she would make a lick it would break. Everybody, of course, laughed. It really made the teacher mad. So when she got through she sent the boy she was whipping to cut some more switches, and she gave the other two as many licks.

One year it came a big snow and Charlie Harrell cut a big cedar tree and hooked a team of horses to it and brought his children to school. He had a big family and that was the way of getting them there and Mabel said "We had a ball."

Writing this book has brought back many memories of my "School Days" at Cloud's Creek. How we walked to school and some children had to walk as many as 2-1/2 miles one way -- that is 5 miles a day. There were no school buses and very few people had a car. So walking was the only way to travel.

I can remember when Dad would take us to school on "Old Dock", the family mule, when it was raining or real cold. A big snow did not keep you from going to school when I went to school. We went rain, shine, snow, sleet, and high water.

The last year of school was 1957. On January 26, 1959, I. D. Brooks, Jr. purchased the school from the Hawkins County Board of Education for $1100.00 (Deed book 128, page 42).

The land for the Cloud's Creek School was given by Hascue and Jane Brooks Harrell. This is my husband, Onzie's Grandparents. Onzie's Mother was Mollie Harrell and his father was James (Jim) Williams.

The following material was furnished by Mary Beal Doty, a retired school teacher.

The early schools were called "subscription schools." The parents were asked to sign up to pay for the fuel, the teachers, the books, and anything else that they had. The school term was short because there wasn't much money available, also, the big children had to work at home to help out.

Most communities had a school because there was no public transportation - or any other for that matter - just walking or riding horseback.

The teacher often boarded in the community, as the roads usually became impassible in the winter.

Not a lot of subjects were taught, but the Blue-Backed Speller was a main textbook, so named because of its cover. Not only did the children learn to spell (by syllables), but they read a good story with a moral.

When a child misbehaved in those days, he was punished, and the teacher had no fear of parental interference. In fact, the culprit probably got another spanking at home if the incident became known.

Most tests and other work was put on the "blackboard" as not everyone had paper or a slate, and certainly the teacher or school had no copy machine or any other machine to duplicate materials -- there were no handouts.

The water for drinking and handwashing was carried by bucket from a neighborhood spring, well, or cistern by the big boys. They enjoyed this very much and usually made it a lengthy procedure.

The lunches were carried from home in a little tin bucket with holes punched in it. Biscuits and molasses, apples, sweet potatoes, and whatever was available often made up the fare.

It became fashionable to have ice cream suppers to make money for supplies. The community enjoyed the fellowship, the cake walks, and the ice cream.

There was no playground equipment, but they played. There were grape-vine jumping ropes, homemade balls and stick bats, and lots of running games such as fox and dogs.

The schooldays were longer then - eight o'clock until four - and no complaints.

Then, after the county took over paying teachers, furnishing coal, repairing buildings, elementary schools still had short terms but were increased in length until they were 8 months in 1940. The school buildings, being built by the community, were not deeded to the county until the late 1920's. By the thirties, teachers were given at least a box of chalk and an eraser when school started. They usually bought the broom to clean the room. That was the case in 1940 when there were 100 one-room schools in Hawkins County. Soon thereafter, the books were furnished which was a big help to the farm children who were "short on cash."

Cloud's Creek School was by no means the first of such schools, but school days there were typical of the time period, from early settlement of this country until the advent of improved roads, usable year-round, and motorized vehicles to use them.

The following, in no particular order, summarizes conversations with several other people familiar with school days of the time period in one-and-two-room schools, and also covers a few other aspects of life in those days.

Schools had one large room with one teacher for all grades, otherwise two rooms, one of them usually somewhat larger than the other, and two teachers, one teaching the first three or four grades and the other the remainder. Younger children were taught in the small room, usually located at the end of the building and included a stage.

The two rooms were often one large room with (re)movable partitions to make it a single room on special occasions so everyone could see what was happening on the stage. It was used for activities such as musical entertainment for raising money, and Christmas programs.

At Christmas time a tree was placed near the stage and decorated with strung popcorn, sycamore balls, and paper chains. They would pop popcorn and string it on thread at night to make the ropes. Ceilings were tall, and the teacher would appoint the larger boys to get a tree to match.

The teacher tried to involve as many students as possible in the Christmas play, for it involved memorization, speaking, coordination, and other skills, helping prepare them for the roles later expected of them in society.

The teacher gave the students a Christmas gift, such as candy, or an apple or an orange. Fruit was scarce, and highly valued.

There were no fans, air conditioning, screens, electric lights, or modern heating systems. Each school room had a pot-bellied stove for heating, and open windows for cooling in warm weather. When the stovepipe became plugged, the task of cleaning it fell to whoever was available, teacher and student alike. Needless to say, the person doing the cleaning looked a mess by the time he was done.

School started in late August and lasted for no more than eight months. The basic subjects were taught, and included "the three R's" - readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic. Geography was taught in some schools. Spelling was a must, along with spelling bees, contests where the children would be lined up at the front of the room, with each given a word to spell. If he spelled the word correctly, he remained standing while the teacher proceeded to each of the other children with a new word; otherwise he sat down. The last one standing, who had correctly spelled all of his words, was declared the winner.

The earliest schools only had seats, and no desks. A seat was made from a split log, with holes bored by an auger, and whittled wooden legs driven into the holes.

Later, desks were manufactured as an assembly, designed to be aligned in rows. Each desk consisted of a cast iron frame (otherwise left and right halves), and the rest made of wood: a seat bottom at the front, an upright back, and a table top with a wooden shelf underneath to be used by the next student located behind. Each desk had a groove near the front of the table for holding a pencil, and an inkwell (hole) at the corner for holding a bottle of ink. If they didn't have ink, some used pokeberry juice to write with.

Early seats did not move, but later ones had seat bottoms that would tilt upright.

Because of the lack of funds and space, each desk was shared by two students.

The closest they came to having alarm clocks was when roosters announced the coming of daylight, or earlier! Usually one rooster crowing would cause all the others up and down the valley to follow suit. With all the farm chores to be done, it was helpful to get an early start.

The men carried key-wound, spring-operated pocket (called "railroad") watches, and pendulum-driven clocks sat on the mantle. A large floor standing clock was found in the more affluent homes.

Typical everyday dress of that period was bib overalls for boys, gingham dresses for girls, high-top (brogan) shoes for both, and long, brown, ribbed stockings for the girls, held up by a panty-waist, or elastic in their long, knee-length bloomers. At the start of school the children received a new pair of shoes. In the winter everyone wore "long johns" or "long handles", which were other names for long underwear.

During warm weather, children went barefoot. By the time butterflies were first sighted, it was time to go barefoot. Others started around the first of May.

Everybody had "dress clothes" for Sundays, a nice clean cotton dress for girls and a nice clean shirt and pants for the boys. As soon as they got home from church, everyone took off the dress clothes and put on everyday things.

Times were hard, largely a result of the effects of the Civil War and the Reconstruction period which followed. Soldiers, from both sides, took the livestock and supplies they needed, often destroying what remained. After the War, carpetbaggers, with the U.S. Government's blessing, stole much of what remained. The South, and farming in particular, was hard hit and slow to recover. The Depression spared nothing, not even that which had already been ravaged by the war and carpetbaggers.

Hard times showed in everything. There was no money for paint or varnish, even if they were invented by then. Almost every ordinary building, whether house, school, or store was built of unpainted lumber.

Older children helped with younger ones, both at home and at school. Older ones with good grades helped the teacher with teaching, grading papers, discipline, and maintenance, including teaching the little ones their a-b-c's, cleaning blackboards, sweeping floors, and emptying trash.

The slate used by students was about 12" x 8" x 1/4" thick, ground smooth, and was mounted in a wooden frame. It had a hole drilled in the corner for hanging it up, because it was easily broken. A brown crayon-like material was used to write on the slate. Both sides of the slate were used.

The homemade ball used in games was just a sock or two, unravelled and re-wound to form a ball. Sometimes a walnut was used as its core, but that usually made it too hard and somebody could get hurt if hit by it. Others used a inner-tube, cut into strips, wrapped tightly, covered by wrapping twine, then the outer layer of twine sewn together to make the ball. Bats were homemade, whittled to shape. Neither gloves nor mitts were available, but they weren't needed.

Other games were shooting marbles, pitching horseshoe, and jumping poles, often with a stick for assistance (like high jump and pole vault of today).

In winter you could expect terrible roads, snow, ice, throwing snowballs, and making snowmen. Many observers say the winters were much more severe then than now; stories and records found in newspapers and elsewhere suggest they are correct.

By the end of school, it was planting time, and the kids were expected to help. Even though the parents had a deep concern for their children to have an education, absenteeism tended to increase with the coming of planting and harvest time for the children were needed to help with farm work.

Occasionally a student was older than even the teacher, especially when he returned to school to continue his education which had been interrupted, such as by sickness or death of the family's breadwinner. This also happened when interrupted by the family's moving to some other part of the country.

Many a boy's haircut is said to have resembled what would happen when you placed a bowl on his head and trimmed what stuck out. Girls wore their hair long, often braided. The boys were forever pulling the girls' pigtail or ponytail to aggravate them.

Head lice and the itch were common problems, caught most every year. To remove lice, the boys' hair was cut as short as possible. The girls were seated, bent over, above paper spread on the floor, with their hair hanging down, and their hair was thoroughly combed with a very fine comb to remove nits (louse eggs), falling onto the paper, to be disposed of.

At least one remedy to get rid of itch was to take a bath in warm water containing boiled poke root, which burned and left a considerable rash, which was said to burn worse than lye soap. Another cure used sulfur, mixed with lard or grease.

Communicable diseases such as mumps, measles, and whooping cough spread rapidly, but school was not closed because of them.

Like everything else, clothing was scarce, and hand-me-downs were used in every household. Saturday night baths were the norm.

A few children had a collapsible tin drinking cup. Some cups even had a handle.

In some schools when a child needed to visit the outhouse during class, he would hold up his hand until recognized by the teacher, and then would request permission "to be excused."

In others he left a book just inside the schoolhouse door as a clue to let the teacher know where he was, for the teacher would never let more than one child be out of the classroom at a time.

Getting into trouble in those days was often simply good-hearted fun or some mischievous trick, as opposed to the outright meanness and destruction prevalent today. They had discipline in the schools. Punishment was by standing in the corner, or switching, according to the severity of the infraction. When switched at school, he could depend on getting another one when he got home.

Another form of punishment was the teacher drawing a ring on the blackboard and having the misbehaving student stand with his nose "in the ring."

One of the boys' favorite tricks was to overturn all the outhouses in the neighborhood on Halloween.

At least one story has it that on Halloween, some of the boys disassembled the teacher's horse-drawn buggy, and lifted all the pieces onto the schoolhouse roof where they reassembled the buggy.

In the early years of a community, churches served double or triple duty, as a church, schoolhouse, and lodge, until the people could build a separate building. Everything was donated - the land, materials, and labor, and the neighborhood women prepared the meals. The community effort was often used to construct other buildings as well, such as houses and barns.

It would be reasonable to say that most every community had a school. Oscar Dalton, a retired teacher, said that in about 1934 or '35, School Superintendent Emory Cope told him there were 108 schools in Hawkins County, and that he tried to visit each one of them at least once during the school year. A list of schools in the Register of Deeds Office shows there to have been about 135 schools over time, which includes many that were larger than these in this story.

A school usually had about 20 to 30 students, up to about 50 maximum.

Although a few of those small schools grew and are used today, most ceased to exist after roads and transportation improved. Many were named for some nearby landmark, such as a stream or hill, or for a person. Some had names that were "catchy" or just sounded pleasant. A sampling of the names gone by are: Beech Creek, Big Hill, Bridgeport, Browns Mountain, Caney Creek, Choptack, Christians Bend, Clouds Creek, Cold Springs, Doolittle, Ebbing & Flowing Springs, Friendship, Fudges Chapel, Galbraith, Greenvale, Guthries Gap, Kirkpatrick, Liberty Hill, Lone Oak, Longs Bend, Lower Grassy Creek, Maple Hill, Marble Hall, McKenny, Mt. Carmel, New Hope, New Life, North Fork, Pressmen's Home, Sam Long, Shady Grove, Slate Hill, Spruce Pine, Summit Hill, Valley View, Van Hill, Walkers, Whitehorn, and Zion Hill.

One common trait those schools shared was, although they were neither large nor fancy, and hard times prevailed, they had dedicated, capable teachers who provided the students with a quality education, in every way as good or better than what was available at larger schools. Proof of this is the fact that so many fine community leaders throughout the years got their start in one of these small country schools.

There were no lawnmowers; cattle and goats kept the yards under control, otherwise a briar-scythe was used if the weeds got too tall.

You had to be careful away from the beaten path, for rattlesnakes and copperheads were plentiful.

Lots of boys chewed tobacco, but they slipped around to do it, apparently because it was forbidden. The girls and younger women must not have used tobacco early in life, although many older women dipped snuff.

People grew as much as possible of what they used. They had orchards of apple, pear, plum, and cherry trees. There were lots of blackberries, and wild strawberries. They made their chairs, tables, and beds. There were no mattresses, instead they used "straw ticks", "feather beds", and feather pillows. They raised ducks and geese to get the feathers, or actually down.

Houses were set upon rocks, with the area below the floor left open. There were no window shades, curtains, screens, or insulation. Chimneys were made of rock, otherwise sticks protected by mud when built.

Buildings and furniture were constructed using wooden pegs driven in holes, otherwise nails. Nails were "square", and made by a blacksmith. They were scarce and valuable, and when a building burned containing nails, they would sift through the ashes to recover the nails.

The women made baskets for all sorts of things, including 1/2 and one bushel baskets for gathering eggs. If they planned to sell them, oats would be used to cushion and protect the eggs.

Doctors made house calls, and there were few if any hospitals. When a baby was born, the doctor or midwife was summoned, and all the other kids were sent to the neighbors.

People were very careful in their use of fire; there were no fire departments, and it was unstoppable once a house or barn started burning. They usually covered burning embers in the fireplace or stove with cinders before retiring, and used pine knots to rekindle them the next morning. It is said that people went outside to look around when retiring to make sure no stray sparks could ignite the wooden roof.

They were good hunters, using a "hog rifle", a single-shot rifle using black powder tamped in place, a cap, and about a 3/8" ball to kill their game. Seldom would they miss for they would not get another shot after reloading. The game would be long gone by then. In addition to squirrels, and deer, they loved to hunt 'coons, foxes, and 'possums.

A penny would buy 2 or 3 sticks of candy, or 4 or 5 crackers and some brown sugar to put on top of them. If you had a nickel to spend, you might suddenly have lots of friends.

The barter system was used widely. If you traded, say some eggs, for other merchandise, and were due some money, often you were not reimbursed in cash; instead you were given a "due bill", redeemable only at the store where the transaction occurred.

Sources:

Excerpts from Carpenter (1774-1976), by Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Mrs. Verna (Gardner) Archer

Mrs. June (Rutledge) Beckner.

Gale Carpenter.

Clarence H. "Rank" Cox.

Oscar Dalton.

Mrs. Mary (Beal) Doty.

Mrs. Mary Kensinger.

Mrs. Robert Reeves.

Original Story Submitted by:

*Phyllis Williams Wolfe
(daughter of Bernice Carpenter Williams)
Route 3, Box 3145
Rogersville, TN 37857*

The Lewis CHRISTIAN Family

Lewis Christian born before 1742 in Buckingham County, Virginia. He came to Hawkins County, Tennessee about 1790. His father, grand father, and great grand father were all named Thomas. Legend has it that the first Thomas was of the famous Deemster family of the Isle of Man, Cumberland County, England. He first appears on the record for a patent of land in 1657.

LEWIS CHRISTIAN, born in Goochland County, Virginia before 1742, died in Hawkins Co. in the fall of 1830 in the "epidemic." He married in Buckingham Co. about 1777, Margaret (Peggy) Felkner, born about 1750's and died after 1831. He first entered 250 acres of land in the lower end of Hawkins Co. in 1790. He sold this land in 1795 to Thomas Moore, and the same year he bought from Roger Top, 90 acres in the upper end of Christians Bend, joining James Highlands who owned the greater part of the Bend then. In 1801, he bought from John Rice, 75 acres in the lower end of McPheters Bend. Then in 1805, he bought 152 acres in Goshen from Robert Hamilton, and in 1807, he bought from Whealock and McPhearson 240 acres, between the River Mountain and the Little Mountain, His descendants later owned, Goshen and Christians Bend and part of McPheters Bend. There were 12 children born in this family.

(2) Thomas born about 1779, in Buckingham Co., Va. and came to Hawkins Co., Tn. with his father. He never married, and died not long after 1836.

(3) Allen born about 1781 in Buckingham Co., Va., came to Hawkins Co. when about 8 or 9 years old, went to Monroe County, Tn. before 1823, and probably died before 1830.

(4) Mary (Polly) born in Buckingham Co., Va. 1782, married Samuel Bailey in Hawkins Co., Tenn. (see Baileys--Bailey-Britton Book).

(5) Betsy born probably in Buckingham Co., Va. about 1784.

(6) Nancy born probably in Buckingham Co., Va. about 1785.

(7) Lewis born about 1787, either in Buckingham Co., Va. or in Hawkins Co. He married Betsy Bailey.

(8) Sally born in Buckingham Co., Va. or Hawkins Co. about 1878. She was dead by 1822.

(9) Peggy probably born in Hawkins Co. about 1790. She married about 1809, William Gray who was born in the 1780s. According to the 1830 and 1840 census, they had twelve children, born from 1810 to 1834.

(10) James born 1792 (census) married Elizabeth, the daughter of David and Elizabeth Anderson of Hawkins Co. He married in Hawkins Co. on January 14, 1811. James enlisted in the War of 1812 on November 13, 1814, Discharged June 2, 1815, Died August 4, 1857, and was buried in Goshen Cemetery, in Hawkins Co. James lived in Goshen earlier, but moved to Caney Valley. They had children born in Hawkins Co: David, James, Lewis, Elizabeth, Joseph, Virginia Jane, John, Thomas, Lucinda, Allen.

(11) William born about 1794, married Mary , born about 1798, married about 1815, children: Martha, Mary, Susanna, Margaret, Allen, John, Thomas and Lucinda.

(12) Lucinda was born about 1796, in Hawkins Co.

* (1) John born about 1778 in Buckingham Co., Va., came to Hawkins Co., Tn. with his father, he married about 1802, Nancy, the daughter of William Skelton of Goshen. She was born in Amherst Co., Va., 1786, and came with her father to Hawkins Co. 1797. John died in 1845. Their 11 children were all born in Hawkins Co.

1. William L. born 1803 (census) married 1st about 1823, to Aggie Bailey, born 1806.

2. Margaret born 1805, married George Arnold, born 1805.

3. Ruth, born about 1807, married in Hawkins Co., John Felknor, and went to Iowa.

4. Lewis born 1810 died 1843, married Mary Cavin, born 1807, children born in Hawkins Co.

5. Thomas Jefferson born about 1812, in Hawkins Co., married in Hawkins Co., September 4, 1832 Casandra (Cassy) Thrasher.

6. Nancy born May 15, 1814 married about 1834, Thomas A. Long, born on September 21, 1816, children all born in Hawkins Co.

7. John born December 11, 1816, married Polly, born March 19, 1819, daughter of John Skelton Sr., John died May 11, 1892.

8. Seth born about 1819, married Margaret Skelton. Seth died March 23, 1870, Margaret died November 24, 1905.

9. Allen born 1822, married May 16, 1852, Sarah Jane Skelton all their children were born in Hawkins Co.

11. George born 1828 youngest son of John and Nancy Skelton Christian, married Nancy McCarroll, born 1827, died October 10, 1917.

* 10. James born May 20, 1825, died December 18, 1875, married Mary Jane Staples, April 20, 1850 born about 1830, married in Hawkins Co. where their 11 children were born.

1. John born about 1852, died unmarried.

2. Nancy Jane married April 24, 1873, Lewis Christian, son of John Jr.

3. Frances (Fannie) born 1855, married Yance Wolfe.

4. Julia born 1859, married James Dykes.

6. Mollie born 1865, died unmarried.

7. John Morgan born 1864, and married Flora McLain December 10, 1887 Greene Co.

8. Mary E. born 1866, no record.

9. Wm. Yance born May 4, 1870, married Ellen, daughter of Robert Dykes.

10. Wilson N. born June 7, 1875, married February 16 1896, Ida Dykes.

11. Isa born October 10, 1872, married James Arnold, born February 4, 1872.

* 5. James (Big Jim) the fifth child, born 1862, married Sudie Harkleroad their 11 children were all born in Hawkins Co.

Smith married Lizzie McNally 30 November 1904.

Will married a Kite.

Guy Sells born May 10, 1889, died on August 13, 1974. He married Rebecca A. Housewright August 22, 1919 in Hawkins Co.

* Eldridge G. born July 12, 1890 in Hawkins County, died October 31, 1951, married Mary Lewis, 6 children.

James married Maud Smith, they had 13 children, Bristol, Tenn.

Emma married Wm. Robert Housewright, 1918, 6 children.

Daniel 1st Hazel, 2nd Gladys, name not known, no children.

John born June 3, 1903, and married Hat-tie, November 4, 1921, in Hawkins Co., 8 children.

Kate married Greenberry Christian, 9 children.

Mary married Charles Arnold, 10 children.

Jack Wilson married 1932 Edna Grace Armstrong, six children.

Morgan married Vernie Marshall December 18, 1928 in Hawkins Co., 5 children.

* My lineage

Related Stories:

Lewis Christian.

Rebecca Jane Christian.

Samuel and Jane Gray Curry.

William Gray.

Roosevelt Smith.

Sources:

Most of this information was taken from the book published by T. H. Bailey.

Submitted by:

*Frank E. Christian
4740 Solomon Dr.
Straw Plains, TN 37871*

Lewis CHRISTIAN

Lewis Christian was the first of this surname to come to Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was born in Virginia. Since his place of birth has been disputed, it will not be discussed here. According to the 1830 Hawkins County Census, Lewis Christian was born between 1750 and 1760. He was married before he came to Hawkins County. At least one author of a book, thought his wife was Margaret "Peggy" Felkner, born about 1750 in Virginia.

Lewis Christian died in the fall of 1830 in the "epidemic", and he left a will. He acquired land in Christians Bend, Goshen, and McPheeters Bend. His children were: John, born about 1778; Thomas, born about 1779; Allen, born about 1781; Polly, born about 1784; Betsy, born about 1784; Nancy, born about 1785; Lewis, born about 1787; Sally, born about 1788; Peggy, born about 1790; James, born about 1792; William, born about 1794; and Lucinda, born about 1796. Peggy Christian died after 1831.

Peggy, daughter of Lewis and Peggy Christian, was born about 1790, probably in Hawkins County. About 1809 Peggy Christian married William Gray, who was born in the 1780's. In his will, Lewis Christian left his daughter Peggy "the super (probably upper) end of my place, beginning on Maxwell's line (near where the path starts across the River Mountain at what we know as the Powell Place) running forty poles (probably 140) down the river (North fork of Grassy Creek), and then a strait line across the upper end of the mountain."

It was noted that the will of Lewis Christian was made the 1st day of May 1822. It was acknowledged in the presence of George Maxwell, Reuben Skelton, and George Curry.

Related Stories:

The Lewis Christian Family.

Samuel and Jane Gray Curry.

William Gray.

Information gleaned from:

Christian-Skelton History and Genealogy, by T. H. Bailey.

Christian Family Chronicles, by Agnes Branch Pearlman.

From:

Billie Margaret Curry Steeley
3017 W. Eleventh St.
Irving, TX 75060

Rebecca Jane CHRISTIAN

Rebecca "Becky" Jane Christian was born 26 July 1872 in Hawkins County. She was the daughter of "John Snooks" Christian, who was born on 16 October 1852 in Hawkins County and died on 17 October 1930 in Hawkins County.

John Snooks was married on 5 November 1871 to Rebecca Jane's mother, Anna Dykes, born 22 April 1851 and died 10 July 1921. Anna was the daughter of John and Juda Morelock Dykes.

John Snooks and Anna are buried in Christians Bend Church Cemetery.

John "Snooks" Christian's father, Allen D. Christian, was born on 21 November

1822 in Hawkins County and died 9 January 1875 in Hawkins County. Allen D. was married 16 May 1852 to Sarah Jane Skelton, born about 1829 and died on 3 June 1889. Sarah Jane was the daughter of James Skelton, born about 1779, and died on 12 December 1847.

James Skelton was married to Anna Curry, the daughter of Samuel Sr. and Mary Seawright Curry.

Allen Christian's father was John Christian, who was born about 1778 in Buckingham County, Virginia. His will was proven 1 September 1845 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was married about 1802 to Nancy Skelton, who was born about 1786 in Virginia.

John Christian's father, Lewis Christian, was born in Goochland County, Virginia, where his father, Thomas, made his will in 1742. Lewis was evidently a very small boy at that time, probably the youngest child. His father was Thomas III, his grandfather was Thomas II, and his great grandfather was Thomas I, the immigrant.

Lewis died in Hawkins County in the fall of 1830 in the "epidemic". His will was dated 1 May 1822 and proven 1830. Lewis' wife Peggy was appointed Executrix with her son William. She and William both asked to be relieved of this responsibility and asked that James Bailey be appointed in their place.

Lewis was the first to come to Hawkins County and was the progenitor of all the Christians. He purchased several tracts of land early in the 1790's and 1800's.

In a deed dated 8 December 1795, registered 16 December 1795, Roger Top sold 90 acres of land in the upper end of Christians Bend for 80 pounds to Lewis Christian of the county of Hawkins and Territory South of the Ohio. The land beginning below the Goose ponds at a beech and bunch of Lynns thence down meanders of the river (south side of Holston River) 270 poles to two buck eyes and sugar trees on James Highlands corner. In a deed dated 7 January 1815 and registered 26 January 1838, this same 90 acres of land was deeded from Lewis to his son John. This tract of land has been passed down thru several generations and is still in the family today.

Roosevelt Smith is Lewis Christian's double great-great-great-great-grandson. After Roosevelt's marriage in 1941, he built a four room frame house on this property. In this house, his daughter, Carolyn Ann, was born on 14 July 1942. The Smiths lived in this house for a couple of years, then moved to Rogersville.

Rebecca Jane Christian was married first on 23 January 1891 to Leonard Warner Simpson. Their children were: Verdie Ann Simpson, who married Jesse Smith; Vernie Simpson, who married Billy Smith; Monroe "Roe" Simpson; and Middie "Mid" Winfred Simpson.

Leonard Warner Simpson died at the early age of 29 years on 30 October 1901.

On 8 November 1906, in Gate City, Virginia, Rebecca Jane married Jack Bowman Feagins. Four children were born to them in Hawkins County.

Ameda Kathleen "Kate" Feagins was born 25 October 1909 and married 27 December 1933 to William "Bill" Thomas Davis. They had two daughters, Betty and Rita.

Anna Blanche Feagins was born 9 April 1910 and died 1 November 1991. She married Gordon Flanigan, and they had one daughter, Geneva Kay Abbey, and two sons, Wayne and Bill.

John "Johnny" Ulysess Feagins was born 29 April 1911 and married 21 October 1933 to Stella Jones. They had three children.

Charlie Edward Feagins was born 19 June 1914 and married 5 July 1936 to Blanche Ruth Smith. They have six children.

Rebecca Jane "Granny Feagins" loved to receive a twist of tobacco "tobacky" for Christmas from us.

Rebecca Jane died on 14 May 1966 at the age of 93 years. She is buried beside her first husband, Leonard Warner Simpson in the Goshen Valley Cemetery in Hawkins County.

Related Stories:

The Lewis Christian Family.

Lewis Christian.

Samuel and Jane (Gray) Curry.

Leonard Warner Simpson.

Jesse Smith.

Roosevelt Smith.

Sources:

Christian-Skelton History, by T.H. Bailey.

Anna Dykes Christian death certificate.

Hawkins Co. Marriage Records.

Hawkins Co. Wills.

Hawkins Co. Deeds.

Juanita Smith.

Submitted by:

*Yvette Gardner Harrell
8207 Hembywood Dr.
Indian Trail, NC 28079*

William Lewis CHRISTIAN (1803-1861)

William Lewis Christian was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee about 1803, the eldest child of John Christian, Sr. and his wife Nancy Skelton. He was named for both of his grand-fathers, William Skelton and Lewis Christian, both of whom came from Virginia and settled in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. He had seven brothers and three sisters. They were: Thomas Jefferson Christian, Lewis Christian, John Christian, Jr., Seth Ellis Christian, Allen Christian, James Christian, and George Christian, Margaret Christian (Mrs. George P. Arnold), Ruth Christian (Mrs. John Felkner), and Nancy Christian (Mrs. Thomas A. Long).

William L. first married Agnes (Aggie) Bailey, the daughter of Samuel Bailey and his first wife. They had four children: Eldridge, Stephen H., John, and Mahala Jane. John died young, but the others grew to adulthood and reared large families. Mahala Jane was married twice, first to John St. John, and second to Williamson Tucker. She had a daughter Hila who married Joseph Bailey and a son William Thomas St. John who died as a child.

In 1832 William L. married Elizabeth H. Thrasher (Thresher) in Hawkins County, Tennessee, however the marriage license was obtained in Greene County, Tennessee. Elizabeth was the daughter of Isaac Thrasher, Sr. Their children included: (1) William Skelton Christian, who married Elizabeth Armstrong and was last heard from in 1882 when he was in Portland, Oregon; (2) Jessee R. Christian, who married Elizabeth Hartman and had a large family, many of whom still live in Hawkins and Sullivan County, Tennessee; (3) Isaac L. Christian, who married Frances Arnold. He was killed during the Civil War in a battle at Vicksburg, Mississippi; (4) Elizabeth Christian, died at the age 9 months; (5) Infant M. C., died as an infant; (6) James Christian, who married Mary Jane Dodson and went west; (7) Mary Elizabeth "Sis" Christian, married James A. Arnold. They also reared a large family. (8) Nancy Christian was born and died between the censuses; (9) Rachel Matilda Christian, married Samuel L. Mullins. They had a large family. (10) Joseph Frank Christian, married Jane Bailey. They had several children, many of whom died young and some who never married. (11) David Lyons Christian married Ellen P. Bailey and had a large family. Jane and Ellen were sisters and the daughters of Lewis Bailey and Lucretia Patterson. Most of the above children lived in the Goshen Valley Area, once called Blossom, of Hawkins County Tennessee.

William Skelton bought some land in Goshen Valley and was also given a grant (No. 25602) in 1829 by Aaron Brown, then Governor of Tennessee. He left in his will 232 acres to his grandson William L. Christian.

William L. also received a grant in 1835 for 50 acres of land (No. 23249) issued by James K. Polk then Governor of the State of Tennessee. This land was in Goshen Valley at Blossom. Part of the old William Skelton homeplace still stands behind the Hale Christian home on Smith Chapel Road. In his will William L. divided his land between his children. It has since been divided many times between the heirs. Many of them still own part of this land.

William L. died 21 September 1861 and his wife Elizabeth was made executor of his estate. No doubt both he and both wives are interred in the center row of graves in the Goshen Valley Cemetery.

The youngest son, David Lyons, was willed the homeplace, and he bought out some of the other heirs. He reared his family there and cared for his mother until her death sometime after January, 1887 when she wrote her deed of gift dividing her personal belongings between her children. Before her death, she also deeded the Goshen Valley Cemetery to the community for a public burial ground. This cemetery began as the family burial ground for the descendants of William Skelton, his brothers and sisters. His wife, name unknown to this writer, died in 1830 during the Scourge or epidemic. There is little doubt that William and Fannie are interred there with only a fieldstone. No one seems to know where Isaac Thrasher, Sr. is buried, but in all probability he is also there since he was living with his daughter Cassy (Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Christian) when he died. They only lived about a mile away from the cemetery. There are nearly 180 graves marked only with a fieldstone, and of those identified, almost all are relatives of William Skelton and his descendants.

Related Stories:

The Arnold Family.

David Lyons Christian.

Submitted by:

*Nancy A. (Mrs. William G.) Christian
(William G. is Gr. Grandson of William L. Christian)
443 S. Central Ave.
Church Hill, TN 37642*

William "Billy" CHURCH Family

William Church, born 16 Aug 1816 in Hawkins County, Tn., was the grandson of John Christian and Eleanor Church. John Christian Church purchased land in Hawkins Co. from John Galbreath on 5 Jan 1797 (Deed Book I, p. 183).

Parents of William Church were Henry C. and Mary Olive Surginer Church. Their family of 12 children were: Thomas, William, Matilda, Sarah, George, Enoch, Henry C., Malvina, Emaline, Almira, Patience, Elizabeth Ann.

About 1839, William married Isabel Payne, daughter of Enoch and Sarah England Payne. In 1844, the family found themselves in the newly formed Hancock Co. Children of this union were:

Sarah Ann, married John Edens; Hiram, married Laura Horton; George, married Susanna McConnell Ford; Mary, married James Edens; Rebecca Ann, married Ezekiel H. Barrett; Rosanna, married James Lawson; Eliza, married Thomas Horton; Almira, married Zachariah Fugate Palmer.

Isabel Payne Church died, age 39, in December 1859 of consumption (TN Mortality Sched. 1850-60-80). After her death, William Church married Martha "Patsy" Allen on 15 May 1861 (Hawkins County Marriage Records). Their children: Alleany Adeline, married Isaac Palmer; Ellen, married William L. Palmer; Malvina, married John Palmer; Thomas, married Hanna Davis. Four Church daughters had married four Palmer sons, resulting in many double cousins.

Almira Church, daughter of William and Isabel, was born 7 Oct 1857 -- only 2 years when her mother died. She married Zachariah "Zach" Palmer, son of William H. and Sarah Fields Palmer, about June 1878, possibly in Scott County, VA where they continued to reside.

Zach and Almira Palmer had two children: William Ransom, born 17 March 1879; and Rosa Annis "Rose", born 10 Jan 1881. William was age two and Rose was five months when Almira Church Palmer died 1 July 1881, age 23, probably from childbirth complications. She is buried in the Palmer Cemetery, Scott Co., VA.

No doubt rescuing the bereaved young widower, Grandpa "Billy" and Aunt Alleany Church took little Rose, who remained in their loving home until she was seven. She returned to her father's home after Zach Palmer married Ellen McConnell, 28 Jan 1886, and re-established his family.

William Church died 4 Aug 1889 and is buried on the old John Palmer place, Hancock County, on the north side of Clinch River (information from Mabel Harp, Wagoner, OK).

Rose Palmer married Walter Carson Barrett, son of Thomas O. and Nancy Derrick Barrett, 2 Feb 1902 in Scott County, VA. (See William Nelson Barrett Family history for additional data.) They were hard workers, loving parents, good neighbors, and my adored grandparents.

For over 40 years, Rose dreamed of a trip to VA and TN to see her family and friends. After Walter's death, she was finally talked into the trip by air. She approached that plane like a lamb being led to slaughter, but soon discovered it was FUN! She was able to make two happy trips "home" before her death in 1959.

Related story:

The William Nelson Bennett Family

Submitted by:

*Marilyn Pulliam
224 Westover Dr.
Yakima, WA 98908*

CLAYMAN/CLAMONS

All the Claman, Clayman, Clamons around East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia seem to have come from one man - Jonathan Clayman.

Jonathan "John" Clayman (ca. 1760-1835) is the only man of that name in the area until his sons come of age. The very first record of him in the area is in a 1781 account with the Colonial North Carolina government where he furnished supplies to the Revolutionary soldiers of Sullivan County, North Carolina (now Sullivan Co., TN). He is on some early tax lists of Washington County, Virginia, and he bought a couple of tracts of land on Reedy Creek in Sullivan Co., TN in the 1790's near the Washington Co., VA line.

Jonathan Clayman's wife was Catherine Grubb (ca. 1765-1841), daughter of Jacob and Anna Barbara (Metzger) Grubb. Jacob Grubb was born in Germany and came to Pennsylvania with his father, Christian Grubb, when he was a small child. Later, he came to Rockingham County, Virginia and finally to Sullivan Co., TN by 1782.

Jonathan and Catherine Clayman had several children, but only the following ones are known: Jacob Claman (1895-1856), married Mary, and they lived in Washington Co. VA near Bristol; George Clayman (1788-1850's), lived in Sullivan Co., TN; John Christian Clayman (1790-1840's), married Margaret Simmerly and lived in Sullivan Co., TN; Isaac Clayman (1798-...) moved to Arkansas about 1849; James Clayman (1810-...) married Lydia Peters, moved to Arkansas and died there. Lydia came back to Carter Co., TN with some of their children.

Jacob Claman, son of Jonathan and Catherine (Grubb) Claman, moved to Bristol, VA in about 1810. He owned a 160-acre farm in Clayman Valley, which is now owned by Jack Clayman, Sr. of Bristol, VA. Jacob's wife was Mary (1792-ca. 1868).

Their children were: Jacob Leander Claman (1818-1898), married Rebecca Barker; Jonathan R. Claman (1832-...), married Susannah ; Peter M. Claman (1833-1901), married Sarah E. Denny; Capt. George James Adam Claman (1838-1913) married Lavinia Fleenor; Eliza Claman married Charles Baker and they lived in Lee Co., VA; Permilia Matilda Claman, married John Snodgrass, and lived in Lee Co., VA; Mariah Claman married Harrison Hobbs; Sarah C. Claman married Leonard; Nancy L. Claman (1827-1902), married Adam H. Harr and lived in Blountville, TN; Susannah Claman, married James Harr, and lived in Blountville.

Jacob Leander Claman (21 January 1818-29 May 1898), son of Jacob and Mary Claman, married Rebecca Barker (25 January 1821-10 April 1905), daughter of Rev. Joseph and Ellender (Vicars) Barker. Jacob L. Claman left Bristol because of differences over the Civil War and came to Rogersville, TN in 1860 where he and Rebecca lived the remainder of their lives. Jacob L. Claman fought for the Union during the Civil War and was severely wounded at the battle of Nashville, TN where he lost the use of his left arm.

The children of Jacob L. and Rebecca (Barker) Claman were: Mary Ellen Claman (1850-1928), married Michael A. Bain; Joel L. Claman (1852-...) married Cordelia and lived in Elizabethton, TN; Sarah M. Claman (23 April 1855-...), married Young Hutson; Lydia Frances Claman (23 April 1855-26 April 1926) married 1st Hiram Shanks, and 2nd J. R. Webb; Lewis S. Claman/Clamons (25 January 1858-26 February 1946), married Nannie Fawbush; William Columbus Claman (15 July 1860-25 April 1882) married Margaret Helton; James A. C. Claman (13 December 1864-11 February 1884); Frank Cain Clamons (adopted) (16 December 1863-13 December 1941), married Margaret.

Lewis S. "Lude" Clamons (25 January 1858-26 February 1946), son of Jacob L. and Rebecca (Barker) Claman, married Nannie Fawbush (11 June 1861-11 April 1929), daughter of Andrew J. and Mary Ann (Weatherford) Fawbush. Lewis Clamons farmed and was a well known story teller in the community.

They lived in Caney Creek on the north side of the Town Knob and had seven children: Rebecca Clamons (11 February 1884-2 October 1963), married 1st Gale Jenkins, 2nd Mr. Mincy, and 3rd Walter T. Dees; Milly Clamons (4 May 1888-...), married Taylor Wells; Lucy Clamons (4 September 1891-...) married 1st Mr. Bradley, and 2nd Mr. Duncan, and lived in Chicago, IL; Robert B. Clamons (1895-1959) married Eppie Christian; Sallie Clamons (16 October 1899-...) married Ed Clamons and lived in Hot Springs, Arkansas; Andrew Jackson Clamons (1903-1958); and Dora Clamons (died in infancy).

Related Stories:

Andrew Fawbush.

John Jenkins.

Sources:

County Records.

Family Bible.

Submitted by:

The Clamons family and relatives

CLICK

Robert Levi Click was the son of Lewis Click who was born in 1790 in Virginia, and died on 2 May 1853 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Robert Levi was born 18 July 1834, died 17 March 1951, and married Eliza White Horton, born in 1839 and died in 1926. They lived in Hawkins County, and were the parents of nine children: James Marion Click (21 December 1865-12 June 1947) married Sue Elizabeth Larkins; Mollie Click (12 August 1866-19 October 1919) married William Bill Winegar; George Thomas Click (11 October 1870-16 January 1953) married Della Dixon Shipley; Henry Patton Click (9 June 1872-14 February 1953) married Margaret Churchwell; Margaret Horton Click (14 November 1878-2 December 1971) married Rev. Charles Polston; Robert Frank Click (23 May 1890-16 February 1950) married 1st Ann Huddle, and 2nd Isabelle Wininger; Laura Click (died 1965) married Gene Stubus; Rosie Click married Joseph Sibert; and Mattie Click married James Britt.

George Thomas Click (child no.3), my father, was born 11 October 1870 in Hawkins Co., died 16 January 1953, and married on 17 August 1902 to Della Dixon Shipley, born 1 April 1884 in Sullivan County, TN, died 4 September 1957. She was the daughter of George Washington and Mary Elizabeth (McKenzie) Shipley. George and Della were the parents of ten children: Lucian Horton, Mary Helen, Eliza E., George Thomas Jr., Luna Pearl, Fred Ray, Harold Dewey, Mabel, Clarence, and Gladys Pauline.

Lucian Horton Click (22 July 1903-7 May 1981) married Lessie Mae Parker.

Mary Helen Click (born 14 June 1905) married Fred Elbert Price, and they had three children: Jackie Lynn Price (born and died 23 April 1939); Larry Wilburn Price (born 30 January 1941) married and divorced Katherine Ann Shoemaker; and Linda Carol Price (born and died 21 April 1948).

Eliza E. Click (born 15 August 1906) married John Logan Taylor, and they had eleven children: Jack Winford Taylor (28 April 1925-5 March 1928); Eula Frances Taylor (born 10 April 1927) married Curtis Fuller Jenkins; Evelyn Arlene Taylor (born 7 July 1928) married Clarence Brickey; Helen Ruth Taylor (born 24 September 1930) married Hagan Willis Fleenor; Ralph Logan Taylor (born 3 March 1933) married and divorced Pearl Leona Davis; John Thomas Taylor (born 21 August 1934) married Florence Standifer; Donald Ray Taylor (born 3 July 1937) married and divorced Donna Lee Cain; James M. Taylor (born 4 September 1938) married Peggy Irene Blessing; Bobbie Lynn Taylor (born 14 October 1940); Edward Wallace Taylor (born 2 February 1943) married Nancy Carolyn Arnold; and Phyllis Ann Taylor (born 3 February 1948) married ----- Palmer.

George Thomas Click, Jr. (25 May 1908-11 January 1983) married Eva Bell Carter, and they had three children: Geneva Christine Click (born 1 October 1940);

George Thomas Click, III (23 August 1944-16 October 1944); and William E. Click (born 15 September 1945) married Patricia Ann Begley.

Luna Pearl Click (12 May 1910-3 November 1983) married Joseph Lee Glover, and they have three children: Eugene Glover (born 20 November 1934) married 1st Lorene Gilliam and 2nd Reba Light; David Lynn Glover (born 4 April 1944) married Brenda Faye Wolfe; and Delmer Lee Glover (born 27 May 1952) married Teresa Calhoun.

Fred Ray Click (born 23 May 1913) married Mary Ruth Mitchell, and they have one child, Glenna Sue Click, born 9 October 1936, married Charles Augusta Fuller.

Harold Dewey Click (born 23 November 1915), married 1st Emma Elizabeth Lynch, and they had three children: Sue Helen Click (16 October 1942-27 August 1972) married Charles Benny Reed; Harold Dewey Click, Jr. (1947-1948); George Lee Click (born 25 April 1956) married Pamela Swan. Harold Dewey Click married 2nd Wilma Sue Bond Tabor, and they have no children.

Mabel Click (2 September 1917-8 August 1937), never married.

Clarence Click (29 May 1919-11 March 1923).

Gladys Pauline Click (born 11 October 1924) married Elmer K. Sexton, and they had three children: George Roger Sexton (born 26 September 1943), married and divorced Jacqueline Callihan; Patricia Ann Sexton (born 15 August 1946) married James Dale Knowles; and Barbara Jean Sexton (born and died 16 December 1948).

Related Story:

George W. and Mary (McKenzie) Shipley

Submitted by:

*Harold D. Click
104 Monticello Place
Kingsport, TN 37665*

CLONCE (Originally GLANTZ/CLONTZ)

Since 1819 the Clonce Family has been found in Hawkins County. The Clonce

Family history began with the arrival of Hieronymus Glantz on the ship Adventure which arrived in Philadelphia in 1732.¹

His family consisted of a wife, son and daughter. The son of Hance Micalle, later anglicized his name to John Michael.

The family migrated to Mecklenburg Co., Virginia. Hieronymus, then known as Jeremiah, was listed on a tithe list in 1748.²

Our family has in its possession an old Bible with names and births recorded, the oldest being 1702, we believe to be Hieronymus. His son John Michael had 2 sons, George and Jeremiah, in the years 1756 and 1759. Both served in the Revolutionary War. Jeremiah still has many descendants living in and around Mecklenburg Co.

George moved to Burke Co., North Carolina. His son Michael was born in 1803.

The Clonces in and around Hawkins County are direct descendants of Michael. He married Ann Stokes in Burke Co., North Carolina on April 12, 1828.³

By 1850 Michael had moved to Hawkins County. Tennessee census shows 8 children. The sons were Ephriam, John, Ambrose, and Michael Luther.

My great grandfather Michael Luther Clonce was 11 years old in 1850 in the Tennessee census. From there his family moved back to North Carolina. He married Rhoda Burnette and had 11 children, the second being Charles Monroe Clonce, my grandfather.

Michael Luther Clonce and wife Rhoda are buried in Morningstar Cemetery in Canton, North Carolina.

Our grandfather had many stories of his travels from Canton, North Carolina to Hawkins County, Tennessee to the Mooresburg area.

Many times he walked or rode a horse. He told of herding wild turkeys. His daughter Cleo Purkey remembers his story of walking with nothing to eat but an onion and a few crackers.

His cousin William Charles Clonce was very close to him and made this trip many times with him.

He remained in the Big Hill area of Hawkins County, where he operated a sawmill with the help of his sons. Our Grandparents Orpha and Charles M. Clonce had 8 children, 2 dying in infancy. The sixth child being my father, Millon F. Clonce.

My father told of the hard times after his mother's death and how happy he was the day he went after his new mother and brought her home on a horse, where they were to be married.

His 2nd wife, Verna Long, reared his children after Orpha had died at an early age. Together they had 8 with 4 dying in infancy. His children living to adulthood were Jessie, Mayne, Lloyd, Millon, Less, Andrew, Cleo, Minnie, Ella, and Leon.

Our Father, Millon Clonce, was injured as a young man. A sawmill accident left him bedridden for several years. His step-mother cared for him, nursing him back to health. After several years, he finally walked. His faith in God and love from family saw him through these trying times. He married Lissie Carpenter and reared 5 children. His descendants still live in and around the Bean Station area.

Sources:

1. Pennsylvania German Pioneers, vol. 1. Pennsylvania German Society, 1934.
2. List of Tithes, Lunenburg Co., VA.
3. Burke Co., N.C. Marriages, page 54.

Submitted by:

*Doris Brooks, with the help of Cleo Purkey, and family members.
Route 3, Box 1750
Bean Station, TN 37708*

Benjamin COFFEY 1747-1834

Edward Coffey was Benjamin Coffey's (1747-1834) grandfather. Edward died before the 20th day of October 1716 in Essex County, Virginia. His Will listed a widow, Ann Coffey, and six children, John, Edward, Martha, Ann, Austin, and Elizabeth Coffey.

John Coffey, son of Edward and Ann Powell Coffey, was Benjamin Coffey's father. John's Will was made on March 31, 1774 and was recorded in Albemarle County, Virginia in 1775. His Will names his wife, Jane Coffey, and nine children, James, William, Thomas, John, Edmond, Rubin, and Benjamin Coffey, Winifred Moran, and Betty Field.

Benjamin Coffey's Revolutionary War pension records state that he was born in 1747 in Spotsylvania County, Virginia, and died January 4, 1834 in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

According to family tradition, Benjamin Coffey married Polly Hayes.

Benjamin first served the Colonist cause for independence while living in Burke County, North Carolina. He volunteered April 1, 1776 and served five months. He was sent to the frontier, to scout and to help build Crider's Fort, because of mischief being done by the Cherokee Indians.

Benjamin Coffey's family moved over to Wilkes County, NC. In 1780, he volunteered again and this time he served seven months. He was at the Battle of Kings Mountain.

Because he had lost his horse the evening before the battle and had to join the foot soldiers, Benjamin Coffey did not do any fighting in the battle that took place on Kings Mountain. The fighting was all over by the time the infantry reached the battle scene.

Benjamin Coffey lived on Big War Creek in Hawkins County on the north side of Clinch Mountain.

Benjamin's son, John Coffey, was born October 15, 1776 in that area of North Carolina that became Burke County in 1777. He died March 15, 1845 in Grainger County, Tennessee.

John was married March 1, 1804 in Wilkes County, NC to Elizabeth Rucker, daughter of Colby and Sarah Rucker. Sarah's maiden name may be Robbins or Roberts. Elizabeth was born January 6, 1787 and died March 22, 1855 in Grainger Co., TN. They lived on Indian Creek on the north side of Clinch Mountain.

Elizabeth and her children were charter members of the Cedar Spring Baptist Church, which was established in 1846, northeast of Thorn Hill.

Elizabeth and John had ten children. They had five children before the War of 1812 and nine years later they had five more children, maybe some babies died. We do know ten lived to be adults and shared in their parents' estate.

Ausburn Coffey, born January 14, 1805 in Wilkes Co., NC, died December 30, 1876 in Grainger Co., TN. He was married in the 1820's to Matilda Dalton, born about 1805, died on her birthday January 30, 1899 in Rockcastle County, Kentucky. Colby Coffey, born August 23, 1806 in Wilkes Co., NC, died June 17, 1888 in Estill Co., KY. He married May 22, 1830 to Mary Ann Adams, born October 6, 1807, and died September 26, 1887 in Estill County.

Benjamin Coffey, born on February 8, 1808 in Wilkes Co., NC, died May 8, 1867 in Rockcastle Co., KY. He married Nancy Hayes, born July 23, 1802, died February 14, 1874, daughter of William and Sarah Hayes. They had nine sons and one daughter.

Nancy Coffey, born January 12, 1810 in Grainger Co., TN, died November 20, 1896 in Rockcastle Co., KY. She was never married.

John Jackson "Jack" Coffey, born January 12, 1812 in that area of Tennessee that became Hancock County in 1844, died October 12, 1877 in Rockcastle Co., KY. He was married July 7, 1839 in Grainger Co., TN to Alsy Nash, born 1810 and died January 7, 1867 in Grainger County.

Elizabeth Coffey, born about 1821 in Tennessee, died in Cass County, Missouri. She married on November 30, 1839 to Nathan P. Whitsett in Grainger County. Nathan died January 22, 1842. She was married again on February 23, 1845 to George W. Hayes, born about 1816 in North Carolina.

Sarah Lucinda Coffey, born about 1822 in Tennessee, died November 4, 1895. She married on March 21, 1840 in Grainger County to her double cousin, William Coffey, born about 1817 in Tennessee, and died June 1878 in West Plains, Missouri.

Margaret Coffey, born about February 28, 1825 in Tennessee, died in Rockcastle Co., KY. She was the second wife of Isaac Bullen. She didn't have any children.

William M. Coffey, born October 31, 1828 in Tennessee, died August 19, 1893 in Grainger County. He was married June 12, 1849 to Ellen Nash, born about 1824, and died January 19, 1884.

Catherine Coffey, born August 10, 1834 in Tennessee, was widowed and living in Cass Co., MO in 1880. She married a Sweet.

Submitted by:

*Bennie Coffey Loftin
Route 1, Box 270
Kiowa, OK 74553*

Curtis Maston COMBS, Sr.

Curtis Maston Combs, Sr. was born 25 May 1889 in Hancock County, Tennessee. As a child he came to Hawkins County, and his family settled in Fishers Creek, Rogersville.

Curtis had been identified with law enforcement of Hawkins County for more than 30 years. He was Sheriff of Hawkins County from 1940-42, was a Deputy Sheriff for more than 20 years, and was Rogersville's Chief of Police in the early 1920's.

He served in the Army during World War I, Tennessee CPL Company E., 321 Infantry. Curtis suffered the loss of a lung after being gassed in France.

As a young man he and his brothers, Jim and Charles, spent some time in Idaho. Curtis was a ranch foreman there.

Curtis was married twice. His first wife, Nola Alvis, was born on 17 July 1892 and died 14 May 1923. They had two children, Charles Cleveland and Daisy.

Charles Cleveland married Minnie Cunningham, also was an ex-Hawkins County Sheriff from 1944-46. He was U.S. Deputy Marshall from 1960 to 1980. Charles also was a veteran of World War II.

Daisy married Clarence Hall.

Curtis' second wife, Hazel Carter, was born 12 September 1906 and died 18 June 1986. Their children are: (1) Jessie Mae, married Glen Collier; (2) Jean, married Homer Boyd; and (3) C. M., Jr., who worked for city police of Rogersville.

Curtis' father was Robert N. "Bob" Combs, and his mother was Phebe McConnell. Curtis' step-mother was Alba Williams. He had seven halfbrothers and three half-sisters. Nola Alvis Combs is buried at First Baptist Church Cemetery. Curtis and his second wife are buried in the Highland Cemetery in Rogersville, Tennessee.

Curtis has a grandson, Eddie, who lives in the Mount Carmel Community of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Related Story:

Robert N. Combs

Submitted by:

*Jeffrey R. Combs
413 Gallup Ave.
Mount Carmel, TN 37645*

Robert N. "Bob" COMBS

Robert N. "Bob" Combs was born 8 May 1861 in Russell County, Virginia near Hansonville. After the Civil War, Bob's father and grandfather Alexander moved their families to what is called Eidson or Looney's Gap in Hancock County, Tennessee. They settled and bought farms.

Bob came from a family of twelve children, having nine sisters and two brothers. His parents were William "Billy" and Mary Ann Cross Combs.

Bob first married Phebe McConnell, born 24 September 1867, the daughter of William C. "Big" and Mary M. Kilgore McConnell. They had 4 children: (1) Mary, died young; (2) Curtis, married (a) Nola Alvis and (b) Hazel Carter; (3) Charles, married Minnie Hickman; (4) Jim, moved to Idaho.

Phebe died 8 June 1894 and is buried in the Snapp-Combs Cemetery in Eidson, Hancock County, Tennessee.

Bob remarried Alba Alberta Williams, born 26 April 1876 in Scott County, Virginia, the daughter of Thomas Patton and Virginia Georgia Anna Templeton Williams. Early in the 1900's Bob came to Fishers Creek in Rogersville to settle.

Bob and Alba had ten children: (1) Johnnie F., who died young; (2) Luther Mitchell, married Inez Carter; (3) Martha U., married James Still; (4) Hiram A., died young; (5) Robert "Pat", married Mabel Miller; (6) Cornie E., married (a) Onzie Linkous, (b) Earl King, (c) Robert Martin; (7) Flora "Dicey", married (a) John Allen, (b) Fred Klepper, (c) George Barrett, (d) Jess Young; (8) Conley Roy, married Bonnie Gilliam; (9) Riley Flem, married Lou Bowman; (10) Napoleon B. "Nay", married Inez Couch.

Bob was a farmer and blacksmith. He was well known in the area for trimming work horses. Bob would go on horseback as far as Honaker, Va. and parts of Nickelsville and Dickensville. Bob had relatives in the areas. He would go and see his grandmother, Dicey Perry Combs, wife of Alexander, near Nickelsville, VA. Most of his relatives were from Russell County. He made several trips on horseback across Clinch Mountain into Hancock County. Bob had two sisters that married Snapps. Bob and Alba later moved to Sullivan County, Tennessee.

Bob died in Hawkins County, Tennessee 8 April 1950. Alba died 17 January 1964 in Sullivan County, Tennessee, and both were buried in Snapp-Combs Cemetery in Eidson, Hancock County, Tennessee.

Bob Combs was my Great-Grandfather, his son Conley Roy was my Grandfather, my parents are Hascal Ray and Barbara Ann Casteel Combs. They live in Liberty Hill Community of Mount Carmel, Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Related Story:

Curtis Maston Combs, Sr.

Submitted by:

Jeffrey R. Combs
413 Gallup Ave.
Mount Carmel, TN 37645

The COOKs

My Cooks are virtually late comers to Hawkins County, Tennessee. They did not arrive until after the Civil War –1869.

James M. Cook was born in North Carolina ca. 1827. He married Sarah (Sallie) Evans 9 October 1853 in North Carolina. They had six children: Elizabeth C., William P., Eli G., John W., Joel P., and Elias P.

James was a Confederate Soldier. His wife, Sallie, was known for her stories of the War. She would take the "babies" to the field while she tended the crops. She also told of the Union soldiers stealing their food.

The third son, John H., married Rettie Lewis in 1882. They had one son, George Edgar Cook, born 5 February 1883. Rettie died shortly after George was born, so he was raised by his grandmother Sallie.

John remarried and raised three daughters: Lida, Dora, and Dorme, and one son, Jessie.

Sallie was a banjo picker, and she taught George to play her banjo. When he was too small to hold the banjo on his lap, he sat on the floor with it.

Family stories say that George ran off to war when he was 15 years old. He was supposedly a bugler in the Spanish-American War.

George married Julia Shropshire in 1904. Julia was the daughter of Joseph and Ellen Owen Shropshire. She was born 25 June 1889 in Hawkins Co. They had four daughters: Lucille E. Cook Arnett, Sarah Ellen, Zella Mae, and Willia. Julia died in 1927.

George later married Mae Poe. They had three children: Helen, George Jr., and Willard. George passed away in 1974 at 91 years of age.

George was my grandfather, and he was a wonderful person. He didn't have fame or fortune, but he was a hard working farmer. He had a heart of gold and the most beautiful blue eyes that would twinkle with mischief.

George loved to fish. In his spare time you could find him and his fishing pole at the mountain creek near his home in Persia. When he was in his eighties, he made the mistake of falling in the creek. After that, his wife wouldn't let him go fishing alone.

I get my love of animals from Granddad George. He always had a horse or mule and a cow. He would let me ride anything I could catch and get on.

The last time I saw Granddad we were about two blocks from the barn, and I asked where the horse was. He replied, "Well, Helen Marie, can't you see him, he is sticking his head out the barn door."

The beautiful blue eyes could see better than I could. He still had the laughter in his voice and the twinkle in his eyes.

Submitted by:

Helen Marie Arnett Danison
3198 Brights Pike
Morristown, TN 37814

Clyde and Margaret (WINSTEAD) COOK

When asked to pen a short story on my heritage, I thought the task would be easily achieved and set about it with vigor. Many weeks later words still eluded me. Lack of knowledge was not the problem; I know my ancestors from which I descend. I was having trouble expressing my own personal thoughts and feelings. Could I possibly put into words a story that would give one small glimpse into my strong family, one that laughs, loves, plays, and cries together.

Clyde Jack Cook, Jr., my father, was born July 13, 1921 in a little town called Millersport, located on the southern end of Buckeye Lake, in Fairfield County, Ohio. Jack, as he was to be called, was the first born of Clyde Jack Cook, Sr. and Ruth Cook (no relation). I can see my father as a small child having his father's dark coloring, black hair, and coal-black eyes, set within the slender frame and sharp features of his mother. As Dad grew up he must have been a gangly lad getting into mischief upon the banks of Buckeye Lake. However, his carefree days of youth were short due to the untimely death of his beloved mother. I recall my father saying that he is not sure what caused his life to become hard, his mother's death, or the "Great Depression".

During the hard times, the one thing he did was read – everything he could get his hands on – often sneaking and reading late at night in bed, under quilts that he made a tent from. If caught by his grandmother, his guardian, she would forbid him access to the family supply of kerosene. After high school, he worked his way west, working at any job he could find, this was a great teaching experience for him.

In January, 1942 he enlisted in WWII. After the war, he went to Ohio State University, enrolling in law college, which he did not like, and changed to a major in economics. He worked for United Press International as a feature writer for several large Ohio newspapers.

My mother, Margaret Winstead, is the oldest child of Reed and Willie Jane (Gambill) Winstead. She was born in Big Stone Gap, Wise County, Virginia. One grandmother named her Margaret, the other called her Peggy. She is a replica of her mother, with amber red hair, that frames a soft gentle face, enhanced by green eyes. Her parents' families had helped settle the Hawkins County area. Mom tells that her dad told her how the land was worn out by overuse.

Families with many children had to find work elsewhere. She remembers the move from Virginia into the Kentucky coal fields as a child. Here her dad bought land, built a house, and raised his family of eleven children (another one died young) by mining and farming in Pike County, KY. Here she was taught to sew, tend house, and received an education.

One of my favorite stories Mom tells is about one of her birthdays. Being raised in a large family, birthdays were considered special, and this time she had no cake, and her mother did not cook her favorite supper. By nightfall Mom was really upset because no one had remembered her birthday. Later that night she was called upon to help her mother with the birth of a baby brother, her mother told her it was her birthday present. This was one of the nicest presents she ever had, and from there on there were always two cakes, one large and one small. Mom's baby brother was named Gerald. They are still very close.

In the summer of 1950, Mom went to Columbus, Ohio to stay with an uncle and his wife to babysit for the summer. Later she found work and stayed. Here she met my dad.

I can see why they were attracted to one another. By this time Mom was a real beauty, whose gentleness would melt the heart of the dark, mysterious fun-loving Jack. They exchanged their vows of love in Union County, Indiana in the small town of Liberty. My dad says "from this union he had not had any liberty." Later they moved to Pike County, KY near Mom's parents who were ill by this time.

Their firstborn, Priscilla Colleen, arrived March 1, 1952. Colleen was a replica of Dad's mother Ruth, having the finely carved features, and later as she grew all the grace and poise of her grandmother. She helped Mom with the younger children, and as the eldest, she will always be the backbone of the family. She loved to study and read like Dad. When she went to college, it became a family joke "that Colleen would still be in school when she was old enough to draw social security." She did get her degree, and is now married to a fine man, Allen Ray Hewitt of Bladen County, NC. They have two daughters, Natalie Lynn, age 12, and Jessica Ann, age 10. These are my parents' granddaughters, and through them all the things we hold dear in our heritage will be passed on.

Their second child was a daughter, Adrienne Patricia, born November 4, 1953. Although she was with the family only a short time, leaving this world November 20, 1954, she will always be in our hearts.

Third came little Bonnie Jean, June 28, 1955. Bonnie was a God-send to Mom and Dad after the loss of Adrienne. She is named for Dad's sister Bonnie Jean, for all the love and support she gave to them. Bonnie looks like her mother in the face and features, but has the darkness of her dad, with deep brown eyes, full of warmth. Bonnie is the lioness of the family, fighting fearlessly for what she believes in and holds dear. Without her toughness to help, I wonder what life would be like. She is my strength, and my friend. She is a graduate of Mayo Business College, married to James Edd Adkins of Floyd County, Kentucky, and they live in Pikeville, Kentucky. Bonnie has gone back to college, and like Mom, she loves quilting and golf.

Fourth came Dad's pride and joy, his son Clyde Jack Cook, III, his namesake, his heir. "Buddy", as he is called, was born February 2, 1957. He is a good cross between both of his parents, having his father's tall slender frame, with Mother's coloring and her blue-green eyes. He has sandy blond hair. I can hear Dad laughing and saying "That's my boy. Can't you see he has my hair and eyes." Buddy is a college graduate, and lives and works in Frankfort, Kentucky as an engineer. He is single and would make a good catch for some nice lady, but the time has not come yet.

Their fifth child, Mary Margaret, was born February 14, 1959, in Jenkins, Letcher County, Kentucky. Mary is just like her mother, having the gorgeous red hair and the same green eyes. She was affectionately called "Dolly;" when she was born, Buddy was only two and he called her "Mommy's Dolly." She is a college graduate, majoring in journalism, and married to Dale Edward Jones of Fentress County, Tennessee. They have two sons, Matthew Reed, age 11, and Mark William, age 5, and they live in Lexington, Kentucky, and Mary is now attending Asbury Seminary. This spring she will receive her Diaconate.

Last, and sixth, is Rebecca Jane, arriving two months early on November 20, 1960, in McDowell County, North Carolina. I am always in a hurry. Mom calls me her "beautiful gift from God." I attended college, but did not graduate, choosing instead to marry. I married David Lee Miller November 11, 1981 at my parents' home in Hawkins County by the Rev. Billy Ray Courtney. We live in Justiceville, Kentucky, and in February 1993 we were blessed with a son, Nathan Lee Miller.

Being the youngest of a strong and loving family, with lots of good times and a few sad ones, I would like to say these words to my parents, "Without your hard work and love, I would not be here. You have taught me many things throughout life, the most important are to have self-esteem, for you have to care for yourself before you can care for others. To take pride in whatever I decide to do, for it will always have my touch. To respect people for what they are, not what I would like for them to be. To always love the Lord. To honor those that have gone before us, and to remember to live our lives so they would be proud of us."

This is our true heritage, not merely where we fall in place on a chart.

I thank you for all the values you have taught and your love. May I always be able to pass on this love, and to always honor the Lord.

As young children we were always together. We read, listened to good music, played games. I was a good chess player by the age of six. In the summer we lived on the lake where we fished, swam, and water skied. My dad worked as a social worker and court counselor for troubled children in the state of Kentucky until he retired in 1980. Mom worked in our home until we were teenagers, then she owned and operated Pegasus Pet Shop, which she sold in 1977.

Mom and Dad kept a cabin cruiser on Cherokee Lake in Hawkins County, and when they retired they moved there. This made Mom happy as she could be, for now she could research her families at will. We are proud of the work she has done.

Related Story:

Gambill - Gamble

Submitted by:

Rebecca (Cook) Miller
72 Justiceville Addition
Pikeville, KY 41501

COPE

Three Cope brothers, born in Virginia, came to Hawkins County about 1800. The oldest was William (1779-1858), next was Andrew (1781-1862), and youngest was James (1784-1857).

William Cope settled in what is now the Lee Valley area, his land was mentioned in the original layout of District #2 when the Civil Districts were originated in 1836. William and Nancy had a family of eleven children according to a review of census records and the settlement of his estate in 1858. The children were: 1. Jesse Cope (1802-1873), married Elizabeth Trent; 2. Andrew Cope (1805-1861), married Alvira Holland; 3. John Cope, 1806-1880), married Rebecca Felt; 4. Margaret Cope (1809-1857), married John Martin; 5. James Cope (1810-1865), married Dorcas; 6. William Cope (1812-...), married Margaret Baker; 7. Wiley Cope (1816-1862), married Nancy Brewer; 8. Madison Cope (1818-1905), married Eliza Jane Pearson; 9. Unidentified female (1820-...); 10. Nancy Cope (1823-1905), married Paschal Martin; and 11. Unidentified Male (1824-...).

In the period 1853-1855 William and Nancy, along with the families of Andrew, John, Margaret, William, Wiley, and Nancy moved to White County, Tennessee. Also moving was Amanda Jane Cope McCauley and her family. She was the wife of George McCauley and the daughter of Jesse and Elizabeth Cope. Andrew, a son of James and Dorcas Cope also moved to White County. I have copies of letters written in 1858 and 1859 from Andrew to James and Dorcas Cope urging his parents to sell out and move to White County, but they remained in Hawkins County. Andrew and Alvira Cope and Nancy and Paschal Martin moved on to Arkansas.

Most of these Copes belonged to the Richardson's Creek Baptist Church in the Lee Valley area. During the Civil War, Madison Cope and two of his sons and many of his nephews from Hawkins County fought for the Union. Those who moved to White County fought for the Confederacy.

Andrew Cope (1781-1862) moved to White County, Tennessee, where tax lists show him in 1812. He was married at least twice and some researchers claim three marriages. It is known that he married Sarah Wallace and Elizabeth Mason. Between his wives he fathered eighteen children. Before and after the Civil War many of his children moved to Arkansas and some moved on to Texas.

James Cope (1784-1857) lived in the western part of Hawkins County. His wife is unknown except she was listed as Elizabeth in the 1850 census. He had eight children according to the records of the settlement of his estate in the Hawkins County Court House. They were: 1. Andrew Cope (1805-186.), married Mary (Polly) King; 2. John Cope (1807-1857), married Jane Pendleton; 3. William Cope (1809-186.), married Lydia Wilder; 4. Micajah Cope (1814-1887), married Mary Brewer; 5. Elizabeth Cope (18.-...), married Ambrose Brewer; 6. Susan Cope (18.-...), married a different Ambrose Brewer; 7. Maritta Cope (1821-1910), married Frederick Seal; 8. Tempe Cope (18.-...), married Alfred Stokes. These children may not be listed in the order of their birth. The spouses of Micajah Cope and Susan Cope were children of Howell Cobb Brewer.

Micajah and Mary Cope, Susan and Ambrose Brewer, and Maritta and Frederick

Seal moved to Kentucky before the Civil War. Frederick served in the Union forces during the war, and after the war they moved back to Tennessee. I have not been able to find any data on Tempe Cope or Alfred Stokes other than the fact she is listed in the settlement of her father's estate, and an Alfred Stokes, age 23, is listed in the 1850 Hancock Census living with his father, James Stokes.

Submitted by:

Harold L. Cope
133 W. Nimisila Rd.
Akron, OH 44319

My Ancestors, The COX Family

The earliest known ancestors of my family are my great-great-great-grandparents, Samuel Cox and Barbary Hammond.

My great-great grandparents were Samuel and Barbary's eldest child, Charles R. Cox, and Elizabeth "Betty", surname unknown. Charles R. was born approximately 1830 and died after the 1880 Census. Elizabeth was born approximately 1824 in Virginia, and she died after the 1880 census. They had 4 children: Charles, John Henry, Mary A., and Isaac E.

My great-grandparents are Mary A. Cox and David Keirse. Mary was born in Tennessee on February 16, 1860 and died approximately 1905 in Hawkins County. David was born in Hawkins County in September, 1861 and died after the 1900 Census. They were married on March 15, 1882 in Hawkins County. They had 9 children: Leila A., Elizabeth F., Mary Thurman, Carrie Frances (my grandmother), Kate J., Benjamin M., Charles Richard, Rebecca A., and Arthur R.

Most of these families were farmers. Some owned many plots of land from Virginia to Tennessee. The sources of this history were found in family Bibles passed down from generation to generation, and from a 4th cousin I have recently met, Darryl Gardner.

Related stories:

My Grandparents - Bennett, Keirse, Vaughn, Spears.

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond, m/2 Susannah Carr.

Submitted by:

Joyce A. Deputy
1327 Chapelview Dr.
Odenton, MD 21113

Abraham & Susan Elizabeth (MOUNT-CASTLE) COX

Abraham Cox, son of Thomas Edward and Lauret Kight Cox, was born February 15, 1848, in McMinn Co., TN. He married Miss Susan Elizabeth Mountcastle, September 13, 1874, in McMinn Co., TN. Susan was the daughter of Christian Elihugh and Sarah Loughmiller Mountcastle whose families had both settled in Rogersville and Surgoinsville, TN. Abraham and his family eventually moved to Fannin Co., TX. in 1880, when daughter, Avie E. Lee Cox, (grandmother of Wendy Pickering Jacobs) was just an infant.

Abraham died March 10, 1895, and was buried beside his father, Thomas Edward Cox, at Lindsey Cemetery in Randolph, Fannin County, Texas.

Related stories:

John & Tabitha Amis Cox, James & Sarah Collins Cox.

Thomas Edward and Laura Kight Cox.

William Mountcastle.

Sources for information:

Handwritten letters of James Cox.

"The Cox Family", by Jackson B. Cox, September 1, 1936, Austin, TX.

"Janetta Mountcastle Carden, Oldest Living Confederate Widow," Knoxville Sentinel, January 14, 1905.

1840-50-60-70-80 Tennessee Census Records.

Rogersville Presbyterian Cemetery Records.

Family letters of Laurett Kight Cox.

Indian War Pension Records of Thomas Edward Cox, National Archives.

War records of Christian Mountcastle, Natl. Archives.

Allen, Collin Co., TX Cemetery records.

Newspaper obituary for Sue E. Mountcastle Cox, Bonham, TX., 1942.

History of Texas and Texans by Frank W. Johnson, Vol. 5, P. 2421, George C. Mountcastle History.

Personal family interviews.

Submitted by:

Wendy Jacobs
2327 Horseshoe Dr.
Alex., LA 71301

Isaac E. COX

Charles R. Cox, born ca. 1830/31, and died after 1880, was the eldest child of Samuel Cox and his first wife, Barbary Hammond. Charles R. married Elizabeth "Bettie" (we are told Cochran), born ca. 1824, and died after 1880.

Isaac E. Cox was the fourth child of Charles R. and Bettie Cox. Isaac's siblings were: Charles (ca. 1857-...); John Henry (16 March 1858-18 August 1921), married Mollie Jane Housley (11 March 1866-30 October 1931), moved to Texas and had seven children; Mary A. (February 1860-ca. 1929/30), married David Keirse (September 1861-ca. 1909/10), lived in Hawkins Co. and had ten children; and Mary Ann Mayo (ca. 1874-1...) (adopted).

On 4 November 1881 in Hawkins Co. Isaac E. Cox (13 March 1864-9 July 1934) married Alice E. C. Brice (5 September 1859-29 March 1935). In the 1860 Hawkins Co. Census she is shown as "Lizzie A.", age 11/12, suggesting Alice Elizabeth, but we have nothing else to confirm this.

Isaac and Alice were both born in Hawkins Co., and both died in Marion Co., Indiana. They were divorced in Indiana. Alice was the daughter of Columbus C. "Lum" Brice (1825/27-1864) and Virginia Jane "Jennie" (Looney) Brice (3 October 1838/39-12 November 1876).

Isaac and Alice's 7 children were: Orville Franklin, Walter, Lester Lum, Bert/Brack, Coy, all born in Hawkins Co., another child born and died before 1900, and another child born and died between 1900 and 1910, names unknown to this writer.

Orville Franklin Cox (September 1882-26 May 1936) married Glennie Lou Crigger (26 October 1892-27 April 1941). Glennie was the daughter of William "Bill" Crigger (May 1848-after 1910) and his wife Martha Adline Hart Crigger (September 1854-after 1920). They lived in Hawkins Co. and made their living farming.

Orville and Glennie had seven children: Hugh Lee Cox (born 24 March 1916), married Bertha Mae Adams (born 30 June 1918) and had 8 children, 17 grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren; Ruby Ellen Cox (28 September 1918-23 August 1989), married Robert Dallas "Tex" Larkins (25 November 1916/17-4 December 1970), Audie Bruce Kaywood (1 August 1912-ca. 1985), Richard Gibson, and Harry Lee Bradley (born 15 April 1927) and had 3 children, 4 grandchildren, and 2 great grandchildren; Jessie Alice Cox (5 March 1921-3 June 1969), married James Bledsoe (born ca. 1920); Alma Ruth Cox (4 August 1924-16 July 1989), married Ralph Barth, adopted 2 children, and have 3 grandchildren; William Isaac "Bill" Cox (born on 2 December 1926), married Lucille Webb, and Jane, and have 1 son; John Robert "Johnny" Cox (14 December 1930-2 November 1988), married Margaret Corda Carter (born ca. 1932), Mahala Johnson (born ca. 1929) and Bertha Marie Jefferson, and has 3 children and 4 grandchildren; and Charlie Franklin Cox (born and died on 3 December 1934).

Walter Cox (November 1885-19..) married, and had at least 2 children. He was a farmer in Indiana.

Lester Lum Cox (13 August 1889-26 October 1956), married Elva Stradling, and Lillian Mae Mercer (31 August 1893-13 October 1963), and had 3 children, 14 grandchildren, 16 great grandchildren, and 1 great-great grandchild. Lum retired from the U.S. Navy with 39-1/2 years service. He was inside one of the hardest hit ships at Pearl Harbor, and managed to climb out before it sank.

Bert/Brack Cox (December 1893-ca. 1980/85), married Anna, and had 2 children, and 6 grandchildren. He was a farmer in Indiana.

Coy Cox (September 1899-1917/18) was never married, and was killed when he fell into the ocean and was pulled under by the ship's wake, while training to transfer by jumping from one ship to another in WWI.

Related Stories:

Brice Family.

My Ancestors, the Cox Family.

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond,
m/2 Susannah Carr

Sources:

Family Bible.

Hawkins Co. Census.

Interviews with family members.

Personal knowledge.

Submitted by:

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lee Cox
Zion Hill Rd.
Surgoinsville, TN 37873

James K. Polk and Louisa M. (CARTER) COX

James Knox Polk Cox, son of James Wilkerson "Wilk" and Caroline Abbela Hood Cox, was born 24 November 1847 near Benton, Polk County, Tennessee. He married Louisa Missouri Carter on 27 March 1879 in Tennessee, probably Polk County. Louisa, the daughter of William Carter and Kinser, was born 7 April 1863 in McMinn County, Tennessee.

It is said that James met Louisa when he was driving a herd of cattle and stopped at her parents' home to spend the night. When he saw Louisa, then 15 years of age, he remarked that she was the prettiest girl he ever saw, and he would return to marry her.

Circa 1878-79 he did return and took her, on horseback, to be his bride. They moved to Fannin County, Texas where he farmed. To James and Louisa, called "Lou", 5 girls and 6 boys were born. Two sons died in infancy, and one died at age 14 after being kicked in the head by a horse.

Their children were: Cora Sallie, born 27 November 1880; Callie Amelia, born 16 April, 1882; Lydia Isabel "Isa", born 15 September 1884, Robert Martin, born 24 May 1886 and died 12 June 1886; Thomas Franklin, born 18 September 1887 and died 20 December 1958; James Clarence, born 21 October 1889 and died on 28 July 1890; Clara Chrisman, born 22 May 1891 and died 6 December 1912; Ruby Naomi, born on 12 July 1893; Raymond Alvis, born 5 September 1895 and died 14 October 1979; William Leslie, born 23 May 1897; and Virgil Alton, born 4 November 1903 and died 17 March 1918.

Cora Sallie married Seth Dorbant. Callie Amelia married Ira Pearce. Thomas Franklin married Flora, born 1889. Ruby Naomi married

(1) Albert Cox and (2) Toad Brotherton. Raymond Alvis married

(1) Stella Joanna Hill and (2) Vista Posey Courtney. William Leslie married Lillian Pearl Hayden.

Raymond Alvis is buried in Talpa Cemetery, Coleman, Coleman County Texas. William Leslie Cox is buried in Watson Cemetery, Lampasas, Lampasas Co. Texas.

The family moved to Scurry County, Texas for several years, but found it difficult to make a living farming. One daughter, Isabel, obtained a teaching certificate, taught school, and made enough money to provide the family during difficult times. The family later moved to Burnet County, Texas first near Bertram, and later, 13 miles northeast of Lampasas, where James K. P. Cox died on 24 December 1932 of pneumonia. Louisa continued to live on the homeplace with a son, William Leslie, his wife, Lillian, and their 3 children, until her death 3 February 1958, just 2 months short of 95 years of age. They are both buried in South San Gabriel River Cemetery near Bertram in Burnet Co. Texas, along with 2 of their children, Clara Chrisman and Virgil Alton Cox.

Related Stories:

James Wilkerson, and Caroline Hood Cox.

Raymond Alvis, and Stella J. Hill Cox

Submitted by:

Jean Adelle Cox
(Granddaughter of James K. Polk, and Louisa M. Carter Cox)
12204 Mosley Lane
Austin, TX 78727

James Wilkerson and Caroline (HOOD) COX

John Cox was born 28 March 1758, and died 5 November 1798. On 20 July 1784 he married Tabitha Amis, the daughter of Thomas Amis. Thomas Amis was born in 1744 in Halifax County, North Carolina, and died in 1798 in Hawkins County. Tabitha was born 12 October 1764 in Tennessee, and died 13 February 1837 in Hawkins County.

James Cox, the son of John and Tabitha, was born on 10 December 1786 in Hawkins County, and died 14 November 1876 in McMinn County, Tennessee. On 17 December 1806, James married Sarah Collins. Sarah was born in 1783 in Tennessee, and died 2 February 1858 in Hawkins County.

James Wilkerson "Wick" Cox, son of James and Sarah Collins Cox, was born 2 July 1816, in Tennessee, probably McMinn County. He married Caroline Abbela Hood in Tennessee, ca. 1845. She was born 2 October 1820 in Tennessee.

To James and Sarah 4 sons and 4 daughters were born, all in Tennessee. Their children were: Ann, born 1846; James Knox Polk, born 24 November 1857 and died 24 December 1932; Mary, born 6 September 1849; Robert L., born 10 January 1851 and died 1885; Sarah P., born 4 March 1853; Nancy C., born 10 September 1854 and died ca. 1936; Rufas G., born 1 November 1856 and died 2 October 1879; and Emmonds P. D., born 20 February 1859.

Circa 1878-79 James Knox Polk Cox married Louisa J. Missouri Carter. Robert L. Cox married Clemmie G., born ca. 1860. On 15 December 1870 in Fannin County Nancy C. Cox married T. C. Cox.

The family – minus the oldest daughter, Ann, who married Newt Taylor in Polk County, Tennessee in 1864 – moved to Fannin County, Texas where James W. farmed.

Caroline Hood Cox died 19 July 1879 in Fannin County and was buried in the Lindsey Cemetery at Randolph, Fannin County, Texas. Two of their sons, Robert L. and Rufas G. Cox are also buried there.

"Wick" remarried a Mrs. E. C. Smith on 13 May 1883 in Fannin County. He died on 2 October 1892 and was buried in the Lindsey Cemetery next to his first wife, Caroline Hood Cox.

Having left no will, the probate court settled his estate, which, after all debts and expenses were paid, amounted to $60.32. Debts included such things as $15.00 to Abr. Cox for cotton picking for a three week period, $4.00 for gathering corn 4 days, and $3.20 for groceries for the surviving wife.

Related Stories:

James K. Polk and Louisa M. Carter Cox.

John & Tabitha Amis Cox, James & Sarah Collins Cox.

Raymond Alvis and Stella J. Hill Cox.

Submitted by:

Jean Adelle Cox
(Great-Granddaughter of James Wilkerson and Caroline Hood Cox)
12204 Mosley Lane
Austin, TX 78727

John and Tabitha (AMIS) COX, James and Sarah (COLLINS) COX

Captain John Cox, Jr. was born March 28, 1758, in Baltimore County, MD. He came to what is now Hawkins Co., TN, and on July 20, 1784, he married Tabitha Amis, the eldest daughter of Thomas and Alice Gale Amis. The Cox family lived on a farm on the south side of the Holston River near present day Rogersville. John Cox died November 5, 1798, leaving a respectable fortune in land and slaves. Tabitha died February 13, 1832. Both are presumed to be buried in Hawkins Co.

James Cox, son of John and Tabitha Amis Cox, was born December 10, 1786 in Hawkins Co., TN. He married Miss Sarah "Sallie" Collins, December 17, 1806 on the Thomas Amis Farm. To them five sons and two daughters were born.

Early in life they moved first to Monroe County, then to McMinn Co., TN, where they reared their family in what was then a frontier country. James had a liberal education for his day, but none of his children enjoyed such a luxury, as schools were rare and poorly equipped in McMinn County.

In his early manhood, James was given to drinking too much whiskey at times. His oldest child, Mary Light, anxious lest her father become a confirmed drunkard, observed that he kept a jug of whiskey hidden under the leaves in the forest nearby. Thus, she determined to use a little strategy on him. Removing his jug, she placed a Bible in its stead. Upon going for his drink, James found the book, and was at first angry, then ashamed, then mortified! A few days later, he became a member of the Methodist Church and lived a simple unobtrusive religious life for the rest of his days.

In the latter years, James Cox lived with his son, Thomas, and family, and was bedridden. His daughter-in-law, Lauret Kight Cox and daughters saw to his needs with much devotion. The day before his death, a change came over James and the doctor was summoned, yet could find nothing except old age affecting him. That night James asked Lauret to sit by his bed, saying "The end is approaching, and I am going home in a few days. My own daughter could not have been better to me than you have." Then resting for a moment, he exclaimed, "Listen... do you hear the music? And look, there is Sallie and John Henry, and they are motioning me to come to them. Do you not see them?" Sallie was his wife and John Henry a son, both of whom had died many years before. On November 14, 1876, 26 days short of his 90th birthday, an old pioneer crossed over the river and joined hands with those he had longed for. James was buried by the side of his wife in the little country graveyard about a half mile from the Wesleyana Methodist Church, 7 miles south of Athens, TN.

In a word, James Cox, son of John and Tabitha Amis Cox, was a plain, hard working, American citizen, who paid his honest debts and lived in peace with his neighbors.

Related Stories:

Amis.

Thomas Amis.

Abraham & Susan Mountcastle Cox.

James Wilkerson and Caroline Hood Cox.

Thomas Edward and Laura Kight Cox.

Submitted by:

Wendy Jacobs
2327 Horseshoe Dr.
Alex., LA 71301

Raymond Alvis and Stella J. (HILL) COX

Raymond Alvis Cox, son of James Knox Polk Cox and Louisa Missouri Carter Cox, was born 5 September 1895 near Bertram in Burnet County, Texas. He married Stella Joanna Hill in Burnet County 29 March 1914. To them 2 sons and 3 daughters were born, all in Burnet County except the last daughter, who was born in Coleman County.

Their children were: Christy Mathewson, born 27 February 1915; Tyrus Raymond Cobb, born 28 March 1917; Mary Louise, born 20 May 1922 and died 2 September 1944; Olivia Elayne, born 7 November 1924 and died 21 October 1991; and Jean Adele, born 15 June 1926.

On 15 October 1938 in McCullough Co. Texas, Christy married Mildred O. Rels. On 30 January 1939 in Coleman County, Tyrus married Melba Inez Marrs. On 3 July 1942 in San Luis Obispo, California, Mary married Dwight Deering deWard. On 18 October 1942 in Harns County Texas, Olivia married Jack Wilson Magee. On 22 February 1946 in Bell County Texas, Jean married Melvin Stekoll. On 30 May 1959 in Galveston County Texas, Jean married Nils Jerry Wm. Rowland, who died 16 April 1988. On 11 May 1992 in Travis County Texas, Jean married Richard Allen Cox.

The children grew up on a farm 1 mile north of Talpa, Coleman County, Texas where Raymond farmed and raised livestock. He also served as County Commissioner from that precinct for six years. In 1947, Raymond and Stella were divorced, and Raymond married Vista Posey Courtney.

Raymond died in Coleman County on 14 October 1979. Stella died 4 August 1982 in Fannin County where she had been confined in a nursing home. They are both buried in the Talpa Cemetery, Coleman County, along with their oldest daughter, Mary Louise Cox deWard, and Stella's parents William Harvey Hill and Mary Melissa Crockett Hill.

Related Stories:

James Wilkerson, and Caroline Hood Cox.

James K. Polk, and Louisa M. Carter Cox.

Submitted by:

*Jean Adelle Cox
(Daughter of Raymond Alvis, and Stella Joanna Hill Cox)
12204 Mosley Lane
Austin, TX 78727*

Samuel COX

m/1 Barbary HAMMOND

m/2 Susannah CARR

According to family legend, my Cox ancestors originated in Ireland. They probably arrived here via the valleys of southwest Virginia. The earliest known Cox of my ancestry was Samuel, born circa 1808 in Virginia or Tennessee, depending upon the census you rely upon, and died after 1880, perhaps circa 1896.

About 1830 in Williamson County, Tennessee, Samuel was married first to Barbary Hammond. On 20 May 1878 in Hawkins County, Samuel was married second to Susannah Carr. Barbary was born circa 1808 in Virginia or Tennessee, depending upon the census, and likely died in the early to mid 1870's. They had nine children, all probably born and died in Hawkins County.

Susannah Carr was born circa 1836/39 in Tennessee. According to the 1880 Hawkins County census, prior to her marriage to Samuel Cox, she had six children, all believed to have the surname Ward. Samuel and Susannah had two children - Samuel (Chester Jr.)?, and Andrew Jackson.

Samuel Cox was a farmer, as were most of his sons. Few of them appeared to hold public office or own great plots of land or other wealth.

(1) Charles R. Cox, born ca. 1830/31 and died after 1880, married Elizabeth, surname unknown, born in Tennessee in 1824 and died after 1880. They had four children: Charles Cox (ca. 1857-1...); John Henry Cox (1858-1921) married Mollie Jane Housley, moved to Texas and had 7 children, all reached adulthood;

Mary A. Cox (1860-19..) married David Keirse and had 10 children, 7 reached adulthood; and Isaac E. Cox (1864-1934) married Alice Elizabeth C. Brice and had 7 children, 5 reached adulthood. Charles and Elizabeth also adopted Mary Ann Mayo (ca. 1874-1...).

(2) On 17 December 1871 in Hawkins County Emanuel R. Cox, born in 1832 and died after 1880, married Elizabeth, the daughter of Joseph U. and Sally Christian, born November 1847 in Tennessee and died after 1900. They had ten children: Sarah A/H Cox (ca. 1869-1...); George Washington Cox (1873-19..) married Allie M. Galloway and had at least 3 children; William A. Cox (1875-1...) married Elizabeth Anderson and had at least 3 children; Joseph W. Cox (ca. 1877-1...) married Isabella Templeton Christian and had 1 child; Samuel Rufas Cox (twin) (1878-1936) married Bessie Sherry, moved to Oregon and had 10 children, 8 reached adulthood; Mary Cox (twin) (1878-1...) died of a gunshot wound at a party; Elizabeth Frances "Betty" Cox (1880-1966) married Cyrus Knight Buckingham, lived in Oregon or Washington and had 2 sons, both reached adulthood; Cornelius "Neal" Cox (18..-19..) married Emma LaFrans, lived in Oregon and had 2 sons, 1 reached adulthood; Jinnie (1885-19..) whom we think married David Thompson and lived in Kingsport, TN; and Margie (1889-19..).

(3) Sarah Jane Cox, born 21 December 1835 and died 13 October 1916, had a son, Adam Anderson Cox (1858-1891) who married Sally Elvira Lane and had 4 children, 3 reached adulthood. On 31 March 1859 in Hawkins Co., Sarah Jane married Andrew Jack Walters, born ca. 1840 in Tennessee and died ca. 1865 of Civil War injuries. They had three children: Sarah Ann Walters (1860-1935) married Joseph Franklin Martin and had 1 daughter, who reached adulthood; Mary McKinney Walters (1862-1890); and Andrew Jack Walters (ca. 1865-19..) married Alice "Jonie" Barr and had 4 children, 2 reached adulthood.

(4) On 19 September 1863 in Hawkins County, Rachael Ann Cox, born on 26 February 1838 and died on 6 November 1889, married Baxter S. Rutledge, born 9 July 1843 in Virginia and died on 19 July 1902. See the Emanuel Rutledge story for their descendants.

(5) According to the 1900 Hawkins Co. census, ca. 1862 or 1863, but I believe a few years later, James Hiram "Jim" Cox, born 27 March 1840 and died 4 July 1913, married Mary W. "Polly" Rutledge, born 18 April 1849 in Virginia and died 26 June 1912. They had 13 children according to the 1900 Hawkins Co. Census. Those known were: William Samuel "Sam" Cox (1871-1930) married 1st Paralee Winegar and had no children, married 2nd Cordelia Victoria Elizabeth Collier and had 4 children, all reached adulthood; Emanuel Cox (ca. 1874-1...); John Robert "Riddleum" Cox (1875-1954) married 1st Ida Long and had 3 children, all reached adulthood. John married 2nd Lillie Bell Flanigan and had 15 children, 8 reached adulthood; Thomas Elbert "Tom" Cox (1878-1954) married Minnie Eliza Johnson, moved to Johnson City, TN and had 9 children, 8 reached adulthood; Charlie Richard Cox (1881-1947) married 1st Hattie Viola Gatewood and had 2 daughters, both reached adulthood, and Charlie married 2nd Laura Novella Mayo; James B. "Little Jim" Cox (1884-1913); Sarah Elizabeth "Betty" Cox (1887-1970) married Edward Lea Rutledge and had 3 children, 2 reached adulthood; Mary Lilly M. Cox (1889-1899); and Laura C. Cox (1889-1909/10) married Miller Blake Horn, and had 1 child that died as an infant. I think most or all of the others were born in the 1860's, and none lived until the subsequent census.

(6) Martin V. Cox, born ca. 1842/45 and died ca. 1899, never married.

(7) John M. Cox, born October 1844 and died ca. 1909, never married.

(8) On 2 October 1875 in Hawkins County, William T. Cox, born circa 1846/47 and died late 1870's, married Sarah Elizabeth, daughter of John and Patience Carter Poe, born 25 December 1858/59 in Scott County, Virginia. William and Sarah had a daughter named Adolia Cox (1876-1...), who may have married a Reid. On 2 November 1879 in Hawkins County, Sarah Elizabeth married John Bray; they lived into the 1900's and have children buried at Fudges Chapel in Hawkins County.

(9) Mary A. Cox, possibly born on 29 January 1849 is thought to have "gone west", likely the bluegrass country of Kentucky. The author knows nothing more about her.

According to a letter, Samuel and Susannah's eldest child was named Samuel Chester Cox, Jr., thus establishing the elder Samuel's name if naming conventions were carefully followed.

(10) On 14 January 1900 in Scott Co., VA, Samuel Chester, Jr., born on 13 February 1878 and died on 6 October 1954, married Pearl Patton, the daughter of James O'Brien and Amanda Tennessee "Mandy" Haynes Wininger, born 24 February, 1884 in Scott Co. and died 13 July 1962. They had five children: Lindsay Obrine "LO" Cox (1901-1975) married Mary Ellen Christian and had 6 children, all reached adulthood; Fred Patton "FP" Cox (1903-1987) married Londa Lou Barnett and had 6 children, 5 reached adulthood; Maurice Jackson Cox (1905-1992) married Goldie Lee Jenkins and had 3 children, 2 reached adulthood; Clinton Steven "C" Cox (1908-1930); and Edna Pearl Cox (1910-1975) who married Ervin Kelly Powers and had 3 children, all reached adulthood.

(11) On 2 August 1909 in Hawkins Co., Andrew Jackson "Jack" Cox, born June 1883 and died 28/29 May 1940, married Lydia Virginia, daughter of Clemens "Clem" and Mary L. Kerns Winegar, born 25 September 1892/93 in Virginia and died 3/4 July 1917. They had six children: Effie Cordella Cox (1910-1975) married 1st William Dee Thacker and had 2 children, 1 reached adulthood, and Effie married 2nd Fritz Austin McAmis and had 3 children, 2 reached adulthood; Myrtle Ethel Cox (191-19..) died as infant; Mary Delphia Cox (191-19..) died as infant; Bertha Lucinda Cox (1914-1915) died as infant; Richard Fred Cox (1916-1985) married Alva Lee Thacker and had 2 daughters, 1 reached adulthood; and an infant son (1917-1917).

Baxter S. and Mary W. Rutledge were children of Emanuel Rutledge and Sarah Kate "Sallie" Wilson.

James Hiram and Mary W. Rutledge Cox were my great-grandparents. My grandparents were their eldest known child, William Samuel "Sam" Cox, and Cordelia "Delia" Victoria Elizabeth Collier (1880-1967), the daughter of Aaron Judge (1848-1918) and Sarah Elizabeth Hooker Collier (1854-1920). I am the only child of Sam and Delia's daughter Rosa Ann Cox, and Theodore Frederic "Ted" Gardner (1907-1964), the son of Emerson Dailey "E.D." (1869-1953) and Mary Eliza Jones Gardner (1872-1911).

I wish to extend special thanks to each of the following, whose information on this and on all my other Cox family research has been most helpful, and greatly appreciated: Verna Opal Cox Bellamy, Londa Lou Barnett Cox, Blanche Mae Cox Smith, Paul and Ethel Laura Cox Stitt, and Lydia Estel Thacker Stokes, of Kingsport, TN; Mary Ann Cox Bureson, and John Critten and Mildred Sorenson Cox, of Johnson City, TN; Clarence Howard "Rank" and Nell Mayo Cox, Hugh Lee and Mae Cox, Hugh Everette and Inez Walters, of Surgoinsville, TN; Kelly and Frances Blizard Cox, Maurice Jackson Cox, Charles Edward Gonce, James Edward and Nina Reese Rutledge, and Alva Lee Thacker Cox of Church Hill, TN; Maggie Katherine Stewart Cox, of Fredericksburg, TX; Alberta Blanch Rutledge Jett, and Willie B. Bennett, Sr. of Knoxville, TN; Edward Franklin Keirseay of Strawberry Plains, TN; Lois Cox McAninch of Mayville, NY; Martha Lee Williams LaCasse, of Santa Fe, NM; Mary Katherine Cox Richardson, of Elizabethton, TN; and Audrey Cox Voelpohl, of Seattle, WA.

Related stories:

Joseph Bradford Amis.

My Ancestors - The Cox Family.

My Grandparents - Bennett, Keirseay, Vaughn, Spears.

My Parents - Bennett, Vaughn.

My Grandmother (Alsie Pilant) Talked To Me.

Colorado Bound, John Wesley, and Mary Jane (Rutledge) Pilant

Family Leaves Hawkins County.

The Rutledge Family and Hickory Cove Baptist Church.

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Sources:

Hawkins Co., TN Censuses

Family Bibles.

Personal interviews, and correspondence.

Submitted by:

*Darryl C. Gardner
(gg grandson of Samuel and Barbary)
Route 3, Box 3170
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Thomas Edward and Laura (KIGHT) COX

Thomas Edward Cox, the son of James and Sarah Collins Cox, was born January 9, 1818, in Hawkins County, TN. He was a small boy when his family moved to McMinn County and located on 80 acres south of Athens, TN. Being far away from any school, Thomas did not learn to read and write until he was about thirty-five years of age. Having established a home of his own, he was frequently embarrassed by this, and taking advantage of the fact that one of his hired hands did, received special lessons until he too had mastered the art.

In the year 1836, a call for volunteers to go to the aid of the destitute Texans at The Alamo came, and he and others mounted up and headed west. News came again after only one day on the road that General Santa Anna had surrendered, and the young patriots turned back for home. At 18 years of age, he became a volunteer in the expedition of the United States against the Indians in Florida and Georgia, serving under Capt. Moses Cunningham, in 1837-38.

The first years of his early manhood were largely spent in doing business with merchants of Alabama and Georgia. During his commercial efforts he went by flat boat to Mobile, Alabama a number of times, once commenting to family members that he was at Atlanta, GA. when there was nothing except a store, a post office and blacksmith shop.

On July 24, 1845, he married Lauret Maria Kight, daughter of Noah and Elizabeth Jackson Kight of Rome, GA., and lived and farmed in the area for a time.

A few years later, at the request of his parents, James and Sarah Collins Cox, he established his home near them in McMinn Co., TN.

Later, in order to care for his father and mother, Thomas moved his family into their home near Athens, TN., where they lived until after the death of his parents. It was on this farm that he passed through that awful period of the Civil War and the reconstruction days. Although he and his brother, James W. were intense sympathizers with the South, two of his brothers, Gale and John R. were Union men. And while the brothers never ceased to be friendly, yet Thomas was always more intimate with James who looked upon that struggle as he did. At the beginning of the Civil War, Thomas was prospering; he owned a good farm, plenty of stock and was debt free. But, before the reconstruction period was over, he had been reduced almost to abject poverty.

He had become anxious to move to Texas and would have sacrificed what was left of his property, but his father was too old and feeble to stand the move and hardship consequent to opening a farm in a new country; and wife, Lauret begged him not to "move to that wild frontier land." But he was never satisfied to stay away from Texas, and so after the death of his father in 1876, moved to Fannin Co., TX, and settled near Bonham. Unfortunately, Thomas was almost 60 years old by then, and physically incapable of starting over. He could do little more than secure a small home and give his family more than a sufficient amount to eat and wear.

The people in that part of Texas suffered very acutely from Malaria for the first ten years after the Cox family came. His health gradually became more and more impaired, until on May 11th, 1885, he died and was buried at the Lindsey Cemetery near Randolph, Fannin Co., TX.

Thomas Edward Cox, son of James and Sarah Collins Cox, and grandson of John and Tabitha Amis Cox, was best immortalized in the words of his wife, Lauret Kight Cox, who said, "Tom had serious faults, (Lauret opposed the use of alcohol, while Tom was antiprohibitionist), but he was strictly honest. During the forty years we lived together, I never knew him to tell a lie nor do a dishonest deed."

Related stories:

Abraham & Susan Elizabeth Mountcastl Cox.

John & Tabitha Amis Cox, James & Sarah Collins Cox.

Submitted by:

Wendy Jacobs
2327 Horseshoe Dr.
Alex., LA 71301

The Stephen Nelson CREECH and William Jesse CREECH Families

Stephen Nelson CREECH is shown as a direct descendant, generation by generation, from the Richard Critch (CREECH), aged 27, who sailed 4 July 1635 from Gravesend, England to James City County, Virginia in a work on the CREECH family by the late James CREECH, of Snow Hill, North Carolina. Richard reputedly was a Highland Scotsman.

Published ships passenger records attest to Richard's immigration and his indenture to William CARTER in Virginia. Documentation has been found in VA and NC early records to support many of James CREECH's findings.

Stephen N. CREECH and family came to Hawkins County circa 1838 from Lee County, Virginia and Harlan County, Kentucky. A son of Elijah (s/o John) and first wife Sarah (ANGLIN) CREECH, Stephen married Margaret Frances Elizabeth, d/o James HICKS (s/o Nathaniel and Jean SCOTT) and Lydia (maiden name unknown) in Lee County, VA 12 July 1832. Stephen was born 11 February 1809? and died 5 April 1893. Margaret was born on 9 March 1812 and died on 24 July 1885. Both died in Hawkins County. The family was Protestant Methodist.

Their 10 children are listed as follows: Sarah Eliza, married Hinchea GILLIAM; James Madison, married Eliza A. CLANCY; Lydia Malinda, married Reed PAYNE; Elijah Hicks, married Barbara Ann MOLS-BEE; John, never married; Amanda Catherine, married Stephen Ellis LANE; Andrew Jackson, never married; William Jesse, married Margaret Catherine, d/o David D. and Lucinda ANDERSON; Stephen N. Jr. married Sabina GILMORE; and Solomon Baughman, married Margaret Jane CHURCH.

William Jesse CREECH was born in Hawkins County 2 April 1847.

Afraid of being conscripted into the Confederate forces during the Civil War, Jesse (aged 16-1/2) "ran away" and was enrolled as a private in Company F (later Co. A) of the First Tennessee Light Artillery of the Union Army, Saturday 10 October 1863. He was discharged 3 August 1865, at Nashville, TN.

Margaret Catherine ANDERSON was born 1 April 1849. She and "Jesse" were married 8 March 1866 by her father, Rev. ANDERSON, with "about 200 people at the wedding."

Like his father, Jesse was a farmer. From war ravaged Tennessee, the family migrated to Kansas; then back to Tennessee, where several of the older children were born; back to Kansas in about 1878 for a brief sojourn; then on to York County, Nebraska; then to Howard County, NE; back to Kansas (1897-1899); up to South Dakota for a few years, and back to York County, where Margaret died 11 August 1907.

The following were their 12 children: Laura Ann, born 3 January 1867, lived only three weeks. Lucinda May, born 28 May 1868, married George Washington GROVER on 16 August 1889 at St. Paul, NE, died on 18 November 1940 at North Platte, NE, and is buried at Exeter, NE. Stephen Nelson, born on 30 October 1870, married Mary Saloan ALLEN 19 May 1894 in Robinson, KS, died 4 March 1944 at Bowmont, Idaho. William Clinton, born on 1 February 1873, married Bettie Jane ALLEN 5 May 1895, died 16 November 1868 in Falls City, NE. He is buried at Hiawatha, KS. David D., born on 1 August 1875, married Louise Matilda MILTNER on 20 December 1899, died 7 December 1964 in Grand Junction, Colorado. Albert Monroe, born on 23 May 1877, married Grace Margaret ROBINSON 5 June 1901, was killed by lightning on his 34th birthday, in 1911, near Ash Creek, South Dakota. James Garfield, born 30 December 1880 near Waco, NE, married Minnie May HOOK-STR 24 August 1910 in Savannah, NE, died 14 December 1958 in Bellwood, NE. Edward Winfield, born on 23 February 1883?, died 1 December 1883?

Jesse Blaine, born 25 October 1884, married Bertha CLARK on 11 June 1907. They were divorced. He married Frankie JACOBS on 4 January 1911. Alena Valetta Murrel, born 9 February 1887, married

George Elmer COCHRAN 18 February 1909, died in 1980 in Palisade, CO. Benjamin Roscoe, born 23 March 1891, married Fern Isabella McCLATCHEY 2 August 1919 in Aurora, NE, died 12 June 1969 in Lincoln, NE. Samuel Carl, born 15 September 1894, married Mary Ellen ("Mayme") McMAHON 29 November 1916, died 6 April 1969 in Aurora, NE.

William Jesse returned to Tennessee to marry Lucinda ANDERSON 18 July 1911. He died there, near Surgoinsville, 27 August 1914; she died 16 December 1933. Both are buried at Midway Church of the Brethren.

Related story:

The Third Generation, The David D. Anderson Family

Sources:

The late (Aunt) Minnie CREECH of Lincoln, NE.

The late (Mother) Mrs. Floyd (Iva) M. LONG of Lincoln and Exeter, NE.

The late (Aunt) Murrel Cochran of Grand Junction and Palisade, CO.

Mrs. Mary CREECH SHEETS of Abilene, KS.

Material compiled by the late James CREECH of Snow Hill, NC.

The late Jesse B. CREECH, Seiling, OK.

Mrs. Phyllis J. CARTER, Pontiac, IL.

Mrs. Patricia CREECH CASTLE, Independence, MO.

William Jesse CREECH's Civil War Declaration for a Pension Papers.

Published ships passenger and other early colonial records.

Stephen N. CREECH deeds in Harlan County, KY and Hawkins County, TN.

Lee County, VA marriage record for Stephen and Margaret CREECH, Bk. 1, 1830-1836.

Hawkins County, TN Census records: 1840, 1850, 1860, 1870 & 1880.

York County, NE Census records, 1880, p. 8; 11, Range 1 West.

The will of Stephen Nelson CREECH,

Hawkins County, TN, dated 26 October 1878.

EARLY SETTLERS OF LEE COUNTY, VIRGINIA AND ADJACENT COUNTIES, Vol. II, Bales, 1977.

Death Certificates for William J., Margaret C., and David D. CREECH.

Nebraska (Howard Co., Spring Creek & Logan Pct.) 1890 Special Veterans Census.

Submitted by:

Naomi Hopperstead
1224 Otto Blvd., #1
Chicago Heights, IL 60411

CREED Family

Matthew CREED was born about 1722 in Virginia, and married about 1749 in Caroline Co., Virginia to Margaret MCKINNEY. Margaret's father, in his will in 1751 in Orange Co., Virginia, named his son James MCKINNEY and his sons-in-law Matthew DAVIS, James BERRY, John CUDDING, John GOODALL, and Matthew CREED, executor.

Matthew CREED's estate was divided in 1799 in Surry County, North Carolina between his 6 daughters and 5 sons: Margaret CREED, Frances CREED married Henry HERRING; (dau.) married George HERRING; Jane married John DAVIS; Wineford married Fielding HERRING; Sarah married Thomas GORDON; Barlett married Sarah PHILIPS in Surry County in 1787; Colby married Susanna LAWRENCE and died in 1839 in Missouri; Oswald died in 1824 in Rhea Co., Tn.; Matthew; and my John CREED.

John CREED, born about 1752 in Orange Co., Virginia, married Rebecca SMITH. John died shortly after moving to Hawkins Co., Tennessee from Patrick Co., Virginia, leaving a son and 4 daughters: Wilson, Nancy Emily, Margaret, Elizabeth, and Catherine. Rebecca SMITH married 2nd to Hugh Gallahue MOORE in 1806.

Wilson was born 1793, and died about 1825 in Hawkins Co., Tn. In 1816 he married Lucinda STUBBLEFIELD (daughter of Wyatt and Sarah STUBBLEFIELD, she married (2) Thomas COCKE in 1847, and married (3) and Wilson HOWRY in 1862 and then divorced). Wilson and Lucinda had 3 children: William, Mary and Margaret Jane. William married (1) Tabitha G. TAYLOR, (2) Nancy WRIGHT, and he died in 1880 in Grayson, Co. Texas. Mary married Thomas REED, and she died in Hamblen Co., Tennessee. Margaret Jane married George W. MOORE, and she died in 1903 in Hawkins Co., Tn.

Two of John and Rebecca (SMITH) CREED's daughters married their stepfather's (Hugh Gallahue MOORE's) brothers. Nancy Emily, born 1797, married Ewell MOORE in 1812, and died in Polk Co., Missouri. Margaret, born in 1798, married Cleon MOORE, and died in 1845 in Mooresburg, Hawkins Co., Tn.

Elizabeth, John and Rebecca's third daughter, born in 1800, married John HENSON, and died in Kentucky.

The youngest daughter, my Catherine, was born in 1803 in Hawkins Co., Tn. She married my Willie Blount KYLE, grandson of Robert and Leah (Brooks) KYLE, and died in 1868 in Monroe Co., Mississippi.

Six known of Catherine and Willie's ten children who were born in Hawkins County, Tn. were: Talbot, married (1) Charlotte MUNSON in 1842 in Alabama, and (2) Mary Catherine HOLLIDAY, and died in 1887 in Monroe Co., Mississippi; Matilda married Mr. MCAFFEE; Mary Catherine, married John HUBBARD in 1850 in Mississippi and died in 1910 in Texas; Eliza married Elizjah Alexander MURPHY in 1852 in Mississippi; Claiborne died in 1857 at the age of 22 when he fell off a horse in Hays County, Texas; and my Felix KYLE.

Willie Blount KYLE had been a farmer and a justice of peace while living in Hawkins Co., Tn. Shortly before his death moved with his family to Franklin Co., Alabama or Chicasaw/ Monroe Counties, Mississippi areas where he died in 1850.

My great grandfather was Felix KYLE, born 1829 in Hawkins County, Tn. and died 1902 in Caldwell Co., Texas. He married (1) Emma BURLESON, and (2) my great grandmother, Martha W. KYSER, in 1861 in Hays County, Texas. Martha was the daughter of William (son of George KYSER of South Carolina and Alabama) and Elizabeth (daughter of George and Caroline (Worsham) ROGERS of Georgia).

Related stories:

Kyle family.

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

Rodham Moore Family.

Sources:

Wills, deeds, cemetery, & census Hawkins Co, TN.

Creed Family Newsletter.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. April Kyle Bladh
11033 Trudie Ave.
Whittier, CA 90604*

George Ross CRITHFIELD

George Ross CRITHFIELD was born 26 December 1922 and died on 6 December 1984. George's great grandmother was Catherine Wineman. She was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

George the boy was fascinated with cars. He could barely see out the window as he sat in the back seat of the family Buick, and called out the brands of all the passing cars. He collected pictures which he pasted in old telephone books. He worked on cars, he talked about cars and drew cars. He had a talent for drawing caricatures also. Keeping him in school which he hated was a task his mother Emma finally gave up on when he reached the eleventh grade. He would rather chop wood at home than sit in school.

George the man was called into the Army for WW2 stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland as a technical sergeant. When it came time to go overseas, he was in the hospital for an operation, and his buddies left without him. When the war was over, he went home to Oakland, California.

George had four children, Donna Jeanne by his first wife Jeanne, and with his third wife he had two sons, George Ross (b. 25 June 1955) and Steven (b. 14 November 1958), and daughter Valerie (b. 27 July 1956). George Ross, his oldest son became a master mechanic. Steven is in the beauty business in Brentwood, CA. He had five grandchildren.

His daughter Valerie and granddaughter Jennifer (b. 25 April 1973) lived with him and shared his interest in the auto events taking part in them as judge, scorekeeper, runner, secretary, etc.

In the late 1940's he wanted to show the country to his Australian wife (#2) Joyce, so he rigged a small trailer with paint spray equipment behind his car, and they, with step daughter Darrielle, travelled across the country stopping at car lots to paint cars in exchange for travelling money. They covered much of the country, going from California to Florida and New York visiting relatives and sightseeing.

Cars were his passion. As a youth he learned every phase of the automobile business, sell, build, repair, paint, body work - he had no problem staying in these schools. He went in and out of business several times. The last fourteen years of his life he had a car dealership called "CRITHFIELD'S AUTO WAREHOUSE" in Alameda, CA. It was from that warehouse that he supplied the local police with cars for "stakeouts." The people with whom he dealt respected him; he was an Elk, Mason, Navy League, and Chamber of Commerce member.

Like his father (Henry HAUEISE CRITHFIELD), he had a sense of humor that was contagious, outrageous, and imaginative with a unique vocabulary to go with it. His stories were usually from personal experiences with people he had encountered in his professional and personal life. He was 5'-10", broad shouldered, and slender in his early years. His eyes were blue, his hair was brown, and he had a ruddy complexion. Never religious himself, he had faith in his mother's prayers. And faith in his own abilities.

He was an authority on classic cars, with a collection of three Jaguars, two Corvettes, and a Ferrari. He was a judge for Sports Car Club of America classic car events. He also took part in auto races and concours d'elegance competitions.

A story that he told on himself was the time he was in his Ferrari as "lead car" for a race. The time came for him to get off the track. He had a wild impulse to stay in the race, and did! He couldn't stop himself. He raced that car even though the motor burned out, "It was worth it" he said. He lived life to the hilt with great energy and zest.

Heart disease runs in this family*, and he did not escape. He had a history of problems. His doctor told him an operation might be necessary, but George didn't want it, for he "felt like a young man living in an old man's body" and he was getting tired.

*When he was 61 in 1984, he went to work feeling well, but collapsed at the wheel of his Cadillac, easing over to the curb at about five miles an hour, he died before the ambulance and police could help him.

*In 1887, great-great-great grandmother Cynthia Pace Wineinger collapsed in her horse drawn buggy and died of a heart attack by the side of the road where a neighbor found her.

Related story:

Henry Haueise Crithfield

Sources:

Recollections.

Obituary.

Letters.

Family lore.

Submitted by:

*Donna Crithfield Thomassen
HCO 3 Box 75
Dripping Springs, TX 78628*

Henry HAUEISE/CRITHFIELD

Henry HAUEISE CRITHFIELD's grandmother was Catherine Wineman. She was born in Hawkins Co., Tennessee.

Henry HAUEISE CRITHFIELD was six feet tall, had wide shoulders and a broad chest. Dark hair and grey blue eyes, with a wonderful sense of humor, with a talent for telling stories that would bring tears of laughter to those around him. He walked with a straight back, wearing his sergeant's uniform proudly. Forced to wear tight "issue shoes" he had to have two toes removed when gangrene set in so he walked with a rolling gait. He had the restless energy of an adventurer. Though he was not a religious man, he was compassionate to those who were in trouble. He knew what it was to be alone, lonely, and hurting.

Henry's parents were Melissa HAUSE, b. 1854, and Henry HAUEISE, a potter from Germany. Melissa was the daughter of Benjimen HAUSE and Catherine WIN-EINGER EVANS HAUSE. Their three living children were: Edna b. 1883, Phillip b. 1886, and Henry b. 1889. They lived in Brookfield, Missouri.

Melissa died in 1892. Henry senior, aged 63, put the children up for adoption. Edna was adopted by EATON's, Phillip went to live with "the meanest man God put on this earth." Henry was adopted by "a dear English couple," Mary and George Ross CRITHFIELD who had no children.

Little Henry was in the 1900 federal census as "the ten year old adopted son of Mary and George Ross CRITHFIELD, in school. Neither George or Mary lived to be in the next census. Henry was orphaned again.

Senior Henry, after a stormy second marriage and divorce, went to Tioga IL (fed. cen. 1900) to live until he died of "chronic rheumatism" in 1906, he was buried in the "old Tioga cemetery", among other HAUEISE's, and a Lillie HAUEISE THORPE. Tioga, IL is in Hancock County, due east of Brookfield, MO, just across the Mississippi River.

Phillip had run away to find him and learned the carpentry trade. One day Phillip appeared at the home of Edna and her husband Charlie Brokaw, needing money to pay for burial expenses as the authorities held his tools until the bill was paid. Edna wrote "Those Rats! How could the poor kid earn the money if he didn't have his tools?" He left with the money and returned with tools, and Henry now 16, learned to paint and wallpaper. They worked together.

Henry CRITHFIELD was young but "man sized" when he enlisted in the Army that became his "safety net." He enlisted for short "hitches" and between them he worked with the circus and motion pictures as a stand-in, and an extra. He was proud to have met Sid Chaplin and Kay Frances of the early movies, and the famous people in the circus era.

He served under "Blackjack" PERSHING in 1916 and 1917 on the New Mexican border chasing Pancho Villa back into Mexico. When the U.S. sent troops to Europe, Henry fought in the Argonne Forest where he was wounded by shrapnel that killed the young soldier in the trench beside him.

He met Emma KLEINE on Angel Island in the bay of San Francisco, California. They married in 1920 after he was honorably discharged.

World War I veterans came home to a faltering economy that became a terrible depression. After a business failure he worked at jobs that were available and was glad to do it. His wife Emma KLEINE, a widow had a daughter Muriel Goforth, and within six years (1921-1927) they had four children: Doris Anna, George Ross, Donna Bernice, and Barbara Joyce. The marriage lasted fifteen years, ending in divorce. Alone, and jobless, Henry attempted to take his life by shooting himself twice in the chest, but missing the mark, he decided to live. He lost his wife whom he adored and his children, not to death this time, but to alcohol, death of another kind.

He would drop out of his family's life, then show up unexpectedly. Where was his safety net now? It became the Veterans Hospitals. He was a survivor, and made the system work for him. The pattern of his early life was repeated in his last years. He died in Camp Roberts, CA, in April 1942, was buried in a plain army uniform he was proud to wear. His large body was pressed into a regulation wooden casket that was too small and lies in the military cemetery in beautiful San Luis Obispo County California.

Related Stories:

George Ross Crithfield.

Melissa Hause Haueise.

Sources:

Linn Co., Missouri Courthouse.

Letter from family member.

Military archives St. Louis, MO.

Personal Recollections.

Death Certificates.

Newspapers.

Submitted by:

*Donna Crithfield Thomassen
HCO 3 Box 75
Dripping Springs, TX 78628*

Samuel and Jane (GRAY) CURRY

Samuel Curry was born in Tennessee, probably Hawkins County, on 6 January 1821. On 13 April 1848, Samuel Curry married Jane Gray in Hawkins County. The identity of Samuel's father is unknown. On the 1830 Hawkins County Census, several Curry families had sons in Samuel's age bracket. The 1880 Cherokee County, Texas census revealed his parents were born in Virginia.

It is known that a Samuel Curry and a Mary Seawright married in Augusta County, Virginia, and moved into Hawkins County by 1786. It is assumed that Samuel Curry, born in 1821, is a descendant, of the first Samuel Curry.

Jane Gray was born 28 May 1832, in Hawkins County. She was the daughter of William Gray and Peggy Christian. Peggy Christian was the daughter of Lewis Christian and Peggy (Felkner?) Christian.

Samuel and Jane (Gray) Curry left Hawkins County, and travelled to Stoddard County, Missouri, to visit relatives. Descendants of Samuel and Jane Curry knew they had come to Texas from Stoddard County, Missouri.

When Samuel and Jane Curry arrived in Texas, they settled in Gilmer, Upshur County, where they appeared on the 1850 Federal Census. About 1858 they moved to Wise County, Va. where they appeared on the 1860 Federal census. Around 1867, Samuel and Jane moved to East Texas to Smith County.

Between 20 February 1850 and 31 July 1869, Samuel and Jane Curry had ten children: Francis Marion, George Rutledge, Elizabeth Ann, William Thomas, Samuel Houston, Charles, Lucinda Gray, Schuyler, Martha Jane, and Cora. Jane (Gray) Curry died in childbirth on 31 July 1869 at Etna, Smith County.

On 24 March 1870, in Smith County,

Samuel Curry married Mrs. Serena Martin (Thompson) Roddy, widow of Ephraim Benson Roddy. She had five children by Mr. Roddy, one of which was Mary Jane. On the 1870 Smith County Federal Census, Samuel and Serena Curry were enumerated. They were on the 1880 Cherokee County Census.

Four children were born to Samuel and Serena Curry: Ida, Alice, Henry Allen, and Minerva Navada. Samuel Curry died about 1880, in Larissa, Cherokee County. Serena was born 4 May 1836, in Aberteen, Monroe County, Mississippi, to Stephen and Eliza (Gholson) Thompson. Serena died 16 May 1933, in Austin. She is buried in Mixon Cemetery, Mixon.

William Thomas Curry, son of Samuel and Jane (Gray) Curry, married Mary Jane Roddy, daughter of Ephraim Benson and Serena (Thompson) Roddy, on 24 November 1875. William and Mary had been teenagers when his father married her mother. William and Mary had four sons, but only one lived, Emery Norman Curry, who was born 19 May 1879, at Mixon, Cherokee County. Mary Jane died on 9 February 1883, and is buried in the Mixon Cemetery.

William Thomas next married Sarah Frances Galloway about 1889. They had four children: Oscar Coleman, Birdie Ione, Lottah Jane, and Arvie Estelle. They moved to Houston County. William Thomas died on 28 November 1905, and Sarah Frances died 24 September 1907.

Emery Norman Curry, son of William and Mary Curry, was my grandfather. He was born 19 May 1879, in Mixon, Cherokee County. On 12 November 1899, Norman Curry married Mittie Rebecca McDougald. She was born 12 May 1879, in Houston County to Jabez H. and Sarah (Douglass) McDougald. Norman and Mittie had ten children: William Hill, Leatha Beatrice, Schuyler Wallace, Madge Lou, Harold Lee, Jack, Hazel, Oleta, Z. X., Charlie, and Emery Russell. Norman died 6 January 1952. Mittie died 17 January 1965. Both are buried in Austin.

William Hill Curry, was born 15 October 1900, at Creek, Houston Co. He married Flora Lee Ethridge 24 April 1926 in Austin. Flora was born on 11 August 1906, in Kyle, to Allen Burgess and Tennie (Crenshaw) Ethridge. William Hill "Bill"

Curry died 14 April 1977 in Dallas, and is buried in Laurel Land Cemetery. Bill and Flora had one daughter, Billie Margaret Curry, who was born 26 July 1927 in Austin. She married James Thomas Steeley 14 January 1945, in Arlington, the son of Albert Lee and Mary Elizabeth (Bodine) Steeley. James was born 17 July 1924 in Arlington. Billie and James had two daughters: Pamela Carol, born 17 July 1949 in Forth Worth, and Karen Renee, born 7 October 1953 in Abilene.

Samuel Curry had many descendants, most of whom lived in Texas.

Related stories:

Lewis Christian.

The Lewis Christian Family.

William Gray.

Submitted by:

*Billie Curry Steeley
3017 W. Eleventh St.
Irving, TX 75060*

Early DALTONS on Beech Creek

The late eighteenth century was a time when many families – often large extended families of the spouses and children of many brothers and sisters – left their homes to the east to refound their family legacy anew in northeastern Tennessee. The Daltons of Beech Creek were an aberration to this pattern.¹ Between 1790 and 1860 at least three separate migrations brought Daltons to Hawkins County. Although Daltons lived on Beech Creek for many generations down through our current era, the dominant pattern during the early 1800s was for the Daltons to renew their migratory journey, leaving Beech Creek for the West.

Timothy was the first of a number of Daltons who migrated into the Beech Creek Valley during this era.² He arrived on Horse Creek in Sullivan County, Tennessee, before 1796 (Sullivan County tax lists, 1796, 1797). We cannot document from where or when he came to Tennessee, the sparse records from that time do not permit a sure answer. But he most likely left Pittsylvania County, Virginia, for Tennessee in 1788, since a Timothy his age is listed in the 1787 tax lists in that county for the last time. Nor do we know if other Daltons accompanied him to Horse Creek, but if they did they left no tax or deed records that we have today. Timothy bought his first land in Hawkins County in 1804 when he purchased 100 acres on Beech Creek from Alexander Outlaw (Hawkins Deeds 4:109). The Bernards (often spelled Barnard), Lights, Mullins, Morelocks (often spelled Mohrlock), Morrisons, and Dykes lived near each other on upper Beech Creek, witnessed each other's legal documents, and intermarried.

The only member of the second generation of Daltons that we can document as a child of Timothy is probably his youngest – Timothy, Jr. The death register for Lee County, Virginia, which records Timothy, Jr.'s death in 1870, indicates he was born in 1803 on Beech Creek, that his father was Timothy and his mother was Sarah. Timothy, Jr., was married to Sussannah Kelly at his death, but we are not certain if this is his first or a subsequent wife. We believe from the 1830 census of Hawkins County that he was married before 1830. Timothy, Jr., moved to Lee County in the 1830s, probably after the death of his father.

The oldest of the second generation of Daltons was probably Fanny Dalton who married Reuben Bernard about 1801. She was born in the 1780s, and may have been either Timothy's oldest daughter or his sister. Reuben was close to the Daltons on Beech Creek. He witnessed Timothy Dalton's first land purchase in Hawkins County, and many others afterwards. The older woman living with her son George Bernard in the 1840 census is probably Fanny.

Thomas Dalton was born in the 1780s or 1790s. He married Dorothy (Dolly) Light, probably around 1815 or 1816. He purchased his first land in 1816 from Vachel Light (Hawkins County Deeds 8:9-11), who may have been his father-in-law. Thomas died before the 1830 census, probably after the birth of his youngest son in 1825. Dolly lived on the land Thomas had acquired on Beech Creek until her children were grown. In 1850, she and the children sold the land (Hawkins Deeds 21:132-33), and she moved west to Phelps County, Missouri, with several of her children. She died there in 1863. Thomas and Dolly's oldest son, Peter, was born in 1817 on Beech Creek. He married Ann Dykes around 1837 and died on Beech Creek in 1883 (Hawkins County Cemetery Records), Bernard Cemetery). Their daughter Elizabeth Dalton was born on Beech Creek in 1818. She married Francis Wright and moved with him and other members of the Dalton and Light family to Leclde County, Missouri, where she died in 1897. Their daughter Sally Dalton was born in the 1810s. She married John Morelock. Margaret Dalton is probably the youngest of Thomas and Dolly's daughters. She was unmarried when the family sold its land in 1850, and may or may not be the Margaret Dalton who married Wesley Bernard in 1862 on Beech Creek. Simon Dalton was the youngest of Thomas and Dolly's children. He was born in 1825 on Beech Creek. He was the first of the family to leave for Missouri in 1849. In 1850, he is living with Samuel Light in Pulaski County, Missouri, and approves the sale of the family land in Hawkins County with a power of attorney to John Ball. He became a leading citizen of Leclde County, Missouri, famous for his support of public education, and died in 1900.

John Dalton was born on Beech Creek in 1801. He married Patience Light around 1822 on Beech Creek. His first recorded land deal was in 1837 when he received a land grant for his sugar camp on Chimney Top Mountain. We know, however, that he had land earlier. He sells an additional 44 acre tract when he leaves Beech Creek in 1846 (Hawkins Deeds 21:300), and this is probably the tract on the tax lists in 1836 and 1837. John was a cooper by trade. His and Patience's children were born and raised on Beech Creek before they moved west to Lee County, Iowa, in 1846. He died in Clark County, Missouri, in 1872, and Patience died three years later. John and Patience's oldest son, Riley, was born on Beech Creek in 1824. He moved west with his parents in 1846. He went west to the Gold Rush in California in the 1850s, returned to Iowa as poor as when he left, married, and moved to the frontier in Bourbon (now Crawford) County, Kansas, in 1858. There he fought in the Civil War and raised a large family, dying in 1891. John and Patience's oldest daughter, Elsira, was born in 1827. She married Wright Mullins about 1845. When the rest of her family moved west, she and Wright remained in Tennessee where Wright fought in the Civil War, perhaps for both sides. She died on Beech Creek in 1897 and was buried in the Dykes family cemetery (Hawkins Cemetery Records). Judea Dalton was born in 1830 and moved west with the family, married William Gardner, raised her family, and died in Scotland County, Missouri. Berry Dalton was born in 1834, moved west, went to California with Riley and is believed to have died on the trip. Jonathan Dalton, born in 1837, and Samuel Lee Dalton, born in 1840, were the youngest of John and Patience's children, moved west with them at a young age, and lived in southeastern Iowa.

Lewis Dalton was in Hawkins County by 1824 when he received a land grant for 50 acres next to Jacob Light on Beech Creek (Hawkins Co. Land Grant #176). Lewis was born in the 1780s, probably in 1785. He may have been the oldest son of Timothy or may have come to Hawkins County with a second wave of Dalton migration in the 1810s or 1820s. He married Anna Morrison, a daughter of James Morrison. He had five children, at least four of them daughters, all of whom had died or left Hawkins County by the mid 1850s. Lewis and Anna also died by that time.

Sometime in the 1810s or 1820s, James and Agatha Dalton migrated to Hawkins County.³ We believe that they are James Dalton and Agatha Patterson, married in 1791 in Pittsylvania Co., Virginia. If the 1850 census was accurate, James was born about 1769 and Aggy about 1770.⁴ We know little about James and Agatha's time in Hawkins County. There is no record that James ever owned land. He may have been a Baptist preacher, but we are not certain.⁵ By 1860, Aggy is gone from the census. James is listed as 110 (although the age is probably wrong), and the census taker has listed under occupation "a very old man."

The only son that we can document as James and Aggy's is John Dalton who appears in the 1830 census and the 1836 and 1837 tax lists of Hawkins County. John did not own land and had died or left Hawkins County by 1840 (census). There are others in the neighborhood that we believe are children of James and Aggy. Booker Dalton was born about 1815. He first appears on the tax lists in 1836 and does not appear in the 1840 census (although he may be living with James and Aggy or may have been the husband of the widow Sally Dalton, listed in the 1840 census). We have no record he ever owned land in Hawkins County. William Dalton was born about 1813, in Tennessee according to the 1850 census. His wife's name was Sarah, and they were married about 1835. William appears in the census in 1840, and of all of the older Daltons only James has a son his age in 1830. William died in the 1850s. Elizabeth Dalton marries James Jackson in 1839. William Dalton is the surety for the marriage bond, so she may have been William's sister.

Two other Dalton women, Mary and Fanny, married William Morrison. Mary married William in 1821. She had two children before she died in 1827. In 1829, William married Fanny. These two women may or may not have been sisters, and may have come with James if he arrived on Beech Creek before 1821.

There was a third wave of migration of Daltons to Beech Creek before 1850. In the 1850 census are James S. Dalton, born in 1794 in Virginia and married to Mary, and John Dalton, born in 1795 also in Virginia and married to Phoebe. Although James S. could have been a son of James who stayed behind in Pittsylvania County and joined his father after his migration, more likely these represent a third distinct migration. Neither is present in the 1860 census. Washington Dalton, born in Virginia around 1820, is also listed in the 1850 census of Beech Creek Valley. The census gives his occupation as Lawyer. He and his wife Mary were absent from the 1860 census and we have no further record of them.

By the 1860 census, only Peter (son of Thomas and Dolly Light Dalton), James, and Sarah (widow of William Dalton), carry the Dalton name on Beech Creek. The descendants of Peter and William and the Dalton daughters lived on Beech Creek into the present generation. But the dominant wanderings of the Daltons into and out of Hawkins County in the early 1800s illustrate one pattern that characterizes Hawkins County's role in the settlement of America. They came to a beautiful valley, built farms that supported the raising of a large family, then moved on to new dreams and new circumstances further down the line of western migration.

Related story:

Flower Mullins

Sources:

Hawkins County TN Deeds.

Hawkins County TN Marriage Records.

Cemetery Records of Hawkins County (TN).

Sullivan County TN Tax Lists, 1796, 1797.

Pittsylvania County VA Tax Lists, 1787, 1788.

Pittsylvania County Marriage Records.

Death Register, Lee County VA 1870.

U.S. Census, Hawkins County TN, 1830, 1840, 1850, 1860.

U.S. Census, Pulaski County, MO 1850.

Civil War Pension Record, Wright Mullins, National Archives, Washington, D.C.

Business Records of Samuel Calland, University of Virginia Alderson Library, Special Collections.

Roy Bernard.

Maxine Kincheloe.

History of Leclde County (MO).

Henry Dalton.

Standlee Dalton.

John M. Bernard.

Stanley Dee Pruitt.

Nancy B. Samuelson.

Notes

1. The Daltons of Beech Creek seem to be part of a migration separate from the Daltons on the opposite side of Hawkins County (ed: Mooreburg area). The former probably migrated to the Hawkins-Sullivan County line from Pittsylvania County, Virginia. The latter came to the Hawkins-Grainger County line from Grayson (now Carroll) County, Virginia, and were descendants of Reuben and William Dalton.

2. The Hawkins County deeds contain a 1793 deed for a Richard Dutton or Dulton (Hawkins Deeds 2:142). No further evidence has been found, however, for a Richard Dalton in Virginia, North Carolina, or Tennessee at this time or afterwards. Since this deed book was recopied in the nineteenth century from the original deed book, the most probable explanation is that this deed is in error, or that the name is Dutton.

3. The scarce records from the 1810s and 1820s in Hawkins County make it impossible to fix a date for James' migration. In addition, there are several James Daltons in Pittsylvania County, Virginia, who disappear from tax lists at this time. William Dalton indicates in the 1850 Hawkins County census that he was born in Tennessee. If this is so, and if William is James' son, James and Aggy came to Hawkins County before 1813. However, the most likely of the Pittsylvania James Daltons is listed in the 1820 Pittsylvania County census, so the date remains clouded.

4. The 1850 census lists both as born in Tennessee, but this is almost certainly an error. The child credited with being the first born in Tennessee was a child of William Bean born in Carter's Valley in 1769. In addition, we can find no record of James in Tennessee prior to the 1830 census, and we have no evidence of any Daltons in Tennessee earlier than Timothy. James is Timothy's contemporary rather than a son.

5. James and Agatha were befriended by a Baptist minister, Nathan Thurman, in Pittsylvania County. During the rough economic times of the 1790s, Thurman paid their debt at the Calland Store. Common practice at the time was for an older minister to provide such support for a younger man called to the ministry.

Submitted by:

*James F. Klumpp
1457 Casino Circle
Silver Springs, MD 20906*

The Family of Geneva Adaline DAUGHERTY

The earliest known member of the Daugherty family in East Tennessee came from Scott County, Virginia. The Daugherty family lived mostly around the area near the Hawkins/ Scott County line.

William Andrew Daugherty was born in Virginia around 1824. He married Mary Sarah Fletcher, 3 June 1845 in Hawkins County. She was born at Opposum Creek, Virginia. In the 1850 Virginia census her age is listed as 25. Their children were: James, Hannah, Nancy E., and John Walter.

John Walter Daugherty, son of William Andrew and Mary Sarah Daugherty, married on 19 February 1873 in Scott Co. to Lucinda Bradshaw. Lucinda was born in Scott Co. in 1843. She was the daughter of Nancy (Haynes) and William Bradshaw.

John Walter and Lucinda had six children: William Milburn married Ester J. Hunley; Sally married Albert Barton; Annie Bell married Enoch Elijah Hunley; Nanna married Rice Crawford; James Henry married May Neoma Hunley; and Geneva Adaline married Dee Hunley.

John Walter Daugherty died around 1889 in Scott Co., and was buried in an unmarked grave in the Haynes Cemetery, Yuma, VA. After the death of John Walter, his wife Lucinda came to Keplar in Hawkins Co. The date of Lucinda's death is not known, but she died before 1907.

Geneva Adaline Daugherty, daughter of John Walter and Lucinda Daugherty, was born 11 February 1886 in Scott Co., VA. She married Franklin Dee Wolfe (Dee) Hunley on 18 May 1907. Dee, son of James and Mary Hundley, was born 13 January 1884 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Geneva and Dee had ten children - eight girls and twin boys: Viola Ruth, married Lawrence Archer; Opal Julia married Clifford Greer; Hale married Helen Hayes; Dale married Myrtle Dykes; Gladys Edna married James Carson Tilson; Etta Lee married Johnny Rufas Hayes; Ressie Evalene married Noah David Britton, Jr.; Ruby Ileene married J. Frederick Russell; Helen Marie married George W. Davis, Jr.; and Jodie Bernice married Roy W. Trent, Jr.

Geneva died in 1950; Dee died in 1959; both are buried in the Jake Jones Cemetery, Hawkins Co.

Related Story:

The Family of James Hundley

Submitted by:

*Jodie Hunley Trent
P.O. Box 296
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Thomas DAVIS Family

Thomas Davis, born 1831, died 1903, was the son of William and Mary Larkin Davis. Thomas married his first wife, Nancy Rowland daughter of Nathan G. and Mary Rowland, on August 24, 1859. Their children were: Ellen, Maggie, Nannie, Fannie, and William Mack.

Ellen Davis married Mark Cloud and had a son George.

Maggie Davis, born 1866, never married.

Nannie Davis, born 1868, married Conrad "Coon" Whetsel and had children: Flora, Grace, Carson, Dwight, Johnny, Raymond, and Annie.

Fannie Davis (1871-1912), married to Davis Ward (1871-1954), and had children: Nellie (1890-1972) married John Sutton (1877-1954); Mary Bessie (1892-1985), married Frank Barton (1889-1946); Steve (1894-1959), married Rose Ann Densmore (ca. 1907-1986); Carl (1896-); Tom (1898-); Henry F. Torres, married Lou Armstrong; Maude Etter (1901-1981), married Joe Barton (1899-); Bertha A.; Naph; James Conner, married Mary Kate Jones; and Simon married Eliza Alley.

William Mack Davis, born 1873, died 1950, married Frances Derrick, and had children: Mary, Maggie Lou, William Mack, and Carrie.

Mary Davis married John Dykes, and had children: Virgie, Robert, Rily, J. E., Paul, Grace, Mary Louise, Dewolfe, and Raymond.

Maggie Lou Davis married G. E. Snapp, and had children: Charles Dewolfe, and Claude.

William Mack Davis, Jr. married Helen Brown, and had children: Mary Frances, JoAnne, McGhee, and Janie.

Nancy Rowland Davis died in 1875, and Thomas married to Sarah "Sallie" L. Rose, born 1858 and died 1939, the daughter of Solomon T. and Martha Smith Rose, married April 12, 1877. The children of Thomas and Sallie were: John, Martha, Robert, Genian, Carrie, James M., Edgar, Elizabeth, Frank, and Ida Josephine.

John Davis (1878-1965) lived in Weiser, Idaho and had a daughter Helen.

Martha Davis (1880-), married Ake Boyd, and had children: Johnny, and Alfred, lived in St. Joseph, Mo.

Robert "Thomp" Davis (1881-) married first to a Dickerson, and had children: Jack (1907-1974), married Nettie Boyd; and Noah. Robert married second Myrtle Conant, and had children: Sally Lou, and Billy.

Genian Davis (1885-1922) married Joe Mellons, and had children: Lilly, married Joe Bradshaw; Maxine; Kelly, married Thelma Hoover; and John W. "Bud", married Pearl Moore.

Carrie Davis (1886-1951), married George Byington (1882-1939), and had children: Mary, married Worley Clifton; Bud; Lester; Robert; Sally; Tillie; Ethel, married Red McClain; Ida; Margaret; Lilly; Claude; Bill; George; James; and Johnny.

James M. Davis (1888-1970), married Maude Anderson, lived in Missouri and had children: Julia Laverne, married Joe Gardner; Evelyn, married McGuire; James L.; Ella Mae, married a Crowe; Bessie, married a Kellar; and Martin Thomas, died 1970.

Edgar Davis (1890-1962), married Gertrude Fletcher, and lived in Weiser, Idaho, and had children: Frank, lives in Oregon; Jim, lives in Weiser, Idaho; and George, lives in Weiser, Idaho.

Elizabeth "Lizzie" Davis (1892-1985), married Joe Jones, and had children: Paul (1913-1978), married a Calton; Ruth, married a Calton; Ruby; Frankie, married Roy Bernard; Jim; and Robert.

Frank Davis (1896-), missing in action in World War I.

Ida Josephine Davis (1896-1956), married Oscar Leroy Monroe (1890-1969) on April 13, 1911, and had children: Ella Mae (1912), married Neil Herron; Alberta (1914), married Marion Byington; Cornelia "Cornie" (1916) married Frank Taylor; Annalou (1918-1919); Oscar Franklin (1920), married Ada Hankal; John Paul (1922), married Sarah Head; Lou Ethel (1925) married Ralph Surcey; Edna (1928), married Emory Edwards; Margaret (1930-1969), married Ralph Peak; Helen (1932), married Ed Emingholz; Doris (1934), married John Johnson; Geneva (1936), married Bert Cobb; and James Winifred (1939), married Jean Moore.

Thomas Davis had 15 children. He was a farmer and owned 500 acres of land at one time. He died at age 72 in 1903, leaving his widow, Sally, with 7 minor children. He is buried beside Nancy K. Davis in Wills Cemetery. Sally Davis died in 1939, and is buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery.

Related Story:

John Franklin Monroe

Sources:

Family Records.

Census Records.

Maggie Lou Snapp, daughter of William Mack Davis, Sr.

Submitted by:

*Faye Taylor Wampler
(Great-granddaughter of Thomas and Sally Rose Davis, granddaughter of Ida Davis Monroe, and daughter of Cornie Monroe Taylor)
4538 Ronald Drive
Kingsport, TN 37664*

Christopher DAY, Nathaniel DAY, Sr., John DAY, Sr.

Christopher Day Sr. is the ancestor that many living in East Tennessee by the name of Day are descendants. Stories passed from generation to generation indicate he was born in Yorkshire, England circa 1684. He came to America with his wife Martha, by way of Rhode Island to Plumstead Township, Bucks County, the eastmost county in Pennsylvania.

Christopher Day and John Dyer bought portions of the Cook Survey. Christopher Day settled in the township Plumstead in 1708, and resided here until he died in 1748.

The only burial ground in the township of which traces yet remain is situated on the corner of the tract Christopher Day bought of Clarence Dugan in 1708. In his will, proved March 25, 1748, he gave "ten perches square for a graveyard forever." One stone bears the inscription "Christopher Day March 6, 1748." "Perch" is a measure of length equal to 5-1/2 yards.

Family history handed down from generation to generation to Elizabeth Day McCoy Haynes, tells of a small, copper bound, wooden chest, Christopher Day brought from his home in England. This chest was filled with earth from his home site.

He would unlock the chest, take a pinch of earth and carefully let it drop back into the chest. He would then "smell" his thumb and forefinger "to get the smell of home."

He further requested that at his death the "chest of earth" be spread in the bottom of his coffin and that he be placed on it so that "his bones might rest forever in his native earth."

Christopher Day and Martha , died by 1753, had six known children as documented in his Will, and there may have been other children. The known children of this marriage were Mathew, Sr., Christopher, Jr., Abigail, Nathaniel, Sr., and Ursula.

Nathaniel Day Sr., born in Bucks Co., Pennsylvania, and died in March 1754, was the fifth child of Christopher and Martha Day. He married in Bucks County circa 1740 to Susan Wylie, died 1756, Daughter of James Wylie. There were five known children of this marriage, John, Sr., David, Sarah, Nathaniel, Jr., and Martha.

The first child, John Day Sr., born 30 June 1742, died 4 December 1833, age 92 years, in Jefferson City, Tn. He was a soldier of the American Revolution.

Nathaniel Day Sr. died 1754, and is buried in the Day plot set aside by Christopher Day. At Nathaniel's death, Susan and her family made their home with her father James Wylie at Capon Springs near Winchester, Virginia before going to Little Levels, Greenbrier County, West Virginia.

In 1756 Susan, her daughters Martha and Sarah, and her son David were taken captive by Shawnee Indians. Captain Fry organized a search party, including John Day. They found Susan and her son David, both had been killed, but the two sisters were rescued.

John Day Sr., the first child of Nathaniel and Susan Wylie Day was born in Bucks County, PA on 30 June 1742, and died 4 December 1833 in Jefferson Co., Tn. He married twice, first to Polly Susan , and second to Ester Drinnon. There are twelve known children. From incomplete records all are thought to be by Polly Susan. They were John Jr., Thomas, Jesse Sr., David, Joseph, Levi, Stephen, Mary, Nehemiah, Hannah, Elizabeth, and Ester (Hettie) Mehittibelle.

The Day family was known to be skilled in woodworking. John and Polly Susan lived for a time in Carroll and Grayson Counties, Va. Furniture said to have been made by John Day Sr. is still to be found in this area.

John Day Sr. moved to Green County, N.C., later Jefferson County, Tennessee, in 1785. His application for a Revolutionary War Soldier's pension is recorded in the National Archives. The affidavits by John Sr. and John Jr. document much family history such as the year he and his family came to Tennessee.

His own words tell a graphic account of the Shawnee Indian attack and the rescue of his sisters.

John Day established a fort in the Hawksbill Settlement called John Day's Fort; known in 1766 as Fort Cumberland and in 1772 as Kegley's and Price's Fort.

There is also this interesting account "Virginia Militia in Revolution from Kentucky, March 4, 1834. John Day Sr. died December 4, 1833 at age 92 years, Jefferson Co., Tennessee.

John Day Sr. moved his family from Virginia to Green County, N.C., and later to Jefferson Co., Tn. "about four years after Cornwallis was taken" (1785) "and lived here ever since."

This file also contains John Day Jr.'s affidavit confirming the year his family moved from Botetourt Co., Va. to Jefferson Co., Tennessee in 1785.

Related Story:

John Day, Jr., John Day, III, Elizabeth Day.

Sources:

History of Bucks County, Pennsylvania, page 570, by James H. Battle. Ib., page 572.

Bucks Co., PA Will Book 2, page 141.

National Archives File #S-3252.

Submitted by:

*John J. McCoy, Jr.
1029 Southgate Road
Knoxville, TN 37919*

John DAY, Jr., John DAY, III, Elizabeth DAY

John Day, Jr., born 31 January 1768 in Botetourt County, Virginia, later Pocohontas Co., West Virginia, died in 1839 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married circa 1794 to Elizabeth Howard, born 28 November 1776.

To this marriage there were ten children of record. John Day III, William, Elizabeth, Daniel, Eliza, Samuel, Isaac Newton Thomas, Jemima, and Lemuel.

John Day, Jr. was seventeen years old when he came from Pocohontas Co., VA to Greene Co., N.C., later Jefferson Co., TN, with his father and family in 1785.

John Day, Jr. was of the Baptist faith. He was also a skilled worker in wood. He was in demand to organize a "barn raising." He knew how to size the barn for the farm, how to cut the timbers, including the making of shingles, rafters, cross beams and all the other wooden parts. He also could organize the men for the "barn raising" and the women for the preparation of the food, always a big part of the "barn raising." He considered it a great honor to be called "Carpenter" although he did much more than shape the wood.

John, Jr. also was a busy farmer on his own acreage. He is reported to have said "To feed the children, my wife and I, is a dawn to dark job."

John Day III, was born on 15 January 1795 in Jefferson Co., TN, and died 26 April 1853 in Treadway, Hawkins Co., TN. On 30 May 1815 he married Frances (Fanny) Holdaway, born on 28 November 1797 in Virginia, and died 6 September 1889 in Treadway. She was the daughter of Timothy Holdaway.

Treadway is in a strip of land originally claimed by both Hawkins and Hancock Counties. Early maps show this strip of land as part of Hancock County. The line follows the top of Clinch Mountain. This puts Treadway in Hancock County.

John Day III and Fanny Day lived much of their lives in Hawkins County. They had thirteen children, two dying at infancy; James Day, born 11 June 1816, died 7 September 1841; Sarah day, born 4 December 1817; John Day IV, born 21 October 1819; William Day, born 21 October 1821; Elizabeth Day, born 15 August 1823, died on 31 July 1919; Madison Day, born on 12 September 1825; Polly Day, born on 5 October 1827, and died 6 July 1913; daughter, died an infant 1829; Hugh Day, born 30 December 1830; Elbert Day, born 27 April 1833; Jesse Day, born 25 August 1835, killed in Civil War; Martha Day, born on 2 May 1837; Barnett Day, died an infant.

John Day III was a Baptist Minister, pastor of several Baptist churches, among them Richardson's Creek, War Creek, and Bean Creek. Recorded in Haynes Bible: "Elizabeth Day professed faith in Christ June 1846, united with the Baptist Church as Richardson Creek was Baptized by Daniel P. Morris. The 3rd Sunday in March 1846."

Records show John Day's affiliation with Nolachucky and Mulberry Gap Baptist associations.

John Day III died at Treadway April 26, 1853.

Elizabeth Day McCoy Haynes was born 15 August 1823 and died 31 July 1919. She was born within one mile of Flat Gap, Hawkins County, TN. She is a direct descendant of Christopher Day of Bucks Co., PA thru Nathaniel, John Day Sr. who came to Tennessee in 1785, John Day Jr., and John Day III. She was the fifth child of John Day III, a Baptist Minister, and his wife Fanny Holdaway Day.

Elizabeth Day married 20 April 1846 to Claiborne McCoy, who was born 19 January 1811, and died 12 September 1849. To this marriage two sons were born: John McCoy, born 15 February 1847, and died 16 December 1932 at his home in Knoxville, TN; and William Claiborne McCoy, born 20 January 1850, and died 3 December 1909.

After a lapse of about four years she married on 20 February 1853 to Abraham Haynes, born 9 September 1811, and died 28 January 1869. To this marriage one son was born, Sterling Grant Haynes, born 30 August 1866, and died 22 April 1936.

After the death of Mr. Haynes, the family moved to a large farm near Inskip on Black Oak Ridge near Knoxville. Mrs. Haynes remained on the farm until the closing days of the Civil War. Then her business activities and real estate interests indicated she moved to Knoxville.

While living on the farm, the family entertained soldiers of the Civil War. General Burnside and his Federal officers made their headquarters on the Haynes farm during the siege of Knoxville. Later General Longstreet of the Confederate Army received much needed supplies from the large Hayes farm. He also made his headquarters there for a time.

Mrs. Haynes was considered a close trader and a shrewd investor. She began her business activities taking advantage of the depressed prices after the Civil War. She was active in the real estate business acquiring property she could improve with a new building, etc.

She purchased property on Prince Street, later 506-508 Market Street, now occupied by Krutch park.

She erected a three-story building known as the Haynes House. This was one of the early hostleries in Knoxville, where out of town guests could be assured of a warm welcome and good old fashioned southern meals.

In the first floor she and her sons operated a mercantile business; Haynes-McCoy-Emporium.

Mrs. Haynes was active in the First Baptist Church and also assisted in the reorganization after the Civil War. She was a generous contributor, but always in a quiet manner.

She made her home in the Haynes House for many years until she slipped and fell, injuring her hip. She then decided to make her home with her son John McCoy, at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Morgan Street in Knoxville, living there for about three years before her death at 96 years of age.

Related Story:

Christopher Day, Nathaniel Day, Sr., John Day, Sr.

Sources:

National Archives File #S-3252.

Submitted by:

*John J. McCoy, Jr.
1029 Southgate Road
Knoxville, TN 37919*

C. W. and Martha Ann (HURD) DEAN

Charlie Walter (C. W.) and Martha Dean lived in one of the first houses that was built in the Westridge section of eastern Hawkins County now known as Mount Carmel. For many years he drove a mail truck from Church Hill to Bulls Gap and later worked at a fruit stand near the banks of the Holston River.

He never wanted his grandchildren to call him "Grandpa", so as each grandchild learned to talk, he gave each one a silver dollar to call him "Dean." Martha was called "Mamaw." She was known as a good cook, and she loved to crochet and make flowers from crepe paper.

Charlie Dean was the son of Fielden and Pherbia Edens Dean and grandson of George and Sarah Brickey Edens and John and Hannah Dean. He was born May 29, 1914 in Hancock County and died September 18, 1969. He is the brother of George, Worley, and Ollie. He was half-brother to John, Andy, Grady, Virgie, Janie, and Flora Hickman. His wife was Martha Ann Hurd who was born August 24, 1890 in Blackwater, Virginia and died November 22, 1959. She is the daughter of Jessie and Rocena Bledsoe Hurd and granddaughter of David and Lockie Hurd and Campbell and Sally Bledsoe. She is sister to Syntha, William, Worley, Quillen, Dan, Neal, and A. J.

C. W. and Martha's children are: (1) Worley Dean born March 3, 1916 and died March 23, 1919; (2) Luther Patrick Dean born October 10, 1917 who was married to Jessie Enis Wolfe died January 13, 1984 and Margaret Pyle Wolfe died May 20, 1990; (3) Mrs. Jess (Nella Mae) Carter born May 5, 1920; (4) Mrs. Eugene (Ethel Belle) Vaughn born September 13, 1922, died November 11, 1961; (5) Mrs. Clarence (Georgia Patton) Horton born April 14, 1925; (6) Mrs. Tom (Martha Jane) Phillips born July 8, 1927; and (7) Mrs. Claude (Helen Audrey) Lawson born September 18, 1930. Many of the grandchildren and their families still make their home in Hawkins County.

Related Stories:

A. J. and Louverna (Manis) Carter.

Jesse and Rocena (Bledsoe) Hurd.

Submitted by:

*Faye Carter Gryder
Rte. 4, Box 4C4
Youngsville, NC 27596*

George Washington and Mary Ann (TRENT) DeBORD

Most family history records that mention my great-grandmother, Mary Ann Trent, have very little to say about her. So, I would like to record what I have been able to learn about her from family members, especially my aunt, Vivian Dawkins, and other sources. Mary Ann Trent was born on 21 October 1868, the daughter of William Trent (b. 1842?) and Eleanor "Ellen" Lawson (b. 1846) of Hancock County, Tennessee. Ellen was the youngest child of Preston Lawson (b. 1795) and Mary Ann Smith (b. 1804?), who came from Stokes Co., North Carolina to Hancock County before the 1850 census. Their other children were William (b. 1825), Michael (b. 1833), John (b. 1837), and David (b. 1840).

After Mary Ann, William and Ellen Trent had two sons. Preston Trent, called "Pres" married Minnie Jarvis, and his brother Luke Trent married her sister, Birdie Jarvis. Preston and his daughter Temp died in the great flu epidemic that swept the world after World War I. He and Minnie also had a daughter, Ellen, and a son. Luke and Birdie had five children: Mary Anne, Bueny, Lula, Florence, and George.

When she was about 17, Mary Ann Trent married George Washington Theophilis Debord (who went by the more easily managed name of Theo DeBord) and they had three children. William Lon (b. 8 February 1887) was followed by Daisy (b. 20 March 1889) and Ida Alice (b. 22 Jun 1891). I know that Ida Alice Debord, my grandmother, was born in Clinch, TN and it may be the birthplace of her brother and sister. Clinch was a small town in Hancock County, located on a bend in the Clinch River, about 3-1/2 miles southeast of Sneedville or 18 miles northwest of Rogersville. Many of the Trents settled in this area of Hancock Co., which was not too far from the Hawkins County border.

Tragically, Mary Ann died young (23 September 1899) at the age of 32, from pneumonia. She is buried in one of the Trent family cemeteries in Hancock County. Her husband, left with three small children to raise, soon married Bertha Buttry on 28 Jan 1900, and they had another eleven children of their own.

Lon Debord, the eldest of Mary Ann's three children, married Florence Short in 1904 and they had three children: Emory, Gertrude, and Clay. After Florence's death in 1912, he married Laura Sutton. Lon became a Baptist preacher and worked from the Chestnut Grove Church, as had his grandfather, George Washington Debord, in the years after the Civil War, when the church was a log cabin. Daisy Debord married Charles "Pat" Davis in 1906 and their children included Lena, Viva, Jewel, Fern, George, Mildred, William, Margorie, Jack and Patricia, as well as three children who died very young. Ida Alice Debord married John Roscoe Short, the brother of Florence Short. The Shorts were from Hawkins County, near Eidson, so Ida and John Short settled near there in Lee Valley and had nine children: Evelyn, Vivian, Ray, Doyle, Max, Thelma, Bernice, Lois, and Joseph. The Short family moved to Great Falls, South Carolina to find work in the cotton mills (as did many other Hawkins County families) when my mother, Bernice, was only 3 years old. Like her mother, Ida also died young (29 May 1929) at the age of 37, in South Carolina.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Pat Magee
10 Inlander Cres.
Flynn, Act 2615 Australia*

The Marvel DERRICK, Sr. Family

Marvel Derrick, Sr. was born about 1802, a date determined from the 1830-40-50

TN censuses. Though proof has not been found, family researchers feel that Marvel was the son of Michael and Elizabeth Moyer Derrick. Michael Derrick named only those children in close proximity to him when he made his will in McMinn Co., TN in 1839. Marvel in Hawkins Co., Andrew in Roane County, and James in Missouri were excluded. However, research indicates that they were Michael's sons.

Based on this premise, Marvel's great grandfather was Simon Derck/Durck who immigrated from the Palatine region of Germany to Philadelphia, PA, arriving 27 October 1738 on the ship St. Andrew. He settled in Greenwich Township, Berks Co., PA, purchased land (deed dated 22 October 1746), and is found on the 1752 list of taxables. Simon married Catherine Stapleton about 1739. They had at least eight children. The will of Clemens Dunkleberger (Windsor Twp., Berks Co., PA, dated 12 February 1776), reveals that two Derrick sons married Dunkelberger daughters: John Derrick married Mary Dunkelberger about 1760; Michael Derrick married Elizabeth Dunkelberger. Another Dunkelberger daughter, Catharine married Andrew Wineinger/Winegar. Catherine and Andrew were early settlers in Hawkins County, TN.

Simon Derrick died in Shenandoah Co., VA in 1787 (will dated 11 April 1785, proven 22 February 1787, Will Book B).

John and Mary Derrick had moved to Botetourt County, VA in 1783/84 where John died in 1790 (Will dated 24 August 1790, proven 14 September 1790, Will Book A). John and Mary's children were: Elizabeth, Mary, Michael, Barbara, Jonathan, Rosanna, John, Wm. E., and Catherine.

Michael Derrick was born about 1765 in Berks Co., PA. Botetourt Co., VA marriage records list his marriage, 16 June 1789, to Elizabeth Moyer, the daughter of Jacob and Barbara (Miller) Moyer. About 1796/97, the family arrived in Hawkins Co., TN. Aunt and uncle, Catherine and Andrew Wineinger were already there and may have influenced the decision to immigrate. A Botetourt County, VA deed dated 13 November 1798 places Michael Derrick in the State of TN. "Mikle" Derrick and brother, John, are found on the tax list of Hawkins County, Mc-

Williams Company, 1809. No Hawkins County land records have been found for Michael, although he was involved in a Circuit Court action October Term, 1819. About 1820/21, Michael and Elizabeth with most of their family, moved to McMinn County where Michael died in 1839. Their children: John, Magdaline, Jacob, Charlotte, Jonathan, Andrew, James, Marvel, Susan, Michael C., Cornelius.

When his family moved to McMinn Co., Marvel Derrick was age 18/19. He remained in Hawkins County, perhaps because of Nancy Anderson, daughter or daughter-in-law of David and Elizabeth Anderson. Marvel and Nancy were married about 1822. They lived and farmed in Caney Valley and raised their children: Andrew Jackson, married Julia Wineinger/ Winegar; Elizabeth, married Peter Wineinger, Julia's brother; Mary "Polly", married George W. Church; Rachel, married (1) Enoch Church (2) William Brown; Marvel, Jr. married Julia "Juley" Taylor; Enoch, died 1861, unmarried.

The family was deeply involved in the Brethren Church. Nancy Derrick, Andrew and Julia, Marvel, Jr. and "Juley" are found on the membership roster of the Cedar Grove Church of the Brethren in 1865. Brethren Church historical records list Marvel Derrick, Jr. as a deacon.

Marvel Derrick, Sr. died about January 1857, as indicated by his estate administration found in Hawkins Co. Court minutes, 3 March 1857, pp. 41-43. Nancy Derrick is found living with Andrew and Julia Derrick on the 1860 TN census, and again on the 1870 census. Her death date is unknown.

Andrew Jackson Derrick was born in Hawkins County on 14 December 1823. He married Julia Wineinger/Winegar 14 March 1850 (Hawkins County Marriage Records). Julia was the daughter of Phillip and Mary Ann (Wineinger) Wineinger/Winegar. They had 14 children: Peter, married Sarah Gilliam; Marvel M., married Betty H. Looney; Mary, married Hugh Columbus Allen; Phillip died in childhood; Nancy married Thomas Orville "T. O." Barrett; David E. married (1) Matilda Darter, (2) Louisa Femmer, (3) Appie Butler; Enoch, married (1) Julia A. Darter, (2) Myrtle Cartner; Phoebe, married (1) John Looney, (2) Jim McCurdy; Cornelius, married (1) Karen Happuck Barrett (2) Rachel Crouch; John W., married (1) Parrie Lee Walters and (2) Lula Bagley; Abraham, married Rachel Taylor; Julie Ann, married Edward H. Harrel; Andrew Jackson, Jr., married Sarah E. Davis; Myrtle Parrie, married Thomas O. "Orb" Barrett, nephew of "T.O.".

Andrew and Julia lived to see all of their children married. Many of the young families moved westward, settling in Kansas, South Dakota, and Washington State. Andrew died 30 January 1903; Julia died 12 March 1904. Both are buried in Midway Church of the Brethren Cemetery.

Related stories:

The David Anderson Family.

The Third Generation, The David D. Anderson Family.

The William Nelson Barrett Family.

Andrew Winegar (Wininger) etc.

Submitted by:

*Marilyn Pulliam
224 Westover Dr.
Yakima, WA 98908*

DOBBS

This is a story about a strong willed woman. Her name is Frankie Matilda Cradic Dobbs, but she went by the name of "Franny". She was born on the 2nd of November 1889, to James Matt and Mary Jane Christian Cradic.

My grandmother was one of eight children born to James and Mary Jane Cradic. They were married on the 31st of January 1883. The children of that union were five girls and three boys. The first four children were girls: Rhoda Annie, she never married - Tennie Elizabeth married Marshall Bruner - Frankie Matilda married Carl Dobbs - Bula Fay married Elisha Dobbs. The fifth girl born was Roberta and she married James Golden. The males of this group were Grover, William Ezra, and Artie Robert. Grover married Nora Armstrong - William Ezra married Eva Ward and Ruth Grimes - Artie Robert married Willie Ward.

My grandparents (Carl and Frankie Matilda Dobbs) were married on the 16th of December 1910. Carl Dobbs' parents were David and Mary Catherine Miles Dobbs. He was born on the 26th of November 1887. My great-grandparents Dobbs had four children. They had Herbert, James Carl, Elisha and Beatrice. I don't know who Herbert married, but my grandfather married Franny Cradic. Then his brother Elisha married Eula Fay Cradic. She was the sister to my grandmother, Franny Cradic. And the only girl of the family, Beatrice married James Byrd Coldwell.

When my grandparents married, they lived in Christians Bend, but they later moved to Phipps Bend in Surgoinsville. There they had eight children. The oldest was Ray Edward, born on the 16th of November 1911. He married Ida Sue Britton. The second child born to them was a girl named Margaret Roberta. She never married. The third child was George Elmer, born on the 18th of August 1916. He married Grace Lou Dykes. Then they had a baby to die at birth on the 13th of January 1920. Then another son was born on the 9th of May, 1922, his name is James Carl. And on the 18th of February 1925 my mother was born. Her name is Helen Marie. My mother married Creed Lawson on her 21st birthday. There were two born after my mother and their names are Ralph Junior and Hazel Frankie. Ralph married Mildred Kersey and Hazel married Roy Burton.

In the first paragraph I said my grandmother was a strong willed woman. Well instead of staying in the house and running it, she was right out on the farm helping run it. It was up to my aunt, Margaret to run the house. I guess it came in handy when on the 11th of June 1932 my grandfather passed away. He passed away leaving her with seven children, one under a year old.

After my uncle Ray got married, she ran the farm by herself. Later in life she ran a business of her own. That was selling eggs. When I was younger she would have blacksnakes crawling around in her chicken house and garage. I asked her "Why?" and she said it was to keep rats away from her chickens. But if she caught one snake with a egg in his mouth, she'd kill it. She ran that egg selling business for years.

She was part Indian and when she was eighty years old she could run and work like someone years younger. And she even looked years younger than her age. But on the 8th of March 1970, she passed away. But she left her grandchildren something too. She always said, "If you want something, you have to work for it." And she told her granddaughters, "Don't let being a girl stand in your way."

This story is a tribute to a very strong and loving woman, my grandmother - FRANKIE (Franny) MATILDA CRADIC DOBBS.

Related Stories:

The Caldwell Family.

Lawson - The Lawson that Married a Lawson.

Submitted by:

*Carolyn Lawson Rhoton
Route 1, Box 586
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

The DOTY Saga

The Doty's saga in Tennessee began when Azariah Doty (1745-1851), his wife, Sarah Tucker (1755-1838), and their children settled in Greene County in 1782. Azariah's British g-g-grandfather, Edward Doty, had come as a young lad, apprenticed to Stephens Hopkins, merchant, on the Mayflower, in 1620. Edward later married Faith Clark and they became parents of nine children. Samuel (1643-), their fourth child, by state records at Trenton, New Jersey is shown to live 1675 to 1715 at Piscataway, New Jersey. He married Jeane Harmon (1678). They had 13 children. Their son, John Doty (probably 1680 to 1685) married a French woman, Duane, and later a second wife by the name of Pyatte. They afterwards lived in Somerset County, New Jersey. A son, Isaac Doty, (probably 1712) married a Reyno and secondly, a Roy. In 1766 he lived near Princeton College in New Jersey. Isaac's son by his first wife, Azariah (1745-1851), became the progenitor of the southern branch of the family.

Azariah, with his brother, John, about 1766 to 1770, came to Virginia and later to Burke County, North Carolina. In these years great turmoil was produced by British soldiers pillaging the land in New York and New Jersey, conscripting young men, disrupting lives and livelihoods. Azariah married Sarah Tucker in Virginia. John decided to settle in Kentucky. Azariah served during the Revolution under General Francis Marion. About 1782, with his wife and three children, Azariah settled in what is now Greene County.

Recorded at Jonesboro, in the first deed book, is the sale of 225 acres along Lick Creek in Washington District, from Aaron Burleson's widow to Azariah Doty. Burleson, a companion of Daniel Boone, had started to join him in Kentucky when he was killed by Indians as he crossed the Clinch River.

Azariah built a log cabin, cleared the land, and there raised nine children. He enlisted in the state militia fourteen times to help put down Indian uprisings. He lived to be 106 years old.

The land has remained in the Doty family for 210 years. Beside the little Methodist church, Doty's Chapel, the generations have been laid to rest. Azariah's eighth child, Ephraim (1795-1889), married Sarah Cooper (1794-1867). Their son, William Cooper (1916-1892), married Melvina Berry (1820-1899) of Hawkins County, whom he had met at a camp meeting at the county line. They were parents of three children: Sarah Jane McCollum (1848-1929), Ephraim (1850-1881), and William Douglas Bruner (1853-1926). W.D.B. Doty married Ruth Anne Kilday (1859-1940), daughter of John Kilday and Mahala McNeese (1837-1918), who was the daughter of Jonas McNeese and Ruth Babb. Ruth Babb's father, Seth, born in Virginia in 1760, was in the siege at Yorktown during the last ten days before capitulation.

W.D.B. Doty was a lawyer and farmer. He served 42 years on the county court, never missing a roll call vote. His son, Samuel Willard, served 24 years as county judge. A daughter, Montie Doty Lady Fitzgerald, was Red Cross director for 20 years, covering the World War II period.

Seven children were born to the W. D. B. Dotys: Minnie Doty Goddard (1883-1940); Roy Anderson Doty (1885-1952); Samuel Willard (1888-1969); John W. (1894) and Carl (1895), who died as infants; Montie (1897-1989) and Hacker D.

(1900-1961).

Minnie married E.F. Goddard (1872-1963), Jefferson County School Superintendent. She was a pioneer newspaperwoman and hid her gender by using her initials. She founded, published, and edited the Dandridge Banner and the Jefferson County Standard in the 1920's and 1930's. She died of leukemia in 1940. Her daughter, Barbara Johnstone of Sedona, Arizona, in 1991, established a distinguished professor in journalism at the University of Tennessee to honor her memory. Her four children all earned degrees at the University of Tennessee. Paul Douglas (1910-1990) in law; Herman (b. 1912) in engineering; his twin, Helen (b. 1912) in Home Economics, and Barbara (b. 1917) in Home Economics.

Samuel Willard married Minnie Babb (1890-1972). Their son, Carl Willard (1913-1968), married Helen Louise Reeves of Hawkins County. Their children are Nancy (b. 1939), who married Dr. Ancel C. Duckworth and John Douglas Doty (b. 1947), who was married to Mary Josephine Bird.

The great grandchildren of Willard, John Douglas Doty, Jr. and Margaret Anne Doty are eighth generation Dotys on the Doty farm. Willard's son, Lyle (b. 1914) and his wife, Charlotte Johnson (b. 1927), of the sixth generation live there, as Lyle has done since birth. He graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1936. He is a farmer and accountant.

Montie Doty married George Lady. He died in 1925. Their daughter, Martha Ferris (b. 1920), holds a degree in Home Economics from the University of Tennessee. After retirement from work in New York City, she makes her home in Greeneville. Montie's second husband was Paul Fitzgerald.

Hacker Doty and his first wife, Nannie Brown Marion (1899-1984), were the parents of one daughter, Emma Ruth (b. 1921). She lives near Baileyton and is the wife of James Bailey Woolsey (b. 1919), son of James Baxter Woolsey and Clara Mae Bailey Woolsey. Their children are Barbara Mae Woolsey McNeese (b. 1945), James Douglas (b. 1951), and Roger Alan (b. 1955). Barbara, a teacher, has a daughter, Donna Renee McNeese (b. 1977). Douglas, a veterinarian, and his wife, Jeanne, have two sons, James Bradley (b. 1977) and Justin Edward Douglas (b. 1980). Roger and his wife, Linda, both lawyers in Greene County, are parents of Brent Thomas (b. 1984) and Kara Leeann (b. 1990).

Related Story:

Dr. Roy A. Doty

Submitted by:

Ruth Doty Wheeler

Dr. Roy A. DOTY

The first of the Dotys to live in Hawkins County was Dr. Roy Anderson Doty (1885-1952), a native of Greene County. In 1919, he, with his wife Anne Armstrong, and three children, moved from Kyle's Ford in Hancock County to Rogersville. Anne was a descendant of Hawkins pioneers, William Armstrong and Thomas Amis.

Dr. Doty had graduated from medical school in Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1913. He was president of his class, class poet, and valedictorian. Dr. J. B. Mitchell, advancing in years, persuaded the young graduate to come to Hancock County to begin his practice and to relieve him. There Dr. Doty examined every man leaving the county in World War I, for which he received a citation from the President of the United States.

His practice began when horses were used for transportation. In his saddle bags he carried medicines to be prescribed and compounded for each patient. The terrible flu epidemic of 1918 tested every resource. His practice took him into patients' homes through the forty years he practiced medicine. Those well enough to travel to Rogersville he saw in his office. He was subject to calls night and day. It was a time of transition from model-T to model-A Fords, and through the engineering of modern highways, to limousines of the 1950's, and to airplanes.

When Roy Armstrong Doty, his oldest child was ready to begin first grade, Dr. Doty came to Rogersville to give his children educational advantages. (Hancock folks remained dear to his heart. He continued to be their doctor, often crossing Clinch Mountain, to see someone sick). Always placing heavy emphasis on education, he would later serve several terms (1933-1944) on the Board of Education and as its chairman.

Dr. Doty served Rogersville as an alderman from 1922 to 1924 and as mayor from 1926 to 1932. This spanned a time when the City School burned and a new one was built. He was also instrumental in getting a water system for the town in 1931, casting the deciding vote when it was tied 3-3. He worked also to get electricity to the Graveltown area and street lights.

Dr. Doty's community service included serving as chairman of the Election Commission for many years. He served as county chairman for three Democratic candidates seeking governorship and for Major George L. Berry when he ran for Senator of the U.S.

Two sons and a daughter were born at Kyle's Ford - Roy Armstrong (1914-1972), Sarah Ruth (b. 1915), and John Franklin (b. 1917). Robert Douglas (b. 1919) was born in Rogersville at their first home on McKinney Avenue. Later they moved to Main Street, where Broome Funeral Home now stands. In 1938 the third residence was a red brick, two story colonial home, next to the present postoffice and built a century before by Samuel Neill.

Dr. and Mrs. Doty were divorced in 1940. In 1944 Dr. Doty married Mary Phipps Armstrong, mother of one child, Mary Don Armstrong (McGregor).

Roy A. Doty, Jr. was married to Cornelia Allen of Los Angeles in 1937. After receiving a Ph. D. at Duke University, as did Cornelia, he taught there and later at Ohio State University. He served as Lt. jg in the Navy in World War II. An industrial psychologist, after working with a Chicago firm, he set up his own organization there. His home was in Hinsdale, Illinois. He died in 1972.

Roy's daughter, Martha Anne (b. 1943), now Mrs. Herbert Johnson, lives in Minneapolis and directs a rehabilitation center there. By an earlier marriage to John Cushing, she has two daughters, Courtney (b. 1969) and Jordan (b. 1973). She also has two adopted sons of Korean ancestry, Caleb and Garrison. Roy and Cornelia's son, John Allen (1945-1962) died of cancer March 6, 1962.

Sarah Ruth graduated from the University of Tennessee and taught English at Rogersville High School. She was married in 1937 to George M. Wheeler (b. 1914) who had attended Duke University. A native of Indianapolis, he came to Hawkins county in 1928 to live with his aunt Margaret Wheeler and her husband, Joseph C. Orr, Secretary-Treasurer of IPP and AU, at their farm in Hickory Cove. George raised Angus cattle there and later on his farm in Webster Valley. He served in the Navy in WWII. For twenty years, in the 1950's and 60's, he managed Allandale Farm at Kingsport for Harvey Brooks, exhibiting many champion animals. Allandale's herd sire, Ermitre of Haymount, was Angus sire of the year in the U.S. in 1965 and 1966. He was an International Grand Champion in 1960. Previously he was champion in Scotland. Allandale's "Blueblood Lady" was female International Champion in 1963.

George and Ruth's daughter, Margaret Frances (b. 1942), married Charles Stevens Cathcart (b. 1942) in 1963. He is now pastor of Carmel Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, North Carolina. They have three children: Laura Anne (b. 1967), Lt. Jg. Charles Stevens, Jr. (b. 1969), and David Wheeler (b. 1975). Laura married Andrew Hamilton Hoofnagle (b. 1969) in 1990. He is a Lt. in the Navy, serving with the "Seals". They live at Virginia Beach, Virginia.

John Franklin Doty graduated from Davidson College in 1938 and was commissioned a Second Lt. in the Army. He was married in 1937 to Anne George, Winthrop College graduate, who was from Morristown. John served four years in the Army during World War II. He was an owner of the Corner Drug Store in Rogersville. Since 1954 he has lived in Winter Haven, Florida and is owner of Doty Farm and Garden Supply there. John and Anne are the parents of six children: John F., Jr. Barbara Greenwald, Frances Hart and Helen Lewis, twins; William Roy, and Susan Griffis. Grandchildren are: Deborah Cali and J. F. III, David and Benjamin Greenwald, Heather Hart, Douglas and Katherine Glauser, John and Rebecca Lewis, Anne and Matthew Doty, and Thomas Griffis.

Robert Douglas Doty graduated in 1940 from Davidson College, Phi Beta Kappa, and received his M.D. from Johns Hopkins University in 1943. He was married to Mary Agnes Bell (b. 1919) of Bassett, Virginia in 1945. He served as an Army doctor in Panama in World War II. He is certified by the Board of the American College of Surgeons, and he is also a member of that College. In 1952 he took over his father's practice maintaining offices in Rogersville and Kingsport at first. He closed the Rogersville office and practiced in Kingsport until he retired in 1987.

Children of the Bob Dotys are: Dr. Robert Douglas, Jr., now a physician in Clarks-ville, Tennessee, Anderson Dillon, owner of Cherokee Deli at Rogersville, David Bell, with IBM in Durham, North Carolina, and Donald Wheeler DVM, veterinarian at Rogersville. Douglas and his wife, Jacqueline, are parents of Rachel, Rebecca, and Sarah. Andy and Lorie Helstrom's children are: Justin, Jessica, Joshua, and John. David's and Rebecca Maples' children are: James Robert ("Jim Bob") and Christianne. Dr. Don Doty and Carol Forbes of Mapleton, Iowa are parents of Jesse Forbes, and Daniel Haden Doty. Carol teaches in Rogersville City School.

Related Stories:

Amis.

Thomas Amis.

The Doty Saga.

Doty-Armstrong-Amis.

Submitted by:

Ruth Doty Wheeler

DOTY- ARMSTRONG - AMIS

Anne Armstrong Doty was born in 1889 to George Franklin Armstrong and Sallie Hord Amis. Their children were Clinton, Anne, Effie, William, Lula, and Roxie. Her ancestors, William Armstrong II and Thomas Amis, were among the earliest settlers, before the county was formed and before boundaries of North Carolina and Virginia were determined.

Anne attended Maxwell Academy at Stony Point, riding horseback from home, or, in winter months, living with her Uncle Bill and Aunt Mollie, whose farm adjoined the school. Her father and his brother married two Amis sisters. Anne lived part of her childhood with her step-grandmother, Mary Hyder Armstrong, on the old Armstrong homeplace. William Jasper Armstrong had died leaving his widow alone. Her parents, brothers, and sisters lived on the farm, too.

At age eighteen, Anne went to Knoxville to attend business college. Upon graduation she was employed at Newcomer's, a leading department store, as a book-keeper. She met Roy Doty of Greene County, then a medical student, and December 29, 1911, they were married. Their four children, Roy, Ruth, John, and Bob are listed in the Dr. Roy A. Doty article.

After divorce in 1940, Anne Doty made her home with her son, Bob, in Baltimore, while he attended medical school at Johns Hopkins University. She then lived with George Wheeler and her daughter, Ruth Doty Wheeler at their home in Marion, Virginia. From 1954 until her death in 1959 she lived in Kingsport, where George Wheeler managed the purebred Angus cattle operation at Allandale.

William Armstrong (b. 1712), Anne's ancestor, was born in Fermanagh County, Ireland and came to Virginia in 1734. He descended from John of Gilnockie and settled in what is now Augusta County with his father, mother, sister, Jane, and uncle. William Armstrong II was born in Ireland in 1712. He married Mary Caldwell in Virginia. They had ten children: William, James, Elizabeth, Sally, Jane, Ann, Mary, Annis, Lou, and Nellie. William Armstrong III was born in Augusta County, Virginia in 1757 and died in Hawkins County, Tennessee in 1815. William II and his wife, Mary Caldwell, with eight of their ten children settled, according to family records, in 1763 in Carter's Valley on what is now the James Hoffman farm. His second wife was a Morisett. His son, William III, at the beginning of the Revolutionary War went back to Virginia and served in the colonial army.

William II's brother, James, settled on Caney Creek, north of Rogersville. His sister, Elizabeth, married an Armstrong, no kin, who was raised in Prince Edward County, Virginia. They later moved to McMinn County.

William III married Elizabeth Galbraith (1772-1834), daughter of Arthur Galbraith and Mary Sharpe. Their children were: Arthur Galbraith (1788-1827), William IV (1791-1860) married Mary Young; Clinton (1793-1853), Kirkland, Missouri; Mary Elizabeth Galbraith (1796-1868) married James Amis; Carey Allen (1798-1831), d. Savannah, Hardin County, Tennessee; Elizabeth (1800-1877) married Stanwix Hord, died in Belton, Bell County, Texas; Sarah (1803-1860) married Eldridge Hord; Louisiana (1805-1835) married Frederick S. DeWolfe; Margaret Aloisa (1808-1849) married John Hammon Cook, died in Pendleton, Madison County, Tennessee; Julia F. (1811-1894) married David Lyons.

William III organized the first Presbyterian Church in this part of the country. It was named New Providence for their former church in Virginia. The first service was held in his house by the Rev. Charles Cummings in 1780. William III donated land for the first log hewn structure. William II and his two wives are buried near this spot. William III erected the first brick building in Hawkins County at Stoney Point. He gave the land nearby for the New Providence Church, removed there from Carter's Valley, its first location.

The fourth child, Mary Elizabeth Galbraith Armstrong was married to James Amis (1790-1871), son of Thomas Amis and his second wife, Lucy Haynes (1761-1841). Thomas Amis (1744-1797) was the son of John (1724-1764) and Mary Dillard Amis. Lucy's parents were Francis Bythell Haynes and Ann Smith. Thomas Amis' first wife was Alice Gale. They were the parents of eleven children. Thomas and Lucy, his second wife, had four children: Haynes (1788-1848) married Mary Howell in 1806; William born in 1789 and died in childhood; James (b. 1790) was the third child. Nancy (b. 1793), the fourth, married English Jesse Howell. Nancy's children went to Kentucky and later to Arkansas and Texas.

James Amis and Mary E. Galbraith Armstrong lived in Carter's Valley. Their children were: William (b. 1815); Louisiana (b. 1816) married Audley Galbraith in 1848, later married Pleasant Henderson; Almira (b. 1819); Lula (b. 1820) married David Lyons 1842; James (b. 1823), died in Civil War; Wicks (b. 1825) married Amanda Taylor; Mary (b. 1826); Tom (b.

1828); Sarah Elizabeth (Betsy) (b. 1832); Lucy Haynes (b. 1833) married Jourdon Henderson; Bradford (b. 1836) married Mary Frances Spears March 18, 1863, granddaughter of Haynes Amis and daughter of Lazarus Spears and Elizabeth Mary Amis; Tilda (b. 1837) married Jim Johnson; Annis married James (Jim) Rogan 1861.

Haynes Amis and Mary Howell's children were: Thomas Jefferson Amis (b. 1817) married Matilda Ann Lee; Martha H. married John H. Kershner; Sarah Ann married James Armstrong; Elizabeth Mary (1812-1873) married Lazarus Spears; Lucy Haynes (1809-1879) married John Hagan; James A. married Susan Sensabaugh.

Lazarus Spears (1786-1849) was the son of Samuel Spears (1761-1838), who with his wife, came from Pasquotank County, North Carolina to Tennessee. Lazarus married Nancy Haynes in 1810. After her death, he married Elizabeth Mary Amis in 1833. Their children were: Sarah (b. 1834); Sammy (b. 1836); Nancy (b. 1837) married George Seabolt; Lucy Alice (b. 1840) married Jacob Charles; Jane (b. 1834) married Rufus Hunter; Mary Frances (b. 1844) married Bradford Amis in 1861.

Children of Mary Frances and Bradford were: Effie (b. 1864); Sallie Hord (b. 1865); William L. (b. 1867); Mary Jane "Mollie" (b. 1869); Frederick Haynes (b. 1871); Richard Sensabaugh (b. 1874); James Tilman (b. 1877); John Benona (b. 1883); Tilda (b. 1885); Joe Bradford (b. 1888).

Sallie Hord married George Franklin Armstrong, who was the son of William Jasper Armstrong (1838-1902) and Sarah Anne Henderson (1834-1886). He and Sallie Amis were parents of: Harry Clinton, married Mary Elizabeth Yates; Anne married Dr. Roy A. Doty; Effie married Edgar Johnson; William married Maud Henard; Lula married Henry Ward; Roxie married William Henderson.

Children of Anne Armstrong and Dr. Roy A. Doty were Roy Armstrong, Sarah Ruth, John Franklin and Robert Douglas.

Related Stories:

Amis.

Thomas Amis.

Dr. Roy A. Doty

Submitted by:

Ruth Doty Wheeler

James Thomas "Jack" DRAIN

"Change the things you can; accept the things you can't."

These are lines from a prayer that Jack believed and practiced.

Change: When he was four years old, his birth-father, George Drain (July 17, 1879-February 12, 1925), died following a heart attack. When a baby sister was born 2-1/2 months later, little "J.T." as he was called, decided that he was the man of the Drain house, and should be called JACK (the name of his uncle's big dog).

Change: When his mother, Stella Rose Carter Drain (30 March 1900-9 April 1980) married Hobart V. Hagood, Sr. (5 November 1896-4 February 1961), Jack and sister Georgia Rose Drain Newberry moved to a farm six miles away to blend with the Hagood children, Virginia Hagood Self, H.V., Jr., and Tom. To Stella and Hobart were born Betty Blue Hagood Richardson, Lewis Russell, and Larry Ellis. Mr Hagood was an excellent father to the Drain children; they loved and revered him and used his name.

Change: When Jack went into the Army on 19 October 1942, he had to change his name again. From Jack Hagood to PVT Jack Drain-3478408. He served in the European Theatre with the 1104th Engineer Group in the 208th Engineer Combat Battalion. This unit was responsible for the Assault, Beat, Ferrying, Bridge and Mine Beam Construction, moving and launching heavy amphibious equipment and supporting and supplying the main efforts of the troops that followed. The 208th were in the field of action from February 27, 1944 through April 24, 1945 in England, Scotland, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany. He received a medal of commendation for his part in the successful assault in the crossing of the Rhine River (code name Flashpoint) on March 26, 1945, also a medal of commendation and letter from his Assistant Adjutant for his part in the crossing of the Roer River in Germany. The letter cited the difficulty of this crossing; The Roer River was flooded, the current rapid, the banks were swamped, the terrain provided no cover, the roads were poor, and the crossing was made at night. The unit was recognized for their successful execution of this mission, and their display of team work during this operation. In closing, Assistant Adjutant Kelly stated the certainty of the Roer River Crossing being recorded in history as one of the greatest military accomplishments in World War II. He received the Good Conduct Medal with his discharge on December 23, 1945.

He was the youngest, and the only "Tennessee Hillbilly" in his Army outfit. It was made up of mostly New York Italians, several of whom visited him in Tennessee throughout the years. In 1979, he and brother, Larry, went through England, Holland, France, and Germany, retracing some of his steps during his Army tour.

Jack and Jessie Booker (February 28, 1922-December 19, 1984), were married in 1948. He bought a large portion of the John N. Arnott farm, and began to "CHANGE" the topography of the Persia Community. He farmed, raised cattle, and built houses. He later built a store building (with their home on the 2nd story), known as "Jack's Place." During the John Sevier Steam Plant's construction, they operated a restaurant along with their store. They later used this space to accommodate the office of the Persia Water Department and the Persia Post Office until it consolidated with the Rogersville office.

He began building houses in 1954, developing Woodland and Drain Estates in Persia. Later he built the Persia Baptist Church parsonage and the Drain home overlooking the nearly 100 new homes now surrounding Jack's Place.

During his years of building, he was involved in two partnerships. One was with Tom Rogan and Lance Rogan. The other was with Kyle Johnson, Robert McDonald, and Hugh K. Johnson, known as Hawkins County Development, Inc. With these two partnerships, Persia Estates Subdivision, Colonial Apartments and Wash-A-Rama on Locust Street in Rogersville were constructed. Other ventures were the town's first shopping center, The 66 Plaza, with spaces for 20 businesses, the Sandman Motel on Highway 66, and the construction of 25 houses in McDonald Hills.

Upon the sale of Colonial Apartments to Larry Hagood and Lynn Lawson, Jack built a 29-unit complex with laundry-mat, known as the Drain Apartments on East Main Street. He and Jessie operated these until 1984. Approximately 350 homes and buildings were constructed by him during his career.

His flare for the unusual enriched his life and those around him. In 1958 he and Jessie went to Bartlesville, Oklahoma to get two buffalo to add to the collection of small animals he had in a zoo-like setting at their store. They became snow-bound in Bartlesville; Jessie told that he made a name for himself in the town as "That character from Tennessee" while waiting for the roads to clear. They brought the buffalo to Tennessee and named them Snow and Storm.

He was a born showman. He liked things that could be enjoyed with those around him. He spent hours reconstructing a full-sized, working wind mill, mounting antique one-cycle engines on a farm trailer so the towns-folk could be amused by their "pop-popping" during Heritage Days in Rogersville.

Jack's Place and home displayed a notable collection of guns and war memorabilia. He was a certified dealer and an active member of the National Rifle Association of America. The November 24, 1976 and April 27, 1977 issues of the Kingsport Times News ran feature stories and pictures of Jack and his guns. The writer stated that his collection of over 350 pieces ran the gamut from the world's smallest (a tiny silver object about one inch long which could do little more than raise a blister), to possibly the largest rifle made (a 70-caliber, 22-pound gun). The article ended by quoting Jack's answer as to which was his best hunting gun "I wouldn't kill a deer or a rabbit; I never hunt."

Included in his wide range of interests were motorcycles, boats, and planes. He earned his private pilot's license in 1964, and in 1971 he purchased a Cessna plane. Jessie enjoyed flying and soon had her license too.

They had no children of their own, but they enriched the lives of their nieces, nephews, youngsters that worked with Jessie in the store, and neighborhood children. A monument was erected in the Persia community on a plot of the farm in memory of the Drains.

Jack was involved in his community's development. He was a commissioner with the Persia Utility District and supported the Persia Fire Department.

Jack and Jessie were members of the Persia Baptist Church, and are buried in the community cemetery adjoining the church.

One of Jack's favorite quotes – "I want to grow where I'm planted and leave a lot of happy tracks!!"

Related Stories:

Hagood Family.

H. V. Hagood.

Roy Fred Newberry.

Richardson.

Submitted by:

*Larry E. Hagood, and Georgia R. Newberry
Route 7, Box 960
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Samuel A. and Nancy Jane (HORNER) DYER

Samuel A. Dyer, a farmer from Whitesburg, Tennessee enrolled at Richmond, Kentucky on the 3rd day of December 1862 as a Federal soldier in Co. C, 3rd Regiment, Tennessee Cavalry. He was mustered into service as a private on the 27th of January 1863 at Murfreesboro, Tennessee. He was 31 years old, five feet and ten inches tall, dark complexion, black eyes and black hair. On 19 December 1862, he was promoted to Sergeant in Company C.

The "Sultana", a steamer, began its last journey at St. Louis, Missouri on Thursday 13 April 1865. The next day was good Friday. The Sultana docked at Cairo, Illinois, where the newspapers were filled with news of General Lee's surrender to General Grant and the nearing end of the War. Due to sorrow and excitement over President Lincoln's death, the Sultana was late leaving Cairo. On Easter Sunday she docked at Memphis spreading the news of Lincoln's death. There she made her way on down the river to New Orleans and began her return trip to St. Louis. On 23 April 1865 one of the Sultana's boilers sprung a leak. The Captain docked at Vicksburg, Mississippi to cool and repair the boiler.

Located at Vicksburg was an exchange camp filled with paroled Federal prisoners – men recently released from the Confederate prisons at Cahaba, Alabama and Andersonville, Georgia. Two days before, the Army had ordered these men to be shipped north to be exchanged. East Tennesseans were heavily represented among these prisoners of war, with many men from Sevier, Blount, Hancock, Knox, Union, Claiborne, and Hawkins County.

In this group were the survivors of the 3rd Tennessee Volunteer Cavalry, including my great great grandfather, Samuel A. Dyer. These men had been captured at Sulphur Trestle, near Athens, Alabama, when General Nathan B. Forrest delivered a deadly attack on the morning of September 24, 1864, killing the Union Commander and some 200 of his men. Samuel A. and other survivors were taken prisoners and transported to Cahaba Prison (Castle Morgan) on the western bank of the Alabama River, 130 miles northeast of Mobile and 50 miles southwest of Montgomery at the point where the Alabama and Cahaba Rivers unite. The conditions at the prison were abominable. They had no shelter from the weather and very little medical treatment. After seven months in prison Samuel was a paroled Federal prisoner at Vicksburg awaiting exchange. Samuel was finally free and on his way home.

Early on the morning of 27 April 1865, long before dawn, the Sultana was grossly overloaded, carrying about 2289 persons -- 1910 more than she was licensed to carry. About nine miles north of Memphis, she foundered in the Mississippi River, exploded, and burned. 1,547 perished that dark morning, including my great-great-grandfather Samuel A. Dyer.

Samuel A. Dyer, born about 1831, was one of 10 children born to Abraham Dyer Jr., born about 1800, married 7 October 1824 Greene County Tennessee to Docia Coatney, born 1807, and died in 1884. She was the daughter of George Coatney, who died before 28 October 1849.

Samuel's brothers and sisters were: John S. Dyer born about 1826 and died before 7 July 1873; George Washington Dyer born 26 September 1827 married 12 October 1854 to Sarah Jane Kirkpatrick; Abraham B. Dyer born 1830 married 28 August 1852 to Sarah Mangrove; Rutha born 1836 and was married to William Milton; I. Elisa Dyer born 1838; William S. Dyer born 6 June 1841, died 9 March 1920, was married 22 August 1865 to Eliza Jane Beckner; Elizabeth born 1843 and married in December 1865 to Andrew Haun; Solomon M. Dyer born 27 November 1845 and died 30 May 1921 and was married in February 1865 to Malvina Hamilton; Stephen C. born 1847 and married on 8 January 1868 to Scena B. Kirk.

Abraham Dyer Jr. was the son of Abraham who died before 29 January 1828 and Ruth Dyer. Abraham Sr.'s will dated 18 July 1822, Greene County Tennessee, proven 29 January 1828, lists his wife as Ruth and the following children: Abraham Jr., Samuel, Jacob, John, Rachel, Polley, Nancy, Elizabeth and Salley.

Samuel A. Dyer was married on 2 August 1855 in Jefferson County, Tennessee to Nancy Jane Horner, born 25 August 1836. Nancy Jane was the daughter of William D. Horner, born 1815 in Russellville, died 15 September 1845, and married in 1831 to Lavinia R. Robertson.

After Samuel A. was killed in the explosion of the Sultana, Nancy Jane received a widow's pension. She later married David Rhea. Nancy Jane died 18 June 1894, age 57 years, 9 months and 23 days and is buried in the Bent Creek Cemetery in Hamblen County.

Samuel A. and Nancy Jane's children were: William M. Dyer born 15 June 1856; Rutha E. Dyer born 28 June 1858; Stephen Richard Dyer born 11 June 1860 and married Sarah Elizabeth Dyer, the daughter of John S. Dyer; and James C. M. born 29 December 1861.

Samuel's son, Stephen Richard was married 4 July 1881 to Sarah Elizabeth Dyer in Hamblen County and after marrying they moved to Poor Valley in Hawkins County Tennessee where all four of their children were born.

Sultana survivors raised money for a monument in memory of the men who were on the Sultana when it was destroyed by the explosion on the Mississippi River near Memphis on April 27, 1865. On July 4, 1916, the monument was unveiled in the Mount Olive Cemetery, Knoxville, Tennessee.

On the front of the monument is an image of the Sultana steamer. On the front and back are listed the names of all the men who perished that day, listed by company. There were 352 soldiers from Indiana, 125 from Kentucky, 243 from Michigan, 460 from Ohio, 365 from Tennessee, 50 from Virginia, and 2 from Missouri.

Related Story:

Stephen Richard Dyer

Sources:

Widow's Pension Record.

Military Records.

Newspaper Articles.

Marriage Records.

Wills.

Submitted by:

*Brenda Joan Smith Buchanan
43516 Scenic Lane
Northville, MI 48167*

Stephen Richard DYER

Stephen Richard Dyer (born 11 June 1860) was the son of Samuel A. and Nancy Jane (Horner) Dyer. Stephen was married in Hamblen Co., Tennessee on 4 July 1881 to Sarah Elizabeth Dyer (born 24 January 1863), the daughter of John S. Dyer and granddaughter of George W. Huntsman. On the 7th day of July 1873 the Hawkins County Court ordered G.W. Huntsman be appointed Guardian for Sarah and Elijah Dyer, minor children of John S. Dyer, deceased. In the 1870 and 1880 Hawkins County Census, Sarah "Sallie" and Eliza Dyer are listed as granddaughters, living in the household of G.W. and Priscilla Armstrong Huntsman. Priscilla was the daughter of John Armstrong.

After marrying, Stephen Richard and Sarah Elizabeth moved to Poor Valley in Hawkins County where three sons and one daughter were born.

James D. Dyer (27 September 1881-13 September 1955) was married on 28 August 1904 to Garrettie "Nettie" Rhodes (24 September 1880-25 January 1963). Their son, Dwight Dyer was married to Ethel C. Long (1909-27 June 1986). Dwight and Ethel's children are: Edna Mae Dyer, Leota Dyer, Roy Dyer, Imogene Dyer White, James B. Dyer, and Almeda Dyer Laster.

William "Will" N. Dyer (12 January 1884-early 1958), died in Bloomington, Illinois at age 74. He married on 3 November 1928 in Peoria, IL to Edna Niepagen. They continued to live in Bloomington where they both died and are buried. They had no children.

Steven Elbert Dyer (12 December 1888-10 March 1926) was married on 12 September 1909 in Hamblen Co., TN to Carrie Belle Cole (21 August 1889-5 July 1976). Elbert and Carrie had 2 sons and 3 daughters: Maggie Jane Dyer married Claude Stroud; Minnie Dyer; Elbert Dyer; Howard Dyer; and Callie Dyer.

Nancy Jane Dyer (11 June 1893-17 May 1958) was married on 19 November 1911 to Nessie Walter Helton (24 May 1890-23 April 1961).

Jan'y Term 1894 of County Court Clerk Minutes "ordered by the Court, Richard Dyer, juror be allowed 2 days of $1.00".

By 1900 Stephen Richard, a farmer, had moved his family to Hamblen County, where they were living when Nessie Walter Helton came from Hawkins County to marry their daughter Nancy Jane, and take her back to Poor Valley, Hawkins County.

Stephen Richard and Sarah Elizabeth joined the church at Sulphur Springs in Hawkins County and remained faithful members until their deaths. After moving to Hamblen County, they could not attend regularly.

Stephen Richard died 7 April 1927, age

66 years, 8 months, and 8 days. Sarah Elizabeth died 20 February 1912. They are both buried at Cedar Creek Cemetery in Hamblen County.

Related Stories:

Nessie Walter and Nancy Jane (Dyer) Helton.

Markham H. Kenner.

Sources:

Census Records.

Court Records.

Family Members.

Obituaries.

Submitted by:

Brenda Joan Smith Buchanan
43516 Scenic Lane
Northville, MI 48167

William Ernest and Bessie Bell (SMITH) DYER

Bessie Bell Smith was born in Hawkins County, near Whitesburg, TN. Her great-grand-parents were William Smith and his wife Elizabeth Ridley, who lived in Stanley Valley in Hawkins County. Elizabeth Ridley was the daughter of Capt. George Ridley and his first wife Elizabeth Weatherford. William Smith died in 1805, and Elizabeth is thought to have died between 1840 and 1850.

One of their children was Peter Smith (4 June 1802-10 March 1859). He is buried in the Smith Cemetery on the former Joshua Smith farm near Rogersville. Peter Smith was married three times. He married (3 October 1821) his cousin Nancy Smith, there were three children; he married (3 January 1843) Mary Hamblen, two children; and he married (16 May 1850, Jefferson County, TN) Thirza White Johnson (24 April 1815-14 March 1870, buried Bent Creek Cemetery, Hamblen Co., TN), widow of Dr. Thomas D. Johnson and daughter of Joseph White and Sarah White?. There were seven children from this marriage.

James Peter Smith (18 January 1859-30 November 1922), the youngest child of Peter Smith and Thirza White Johnson Smith, and Sarah Addie Moore (27 July 1863-16 March 1914), the daughter of James Henry Moore and Maldanota Cobble, were married at the bride's home in Hawkins Co. A small newspaper clipping of the marriage says "May flowers of perpetual happiness bloom all around them." James Peter Smith, his wife Sarah Addie Moore Smith, and her parents are all buried in the Bent Creek Cemetery in Hamblen County, TN.

There were four children from this marriage: Boyd A. Smith (1884-1960), unmarried; Coy Moore Smith (ca. 1887-1954), married Kathleen Moore (died 1948), no children; Warren Ridley Smith (1889-1960), unmarried; Bessie Bell Smith (18 February 1893-18 March 1964).

Bessie Bell Smith and William Ernest Dyer (born 15 May 1896, Whitesburg, TN, died 19 August 1985, Talbott, TN) merchant, were married in Whitesburg, TN, 19 July 1916. Sometime after the birth of their first child, Ernest Smith Dyer (born 11 November 1917 in Whitesburg, died 27 June 1976 in Talbott, TN), they moved to Talbott. Their other children were: Dorothy Ridley Dyer (born 15 September 1920 Talbott, TN, died 15 December 1992 Jefferson City, TN); Sarah Dean Dyer (born 22 October 1922 Morristown, TN hospital); Jack Moore Dyer (born 19 April 1924 Morristown, TN hospital). All of the children married, and all have descendants.

Mrs. Dyer was noted in her family for her excellent housekeeping and good food. For many years she was pianist at Talbott Baptist Church. She enjoyed sewing and visiting with her neighbors. Mrs. Dyer was always gracious in allowing the people in the neighborhood to use her telephone, since for many years this was the only one. Her grocery store was the gathering place for the men to talk.

Related story:

The Capt. George Ridley Family

Sources:

Compiled by Larry W. Dyer (grandson) from personal research, and from records left by Mr. George Burney Smith (deceased) of Morristown, TN, and Sequin, Texas.

Submitted by:

Janie Ruth Smith Dyer

2112 Carolyn Dr.
Jefferson City, TN 37760

Benjamin EASLEY

Benjamin Easley was born in Tennessee around 1811. Benjamin married a young lady by the name of Eliza, who was born in Tennessee around 1818. The Easley's lived near New Canton in District No. 6, Hawkins Co. in 1850.

Benjamin and Eliza had eight children, all born in Tennessee. They were (1) Robert, b. 1839; (2) Sarah, born 1842; (3) Mary Ann, born September 1842, married Joseph McMinn on 14 February 1864. Mary Ann died between 1910 and 1917 in Washington County, Texas; (4) Eliza, b. 1845; (5) Susan, born 1846; (6) Joseph F., born 1850; (7) Benjamin, b. 1852; and (8) John S., b. 1855.

The Easley family made their living by farming. In 1870, the family was still living in District No. 6 in Hawkins County.

Related story:

Joseph P. McMinn (1839-1917)

Sources:

1850, 1860, 1st 1870 Hawkins Co. TN Census.

Submitted by:

Mary E. Kuehn
6202 Willow Pine Drive
Spring, TX 77379

ELKINS Family of Cloud's Creek

As early as 1767 Ralph Elkins was found in Pittsylvania Co., Virginia. He was in Montgomery Co., VA in March 1772 on the Tax list. He bought 44 acres of land in 1816 on the South (ed: North) side of Holston River on the forks of Cloud's Creek to the foot of Stone Mountain from John Colthrop of Jefferson Co. and Joseph White of Hawkins County, who had purchased the land from John Lucas.

Ralph had a son George (20 June 178.-16 June 1859). George's son, Absalom "App", (29 June 1824-6 November 1892) married Rebecca Bolin (30 June 1831-February, 1912), and they had about 13 children. Their eldest was William "Bill" Elkins (7 March 1853-15 January 1946).

On 7 January 1876 in Hawkins County, Bill married Mary Susan "Mollie" Brooks (25 December 1860-March 1907), the daughter of James Etter "Jim" Brooks (5 October 1821-4 July 1901) and Mary Elizabeth Williams (22 January 1838-17 February 1905). Bill is buried at Stoney Point Cemetery in Hawkins County, and Mollie is buried in the William Brooks Cemetery on Clouds Creek.

Out of the union of Bill and Mollie was born James Alph "Jim" (10 February 1879-14 May 1969) who on 26 December 1899 in Hawkins County wed Amanda Lou Carpenter (18 June 1880 in Hawkins Co.-30 March 1966). Amanda's parents were John (15 May 1844-6 August 1919) and Lou King Carpenter (2 November 1842-11 July 1911). Jim and Amanda are both buried in Elkins Cemetery on Clouds Creek.

Jim and Amanda had nine children: Allen Reed (29 March 1901-29 September 1940), who married 1st Edna Harrell on 28 December 1918 in Hawkins Co., later divorced, and he married 2nd on 8 August 1930 in Scott Co., VA to Thelma Cash Fields (1915-1970) (Thelma remarried Robert "Bob" Stone); Robert Cash (6 December 1902-1992) married Grant Leona Mathes (23 December 1900-13 May 1982); S. Ray (8 March 1905-18 December 1972) married Clara Henard (7 April 1906-10 February 1975); Edith (7 August 1907-23 April 1981) wed James Olen Harrell (26 June 1915-4 June 1970); Paul (19 September 1909-13 September 1910); Harold John (born 12 July 1911) wed Ella Mae "Maggie" Price (28 April 1916-ca. 1991); Blevie Neal (born 28 December 1913) wed Hester Price (born 25 July 1913); Edgar (16 June 1916-1992) married Christie Belle Reeves (born 3 February 1927); and Waylan Jasper (3 July 1919-1 February 1963) wed Mildred Marie Lee (28 November 1920-9 February 1971).

James Alph served as a deacon at Pleasant Hill Baptist Church where the family still attends today.

The Lord said "Go forth and multiply the Earth" and the Elkins clan surely did. The family was well Blessed and always had room for one more. After Allen got killed in a watermill accident in Surgoinville, Pawpaw and Mamaw Elkins took Allen's son Charles in their elder years and raised him as their own.

Charles Clayton (born 6 August 1933) married Margaret Stella "Susie" Mathes (born 1 April 1940) and had the following children: Karen, Amy, Phyllis, Jeannie, and Amanda. Their grandchildren are: Brad, Charlie, Millie, Susie, Racheal, and Rebecca.

The Lord is still Blessing the ELKINS FAMILY on Cloud's Creek today.

Related Story:

Early Clouds Creek BROOKS Family and Descendants.

Submitted by:

*Susie Elkins
Route 1, Box 3230
Rogersville, TN 37857*

James ERWIN (1793-1850)

Proving that James Erwin once resided in Hawkins County, Tennessee might not have been possible were it not for the deposition of his wife, Rosannah (McCurgan-McKiran) Erwin. On August 16, 1853, she went to Perryville, the seat of Perry County, Missouri, to give her deposition. She hoped to obtain bounty land, in accordance with the 1850 Act of Congress, regarding veterans, or their widows, with service in any war since 1790.

Rosannah "swore" she was the widow of James Erwin, deceased, who was a private in the company commanded by Capt. George Argubright's Regiment of Tennessee for a term of three months, that he was honorably discharged at Rogersville, Tennessee in February of 1814, that she was married to James Erwin in Hawkins Co., TN on the 15th of January A.D., 1818 by one George Maxwell (Maxwell?), that her name before her marriage was Rosannah McCurgan, that her husband, James Erwin, died in Perry County, MO on October 3, 1850, and that she had remained a widow ever since.

Before acquiring Rosannah's deposition from the National Archives in 1992, James Erwin had only been located in the 1840 and 1850 Census of Perry Co., MO. In 1850 he was engaged in farming, aged 53 years, born in Tennessee. His 47 year old wife had been born in Virginia. Their older children had all been born in Alabama. It is believed as newlyweds James and Rosannah removed to Alabama in company of others from Hawkins County, to perhaps secure land by "homesteading" in the then new state. They remained there some twenty years, when, about 1837, the state suffered a severe economic depression, together with an epidemic of some sort.

Much later the obituary of a son-in-law, Wm. Abner Robertson, confirmed the Alabama residency, saying that he had removed to Perry County with his wife's family ca. 1838-39. The marriage of Jane Erwin to William Abner Robertson is on record in Limestone Co., AL. When she married, Jane Erwin was about 16 years old, the same age as her mother when she married James Erwin.

Besides Jane Erwin, other citizens born in Alabama were Francis, William P., Mary Ann, Margaret, James Jasper, and John N. Several children could have died in the epidemic.

Two more children were born in MO, Clinton Columbus and Rosannah. It is told that they were called "Boy" and "Gal", eventually choosing their own names. Both were known throughout their lives as Uncle "Boy" and Aunt "Gal".

Rosannah McCurgan Erwin died ca. 1865. No Will or Probate has been found for her or James, but in the years following her death, her children sold the land granted her. James Erwin never had land in his name. Both are presumed buried, in unmarked graves, in the community's oldest cemetery, known today as Henderson.

Three of the sons, Francis, William P., and John, never married. Sons James Jasper and Clinton Columbus married sisters, Rhoda and Asenath Brown. Daughter Mary Ann married Joshua Hudson, while Margaret married Willis York Ellis. Rosannah, the youngest child, married William Kenner. His family also had earlier resided in Hawkins Co., TN.

Most of the Erwin siblings, except for Margaret Erwin Ellis (who removed with her family to Idaho in 1884) lived their lives in the Cedar Fork Community of Perry Co. Many are buried in the cemetery adjoining the Cedar Fork Methodist Church, on the land obtained as a result of James Erwin's service in Hawkins Co. in the War of 1812.

The multitude of descendants today living in Missouri, and elsewhere, hope to someday prove descent from Edward Erwin and his wife Mary (Fowler?) who came to Hawkins Co. from Rockingham County, Virginia ca. 1784. One of the seven sons of Edward, who died in Hawkins Co. in 1794, John, William, Edward, Andrew, Robert, Samuel, or Benjamin must be the father of James, but which one? There were five daughters: Frances, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, and Margaret. Margaret inherited her father Edward's plantation, along with 200 acres of land, situated on today's Phipps Bend. She married James Surguine. Her sister Sarah married William Phipps. The descendants of the two daughters still reside in Hawkins Co.

The search for the parentage of Edward Erwin, back in Virginia, is nearly as frustrating as the search for the father of James Erwin. That Edward is a grandson of one Edward and Frances (Francis) Erwin, who came from Ulster County, Ireland ca. 1724 seems inevitable. If the son first named in his will, John, was named for his father, as was then the custom, Edward could be the son of John and Jean/Jane (Williams) Erwin. Or, of Robert and Ann/Hannah (Crockett) Erwin. But Edward II and Elizabeth (Curry) Erwin also had a son Edward! For now this narrative must suffice as "testimony" that James Erwin, 1793-1850, once resided in Hawkins Co., and is deserving of a place in its history.

Related Story:

Thomas McKirgan (1775-1830).

Joshua Phipps (1801-1861).

Submitted on behalf of James Erwin's many, many descendants by:

Lou Hudson Pellican
7840 Sunray Lane, #3
St. Louis, MO 63123-1951

FANSLER Family

David Fansler was born about 1800 in Stokes County, North Carolina, occupation farmer. He moved to Sullivan County, Tennessee around 1825, where he married Mary (Polly) Shipley, born about 1800 in Sullivan County. Mary was the daughter of Benjamin Shipley (born 1786 in Maryland, died 1855 in Sullivan Co.), and Catherine (Wells) Shipley (born 1788 in Virginia, died 1865 in Sullivan Co.). She had twelve brothers and sisters: Malinda, Orson, Endymon, Jesse, Zachariah, Eli, Rachel, Benjamin Jr., Nancy, Catherine, Christina, and Sybil.

We do not know when David Fansler died, but it is reported he was killed by a horse, before 1850, leaving Mary with eight young children. She died between 1880 and 1890, in Hawkins Co. where she was living with her youngest son, George W. Fansler, in Big Poor Valley. The eight children were Endymon, Austin, David, Elizabeth, Benjamin, Catherine, Mary Ann, and George W.

Endymon (Dymon) Fansler was born 12 October 1827 in Sullivan Co., and died on 17 April 1896 in Macoupin County, Illinois. He married 1st Amanda Ellen King, and they had 10 children: William A., George, Thomas L., Julia, Henry G., Mary E., Elinora J., James Edwin, and Hallie May. He married 2nd Mary Bell, and they had 3 children: Jennie W., Carrie, and Carroll. He served in the Mexican War.

Austin Fansler was born on 10 October 1828 in Sullivan Co., and died on 20 April 1894 in Texas Co., Missouri. He too served in the Mexican War, and he was a Baptist Minister. He married 1st Ruth Jones in 1850 in Scott Co., VA, and they had 10 children: Amanda C., Thomas D., Sarah E., Stephen Huston, Walter D., Hannah, Martha M., Margaret A., Mary Catherine, and Charles. Austin married 2nd to Mary Ellen Branstetter, and they had 4 children: Ransom, Virgil, Samuel, and Barbara.

David Fansler, born 28 April 1831 in Sullivan Co., died 1 June 1912 in Mountain Grove, MO, was a 1st Sgt. Co. A 48th Virginia Infantry in the Civil War. He was wounded in December 1862 at Fredericksburg, VA. He married on 16 September 1852 to Hannah J. Jones (sister to Ruth who married Austin) in Scott Co., VA. They had 8 children: William Harvey, Virginia A., John W., George H., Amanda Ellen, Sarah M., Hattie, and David Hayden.

Elizabeth Fansler married a Rutledge.

Benjamin Fansler, born about 1836, living in Kentucky in 1925, had 2 children: Thomas, and Calvin.

Catherine Fansler, born about 1838 (ed: 20 March 1839?), married Robert J. "Bob" Rutledge 30 June 1859 in Hawkins Co., lived in Glasgow, KY in the 1880's and returned to Hawkins Co. by 1900. They had 8 children: B. L.(m) (ca. 1861-...), R. B.(f) (ca. 1863-...), E. B.(m) (ca. 1865-...), N. E.(f) (ca. 1867-...), M. C.(f) (ca. 1871-...), Sarah Elizabeth (1875-1956), Robert Cornelius (1879-1910), and Edward Lea (1882-1936).

Mary Ann Fansler, born 6 March 1840, died 17 December 1932, married 10 July 1859 to Nathan Roller Shipley. They had 5 children: Lucy Jane (1 July 1860-25 July 1926), married George W. Dickson; George W. (7 November 1862-19 December 1922), married Mary E. McKenzie; Margaret E. (April 1863-18 April 1933) married Samuel H. Noe; Enoch (9 March 1868-18 March 1930), married on 8 December 1889 to Mary Ellen Carter; Mary Ellen (Mollie) (15 December 1871-10 January 1934), married Dimon Fansler.

Enoch Shipley (above), married Mary Ellen Carter (13 July 1872 in Hawkins Co.-8 August 1936 in Sullivan Co.). She was the daughter of James Harmon and Johanna (Brown) Carter, both of Hawkins Co.

Enoch and Mary had 12 children: Hattie Brown (14 March 1891-20 July 1971) married 8 April 1908 to Oscar F. Shipley; James Maurice (16 March 1892-27 August 1974) married 6 April 1913 to Allie Taylor; John Guy (3 October 1893-19 June 1894); Mary Ann (6 March 1895-27 July 1945), married on 19 July 1919 to Walter Benjamin Shipley; Ernest Alvin (15 September 1896-16 November 1958) married on 3 June 1917 to Ida Mae Harr; Wilmer I. (3 March 1899-28 September 1933) married 7 April 1923 to Lena Hobbs; Thomas Henry (23 March 1901-1 December 1970) married on 6 June 1922 to Ann Childress; Nathan Miller (22 November 1904-26 March 1951), married Audrey M. Layne; George Edward (13 December 1908-7 March 1971) married on 8 August 1928 to Maude Pyle; Floyd Lynn (17 January 1911-6 June 1937); Enoch Howard (born 12 August 1912) married 1st Mabel Harr, and 2nd Betty Beverly; Eugene Frank (born 16 February 1916) married on 12 March 1937 to Mildred Poore.

Hattie B. and Oscar F. Shipley are my parents.

Related Stories:

George W. Fansler Family.

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Submitted by:

Elizabeth Shipley Collins
1800 Stratford Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37664

George W. FANSLER Family

George W. Fansler was born 5 April 1843 and died 15 February 1919 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, the youngest son of David and Mary (Polly) Shipley Fansler. He must have taken care of his mother, Mary, as she was living in his household when the 1880 Hawkins County Census was taken.

George W. married 1st to Elizabeth Anderson, born about 1843, and they had eight children. He married 2nd on 7 August 1908 to Susan M. Rice, and they had no children.

William Clinton Fansler (October 1863-18 April 1934) married on 17 October 1883 Sarah Matilda Thacker. Their children were Elijah, Alice, and Mary Pearl.

David R. Fansler (16 October 1866-14 May 1942) married on 8 September 1888 to Matilda Sams, and they had seven children:

Goldie Fansler (30 May 1891-17 March 1980), married Orban A. Anderson.

Garland A. Fansler (April 1893-1966), married Mary B. Epperson Darter.

Marvin C. Fansler (13 March 1895-22 June 1974), married Effie Lee Allen.

Mary Cleve Fansler (25 March 1897-25 April 1937), married Orban B. Anderson, and they had five children: Ella Marie Anderson (born 21 March 1917), married Kelly Falin; Zelma Bessie Anderson (born 6 September 1918), married 1st to Elbert H. Darter, and 2nd Campbell Eugene Shipley; Harold Anderson (7 December 1921-3 February 1976), married Jessie Evelyn Fansler; Herman Scott Anderson (born 14 February 1925), married Lucille Casteel; and Orban B. Anderson, Jr. (born 25 November 1927), married Thelma Casteel.

David R. Fansler, Jr. (May 1899-1962), married 1st to Lydia Isenberg, and 2nd to Kate Herron.

Bess Fansler (1902-1974), never married.

Matilda Fansler (1904-1984), married 1st to Scott Earl Anderson, and 2nd to Steve Anderson.

Enoch Fansler (May 1868-6 May 1933), married on 8 March 1889 to Sarah Thacker, and they had six children:

Eliza Fansler (February 1890-...).

Flora Alice Fansler (May 1891-...).

Cora Fansler (June 1896-...).

Claude Fansler (4 April 1897-24 May 1918), died in WWI.

Cornie Fansler (June 1899-...).

Edgar (Edd) Fansler (3 June 1906-19 November 1972), married on 20 September 1930 to Bonnie Elizabeth Fansler.

Mary Fansler (ca. 1870-...), married James Barnett.

Dimon (Endymon) Fansler (29 April 1872-8 January 1932), married on 31 December 1896 to Mary (Mollie) Ellen Shipley, daughter of Enoch and Ellen (Carter) Shipley. He was a farmer and a stone mason. Since he had no form of transportation, he walked over the upper end of Hawkins Co., as well as part of Sullivan Co., carrying his masonry tools on his back and built stone chimneys for a lot of homes. They had three children:

Loftin Reed Fansler (13 August 1899-20 January 1987) married on 12 March 1922 to Lillie Hensley, daughter of Isaac and Mary Jane (Davis) Hensley. They had seven children: Vergie (born 13 May 1924) married Kyle Falin; Paul (born 9 September 1926) married Geneva Cox; I.D. (born 29 July 1929) married Helen Church; Orville (born 5 September 1935), married Pauline Jones; James (born 28 July 1932) married Dorothy Hensley; Stella (born 6 April 1940 married James Pierson; and Audley (born 29 July 1942) married Faye Burnett.

Bonnie Elizabeth Fansler (26 June 1906-11 July 1987), married on 20 September 1930 Edgar (Edd) Fansler. They had four children: Mary Agnes (13 December 1933-8 February 1935); Enoch Luther (born 24 October 1939); Frances Lucille (born 14 April 1941) married Frank W. Winegar; and Edgar D. (born 4 February 1947) married Nancy Shipley.

Ernest Luther Fansler (2 July 1910-7 April 1987) married on 12 October 1940 to Ethel Johnson. They have two children: Ethel Ruth (born 19 July 1941), married Marilyn Crabtree; and Shirley Rudene (born 21 July 1947) married Lynn Winegar.

Margaret Fansler, born about 1873.

Rachel Fansler (30 June 1876-6 June 1950) married Beverly Thacker.

Sarah Fansler (27 June 1879-12 April 1966) married Fred Allen.

Related Story:

Fansler Family

Submitted by:

Elizabeth S. Collins
1800 Stratford Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37664

William FARRIS

William Farris founded my Farris line with his wife Lavinia Anderson, probably in Washington County, Virginia. However, many of their children settled in Hawkins County, Tennessee before the 1830's, among them my great grandfather Samuel Farris. Samuel married his second wife, Frances "Fannie" Roach, my great grandmother, in 1852, in Hawkins Co. and they raised their family there. Fannie's father, Wilson Roach, had joined the U.S. Army in 1814. He served in Captain Griffin's and Captain Jonas Laughmiller's Companies under Colonel Ewan Allison in the War of 1812. He left six small children at home with their mother Jane while he served. Luckily Jane had the support and comfort of both her husband's and her families to sustain her and her children.

This must have made an impression on Fannie's young mind.

Samuel and Fannie's son, Elijah "Cam" Campbell Farris, was born in 1860 in Hawkins County. Cam married Charlotte "Lottie" Presley about 1886 and it is about this time that my Farris line left Hawkins County. All of the Farris were farmers.

My Presley line originated in North Carolina with Allen Presley who married Hannah, last name unknown. Allen was a turner. They were in Buncombe Co., North Carolina in 1840. Their son Samuel married Matilda Manis in eastern Tennessee in 1859. Matilda was born in St. Clair, Hawkins County in 1840. On July 15, 1863, when Samuel was about 26 years old he joined Company D, 8th Regiment of the East Tennessee Volunteers of the Union Army to fight in the War Between the States. This must have been a difficult decision for him to make because eastern Tennessee was under the control of the Confederacy and he left his family in enemy territory when he went off to war.

Samuel left Matilda with two small daughters to care for: Matilda, three years old, and Lottie, five months old. Either Samuel did not like service life or his family desperately needed him because he deserted from his Regiment on May 1st, 1864.

Matilda Manis Presley's parents were John Manis and Mary Dunnik. John was originally from North Carolina and Mary from Virginia but they lived and raised their family in Hawkins Co. John was a cooper. See photo of the Samuel Presley family.

I am proud of my early Hawkins County pioneer ancestors. Their hardiness and strength of character is the foundation of my life today.

Submitted by:

*Joseph "Joy" Farris
3745 Woodhurst Drive
Covina, CA 91724-3369*

Andrew FAWBUSH

Andrew Fawbush (ca. 1791-17 June 1874), probable son of Hugh and Margaret Fawbush/Forbus of Washington County, Tennessee, married Martha A. Ryans (ca. 1809-1891) in Sullivan Co., TN about 1827. Andrew Fawbush served in the War of 1812, and according to his pension application he was with General Andrew Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans. He was a blacksmith by trade and lived most of his life in Washington and Sullivan Counties, but moved to Rogersville in 1851 where he and Martha lived out their lives.

Their children were: Abner Fawbush (born ca. 1829) married Mary; Andrew Jackson Fawbush (1828-1908) married Mary A. Weatherford; Joseph Fawbush (born 1830) married Mary J. Collier, and they lived in St. Clair; Julia A. Fawbush (born 1833) married Lawrence E. Fernandez; Martha A. Fawbush (1835-1918) married Thomas A. Luntsford; George Washington Fawbush (1839-1916) married 1st Hanna Wilbur, and 2nd Gertrude Hopke, and lived in Louisville, KY; Sarah Fawbush (born 1844); Rebecca Fawbush (born 1846) married Henry Hale; and Mary A. Fawbush (born 1849).

Andrew Jackson "A.J." Fawbush (12 August 1828-5 January 1908), son of Andrew and Martha (Ryans) Fawbush, married Mary Ann Weatherford (18 September 1829-1 November 1918) in Sullivan Co., TN. A. J. Fawbush was a carpenter and blacksmith in Rogersville for many years. He and Mary Ann also lived in Knoxville, TN and Big Stone Gap, Virginia for short periods of time.

They had the following children: Margaret Fawbush (born 1852); William L. Fawbush (1855-1907) married Callie Crumby and lived in Big Stone Gap, VA; Emily Fawbush (1857-1887) married Silas Hale; Dora Fawbush (1859-1930) married Samuel Smith; Nannie Fawbush (1861-1929) married Lewis S. Clamons; Rebecca Fawbush (1862-1920) married John Cope; Andrew J. Fawbush (born 1866) married Minnie Cheatham and lived in Big Stone Gap, VA; Lucy Fawbush (1868-1914) married John McCarty and lived in Osaka, VA; and Joseph Carter Fawbush (1871-1939) married Bettie Catron.

Related Story:

Clayman/Clamons

Submitted by:

Descendants of Andrew J. Fawbush, Sr.

*c/o Bill Jenkins
Route 3
Rogersville, TN 37857*

The Search for Henry FELKNOR

By the time my father, Audley Rhea Felknor (labeled the VIth generation in this account), died in 1970, I could have assured you with some confidence that Henry Felknor (labeled the Ist generation) never existed. My father had never mentioned his name to me, nor had my aunts or cousins. No one anywhere in the family, as far as I was aware then, had ever born the name Henry. We were Felknors, (1) an English corruption of Faulkner, (2) Scotch-Irish, Scotch and English (3) Presbyterians who had (4) settled in northeastern Tennessee well before the Revolution, and (5) one of our great-grand-father Felknors had been present at Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown.

I have now managed to discover, after desultory research in a dozen libraries in six states' over a 40-year period, that all of these assumptions are wrong.

The first time I was able to do serious research on the Felknors was at the St. Louis (Mo.), Public Library in the mid-1950s. Because my mother was English and my father largely Scotch-Irish, English, and Scotch in background, I assumed the name was an early corruption of Faulkner or Falconer. The net result of that early and subsequent research into the English Falconers was to learn that there wasn't a solitary one of them that I could find any connection to, and that the Falconer coat of arms (English) bore no relevance to us since it was only granted in the mid-18th century, at a time I knew my Felknor antecedents had to be already in the colonies.

Circumstances led me to abandon research on the Felknors for several years, while pursuing my mother's branch of the family, which was English and Scotch. Then, in 1987, an opportunity to visit my first cousin Mary Margaret Norton Stooksbury (VII) in Concord, Tenn. (like me, a grandchild of Shadrach James Felknor (V: 1842-1919) gave me an opportunity to see the family bible, which contained a newspaper obituary both of Shadrach and of his father Alexander Felknor (IV: 1818-1904). On that same visit I spent the night with another first cousin, Edward Felknor (VII, b. Oct. 18, 1915) in Dandridge, Tenn. My parents and Felknor grandparents, I knew, were buried in the White Pine Community cemetery, and I asked Edward if he knew where Alexander and his wife were buried. He did, leading me to the "Old Westminster" cemetery, all but abandoned, about a mile west of White Pine. Sure enough, there was Alexander's stone (born October 20, 1818, married September 23, 1841, died March 7, 1904), and that of his wife, Anna Chilton Goan (b. April 2, 1816, d. June 29, 1891), in a hard-to-miss location near the entrance to the cemetery.

Mary Margaret's clippings of the two obituaries mentioned Morristown, and, learning that the library had a genealogical collection, on my next business trip to the southeast, I arranged to spend a few days in Morristown. There I found little new information on Shadrach, but interesting biographies of his uncle's William and Samuel, and of his father Alexander in Goodspeed's 1887 History of Tennessee.² It was in Samuel's biography that I found this information about Samuel and his father James (who was also Shadrach's grandfather and my great-great-grandfather:

"He [Samuel Felknor] is the 10th of 11 children of James and Ann (Guthrie) Felknor (III), the former a native of Hawkins County, and the latter a native of Jefferson (now Hamblen) County. The father [Samuel's father, i.e., James] was a farmer in connection with his trade as a tanner, and was of Dutch Irish stock. He was also a volunteer of the War of 1812, and his father, Philip (II), was born in Pennsylvania. The Felknors are of German origin."

German origin? Unthinkable! I KNEW we were Scotch and Scotch Irish. As I wrote to Mary Margaret, there were no stories or legends of German origin in my childhood, no mention of Germany, no German names among any of the cousins, uncles, aunts, or great-uncles and great-aunts that I knew anything about.

There is another reference in Goodspeed's History to the German origin in the biography of Andrew M. Felkner (sic), my grandfather Shadrach Felknor's brother, and like him, a grandson of James. "[Alexander Felkner (sic) is] the son of James Felknor (sic), a native of Hawkins County, Tennessee. Philip, the great-grand-father, a native of Germany, came to Philadelphia and then became a pioneer of Hawkins County."³

Pay dirt! This was the first written reference I had found connecting me definitely to Philip Felknor, although I knew from what my father had told me that were descended from him, and I thought Dad told me Philip had fought in the Revolutionary War and had been present at Cornwallis' Surrender at Yorktown. The Goodspeed references also were the first to point me in the direction of Rogersville (the county seat of Hawkins County), and the wonderful genealogical collection in the H. B. Stamps Memorial Library there.

I am more than a little indebted to Opal Alvis and to other members of the Hawkins County Genealogical and Historical Society, for allowing me to make notes on a number of documents on my portable computer during a three-day visit there in 1988.

Like many a genealogical search, the Rogersville visit brought me little information about what I originally had intended to find--more data on great-great-grandfather James (III) or great-great-great grandfather Philip (II), but it did present me with an invaluable find: the 1810 will of Philip's father Henry (I), the names of all of his children, and, indirectly, a clue to where Henry might have come from.

The will was found in Volume IV, No. 3 of Distant Crossroads (July, 1987), and mentions that Henry Felknor's wife is Rosanna, and that Philip is among his nine children. The will is indexed in the will book as "Felkner," but Henry signed it "Falcknor." The will was signed February 15, 1810, and this is the closest clue we have to a death date for Henry, whose body is probably buried in Rogersville but in a grave I have not yet located.⁴ Both Rosanna Felknor and Henry's grandson James are listed in Byron and Barbara Sistler's 19th Century Tennessee Church Records, Volume 1 as being in Tennessee in 1828, so if this is our Rosanna she may have made her home with her grandson James after son Philip left Tennessee.⁵

As for Henry's son Philip, (II: born 1760-1770, apparently in Pennsylvania and not in Germany as Goodspeed had said⁶), he has been an elusive figure. I am getting closer to him, but still have not found him with certainty. That he existed in 1810 we know from Henry's will. Conrad Feltner says he is listed "in the 1830 Census of Hawkins County."⁷ That he no longer was in Tennessee in 1840 we know from the Tennessee Census of 1840.⁸

While in Rogersville, I searched for information on two other branches of the family tree -- that of Alexander Guthrie (II), father of Ann Guthrie (III) (James Felknor's wife), and the branch of Jane McFerran, Alexander Felknor's wife. In the Goodspeed History biography of Samuel G. Felknor mentioned above, Goodspeed notes⁹ that Samuel's mother "was a daughter of Alexander Guthrie, a native of Botetourt County, Virginia... and [Samuel's] mother's grandmother, Mrs. McFerrin (sic), was a native of Scotland, and, coming to America, settled on the farm [in Hamblen County, Tennessee] where Mr. Felknor now resides."

That "Grandmother McFerrin" was news to me, and so I determined to find out where Botetourt County, Virginia, was. It is in the lower Shenandoah Valley just northwest of Roanoke, and in the fall of 1992 I was able to make two trips to the libraries in Roanoke and in Fincastle, Va. where I learned the McFerrans had lived. (Fincastle is the county seat of Botetourt County). In these visits I didn't learn a great deal about Grandmother McFerran, other than that she was the wife of Alexander Guthrie, that they were married in the Presbyterian Church in Fincastle Nov. 22, 1791, and that her first name was Jane.¹⁰

The research into the McFerran-Guthrie marriage confirmed one other fact I had been suspecting for some time: that I did indeed have a great-great-great-grandfather who was present at Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown, but that his name was Alexander Guthrie, not Philip Felknor.¹¹ Somehow or other during the oral transmission the Cornwallis-surrender-grandfather had gotten transposed to becoming James Felknor's father instead of his wife Ann Guthrie's father.

An even greater discovery during that trip was made entirely by accident, walking through the open shelves of the Roanoke Public Library's Genealogy room.

There, in a big, bright red oversize volume was a book, "The Feltner Family." It was published by Conrad W. Feltner in 1979,¹² and I had never even heard of it. Conrad's masterful history traces "The Feltner Family" (with a T)¹³ back to some of my descendants, including Philip, and to Philip's father Henry.

According to Conrad Feltner, Philip Felknor (II) was born about 1768, probably either in Pennsylvania or Virginia, since he is listed in the 1789 and 1790 Virginia tax lists as being over 21 years of age. Since Philip is listed in the Hawkins County, Tennessee 1830 census list, I gather that he must have come west with his father, who arrived in Rogersville in 1791.

Philip's wife's name was Hannah. Deeds indicate that they had either five or six children, including James (my great-great grandfather),¹⁴ Jane, Catherine, Mary, Philip N., and possibly Margaret Felknor.¹¹ Philip seems to disappear from Tennessee records after 1830, and either died or went with his wife and son Philip N. to Callaway County, Missouri.

Those clues made me determine to visit Callaway County, Missouri, which I was able to do in the spring of 1993. There, in the Callaway County library in Fulton, Mo., I found Hannah Felkner (sic) listed in the 1840 census for Auxvasse Township, Callaway County.¹⁶ She was head of the household, and listed in the column for "1 female, 50-60." That would have made her birth date sometime between 1780 and 1800. No husband is listed, indicating that my great-great-great grandfather Philip, listed in the Hawkins County, Tennessee, 1830 census, must have died before the 1840 census was taken in Missouri.

The locations of several Felknor graves are indicated in the cemetery records of Callaway County,¹⁷ with most of the early burials being in Fairview M.E. Cemetery, located south of Calwood, Mo., a few miles northeast of Fulton near the present route of I-70. No tombstone for Philip or Hannah can be found, but there are several unmarked graves as well as one undated stone marked simply "Felknor." There are marked stones for Philip H (Philip and Hannah's son, 1819-1902), Daniel E. (infant, died 1888), and Ruben (1881-1934).

Why did Philip Felknor, Alexander Guthrie and Henry Felknor leave the Shenandoah Valley and come to Rogersville, Tennessee?

The deed that transferred what is now Tennessee to the United States was executed on February 25, 1790. Within a year Henry and Philip, from the northern portion of the Shenandoah Valley, and Alexander Guthrie and Jane McFerran, from Botetourt County in the Southern portion, had left Virginia, and following the Indian trail that led up over the mountains of Virginia into the headwaters of the Holston and Rogersville.

Slavery may well have been an issue that led Henry and Philip out of Virginia.¹⁸ The German settlers were opposed to slavery, having never experienced it in Europe, while the Scotch-Irish emigrants to the Shenandoah Valley generally favored it. This put the non-slave-owning farmer at a disadvantage to the slave-owner, who could produce crops with slave labor cheaper than his German neighbor.

A number of settlers left Eastern Tennessee in the mid-1820s and 1830s for Kentucky, Arkansas, and Missouri, and Philip Felknor, by settling in Callaway County near the banks of the Missouri River, some 700 miles west of Rogersville, may simply have been continuing the tradition of his father in moving westward into a new frontier.¹⁹ With the exception of his son Philip N., however, all of the other descendants of Philip seem to have remained in Tennessee.

As for Henry Felknor, Conrad Feltner's history gives the text of the 1770 decree granted by Lord Fairfax ("the Right Honourable Baron of Cameron in that part of Great Britain called Scotland, Proprietor of the Northern Neck of Virginia," to "Henry Felkner of Frederick County a certain tract of waste and ungranted land on Funks Mill Run, a branch of the north river of the Shenandoah."²⁰

The grant was for 328 acres, for which Henry Felkner was to pay Lord Fairfax six and a half-shillings every year on the feast of St. Michael, September 29. Two years later Henry got a second grant for 390 acres.

The area is in the northern portion of the Shenandoah Valley, near Strasburg in northwestern Virginia, just a few miles below Hagerstown, Md. (Frederick County of 1770 is Shenandoah County of today). In a History of Strasburg I found in the town library in a subsequent trip to Strasburg, Henry Felknor is listed not only among the early pioneers, but among the six founders of the Lutheran church in Strasburg, which is one of the oldest Lutheran churches in the western hemisphere. His name here is listed as Heinrich Voelckner.²¹ (In German, "V" gets an "F" sound before a vowel, and the diphthong "oe" [used to represent ö with the umlaut] gets a sound, if followed by an "lk," more or less rhyming with "elk." Thus, Voelckner or Völckner in German and Felknor in English sound about the same.)

In 1769, according to one account,²² the Strasburg Lutheran church in 1769 was without a pastor. To make up for the lack, "various able men of the community were promoting its welfare, conducting regular services of worship, and recording in the congregation's parish register the vital statistics of a growing community. [Among them were]...Heinrich Voelckner (Felkner)..."

And so when Lord Fairfax on Dec. 21 1771 deeded 200 acres "on the north branch of the Shenandoah" for the Lutheran church, the deed was made out to "Hieronimus Baker, Martin Roller, Laurence Snapp, and Henry Felkner (sic) elders of the Lutheran church and congregation."²³

If Henry Felknor was a stalwart of the Lutheran church in Strasburg, Virginia, in 1770, moving from there only in 1791 to settle in Rogersville, how did he get to Strasburg?

Like other German immigrants before and after him, he appears to have arrived in western Virginia via the overland route that led in stages from Philadelphia, through Lancaster to Strasburg and other parts of the Shenandoah Valley.²⁴

Judging by the number of children he had, the livestock and possessions mentioned in his will, and his known activities in Virginia before arriving in Rogersville, Henry Felknor could well have been in his 80s at the time of the writing of his will in 1810. If he was indeed 80 in 1810, he would have been 40 years old in 1770 at the time Lord Halifax granted him 328 acres in Strasburg. If he came to America

20 years before that, at the age of perhaps 20, one would look for his name in ship passenger lists of around 1750.

At that time, for reasons beyond the scope of this account, German immigrants were brought to Philadelphia rather than New York, and so I was convinced a trip to the genealogical room of the Philadelphia Library was indicated. And there, indeed, in the passenger list for the ship Edinburgh, which arrived in Philadelphia 16, September, 1751, is the name of Johann Hentrich Völckner (spelled with an umlaut ö).²⁵

Where did Henry come from in Germany (the Edinburgh usually carried passengers from the Rhine Palatinate)?²⁶ How did he meet Rosannah, where did he marry her, how did he manage to get from Philadelphia to Strasburg, and then on to Rogersville, and acquire enough wealth to raise nine children and leave cattle and possessions to his children? That is the story for another time, another place.

Sources:

1. New York Public Library, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.; St. Louis (Mo.) Public Library, Chicago Public Library, Newberry Library, Chicago; Memphis Public Library, Sikeston, Mo., Public Library; Callaway County Public Library, Fulton, Mo.; Missouri State Archives, Jefferson City; H. B. Stamps Memorial Library, Rogersville, Tenn; Morristown (Tenn.) Public Library, Roanoke (Va.) Public Library, Fincastle (Va.) Public Library, Strasburg (Va.) Public Library, Philadelphia Public Library.

2. Goodspeed. Goodspeed's History of Tennessee, East Tennessee Edition. Nashville, Goodspeed Publishing Company, 1887.

3. op cit, p. 1170.

4. The will is reprinted from Prentiss Price's Abstracts of the Hawkins County Tennessee Will Book 1, Courthouse, Rogersville, page 179 (page 23 in the Prentiss Price book).

5. Byron and Barbara Sistler, 19th Century Tennessee Church Records, 2 vols. Nashville, 1979.

6. Goodspeed's History of Tennessee, East Tennessee Edition, Page 1170, in the item about Andrew M. Felknor.

7. Conrad W. Feltner, The Feltner Family. Middlesboro, Ky., 1979, p. 555.

8. National Archives, Washington, D.C. The Federal Census of 1840. Tennessee.

9. Goodspeed, pp. 1200-1216.

10. Vogt, Botetourt County Marriages – Women's Name, p. 500. [Found in Public Library, Fincastle, Va., 1992].

11. Conrad W. Feltner, The Feltner Family, Middlesboro, Ky., 1979. See also List of Officers, Sailors, and Marines of the Virginia Navy in the American Revolution, p. 77, in which Alexander Guthrie (sic) is listed as one of the 40 captains who were officers of the Virginia Navy.

12. Conrad W. Feltner, The Feltner Family. Middlesboro, Ky., (published by the author), 1979, 730 pp.

13. The origin of "Feltner" is explained in one family account that traces the spelling back to Lewis Felknor (IV), son of James (III). In a letter to my father (VI), Lewis Felknor (Feltner's daughter Bell Williams (V) says that "Lewis, my father, could just write his name and could not make the letter 'k'..."

14. Goodspeed, p 1170.

15. Personal correspondence of Margaret Hawkins to my father, 1967. Conrad Feltner (page 555) says: "Deeds show that he had either five or six children. James, Mary, and Philip N. are definitely known to have been his children, and there are several possibilities for the other children."

16. Frances Nelson and Gwen Brouse, The Missouri Census of 1840 (mimeographed). Riverside, Calif., 1977, Privately printed. p. 9.

17. Mrs. Grace West Baynham and Mrs. George Baumgartner, Cemetery Records of Callaway County, Volume 1, P. 152. Bound typescript, undated. [Found in Callaway County Public Library, Fulton, Mo., 1993].

18. Clare White, Roanoke: 1740-1792. Roanoke: Roanoke Valley Historical Society, 1982, p. 17 ff.

19. For additional reasons Tennessee settlers came to Callaway County, see Ovid Bell, Short History of Callaway County. Fulton, Mo.: The Fulton Gazette, 1913; and Callaway, a County Study (no author given). Typescript (offset). Fulton, Mo.: Provisional League of Women Voters, June, 1965. [Both items located in Callaway County Library, Fulton, Mo., 1993.]

20. The Feltner Family, pp. 16-17

21. George Smith, "'Men of God' Played Major Role in Strasburg's Story." In Virginia Hinkins Cadden, The Story of Strasburg. Strasburg, Va., (no date), p 14-15. [Found in Strasburg Community Library, 1992].

22. op cit, p. 14-15.

23. C. W. Cassell et al, (eds). History of the Lutheran Church in Virginia and East Tennessee. Strasburg, Va., Shenandoah Publishing House, Inc., 1930, p. 235 [Found in Strasburg Community Library, 1992].

24. 19. See Herrmann Schuricht, History of the German Element in Virginia, Vol. 1. Baltimore: Theo. Kroh & Sons, 1898, pp. 66 ff.

25. I. Daniel Rupp, A Collection of Upwards of Thirty Thousand Names of German, Swiss, Dutch, French and Other Immigrants in Pennsylvania from 1727 to 1776, with a Statement of the Names of Ships, Whence They Sailed, and the Date of Their Arrival at Philadelphia. Philadelphia: Leary, Stuart Company, 1927, p. 254. [Found in Philadelphia Public Library, 1993].

26. Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Pennsylvania German Pioneers: A Publication of the Original Lists of Arrivals in the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808. Norristown, Pa., 1834: The Pennsylvania German Society, Vol. 1, p xxix, xxxii. [Found in Philadelphia Public Library, 1991].

Submitted by:

Rhea Felknor
(Audley Rhea Felknor, Jr.)
60 Highland Avenue
Emerson, NJ 07630

John FERRELL

John Ferrell and Elizabeth Ferrell were the parents of four known children: El-zak, Alfred, Andrew, and John. The third child, Andrew, was born in 1828 and was a farmer and laborer during his life. Andrew married Margaret (Annis) Looney on September 11, 1846 in Rogersville, Tennessee. They had seven children: Ruben, Jessie, Mary, Margart, Eva, Rachel, and Lucy.

Ruben was married in Rogersville to Martha Jane Lawson, and they had six children: Cody, Lillie, Florence, Joseph, John Frank, and Harvey. Ruben was a small man with long hair and a beard. He was known to carry a small black bag with herbs in it from the trees and flowers he used to help people get well. He was a retired farmer. He lived in Rogersville until sometime after his wife died in Rogersville. She is buried at the Presbyterian Church on Kyle Street in Rogersville. She died in 1903, and Rubin lived 27 more years as a widower. Sometime after her death, he went to Knoxville, TN, where he died. He made many trips to Rogersville from Knoxville to visit his family that was still there. He died in Knoxville on April 7, 1930 and is buried at Bookwalter Cemetery in Knoxville.

John Frank Ferrell met and married Nancy Arkansas Winstead. They were married April 22, 1900 in Rogersville. They had 10 children; the first two were born in Rogersville, and the other eight were born in Knoxville. They were: James Frank, Martha Ellen, Florence, Charles Evan, Nora Lou, Lee Starnes, Mary Alice, Walter Franklin, Robert Nicklos, Ruby Ruth Nomia, and Wallace Elbert. Robert and Wallace died within three days of each other in 1923 of the flu. They were both under three years of age.

John Frank Ferrell died July 23, 1945 and is buried at Bookwalter Cemetery in Knoxville. John F. Ferrell was a farmer most of his life, sometimes working laborer jobs to add to his income. His father Ruben was not a tall man, but John Ferrell was over 6'-4" and was very thin. He wore a mustache which he shaved off every summer.

Walter Franklin Ferrell lived in Knoxville until he was 20 years old. He was in the three C's (ed: C.C.C., i.e. Civilian Conservation Corps) driving an ambulance and also helped to build the Applachian Trail.

He went to Cincinnati in 1936, and in 1937 he married Kathryn Bernice Caldwell. He served in the army during WWII as a medic. After his discharge, he did a number of jobs from working on the railroad to being a salesman. They had one child Rosalie, born May 13, 1938.

Submitted by:

*Rosalie Jaszczak
7818 N. Matanzas
Tampa, FL 33614*

Byrd Dugger FIELDS

Byrd (Bird) Dugger Fields, the son of Obediah Fields, was born 13 February 1805 and died 6 October 1901 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. On 30 July 1839 in Greene County, Tennessee, he married Sarah McLain, born 11 February 1806 and died 20 May 1880. They had six children, all born in Hawkins County.

(1) Lafayette Fields, born 1841.

(2) Perry Allen Fields, born 15 January 1843, died 15 June 1921, married on 12 January 1862 in Greene County, Tennessee Elizabeth Brown, born 6 May 1841, died 6 October 1888, daughter of William and Elizabeth Brown. (3) George W. Fields, born 16 April 1849, died 9 September 1917, married 26 October 1873 to America Ball.

(4) Lydia Fields, born 4 April 1852, died 19 August 1945.

(5) Henry R. Fields, born 10 January 1855, died 23 June 1938.

(6) Hiley J. Fields, born 1859.

Perry Allen and Elizabeth Brown Fields had 10 children:

(1) Mary Etta Fields, born 1863, died 1935, married Joe H. Sumner.

(2) Auldon Fields, born 1 February 1865, died 17 September 1922.

(3) Nathan Fields, born 1 February 1865, died 22 June 1922, married 31 May 1890, Patience (Pashia) Ball.

(4) Sarah Elizabeth Fields, born December 1867, died 8 April 1930, married Henry W. McLain (McClain).

(5) George Fields, born 26 January 1869, died 29 September 1944, married 15 July 1897, Mary Etta Light.

(6) William Fields, born 8 March 1871, died 20 January 1905, married Mahalah Ball.

(7) David Dugger Fields, born 8 March 1871, died 25 January 1948, married 22 August 1894 Lillie Underhill, born on 1 September 1876, died 29 December 1950, daughter of William Harwin and Elizabeth Short Underhill.

(8) Samuel Fields, born 22 September 1876(77), died 1949, married Martha Brown.

(9) Abraham Fields, born September 1876(77), died 24 May 1948, married Fannie Morelock.

(10) Daniel Fields, born 1879, died young.

David Dugger and Lillie Underhill Fields had 10 children, all born in Hawkins County, Tennessee:

(1) Vertie Fields, born 1879, lived 6 weeks.

(2) Gertie Fields, born 1879, lived 6 weeks.

(3) John Emerson Fields, born 5 March 1898, died 7 January 1968, married Clarice Bernard, born 21 December 1901, died 27 June 1992, daughter of Albert and Vesta Sage Bernard.

(4) Lowery E. Fields, born 8 August 1900, died 13 February 1980.

(5) Elsie L. Fields, born 12 August 1903, married 22 January 1924, Oscar Duncan.

(6) Ethel F. Fields, born 4 September 1906, married 1 October 1927, William Woods.

(7) Orlie Sylvester Fields, born 19 February 1908, died 25 January 1966, married 18 March 1929, Nellie Morelock, born 31 October 1912, daughter of Noah and Etta Rhoton Morelock.

(8) Dewey K. Fields, born 24 May 1911, died 25 July 1970.

(9) Alden T. Fields, born 30 January 1914, died 17 August 1986, married Ora Wilcox.

(10) William Clarence Fields, born 26 April 1916, died 18 March 1981, married Helen Gardner.

Orlie Sylvester and Nellie Morelock Fields had 5 children, all born in Hawkins County, Tennessee:

(1) Dorsey Hobert Fields, born January 1930, died 22 February 1974, married 9 May 1951, Mary Elizabeth Bowery, born 28 April 1933, daughter of Verlin Edgar Sr. and Vergie Little Bowery.

(2) Kermit Clay Fields, born 27 September 1932, married (1) Eva Church, (2) Betty Fields.

(3) Velma Fields, born 28 March 1934, married J. Fred Bragg.

(4) Emogene Fields, born 14 March 1936, married Bobby Sam Conkin.

(5) Charles Ralph Fields, born 18 April 1938, married Judy Harris.

Dorsey Hobert and Mary Bowery Fields had 2 children:

(1) Brenda Sue Fields, born 13 November 1952, married 5 November 1977, James Hillman McConnell, son of Errett and Nattie Hillman McConnell. One son, Adam Fields McConnell, born 25 August 1986.

(2) Allen Edgar Fields, born 10 September 1963, married 1 November 1986, Elizabeth Faye Price, daughter of Joe and Earline Robertson Price. One son, Kendall Dorsey Fields, born 19 December 1990.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Mary Fields Carter
516 Red Oak Lane
Kingsport, TN 37663

Ellerson FIELDS

Jedidah FIELDS, Mother of Ellerson FIELDS, is shown in Hawkins Co. TN as early as 1824 with the registration of a land grant of "fifty acres of land in the County of Hawkins in the State of Tennessee on the South side of Holston River on the Waters of Beech Creek Joining the Tract of land whereon She now lives and the land of James JONES and to run up towards John Packs an a Round for compliment. Entered 25th May 1824." She is shown as "Dida" FIELDS on the 1830 census, Eastern District, TN, and as

"Judida" FIELDS on the 1840 census of Randolph Co., IN. No evidence has been found as to who was the father of Ellerson FIELDS.

Ellerson FIELDS was born in Butcher's Valley, Hawkins Co., Tennessee on the 17th of August 1820. His siblings were William, Elizabeth, Henderson, Dempsey, Russell, and Jackson. About 1833 the family moved to Randolph Co., Indiana. On the 25th of November 1850 Judida was united in marriage with William SIZEMORE. Her tombstone in Prospect Cemetery, Randolph Co., Indiana reads, "Judida, wife of William SIZEMORE, died May 17, 1861, aged 79 years."

On June 3, 1842, in Randolph County, Indiana Marriage Records, 1837-1847, page 132, the marriage of Elerson FIELDS and Mary Ann DIEHL is recorded as being performed by J. MOCK, Justice of the Peace, on the 10th of March 1842; but on March 23, 1842, Judida FIELDS signed with her mark, "Mr George W. Monks, Sir you may let Elerson FIELDS have his license for he is his own man and i (sic) am willing for him to have the gurl Maryan DEAL." Also, on that date Charles DEAL signed, "George W. Monks Sir this is to certify that we are willing that you should ishue license for Elerson FIELDS and Maryan DEAL for we are willing and she is of age." Mary Ann DIEHL was the daughter of Charles DIEHL and Mary Elizabeth SHEETS.

Ellerson FIELDS and wife, Mary Ann, and children were living in Grant Co., Richland Twp., Indiana in the 1850 census and in Adams Co., Hartford Township, Indiana in the 1860 census. During these years he bought and sold much land as shown recorded in the deed books of these counties.

Ellerson and Mary Ann had fourteen children: Manerva, Lewis, Eli, Levi, Charles Diehl, Elizabeth, Ephraim, Harriett Melissa, Hiram, John William and Milton Leander who were born in Indiana. After the family moved to Wisconsin, about 1864, two other children were born but died in infancy. The youngest child, Martha, was born in Jackson Co., Kansas.

Moving to Kansas about 1868, the Ellerson FIELDS family is shown living in Jackson Co., Kansas in the 1870 census. On June 9, 1870 Ellerson FIELDS made application (#2372) at Topeka, Kansas for a homestead on the S-1/2 of SW-1/4 of Section 30 in Township 6 of Range 12 containing 72 acres in Pottawatomie County, Kansas, Millcreek Twp. He "entered upon and made settlement on this land on the 12th day of April 1870 and built a frame house 22 feet long and 18 feet wide. Pine shingle roof, 2 outside doors, and 2 windows. One story high concreted with stone. Lumber floors and is a good comfortable house to live in. He has, since said settlement, plowed, fenced and cultivated about 40 acres of said land and has built 240 rods of post and board and post and rail fence. Has built a log stable 14 feet square covered with hay, a stone grenary 14 x 18 feet covered with shingles and well finished. Has two good wells of water walled with stone. Has planted an orchard of 13 apple trees, 31 cherry and 180 peach trees and other small fruit and forest trees. The land well tilled and cultivated." He received his final certificate #1917 on March 16, 1877, Topeka, Kansas. The homestead is still in the FIELDS family.

Ellerson FIELDS died May 23, 1890 and Mary Ann DIEHL FIELDS died April 22, 1912. Both are buried in the Havensville Cemetery in Havensville, Pottawatomie Co., Kansas.

The generations from Judida FIELDS to the present generation of my grand daughter Stephanie FIELDS are: Judida1 FIELDS, Ellerson2 FIELDS, Charles Diehl3 FIELDS, Albert E.4 FIELDS, C.W.5 FIELDS, Kenneth Lee6 FIELDS, and Stephanie Diane7 FIELDS.

Related story:

Henderson Fields, Sr.

Sources:

Land Entries, Vol. A, Hawkins Co. TN

Marriage Records, Book C, p. 317, Grant Co., IN

Submitted by:

Mrs. C. W. Fields
336 Sterba Lane
Prescott, AZ 8630

Henderson FIELDS, Sr.

Henderson FIELDS, Sr. was born in Butcher's Valley, Hawkins Co., Tennessee the 19th of May, 1806. His death certificate lists William FIELDS as father and has no mother listed. His siblings were William, Elizabeth, Dempsey, Russell, Jackson, and Ellerson. Henderson was their third child. The Nebraska City Press stated in his obituary "He lived in the wilds of Tennessee and was a tiller of the soil."

He was married in Hawkins County on the 27th of October, 1834 to Alzira FIELDS by Stephen BAILY, J. P. Henderson's obituary states that Alzira (Ally) FIELDS was a distant cousin.

Feeling the urge to travel they went to Indiana in 1834. Henderson and Alzira FIELDS were living in Grant Co., Pleasant Twp., Indiana in the 1850 census. They had 12 children. Ten children were born in Indiana and they buried five children there. They are Mariah (Maria) born December 9, 1836 (m. Allen CARPENTER); Malinda born September 28, 1838 (m. Frederick Lathrop TUCKER); Perry born December 8, 1840, died January 5, 1841; Marena born November 13, 1841, died August 18, 1842; Marthy Ellen born November 27, 1843, died March 25 1849; Henderson, Jr. born February 13, 1846 (m. Dorothy Maria MEACHAM); Margery born September 1, 1848 (m. Charles (Carlo) GENUCHI); Daniel born July 22, 1850, died September 24, 1850; Sary Jane born September 13, 1851, died September 15, 1852; Mary Eliza born August 3, 1853 (m. Anton KLAUS).

In 1853, they moved to Wisconsin and in the 1860 census, they are living in Grant Co., Lima Twp., Wisconsin. Frederick Tucker was born on July 2, 1856 and died January 29, 1860; William was born July 31, 1859 (m. Elizabeth P. KLAUS). In the 1860 census, Henderson's occupation was a carpenter.

In October of 1865, they travelled by covered wagon to Nebraska, locating in Otoe County on the 15th of October. He took up a homestead of one hundred and sixty acres, 3 miles east of Bennet, Nebraska which he improved and on which he lived until 1899, when he moved to Bennet. He continued to reside there until he was called to his final rest on June 19, 1910, at the remarkable age of 104 years! He was a familiar figure on the streets of Bennet and was able to walk around town until within three days of his death. He was probably the oldest living man in Nebraska. Alzira died on the homestead March 7, 1899 at the age of 91. They and their married children are buried in the Bennet, Nebraska Cemetery, Lancaster County.

When sixteen years of age, Henderson united with the Methodist Church, later uniting with the reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in 1874. On September 5, 1909, as a minister, he preached a sermon to several hundred people congregated in a park near Bennet.

Grandson, William Clark, in a letter to a cousin wrote "Oh, that I could do justice fully to the eloquence of Grandpap in Lincoln lore—superlatives etched to my heart and sealing there the very goodness of the great "emancipator." Grandpap, born in the neighboring state of Tennessee three years before Lincoln, knew the man. By the impressions gained from Grandpap holding my rapt attention, it seems I, also, acquired a knowing hold. I surely know that President Lincoln, in his high office, was a commoner of the most common-seed-planter extraordinary in the broad expanse of democracy."

Henderson's daughter, Margery, and Charles GENUCHI were the first couple married in Luke LAVENDER's log cabin on April 4, 1866 by Probate Judge Luke LAVENDER. The cabin was built in 1864, the year of the founding of the village Lancaster, now Lincoln, a settlement of 5 buildings. Family and her obituary said their first child, Almeda, was the first white baby born there. Henderson's granddaughter (mother, Margery) Rosa Mae HENDRICKS was crowned Queen of Lancaster County Centennial Families in 1967 at the age of 93. Henderson FIELDS was the head of 5 generations when he died.

Related story:

Ellerson Fields

Sources:

Tennessee Marriage Records, Vol. 11.

Henderson Fields, Sr. Family Bible.

Lincoln and Lancaster Co., Nebraska, Vol. 11.

Lincoln paper.

Original letter.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Sharon L. Montgomery
(Great-great granddaughter)
1707 14th Street Road
Greeley, CO 80631*

FORD - TAYLOR - HORTON

Lloyd Ford was born in 1834 in Sullivan County, Tennessee, and died in 1911 in Stanley Valley, Hawkins Co., TN. In 1859 in Hawkins Co. he married Cinderalla Taylor, born 1827, and died after the 1880 Hawkins Co. Census. Cinderella's mother was Rebecca, born ca. 1810, and living in the Lloyd Ford household in the 1870 Hawkins Co. Census.

Lloyd was a soldier in the Confederate Army in the Civil War, Co. C, 12th (Day's) Cavalry Battalion, organized at Camp Adrian, Hawkins Co. He enlisted in 1862, and was captured in 1864 in the Valley of Virginia, taken to Harper's Ferry, and imprisoned at Camp Chase, Ohio. He was paroled in 1865 at City Point, VA.

Their children were: Pauline M., born ca. January 1860 in TN; Thomas, born ca. 1861 in TN; Nancy A., born ca. 1864 in TN; Robert E. Lee, born 1868 in Hawkins Co., died 1892 in Unicoi Co., TN, married in Hawkins Co. in 1892 to Sarah Ross Horton, born 1870 in Hawkins Co., died 1921 in Unicoi Co., TN, daughter of Isaac and Margaret (Davis) Horton.

Lloyd Ford's parents were Thomas Ford, born 1802 in Washington or Sullivan Co., TN, died in Washington or Sullivan Co., TN, married in 1828 in Washington or Sullivan Co. to Elizabeth Chandley, born 1809 in North Carolina, died in Washington or Sullivan Co.

Lloyd Ford's grandfather was Lloyd Ford, born 1751 in Baltimore County, Maryland, died ca. 1840 in Washington Co., TN, buried near Greys Station, has a limestone marker L.F. He was a soldier in the American Revolution, Maryland Militia 1777-1778, and fought in two battles under Capt. John Stevenson when Baltimore was under siege by the British Fleet in Chesapeake Bay. He married in 1780 in Baltimore Co., MD to Mary Wood.

Lloyd's great grandfather was Lloyd Ford, born 1727 in Baltimore Co., MD, died 1816 in Washington Co., TN, married in 1749 in Baltimore Co., MD to Mary Grant, daughter of Alexander and Elizabeth (Coale) Grant.

Lloyd Ford's g-g-grandfather was Thomas Ford, born ca. 1692 in Anne Arundel Co., MD, died ca. 1748 in Baltimore Co., MD, married in 1711 in Anne Arundel Co., MD to Leah Price, born 1690 West River, Anne Arundel Co., MD, daughter of Mordecai and Mary (Parsons) Price (parents of 23 children).

Lloyd Ford's g-g-g-grandfather was James Ford, born ca. 1666 in England, died 1702 in Anne Arundel Co., MD, married in 1691 to Elizabeth born ca. 1670 in England.

The children of Robert E. Lee and Sarah Rosa (Horton) Ford were: Isaac Lloyd, born 1893 in Hawkins Co., died 1961 in New Mexico; Lilia A., born 1895 in Hawkins Co., died 1977 in Washington state; Elizabeth, born 1897 in Hawkins Co., died 1977 in Unicoi Co., TN; James Hiram, born 1898 in Hawkins Co., died in Unicoi Co.; Clara M., born 1901 in Hawkins Co., died 1972 in Unicoi Co.; Mark Edward, born 1903 in Hawkins Co., died 1905 in Hawkins Co.; Thomas J., born 1905 in Hawkins Co., died 1974 in Unicoi Co.; Margaret Cinderella, born 1908 Unicoi Co., died 1985 Unicoi Co.; Neta Ida Kate, born 1910 Unicoi Co., died 1990 Unicoi Co.

[Ed: About 1900 Lloyd Ford remarried Sally Elvira (Lane) Cox (6 March 1861 in Hawkins Co.-22 September 1941 in Hawkins Co.), daughter of James M. and Elizabeth J. Lane. Sally was the widow of Adam Anderson Cox (10 April 1858 in Hawkins Co.-12 May 1891 in Hawkins Co.), and had three surviving sons by him, Charles William (1883-1925), Roy Jarvis (1885-1956), and Eckle Jackson (1889-1948). The 1910 Hawkins Co. Census shows Lloyd, age 75, Sally E., age 48, Charles W. Cox, age 27, and Roy J., age 23.]

Submitted by:

Willie Ford Snider
4519 Ellysee Way
Pensacola, FL 32505

FORGEY

Andrew Forgey Sr. was born 4 February 1732, and died on 3 August 1809. His wife, Margaret, was born 25 December 1741, and died 1 June 1828. They were in Hawkins County by 1788, having come from Ireland. We know the names of four sons: James, Hugh, John, and Andrew Jr. There were girls mentioned in the will dated 8 February 1809, but no names. The Bible that came with them from Ireland is still in the hands of a family member.

My third Great-grandfather, James Forgey, was born 8 January 1764 in Ireland, died 17 March 1837, and is buried in New Providence Presbyterian Cemetery, Hawkins County, TN, along with his wife, Margaret F. Caldwell/

Coldwell, born 18 April 1768 in Ireland, and died 7 March 1846. They had 7 issues: Margaret, Mary, Ellen, Matilda, Eliza, James Reynolds, and Rachael (1812-1837).

Margaret Forgey, born on 4 February 1794, married John Alexander Rogers 28 January 1812.

Mary "Polly" Forgey, born 29 April 1796, died 6 December 1833, married Dickenson Thurman 14 December 1820.

Ellen Forgey, born 17 June 1798, died before 1831 I believe, but her stone shows 20 August 1837, married John Alexander Rogers after the death of her sister Margaret.

Matilda Forgey, born on 26 December 1802, died 1 January 1839, married on 9 December 1833 to Cornelius C. Miller.

Eliza "Betsy" Forgey, born 18 April 1805, died 25 September 1837, married John Harlan 21 February 1826.

James Reynolds Forgey, born 23 January 1809, died 6 December 1853, married (1) Eveline McCraw on December 1830. Eveline was born on 7 April 1812, died 1 December 1835. There were two children from this marriage: (Twins) (1) Minerva and (2) Matilda. Minerva "Minnie" Forgey married John Hasson on 21 November 1861, and Matilda Forgey married R. Dulaney Wells on 9 February 1859.

Marriage number two for James R. was to Rachael Miller. Issues: (3) Adeline Forgey, born ca. 1835, and (4) Susan Forgey, born ca. 1838 – no other information is available to this researcher on these two ladies; (5) John C. Forgey, born 20 January 1840, and died on 11 December 1852; (6) Ellen R. Forgey, born 24 February 1842, died 19 July 1853; (7) Gabriel Rogers Forgey, born 11 September 1848 per stone, died 14 April 1909, married Mary Eliza Harlan on 1 May 1870, born 14 October 1848, died 1 October 1925; (8) James Forgey, born ca. 1853 per his mother's will; (9) Sallie C. Forgey, born 26 April 1852, died 19 December 1854; (10) Jacob M. Forgey, born February 1853, died 20 March 1853; and (11) Margaret Forgey, born 23 March 1845, died 8 August 1847; and (12) Gabriel R. Forgey, born 11 September 1848, died 14 April 1909.

Both of my Greatgrandparents, Gabriel R. Forgey, and his wife Mary Eliza Harlan Forgey, born 14 October 1848, died on 1 October 1925, are buried in the New Providence Presbyterian Cemetery in Sourgoinville, TN.

Gabriel and Eliza's 9 issues were: (1) Rachel "Rhea" Harlan Forgey, born 2 February 1871, died in April 1920, married James L. Campbell 7 January 1902; (2) James Cornelius "Neil" Forgey, born 22 March 1873, died 29 December 1945, married Manessa Jane "Dixie" Carmack; (3) Nannie McClellan Forgey, born 14 August 1875, died 19 August 1911, married Absalom David Pearson on 29 June 1899; (4) Manerva "Minnie" Alice Forgey, born 16 August 1877, died 2 May 1965, married John William Carmack on 23 December 1908; (5) Mary Blanch Forgey, born on 16 September 1879, died 31 January 1912, married Charles Wiggins 13 May 1908; (6) Gabriel "Gabe" R. Forgey Jr., born 5 January 1882, died 30 August 1943, married unknown; (7) Evalena "Eva" Forgey, born 6 October 1881, died 21 June 1978, married Thomas Crockett Morison on 29 January 1914; (8) Carrie Ewing Forgey, born 18 June 1887, died 29 February 1980, married Absalom David Pearson on 8 October 1913 after the death of her sister Nannie; and (9) Ada Belle Forgey, born on 27 November 1889, died on 19 September 1976, unmarried.

My Grandparents were Absalom "App" David Pearson, born 9 November 1873, died 23 September 1952, and his first wife, Nannie McClellan Forgey. They had 3 Issues: (1) Harry Lee Pearson, born 31 March 1899, died 8 December 1973, married Thelma ?; (2) Absalom David "A.D." Pearson Jr., born 22 May 1909, died 29 May 1960, married Virginia ?; and (3) John Harlan Pearson, born 23 August 1914, died 12 August 1972, married Ruth Wheeler.

There was one child born to Absalom David "App" and his second wife, Carrie Ewing Forgey: (4) Ray Wayland Pearson, married Ada Mae Watterson. Ray and Ada had one child: Elizabeth Ann Pearson, who married Vernon Christian.

My parents, John Harlan Pearson and Ruth Wheeler Pearson, had three children: Patsy Ruth Pearson, born 18 January 1931; Carolyn Ann Pearson, born 24 November 1931; and John Harlan Pearson, Jr. (1938-1938).

Gabriel and Eliza's eldest son, James Cornelius Forgey, married Manessa Jane Carmack, born 14 July 1881, died 12 February 1965. They had 6 Issues: (1) James Cornelius Forgey Jr., born 5 February 1911, married 21 June 1940 to Helen Rutledge Davis; (2) Charles Wiggins Forgey, born 21 January 1913, died 30 July 1990, married Ellen Russell; (3) Cornelia Young "Boots" Forgey, born on 21 February 1909, died on 23 October 1987, married James Nelson Ingoldsby; (4) Margaret Carmack Forgey, born on 29 February 1907, died on 3 August 1989, married George W. Buchanan; (5) Mamie Irene Forgey, born 23 August 1915, married Vernon Sproles; and (6) Mary Elizabeth "Lib" Forgey, born 16 December 1921, married O.C. Miller.

Related Stories:

Harlan's.

Daniel Chambers Kensinger.

The Miller Family and the Yellow Store.

Abraham Miller.

P. Lee Pearson Family.

Sources:

Bible records.

Court records.

Census.

Submitted by:

*Carolyn A. Pearson
329 Bell St.
Blountville, TN 37617-9017*

John and George FRANCISCO

On 29 June 1710, Christophel Franciscus (b. 23 December 1680 at Grafschaft, Rohrbach, Germany) sailed from London aboard the Maria Hope, arriving in Pennsylvania in September 1710. With him was his daughter, Hannah. He settled in Lancaster, PA, and about 1718 he married Anna Margaretha Schwab. They had nine children. Several of these children, as adults, migrated into the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. One of these children was Michael Franciscus, Christopher and Margaretha's seventh child.

Michael married Johanna Roesler on 30 January 1759 in Lancaster, PA. Of his seven known children, the first four were born in Pennsylvania. The fifth and seventh child were both in Virginia, while some records indicate that the sixth child was born in North Carolina (much of which is now Tennessee). Michael and Johanna eventually settled in Montgomery Co., VA, where Michael died about 1819.

Michael's sons John (8 April 1765-1849) and George (ca. 1773-ca. 1853) moved on into Tennessee, and by 1790 both had voted in Hawkins County. John first bought land on 26 March 1792 on the north side of Holston River. These brothers married the sisters Hagood, daughters of Mordecai and Elizabeth Hagood.

John married Amanda/Elizabeth Hagood ca. 1794 and they had seven children: James, George, Benjamin, Elizabeth, William, John, and Sarah Amanda. John and his children lived in the Hawkins Co. area most of their lives, however, John died in Meigs County.

1. James married and had children Phoebe and Jackson, and then he married Nancy Burris and had William.

2. George married Frances Thurman and had children John Allen, Elizabeth, William, Sarah Amanda, Matilda/Mary Jane, George C., James M., Nancy A., Martha E. Louise, Wiley Blount, and Benjamin. This family lived in or near Georgetown, and both George and Frances are buried in the Francisco family cemetery there.

3. Benjamin married Mary E. Cassle and they had children Nancy, three more daughters, Florintha, and James Jasper. In 1843 they were in Hawkins Co., but by 1846 they were in Murray Co., GA, and in 1853 they moved to Cass Co., MO.

4. Elizabeth married Austin Shiflett on 18 February 1823 in Hawkins Co., TN, and they had children Sarah Amanda, Nancy Jane, John, George Washington, Austin Clinton, Benjamin F., Andrew Jackson, Francis Marion, and Harriett Elizabeth. They also settled in Meigs Co., TN, but some of the children can later be found in Missouri and Texas.

5. William 1st married on 28 July 1831 in Hawkins Co. to Amanda F. Chambers. They had children Mary E., Malvina, Thomas C., Daniel B., and Sarah Jane. He married 2nd Catherine Simmons. William lived out his life in Hawkins County. Mary married John Simmons, Catherine's nephew, and their descendants ended up in Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and South Dakota. Malvina died as an infant. Thomas and Daniel both died young and unmarried. Sarah married Willie Charles, and they also stayed in Hawkins County.

6. John married Sarah (Howel?) and they had children Melinda, William, James, George, Francis, Matilda, Thomas, Rufas, and Sarah. John died in 1850 in Washington Co., AR.

7. Sarah Amanda married Thomas Mc-Minn on 21 June 1832 in Hawkins Co., TN. They had two daughters, then Robert, then another daughter, then James, Hettie, Benjamin, Sarah, Austin, and George. Sarah died on 18 May 1866 in the area of Kansas City.

George married Diannah Hagood ca. 1801 in Hawkins Co., TN and they had ten children: Elizabeth, John, George, Hagood, Mahala, Sarah, Nancy, Mary, Bedy, and Martha. By 1820, they were living in Montgomery Co., TN, and by 1850 they were in Benton Co., TN.

1. Elizabeth married Peter Rudolph on 25 February 1824. They had children George, Andrew, Cornelius, Elias, Columbus, Paralee, and Peter. Elizabeth was born in Hawkins Co., but moved to Meigs Co., TN with her parents.

2. John married Sarah and had a child, Sarah.

3. George was born in Benton Co. and married Margaret (Morton) and they had children Mahola, Dianah, Robert, William, and Peter. On 7 December 1878 he married Laviny Honey.

4. Hagood married Margaret (McKelvy) and they had children William, James, Zeke aka Jesse, Martha Ann, Dianna, Minny, Mahola, Andrew, and Robert.

5. Mahala was born in Montgomery Co., TN and married William Wadkins on 17 November 1853 in Benton Co. They appear to have been childless. In 1860 she was living in Henry Co., TN and may have died there.

6. Sarah was born in Hawkins Co., and married Noah Wyatt in Benton County. They had children Lucinda, James, Mary, Thomas, Diana, Parlee, Sarah, William, Alvin, Rebecca, Suky, John, Newton, Henry, and Mary Janet.

7. Nancy married John Bennett on 26 October 1851 in Benton Co., TN. They had one daughter, Mary.

8. Mary was living with her sister in 1860 and was unmarried at that time.

9. Bedy married E.P. Hagood and they had children Martha, Indiana, Christopher, William, Mary, and S.A. All of the children were born in Montgomery County.

10. Martha married Hyman/Hiram Taylor on 8 December 1852 in Montgomery Co., Tn. They had sons William and Thomas, both born in Benton Co., TN.

Related Stories:

Hagood.

The Austin Shiflett Family.

Christian and Catherine (Amend/Emmons) Sizemore.

Submitted by:

Jan Johnson
5530 W. Vogel
Glendale, AZ 85302

Arthur GALBRAITH

Andrew Galbraith, son of James Galbraith, was born in the North of Ireland and came to America in 1699 with his father James Galbraith, at about the age of seven. We have no record of his death, but it occurred after 1747 as we have an account of his activities until that time, when he moved from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania to Cumberland County. In all likelihood, he did not accompany his son Arthur down the Shenandoah Valley to Virginia, but died in Pennsylvania, as he was 55 at the time the move was made into Cumberland County.¹ He married Mary Kyle, the daughter of James Kyle (1665-1740), the exact date and place are unknown.²

Arthur Galbraith married Mary Sharp, daughter of John Sharp, of Fincastle Co., Virginia, in the St. James Episcopal Church in Lancaster, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania on the 15th of January 1768.³ Arthur was 40 years old at the time of his marriage to Mary Sharp and this would suggest that this was his second marriage, however no proof of a prior marriage has come to light.

The exact date of the departure of Arthur and Mary for their trip down the King's Highway into the Shenandoah Valley remains a mystery. However, from references in Oliver Taylor's HISTORIC SULIVAN, it would seem likely that Arthur and Mary departed very shortly after their marriage, probably about 1770.

Without moving, Arthur lived successively in Augusta, Botetourt and Washington Counties of Virginia. From the records of these counties we know that Arthur lived in Washington Co. until at least 1778. We also know from the records of New Providence Church that Arthur and Mary were members before 1781.⁴ We then must assume that they had moved to Tennessee between those two dates.

Even though Arthur did not marry Mary Sharp until age 40, he and Mary were the parents of 12 children: John, who married MARTHA LARKINS; Margaret, the bride of JOHN YOUNG; Elizabeth's husband was WILLIAM ARMSTRONG; Mary married BENJAMIN LOONEY; Andrew married twice, first, ELIZABETH LAUGHLIN, and second, SARAH ANDERSON; Sarah married ROBERT YOUNG; Arthur Sharp never married; Julia was the bride of AQUILLA DAVIS; while Tabitha married SAMUEL HENDERSON. Joseph took as his helpmate, MARTHA SHANKS, Lucinda married ASA CARRINGTON; while Aeneas, the youngest, married first POLLY COLDWELL, and second CATHERINE WYNN.

Of all the male children only Andrew and Joseph remained in Hawkins Co. John, the oldest son, moved to Lewis County, Missouri, about 1827. Joseph died when quite young, he was married in 1810 and died before the birth of his son, Joseph Bertram Galbraith, in 1811. Aeneas, the youngest child, moved to Indiana, and raised a large family there.

Andrew Galbraith, born 10 April 1776, in Washington County, Virginia⁵ came to Hawkins County with his father Arthur when he was about 3 years old and spent the remaining 81 years of his life there. He died on 22 November 1860 and is buried in Quarryville Cemetery.

Andrew was even more prolific than his father Arthur, as he and his two wives were the parents of 14 children: Louisa, John Sharp, Alexander, John M., Anna, Elizabeth, Joseph, William, Anderson, Audley, Isaac, Andrew, Amanda, and Sarah.

Andrew was prosperous, and religious as shown by his will. He was also a well liked and respected citizen of Hawkins County, and served well as the second registrar of Hawkins Co. from 1803 to 1808. He was also one of the commissioners appointed by the legislature to oversee the building of a turnpike from Knoxville, thru Rutledge, Rogersville, and Kingsport to the Virginia State line.⁶

In his will, dated 17 November 1857,⁷ Andrew disposes of property that he states should not be sold "for a less sum than fifty thousand dollars", which attests to his prosperity. He also directed the division of his library which included Clark's Commentary of the New Testament, a History of the Methodist Church, Watson's Institutes, Bensons Commentary, a copy of Benson's sermons, a copy of Bascom's Sermons, a copy of the Life of Bascom, and his family Bible. These were in addition to other books that he did not name.

The Galbraith name had faded from the annals of Hawkins County by 1900.

Related Story:

Gabriel McCraw (ca. 1776-1860)

Sources:

1 I, Daniel Rupp, History of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, Gilbert Hills, (Lancaster, PA 1844).

2 NSDAR National Number 479880 (Supporting papers by Prentiss Price).

3 Marriage Register St. James Episcopal Church, Lancaster, PA.

4 Ruth Amis Crowe, New Providence Presbyterian Church.

5 Letter of William Galbraith (son of Andrew) to his son Joseph Pharoah Galbraith, dated 23 November 1891.

6 Acts of Tennessee, Chapter CLXXIV, page 243.

7 Hawkins County, Tennessee Will Book I, pages 231-234.

Submitted by:

W.W. Watkins
1549 Harding Pl.
Nashville, TN 37215-4339

GAMBILL-GAMBLE

Robert Gambill, birth date unknown, is believed to be the son of Robert and Elizabeth--? Gambill, who left a will in Greene County, Tn. in 1815. Robert may have come to Hawkins Co. with Robert D. Young of Greene Co., Tn. who married Sarah McCarty, the sister of Mary McCarty.

Robert Gambill married Mary McCarty, born 18 June 1792, and died after 1860 in Hawkins Co. Mary was the daughter of William McCarty, born 1 April 1764, died 1 December 1818, and Rachel (Kyle) McCarty, born 16 November 1774, died 24 June 1818, and she was the granddaughter of Robert and Leah (Brooks) Kyle, of Walnut Hill. Robert Gambill and Mary McCarty were married ca. 1812, in Hawkins County. Robert died in Hawkins Co. in 1822. His death is mentioned by Dick Alexander, a lawyer, in some letters to Washington, telling of the people who had died in Hawkins Co. that winter of the "terrible fever." Although Robert's grave has not been found, he is believed to be buried in the McCarty Cemetery near William and Rachel, as he was the next member of that family to die.

Mary is in the 1830 and 1840 censuses as a widow. In 1840 she is listed as owning 5,200 acres and 32 slaves, with 4 free colored. Robert Gambill bought much land, and Mary bought most of her brothers' and sisters' shares of her father's estate. Robert and Mary had five children:

1. William Porter McCarty Gambill, born 3 September 1814. 2. James Darby Gambill, born 1816, and died young. 3. Czarine, born 1818, died 8 May 1858, buried in Smith Cemetery¹, married Rodham Chesnutt as his second wife. 4. Robert Gambill, born 1820, died young. 5. Narcissa Gambill, born on 8 January 1822, died on 16 February, 1899, married Samuel Webb on 8 August 1844.

William Porter McCarty Gambill, later known as P.M. Gambill, born 3 September 1814, died 11 May 1899, married Martha Jane Johnson on 24 January 1843. William was in the Cherokee War, for which he received a pension, No. SC-3379; later Martha received a pension, No. WC-4356. William and Martha had no children of their own. After Martha's brother was killed, they adopted William Wenton Gambill, born 25 May 1851 in Warren Co., Tn. He was raised on a farm in Hawkins Co., went to school very little, and followed farming in his early life and distilling and saw milling in later life. At the age of 33 he married Mary Catherine Mathis, on 22 July 1883, in Hawkins Co. This was not a happy marriage, he lived with her off and on for 17 years, and she finally got a divorce. In 1923, he stated in his personal history that he had two strokes of paralysis, and had been shot in the right leg. His grandson and some of his children remember that he always rode a horse as black as night, and he showed no fear. He died on 3 November 1926, in Knox County, and is buried in the McCarty Cemetery, according to family members.

There were seven children born to William and Mary. 1. Minnie Cenila, born 5 May 1884, married 1st Hamilton Carmichle, married 2nd a Sexton. 2. William Porter McCarty, married Blanche C. Phillips. 3. Wenton Waymond, born 12 June 1888, died 14 March 1928, married Mary E. Maggard. 4. Laura Belle, born 30 January 1890, died on 28 June 1979, married Hal Gillespie Haynes. 5. Mary Louise, born 18 August 1892, married

Fred Saylor. 6. Pauline Ann, born 6 February 1894, and as of this writing is still living, and of sound mind. She married James Maggard, a brother of Mary E. Maggard. 7. Katherine Dee, born 1 November 1895, died 13 August 1917, and she never married. All of this family were members of the First Baptist Church of Rogersville. Katherine and her mother Mary are buried in the churchyard cemetery behind the church.

William P. M. Gambill, born on 18 September 1885 in Hawkins Co., died 1 January 1965 in Fayette Co., KY. On March 29, 1905 in Wise Co., VA he married Blanche Catherine Phillips, born 19 April 1890 in Dickenson Co., VA, died 4 March 1961 in Dade Co., FL. Both are buried in Powell Valley Cemetery, Big Stone Gap, VA. They were married for 56 years.

Mr. Gambill was an electrician, and after his retirement he liked to do woodcraft. His biggest interest was sports; he owned stock in the Big Stone Rebels baseball club. Besides being a stockholder, he was more than just a fair-weather fan, he never missed a game. He was also an avid "Tennessee" football fan, going to all of their home games. His sons share their father's interest in sports, but often conflicted with him in the selection of teams.

The Gambill children include six sons and three daughters. 1. Herbert Clark, married 1927 to Flora Fultz. 2. Heiskell Rogan, married in 1948 to Elzoedia Bledsoe. 3. Mary Audra, married 1931 to James Russell Ayers. 4. Willie Jane, married in 1930 to Reed T. Winstead of Hawkins County. 5. Arthur McDowell, married 1942 to Jean Bowman. 6. Cecile, married Paul South. 7. Walter Wenton, married in 1950 to Mary E. Mumpower. 8. Charles Wesly, married in 1946 to Mary Louise Allen. 9. Eugene Carol, married in 1950 to Joanna Horne. These nine children all raised their families in different states.

Related Stories:

Capt. Robert Kyle and his wife Leah Brooks.

Clyde and Margaret (Winstead) Cook.

James and William McCarty Families.

Richard Winstead.

James Harvey and Margaret Laughner Young.

Sources:

1. #121, Cemeteries of Hawkins County, vol. 1, p. 135.

Submitted by:

*Margaret (Peggy) Cook
Route 8, Box 355
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Alfred Newton "Alf" GARDNER (1868-1935)

Alfred Newton "Alf" Gardner, my grandfather, was born on 3 November 1868 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Alf was the son of Nancy E. Gardner and James Harrison Tunnell, but he used his mother's maiden name. His grandparents were James and Anna Myers Gardner, and he was the great-grandson of John Gardner, an early Hawkins County pioneer. Mother called him Pappa, and my brothers and sisters called him "Pappy."

Alf married Mollie C. Phillips on 6 May 1885 (#1121 Greene Co.) when he was only sixteen. Their only child, James J. Gardner, lived a little over a year. He was born on 10 February 1886 and died on 18 June 1887. James is buried in the Weems Cemetery, near Van Hill in Hawkins County. Mollie divorced Alf on 6 February 1891, complaining that he whipped her with a switch.

Alf worked cutting timber when he was a young man, passing by the home of Rev. Lewis B. Ball on his way to and from work. Each time he passed the house he would put a cigar in his mouth to impress Julia Ann "Julie" Earley, the ward of Rev. and Mrs. Ball. She was born 2 January 1876 and came to live with the Balls when she was about ten years old. I remember hearing about how frightened she was of the big house and how she had to climb the outside stairs from the porch to her room on the second floor. Once she fainted and fell down the stairs to the porch. Rev. Ball taught her how to read and count, and in his will he left her 53 acres of land near Baileyton, Greene County.

Alf and Julie, my grandparents, were married on 29 May 1892 (# 974 Greene Co.) by Rev. Ball. The bride wore a white dress. The wedding supper was supposed to be very proper, including a bowl of rice. After their marriage Alf and Julie lived with Nancy and Joseph McLain, Alf's mother and stepfather, until they built a house on the property given her by Rev. Ball.

Alf was very clever and talented. He was a trader of livestock according to the 1910 Census. He operated a grist mill in a small house run by a wood-fired engine, where people brought their corn to be ground into meal. He raised wheat and also thrashed wheat and sowed seed for other people. He raised sheep and sold the lambs; sheared the sheep and sold the wool. He trapped mink, muskrat and possum for fur. He owned a breeding horse and a mule, maintained several fruit trees, and had a grape arbor.

Alf was known far and wide for his outstanding sense of humor, and all who knew Alf always remembered him by something funny he had said or a joke he had pulled on someone. After supper when he went to the old Starnes Store in Lost Mountain (still standing today) the children would gather around just to hear him talk.

He teased a neighbor, Mr. Barrett, about being henpecked, by repeatedly passing the Barrett house chanting "No, you can't go to the store." "Oh yes I am." "Oh no you're not." "Oh yes I am." After hearing this repeatedly, Mrs. Barrett finally had enough and asked him what it would take for him to stop. He said a chicken dinner; she cooked it, he ate it and never said another word.

Alf and a neighbor, Mr. Poe, planted a crop of corn and they sewed pumpkin seed between the rows of corn. When it was time to harvest they divided the corn. Alf, not wanting the pumpkins, gave all of them to Mr. Poe, keeping only the largest one for himself. He knew Mr. Poe sometimes eavesdropped on his conversations over the party line telephone and made up a story about selling the pumpkin seeds from the one he kept. He had people call him pretending to be interested in buying the seeds for a nickel apiece. It wasn't long before Mr. Poe wanted to buy some of those pumpkin seeds.

Julie was a sweet, graceful lady with beautiful brown eyes who loved to read. As a young woman she was a mid-wife and a very fine seamstress. She made clothes and helped preserve bodies for burial when they passed away. She wanted a baby very badly, but she and Alf waited eight years before their daughter, Della Grace, was born. Della met Harley Lee Smith, my father, at the Caney Creek Church, and when he returned from France after World War I, they were married at home on 26 November 1921 (# 136 Greene Co.). Harley and Della had five children, all but one of them born in the house her father and mother built: Ruth (1922), married Sidney Britton; Willadeen (1924), married Norman Weems; Wayne (1927), married Vina Smith (divorced); Nella (1931), married Lawrence Myers; and Wendell (1934), married Joyce Weems Malone.

Alf suddenly became ill and died of apoplexy on 21 January 1935. His funeral was held at home and he was buried in the Weems Cemetery, in Hawkins County. Julie was visiting her brother in Kentucky at the time, and she was unable to attend her husband's funeral because of bad weather. Julia died on 3 March 1956 and is buried beside her mother and step-father, Mary Patience Earley and David Hope, in the Salem Cemetery at Lost Mountain in Greene County.

Related Story:

Gardner Family

Submitted by:

*Nella Smith Myers
1128 Harrogate Drive
Knoxville, TN 37923*

James GARDNER Family

James Gardner was one of the settlers Captain Thomas Amis noted in his 1787 journal (Hawkins Co. Genealogical and Historical Society). In 1793, James Gardner bought a 340-acre land grant in Hawkins County on Bailey's fork of Beech Creek; this grant was sold in 1795 through an attorney, and James Gardner disappeared from history, but he left a family that helped pioneer East Tennessee.

John Gardner, father of James Gardner (Notable Southern Families, Vol. III) was a shoemaker. according to family legend, and he died mysteriously on Stone Mountain. It is believed that John's wife was named Sophia. Their son James (born 23 August 1807, died 29 November 1874) married Anna Myers (born 1 May 1814, died 17 February 1896), daughter of Henry Myers, on 24 August 1833 in Greeneville, TN (#3504 Greene Co.). James purchased two 100 acre land grants, No. 21518 in 1837 and No. 24327 in 1841 (State Archives, Nashville, TN). In 1847 he sold his 200 acres for $150 and moved into Greene County where he farmed, built a house, and raised his family. James and Anna are buried in Weems Cemetery, near the Van Hill community, in Hawkins County. Their estate was settled and recorded on 13 September 1899 in Deed Book 68, Greene County. They had 12 children, listed below.

John Alfred Gardner, born 1835 in Hawkins Co., married Martha "Patty" Myers on 26 February 1856 (#31 Greene). Martha (born 11 October 1837, died 6 November 1907), was the daughter of William and Hettie (Jones) Myers. John Alfred farmed and operated a country store and post office in Laurel Gap (now Baileyton). They had two sons, George W., born 1860, and Henry L., born 1863. John Alfred, while recruiting for the Union Army, was shot by bushwhackers in front of his family and died 20 December 1864. He was buried on his farm.

Sarah Jane Gardner (born 17 January 1837 Hawkins Co., died 21 September 1862 Greene Co., two days after birth of her third son) married William Jeffers on 3 June 1855 (#2594 Greene Co.). William (born 7 May 1834, died 28 July 1905) was the son of James and Sara Jane (Keller) Jeffers. He was a merchant in Hawkins County and Laurel Gap. William served in the 8th Tennessee Infantry 1862/63. William and Sarah Jane had three sons: Isaac Tilman, (1858-1936), Dr. William Lowery, (1860-1933), and James Dailey (1862-1865).

Nancy E. Gardner, my great-grandmother, (born 2 February 1839 in Hawkins County, died 19 October 1905) married Joseph M. McLain on 20 February 1874 (#1306 Greene Co.). Joseph (born 6 November 1842, died 22 March 1941) was the son of Clark and Susannah McLain. Nancy and Joseph had a son, John W. McLain. Nancy had a son, Alfred "Alf" Newton Gardner, who married Julia Early (my grandparents).

Jimmy Gardner, born 1841 in Hawkins County, and died prior to 1850.

Henry Gardner (born 26 April 1843 in Hawkins Co., died 24 November 1903), married Sarah A. "Sallie" Ball on 26 December 1867 in Hawkins County (Book A, Hawkins). She was born 21 April 1840, and died 1924, the daughter of John and Rebecca (Kelley) Ball. He was a Private in Company I 8th Reg't, Tennessee Cavalry. Henry owned the general store and was Postmaster and Justice of the Peace of Van Hill (Tennessee State Gazetteer and Business Directory, 1887). Henry and Sallie had 7 children: John Wiley (1869-1928), Horace Tillman (1872-1943), Martha Melissa (1874-1967), Patrick Henry (1876-1917), Duncan (1879-?), James Robert (1880-1955), Rebecca Maude (1884-1961).

Jarvis Wiley Gardner (born 28 May 1845 in Hawkins Co., died 21 March 1922) married Mary Ann "Polly" Weems on 2 January 1869. She was born 24 October 1844, and died 30 June 1904, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Davis) Weems. Wiley served in Co. I, 8th Regiment, Tennessee Cavalry. He and Polly had 9 children: Emerson Dailey (1869-1953), John Wiley "Rock" (1871-1966), Mary Ann (1873-1971), Sara Jane (1875-1901), Rebecca A. (1877-1962), William H. (1879-1880), Lora Elizabeth (1881-1964), Rufas Kelly (1885-1939), and an infant son (1887-1887).

William G. Gardner (born 14 August 1847, died 28 July 1917) married Almira McLain on 4 December 1869, and they had no children. He was married second to Westa Morelock on 4 October 1896 in Hawkins County. She was born 13 December 1873/79, parents unknown, and died 18 January 1957. William operated a lumber mill in Van Hill. They had 13 children: Anna Elizabeth (1891-?), William Jarvis (1893-1955), Laura Mae (1896-1963), Rebecca (1898-1974), Tyler C. (1900-1956), James Dewey (1902-1965), Henry R. (1904-1980), Pearl Helen (1906-1960), Willie H. (twin, 1909-1966), Maude (twin, 1909-1910), Roll Thomas (1914-1916), and two unnamed infants. William relocated to Missouri in 1904, where he lived out his life.

Rebecca Gardner, born August 1849, died prior to 1860 and is buried in Weems Cemetery.

Unnamed Infant, (1851-1851).

Hettie Miranda Gardner (born 8 September 1853, died of pneumonia 29 January 1914), married Samuel F. Wolfe, a shoemaker in Laurel Gap, on 17 August 1881 (#251 Greene). Prior to her marriage, she had two children, Annie Araminta (1874-1955), and Gilbert Roll (1877-1954). Three children were born to Hettie and Samuel: Bertie Lee (1882-1971), Luella Bessie (1884-1970), and Auther "Aut" E. (1885-1968). Samuel went to Missouri, leaving Hettie to raise the children.

Jacob Tillman (twin, born 13 February 1859, died 18 December 1924) married Hilah Clinton Luster on 30 March 1881 in Hawkins County. She was born 6 April 1884, parents unknown, died in 1925. They had twelve children: Martha E. (1881-1882), Arthur E. (1883-1884), Willie H. (1884-1891), Deller Grace (1889-1950), Lowery Rexall (1890-1927), Homer Cecil (1894-1941), Mary Ethel (1895-1977), Rome Homer (1897-1906), Minnie Bell (1899-1952), John Newton (1901-1920), James Rolla (1904-1946), and Joseph Jacob (1907-1975). Jacob and Hilah made their home in Plattsburg, MO.

Newton Gardner (twin born 13 February 1859, died 23 November 1929), married Worthy Melissa Tate on 8 February 1878. She was born 6 September 1864, parents unknown, and died 20 January 1950. Their eight children were: Edgar Edwin (1881-1912), James Bruce (1883-?), Nettie (1887-1958), Sallie G. (1889-1962), Hazel I. (1891-1925), Alfred McKinley (1896-?), Madge Lora (1900-?), Fred (1902-1904).

The Gardner Family of East Tennessee further documents the legacy of James and Anna Myers Gardner, their children and descendants.

Related story:

Alfred Newton "Alf" Gardner

Sources:

The Gardner Family of East Tennessee, by Nella Smith Myers, 1986, 383 pages.

Notable Southern Families, Vol. III.

Tennessee State Gazetteer and Business

Directory, 1887.

Hawkins Co. Marriages, 1893-1897.

Hawkins Co. Marriages, Book A.

Submitted by:

Nella Smith Myers
1128 Harrogate Drive
Knoxville, TN 37923

Family of Isaac GARRISON

Isaac Garrison was born in the year 1732 in either Maryland or Virginia. He was the sixth in a line of Isaac Garrisons, who were of French Huguenot ancestry, originally from the town of Montauban, in southern France. The family is still in France where the name is spelled Garri-son.

About 1752, Isaac Garrison came with his father, Isaac Garrison, Sr., and his mother Elizabeth Lawrence Garrison, to what became Stokes County, North Carolina. He lived there, on Lick Creek, until the year 1791, at which time he moved to Grayson County, Virginia, where his youngest son was born in 1792. In 1795, Isaac Garrison moved back to Stokes County, remaining there until about 1796.

He then moved with his family to Hawkins County, in East Tennessee, where he bought two-hundred acres of land from John Cottrel on January 28, 1798. This tract was in Puncheon Camp, on the south side of the Clinch River, near Turkey Creek, which is now in Hancock County, Tennessee.

Isaac Garrison had two wives. The first was named Ballinger, given name unknown, and the second was named Martha, surname unknown.

The eight known children of Isaac Garrison are:

(1) Sarah (Sally) Garrison, born on 4 September 1769 in Surry Co., NC, where on 13 November 1789, she married Thomas Pratt, a pensioner of the Revolutionary War, No. W1075. They had only two known children.

(2) Isaac Garrison, III, born about 1771, lived in Grayson Co., VA. He married first to Lucy Jones, daughter of William Jones. He married second to Martha Fountain in North Carolina. He married third to Mary Bartlett in Virginia. There were only two known children, both by his first wife.

(3) John Garrison, Sr., born about 1774, in Surry Co., NC. He owned land in Hawkins County until 1830, then removed to Lee Co., VA. He married Elizabeth Rogers. They had seven children.

(4) Mary (Polly) Garrison, born about 1779, in Surry Co., NC. She married in 1796 to John Looney, Sr. Mary (Polly) Looney died on the trail to Oregon in 1849. They had eight children.

By his second wife Isaac Garrison had:

(5) Joseph Garrison, born about 1786, in Surry Co., NC, and died 12 January 1847 at his home in Camden County, Missouri. He married Elizabeth King, daughter of Andrew and Barbara King, about 1820, in Hawkins Co. They had eleven children.

(6) David Garrison, born about 1788, in Surry County, NC. He went from Hawkins Co. to Overton Co., TN, and later to Arkansas and Barry Co., MO. He had two wives, and eight children.

(7) William J. Garrison, born on 7 February 1789, in Surry Co., NC. He was married about 1815 in Hawkins Co. to Mary Bloomer, daughter of Daniel Bloomer. In 1835 they settled in Lee Co., VA, and moved to Ozark, MO in 1853. They had ten children. They are buried in the Weaver Cemetery, Ozark, Christian Co., MO.

(8) James C. Garrison, born in 1792 in Grayson Co., VA, and died on 10 December 1862 at Springfield, Greene Co., MO. He married Diana Kyle on 15 September 1818 in Hawkins Co. Diana was the daughter of Robert Kyle and Sarah Reynolds Kyle. They had thirteen children. They are buried in Smart Cemetery, Billings, Christian Co., MO.

It is believed that four other daughters of Isaac Garrison are still unidentified.

James Harvey Garrison, son of James C. Garrison, a noted evangelist, Union soldier, author, and publisher, wrote in his book, Memories and Experiences, as follows: "My grandfather, Isaac Garrison, was born the same year with George Washington and was a soldier of the Revolutionary War. He moved from North Carolina to Hawkins County, Tennessee in 1798. He was one hundred years old when my parents moved from Tennessee and insisted on coming with them to the new state of Missouri in 1832. They fitted up a conveyance for him and my mother rode with him and drove the buggy. He lived four years after his migration and died at the good old age of one hundred and four years!"

Isaac Garrison died at Ozark, Christian Co., MO, in the year 1836. He is buried in the Richwood Cemetery, and his grave has been marked by the Isaac Garrison Family Association, an organization of more than 5500 direct descendants of this old patriarch. Regular reunions of this organization are held biennially.

Isaac Garrison is recognized by the DAR and the SAR as a Revolutionary Ancestor, and his grave is so marked.

Related Story:

Family of Robert Kyle (of Clinch)

Sources:

(1) Hawkins Co., TN Will Book I-II, 1786-1886, by Carolyn S. Gardner and Sheila W. Johnston; Hawkins Co. Gen. & Hist. Society, 1991.

(2) The Family of Isaac Garrison, 1732-1836 by The Isaac Garrison Family Association Incorporated, 1980; Schoonmaker Publishers, Hobart, OK.

(3) The North Carolina Genealogical Society Journal, Vol. IX, No. 4, Nov., 1983; "Lists of Taxables in Rowan County, 1768", Page 108; by Jo White Linn.

(4) History of the Huguenot Emigration to America, by Charles W. Baird, Vol. II, Pages 142-143.

(5) Memories and Experiences, by James Harvey Garrison, Christian Board of Publications, St. Louis, Missouri (1926), Page 16.

(6) Surry County, North Carolina, Court Minutes Abstracts, Vols. I & II, (1768-1785) (1786-1789), by Mrs. W.O. Absher, Southern Hist. Press, Inc., P.O. Box 738, Easley, South Carolina.

(7) Unpublished Manuscript of William James Frost Autobiography, written 1907, Mormon Library, Salt Lake City, Utah, page 15.

Submitted by:

Denzil D. Garrison
P.O. Box 1217
Bartlesville, OK 74005

Joseph GILL, Sr.

Great Great Great Grandfather Joseph Gill, Sr. first appeared in the Hawkins County, Tennessee 1830 Census. He was shown as a chairmaker and between the ages of 30 and 40; however, a later census put his age at 42. He was born in the State of Virginia in the year 1788. He married Dorothy Danner May 22, 1821. Dorothy was also born in the State of Virginia in 1796. Their marriage is on record at the Wythe County Community College Library in Wytheville, Virginia.

Joseph Sr., Dorothy and their family moved to Washington County, Virginia from Hawkins County, Tennessee sometime between 1840 and 1846. Their move is validated by a deed that is recorded at the Washington County Court Clerk's Office in Abingdon, Virginia (book 18, page 301). The deed showed that Joseph and Dorothy Gill bought 74 acres of land from Jubal Watson and his wife Rebecca on the waters of Smith Creek in Washington County, Virginia on the 17th day of September, 1846.

According to the 1850 Washington Co., Virginia Census, Joseph Sr. and Dorothy had six children. They are shown as follows:

1. Joseph Gill Jr., (1824-1907) first married Susan, (b.1833) around 1850 (her maiden name is unknown). Their children were: (1) William, (b.1851); (2) Mary, (b. 1853); (3) Lilly, (b. 1854); (4) Teresa A., (b. 1859); (5) Elizabeth D., (b. 1862); and (6) Samuel, (1866-1939).

Joseph Jr.'s second marriage in 1870 was to Sarah Jane Poindexter, (b. 1846) of Hawkins County. They had one child, Amanda, (b. 1879). Joseph Jr.'s third and last marriage on June 18, 1903, was to Rebecca Carr (1854-1934). They had no children and it was said that she married him just to take care of him in his old age.

2. Sarah Gill, (b.1826) last appeared in the 1850 Washington County, Va. Census. She was 24 years old.

3. William Gill, (1828-1871) had one child, John, (b. 1856) whose mother possibly died at childbirth since she never appeared on any census.

4. John E. Gill, (born in 1834) married Elizabeth, (b. ca. 1839) around 1853 (her maiden name is unknown). They had three children: Amanda J., (born in 1854); Robert E., (born in 1856); and John M., (born in 1858).

5. Great Great Grandfather Jacob Gill Sr., (b.1834) married his first wife, Caroline Mahala Smith, (b. 1830) in Washington County, Virginia, on March 13, 1856. They had three children: Sarah H. Gill, (born in 1854); Great Grandfather James W. Gill Sr., (1857-1890); Jacob Wesley Gill Jr., (b.1855 d. ca. 1910).

6. Amanda Gill, (b.1838) last appeared in the 1850 Washington County, Virginia census.

Joseph Gill Sr., at age 62, did not appear again in any census reviewed after 1850. He probably died prior to 1870 since the Washington County, Virginia census showed his wife, Dorothy, living with her son Jacob.

Three of Joseph Sr. and Dorothy's sons returned to Hawkins County between the years 1850 and 1860. Their first son, Joseph Jr., left Washington County, Virginia for Hawkins County, Tennessee around 1849 or 1850, where he married his first wife, Susan (see related story in this book). Joseph Jr. remained in Hawkins County where he enlisted in the Union Army on January 5th 1863. He was assigned to Company H, 8th regiment of the Tennessee Infantry. After his Honorable discharge on June 13, 1865, he returned to Hawkins County where he became a land owner and farmer.

Joseph Sr. and Dorothy's second son, Jacob, left Washington County, Va. for Hawkins County, along with his new wife Caroline, sometime between the years 1856 and 1860. Jacob and Caroline apparently moved to Hawkins County to work on the railroad since the 1860 Hawkins County Census showed both of them as railroad hands. Jacob and his three children left Hawkins County around 1868, after his first wife, Caroline, died. They returned to Washington County, Virginia where Jacob met and married his second wife, Elizabeth Daniel Brittingham. Jacob's Grandmother, Dorothy Gill, 74 years old and apparently widowed, lived with him and his family until her death sometime after 1870.

The third son, John E., also returned to Hawkins County sometime between 1850 and 1860. He married Elizabeth (her maiden name is unknown) who was from Hawkins County. They also worked as railroad hands. It is assumed that John E. stayed on in Hawkins County; however, nothing was found to support this assumption. His last appearance was in the 1860 Hawkins County Census. There is some speculation that he might have enlisted in the Union Army along with his brother Joseph Jr. It is not known where Joseph Sr. and Dorothy are buried, but research is continuing.

Related story:

Joseph Gill, Jr.

Submitted by:

Everett R. Gill
6404 Old Jonesboro Road
Bristol, TN 37620

Joseph GILL, Jr.

Joseph Gill Jr., born July 25, 1824 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, was one of six children born to Joseph Gill Sr. (b. 1788) and Dorothy Danner (b. 1796). They moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee from the State of Virginia between the years 1821 (their marriage in Wythe County, Virginia) and 1824 (the birth of their first child, Joseph Jr.).

Joseph Jr., along with his parents, moved to Washington County, Virginia around 1846. He and two of his brothers, Jacob, (b. 1834); and John E. (b. 1834, possibly Jacob's twin), moved back to Hawkins County sometime between the years 1856 and 1860. Their move, apparently, was prompted by the availability of railroad jobs in Hawkins County in 1858. The 1860 Hawkins County Census showed Jacob, John E. and their wives to be railroad hands.

Joseph Jr., around 26 years of age, married his first wife, Susan, (born 1833) age 17, (her maiden name is unknown) in Hawkins County between the years 1848 and 1850. He worked in a stone quarry not far from the Holston River. He and his wife, Susan, had six children: (1) William, (b. 1849) last appeared in the 1860 Hawkins County Census; (2) Mary, (b.1853) was the second wife of John Baines; (3) Lilly, (b. 1854) last appeared in the 1870 Hawkins County Census; (4) Teresa A., (b. 1859) married a Young (his given name is not known). She last appeared in the 1870 Hawkins County Census; (5) Elizabeth D., (b. 1862) last appeared in the 1870 Hawkins County Census; (6) Samuel, (1866-1939) married Sarah (her maiden name is unknown) in 1854 (ed: year?). Samuel and Sarah had three children: Etta, (b. 1890); Mary, (b.1895); and David, (b. 1901).

During the Civil War, Joseph Jr., at age 37, enlisted in the Union Army January 5, 1863 and was inducted at Flat Lick, Kentucky. He was assigned to Company H, 8th Regiment of the Tennessee Infantry as a Private. His records show he was absent at muster calls from May 23, 1864 through April 1865. This was due to his hospitalization at Knoxville, Tennessee. He was honorably discharged on June 13, 1865 at Knoxville, Tennessee and received $83.25 back pay. Joseph Jr.'s family survived the war. However, his wife, Susan, at 36 years of age, died soon after he returned home.

Joseph Jr., age 46, married his second wife, Sarah Jane Poindexter, (b. 1846) age 24, in 1870. They had one child, Amanda B., (b.1879). The 1900 Hawkins County Census showed that 12 year old Charlie Baines, (1887-1987), and 46 year old Rebecca Carr, lived with Joseph Jr. and his wife, Sarah Jane. According to Charles Baines, Jr., now living in Mooresburg, his Father, Charlie Baines Sr., was the son of John Baines and Augusta Elkins. He also said that John Baines married Joseph Jr.'s Daughter, Mary Gill (possibly his second marriage). The 1900 Hawkins County Census showed Charlie Baines (Sr.) to be the grandson of Joseph Gill Jr. and Sarah Jane Poindexter. However, in reality, he was the Step-Grandson of Joseph Jr. and his first wife, Susan. Sarah Jane Poindexter died between the years 1900 and 1903.

Joseph Gill Jr. began building a Church, although Church records show that he only built the benches, to provide a place of worship for the families who lived in the community. The Chapel was organized on November 13, 1886 and named Gill's Chapel in his honor. The first pastor was C.J. Dalton and the first Church Clerk was W. M. Bean. There were 27 charter members including Joseph Gill Jr. and his wife Sarah Jane.

Joseph Jr., at age 77, married his third wife, Rebecca Carr, age 49, (1854-1934) June 18, 1903. The Reverend G.W. Carr, Rebecca's Father, performed the marriage ceremony. Reverend Carr was a minister at Gill's Chapel at the time.

Joseph Jr. was a farmer most of his life when not working at the Quarry. He, apparently, was also a large landowner, as witnessed by the division of his Estate in his Last Will and Testament. Joseph Gill Jr. died on March 11, 1907 at the age of 83. The 1910 Hawkins County Census showed Charlie Baines, his Step-Grandson still living with Rebecca Gill, age 56, and her 70 year old Sister Nancy Carr. Rebecca died November 22, 1934 at the age of 80. Both she and Joseph Jr. are buried at the Quarryville Cemetery, located about three miles West of Gill's Chapel on Highway 11W.

Related story:

Joseph Gill, Sr.

Sources:

Hawkins County, Tennessee and Washington County, Virginia Census and County Court records.

Gill's Chapel Church records.

Living relatives.

Submitted by:

Everett R. Gill
6404 Old Jonesboro Road
Bristol, TN 37620

Oh, Those Kissin (GILLENWATERS and SIMMONS) Cuzzins

My grandmother was a Gillenwater. Her father Thomas William belonged to that generation who began dropping the final "s" from their surname. I have never heard of an explanation of this act of becoming a singular but understand that other surnames also fell to this phenomenon during the 1800's. Thomas was born in Hawkins county to John Marion Gillenwaters and Matilda Mae Simmons. Until my grandmother, Bessie, began discussing the family genealogy with me, I did not know that I had Simmons blood running in my veins. Imagine my surprise when I found that I had a double dose of Simmons blood.

One long time Hawkins county resident has stated that the Gillenwaters were so in love with themselves that they intermarried until they went crazy. I will not dispute the claim of cousins marrying, even a few first cousins; but I will argue the point of their going insane. I don't know if the aspersion was made in jealousy, admiration, or jest. I do know that all my Gillenwater relations whom I have met are nice, normal people.

Would that Hawkins County resident had followed my Simmons line! My four times great grandfather, James Simmons left me a two-fold path back to himself. As you may recall from his story, James married the sister of Thomas and Joel Gillenwaters back in Amherst County, Virginia. His granddaughter Matilda Mae Simmons married her second cousin John Marion Gillenwaters. She was the daughter of Thomas Simmons; John was the son of Thomas (the junior) Gillenwaters. Thus began one line of Simmons blood. I might interject at this point that Thomas Simmons brother, James G. married his first cousin Sarah Gillenwaters; but that is another story.

Now Thomas and James G. Simmons had a sister, Elizabeth. Betsy married Hays Lewis and had a daughter Mary M. Lewis who in turn married Clinton Ward. All these folk were of course married in Hawkins County. Now Mary Lewis and Clinton Ward gave birth to my great grandmother, Louisa Anne, who, lo and behold, married her second cousin Thomas William Gillenwaters. The wedding was her second and his third. Thus, did I get a second infusion of the blood from the revolutionary war patriot, James Simmons. Privately, I am glad to say that I am proud of this heritage; publicly, I am most humble of the fact.

If this cohesiveness of the Gillenwaters and Simmons families needs further substantiation, I would mention that the great Hawkins County exodus of the 1840's and 1850's saw the emigration of several of these families to Monroe County, Kentucky. When the Hawkins County researcher looks through the census rolls of that period they will find Simmons, Gillenwaters, Pattersons, Lewises, Spears, Wards, Isenbergs, Winegars, Molsbees and I am sure, many more Hawkins families gone to Monroe. In addition to my John Gillenwaters, his uncles David and Elijah C. also migrated down the streams and through the passes to this new frontier. His uncle William was in the process of selling his 300 acres in Hickory Cove and planning to move to Monroe when he died.

I suppose that I could go through my Personal Ancestral File data base and pick out all the marriages between Gillenwaters cousins. Would I find a statistical difference between this family and any other family in the nineteenth century. I don't know but I doubt it.

Families in that day were both literally and figuratively closer than in our time. They tended to cluster on their farms and in the towns and villages. A multiple family unit back then usually meant the paterfamilias, one or more of his children, and several grandchildren all living together.

In their social and business relationships, there were strong ties between in-laws which was manifest by the marriages of two or three brothers and sisters of one family group to the brothers and sisters of a second family group.

This clustering of family groups was also exhibited in the church rolls. The battle between the Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians to save souls was real and often followed family lines. A visit to older church cemeteries often reveals a limited number of surnames repeated over and over again.

In addition to their religious beliefs, family groups were also polarized by the various languages of the first and second generation Americans. Hawkins County had large contingents of English, Scotch, German, and Irish. There was a spattering of French, Spanish and, of course, Indian.

Another factor contributing to the marriage of cousins was the limited transportation in the early 19th century with a consequence of fewer means for social contacts outside of the family gatherings and church events. For all these reasons, marriage of cousins was not particularly noteworthy.

My great grandfather, Thomas William Gillenwaters, the last of my line born in Hawkins county, migrated a second time leaving Southern Kentucky for greener pastures in Southern Indiana. He neither led nor was followed by others in the family. Thus, did the ties that bind become broken. There were no further instances of marriage between cousins in the Gillenwater and Simmons families. I would have you know that the demise of this family 'tradition' has not abated the love that we Gillenwaters share for each other and that I have met quite a few very kissable cousins.

Related Story:

Thomas Gillenwaters

Submitted by:

Theresa Baldwin Soubee
P.O. Box 505
Heber, AZ 85928

Joel GILLENWATERS

"This Indenture made this tenth day of June in the thirty second year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord George the Second by the Grace of God Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King Defender of the Faith &c and in the year of our Lord Christ one thousand seven hundred and fifty nine Between John Buford Of Albemarle County, Planter of the one Part and Thomas Gillenwaters of the Other Part..."

Thus begins our history of Thomas Gillenwaters of Amherst as recorded in the deed books of Albemarle County, Virginia. For thirteen pounds, Virginia money, Thomas purchased 100 acres in the rolling foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains and established the first known Gillenwaters farm in America.

Thomas had four sons and three daughters. His eldest son, William, died in the Revolutionary War. All of the surviving children, Elijah, Joel, Elizabeth, Thomas, Sarah and a third daughter migrated into Hawkins County.

Elijah, Joel, and Sarah were the first to arrive and settle along the Holston River valley in the 1790's. They were followed near the end of the century by the other three siblings. For reasons unknown, Elijah did not stay in the southern stretches of the Holston River Valley but decided to settle further north in Washington County, Virginia.

Joel, who was born circa 1762, must have been itching to test the frontier for his father's will in 1779 promised him a colt "provided he should stay on the year and work and behave on his place as usual." Joel followed his father's wish and remained on the farm for five more years. After serving briefly in the Virginia militia in 1783, Joel again turned his eyes to the southwest territory across the Blue Ridge mountains. In the April of the year before, his older brother Elijah had been granted 10 acres in Carter Valley. Presumably, Joel married about this time; but even that could not hold Joel in the area. In 1784 Elijah and Joel sold the land that they had inherited from their father and left their thirteen year old brother to manage the farm for their mother and minor sisters.

Although Joel's original land purchase is lost, in March of 1784 a survey was conducted for Robert Coyle (Kyle) in Hickory Cove that mentioned Joel's line. Joel seems to have maintained a dual citizenship between Hawkins and Amherst counties in the years 1784 and 1785 because his first son, William, appeared in the 1785 Virginia tax list. Ten years later Joel purchased land where the Devil's Nose Branch runs into Caney Creek. Over the next several years Joel's name is found many times in the Hawkins County deed books. When he wasn't buying or selling land for himself, he was involved in transactions calling for a Sheriff's sale for the county.

In 1832, his estate became the object of an enforced sale when he lost several court actions from February of 1830 through August of 1832 for debts to various citizens including his own son, John C. After the autumn harvest, Sheriff James Bradley sold his 133 _ acres for $315 to William Simpson. Two years later, Joel's oldest son, William, purchased the land back for $800.

During his years in Hawkins County, Joel served two terms as sheriff, as a magistrate and on the first grand jury of the new created Circuit Court in 1810. He also tried his hand at surveying and once was accused of shorting a buyer of some acreage that Joel claimed for himself. Joel was also a victim of land title. Jim McWilliams sold his grant of 200 acres (on either side of Caney Creek) to Ed Cross. The land was then sold to John Frost who in turn sold it to Joel. In 1807 the very influential John Rhea claimed that the land ran in upon his original grant and Joel acceded to the point.

The name of Joel's wife has been in dispute for years. Hawkins County historian Prentice Price was convinced that 'Ritta' was not a Gibbons. A Looney family history states that Henrietta/Loretta was his second wife. Unfortunately, both Joel and his wife died before census records listed any names other than the head of household. Her name was never listed in the many deed transactions in which Joel was involved; and, finally, Joel left no will.

Joel Gillenwaters, born ca. 1760, Harris Creek, Albemarle, VA, died after 1830, married Sally Loretta Gibbons(?). Their children were: William (1785-1856), married Sally Gibbons (10 children); David (1787- 1867), married Keziah Wilson (13 children); Thomas, (1790-1865), married Eleanor Carmack (12 children); Elijah C., (1792-1858), married Rebecca Snodgrass (6 children); John C., (1794-1843), married Elizabeth Surgoins (11 children); Joel G., (1796-1832), married Jane Snodgrass (4 children).

Related Stories:

Mary Alma Gillenwaters.

Thomas Gillenwaters.

James Simmons.

Submitted by:

*John D. Baldwin
9804 Everwood
El Paso, TX 79925-7612*

Mary Alma GILLENWATERS

My Mother's family came from Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. They are all gone now.

My Mother was named Mary Alma Gillenwaters. She was born and reared in Rogersville. Her Father was Orville Rice Gillenwaters, and her Mother was Sarah Emily Brown Gillenwaters. Mother had two sisters, Nannie Pearl and Emily Kathleen, and one brother, Ernest Orville. The girls attended Rogersville Synodical College, and Ernest attended a military school which was named McMinn, I believe. It is interesting that my parents were married twelve years before they had children. Emily Kathleen remembered her Father only as being gray and bald.

The first Gillenwaters, Thomas, came to this country from England and settled in Virginia. I believe the first one to be in East Tennessee was named Joel. His wife's name was Loretta. Joel served in the Revolutionary War. He was Sheriff of Hawkins County from 1796-1798. He owned a lot of land there in Rogersville. His son, John II, served on a jury with his Father, Joel, in 1823. Another son, Thomas III, born 1790, married Ellen Carmack. This Gillenwaters also served as Sheriff of Hawkins County at the October term of Court, 1813. Thomas and Ellen had a son named Joel Carmack in 1816 who married Mary Ann Brooks in 1849. From this union came my Grandfather, Orville Rice, and his three sisters, Sarah Melissa, Ellen Parilea, and Tennessee (Tennie).

My Great-Grandfather, Joel Carmack Gillenwaters was a merchant at Bean's Station, Alum Wells, and Blevins, Tennessee. He hauled merchandise from Baltimore, Maryland in wagons. His death record states that he lived a moral, religious life and was well respected.

A brother of Joel, Elijah C., had a land grant in 1797 of 700 acres on both sides of the North Fork of the Holston River and, during the same year, fifty acres in Poor Valley.

Grandfather Gillenwaters was born in Bean's Station, Tennessee, 15 June 1851, and spent most of his life in Rogersville. He was a merchant, manufacturer and builder. He had a hardware store there on the main street in Rogersville, with shoe repair and harness repair in the back. There was a separate room built onto the back of the big store for the shoe repair. He had four men working for him - two in the shoe repair and harness shop, and two in the hardware store. At one time, this store burned totally to the ground as there was no fire department. He had no insurance, but did rebuild it and added a meat store in the back separated by doors. As I remember hearing, he also built and repaired buggies among his other varied endeavors. There in Rogersville, he built a large Victorian house which burned down, and as with his store, he rebuilt it. I do not know where in Rogersville this was located. I have a picture of it and it is quite lovely. I do know about a home he built that is still being used and is in good shape. It is in suburban Rogersville and is the home of the Kurtz Horne family, also a relative.

He built a dozen houses all over town including the preacher's home. I presume it might have been the home of the Methodist preacher as he attended the Methodist Church.

My Grandfather died before I was born. One day he lifted a side of beef in the meat store. The over exertion affected his heart and he never went to the store much after that. He died one year after this happened. This was in 1927. He is buried in the Brown Cemetery, five miles East of Rogersville.

As is the usual case, I wish I had listened more intently to family conversations and asked more questions. I recall my Mother telling how he loved ice cream, but he had to eat it slowly or he would get an "ice cream headache!" One values the small memories that have survived.

Orville Rice's only son, Ernest Orville, lived all his life and died in Rogersville. He was a farmer just out from town. I do not believe that there are any Gillenwaters left in Rogersville today.

Related stories:

Thomas East Brown.

Joel Gillenwaters.

Sources:

My Ancestors and Their Descendants, by William Luther Brown, 1937.

Emily Kathleen Gillenwaters Woodruff.

Mary Alma Gillenwaters Marsh Depew.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Testerman, Rogersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz Horne, Rogersville.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Leanna Depew Anderson
Olde Fruitland Rd.
Rt. 4, Box 240
Salisbury, MD 21801*

Sarah (GILLENWATERS') Story

I remember as if it were yesterday. He was the handsomest man I ever saw. Sitting astride his charger in his bright uniform with the golden epaulets, Colonel John S. Brice was the most sought after bachelor in a three county area. I knew at that moment that he would be my husband. Four months past my sixteenth birthday I married him. Some people thought I was too young and should not have married before sister Mary, but I couldn't wait for fear of losing him to someone else. Momma understood but daddy never did straighten out whether he was proud to have such a hero in the family or whether I should have waited a while. We were very happy at first but then as the years wore on and I didn't bear him a son, the family spats became impossible and John and I went our separate ways.

Fortunately for me, my daddy had given me some land down on Caney Creek and I was able to make it on my own. But momma became worried about me and what would become of me when daddy started talking about moving to Kentucky. Brother Joel had convinced him that the land over in Monroe County was virgin land, not all wore out, and would make farming easy. So daddy had given him some money to buy several hundred acres and now they were about to leave. To please momma I agreed to marry my cousin Edward even though he was seven years younger than me.

Edward's father, John, and his mother, Elizabeth, she was a Surgoin you know, her daddy ran a saddlery up in Carters Valley, they died in '43 way up in Illinois country, so there he was, all alone. Sister Henrietta said that it was a shame his being a preacher and all that and not being married. So in spite of my own misgivings and to shut everybody up, my how people talk about a divorcee, and all those women down at the church afraid I was going to steal their man, I finally married him in '54.

Edward's church wasn't much and if the truth be known I was ashamed to be married to a minister with such a poor church. So I nearly talked his ear off before he agreed to push the congregation to build a beautiful brick church that would become the pride of the valley. That was back in the summer of '57, the year momma came home to look after sister Malinda and her new baby.

It was a sickly child and Malinda was having a difficult time during the shut in. With a little boy and girl to see to, Malinda just couldn't handle things by herself. That winter momma came down with the sickness and died twenty-two days into the new year, '58 that was. We buried her over in the Bray cemetery and what Snodgrasses were left came to her funeral.

Daddy never did get over her death. Even though I begged him to stay and not go back to Kentucky, nothing would suit him but to return to his new farm. He said that it would fall apart without him there to manage things. And my daddy sure knew how to run a farm. He was a good business man. He died the following November, can't recall the day. He left all the family a goodly sum and also gave me some of the slaves to help out on my farm.

My marriage to Edward fell apart just like the church we were building. The poor congregation was putting it together a brick at a time and almost before they completed it, took till after the war, one wall tumbled down. They blamed it on bad bricks. My brother-in-law John, Malinda's husband, said they hadn't been fired properly and they just melted in all the rain we had. I wonder if too many of the parishioners were getting too hoighty toighty about their grand church. Sometimes I think the devil must have sent it. The rain I mean.

I got an appointment with a lawyer tomorrow, have to go into town and sign a prenuptial agreement. Yes, oh lawdy yes, I'm getting married again. You think that's funny? Well, honey, let me tell you a thing or two. You can't live with a man and you can't live without one. So at 58 years, hush now, don't you dare tell another soul I said that, actually, I won't be 58 till come October.

You hadn't heard? I'm getting hitched to old Absalom Burem. He's related to all the Burems and Looneys for miles around. He's only 65 really. Seven years difference between our ages. You don't think that's unlucky do you. First it was John seven years older than me and then it was Edward seven years younger than me and now...

Cousin Bill, Edward's baby brother, is a lawyer now. He told me to make sure that I get everything writ down so Absalom can't get a hold on any of my land, the house or my money - today, tomorrow or forever. Abe Molsbee more or less told me the same thing. Bill's afraid that if I don't have the agreement first, Ab just might try to sell everything off and leave me beholden to him.

Who'm I going to leave it to? Land's a Goshen, girlie, what a strange thing to ask me. Sure Ritta and Mary died in their twenties. But me?... I'm going to live forever.

Elijah C. Gillenwaters (1792 - 1858) born Hawkins County, died Monroe, KY, married Rebekah Snodgrass (1792 - 1858), born Sullivan County, died Hawkins County, daughter of William Snodgrass.

Henrietta (1816 - 1840), married Daniel Purcell.

Mary (1817 - 1844), married John Rogers Charles.

Sarah White (1819 - 1889), married 1st Col. John S. Brice, 2nd Edward Ervin Gillenwaters, and 3rd Absalom Looney Burem.

Malinda (1822 - after 1858), married John G. Payne.

Joel Fletcher (1826 - 1878), married 1st Mary Catherine Looney, and 2nd Margaret Pence Barlow.

Eliza Jane A. (1828 - 1895?), married George W. Bussell.

Submitted By:

*Rebekah Baldwin Paxton
5125 Sunnyside
Midland, TX 79703*

Thomas GILLENWATERS

Thomas was barely nine years old when his father died and left him half of the Amherst farm through his mother, Martha. When he reached his thirteenth summer, his older brothers Elijah and Joel were emigrating to the Holston River valley - Elijah into the southwestern tip of Virginia and Joel into what would become Tennessee twelve years hence. By the end of the next year, his three sisters would be married. His oldest brother William had died in the Revolutionary War so he became the sole support of his widowed mother.

In 1788, Thomas bought 120 acres on the Gocher Creek, a tributary to the Thickety Creek, in the Spartanburgh District of South Carolina. His brother-in-law, James Simmons, swore to the sale eight years later. In the South Carolina census of 1790 Thomas was listed as the head of household that included two other males and three females. Who these people were remains a mystery to this day.

In 1794 Thomas married Mary Mallory of the estimable Wilkins family. Within two years the young couple had their first two sons, William and Robert, and bought and sold two farms. After the birth of Elizabeth in 1798, Thomas sold out and migrated to Hawkins County where he joined his brother Joel.

Although Thomas' arrival in Hawkins and his original purchase of land cannot be found in the records, he probably bought along the Caney Creek near the Devils Nose Branch in Hickory Cove about 1798. Unlike Joel, Thomas did not continuously speculate in land deals. He farmed the same acres for over forty years and then left the farm to two of his younger daughters. He and Molley raised four sons and six daughters in muted prosperity.

Like his brother before him, Thomas also served as sheriff and as a juror several times. He was sitting as a magistrate of the Court of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions in August of 1832 when he returned a verdict in favor of John C. Gillenwaters versus Joel Gillenwaters - for the son against the father. He ordered Joel to pay John $37.43 and fined Joel 50 cents court costs.

With the exception of his youngest son, Thomas Jefferson, Thomas seemed to manage to see all his sons own farms in Hawkins county, mainly in the Hickory Cove area. Robert seems to be the first Gillenwater of his generation to abandon Hawkins County for the great plains regions. Robert migrated to Indiana about 1825. He was followed the next year by his sister Nancy Jane Klepper. The young Thomas was first emigrated to Kentucky, then Indiana and finally into Illinois in 1829. In 1836 Thomas Jefferson was joined in Illinois by his siblings Joel Wilkins and Betsy Klepper.

By the time Thomas wrote his will in 1841, only his oldest son, William, and the three younger girls remained in the valley. The bulk of his farm was given to daughter Rachel Kyle and the remainder to his daughter Sally Simmons.

To Polly who had married her first cousin Thomas Gillenwater, son of Joel, he assigned $200.

After their father's death, William Terrell, who had been a captain in the War of 1812 with his own company, sold his 200 acres in upper Hickory Cove and migrated to Cass County, Missouri. Sally and her husband migrated along with several of Joel's descendants into Monroe County, Kentucky. Rachel and Robert Kyle wound up in Hancock County. Only Mary Polly remained in Hawkins to watch over their mother who eventually passed away in 1855.

Thomas Gillenwaters, (1771-1841), Amherst, Virginia, married Mary Mallory Wilkins (1769-1855), Culpepper, Virginia. Their children were: William Terrell (1795-1865), married Elizabeth Roddy (7 children); Robert Wilkins (1796-1849), married Mary Holliday (11 children); Elizabeth, (1798- ?), married Henry Klepper; Martha (1800-1880), married unk McCANN; died in Illinois; Joel Wilkins (1802-1880), married Margaret Phipps (12 children); Nancy Jane (1805-1859), married William Klepper (11 children); Thomas Jefferson, (1805-1884) married Diana Farnsworth (8 children); Rachel (1807-1861), married Robert Kyle (14 children); Mary Polly (1809-1875), married Thos. Gillenwaters (3 children); Sally (1811-), married James G. Simmons (10 children).

Related Stories:

Joel Gillenwaters

James Simmons

Submitted by:

*John D. Baldwin
9804 Everwood
El Paso, TX 79925-7612*

A Visit With Tom GILLENWATERS, The Junior

If I live out this winter, I'll be 75 years old and tonight I'm feelin every one of those years. The ache in my bones is not nearly so bad as the ache in Polly's heart. Our youngest marched off to the war and we haven't heard from him in months.

Don't know if he's with General Sherman or not. I just hope he makes it home for Polly's sake. All our other boys have moved out of country or are dead.

My oldest boys, John and Joel G., took off for Kentucky several years back. Joel's doin fine over there but John died two years ago. You remember of course that Missouri and Minerva, no sooner than they got married, up and moved out to the Missouri territory. Jim's been gone a long time and I buried Wesley eight years ago in the family plot up by the road by that walnut stand. Same place we buried Cornelious Klepper when he came home from the war two winters back.

I thank the Lord that Polly still has Ellen and Mary around to help her out and to take care of me alyin here in my weakened condition.

Sure wish I could have gotten outside today. There was a fresh breeze but the sun came out and we had a beautiful blue sky. I looked out the window over my fields and thanked God for the bountiful crop he gave us. The corn put on a good head and the ears came out fat and round and not too wormy.

Did good by the hogs, too. Polly shouldn't have to worry about bacon for a long time. The mare gave us a yearling and the cows we have left were heavy with milk 'most all year long. With the war waging on in the South now, price of everything is at an all time high. Course, my costs have gone up too. We're putting so much iron into cannon and rifles that you can't hardly afford to buy a new plow. If this war don't end soon, I'll be plowin with a hickory branch.

I guess I'll leave most of the farm to Tom if he makes it back. He's a good lad, strong and wiry though he might be a mite bit short compared to most men. He a real Gillenwaters though. Got a fine head of coal black hair and a swarthy complexion. Some folks say our ancestors were Welsh but others say we came from Sussex. Can't say my daddy ever mentioned it for sure.

Course I'll have to leave a few acres for Polly, Mary and Ellen. Poor Ellen. Got married one day and came home the next. I knew she shouldn't have latched on to that Helton boy. Too unstable for my way of thinkin but then again Ellen is awfully headstrong at time. Little Mary never did get married. Seems she decided Polly and I needed her more than she needed a husband. Weren't really necessary though. Sarah, Polly's girl, married Sam Molsbee, uh huh, one of Dave and Margaret's boys from across the road and she's still close by.

Oh, I guess I forgot to tell you that Sarah and Tom are by Polly. The other kids were by my first wife Ellen Carmack. She got real sickly after Mary was born and died the next year. Left me with nine kids and Zora only fourteen at the time. I tried, Lord knows how I tried to raise 'em but there ain't never been no man alive who could take care of the babies. So I looked around and there was my cousin Polly. Black Tom's daughter. Black Tom? He was my uncle. Came here to Hawkins with old James Simmons way back in the 90's after my pappy Joel and Uncle Elijah. Guess you could say they was pioneers.

After he died, Aunt Mary came to live with us, Polly and me, that is. Tom married her over in Spartansburg. She was a Wilkins from the Terrell line, you know. Good family out of Virginia. The Terrells were sea captains. Carried many a ship load 'tween here and the old country. The Wilkins made a name for themselves during the war and fighting the Indians.

You know my son, Shelby, the doctor? He's the only boy I have left around these parts. He's a real go-getter. Besides doctoring and plant'n he's runnin a grist mill over in Washington county. He had two stones aturnin this fall. Got so busy he had to hire a helper. Can you imagine havin to pay a helper $20 a month. My, my, what's this world comin to.

Don't know how I'll manage without my slaves. Farms too big for one man to handle, especially an old man like me. Don't think I'll be up to it next year but things will be all right when Tom gets back and if the negroes stay on.

You have to go? Oh, no. Not so soon. Mary and Ellen have supper just about on and Polly will be so disappointed if you don't stay overnight. Besides, I'm just gettin started. We got lots to talk about.

The 11th of November 1864, Thomas Gillenwaters, the junior, wrote his last will and testament. Without seeing the return of his son, Tom, from the Civil War, Thomas died exactly three months later. He was two days short of his seventy-fifth birthday. He is buried along with his wife, Polly, in the family plot just below the road that runs at the top of the pasture.

Thomas Gillenwaters Jr. (13 Feb 1790, Hawkins, TN - 11 Feb 1865 Hickory Cove.) married first Ellen Carmack (17 Dec 1790 – ca 1832). Their kids were:

John Marion (1812 - 1862)

Joel Carmack (1816 - 1885)

Missouri G. (1817 - 1905)

Jim (ca 1818 - died young)

Minerva (ca 1820 - ca 1858)

Wesley (1822 - 1856)

Isaac Shelby (ca 1825 - 1888)

Eleanor (1849 - after 1864)

Mary C. (ca 1831 - after 1864)

Thomas then married his first cousin Polly Gillenwaters (1809 - 1875). An their kids were:

Martha (ca 1834 - died young)

Sarah (1859 - 1896)

Thomas B. (ca 1845 - ca 1865)

Submitted by:

Natalie Baldwin Brown

*(great great great granddaughter)
9804 Everwood
El Paso, TX 79925-7612*

The GOAD Family

The "Goad Family" has been a part of Hawkins County, Tennessee for many years. Even before 1782, the Goads held Land Grants of over 750 acres from the Long Island Sluice Bridge to Starr's Gap, including the Sentinel Point of Bays Mountain. The Goads established a log School House in what was earlier known as "School House Hollow" and was located near the road that circles the Reservoir Lake on top of Bays Mountain. This school operated for a hundred years or more. They also established a community in the heart of the Bays Mountain, and some of the descendants still live there today. In 1802, the Goads sold the gap of Bays Mountain to Michael Starr. The gap was later known as "Dolan's Gap."

William Goad (1754-1843) Revolutionary War soldier, was one of the earliest Goad settlers in Bays Mountain. For his service at the "Battle of Stone Mountain" William received a Land Grant of 450 acres on the head waters of Horse Creek in Sullivan Co., TN, which at that time was Washington Co., TN. For his service in the "Battle of Kings Mountain" William received 180 acres in the Blairs Gap section. In 1790 William also served in the "Punitive Campaign" against the Cherokee Indians, under his cousin, John Sevier.

In 1820 William married Mary Hall. William and Mary had one known child, Peter Goad (1821-1878). Peter married Marinda Roberts about 1843. Peter and Marinda were blessed with five children. We are grateful to these early settlers for our heritage. The children of Peter and Marinda were:

(1) Johnston Goad (1844-1869) Union Veteran of the Civil War.

(2) David Goad (1846-1865) killed in 13th U.S. Cavalry, Civil War.

(3) Nancy Goad (1849-1915), married George Ward.

(4) Nathan Dillard Goad (1851-1912), married Elizabeth (Betsy) Hamilton.

(5) Lewis Amos Goad (1853-1924), married Martha Crawford.

The children of Nathan Dillard and Betsy Hamilton Goad were:

(1) Eva Goad, born about 1872, died young.

(2) Ellie Goad, born about 1874, died young.

(3) Alice Goad, born about 1876, married Chris Gilbert.

(4) Stennie Goad, born February 1879, married Will Simpson.

(5) Samuel Goad, born October 1882, married Aida West or Wyatt.

(6) Wallace Goad, born February 1885, married Susie Light.

(7) John Curtis Goad, born October 1887, married (1) Ida Light and (2) Vena Crawford.

(8) Thomas Goad, born October 1889, married Susie McClure.

(9) May Goad, born July 1892, married George Arnold.

(10) Serah Goad, born about 1894, died young.

(11) Sulacial Goad, born about 1896, died young.

(12) Burlly Goad, born June 1898, died 1957, married Will Cox.

(13) Another child died young, name unknown.

The children of John C. and Ida Light Goad were:

(1) Mallie Lee Goad, born June 1908, died 1951, married George Jobe.

(2) Murrell Goad, born February 1910, died 1982, married (1) Mabel Cox, (2) Bertha Light and (3) Melissa Puckett.

(3) Nellie Goad (twin), born April 1912, died 1986, married Joe Overbay.

(4) Ellie Goad (twin), born April 1912, died 1914.

(5) Katie Louvenne Goad, born 1913, still living, married (1) Jim D. Crawford, and (2) Roy Overbay.

(6) Willie Goad, born 1915, died 1916.

(7) John Curtis "Dave" Goad, born 1919, died 1973, married Nora Love Barrett.

(8) Gladys J. Goad, born November 1925, still living, married (1) Ira Bernie Scalf, (2) Kenzo Catron, and (3) John D. Stroupe.

The children of Ira B. and Gladys J. Goad Scalf were:

(1) Beatrice Scalf, born 1945, married (1) William H. Bowen, (2) Loyd Hillman, and (3) Ronald McMurray. Children: Kimberlay Di-Ann Bowen, born 1966, married Douglas White, and have one child, Brittany Ashlynn White, born 1990; and Christa Lynn Hillman, born 1971.

(2) James Harvey Scalf (1946-1988), married (1) Rosie Dykes, (2) Candice Miller, (3) Carolyn Caldwell, and (4) Rosie Dykes.

(3) Margaret Scalf, born 1952, married (1) Cecil W. Catron, (2) Paul E. Campbell, and (3) Scott Fleenor. Children: Frances Arlene Ketron, born 1968, married James Miles, and have one child, Kayla Marie Miles, born 1992; and Paul Travis Campbell, born 1975.

(4) Douglas Edward Scalf, born 1957, married Patricia Ann Hawkins, and have one child, Amber Nichole Scalf, born 1985.

Related Stories:

The Light Family.

The Scalf Family.

Submitted by:

*Margaret Scalf Fleenor
518 Springview
Kingsport, TN 37664*

The Zack GOINS Family

Zack Goins, oldest child of George and Orlena (Goins) Goins, was born 19 July 1906 in Hancock Co., Tennessee in the Kyles Ford Community. He married Bessie Lee Begley (9 September 1903-16 March 1989), daughter of William James and Pamela (Roller) Begley on 9 March 1928 in Hancock Co., TN at the home of her parents.

Zack Goins attended Lincoln Memorial University and was a school teacher, carpenter, and farmer. He taught school in Hancock and Hawkins Counties for many years. Zack was an active member of Compromise Baptist Church where he taught Sunday School. Both Zack and Bessie loved to sing, being a member of several quartets including a family quartet, and Bessie (Begley) Goins was very blessed with musical talent, being able to play the piano and organ by ear. Zack also taught singing schools throughout the area.

At the time of his death on 17 April 1978, he was a member of Compromise Baptist Church in Eidson, TN and the Hawkins County Board of Education. Zack and Bessie (Begley) Goins are buried in Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport, TN. They were the parents of six children.

Alvin York Goins (born 31 July 1929) married Louise Thurman. Alvin and Louise Goins have one daughter, TeRonna Hope Goins (born 21 March 1965) who is married to Timothy Hall. Alvin and Louise presently live in Kingsport where Alvin is the Music Director of Pleasant View Primitive Baptist Church.

George Luther Goins (12 April 1931-6 August 1974) married Joyce Bruner. George L. Goins was a farmer and a Baptist minister. At the time of his death in 1974, George was the pastor of New Life Baptist Church in Hawkins County. He is buried in the New Life Church Cemetery. George L. and Joyce Goins had five children.

Teresa Gail Goins (born 12 November 1956) married Darryl Bass.

Vickie Karen Goins (born 9 October 1958) was formerly married to James Pike, Jr. and has two children, James Edgar Pike, III (born 14 November 1977), and Shannon Danielle Pike (born 14 September 1982).

Deborah Sharon Goins (born 17 October 1960) was formerly married to Herman Collins and has one daughter, Loren Gail Collins (born 13 July 1986).

Michelle Renee Goins (born 2 April 1963) was formerly married to Dennis Smith and has two children, Christine Marie "Chrissy" (born 28 February 1980) and Dennis Jerome Smith (born 3 August 1982). Michelle Goins is presently married to Terry Byrd.

George Anthony Goins (born 27 February 1965).

Naomi Ruth Goins (born 9 June 1932) married Renn Lawrence Lawson, and has four children.

Renn Lawson, Jr. (born 9 May 1952) married Audrey Kay Wilder and has two sons, Renn III (born 3 March 1977), and Zachary Anderson Lawson (born 3 July 1988).

Sandra Kay Lawson (born 9 January 1954) married Larry Neal Bass and has four children, Rebecca Kay (born 19 November 1973), Angela Fay (born 5 June 1975), Laura Michelle (born 1 December 1979), and Larry Bass, Jr. (born 18 June 1985).

Gloria Karen Lawson (born 29 June 1957) married Lloyd James Horton and has two sons, Joshua Edward (born 9 January 1986), and Justin Glen Horton (born 16 September 1987).

Pamela Renee Lawson (born 12 July 1969) married Douglas Templeton Jenkins and lives in Franklin, TN.

William Jennings Bryan "Sam" Goins (born 11 October 1934) married first Mary June Reno and had two children; Michael Jennings Goins (born 9 March 1958) and wife Barbara Baker live in Nashville, TN and have one son, Zackary William Goins (born 4 December 1992); and Crystal LaDonna Goins (born 7 January 1963).

"Sam" Goins married second Clara Taylor Broadwater who has three children: Rhonda, Richard, and Robin Broadwater. Sam and Clara presently live in Nickelsville, VA.

Glen Gordon Goins (14 May 1938-20 August 1938). Glen Goins died in infancy of pneumonia and is buried in the Goins-Hurd Family Cemetery in the Kyles Ford Community of Hancock Co., TN.

Gloria Jean Goins (born 2 September 1941) was formerly married to Leon Perkins. Gloria Goins Perkins presently lives in Kingsport, TN.

Related Story:

James Patton Lawson (1867-1945)

Sources:

Special thanks for their help with this article go to first, my mother, Mrs. Renn (Naomi Goins) Lawson, I could never have done it without you; to Mrs. W.J. (Clara) Goins, and to Debbie Goins Collins. All your help is much appreciated!

Submitted by:

*Pamela Lawson Jenkins
Route 1, Box 4955
Rogersville, TN 37857*

GONCE/GAUNCE and KLEPPER/CLEPPER Family

Isaac GONCE, born 26 July 1770 in Delaware was married in Hawkins Co., Tennessee to Frances "Frankie" WILSON in 1796. Frances WILSON was born 8 April 1778, but no one seems to know who her parents were. Isaac and Frankie lived more than 20 years in Hawkins County until he sold his land on Clinch Mountain beside Richardson Creek to George ROGERS, John BRISCOE, and Larkin WILLS in 1820. About this time Isaac moved to Jackson County, Alabama.

The first eight of Isaac and Frankie GONCE's ten children were born in Hawkins County. Elizabeth, born 1798 married (1) William ROGERS, and (2) James B. MATTHEWS; Randolph, born in 1800 married Elizabeth TALLY; Margaret, born 1802 married Anthony STEWART; Frances, born 1804 married Thomas Reid SHIPP and moved to Texas; Ann married Robert McKINNEY; Sarah married Rowland CHARLES and moved to Missouri; Wilson married Malinda RICE and moved to Missouri; Mary (Polly GAUNCE) married John R. WILKINSON and moved to Arkansas; Lydia married Benjamin Bledsoe STEWART, a son of Anthony; and Kiziah married John B. ROGERS. Many of the descendants of Isaac and Frankie GONCE are still living in Jackson County, Alabama.

Isaac GONCE was the son of Rudolf and the former Mrs. Polly McDADE. His other brothers and sisters were: twin brother Abraham who married a VANCE; Margaret, born 1772 married Benjamin HUTCHISSON; Lydia, born ca. 1771 married Thomas SPROWL; Mary Vance, born 1774 married James C. LARKIN; and Sarah, born 1777 married Aaron WELLS. Descendants from these families are living in Hawkins County, in Texas, and all across the United States.

The line of Barbara GONCE comes from her father, Marion and Bertha RUSSELL GONCE of South Pittsburg (Marion Co.) Tennessee; son of Nancy E. WYNNE and Marion Wilson GONCE (1865-1929); son of Mary Jane HACKWORTH and Wilson Thomas GONCE (1833-1869); son of Elizabeth TALLY and Randolph GONCE (1800-1848); son of Frances WILSON and Isaac GONCE (1770-1853). All of these GONCEs have been farmers and some were teachers.

Barbara GONCE, born 1935, married Gerald M. (Jerry) CLEPPER, born 1937, at the Episcopal Church in South Pittsburg, TN in 1957. Jerry is a descendant of Mildred WALKER and Hubert Lovelace CLEPPER (1908-1967); son of Effie LOVELACE and William Wesley CLEPPER (1882-1957); son of Lydia MARTIN and Joseph Sylvester CLEPPER (1860-1937); son of Mary Jane GILLIAM and Thomas Wesley CLEPPER (1833-1...); son of P. James KLEPPER (1793-1880); son of Phillip KLEPPER; son of Jacob KLEPPER (1741-1828). The first GONCEs and KLEPPERs came from Germany before the Revolutionary War. Both families lived for awhile in Delaware and then were in Hawkins County in the late 1700's. The KLEPPERs/CLEPPERs were early settlers in Marion County just a few miles across the state line from where the GONCEs settled in Jackson County, AL in the 1820's. The early CLEPPERs were farmers, but some later ones were merchants.

Barbara GONCE and Jerry CLEPPER have two daughters, Elizabeth Jayne, born 1958, and Deborah Lynne, born 1959. Jayne is a Major in the U.S. Army, serving in Germany, Desert Storm, and Somalia. Debbie has two children, Charlie and Ann PICKENS, and lives in Birmingham, Alabama.

Barbara has written two books about her family, RAULSTON AND RUSSELL GENEALOGY and GONCE AND WYNNE GENEALOGY. You may contact her for more information.

Submitted by:

*Barbara Gonce Clepper
406 Wilson Dam Ave.
Sheffield, AL 35660-5624*

Richard and Frances (AMIS) GRANTHAM

RICHARD GRANTHAM was born 16 March 1754 in Dobbs County, North Carolina. He came to what is now Hawkins Co., Tennessee after the Revolutionary War. He served a first term of six months as a Corporal. He then volunteered for a second term as Sergeant Major in the place of his cousin Joshua who had a big family. He married FRANCES AMIS, second daughter of CAPTAIN THOMAS AMIS, one of the earliest settlers in Hawkins Co., on 14 April 1785. He died 23 June 1846, and she died 27 April 1872, both in Grainger County, Tennessee. They were buried in the Grantham Cemetery in Grainger Co., TN. This cemetery was flooded by Cherokee Lake when the Tennessee Valley Project was constructed. This cemetery was designated Grantham Cemetery No. 54 on TVA Land Map and Track No. Ck 946 and is 1.8 miles from the North End of the Olen R. Marshall Bridge, about 200 or 300 feet on the right side of the road. The 1810 Federal Census shows him owning 185 acres and one slave.

AMIS GRANTHAM was born 1 September 1791 in TN, the oldest son of RICHARD AND FRANCES GRANTHAM. He married MARGARET WILLIAMS, born 31 May 1799 in TN, on 10 April 1815 in TN. He is listed in the 1850 census of Jonesville, Virginia with his wife and children. He evidently was a farmer. Some time before 1856 he and his family moved to San Gabriel, Texas where he died 24 April 1873, and MARGARET died 27 December 1866 at San Gabriel, TX. They were buried in the Grantham Cemetery. In 1990, two grandsons had their graves moved to the Felton Cemetery in San Gabriel, TX.

BENJAMIN DAVIS MILES was born in Jonesville, Lee Co., VA 27 January 1820. He married HARRIET GRANTHAM, daughter of AMIS and MARGARET GRANTHAM, 29 September 1841 in Claiborne County, Tennessee. They moved to San Gabriel, TX with her parents about 1856. He died 12 March 1869 and she died 16 November 1899 in San Gabriel, TX. They were buried in the Grantham Cemetery. In 1990 two grandsons had their graves moved to the Felton Cemetery in San Gabriel, TX.

WILLIAM COLUMBUS MILES was born 4 November 1847 in Jonesville, Lee Co., VA, the son of BENJAMIN DAVIS and HARRIET GRANTHAM MILES. He moved to Texas with the family about 1856. He was wounded in the leg while serving in the 21st Texas Cavalry during the Civil War. This bothered him all his life. He married NARCISSUS ELIZABETH JONES 6 April 1867 in Milam County, Texas. He died 27 October 1927 in Durango, Texas and she died 16 February 1936, in Temple, Texas. They are both buried in Union Cemetery, Durango TX.

WILLIAM HORTON MILES was born 15 January 1890 in San Gabriel, TX, the eighth child of WILLIAM COLUMBUS and NARCISSUS ELIZABETH MILES. He married FRANKIE RELFE, daughter of JAMES SAWYER RELFE and FRANCES PURIFOY RELFE, on 14 November 1909 in Falls County, Texas. He was in the grocery and produce business all his life. He died 17 February 1961 at Temple, TX, and she died 16 March 1990 in Temple, TX. Both are buried in Union Cemetery, Durango, TX.

MILLARD MILES was born 20 August 1917 in Durango, TX, the son of WILLIAM HORTON and FRANKIE RELFE MILES. He spent 21 years in the U.S. Air Force and retired in 1958 as a Senior Master Sgt. He married on 12 April 1942, AUGUSTA TERDIN, born 10 April 1922 in Girard, Kansas. They had three children, of whom their daughter died in Chicago, Illinois in 1958.

Related Stories:

Amis.

Thomas Amis.

Submitted by:

Millard Miles
2200 Mesquite Drive
Santa Rosa, CA 95405

William GRAY

William Gray was born between 1780 and 1790, according to the 1840 Hawkins County Census. His place of birth is unknown to this author. Nothing is known about his parents. About 1809, William Gray married Peggy Christian, the daughter of Lewis and Peggy (Fekner?)

Christian. Peggy Christian was born between 1790-1800, probably in Hawkins Co. Since Peggy is a pet name for the name Margaret, probably both Peggy's were really named Margaret.

William and Peggy (Christian) Gray "lived near a boiling sand spring in the gap of Alex. Mountain thru which the road goes down into War Valley." This spring has always been called the Old Gray Spring, known for miles around. This spring was on the land willed to Peggy by her father.

To this union was born twelve children born between 1810 and 1834. Known children were: Isaac, William H., Tobe, Jesse V., Martha, Peggy, Jane, John, and Thomas. From family records it is known that Jane Gray was born 28 May 1832, and a marriage record was found in Hawkins County between Samuel Curry and Jane Gray which took place 13 April 1848.

The history of Samuel Curry and Jane Gray will be found under the title, "Samuel Curry and Jane Gray" in this book. Also, see the Lewis Christian article.

Related Stories:

Elizabeth Charles Ross.

Lewis Christian.

The Lewis Christian Family.

Samuel and Jane (Gray) Curry.

Sources:

Christian-Skelton History and Genealogy, by T. H. Bailey.

Submitted by:

Billie Margaret Curry Steely
3017 W. Eleventh St.
Irving, TX 75060

GREER Family

The name Greer is Scottish, and is a contraction of MacGregor, which means the son of Gregory, or watchman.

John Greer the immigrant came to the United States from Scotland in the 1700's. He had a son Benjamin I., who also had a son named Benjamin.

In the late 1800's or early 1900's, Elliott, Joel, and Mitchell Greer came to Hawkins County from Ashe County, North Carolina, where they found better farmland. The property they had owned in North Carolina was hilly, with lots of rocks, and the soil was not very fertile. Most of the Greers were farmers, and they easily persuaded more family members to join them in Hawkins County.

In 1908 John Wesley Greer and family boarded a train in West Jefferson (Ashe County) North Carolina, to begin a new life in Tennessee. This was the first train trip for most of them. Constance Greer, a young girl age eleven, did not want to leave her home in North Carolina. She cried and begged her father not to go. Constance's tears were soon replaced by the excitement of new places and the thrill of riding a train for the first time. A few miles out of West Jefferson a most unfortunate thing happened. The train wrecked. No one was injured, but another train had to be called to pull it back for repairs. The Greers and other passengers sat on the train most of the day. They spent the night in a motel in Damascus. The following day, after a long tiring trip, they finally arrived in Rogersville. That night they stayed at Shanks Hotel in Rogersville. Early the next morning the Greer family walked from Rogersville to Bear Hollow. The women and small children stayed the night with Elliott Greer, a relative living in Bear Hollow. The men and older children walked on to the Cold Springs Community. They were later joined by the women and children, and there they made their homes.

John Wesley Greer married Matilda Shepherd, daughter of Gardner Shepherd and Elizabeth Dunn. John and Matilda were the parents of eight children. Tom W. married Jean Carpenter, Ivins married Callie Calhoun, Melvin married Lilie Colhoun, David married Millie Jane Blevins, Benjamin F. married no. 1 Daisy Noe, no. 2 –Wood, Caldonia (Callie) married John Bennett, and Betty who married John Lewis.

The brothers of John Wesley Greer were Joel, Alec, Mitchell, and Dudley.

David Washington Greer, born on 1 November 1875 to John and Matilda, married 2 July 1894, to Millie Jane Blevins, daughter of Eli Bartlett Blevins and Eveline Carter. David and Millie Jane had twelve children who were: Lilie Rosabell who married Dudley Greer, Constance married Thomas Brice, Geneva married John L. Brice Sr., Emma married Edd Fields, Bertha married E.R. Mauk, Harmon died young, Blanch married Howard Greer, Edgar married Mary Martin, Earl married Cecile Mauk, Bartley married Lena Gilliam, J.C. married Victoria Carpenter, and Ossie never married.

Greer families still reside on the property in Cold Springs, which was settled by John Wesley Greer and family.

(Ed: Shanks Motel in Rogersville was torn down ca. 1950. It was located on Depot Street between the present-day Christian Church and Crockett Creek, now the Christian Church parking lot).

Related Story:

Brice Family

Sources:

Census records.

Marriage records.

Deeds and wills.

Family members.

Submitted by:

*Michael T. Brice
Route 1, Box 559
Surgoinville, TN 37873*

The John GRIGSBY Family

John Grigsby, born 1752 in Virginia, was an early settler of the Dodson Creek region of the south bank of the Holston River in Hawkins County, TN. He came to the region in 1788 and settled in 1789 on Dodson Creek where he was a farmer. He had come to Hawkins County from Rockingham County (now Page County), VA where he had land on the Shenandoah River 1784-1789. His ancestry has not been established, but there were a John Grigsby and a Benjamin Grigsby in the Shenandoah Valley from about 1755. It is suspected that John Grigsby came from one or the other of these men and that they were descendants of the earliest John Grigsby who came to Virginia in 1660 from England. However, no link between the Grigsby lines in the Shenandoah River Valley and the 17th century Grigsby family of tidewater Virginia has been discovered.

John Grigsby had two sisters: Letitia Grigsby who married Michael Roark, and Nancy Grigsby who married Joseph West. Members of the Roark and West families also migrated to Hawkins County in the late 18th century.

John Grigsby had served as private in the Point Pleasant campaign of 1774 against the Indians with the Virginia militia in what was a preliminary to the American Revolution. Later in Hawkins County he was a Justice of the Peace. He acquired a considerable amount of land on the Holston River, where he lived in a log cabin. As a farmer John Grigsby and his relatives and neighbors Michael Roark and James Breeden would "go to town" on Saturdays in Rogersville, where various articles were bought.

John Grigsby had married Winney Breeding about 1778 in Virginia, by whom there were thirteen children: William, born 1779; Nancy, born 1783; Winney, born 1784-1785; Lucy, born 1785; Elizabeth, born 1786 (the above children were born in Virginia); and Judith, born 1788; Samuel, born 1790; Susan Fanny, born 1791; James D., born 1790-1800; Mary, born 1795; John Jr., born 1798; Ashby, born 1800; and Nathaniel, born 1805, (these latter children were born in Hawkins County, TN). From these offspring a long line of Grigsbys derived, settling on White Horn Branch of Bent Creek in southern Hawkins County.

John Grigsby died in 1826 at one of his properties, and is buried in the Grigsby-Arnott Cemetery in southern Hawkins County.

Related Story:

Brown-Williams

Source:

An unpublished 130 page manuscript "The Grigsby Family" by Leland L. Smith. The text gives details of the Grigsby family, based on original work of the author, documented with references and notes as to sources.

Submitted by:

Leland L. Smith

Friend John GROVES ca. 1725-ca. 1796

John GRAFF left Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee, by the fall of 1787.

From about 1800 they dropped the German-Swiss GRAFF spelling of their name and became GROVE/GROVES.

They used the name "Graff" until about 1800 when they used only "Groves."

There were no German churches or schools in Hawkins County, so the family quickly became Anglicized because it was necessary to work closely with their neighbors through Indian troubles and Pioneer hard times. They were quickly accepted into the predominately Scotch-Irish community and culture. John acquired large land holdings and was able to settle good farms on each of his children.

John Groves was married first in Lancaster County, PA to a "Widow Anne." John and Anne had children: daughter; daughter; David; Jacob; John, Jr.; and Nancy.

John married second to the "Widow Klepfarine" and had one daughter, Martha, who married John Kensinger. (See the "Daniel Chambers Kensinger" story.)

John's daughter Nancy (c1758 Hawkins Co.-2 October 1847) was married first to John Stokley. They were married by Thomas Amis, with Joseph Rogers attending the wedding. Nancy and John had children: John, and Christopher. Nancy married second to William Malsbee (1759-1840). Their children were: David, William, and Mary.

John Stockley II (1784-1878), son of John and Nancy Groves Stockley, married Mary Myers (1783-1867), and they had 9 children.

Christopher Stockley, son of John and Nancy Groves Stockley (1785-c1820), married Mary Carmack.

David Molsbee (11 February 1794-18 April 1864), son of William and Nancy Groves Stockley Molsbee, married Margaret Simmons (9 December 1792-6 March 1865), the daughter of Christian and Catherine Amend Simmons. Their nine children were: Margaret, Katherine (Katy), Mary, Annie, Rachel, Joseph, William, Samuel, and Abraham. David Molsbee is buried in the Cedar Grove Cemetery.

During the winter of 1787 the Groves family spent much time in the small fort where they became well acquainted with their neighbors and an integral part of the community.

Son John voted in the 1790 election that elected John Sevier to the North Carolina Congress.

Stokley died in 1786, and Nancy Groves married second to William Molsbee (1759-1846). John Groves bought land on both sides of Big Creek from Thomas Gibbons. All the children were raised in Hawkins County.

The early history of the GRAFF/GROVES family is as follows: Hans Graf (I) (c 1661-1746) lived at Grafenauer Hof Castle near Manheim, Germany. About 1695 due to the persecution of the Mennonites, the religious sect of which he was a member, Hans left Germany for Switzerland, then took up his abode at Alsace, France, where he was temporarily known as Baron Von Weldon.

In 1696 Hans Graf emigrated to America, stopping for awhile in Germantown, PA, then moved on to settle permanently in Lancaster County (formerly Chester County) in the Township of Earl (the German "Graf" translates into the English "Earl"). The town had been named in his honor. Hans died there in 1746. His grave is in the Mennonite Cemetery at Groffdale, PA. The land where he is buried and the meeting house was purchased by Hans Graf from the heirs of William Penn and deeded to the Society of Mennonites by one of the sons of Hans Graf.

Hans and his family were "good neighbors" with the local Indians. The "trade" consisted of milk, vegetables, blankets, etc. for furs and trade goods.

It was to this Lancaster County, Pennsylvania the Graf family that the Hawkins County Groves family belonged.

Related Stories:

Daniel Chambers Kensinger.

Christian and Catherine (Amend/Emmons) Simmons.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Mary Kensinger
Route 3, Box 3030
Rogersville, TN 37857*

HAGOOD

Mordecai HAGOOD was born in Brunswick County, Virginia. He was a farmer by occupation when he came of age at least by August 1768 when he first purchased land described as lying along Briery Creek in Brunswick Co.

An interesting story appears on page 333 of History of Southwest Virginia by Lewis Preston Summers. Colonel William Campbell and troops marching north with prisoners taken in the Revolutionary War battle at King's Mountain "camped overnight at the HAYGOOD plantation on Briar's Creek". A letter written by Colonel Campbell is quoted and gives the place and date as "Wilkes County camp on Briar Creek October 20 1780".

No record has been found of Mordecai's marriage to Elizabeth. Their children, all born in Virginia, were: John, James, Jane who married Benjamin ERVIN, Sally, Elizabeth Biggat who married Abraham COCKE, and an unnamed daughter who married George FRANCISCO.

In 1779 Mordecai patented Land Grant #295 issued by the State of North Carolina, in Washington County, giving him 300 acres on the north side of the Holston River, beginning at the mouth of Sharp's Creek. Shortly thereafter, circa 1784, Mordecai, Elizabeth, and children removed to Hawkins County. Wanting to serve the community, Mordecai was appointed a constable in 1790.

Mordecai died unexpectedly before October 1799, leaving no Will. Land deeds document the division of his property among his children and his widow appeared on tax lists as late as 1809.

His son, James, acquired home land, married Nancy NORTH, daughter of Edward, and they became parents of Rebecca who married Miller INGRAM, Ann who married Philip RALEIGH, William who married Matilda GALBRAITH, Benjamin who married Nancy, James who married Sarah (MEE) SANDIDGE, and Stephen D. who married 1st Lydia DAVIS, 2nd Martha LARKINS, and 3rd Elizabeth CALDWELL.

James' Will of 1833 shows his fatherly concern for his minor son, Stephen D., to whom he left a fur hat besides items equal in value to the bequests to older sons, for "when he comes of age". James died about 1834.

Many HAGOOD descendants continue to reside in Hawkins County.

Related Story:

John and George Francisco

Submitted by:

Mildred Emmert Sutton
4515 Sixteenth Ave.
Rock Island, IL 61201-3929

HAGOOD Family

Larry Ellis Hagood was born on June 23, 1932 on the family farm at Persia, in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was the youngest child of Hobart V. and Stella Carter Hagood. Other issue from this union: Betty Blue (1928-), married L. B. Richardson; and Lewis Russell (1930-), married Mary E. Morrisett.

Larry's father first married Florence Mooney, who passed away in 1924. By that union, his father had three children: Virginia Hagood (1916-), married J.M. Self; H.V. Hagood Jr. (1920-1980), married first to Pearl Venable, and second to Grace Booker; Robert William (1922-), married Wanda Bowman. Prior to the union with Hobart, Stella was a widow, having been married to George Drain, who passed away in 1925. By that union, she had two children: Jack Thomas (1921-1983), married Jessee Booker; and Georgia Rose (1925-), married Roy Newberry.

Larry attended Persia and Bulls Gap Elementary Schools, Rogersville High School, graduating in 1949, and he also attended Lincoln Memorial University.

Larry married Doris Jean Stewart, daughter of John M. and Norma Stewart of the St. Clair community, Hawkins County, Tennessee, at Persia Baptist Church on June 15, 1951. At the time of their marriage, Doris was employed as a secretary for TVA at the John Sevier Steam Plant. She continued working there until July, 1957, when health problems forced her to retire. She developed Multiple Sclerosis in 1954. Her condition progressed to the extent that she was confined to a wheelchair in 1961. She was always optimistic and had a great attitude. People would stop in to visit her, hoping to cheer her up, but most of the time they left feeling lifted up by her cheerfulness and good spirit. Doris passed away on December 8, 1981. She was laid to rest in the Persia Baptist Church Cemetery. From this marriage was born Larry Jeffrey (Jeff) on August 10, 1960. Jeff graduated from Rogersville High School in 1978, and graduated from the University of Tennessee Law School in Knoxville, Tennessee in 1985. He now has a successful law practice in Knoxville.

Larry has always been ambitious, even as a child. When he was in his early teens, he would spend his spare time hunting and trapping muskrats and other small animals so that he could sell the fur. This he did for several years. One year, in 1944, he sold the furs he had trapped to Mr. Don Alvis, a local fur-buyer from Rogersville for $250.00 cash. In those days, that was a tremendous amount of money. A new Ford car could have been purchased for about $500.00, and the price of farm labor was $1.00 a day.

Larry worked during his high school days after school and on Saturdays at the Corner Drug Store in Rogersville, Tennessee, always saving his money for buying cows, calves, etc., which he would later sell or trade. He bought a house and had it furnished by the time he married Doris.

After leaving LMU in 1950, Larry worked at the American Enka plant in Morristown, Tennessee until he was drafted into the U.S. Army. After returning from the service, he was employed with TVA for a short period of time before receiving the appointment as Postmaster at the Persia Post Office, in Hawkins County, Tennessee, on February 1, 1955. While serving as Postmaster, his father, who was a rural carrier at that office, liked to tell people that his youngest son was his boss. In August of 1956, a vacancy occurred on Rural Route 1 in Persia, and he transferred to that route. He had the pleasure of working approximately 2 more years with his father, who carried Rural Route 3 before his retirement in 1957. Larry retired on January 22, 1984, just 8 days short of a 30 year career with the U.S. Postal Service. In his many years as mail carrier, he had many pleasant experiences, and some not so pleasant. He saw children grow into adults, marry, and have children of their own. He once helped put out a house fire while on his route. On two different occasions, he had to borrow a gun from patrons on his route to kill rabid foxes. He acted as doctor, friend, and grocery delivery boy. He delivered cow feed and many times received early morning calls at the post office requesting that he pick up medicine for delivery on his route to sick patrons. The people on his route responded with great kindness; seldom did a day go by while on his route that he didn't find fruit, vegetables, fresh meat, and many other good things to eat left for him in the mailbox. On many occasions, his lunch would be prepared and brought to the mailbox to eat. On one particular occasion, he ate 3 different lunches, never letting on that he had just been fed a few miles back.

Upon his retirement, a surprise party was given by the patrons on his route, with over 300 people in attendance showing him with gifts and expressions of their love and appreciation.

Besides being a rural mail carrier, Larry was involved in buying and selling real estate, building houses, raising tobacco, and cattle.

Larry was saved at age 10 at Persia Baptist Church, Persia, Tennessee during a revival in 1942. He immediately joined Persia Baptist Church, in Persia, where his family were all members. He was elected Trustee of the Church in 1958, and was ordained a Deacon in 1960. He was Sunday School Superintendent, Training Union Director, Brotherhood President, and he taught Sunday School for many years. He served on the Building Committee when the new church building was erected in 1968. He helped develop Persia Baptist Church Cemetery and has been a trustee since its development in 1970.

Larry also showed great interest in Persia community. He helped to establish Persia Utility District to provide water for the area. The utility was formed in 1968. He served as Commissioner, and as President for 8 years. He was a charter member of the Persia Fire Department, which was organized in 1971.

Larry was very interested in Hawkins County. He served on Hawkins County Industrial Board, Planning Commission, and has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Hawkins County Memorial Hospital for 14 years; of which time he served 6 years as secretary, and 6 years as Chairman of the Finance Committee, and 2 years as Chairman of the Board.

Larry's driving determination to succeed as a leader has been demonstrated, and through his creative ability he has helped to develop Hidden Valley Subdivision, Lake Forest Subdivision, Cedar Hills Subdivision, East Ridge apartment complex, Colonial Professional office buildings nos. 1 and 2, and Colonial Mini Storage.

During one of many of Larry's confinements in the hospital (he had heart problems, including heart surgery on 3 occasions), he met Opal Clemons Hamilton, who was a nurse where he was admitted. After a 4 year courtship, they were married at Persia Baptist Church on April 22, 1989.

Opal, by a previous marriage, has 2 daughters: Lisa Renae Estep (1968-), and Angela Denise Qualls (1970-). Lisa, who is now a Junior at East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, Tennessee, majoring in accounting, blessed Opal and Larry with 2 grandchildren: Bruce Wayne, born July 28, 1988, and Richard Matthew, born September 18, 1989. Angela, who graduated from East Tennessee State University in May of 1993 with a Degree in Nursing, blessed them with a grandson: Jared Raymond Allen Qualls, born on June 23, (Larry's birthday), 1990.

One of Larry's expressions was that he wanted to stamp out a lot of thistles and replace them with flowers as he passed through life. I feel that he has.

Related stories:

H. V. Hagood. Richardson.

Sources:

Hagood family records.

Hawkins County Courthouse.

Richard Toomey's Baptist History.

Carter Family Bible.

Submitted by:

*Larry Jeffrey Hagood
Suite 350 Main Place
606 Main Avenue
Knoxville, TN 37902*

H. V. HAGOOD

Hobart Verlin Hagood was born in Greene County, Woodlawn Community, on November 5, 1896, the firstborn of William Marion and Lula Russell Hagood. He and his brothers: Denver, Clifton, Fletcher, Luke, and sisters: Mildred Hagood Starnes, and Ada Hagood Everhart, attended Woodlawn Elementary School and the United Brethren Church.

Hobart (H.V.) was a tall man. He stood six feet and two inches tall and had flaming red hair as a youth.

H.V. attained his advanced education, walking four miles to Romeo High School, and his college credits by correspondence courses. He was a true scholar, able to quote the Scripture, Keats, Shakespeare, and Browning. His marks in the Tennessee teachers' examination ranked among the highest in the state. While obtaining his secondary and higher education, H.V. clerked at Vic Carter's store, later managing the Union Store. His first teaching was at Guthrie's Gap in 1917, at age 20.

H.V. passed the Federal postal examination and was appointed as a rural mail carrier at Baileyton, Greene County. After serving three years, he was granted a postal transfer to Persia post office in Hawkins County, Tennessee. H.V. carried the mail in Hawkins County for thirty-seven years, many of them on horseback. His Persia route was twenty-eight miles in distance and included Kite Town, Strahl, Butcher's Valley, Tarpin Valley, Beech Creek, Heck Hollow, County Line, and part of Persia. "Old Jewel" was his faithful sorrel horse used on his mail route. When she died, H.V. had the hide tanned and made into a fine fur coat, which he wore for many years. H.V. retired from the U.S. Postal Service in 1957.

In 1917 H.V. married Florence Mooney (1903-1924), daughter of Robert and Eliza Venable Mooney. Their issue: Virginia (Self), H.V. Jr., and Robert William. Florence died in 1924.

Christmas Day, 1926, H.V. and Stella Carter Drain (1899-1980), daughter of James T. and Anna Venable Carter, were married in the Rogersville Baptist parsonage by Rev. John R. Chiles. Stella was the widow of George Drain with two children, Jack T. Drain and Georgia Rose Drain (Newberry). The union of H.V. and Stella was blessed with three more children: Betty Blue (Richardson), Lewis, and Larry Hagood.

H.V., Stella, and their family lived and worked their farm at Persia. It was a good farm, and through their efforts and God's grace, the family was well blessed with provisions. H.V. was a conservative man, even when there was plenty.

H.V. was a book-taught, homespun veterinarian, treating his own cattle, horses, and other animals, and many of his neighbors'. There were always horses to ride. The younger children had a pony. A gentle percheron bay horse named Bonnie was a novelty to many of the neighbors who came to see and enjoy.

H.V. built a leather shop that he worked in after finishing his mail route, even tanning his own leather. All his neighbors used H.V. to make their harnesses, bridles, and saddles. An Amish group traveled from Pennsylvania annually to have their horses fitted with Hagood saddles, boarding with the Hagood family. Many of H.V.'s belts, saddles, pocketbooks, leather stools, and wallets are still in use to date.

H.V.'s leather shop is now a part of the Appalachian Museum in Norris, Tennessee.

H.V.'s wife, Stella Rose, enjoyed her family, her Persia Baptist Church, and her community work. She taught school at Walnut Hill School in Greene County and at Pleasant Hill, near Bulls Gap.

Four of their sons - H.V. Jr., Jack (Drain), Lewis, and Larry - served in the armed forces. Robert W. aided in the construction of the Panama Canal in Central America. Many nights after work, H.V.

would deliver World War II telegrams to his neighbors that had come to his home by telephone. He was a good neighbor, a good friend, and a loving family man. Besides their eight children, there were frequent prolonged visits of uncles and cousins. H.V.'s father, Will Hagood, lived with the family from 1943 until his death in 1950.

The Hagood family (Hawgood, Hage-wood, Hawkwood, Haygood, Hagwood) came originally from Essex and Surry counties, England, and into Virginia in 1650. Francis Hogwood settled first in Charles City County, now known as Prince George County. He was issued a land patent on August 12, 1650, and married Elizabeth Creed. Their heir, Richard, who came to Brunswick County, Virginia, and received a grant of 350 acres on the west side of Briry Creek (patent book 21:122), was the father of Mordecai Hagood. Mordecai received a land grant eight miles above Rogersville, Tennessee in 1784. Mordecai's son, James (married Nancy North), was on the first grand jury in Hawkins County. James' youngest son, Stephen D. Hagood, married Elizabeth Caldwell, daughter of Thomas K. and Mariah Bussell Caldwell. Issue: William Marion Hagood (wife, Lula Russell) and Julia Hagood (husband, Martin Glover).

H.V. and Stella were staunch Republicans.

H.V.'s mother was Lula Russell Hagood, a tall and slender redhead. Her father, John Virgil Russell, was from Rabun County, Georgia. His father, William Fern Russell, was killed by lightning when John was age 12. Since his mother remarried and had small children, John Virgil came to Hawkins Co. with his Confederate soldier comrades, Jacob and James Rowan, after the Civil War ended. John Virgil married their sister, Margaret Rowan, and the couple lived in the Slide community in Hawkins County. They were charter members of the Tunnell Hill Baptist Church.

H.V., both of his parents, and other members of the Greene County family were members of the Church of the Brethren. H.V., though, attended and supported the Persia Baptist Church with his wife and children.

H.V. died on February 4, 1961, and is buried by his first wife and his parents on the beautiful hillside of Price Cemetery, in Greene County. Stella is buried at the Hawkins-Greene county line cemetery by her first husband and near her many Carter relatives.

Related Stories:

James Thomas "Jack" Drain.

Hagood Family.

Richardson.

Sources:

Hagood Family Records.

Hawkins County Courthouse.

Virginia State Archives.

Richard Toomey's Baptist History.

Carter Family Bible.

Submitted by:

Betty Blue Hagood Richardson
(Mrs. L. B. Richardson)
609 Douglas Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857

Hezekiah Davis and Sarah Elizabeth (PAYNE) HAMBLÉN

Sarah Elizabeth Payne (b. March 9, 1855-d. July 5, 1927) was the oldest child of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne. She was married to Hezekiah Davis Hamblen (b. 1851-d. 1927) of Hawkins County, Tennessee, on December 24, 1871. The 1900 Census gives the birthdate of Hezekiah Davis Hamblen as August 1850. The following children were born to this union: James Deaderick (b. March 22, 1873-d. January 29, 1939), Mary Jane (b. April 26, 1875-d. 1948), Harriett Emmeline (b. September 26, 1879-d. 1946), and twins, Laura and Allie Ann (b. October 1876). Dates of death for the twins are not known.

James Deaderick Hamblen was married to Allie Jane Price (b. August 25 1875-d. April 16, 1945), daughter of Joseph and Mary Russell Price, and granddaughter of George and Susannah Webb Price. They had ten children: Josephine Ann (b. July 15, 1893), Infant daughter (d. May 24, 1895), Walter Davis (b. April 14, 1896-d. November 27, 1969), William Leslie (b. February 18, 1898-d. September 29, 1907), Margaret (Maggie) Lou (b. February 7, 1900-d. August 4, 1965), James Edmond (b. June 19, 1903-d. June 20, 1990), Luther Martin (b. October 10, 1905-d. June 21, 1974), Georgia Mary (b. November 12, 1907), and triplets, Ray Armstrong (b. August 27, 1910-d. April 3, 1988), Miranda (Randy) Virginia (b. August 17, 1910), and Ralph Lyons (b. August 27, 1910-d. February 25, 1988).

Mary Jane was married to James M. Shepard (b. August 10, 1878-d. April 27, 1957) on November 15, 1903. They had four children: Paul Etter (b. July 26, 1904-d. January 27, 1978), Carl Richmond (b. September 8, 1905-d. September 29, 1964), Oliver Miller (b. January 31, 1908-d. May 10, 1908), and Mary Lida (b. October 27, 1910-d. February 4, 1983). Paul Etter was married to Mary Kathleen Gardner (b. June 27, 1905), daughter of John W. (Rock) Gardner and Mary Ann Jones. Carl Richmond was married to Jannie Vee Mooney (b. June 27, 1900-d. January 23, 1972), daughter of Joseph Thomas and Allie Jane Payne Mooney. Mary Lida was married to Charles Murphy Ely (b. March 17, 1905-d. November 6, 1984). The Shepards gave the land for the Shepard's Chapel Church.

Harriett Emmeline was married to Elijah (Lige) Wilson Price (b. January 17, 1876-d. December 21, 1951), on March 15, 1903. They had the following children: Wilmer Hurst (b. February 8, 1904-d. October 16, 1928); Virginia Elizabeth (b. April 18, 1905), Ina Loraine, Mabel Gertrude, and Verna Lee (b. September 11, 1914).

Laura was married to William Harvey Edward Hamblen, son of Robert H. Hamblen, on September 27, 1903. He was a brother of Davis Hamblen. This couple had one daughter, Ruth Elizabeth (b. September 30, 1907), and one son, Robert Hezekiah (b. March 27, 1915).

Ruth Elizabeth's married name was Austin. Robert Hezekiah and his wife, Lula Mae (b. January 12, 1919), were the parents of the following children: John Richard (b. October 17, 1935), Jackie Robert (b. May 18, 1938), Andrew Jackson (b. September 18, 1940), Raymond Lee (b. September 12, 1942), Wilma Faye (b. July 29, 1944) and Joyce Ann (b. June 26, 1946).

Allie Ann was married to John Drew.

They had three sons: James (Jimmy) Alford Davis (b. July 24, 1911), John Marcus (b. August 21, 1914-d. 1967), and Deaderick Eugene (b. July 25, 1918). The family resided in Chattanooga.

James (Jimmy) Alford Davis Drew was married to Fannie Mae Tulhym (b. February 26, 1916) on August 25, 1934. They had four children: Barbara Ann (b. March 20, 1936), Sharon Myrtle (b. May 8, 1942), Myra Nell (b. March 10, 1944), and James Donald (b. March 21, 1947).

John Marcus Drew was married to Juanita Anderson Swift (b. March 14, 1924) on June 28, 1952.

Deaderick Eugene (Gene) Drew was married to Ora Mae Douglas (b. May 21, 1916) on December 21, 1940.

Elizabeth and Davis had thirteen children in all, and they with eight babies are buried in the Hamblen Cemetery.

Related Stories:

James Deadrack and Allie Jane (Payne) Hamblen.

Evan and Josephine Ann (Hamblen) Klepper.

Joseph Thomas and Allie Jane (Payne) Mooney.

Submitted by:

*Edith Klepper Lawson
Route 1, Sneedville Pike
Rogersville, TN 37857*

James Deaderick and Allie Jane (PRICE) HAMBLÉN

JAMES DEADERICK HAMBLÉN (b. March 22, 1873-d. January 29, 1939), son of Sarah Elizabeth Payne and Hezekiah Davis Hamblen, was married to Allie Jane Price (b. August 25, 1875-d. April 16, 1945). To this union the following children were born: Josephine (Josie) Ann (b. July 15, 1893), Walter Davis (b. April 14, 1896-d. November 27, 1969), William Leslie (b. February 18, 1898-d. September 29, 1907), Margaret (Maggie) Lou (b. February 7, 1900-d. August 4, 1965), James Edmond (b. June 19, 1903-d. June 20, 1990), Luther Martin (b. October 10, 1905-d. June 21, 1974), Georgia Mary (b. November 12, 1907), and triplets, Ray Armstrong (b. August 27, 1910-d. April 3, 1988), Miranda (Randy) Virginia (b. August 27, 1910), and Ralph Lyons (b. August 27, 1910-d. February 25, 1988).

Josephine Ann (Josie) was married to Evan Klepper (b. December 22, 1889-d. September 14, 1970) on December 12, 1912. They had six children: Kelsie Clay (b. May 31, 1915-d. September 5, 1974), Walter Lyons (b. September 19, 1918), Mildred Elva (b. May 7, 1922), Edith Alice (b. May 28, 1929), James Roy (b. January 18, 1931), and Waymond Miller (b. November 13, 1933).

Walter Davis was married to Pearl Frances Price (b. December 19, 1893- d. February 14, 1973), daughter of Henry (Huckster) and Mary Price, on February 15, 1914. They had six children: Elsie Elouise (b. May 1, 1915- d. March 4, 1992), James H. Hamblen (b. April 13, 1917-d. January 17, 1919), Pauline Alice (b. December 15, 1919), infant son (b. March 27, 1922- d. April 18, 1922), Sallie Virginia (b. September 18, 1924-d. February 29, 1936), and John Reed (b. January 11, 1930).

Margaret (Maggie) Lou b. 1900-d. 1965) was never married. She had spinal meningitis and became and invalid in early childhood. She passed away on August 4, 1965, of pneumonia, and was buried in the Choptack Cemetery on August 6, 1965. This same affliction caused her brother Leslie's death.

James Edmond Hamblen was married to Jennie Lee Jaynes (b. March 4, 1904-

d. January 8, 1992) on June 17, 1923. They had one daughter, Ima Blanche (b. August 27, 1925). Blanche was married to John R. Dietrich (b. August 24, 1911-d. May 30, 1972) in 1945.

Luther Martin was married to Mary Brooks (b. October 10, 1915), on December 31, 1932. Her parents were James Albert Brooks and Nancy Elizabeth Webb. Her brother, James Fred, was the first husband of Elsie Elouise Hamblen, niece of Martin.

Georgia Mary (b. 1907) married Clay Jaynes (b. June 7, 1900-d. November 25, 1971), a brother of Jennie Lee and Jessie Jaynes Hamblen. They had the following children: Ernest (b. October 12, 1926), Howard (b. April 3, 1931), Nina Fay, Billy, Johnny, Elaine, and Mary Alice (b. April 22, 1933).

Ray Armstrong was married to Edna Lee Sizemore (b. August 16, 1912-d.). They were married on May 13, 1933. There were four children born to this union: James Clayton (b. March 1, 1936), Wanda Faye (b. May 17, 1939), Barbara Ann (b. September 7, 1943), and Ronald Ray (b. December 27, 1951).

Miranda (Randa) married William Harvey Davis (b. May 21, 1904-d. February 5, 1979), son of James Arthur and Nancy Jane (Siss) Price Davis, on May 18, 1929. They had one daughter, Margaret Joyce Davis, who is married to William Lane (Billy) Horton (b. February 19, 1935). There was also an infant son born February 10 and died February 12, 1930. Margaret Joyce and Billy Horton have two sons.

Ralph Lyons was married to Hattie Virginia Carson (b. August 27, 1914) on December 24, 1931, in Bristol, Virginia. They had four children: Robert Earl (b. January 3, 1933-d. June 19, 1933), Jesse Raymond (b. December 12, ?), Vera Ann (b. March 13, 1945), and Regina Faye (b. October 17, 1950). This family is written up in the Heck Family History by Arch O. Heck, published in 1969.

Related Stories:

Hezekiah Davis and Sarah Elizabeth (Payne) Hamblen.

Evan and Josephine Ann (Hamblen) Klepper.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

*Edith Klepper Lawson
Route 1 Sneedville Pike
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Jacob, and Margaret Elizabeth (MAXWELL) HAMILTON

Jacob Hamilton, son of John Bell and Elizabeth Hicks Hamilton, and grandson of Robert and Sarah Brandon Hamilton, was born 2 February 1828 near Blountville, Sullivan County, Tennessee. He left home at the age of twenty-two and moved to the Hamilton homeplace south of the Holston River in Hawkins Co., TN.

Jacob married Margaret Elizabeth "Bet" Maxwell, daughter of James Jarvis and Margaret Wallace Maxwell, 12 March 1850 in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. She was born there 28 September 1825.

According to the Tunis Hood Family (discussed later), two brothers by the name of Hamilton took a drove of horses and hogs to Mecklenburg Co. They stayed at the home of James J. Maxwell, and the youngest brother, Jacob, fell in love with and married Bet Maxwell. It has been handed down in the Maxwell family that Jacob was the handsomest man who ever walked the streets of Charlotte, NC.

Jacob Hamilton was a farmer most of his life but for a few years following the Civil War, he was a merchant in Bristol, TN and later operated a hotel in Blountville, TN. In 1868, he returned to the farm in Hawkins County.

From the time of his arrival in Hawkins Co. until his death, Jacob was active in the affairs of his community and his church. In 1851, he was a delegate to the Democratic Convention in Nashville, and represented Hawkins Co. in the Lower House of the Tennessee General Assembly, 1857-1859. He was a long time Justice of the Peace for the 5th Civil District.

In July 1851, he enlisted in the Confederate States Army at Camp Powell as 1st Lieutenant, Company K, 29th Tennessee Infantry, later being promoted to Captain. Due to ill health he resigned his commission in 1862 but re-enlisted in 1863 in Captain Miller's Company of local defense troops, District 5, Hawkins Co.

He was a member of the Baptist Church from the age of eighteen. After their marriage Jacob and Margaret Elizabeth both were loyal members of McPheeters Bend Baptist Church. He served as church clerk and Messenger to the Baptist Association for several years and was Moderator of the Holston Baptist Association, 1872-1878.

Jacob and Margaret Elizabeth Hamilton were the parents of two daughters: Olivia and Ida Demeteria.

Olivia "Ollie" Maxwell, born 2 January 1851, died 20 October 1911 at Church Hill. She married Alexander Smith, the youngest son of Campbell and Mariah Jane Alexander Smith, at McPheeters Bend Baptist Church on 19 October 1871. They were the parents of ten children, viz: Walter Eldridge (1872-1940) married Bertha Cooper; Willard Claude (1875-1956) never married; Bert Edgar (1877-1955) married Fannie Akard; Nina Josephine (1878-1956) married Dr. Hiram Henderson; Clyde Earl "Dan" (1880-1947) married Grace Smith; Samuel Alexander "Allie" (1882-1927) never married; Mary Ida (1885-1971) married Richard Ewell Armstrong; Fred Ernest (1887-1946) married Bessie Atkins; Herbert Eugene (1890-1956) married Ruby Roberts; and Lyle Hamilton (1894-1945) married Christine Nicholson.

The second daughter of Jacob and Margaret Elizabeth Hamilton, Ida Demeteria, was born on 31 August 1853 and died at Bristol, TN on 22 August 1865.

Jacob Hamilton's will dated 19 July 1880 leaves his beloved wife M. E. Hamilton the home tract where they lived "containing from between twelve and fifteen hundred acres lying and being between the Holston River and the top of Bays Mountain." He directs his wife to give $100 toward building a schoolhouse at Church Hill opposite the old John McWilliams place on the old Stage Road provided said house is built and $100 to Clay Lodge No. 386 for the purpose of building a Hall. He also directs his executors to put $250 in some safe investment and apply the interest for the upkeep of McPheeters Bend Baptist Church. At the death of his executors, "the trustees then being, and their successors ever after shall manage said fund and apply said interest for the use and benefit of said Church." He appointed his brothers Robert P. and John S. Hamilton executors. The Will was witnessed by W. H. Watterson, M. Hamilton, and J. J. Hamilton.

A codicil dated 23 September 1880 gives his wife a life estate on the home place and at her death, the land is to descend to their daughter, Olivia M. Smith, if she survives her mother. If not, then to the children of Olivia.

Jacob Hamilton died of heart failure 18 December 1880 and is buried at McPheeters Bend Baptist Church Cemetery.

After Jacob's death, Margaret Elizabeth ably managed the farm until the time of her death. She became the first postmistress of the Margaret Post Office, established in 1882 and named in her honor. She died on 15 September 1895 and is buried beside her husband. Her mother, Margaret Wallace Maxwell, two sisters Lue and Sue Maxwell, Olivia and Alexander Smith, one grandson and two great grandsons are buried beside Joseph and Margaret Elizabeth.

James J. Maxwell, father of Margaret Elizabeth Maxwell, was the son of Robert Maxwell (1766-1840) and his wife, Elizabeth Hood (1777-1831). She was a daughter of Tunis Hood, Jr. and his wife, Eleanor Harrison. All of the above were long time residents of Mecklenburg, NC. The ancestry of Robert Maxwell has not yet been established; however, Elizabeth Hood's lineage has been traced to Jasper Hoed (Hood), of Danish-Dutch ancestry, and his wife, Cathrina Andries, whose ancestors were among the earliest settlers of New Amsterdam, now New York.

Their son, Jan Hoed or John Hood, married Rachel Van Bunschoten in October 1717-18 at the old Dutch Reformed Church in Kingston, New York. John and Rachel with their family of six children, Tunis, John, Jacob, Cathrina, Gerritjen, and Rebekka, moved to the Shenandoah Valley section of Virginia in 1729.

Tunis Hood married Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of John and Phebe Harrison, about 1744 in Augusta Co., VA. Their second son, Tunis, Jr. married his first cousin Eleanor Harrison, daughter of Jeremiah and Catherine Adams Harrison, who eventually settled in Greene Co., TN.

John and Jeremiah Harrison were the sons of Isaiah Harrison who was born 27 September 1689 at Oyster Bay, Long Island, New York. In 1721, Isaiah and his family left New York and removed to Sussex County, Delaware, where he purchased land on the Delaware River near the town of Lewes. In 1737, the Harrisons left Sussex Co. for the new settlements in Augusta Co., now Rockingham Co., VA where they met the Hood family.

About 1771 the Tunis Hood, Jr. family left Virginia and settled on McAlpine's Creek in Mecklenburg Co., NC. By 1773, Tunis, Jr. removed to Mecklenburg Co. and lived near Tunis, Jr. The father died in the fall of 1797 and the son in the spring of 1801.

Descendants may join the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of 1812 on the services of both Tunis Hood, Sr. and Jr.

Related Stories:

Robert Hamilton, Sr.

David R. and Roberta (Smith) Scruggs.

Bert E. and Fannie Akard Smith.

Sources:

DAR and USD of 1812 Records.

Hamilton family Bible records.

Hawkins Co. 1850/60/70/80 Census.

Hawkins Co. Deeds, Marriages, and Court Records.

Mecklenburg Co., NC Wills, Deeds, and Marriages.

National Archives Confederate Service Records.

175th Anniversary of McPheeters Bend Baptist Church, pp. 19, 21, 25, 27, 31, 34, 37, by Louella Cavin.

Biographical Directory of the Tennessee General Assembly, Vol. I, 1796-1861, pp. 324/326.

Hawkins County Will Book, 1797-1886, Part 2, pp. 530-533.

History of East Tennessee, p. 1229, by Goodspeed.

Settlers by the Long Grey Trail, by J. Houston Harrison.

The Centennial History of the Holston Valley Baptist Assoc., 1884-1983, p. 234, by Glenn A. Toomey.

The Tunis Hood Family, by Dellmann O. Hood.

The Van Bunschoten Family in America, by William H. Van Bunschoten.

Submitted by:

Richard J. Trolinger
802 Brookside Dr.
Miami, OK 74354

Robert HAMILTON, Sr.

The ancestry of Robert, the progenitor of the Hamilton family in Hawkins Co.,

Tennessee, is unknown. Neither do we know the date or place of his birth, the maiden name of his wife or when he first settled south of the Holston River near present day Church Hill. We do know that after the Revolutionary War when North Carolina began to issue land grants, he received grant number 384, dated 9 August 1787, for 125 acres "lying and being in our County of Sullivan on the South side of Holston River at the Head of the Big bent..." This grant was the original part of the 220 acre Hamilton farm which remained in the possession of his descendants for over 140 years.

Robert Hamilton, Sr.'s will dated 21 February 1800 leaves bequests to his wife Margaret; sons Robert, James and John; daughters Cathrine, Elenor and Elisabeth; grandchildren Robert and Nathan Page; Robert and William Hamilton (sons of John); and Robert McWilliams and Robert Brushire (thought to be grandsons); Jesse McWilliams (his son-in-law) and John Brushire. He leaves his 225 acre plantation where he lives on the south bank of the Holston to his son Robert "he paying his Brother John who is my son one Hundred pounds Virginia money." He "allows" his 400 acre entry on the north bank of the Holston between Thomas Morrison and David Kinkead, Sr. to be sold and the monies divided between his grandchildren. The house where he lives, the part of the crop he receives from his son Robert, and "one third & all household & moveable property to my wife Margaret during her life Cattle & horses inclusive." At her death these items are to be sold. He leaves a judgement obtained in Sullivan Co. court against John Snodgrass to Jesse McWilliams. He names Samuel McPheeters, George Maxwell and son Robert his executors. Witnesses were Wm. Young, John Young and Robert Young, Jr.

A codicil dated 24 June 1801 completed his will. Apparently, Margaret Hamilton had died before the codicil was made. Robert, Sr. died about 1805. His burial place and that of his wife are unknown.

Records indicate that of the children of Robert and Margaret Hamilton, only Robert, Jr. and Elenor remained in Hawkins County. Elenor was the wife of Jesse McWilliams and died prior to 1810.

Robert Hamilton, Jr. was born about 1765.

He married Sarah Brandon, daughter of Jarrett Brandon and his wife Margaret Bell, probably in the late 1780's after the family arrived in Hawkins County. They lived on the original Hamilton homestead south of the Holston where they raised a large family. He was a prosperous farmer and accumulated considerable property on both sides of the Holston River.

After many years of searching, the will of Robert Hamilton, Jr. was found at the Hawkins County court clerk's office in Will Box H. As noted on the fragile, folded piece of paper, the will is illegible and mutilated but enough of it remains to show bequests to his "beloved wife Sarah," sons Brandon and John and daughters Sally and Elisa Ann. It is dated 25 September 1825. He was still living when the 1830 census was taken but died during the epidemic which swept the upper end of Hawkins County in late summer and early fall of that year. Sarah Brandon Hamilton probably died before June 1830. Their place of burial is unknown.

According to Hawkins County deeds, their children were, viz: Margaret (married Anninas Cavin), Catherine (married Curtis Walker and moved to Jackson County, Alabama), Robert, William, John Bell, Thomas, Jarrett Brandon, Harvey, Sarah (died after 1850 unmarried), James (moved to Alabama), Jane (married Solomon Goddard and moved to Jefferson Co., Illinois), and Eliza (married Isaac Cox and moved to Sullivan County, Tennessee).

Little is known of the above children other than the following:

(1) William was born in 1796. He married Matilda Hicks about 1813. She was a relative of his brother John Bell's wife. He was a farmer in Hawkins County until the early 1850's when he moved to Washington County, Virginia where he and his wife died sometime after June 1860. William and Matilda were the parents of twelve children: George Maxwell, Harvey Hicks, John M., Robert B., James, Helen, Jarrett Brandon, Mary, Sarah Ann, Caroline, William H., and Edward.

(2) John Bell, the compiler's third great grandfather, was born 16 February 1798 and died 21 October 1862 at Blountville, Tennessee. He married Elizabeth Hicks, daughter of Stephen and Elizabeth Cox Hicks, 12 March 1822. She was born in Sullivan County 12 February 1790 and died there 14 February 1856. Both are buried in the old Blountville Cemetery. The family lived in Hawkins County until 1826 when they moved to Sullivan County. He was a farmer and trader and owned a great deal of property in both Hawkins County and Sullivan County. John Bell was sheriff of Sullivan County and a representative to the Tennessee General Assembly, 1846-1847. The children of John Bell and Elizabeth Hicks Hamilton: Stephen J. (1823-1864) married Hannah J. Bachman; Robert Patton (1825-1885) married Josephine Maxwell; George Bell (1826-1833); Jacob (1828-1880) married Margaret Elizabeth Maxwell; John S. (1829-1898) married Elizabeth Ott; Martha E. married John W. Davis; Mary E. (1836-after June 1900) married Gideon Cate; and William Perry (1838-1910) married Catherine Roach.

(3) Thomas was born 1800 and died 21 July 1840. He was a farmer and lived near his parents in McPheeters Bend. He married his first wife, Nancy Hicks, 3 September 1822. Their children were: Curtis W., Jarrett Brandon; and Isaac. After Nancy's death, he married Mary Bernard, daughter of John and Sarah Bachman Bernard. They were the parents of six children: Barnett, Malvina, William H., Nancy M., Thomas Maxwell, and Henry D. As far as it is known only Bennett remained in Hawkins County. Thomas and Mary Bernard Hamilton are buried in the Bowser Cemetery at the top of Bays Mountain.

(4) Jarrett Brandon, known to the family as Brandon, was born about 1802 and died after August 1867. He, too, was a farmer and lived adjacent to his parents and brother, Thomas, during their lifetimes. After 1850 he resided on Beech Creek. He was married before 1836 but the name of his wife is unknown. According to the 1850 census, his children were: Robert J., John H., Isaac P., Sarah E., and Mary Elizabeth. In the 1860 census only Isaac, Sarah, and Mary Elizabeth were still at home.

The Bert Smith, Sr. family of Church Hill are descendants of Robert Hamilton, Sr.

Related Story:

David R. and Frances Roberta (Smith) Trolinger.

Sources:

Hawkins County, TN Grant books.

Hawkins County, TN Will books.

Hawkins County, TN Deed books.

Hawkins County, TN Marriage Records.

Hawkins County, TN Census Records.

Sullivan County, TN Census Records.

Washington County, VA Census Records.

Goodspeed's HISTORY OF EAST TENNESSEE.

Taylor HISTORIC OLD SULLIVAN.

BIOGRAPHICAL DIRECTORY OF THE TENNESSEE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

175th ANNIVERSARY - MCPHEETERS BEND BAPTIST CHURCH.

McPheeters Bend Baptist Church cemetery.

Bowser cemetery.

Mt. Carmel, TN cemetery.

The Knoxville Register, Knoxville, TN

Conversations with Bert Smith, Jr.

Submitted by:

Patricia Scruggs Trolinger
Ottawa Hill
Route 1, Box 154
Miami, OK 74354-9370

HARLANs

Harlan records have been kept for many years. James Harlan was born ca. 1625 in Bishoprick England, and his wife's name is unknown. They had 3 known sons: Thomas, George, and Michael.

Michael Harlan, being my fifth Great-Grandfather, born 1660, died ca 1729, was married to Dinah Dixon ca. 1690. Michael and Dinah had a son George, born on 4 October 1690, and died in 1732. He and his wife, Mary Stewart Bailey, were both born in Chester County, Pennsylvania and were of the Quaker faith.

One son of George and Mary named John Harlan, born ca. 1716, died on 4 May 1740 in Chester Co. PA, was married to Sarah Wickersham. Their son, Thomas Harlan, born in 1750, married Elizabeth Carmack.

Thomas and Elizabeth were the Parents of my third GreatGrandfather, John Harlan, born on 16 July 1796, died 4 March 1860, married Elizabeth "Betsy" Forgey in 1826. She was the daughter of Old James Forgey and Margaret Caldwell/Coldwell. Betsy was born on 18 April 1805, and died 25 September 1837. John is buried in Rogersville, Hawkins County, TN in the Family Cemetery on the old home place. Betsy is buried in Hawkins Co. TN at New Providence Presbyterian Cemetery in Surgoinsville.

They were the parents of six children: Thomas P., born 22 March 1827, died on 10 August 1869; Matilda H. (Malinda) Harlan, born on 13 November 1830, died 14 January 1903, married Joshua Smith 24 October 1855; Elizabeth E. Harlan, born on 30 November 1832, died on 3 June 1885, married John R. Bussell; Rachael F. Harlan, born ca. 1834, died in Cameron Co., Virginia, married George Sanders; Cornelius Miller Harlan, born ca. 1836, died 15 August 1908, married Nancy Jane McClellan on 1 March 1870; and Mary Eliza Harlan, born on 14 October 1848, and married Gabriel R. Forgey on 1 May 1870.

Upon the death of John's first wife "Betsy" John then married Tabitha L. Charles. Tabitha was born 10 August 1809, died on 6 November 1871. Mary Eliza was the only child of John and Tabitha. Her parents were James Charles Jr. and his wife, Dorcas Miller. Tabitha is also buried at old home place in Rogersville, TN, now owned by Mrs Bob Lane.

Mary Eliza and Gabriel had nine children.

Related Story:

Forgey's

Submitted by:

Carolyn A. Pearson
329 Bell St.
Blountville, TN 37617

Melissa (HAUSE) HAUEISE

Melissa's mother was Catherine Wineinger, who married first Daniel Evans and second Benjimen Hause. Catherine was born in Hawkins Co., Tennessee.

Melissa, born in Missouri in 1854, and her sister Cynthia, born 1859, lived with their parents Benjimen and Catherine WINEINGER EVANS HAUSE in Linn County, Missouri. Melissa had dark eyes, an olive skin and hair pulled back from her face, probably in a bun. She had a round figure, and was about 5'-4". The only picture in this writer's possession shows her with two sons and husband Henry. Melissa was about ten years old when the Civil War ended, and her father Benjimen HAUSE could have died in it for he was not in the 1870 census with Catherine and the two girls.

At birth Melissa E. and Cynthia were named Anne E. and Martha respectively, but following the custom of the times, they changed their names to that of a loved one, aunt, grandmother.

In 1880 when Melissa was 26, she married Henry HAUEISE, a potter from Germany, age 51, by whom she had four children: Edna, b. 1883; Phillip, b. 1886, Mary Ellen (died as an infant), and Henry, b. 1889.

There is a case recorded in Linn County, Mo. Circuit Court office that shows Henry and Melissa HAUEISE vs. Cynthia WINEINGER and Cynthia HAUSE. It was a dispute over twenty acres bought from Cynthia WINEGAR by Benj. and Catherine HAUSE in 1864 for $80. The deed read the land was to go to "heirs of their bodies" when they died, but there was a mistake between the land sold and the land conveyed. Forty acres were divided into two twenty acre parcels, so close was the description, the difference went unnoticed. Evidentially Melissa took advantage of the mistake and after several hearings the court ruled in favor of she and Henry, for a receipt dated 1885 shows that Henry and Melissa quickly sold the land for $200. Before the case was settled, Grandmother Cynthia made her will, giving her living children and grandchildren $100.00, but to Melissa HAUEISE and James BROOKSHIRE $1.00 each, "they having mistreated me in my old age thereby rendering themselves unworthy of my bounty." Both Cynthias and her parents died by 1887.

The picture of her two boys and Henry was taken just before she died of a heart attack in April, 1892. It is not known where Melissa is buried, but she must have died in Brookfield, Missouri. Their children were put up for adoption by Henry, then 63. He went back to Tioga, Hancock Co. IL where he died of "chronic rheumatism" in 1906 and was buried without a head stone in the "old Tioga Cemetery" where other HAUEISE head stones may be seen.

Related story:

Henry Haueise/Crithfield

Sources:

Linn Co., MO court records.

Letter and family lore.

Pictures.

Submitted by:

*Donna Crithfield Thomassen
HCO 3 Box 75
Dripping Springs, TX 78628*

Drury L. and Lillie Frances (KITE) HAYNES

LILLIE FRANCES KITE (b. December 28, 1868-d. February 22, 1894), daughter of Martin Van Buren and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee Kite, was married to Drury (Drue) L. Haynes (b. August 31, 1869-d. August 18, 1948), son of Lazarus H. Haynes and Sarah Melissa Haynes, in April of 1893. She lived less than a year after her marriage, and died of what was thought to be tuberculosis of the throat. There were no children.

An interesting entry in the Marriage Records of Hawkins County, in the County Court Clerk's Office, is an application for a marriage license between Mr. Haynes and another lady entered immediately preceding the license for Lillie and Mr. Haynes. This entry was marked cancelled.

The 1910 Census for Hawkins County lists Mr. Haynes as having been married twice, his wife at that time being Cordie Ball. There were several children by this marriage.

Mr. Haynes and both of his wives are buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia. Older members of the family have said that they always heard that Mr. Haynes had three wives buried in the Kite Cemetery, and it is true that Mr. Haynes had a daughter born in 1892, before his marriage to Lillie Frances Kite. However, all records, including the 1910 Census, indicate that he was not married to the mother of that daughter.

Related Stories:

KITE-LEE.

Thomas Frederick, and Martha Elizabeth (King) Kite.

Submitted by:

*Mary Kite Hill
P.O. Box 141
Bulls Gap, TN 37711*

Nicholas HAYNES

NICHOLAS HAYNES, born circa 1810-13 in Virginia, married circa 1842 to SARAH CATHERINE and died between 1870-80 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Nicholas was a miller and farmer by trade. Catherine was born circa 1825 in Tennessee. Their burial place is unknown. Their children were: JOHN MABIN, HENRY, SARAH, ALICE, IDA C., KYLE B., and MARY T.

JOHN MABIN HAYNES, born 2 March 1843 TN., married 31 March 1867 to SALLIE KATE WINFREY by the Rev. R.C. HORNER and died 9 April 1900. SALLIE was born 5 December 1847 and died 15 December 1895. Both are buried in the McCarty Cemetery. JOHN enrolled 10 October 1863 for three years at Rogersville, TN., mustered in 30 December 1863 at Camp Nelson, KY. as a private in E Co., 8th Reg't TN Cavalry. He was discharged 11 September 1865. He was described as being 5'7" in height, blue eyes, and black hair. He served as a forage master with wagons to haul forage and while on one of his trips, his eyes were frozen so badly, his vision was impaired for the rest of his life.

JOHN and SALLIE'S children were:

NICHOLAS HAYNES, born 17 Jan. 1868, died 21 Jan. 1868.

LUCY ALICE HAYNES, born 28 April 1869, died 14 February 1936, married 1 February 1890 to BUD ALVIS.

JOHN NETHERLAND HAYNES, born 28 April 1871, died 24 Sept. 1954, married 24 Dec. 1903 to MINNIE F. MORGAN.

MINNIE died 12 Feb. 1960 and both are buried in the Lynn-Hurst Cemetery, Fountain City, TN.

BARSHA A. HAYNES, born 17 June 1874, died 19 Sept. 1897.

ROBERT LEE HAYNES, born 28 Sept. 1877, died 2 June 1888.

MARY SIDNEY HAYNES, born 10 May 1879, died 20 Jan. 1902.

EVA LOVE HAYNES, born 28 Sept. 1883, died .

ERNEST HAL HAYNES, born 17 Dec. 1885, died 30 Sept. 1943, married 17 April 1910 to LAURA B. GAMBILL by T. T. WEBB, J.P. HAL was a stonemason by trade. He took a very active interest in sports as a promoter and he managed the old Rogersville Reds baseball team for many years.

Related stories:

Joseph H. Alvis.

Holmes Warren Winfrey.

Submitted by:

Gladys Alvis

HEAD Family

The name Head is English, and means a dweller at the upper end of some natural feature such as a wood, land, valley and the like.

There have been Heads in America since about 1622. Most of them seem to have come from England to Virginia and to have migrated from there up and down the coasts.

Many Heads settled in what is now Scott County, Virginia. We wonder why our ancestors chose to settle in this rugged region when there were so many opportunities elsewhere. Even though the region was isolated and primitive, and much of the land was poor, it possessed a natural beauty that was hard to resist.

The family of Anthony Head was one of the first to come to this area. Anthony received a land grant of two hundred and twenty acres on the Wolf Creek branch of the Holston River 22 February 1774. Anthony died in 1786. The children of Anthony Head were: Gavin, James, Milie, Elizabeth, Mary, William, Anthony Jr., Phoebe, and Joseph.

Mary, the widow of Anthony Head Sr., married Isaac Baker, who owned with Col. Evan Shelby the part of James Patton's grant of 120,000 acres on which Bristol now stands.

James Head, a son of Anthony Head Sr., died 16 October 1857. His wife Mary died in October 1864, at age eighty. James Head had sons James and Anthony, and probably others. James Head, son of James, married Anna. James and Anna were parents of eight children, they were: Thomas, Lucy, Nancy, George M., John, Enoch, Hiram, and Cynthia.

George M. Head was born in 1840. He married Barbara Falin, daughter of David and Elizabeth Falin, 26 August 1860. George and Barbara had a son William Arch Head, born 15 November 1867.

William Arch Head married Emma Franklin. He was a merchant and lived in Big Stone Gap and Clinchport, Virginia. Their children were: Estelle, Tillian, Jacquelin, and Stephen. He also had a son William Arch Head II, whose mother was Jane Stacy.

William "Will" Arch Head II was born 19 June 1886 in Clinchport, Virginia. Will and his mother, Jane came to the Bays Mountain community (which at that time was in Sullivan County) when he was a young man. Their farm consisted of one hundred forty acres and a small log house.

Will married Nannie Long. They had two children, Oren and Captiola. Nannie died young, and he married Alice Jessie Simpson, daughter of Henry Simpson and Stena Goad. Will and Alice had ten children, they were: Ida who married Fain Arnold; J. Fred married Wanda Skelton; William Christopher married Emma Jean Light; Kenneth married Mildred Jobe; Imer married Kelly Arnold; Irene married B. F. McClure; Carrie married Harvey McClure; Denver married Margaret Gilbert; MacArthur married Georgia Light; and Alma who married Delbert Crawford.

Will, like most of his neighbors, farmed the land. He also worked at a local sawmill and as a fire fighter. The Head family had one of the first telephones in their community.

It was a huge wall phone and could be used only to call other fire fighters.

Will worked for the postal service. He delivered mail on horseback. Postal regulations would not allow employees to leave mail unattended. When he arrived with the mail, Will's wife and children would bring food to the road to meet him. He ate his lunch, sitting astride his horse, in the shade of a huge tree near his home. His delivery area was local, but the houses were so wide spread it took all day to complete.

Will was definitely a multi-talented person. In 1916 Will was part of the construction crew that built the dam at Bays Mountain Park.

Alice Simpson Head passed away on 17 September 1957. William Arch Head died 7 October 1964. They are both buried in Bowser Cemetery at Bays Mountain.

Related Story:

The Arnold Family

Sources:

Census records.

Marriage records.

Wills and Deeds.

Family Members.

Submitted by:

*Joyce Arnold Brice
Route #1, Box 559
Surgoinville, TN 37873*

HECK - WOODARD - ORRICK

My grandmother was proud to be a Tennessean. Until she died just over a year ago at the age of 93, she often shared stories of her girlhood in and around Mooresburg and Rogersville. Although I was born in Illinois, she instilled in me a pride in my southern heritage that has served me well since I moved to the South a few years ago. Although she lived in Illinois for 80 years, she retained a pleasant part of her southern dialect.

Both my maternal grandparents, Lennie Missouri Woodard (1898-1991) and Luther Gale Heck (1899-1974) were born in Hawkins County. They were the parents of nine children: Dean Chester (1921), Fern Nadine (1923), Ralph Eugene (1925), Thomas William (1928), Homer Lee (1930), Charles Gordon (1932), my mother Mary Frances (1934), Virginia Lou (1936) and Alice Carolyn (1937).

Lennie Woodard was the daughter of Thomas Robert Woodard (1865 Mooresburg, TN-1955 Bloomington, IL) and Mary Matilda ORRICK (1870 Mooresburg, TN-1966 Bloomington, IL). Thomas Robert Woodard was the son of James H. Woodard, a native Virginian, and his wife Nancy Jane Collett (1838 TN-1911 Mooresburg, TN). Nancy's father, John Collett was an early settler in nearby Grainger County. Great-grandmother Mary Matilda Orrick Woodard was the daughter of Robinson B. Orrick (1841 Hawkins County-1910 IL), a son of Catherine Brock and James Madison Orrick. Mary Matilda's mother, Mary Elizabeth Everhart (1849 TN-1890 TN) provides my deepest Hawkins County roots. Her father, Thomas Everhart (1822 TN - ?) married Matilda Morelock (c. 1829 TN - ?) who was a daughter of David Morelock (1799-1841) and Judith Stacy (1799-c.1870). David was a son of Elizabeth Bachman (daughter of Rachel Owen and Samuel Baughman) and George Morelock. Judith was a daughter of Dolley Sizemore (daughter of Edward) and her husband, William Stacy, Revolutionary War soldier. The wonderful H. B. Stamps Library in Rogersville has proven a treasure trove of information on the Morelock and Stacy families. Our research continues.

Luther Gale Heck, my grandfather, was born on the "Newt Vaughn" place in Poor Valley. He was the son of Nancy Russell Heck (see below) and William Jacob Heck (1865 TN-1938 IL). William Jacob was the son of LaFayette Heck who married Elizabeth Blankenbickler in Hawkins County 1859. LaFayette's father, Jacob Heck and wife, Barbara Kilmer, came from Virginia to settle in Hawkins County. Dr. Arch Heck has published a book of descendants of Jacob's parents, Daniel David and Susanna Zellman Heck. Elizabeth Blankenbickler's parents, Emeline DeBord and William P. Blankenbickler were descended from Virginia's Germana Colony, about whom much has been published.

My great-grandmother Heck was Nancy

Jane Russell. I feel an especially strong interest in Nancy because my grandfather was her youngest child, and only a few months old at her death in 1900. Great grandfather and his second wife moved off to Illinois around 1910. Family visits back to Tennessee after my two Hawkins County grandparents met and married in Illinois were infrequent.

My grandfather, as I stated about my grandmother above, felt a strong kinship to the people and land of Hawkins County. I started my genealogical research just before my grandmother died in 1991. A cemetery survey (thankfully preserved by the Hawkins County Genealogical Society) told me my great-grandmother was buried in a little cemetery off Heck Branch Road.

A friend (who also has Tennessee roots) and I set out from Atlanta on a dreary November day in search of ancestors. Having done many a cemetery, I expected finding Nancy's resting place to be no great task. Was I ever wrong. With the directions from the cemetery survey, I began combing the hillsides on both sides of Heck Branch Road.

After two trips back to town, a call to the helpful current owner of the surrounding land, and a cumulative six hours of searching, I was ready to give up. "Just one more trip across the brow of the hill," I thought. At the top of the hill I noticed a little rock jutting out of the ground and just the hint of the initials "WBS" --the only other stone than Nancy's noted in the cemetery survey! I had found it. But where was great-grandmother? A quick search of the area revealed that there were a number of other graves with uncarved rock markers, but no Nancy!

Just before giving up, I decided to give the rock markers one more look. One of them felt a bit too smooth for regular mountain rock. Examining more closely, I discovered it wasn't a rock marker at all, but the base of a beautiful old tombstone--which had tumbled over (probably the day after the cemetery survey!) and had years of leaves, moss, and saw dust completely burying the inscribed surface. I was able to prop Nancy's stone beneath a dogwood tree by her grave. A year later time permitted another trip to Hawkins County, and I found the little marker undisturbed. All we know about Nancy is that her mother was Jane (1880 Hawkins County Census) and who her brothers and sisters were, and what this little marker on a remote hilltop tells us. A bag of concrete and a couple of gallons of water have secured the marker for the time being:

Nancy J. Heck
September 7, 1870
June 3, 1900

Related Story:

William P. and Emeline (Debord) Blankenbickler

Submitted by:

*Jon A. Atteberry, III
1039 Seven Springs Circle
Marietta, GA 30068*

John HELTON

John Helton, aged forty six years, resident of Hawkins County, on the 26th day of March 1851, duly sworn says "that he's the identical John Helton who was a private in the Company commanded by Captain R.G. Fain in the Regiment commanded by Col. McClellan, Tennessee Volunteers, that he was called into the service of the United States by proclamation of Newton Cannon, Governor of the State of Tennessee to serve in the Florida War, that he volunteered at Rogersville, Tennessee on or about the 1st day of July A.D. 1836 for the term of twelve months." He was in actual service for the term of about 36 days and was honorably discharged at Athens, Tennessee on the 6th day of August 1836 as will appear by the Muster Rolls of said Company and that he has lost his discharge. He makes this declaration in order to obtain the bounty land that he may be entitled.

In the 1850 Hawkins Co. Census, John Helton is 45, Charity 35, William 19, Joshua 17, Wiley 17, Jane 11, Orritha 8, Lavinia 7, Ann 6, George 5, John 2, and Jesse 4/12.

Joshua Helton, son of John, born about 1833, married Susannah Snyder, born about 1837, daughter of Isaac Snyder and Elizabeth Amyx Snyder. Joshua and Susannah are listed in the 1870 Hawkins County Census, 11th District, with their children: Elisha, 13 (married Arthur Davis and died 21 February 1938); Landon, age 11; Joseph 8 (married Narcissa Webb); Susan 6; James 3; Elizabeth 3; and George 1.

Landon Helton, born 8 November 1856, married on 6 January 1879 in Hawkins County to Mary Elizabeth Kenner, born 7 February 1864, daughter of Markham H. Kenner and Katharine Brown Brummett. Landon and Elizabeth had one daughter and one son.

Landon and Elizabeth's daughter, Kathryn "Kate" Helton, born 14 November 1880, died 18 February 1963, was married 1st to Hugh Epps, and they had one son Jesse Epps. Kate married 2nd to a Klepper, and married 3rd Jim Reubin, and they had five children: Jim, Jenny, Ada Ruth, Everette, and Herman.

Jim and Jenny Reubin were twins.

Ada Ruth Reubin Lahman Carlson, of Amboy, IL had the following children: Russell E. Lahman, Ruth Lahman Jones (dec'd), Donna Lahman, John Lahman, Marquerite Lahman (married Harold Daniels), Marge Lahman (married Jim Jackson), Jim Lahman, Bob Lahman, and Larry Lahman.

Everette Reubin never married.

Herman Reubin married Pauline, and they live in Amboy, IL. They have 6 sons and 3 daughters:

Herman "Sonny" Reubin, Jr. married Judy, and they live in Dixon IL. They have two children, Rick and Lori. Rick is married to Lisa, and they have two daughters, Sydni Louise and Taylor Ann.

Dorene Reubin is married to Rocky Sensening, and they have three children. Marsha is married to a Smiley and has children Tonya and Brandon. Robert is married to Betty. Tammy is married to Jeff Bryant, and they have two children, Anna and Jeffrey.

James "Jim" Reubin has two daughters, Deanna and Ginger, and granddaughter Ashley.

Ronald "Ronnie" Reubin has three sons: Jason; Brian, married to Kim and has a daughter Courtney; and Dan.

Donald "Donnie" Reubin is married to Sue and has a son Dwight.

John Reubin is married to Janet and has a son Carter.

Kathryn Reubin is married to David Whittaker and Kathryn has daughters by a previous marriage, Paula and Dawn. Paula has two children, Alicia Marie and Arnold Anthony Pfleuger, and Dawn has a son Austin Wayne Dickerson.

David Reubin is married to Merry, and they have a daughter Courtney.

Carol Reubin is married to Jim DeGeorge, and their children are: Jim; Patrick; Renee; and Shawne, married to James Ragsdale.

Hester Reubin Gilroy has one son James "Jim", who is married to Awanda, and they have children Rebecca and Bryan.

Ada Ruth Reubin Lahman Carlson had by her first husband the following children: Russell E., Ruth, Donna, John, Paul, Marguerite, Marge, Jim, Bob, and Larry. Ada has several grandchildren and great-grandchildren, most of whom live in Illinois.

Landon and Elizabeth's son, Nessie Walter Helton, born 24 May 1890 in Hawkins County married Nancy Jane Dyer, born 11 June 1893.

Landon professed faith in Christ at an early age at Spruce Pine Baptist Church where he remained a faithful member until his death 26 March 1945 at the age of 88 years, 4 months, and 18 days. Elizabeth died on 27 June 1944, age 70 years, 4 months, and 20 days. Both are buried in the New Life Cemetery in Hawkins Co.

Related Story:

Nessie Walter and Nancy Jane (Dyer) Helton.

Markham H. Kenner.

Sources:

Census Records.

Death Certificates.

Family Records.

Hawkins Co. Will of Elizabeth Snyder, 24 April 1879.

Military Records.

Submitted by:

*Elizabeth Helton Smith
Route 1, Box 695
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Nessie Walter and Nancy Jane (DYER) HELTON

Nessie Walter Helton was born 24 May 1890 in the Poor Valley area of Hawkins County, Tennessee, the son of Landon H. and Mary Elizabeth Kenner Helton.

On 19 November 1911 in Hamblen Co., TN Nessie married Nancy Jane Dyer, born 11 June 1893 in Hawkins Co., TN, the daughter of Stephen Richard and Sarah Elizabeth Dyer Dyer. When they were first married they lived in Poor Valley, Hawkins County. Not long after their marriage, Nessie and Nancy Jane went to live in Stanford, Illinois. Two children were born to them while they lived there.

Their son Dean Franklin Helton was born 5 June 1914 in Illinois. On 12 June 1937 in Hawkins County, Dean married Nellie Burton, born 8 December 1917 in Hawkins County, the daughter of Mark Harrison Burton (15 November 1889-1 August 1959) and Martha Elora Burton (16 July 1893-3 June 1930). Dean and Nellie's two daughters are Margie Cleo Helton, born 7 January 1940, and Wilma Kay Helton Wood, born 31 May 1949, married 28 May 1971 to Harry Wood, born 30 October 1948.

Also born in Illinois was Nessie and Nancy Jane's daughter Mima Kate Helton, born 4 June 1916. She was married 19 July 1940 in Hawkins Co. to Dan Smith, born on 29 August 1911 and died 28 November 1980. Dan was the son of Jerry and Susan Alice Davis Smith. Kate and Dan's children are Joyce Gearline, Margaret Sue, and Gerald Danny.

Joyce Gearline Smith, born on 3 May 1941, married on 14 October 1957 to Leroy Rogers, born 22 March 1938 and died 22 April 1983. Gearline and Leroy's children are Pam, Doug, and Stevie. Gearline is now married to J.C. Holt.

Pamela "Pam" Elaine Rogers, born 8 February 1962, married 22 June 1980 to Jeffery Paul Justice. Their two children are Brandon Scott Justice, born 22 August 1982, and Karan Denise Justice born in November 1983.

Raymond Douglas "Doug" Rogers was born 24 May 1964. Stephen "Stevie" Leroy Rogers was born on 18 October 1971.

Margaret Sue Smith, born on 18 March 1943, married on 25 November 1967 to Bobby Ray Wright, born on 19 January 1947 and died on 13 June 1984. Their two children are Kimberly "Kim" Renee Wright, born 7 March 1969, married on 27 June 1992 to Terry Carpenter, and Bobby Ray Wright, Jr., born 6 January 1974.

Gerald Danny Smith, born 22 July 1946 married Shirley F. Laster on 7 June 1979.

Nessie was a farmer while living in Illinois. After a few years, he brought his family back to Tennessee so he could take care of his parents.

On 5 August 1918 in Hawkins County, Nessie and Nancy Jane's second son, Gaines Lloyd Helton, was born. He was married on 16 January 1943 to Bobbie Smith, born 2 November 1920, the daughter of Jerry and Susan Alice Davis Smith. They had 1 daughter and 3 sons. Charlotte Jean Helton, born 21 August 1943, married 26 November 1966 to Kenneth DeBord, born on 29 October 1941. They have one son, Brient DeBord, born 22 May 1973.

Jerry Lloyd Helton, born 20 October 1945, and died 8 November 1976. Jerry was married on 20 February 1965 to Charlotte Winkle, born in April 1945. Their children are Scott Helton, born 28 September 1966, and Jerrie Leigh Helton, born 18 April 1977.

Dennis Rex Helton, born 3 February 1950, and married 10 February 1983 to Susan J. Flanary, born 23 April 1954, the daughter of Orbin W., Jr. and Maggie Thelma Parsons Flanary.

Roger Dale Helton was born on 10 November 1952, and was married on 28 June 1973 to Velma Jones, born on 6 March 1952. They have 2 sons, Kelvin Helton, born 2 December 1975, and Eric Helton, born 28 May 1981.

Ruth Elizabeth Helton was born on 19 July 1922 in Hawkins County. She was married on 27 September 1941 to Roosevelt Smith, born 29 April 1921. They have 2 daughters, Carolyn Smith Gardner and Brenda Smith Buchanan, 1 granddaughter, Yvette Gardner Harrell, and 2 great-granddaughters, Kayla and Elishia Harrell.

When Elizabeth was still a baby, Nessie and Nancy Jane went back to Illinois. They were there a year or two before returning to Hawkins Co., where their daughter Ruby was born.

Ruby Helton was born 9 May 1925 and was first married 10 October 1951 to Glenn Williams. They have 2 children, Roger and Janet. Roger Glenn Williams, born 13 January 1953, married first to Brenda Martin, and they have two daughters, Jennifer Lindsey Williams, born 1 February 1976 in Germany, and Stephanie Rhea Williams, born 27 August 1977 in Germany. Roger is now married to Darlene Martin.

Janet Sue Williams was born 12 August 1954.

Ruby married second to Paul Sanders, who is deceased.

Willie Maurice Helton, born 3 December 1927, married on March 15, 1947 to Alma Ruth Elkins, born 16 October 1930, the daughter of Ray Elkins (8 March 1905-18 December 1972) and Clara M. Henard (7 April 1906-10 February 1975), married 22 December 1929. Maurice and Alma have two sons: Larry and Claude.

Larry Keith Helton, born 9 December 1948, married on 26 February 1972 to Randy Faye Courtney, born 23 January 1950, the daughter of John Courtney (b. 21 March 1918) and Lillian Beatrice Cope Price Courtney (b. 20 August 1920). Larry and Faye have one daughter, Courtney.

Claude Douglas Helton, born 4 April 1951, married 3 July 1970 to Shirley Hopkins, born 18 February 1952, the daughter of Hobert C. Hopkins (d. in October 1981, age 54) and Dorothy Reed Hopkins. Claude and Shirley have one son, Troy Douglas Helton, born 30 June 1972.

Ralph Helton (twin), born on 18 March 1933, married on 20 September 1954 to Betty Jo Henard, the daughter of Lige and Lucille Henard. Ralph and Betty Jo had 3 sons: Michael Helton, born 11 July 1955, Anthony Helton, born 20 April 1958, died on 27 December 1980, and Truitt Lee Helton, born and died on 5 July 1961.

Randle Helton, (twin) born 18 March 1933, married 7 June 1958 to Thelma Juanita Carpenter, born 8 June 1938, the daughter of John "Johnny" Chris and Margaret Susan Harrell Carpenter. Randle and Juanita have 2 children: Stephen Randle Helton, born on 5 May 1959; and Nancy Sarella Helton, born 2 August 1963, married Darryl Setsor.

Nessie worked as a carpenter for Albert E. Henard. A carpenter back at that time had very few tools. All Nessie had was a wooden tool box he had made himself, and in it he had a hammer, measuring tape, handsaw, level, plumb, and a square. He did not have blueprints that he could use.

Nessie also worked on Highway 66, the road across Stone Mountain.

At New Life Missionary Baptist Church on 19 May 1929, Nessie was ordained as a Baptist Preacher. He pastored several churches, a few of which follow.

For the year 1931 he pastored at New Life Missionary Baptist Church, which was organized in 1884. While there, he had 9 baptisms and 221 church members.

In 1941 and 1942 he was pastor of Pond Hill Baptist Church, organized about 1940. He baptized 7, and the church had 25 members.

In 1943 and 1944 Nessie was pastor of Davis Chapel Baptist Church, organized in 1837. He baptized 8 persons and the church membership was 172.

In 1948 and 1949 he was pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, organized in 1901. He also pastored at Cobbs Chapel and Stone Mountain Churches.

Nessie continued to do carpentry work to support his family because, as was the custom in those days, the pastors did not receive any pay from the churches. He helped hold revivals at different churches and if he couldn't find a ride with the mail carrier or someone that owned a car, he would walk there and back. There were few people who owned cars. The revivals would last two or three weeks, sometimes longer. Churches back then, and some still do, have preaching once a month on Saturday and Sunday. But they had Sunday School every Sunday and singing every Sunday night.

Nessie would find a ride Saturday morning to go to a church for services on Sunday, and then find a ride back home on Sunday night or Monday.

Revivals were always held in the winter time, and they baptized in the creek. Sometimes they had to break the ice on the creek to baptize. They had their revivals in the winter because most people had farms that kept them busy during the summer.

The schoolhouse was near the church, and the teachers would line the children up and march them to the church for the revival meeting and then walk them back to school.

Nessie continued to preach and hold revivals until he became too disabled to travel.

Nancy Jane died 17 May 1958, and Nessie Walter died 23 April 1961. Both of them are buried in the New Life Church Cemetery.

Related Stories:

Jesse Lafatte Smith.

Roosevelt Smith.

Sources:

Family Bibles.

Nolichucky Baptist Association Minutes.

Submitted by:

Elizabeth Helton Smith
Route 1, Box 695
Rogersville, TN 37857

HENARD - HENNARD

The Henard family seems to have entered Tennessee in the early 1800's. We find Rebecca Henard an old woman in Sullivan County in 1830. The family Bible indicates that Robert Henard and Rebecca Miles married, and had sons James who married a Housewright and Elijah who married Sarah (Sallie) Myers. Daughters were Nancy who married Johnny Long, Betsy who married a Galloway, and Ocilla who married first a Worthington, had two sons John and Elijah Worthington. As a widow Ocilla married a Tussey. Her sons were Dimmion and Joseph Tussey. The Hawkins County Cemetery records report that Ruth Henard born 1795 died 1881, buried in Henard Cemetery, never married, was the daughter of Robert and Rebecca Miles Henard.

In the 1820 census a John Henard is in White County, Tennessee; in 1830 Rebecca and Elijah are in Sullivan County, James is in Hawkins County, and David is in Rutherford County. By 1840 both James and Elijah are in Hawkins County, Robert and Rebecca are in Sullivan County. James' and Elijah's families seem to have stayed in the Hawkins County area.

Elijah was born 7 July 1796 and died on 2 July 1881. He married Sarah (Sallie) Myers about 1816. She was born 8 September 1797 and died 2 July 1887. Both Elijah and Sarah are buried in the Henard Cemetery in Hawkins County. They had eight children:

1. Elijah J., born 3 March 1817, and died 13 January 1896. He married Katherine Isenberg 13 January 1842. She was born April 11, 1823 and died 10 April 1906. Both are buried in the Cedar Grove Church of the Brethren Cemetery where the family participated.

2. son ??1820.

3. Eliza Jane was born 1827, death date is unknown, married John Klepper 12 November 1846.

4. Rebecca V. was born 18 July 1829 and died 22 November 1898.

5. William K. was born 16 November 1830, died 12 October 1898, married Catherine Webb 17 May 1855.

6. James was born in 1840.

7. Rosanna E. was born 1843, married Henry Brooks 29 December 1865.

8. Stephen K. was born 1848, married Tabitha Patterson 14 September 1850.

The family of Elijah J. and Katherine Isenberg Henard was born in the Rogersville area. They were:

1. Joseph Annis Henard was born on 24 November 1842 and died 7 March 1844.

2. Rebecca Elizabeth Henard was born on 12 January 1844, died ?? November 1928, married Nathan (Nathaniel?) Klepper 1898.

3. John Henard was born 10 November 1845 died 1934, married first Catherine McNealy 11 February 1868 and second Delpha Bailey.

4. Jacob Nelson Henard was born 10 November 1845, died March 1922, and never married.

5. Sarah Catherine Henard was born 8 March 1851, died February 1893, and married Samuel Powell (Paul) Henard 15 January 1874.

6. Benjamin Vaughn Henard was born 11 October 1853, and died 3 July 1855.

7. Mary Maude Henard was born 19 October 1855, and died 13 March 1858.

8. Simeon Francis Henard was born 7 April 1858, and died in 1933, never married.

9. Elijah Commodore Henard was born 17 June 1859, and married Sarah F. Klepper 17 December 1882.

10. Rachel Ann Henard was born 17 June 1863, died April 14 1960, and married George Washington Young 13 June 1882.

11. Susan Ellen Henard was born 14 February 1867, never married.

12. Ocilla Cordelia Henard was born 19 July 1870, died 26 August 1958, married Christian (Chris) Shanks 18 January 1900.

Related Stories:

Isenberg-Isenbarger-Eisenberg.

Nothorn-Northern-Young.

Christian and Catherine (Amend/ Emmons) Simmons.

Sources:

Census Records.

Hawkins County Marriage and Cemetery Records.

COUSINS, by Jan Simmons Johnson.

The Henard family Bible record and papers.

Submitted by:

Mary Lynn Feezell Anderson
2169 Sentell Circle
Maryville, TN 37801

HICKMAN, RICHARDS, JOHNSON, SMITH, PRATT, & UNDERWOOD

In 1758, into Hawkins County, TN came the Hickman family from Pennsylvania. Joseph Hickman of English decent and a Whig, was born in Pennsylvania and moved to Tennessee, then later to North Carolina where he died. He fought in the Revolutionary War in the light horse cavalry in Tennessee. He had one brother who was a Tory, who was never heard from after the war closed. Joseph's wife was from the Barclay family and of Irish descent. To this family was born eight children named 1) Ester H., 2) Sarah, 3) Margaret, 4) Eleanor, 5) Hanah, 6) Joseph Jr., 7) John and 8) Mary.

Son Joseph Jr. was born 28 December 1783. He is buried in Eddy Shanks Cemetery, Stanley Valley. Joseph Hickman Jr.'s first wife is unknown, however there were several children from this marriage. After his wife died, he went to North Carolina, possibly to where his father had relocated (Surry County), married again and returned to Hawkins County. His second wife was Lucinda Strong from N.C., and their children were named: a) Bill, b) Gary, c) John, d) Caroline, e) William, f) Mary, g) Tom, h) Hughes, i) James Hickman (1850-1931), and j) Nathan.

i) James Hickman was born in September 1850 in Stanley Valley, died January 1931, and is buried in the First Baptist Church Cemetery, Surgoinsville. His first wife was Martha Mosley. There were no children from this marriage, however Martha had a daughter by her previous marriage. After Martha died, James married Ollie Pratt on 23 December 1899 in Knoxville, TN. Ollie was born in Church Hill on 13 June 1880, died 29 January 1961, and is buried in the Old Union Cemetery, Church Hill.

Ollie Pratt's parents were Robert Pratt (born 16 October 1857) and Sarah Underwood (born 1 October 1879 died 7 July 1939). Both are buried in the Old Union Cemetery. Beside Ollie, other children were: James born 7 March 1879, Ida born 1 December 1882, John, Martha Elender born 4 November 1884 (married Rice Sams), Maddie born 20 November 1886, Alfred born 20 February 1889, Claude born 21 December 1890, Mollie born 24 March 1894 and died 24 March 1913, Cleo born 26 June 1897 (married Basil Holbrook in St Paul, VA), and Annie Pratt born 2 May 1902 (married a Davis).

Ollie Pratt's grandfather (Robert Pratt's parent's) was named Snow and her grandmother was named Terrena, who's age is 52 in the 1880 census of Hawkins County. Children listed in the 1880 census by age are Harvey (27), Betsey J. (24), Robert (20), George (17) and Polly Ann (16). Snow does not appear in the 1880 census. Stories told by my grandmother Ollie was that Snow and Terrena were Cherokee Indians. This has not been verified at this writing.

From the union of James Hickman (born September 1850) and Ollie Pratt seven children were born. 1. Luther Robert (29 May 1902-April 1965), 2. James Palmer (2 January 1905-22 November 1981), 3. Sarah Ella Mae (4 June 1908-2 August 1969), 4. Georgia A., 5. Edith Irene (10 Jan 1915), 6. Lucy Maxwell (13 April 1917-9 April 1981), and 7. One child born dead but not named.

1. Luther Robert Hickman's first wife was Tillie Fields to which five children were born, Carl, Ella Mae, Lena, Katheleen, and James. No children were born to Robert and his second wife Josie Melisie Ward.

3. Sarah Ella Mae Hickman married Luther Brownlow Greene 23 April 1923, and to this union were born twelve children. Charles Edward (1923), Frances Louise (1927), Luther Brownlow (1929), Albert Lee (1931), Thelma Jo Ann (1939), Lloyd Haskew (1934), James Douglas (1937), Audrey (1942), Zetta Jean (1944), Ernest (1946), Emory (1948) and Theo Garrett (1949).

4. From the union of Georgia A. Hickman and Lon Tyler Pearson, two children were born. Sylvia Jean (1935) and Billy Wayne (1939).

5. From the union of Edith Irene Hickman and James Robert Johnson, eleven children were born. Bobby Irene (1932), Jack Edward (1935), Georgia Ann (1937), Bitsy Jean (1939), Norma Faye (1942), Terry Lane (1945), Jerry Lyle (1945), Virginia Ray (1946), James Robert (1948), Frankie Elaine (1950) and Ricky Lee (1954).

6. From the union of Lucy Maxwell Hickman and Virlon Arthur Cook, three children were born. Shirley Faye (1936), Donald Philip (1940) and Linda Ailne (1947).

2. James Palmer Hickman married Douglas Lea Smith 15 September 1928 at Big Creek, east of Rogersville, TN. Douglas's parents were Preacher Sam K. Smith (1884-1966) and Nancy Johnson (1883-1918), both from the Surgoinsville, TN area. Sam K. Smith's (went by his mother's name) parents (both from Surgoinsville) were James Henry Richards (1865-1951, buried in Dunlap, TN) and Matilda Smith (1867-?, buried in Longs Bend Cemetery). Matilda later married Bill Manis. James Henry Richards' parents were James Richards and Matilda Mitchell.

Matilda Smith's parents were J. H. Smith and Margaret Feltner. Nancy Johnson's parents were Alexander Johnson (1845-1924) and Elizabeth Jane Hawks (1850-1915). Alexander Johnson's parents were Charles A. Johnson (1814-aft 1880) and Sarah Edwards (1814-aft 1880). Elizabeth Jane Hawks parents were Henry Hawks (Aug 1822-Dec 1888) and Mary Combs (1825-aft 1888).

2. James Palmer Hickman was born 2 January 1905 at Big Creek, and died 22 November 1981. Douglas Lea Hickman was born 26 July 1908 in Honeycutt (near Surgoinsville) and died 12 September 1991. Both are buried in Highland Cemetery, Rogersville, TN. Into the James Palmer Hickman and Douglas Lea Smith family were born five children: Betty Jo (1929), Lynn Day (1931), James Douglas (1937), Brenda Louise (1944), and Jamie Charlotte (1951).

Compiled and submitted by:

*Lt Col (Ret) Lynn D. Hickman
11650 South Monticello Drive
Knoxville, TN 37922*

HOARD

"Doc" Randall Hoard, founder and owner of "Doc" Randall's Ole Medicine Show is the great grandson of George Hoard who on February 18th, 1876 paid $1.50 being in full for State, County, School, Poll, and Dog Taxes for the year 1875 in District No. 15 of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Ole Smokey being the same breed of dogs was used for 24 years as Doc Randall's Long-Liver Rootin-Tootin-

Tonic-Taste Testing Dog until he broke a 10,000 pound test log chain and run away with young female dog friend, taking log chain with them. 24 years in dog life span = 168 years in man-life span. A proven long-liver-medicine.

Submitted by:

"Doc" Randall Hoard Persia, Tennessee

My HOFFMEISTER/ HUFFMASTER Roots

From the plains of Texas to the Great Smokey Mountains, seven generations separate me from my Rogersville ancestors. Godlove Huffmaster, born Gottlieb Hoffmeister in Frankford upon the Main, Germany, came to the new world in 1776 and first settled in Shenandoah County, Virginia. There he married Sarah Louderback on June 12, 1781. In the next 21 years, nine children were born to this union. Although all born in Virginia, the family moved in 1810, to Hawkins County, Tenn. where Godlove purchased land. His will is recorded in 1844 in the Rogersville courthouse.

His first born child, Joseph, my great-great-great grandfather, was born April 4, 1782. He married Elizabeth Weitzel in December 1808.

Joseph served under General Andrew Jackson in a campaign against the Creek Indians and was commissioned a captain in the Militia.

He was Justice of the Peace and an elder in the Presbyterian Church. His will is recorded in Rogersville in 1874, and his descendants still occupied the homestead as late as 1920.

Thirteen children were born of this union. The sixth child, Lucinda, is my great-great-grandmother. In 1838 she married Levi Campbell of Rutledge, Tenn., and their third child, Mary Jane Campbell, my great-grandmother, was born in Grainger County, October 28, 1842. She married John N. Hilton in 1868, and their graves, as well as Lucinda's and Joseph's are in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Rutledge. Mary Jane's only son, David Kansas Hilton, came to Texas to seek his fortune in 1900. In Dallas he met and married a fellow immigrant from Grainger County, Myrtle Wickham, daughter of Martha Oliver Wickham and Fleming A. Wickham. Myrtle died in 1905, age 23, from tuberculosis, leaving an infant daughter, Vinita Hilton, my mother.

This completes the history of my Tennessee roots of which I am most proud.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Nancy Hendrix Mobley
7624 Cliffbrook
Dallas TX 75240-8102*

HOWE Family

The first known reference to the origination of the Hawkins County Howe family is found in the Revolutionary War Pension Application of Jacob Howe in 1834. In this application, Jacob stated that he was born in Germany and had come to America when only three years of age. He further stated that he had lost his father in the voyage from Germany to America. This pension application further establishes that his prior residence was Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. It is believed that all the Howes who resided in Hawkins County at an early date were his descendants.

According to a book titled John Grove of Hawkins County Tennessee and Some Ancestors & Relatives, Beidler & Leman Families, Jacob Howe married Elizabeth Grove. This is also borne out in the will of Elizabeth Grove in 1805 which bequeathed her wearing apparel to her daughter, Elizabeth Howe. There are several land transactions between Jacob Howe and Elizabeth Grove, among themselves and jointly, between 1800 and 1805. This property is described as lying in Hickory Cove with the adjoining property being owned by William Molsby. In 1807 the deed from Elizabeth Grove to Jacob Howe was recorded. This conveyance involved a tract of land in the Hiery and was to be distributed equally between the children born to Elizabeth and Jacob Howe.

The nuncupative will of Jacob B. Groves was dated January 13, 1837. In this will, Thomas Eidson, William Rogers and Jacob Sensabaugh testified that they were present at the home of Jacob B. Grove shortly before he died. They further testified that Jacob B. Grove had verbally expressed concern about the welfare of the children of Jacob Howe. He further stated that he had intended to make a right to these children but had failed to do so. Jacob B. Grove also explained that this right to property excluded John and Winstead's wife as provision had already been made for them. (This reference probably refers to John Howe and Elizabeth Winstead wife of William Winstead)*. Apparently, the deadbed wish of Jacob B. Grove regarding the right to the Howe children was disregarded as a division of the estate of Jacob B. Grove is found in Deed Book 15 pages 552-555, filed 23 March 1837. In the distribution of this estate, the heirs of Jacob B. Grove (Peter Burem and wife, Nancy, John Charles and his wife, Susan and John B. Grove) petitioned that the Court set aside the nuncupative will of Jacob B. Grove on file in the Clerk's Office of the County Court. From this point on there are several deeds and/or wills which mention the heirs of Jacob Howe. It is noteworthy to mention the deed from Peter Burem and his wife, Nancy, John Charles and Susan Charles, his wife, and John B. Groves to Henry Howe, Catherine Howe, Nancy Howe, Peggy Howe, Christina Walker and Polly Mallory, children of Jacob Howe, deceased. This deed was recorded December 11, 1837.

Although further research is needed to clarify the descendants of Jacob Howe and to establish and clarify family relationships, a letter written by Andrew Howe, son of Nancy Howe, addressed to his cousin, Jacob Winstead, of Hawkins County, Tennessee, does help establish family ties. At the time this letter was written, Andrew Howe resided near Wheeler in Washington County, Arkansas. An extract of this letter follows:

November 26, 1882

State of Arkansas

Washington County, Arkansas

Dear Cousin:

I now take my pen in hand to inform you that we are all well at present and hope that when these few lines come to hand they will find you all well. I have been thinking that I would write to you ever since I was at your house but have just put it off from time to time until I have almost forgot what I wanted to write to you. The connection is all well as far as I know but Peggy Winstead she has a bad cold. ...Cousin Caty stood her trip out very well and I think she is very well. . . I have sowed 110 acres myself and have ten acres sowed on the halves and it all looks well but Cousin David Mallory he has been sick all this fall. ...Cousin John Klepper is here he seems to be well satisfied. He has thirty acres sowed in wheat. ...Please don't think hard of me for not writing no sooner for I scarcely every write any. **

This nuncupative will does not specifically name the heirs of Jacob Howe. It is believed that John, Henry and Jacob Howe were sons of Jacob Howe, Sr. He also probably had daughters or daughters-in-law named Catherine, Nancy, Margaret (Peggy), Catherine, Christina, Polly and Elizabeth.*

* The spelling in this letter has been corrected for ease in reading.

Related Stories:

Howe Family.

Jacob Howe.

Elizabeth (Charles) Ross.

Submitted by:

Vicki Rounsavall
1949 Juneway
Fayetteville, Arkansas 72703

Jacob HOWE

Jacob Howe applied for a pension for his Revolutionary War services in November of 1834, while living in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He states that he is seventy-six years old. He was born in Germany, but came to America when he was only three years old, as his relations informed him. He lost his father on the voyage. He does not mention his mother. There is no record of his age, and when called into service he was living in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. He volunteered in Captain Campbell and Colonel Craig's Regiment of the Pennsylvania Militia, and was marched into the Jersey state, where his regiment came under the command of General Greene, and after much marching and commanding along the Delaware, marched back to Philadelphia, where he was discharged in November of 1778. Sometime in the spring or April of 1779, was again returned to Captain Campbell, and marched from Carlisle in Pennsylvania to Baltimore, Maryland, serving there until he was discharged. His papers have been lost or mislaid, and his memory is so far gone that he cannot give all the particulars of his service, and knows no one person whose testimony he can procure. He states he is known by the Reverend Arden Saunders and Jacob B. Groves, of his neighborhood, who can testify to his character.

Arden Saunders, a clergyman residing in the neighborhood of Jacob Howe, came to the pension office with Jacob B. Groves, and they testified that they live in the same neighborhood and are well acquainted with Jacob Howe and believe him to be seventy-six years of age; that he is respected and believed in the neighborhood; and believe that he served in the war as stated. Jacob B. Groves was a brother-in-law to Jacob Howe.

Jacob's application was rejected. After his death, his wife Elizabeth (Groves) Howe applied for his pension. She states that she has seen his discharge, but it was lost, and that she is eighty-three or eighty-four years old and cannot remember much about it. She did not receive a pension. It is not known if Jacob Howe came to Hawkins County with his father-in-law, John Groves, or if he came later. He married Elizabeth Groves in October 1791. Elizabeth was born 1772 in Pennsylvania, the daughter of John Groves and his second wife Elizabeth, and died after 1850. Jacob Howe, born ca. 1756 in Germany, died ca. 1840. Both Jacob and Elizabeth died in Hawkins County.

Their children were: 1. Elizabeth Howe, b. 1792 in Hawkins Co., married William Winstead, ca. 1819-20 in Hawkins County, from whom this writer descends. William and Elizabeth had five known children - Jacob, William A., John, James, and Katherine. 2. John Howe, born 1794, married 20 February 1820 to Sarah Owen. They had six children - John, Nicholas, Daniel, Henry, Hardin, and Joseph. 3. Henry Howe, b. ca. 1809, married Anna. Children in the 1850 census - Elizabeth, Jane, Katherine, Jacob, and Matilda. 4. Jacob Howe, married Elizabeth Cobb, and had three known children - Mary, William, and Jacob Perry. 5. Catherine. 6. Nancy, known children - Joseph, Andrew, William, and Elizabeth. 7. Margaret (known as Peggy). 8. Christina, who married a Walker. 9. Mary (known as Polly), married David Mallory.

Related stories:

Howe Family.

Winston-Winstead.

Sources:

Revolutionary War Pension Record.

Deeds from Hawkins Co. Deed Office.

U.S. Census Records.

Submitted by:

Margaret (Peggy) Cook
Rt. 8, Box 355
Rogersville, TN 37857

The Family of James HUNDLEY

The HUNDLEY family in the East Tennessee area had come mostly from Virginia. We find in the early Virginia immigrants of 1623-1666, a Robert and Elizabeth Hundley came to Virginia in 1651, William Armestead was the sponsor.

Our first known relative was Jordan Hundley, who was born around 1770 in Virginia. His Will, dated 14 May 1853, was proven in Hawkins County, Tennessee, in the November term of 1853. He lists his beloved wife, Elizabeth; sons John and Joseph Hundley; daughter, Nancy Tucker, wife of A. Tucker, she now being deceased; daughter Lucy Cavin, wife of John Cavin; daughter, Phebe Richards, wife of Aaron Richards; daughter Elizabeth Cavin, she also having been provided for; son, Jordon Hundley, Jr. executor, with witnesses: Jacob Miller and Abraham Britton.

Jordon Hundley, Jr., son of Jordan and Elizabeth Hundley, was born in 1827. When the Civil War came along, Jordon, then thirty-four years old, went with the Union. He married Mary Eaton (called Polly). They had eight children: Joseph, James, Margaret, Mary Jane, John, William H., Leander B., and Robert E.

Jordon died in 1865. His young wife, Polly, was appointed administrator of the estate at the court meeting of August 7, 1865.

James Hundley helped his mother Polly care for their family until he married on the 15th of November 1871. James was born on 18 August 1849 in Tennessee. He married Mary Manila Anderson. She was born June 1, 1852 in Arkansas, the daughter of Mary Jane (Caldwell) and Peter Anderson. Mary Manila died December 10, 1929 and is buried at Long's Bend Cemetery near Surgoinsville, TN. James died on February 17, 1929, and was also buried at Long's Bend Cemetery.

The children of Mary and James Hundley were (three daughters and six sons): Ester Jane married Milburn Daugherty; Elijah Enoch married Annie Bell Daugherty; James Bird married Emma Golden; John W. married 1st Flora Ward, and 2nd Pearl A. Jones; Betty married Porter Parker; Franklin Dee Hundley married Geneva A. Daugherty; Steve married Julia Etta Lewis; Orgie married Maude Cavin; and Flora married Jim Fawbush.

The name "Hundley" also appears as "Hunley".

Related Stories:

The Family of Geneva Adaline Daugherty.

Aaron Richards.

Submitted by:

*Jodie Hunley Trent
P.O. Box 296
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Jesse and Rocena (BLEDSOE) HURD

Jessie Hurd (son of David and Lockie Hurd) was born 1854 in Lee County, Virginia and died in 1932. He was married to Rocena Bledsoe (daughter of Campbell and Sarah Bledsoe) who was born in 1858 in Scott Co., Va. Both are buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery, Hawkins County.

Their children are: (1) Mrs. Charles (Syntha A.) Vannoy born 1888 died 1960 (Dan, Maggie, Roberta, Charles, Jr., Juanita, and Maggie); (2) Mrs. C. W. (Martha Ann) Dean born 1890 died 1959 (Worley, Luther, Nella, Ethel, Georgia, Martha, Helen, and John Jessie); (3) William Hurd born 1891 died 1978 married Elizabeth Perry (Lula Mae, Nannie Kate, Pearl, A. J., Janie, Lochiel, Mary Edith, Yvonne);

(4) Worley Hurd born 1893 married Ollie Mae Dean (Charles, Pharbie, Edna, Nella Ruth, and Fred Harold); (5) Quillen Hurd married Vergie Hickman (Harris); (6) Dan Hurd married Lorraine Churchwell (Edward, Mary Ruth, and Virgil); (7) Neal Hurd; and (8) Andrew Jackson (A. J.) Hurd married Martha Jones (Mazbie, Anna Kerr, Doyle, Janell, Betty Lou, and Ray).

Related Story:

C. W. and Martha Ann (Hurd) Dean

Submitted by:

*Faye Carter Gryder
Rte. 4, Box 4C4
Youngsville, NC 27596*

HUTCHINSON - MURRAY - MURRELL

Dr. George Murray and Gertrude Elizabeth Hutchinson Murray (born 12 February 1834, died 24 January 1913) came to Hawkins County, Tennessee between 1860-1862 from Charleston, South Carolina, reportedly for Dr. Murray's health (could it have been due to the Civil War, which started nearby at Ft. Sumpter, South Carolina in 1860?). Gertrude Murray's father was Thomas Leger Hutchinson, born 17 February 1812, died 18 August 1883. He served as mayor of Charleston, S. C. for 6 terms. Dr. Murray and Gertrude had two children: George Ancrum Murray (born 11 January 1858, died 25 May 1916) and Annie Murray (1861-1922).

Three of Gertrude Elizabeth Murray's sisters followed her to Hawkins Co., Tennessee: Anna Nattalie Hutchinson, Mary Madeline Hutchinson, and Julia Leger Hutchinson.

After Dr. Murray's death, Gertrude married Newton Jesse Murrell. They had one child: Jesse Barton (J. B.) Murrell (born 17 October 1865, died 12 April 1959).

George Murray was married to Mary Susan Greene (born 16 September 1863, died 6 July 1920). They had two children: George Ancrum Murray, Jr. (born 1 May 1890, died at the age of 7 years, 1 month, and 4 days) and Will Murray. Will reportedly went West and died there. George and Susan were divorced.

Annie Murray was married briefly to Edward Manning Ross (born 21 May 1835, died 29 March 1885) from the Rotherwood Estate near Kingsport, Tennessee. He died after they had been married only 18 months. They had one child who died in infancy.

George Murray owned the Hale Springs Resort, located 12 miles north of Rogersville. It was a popular resort and George operated it in an elegant manner. George and his sister, Annie Murray Ross, purchased the old McKinney Tavern House in Rogersville, and renamed it the Hale Springs Stopover House, in 1884. The name was later changed to the Hale Springs Hotel. Travelers were met at the train station in Rogersville, stayed overnight at the Hale Springs Hotel and were transported by carriage the next day to the Hale Springs Resort. In the early 1900's, the Hale Springs Resort was sold to the Pressmen's Union for use as a training center for pressmen and a retirement home for their older members. In 1903, George Murray sold the Hale Springs Hotel to his half-brother J. B. Murrell. George then moved to Asheville, North Carolina where he operated a successful lumber business.

Jesse Barton (J. B.) Murrell married Cornelia Belle Pearson (born 21 October 1862, died 22 October 1922), daughter of William Jackson Pearson (1814-1863) and Margaret Bray Pearson (1834-1898). J. B. and Cornelia Murrell had three children: Nell Gertrude Murrell, Katherine Margaret Murrell, and Jesse Barton (J. B.) Murrell, Jr.

J. B. Murrell, Sr. operated the Hale Springs Hotel in Rogersville, TN for 14 years. His children told many interesting stories of life in the hotel as they grew up there. Mrs. Murrell had a rose garden on the west side of the hotel, where the present garden of the Hale Springs Inn is located.

Nell Gertrude Murrell met Frederick Jackson Testerman, who was staying at the Hale Springs Hotel. They were later married at the Hotel. They had four children: Annabelle (Ann); Frederick Jackson (Ted), Jr.; William Murrell; and Adrian Leger.

Katherine Margaret Murrell married John Frank Testerman. They had two children: John Frank, Jr. and Edward Ross.

Jesse Barton (J.B.) Murrell, Jr. married Eva. They lived in Knoxville, Tennessee and had no children.

Submitted by:

*Syble Mayes Testerman
518 East Main Street
Rogersville, TN 37857*

ISENBERG - ISENBARGER - EISENBERG

The Isenbergs of East Tennessee descend from Nicholas Isenberg, probably born in Germany, who settled in Frederick County, Maryland soon after the American Revolution. The first Isenbergs came to America before 1761. Tradition says they came by way of Amsterdam and Baltimore, settling in the Double Pipe Creek area which divided Frederick County and Carroll County, MD near the Pennsylvania border. Further information concerning the earliest Isenbergs, see A HISTORICAL SKETCH AND GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE ISENBERG FAMILY OF PENNSYLVANIA, by the Rev. J.M.S. Isenberg, First Reformed Church, Spring City, Pennsylvania, March 4, 1900*.

One family tradition suggests Nicholas was a Hessian soldier serving the British until he was "converted," and joined Washington's army. Some say he came from a small village Markerhausen, southeast of Kassel near Eisenach, as described in COUSINS, by Jan Simmons Johnson, of Glendale, Arizona*. The family seems to have assumed the name Isenberg as early as A.D. 500, during a time of great migration in Europe.

The family first became protestant early in the Reformation. They were first Lutheran, then after 1577 they accepted the reformed faith. The province of Isenberg is part of the "beautiful county along the Rhine." The name Isenberg is correct in most records, however sometimes it is spelled Isenbarger. Eisenberg is the modern German spelling and is also correct.

Nicholas Isenberg is listed in the 1790 census with a wife, son, and daughter in Frederick County, MD, owning property which he sold in 1795. The deed lists him as a tailor. He is listed in Chaulkly as having delinquent taxes with reason as he went to the "Holstein." This is the designation made when a person was moving to the East Tennessee area. He and his family settled in Washington County, Tennessee. They were paying taxes early and are listed in the Early Tennessee Taxpayers* in 1814 and 1819.

Nicholas married Fae Elizabeth Fox in Maryland. Their children were: Jacob Isenberg, married Elizabeth Simmons; Sarah Isenberg, married Henry Fox; Mary Isenberg, married Joseph Shanks; Daniel Isenberg married Lidia Mohler; John Isenberg married Hannah Pitcock; Elizabeth Isenberg, married Robert Hodge; Margaret Isenberg married Henry Mohler; and Nicholas Isenberg, Jr., married Elizabeth Adams.

The birth order of the children is not certain, but researchers believe Jacob was probably the eldest and Nicholas the youngest. Nicholas and one elderly female, probably Elizabeth his mother, are listed in Washington County, Tennessee census as late as 1840. In the 1850 census Nicholas (Jr.) age 40 is still in Washington County with his wife Elizabeth. There is no other Elizabeth Isenberg in this census.

Jacob Isenberg, his wife, three boys, and four girls are in the 1830 Hawkins County census. Jacob Isenberg was born 23 September 1790 in Frederick County, Maryland and Elizabeth Simmons, born 16 June 1794, probably in Botetourt County, Virginia, and died 28 May 1871 in Hawkins County. They were married in Hawkins County 16 April 1811. Their eleven children were:

1. Joseph B. Isenberg, born 15 November 1814, died after 1850, married Martha Klepper 22 December 1836, and had six children. This family moved to Monroe County, Kentucky.

2. John Isenberg, born 8 March 1817, died 28 August 1894, married Martha Winegar 13 February 1843, and had six children.

3. Simeon Isenberg, born 25 November 1819, died 8 April 1890, married Mary Molsbee 8 September 1844, and had 9 children.

4. Male infant Isenberg, born 19 January 1822, and died 24 January 1822.

5. Katherine Isenberg, born 11 April 1823, died 4 October 1906, married Elijah J. Henard 13 January 1842 and had 13 children. They are buried at Cedar Grove Church of the Brethren where they and their family were active members. More information about this family is in the Henard-Hennard article.

6. Elizabeth Ann Isenberg, born 12 January 1826, died 27 September 1849, married John Mallory 22 June 1841, and had three children.

7. Matilda Isenberg, born 29 April 1828, died before 1880, married Joseph C. Eidson, and had one child of which we have no record.

8. Benjamin J. Isenberg, born 10 November 1830, died 28 July 1885, married Elizabeth Miller 16 September 1852, and had 12 children.

9. Jacob K. Isenberg, born 20 March 1834, died on 10 May 1914, married Margaret "Peggy" Klepper on 5 August 1855, and had 14 children.

10. George A. Isenberg, born on 10 January 1837, died ????, married Susannah Winegar 26 October 1856, and the number of children is unknown.

11. Martha Isenberg, born on 8 July 1839, died 19 April 1896, and married Abraham Still 16 November 1865, and had nine children.

Further information about this family and their descendants may be found in the listed references, census records, and AN UPDATED HISTORY AND GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE ISENBERG FAMILY, by Lillian Isenberg Bahney, late of Myerstown, Pennsylvania. The book is published by Boyer Printing and Binding Co., Lebanon, PA.

Related Stories:

Henard - Hennard.

Peter Klepper.

Nothorn - Northern - Young.

Compiled and Submitted by:

*Mary Lynn Feezell Anderson
2169 Sentell Circle
Maryville, TN 37801*

JARNAGIN and GROVE

John JARNAGIN (died 1816 in Highland County, Ohio) married Mary SMITH. John was the son of John JARNAGIN (of Meherrin Neck, Northampton Co., North Carolina, and died ca. 1782), and Mary (Brynum). Mary SMITH was the daughter of Elizabeth and Thomas SMITH (died 1797 in Rockingham Co., NC).

Isaac (born 1776 in Loudoun County, Virginia, died in Highland), son of John and Mary SMITH JARNAGIN, married Sarah GROVE in the area of Grainger County, TN that until 1796 was part of Hawkins County. Sarah was the daughter of Elizabeth Lambert (Stapleton) and John GROVE (born ca. 1750 in Loudoun and probably died in the Hawkins/Grainger Co. area of TN).

Both the GROVE and JARNAGIN families had several families that lived in the Hawkins/Grainger County area of Tennessee. Elizabeth Lambert (Stapleton) and John GROVE's children were: Reuben (1777 in Virginia-1866 in Grainger Co.) married Nancy MAYS in 1806 in Grainger Co.; Benjamin married in 1802 Hulda "Holly" JARNAGIN; Nancy married in 1802 Durry JARNAGIN; Thomas married Sarah J. WOOD; Hannah married David THURMAN; Lettice married Noah JARNAGIN; George L. married Nancy EVANS; John (born 1787) married 1st Nancy, and 2nd Mary. The mates of Jamin, Elizabeth, and Matilda are unknown.

Mary (SMITH) and John JARNAGIN's children were: John (1775 in Loudoun Co.-1857 in Grainger Co.) married Susanna CLARK; Nancy married Jacob COOPER; Mary married Jacob WEYER in 1801 in Grainger Co.; Emelia married Benjamin James HORTON; Eli married Mary FRANKLIN; and Isaac, Noah, and Hulda married into the above GROVE family. Most of these families lived at one time or another in the Hawkins Co. area that became Grainger Co.

Thomas (born 1746 in Virginia, died 1802 in Jefferson Co., TN, served in the Revolutionary War), son of Mary (BYNUM) and John JARNAGIN, married Mary WITT, daughter of Lavinia (HARBOUR) and Charles WITT.

Thomas and Mary's children were: Noah (died age 83 in Grainger Co.), married

Mary RUSSELL; Lavinia (1770-1849) married Major LEA (son of Rev. Luke and Elizabeth WILSON LEE, died in Grainger Co.); Chelsey married Martha BARTON 1774 in Grainger Co.; Martha married Daniel GOIN; Rhoda married 1801 to Major LEA (son of Major and Elizabeth HERNDON LEA); Anna married in 1803 Samuel CARSON; Jeremiah married 1st 1801 Mary CLARK, 2nd 1808 Elizabeth HIGHTOWER, 3rd 1815 Martha BUNCH, 4th 1850 Mrs. Mary (JARNAGIN) ALDRIDGE, and 5th 1853 to Mrs. Sarah (ORR) NANCE; Patsey married John PICKENS in 1803; Benjamin married in 1806 to Susannah LEA (daughter of Major and Elizabeth HERNDON LEA); Preston married in 1910 Elizabeth Maree CONWAY; and Pleasant married Mary SMITH. All of these JARNAGIN families lived at one time or another in the Hawkins County area that became Grainger Co.

Our Sarah (GROVE) and Isaac JARNAGIN's daughter Tamor (born in 1816 in Highland Co., OH), married in 1835 to John Henry FISHER (died 1877 in Page Co., Iowa) son of Barbary and Jacob FISHER.

Sources:

1781-83 State of N.C. #213, #642, and #1023 pay vouchers, certified in Washington & Sullivan Counties for Capt. Thomas Jonakin (JARNAGIN).

Charles WITT's Will, probated 1881, DB1, p. 415, Halifax Co., VA.

John JARNAGIN's Will, 1816 Highland Co., OH. Goodspeed's History of East Tennessee, 1889, p. 1154.

Census and Marriage Records, of Highland Co., OH and Grainger Co., TN.

Submitted by:

Richelle McDaniel
3223 Alder
Fremont, CA 94536

and

April Bladh
11033 Trudie Ave.
Whittier, CA 90604

Gale C. JENKINS Family

Gale C. Jenkins (28 January 1884-24 January 1928) was born in Surgoinsville, Hawkins County, Tennessee near the Yellow Store. He married Rebecca Clamons (11 February 1885-2 October 1963), the daughter of Lewis S. and Nannie (Fawbush) Clamons, on 7 April 1907. Gale and Rebecca then moved to Maybuery, West Virginia where Gale worked in the mines as a mechanic. Their only child, Lewis Creasy Jenkins, was born in West Virginia 31 January 1909.

Gale and Rebecca returned with their son to Rogersville in 1910 where they ran a livery stable and the Hot Point Cafe on Depot Street until Gale's death in 1928. Rebecca or "Becky" Jenkins, as she was called, continued to run the Hot Point Cafe until she married a Mr. Mincy and moved to Los Angeles, California. She was widowed again and married Mr. Walter T. Dees. Rebecca (Clamons) Jenkins Dees is buried at Valhalla Memorial Park, North Hollywood, California.

Lewis Creasy Jenkins (31 January 1909-15 January 1943), only child of Gale and Rebecca (Clamons) Jenkins, married Maude Ethel Wilson (born 28 June 1912), daughter of Isaac Newton and Alice (Johnston) Wilson. As a young man Lewis Jenkins went west and herded sheep in Idaho for a time. After returning home and marrying, he removed to Detroit, Michigan and worked for Chrysler Corporation. A few years later, Lewis brought his family back to Rogersville where he engaged in several small businesses, including dry cleaning, grocery stores, and a butcher shop. Later, he was elected Hawkins County Court Clerk. Lewis and Maude (Wilson) Jenkins had two children: Betty Ann Jenkins (born 12 January 1931) and William Lewis Jenkins (born 29 November 1936).

After the death of Lewis C. Jenkins in 1943, Maude (Wilson) Jenkins served the remainder of his term as County Court Clerk and was reelected to another. She later married Wayman Elbert Hurd (6 February 1904-4 April 1981) and worked in the Hawkins Co. ASCS Office for many years. Wayman Hurd was born in Kyles Ford, Hancock County, TN, the son of Christopher Columbus "Lum" and Causby (Templeton) Hurd.

Betty Ann Jenkins (born 12 January 1931) married James A. Gunderson, son of Victor Julius and Leona Irene (Keeling) Gunderson. James A. "Jimmy" Gunderson was born 7 March 1929 in Portland, Oregon. Jimmy and Betty raised their family in Garden Grove, California; however after Jimmy's retirement from McDonald-Douglas Aircraft they returned to Hawkins County and presently live in Church Hill, TN. They have three children:

Greg, Scott, and Julie.

Gregory Eric Gunderson (born on 16 January 1955) married to Patti Gomez. Greg lives in San Diego, CA and has a son named Eric Gregory Gunderson, born 17 October 1987.

Scott Vincent Gunderson (born on 14 November 1956) married Julie Brewer. Scott lives in Roseburg, Oregon and has two children: Chelsee Ann Gunderson born 14 November 1990, and Scott Edwin James Gunderson, born 8 August 1992.

Julie Ann Gunderson (born 26 January 1960) married Kerry Stack. Julie and Kerry live in Rialto, CA and have one child: Victoria Christine Stack, born 21 January 1992.

William Lewis "Bill" Jenkins (born 29 November 1936) married Mary Kathryn Myers (born 15 March 1936), daughter of John G. and Willie Ruth (Smith) Myers, on 12 June 1959. Bill and Kathryn live in Rogersville and have four children: Kathryn, Georgeanne, Lewis, and Doug.

Kathryn Rebecca Jenkins (born 13 August 1960) presently lives in Washington State.

Georgeanne Jenkins (born 27 April 1963) married Jack Kyle Price, Jr. and has two children: Caleb Isaac Price born 31 December 1987 and Julianne Elizabeth Price born 3 January 1992.

William Lewis Jenkins, Jr. (born 13 February 1966) married Amanda Ruth Porter and has one daughter, Marjorie "Margo" Elizabeth Jenkins, born 12 June 1992. Lewis, Amanda, and Margo live in Nashville, TN.

Douglas Templeton Jenkins (born 20 March 1968) married Pamela Renee Lawson and lives in Franklin, TN.

Related Stories:

Clayman/Clamons.

John Jenkins.

James Patton Lawson (1867-1945).

The Miller Family and the Yellow Store.

Peter Miller.

William D. Wilson.

Submitted by:

*Doug Jenkins
183 W. Caney Creek Rd.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

John JENKINS

John Jenkins (ca. 1770-27 March 1858) was born in eastern Virginia. He married for the second time 30 July 1816 in Fincastle, Botetourt County, Virginia to Rachel McElhaney Henry (1790-10 May 1859), widow of William Henry, Jr (who was killed in the War of 1812) and daughter of Samuel and Ann McElhaney. John and Rachel Jenkins owned an 80-acre farm on Back Creek in Botetourt Co., VA near present day Salem, VA.

Both John and Rachel had children from their first marriages of which very little is known, and they had children together. In 1827 the couple moved with their three young children to Surgoinsville in Hawkins County, Tennessee where they lived the remainder of their lives. They are buried in the Surgoinsville City Cemetery in unmarked graves. Their children were: Andrew Jackson, Griffin, and Nancy C.

Andrew Jackson Jenkins (May 1817-1 April 1859), son of John and Rachel (McElhaney) Jenkins married Evaline Campbell (1818-1878), daughter of Ansel and Jenny (Allen) Campbell on 16 July 1839. "Jackson" Jenkins was a teenager and made his living farming and hauling goods to and from C.C. Miller's Yellow Store, often making trips to Kingsport, Elizabethton, and Knoxville. Jackson and Evaline Jenkins owned 88 acres between the Yellow Store and the Holston River.

Jackson Jenkins died suddenly on 1 April 1859 at the age of 42 years, placing his growing family in a position of great hardship. His widow, Evaline Jenkins, continued on the farm and raised their six children by running boarding houses for travellers on the Old Stage Road, which passed within sight of their cabins.

These boarding houses became known as "Jenkins Town" by the neighbors. After Evaline Jenkins' death in 1878, the land was divided and sold. The last of it was sold in 1907 by the writer's great-grandfather, Gale C. Jenkins.

The children of Jackson and Evaline Jenkins were: Sarah Jane Jenkins (22 December 1842-25 August 1904) married Lemuel C. Freeman on 18 July 1861 and lived at Hiltons, Scott County, VA; Martha Jenkins (31 July 1844-2 February 1930) married David Thomas Freeman on 28 February 1867 and lived at Hiltons, Scott County, VA; James K. Jenkins (born 1848) married Margaret Seavers on 7 October 1887; Nancy Jenkins (born 1849); Mary Jenkins (1858-1906); and Caroline Jenkins (7 August 1859-25 January 1830) married Thomas Elbert Maultbay, and lived in Letcher Co., Kentucky.

Griffin Jenkins (1820-1880's), son of John and Rachel (McElhaney) Jenkins, married Nancy, but had no children. Joseph A. Freeman, a nephew of Griffin's, remembered visiting the old man when he (Mr. Freeman) was a small child and thought he was very odd. On one occasion Griffin asked him to put a stick of wood in the stove, and when he found that the piece of wood wouldn't fit, Mr. Freeman proceeded to cut off the end to shorten it. Griffin scolded him, "The fault lies at both ends!" Mr. Freeman had to cut a little off of each end to please "Uncle Griff". Griffin Jenkins died in the 1880's in Scott Co., VA. (This story was told to me by Mrs. Kelly Penley, daughter of Joseph Freeman, of Weber City, VA).

Nancy C. Jenkins (23 September 1825-26 April 1892), daughter of John and Rachel (McElhaney) Jenkins, married Preston Williams 22 May 1843 in Hawkins Co., TN. Preston Williams fought for the South in the Civil War and was captured and paroled at Vicksburg, Mississippi in 1863.

Preston and Nancy lived at Mill Bend near Miller's Island and had the following children: John Forgy Williams (4 August 1847-8 January 1924), married Henrietta Henry and lived at Hiltons, Scott Co., VA; Sarah E. Williams (13 January 1845-17 May 1852); Mary Ellen Williams (died young); Willie B. Williams (born 24 January 1854); Nancy Viranda Williams (4 October 1857-19 March 1885) married Thomas Courtney in 1880; Elizabeth Rachel Williams (27 January 1862-11 January 1892), married Pinckney G. Melton; William Preston "Rattlesnake Bill" Williams (22 January 1866-11 April 1939) married Sarah Ellen Spears, and they lived in Bell County, Kentucky.

Related Stories:

Gale C. Jenkins Family.

The Miller Family and the Yellow Store.

Peter Miller.

Sources:

Mrs. Kelly Penley, Weber City, VA.

Rev. Basil Freeman.

Mrs. Thomas Galloway.

Mrs. R. W. Ford, Kingsport, TN.

Mrs. Hampton Williams, Gate City.

Mrs. Willie Maultbay.

Blanche Johnson, Kingsport, TN.

Mrs. Daphine Porter, Carlisle, PA.

Mr. Jim Reynolds, Surgoinsville, TN.

Mrs. Clyde Stogner, Middlesboro, KY.

Submitted by:

Douglas T. Jenkins
Route 3, Box 2300
Rogersville, TN 37857

William B. JENNINGS

In the Hawkins County, Tennessee Census of 1900, William B. Jennings, Julia A. Nelson, and son, John Mark Jennings lived in District 16. William B. Jennings was born 1863 in the Greystone area of Greene County, Tennessee, the son of Elijah Jennings (1836-1900) and Catherine Bowman (1839-1900); grandson of John Jennings (1798) and Ruth Kelly (1794), and Kennedy Bowman (1794-1890) and Mary Polly Harrison (1814-1885).

Julia A. Nelson was born 1879 in southern Greene County, Tn., the daughter of Henry F. Nelson (1838-1911) and Nancy Reynolds (1839-1879); granddaughter of John Nelson (1800) and Tabettha Kindle (1805), and James Reynolds (1798) and Sarah (1812). James and Sarah Reynolds were from South Carolina. Nancy died eight weeks after Julia was born.

On Sept. 25, 1883 William B. Jennings married Mary Emma Seaton in Greene County. They made their home in the Greystone community and had four children. Effie Jennings (1883) married David L. Laws, Thomas Jennings (1887) married Penelope Hensley, Lucy Jennings (1891) married Barney Bowman, and John Bewley Jennings (1894) married Addie Fanon.

In 1899 William B., Julia, and child left Greene County to get away as he had not yet divorced Mary. William B. moved to the Fall Branch area of Hawkins County. William B. divorced Mary in 1901 and married Julia on 21 February 1901 in Greene County.

William and Julia then lived in the Greystone area of Greene County. Their children, all born in Greene County, were John Mark Jennings (1899) married Hattie Katherine Keller, Francis Jennings (1905), William Jennings (1907), Simon Paul Jennings (1903), Daniel P. Jennings (1910) married first Lonie Seaton, Arles D. Jennings (1913) married Lola Hensley, Jack M. Jennings (1918) married Bertha Tarlton.

When William B. lost three children in a short time, he made a change in his life and joined Mountain View Church in the Greystone community of Greene County. He became a minister and pastored Mountain View for several years.

Mountain View Church was also a school when it started in 1892 by Elijah Jennings, father of William B. Jennings. Elijah taught school here and had served as an officer in the Union Army during the Civil War.

William B. moved to the Oak Hill area of Cocke County, Tn. in the early 1930's where he died in 1936 and Julia in 1951. Both are buried at Mountain View in Greene County.

John Mark Jennings (1899-1966) married Hattie Katherine Keller (1903-1976), daughter of Rev. Samuel L. Keller (1873-1956) and Carrie Elizabeth Rains (1875-1939) on 19 August 1920 in Greene County. Hattie was the granddaughter of Samuel D. Keller (1833) and Katherine Sane (1844); and Solomon Chandley (1826) and Eliza Rains (1855).

John Mark lived in the Greystone community where his first five children were born. In 1934 they moved to the Oak Hill area of Cocke County to live the remainder of their lives. Their children are Hundall Jennings (1922-1922), Jubal Larry Jennings (1925-1926), Lillie Nelis Jennings (1929) married Clyde Willis, Paul Ozie Jennings (1931) married Zola Mae Gunter, Julia Kate Jennings (1933) married Guy Wilhoit, Evelean Jennings (1937) married Carmon Eugene Hensley, Carrie Lucille Jennings (1938-1938), Anna Ruth Jennings (1941-1991) first married Clyde Austin Hensley, Lura Helen Jennings (1945-1990) married Boyd Morrow, Zura Ellen Jennings (1945) married Fred Huff, Jr. John and Hattie are buried at Mountain View in Greene County.

Evelean Jennings (1937) married Carmon Eugene Hensley (1934-1972), son of Elbert H. Hensley (1893-1959) and Lucinda Norton (1901-1966); the grandson of George W. Hensley (1869-1941) and Angeline L. Norton (1871-1928), and Rev. James Norton (1855-1928) and Ealy M. Shelton (1865-1924) on 3 October 1954 in Cocke County.

Carmon and Evelean Hensley's children are Benny Eugene Hensley (1955) married Sharon Ann Cody, Jimmy Lynn Hensley (1957) married Janella Styles, Richard Alan Hensley (1961) married Tammy Reaves, Arnold Wayne Hensley (1966) married Veronica Tweed. Evelean married John Lewis Self as second husband.

Benny Eugene Hensley married Sharon Ann Cody (1957), daughter of Thomas Cody (1929) and Patsy Blazer (1936); granddaughter of Arthur Cody (1892-1982) and Ruth Whitlock (1891-1960), and John Phillip Blazer (1912-1989) and Lucille Inez Gorrell (1917-1992), on December 18, 1977 in Cocke County.

Benny Eugene Hensley is the pastor of Mountain View Church in Greene County and an Agriculture Education teacher in the Greene County School System. Sharon Ann Cody Hensley works at Phillips Consumer Electronics of Greeneville. Their children are Joshua Carmon Hensley (1982) and Holly Lucinda Hensley (1984), both born in Greeneville, Tennessee.

Sources:

1900 Hawkins County census.

Marriage records.

Submitted by:

*Benny E. Hensley
Rt. 1, Box 63E
Greeneville, TN 37743*

and

*Mrs. Evelean Self
Good Hope Road
Parrottsville, TN 37843*

Kyle Henry and Dinah (HILTON) JOHNSON

Kyle Henry Johnson was born May 29, 1911, in Hancock County, Tennessee, the son of Absolum (App) Johnson (3 July 1876-19 January 1940) and Dora Drinnon Johnson (5 December 1886-22 April 1935). Dinah Mae Hilton Johnson was born September 9, 1910, in the Eidson community of Hawkins Co., Tennessee. She is the daughter of Lloyd Decatur Hilton (21 July 1889-7 December 1955) and Rosa Bell Stapleton Hilton (9 September 1894-11 December 1966).

Kyle and Dinah both travelled across Clinch Mountain to attend high school at the old Rogersville High School (now Rogersville City School). To pay for his room and board, Kyle hauled whey from the creamery by mule sled to feed the hogs. After graduating from high school, Dinah attended State Teachers College (now East Tennessee State University) in Johnson City, Tennessee.

Upon her return to Hawkins County, she assumed the first of several teaching positions in a one room school house at Lynn Springs. As the only teacher, her duties included not only teaching all grades, but also building fires and cleaning the building. To get to and from school she walked or rode horseback five miles each day.

Kyle and Dinah's friendship flourished during this time into a courtship highlighted by walks to and from church. On May 23, 1935, they were married and moved to East Pumpkin Valley near Eidson in the fall of 1936.

Kyle went into the timber business for several years with his father-in-law, logging and sawmilling in Hawkins and Hancock Counties.

In 1953, he went into a Real Estate and Insurance partnership which he eventually purchased and became the founder of Johnson and Johnson Real Estate and Auction Company. He was president of Hawkins County Development Company, which developed the 66 Plaza Shopping Center, Sandman Motor Lodge, and other commercial and residential properties. He developed subdivisions in Rogersville, Church Hill, Surgoinsville, and in Sullivan and Washington Counties.

He served eighteen years as a member of the Hawkins County School Board and one term as county trustee and was a member of the county court.

He was an avid fox hunter, landowner, and farmer, but loved to trade land, cattle, horses, and hounds.

Both Kyle and Dinah were members of the First Baptist Church of Rogersville, where she taught Sunday School for several years. He was a Mason.

They have four children, three of whom reside in Hawkins County. Their eldest son, Harold Blake Johnson, retired USAF and a partner in Johnson and Johnson Real Estate and Auction Company, married Katherine Byrd, a teacher's assistant. They have two children, Jerry Johnson and Kathy Johnson Porter. Jerry and his wife, Jane, have one daughter, Madison. Kathy and Tom Porter have one daughter, Candice.

Hugh Kyle Johnson, a graduate of Austin Peay and partner in Johnson and Johnson Real Estate and Auction Company in Mt. Carmel and Rogersville, married Delores Martin, a teacher's assistant. They have three children, Paige Goddard, Whitney Mathis, and Kristie Johnson. Page and John Goddard have one daughter, Greer. Whitney and Mark Mathis have one son, Caleb.

Dinah Jane Johnson Campbell, a graduate of East Tennessee State University and a high school teacher, married Deryl Campbell, a University of Georgia graduate and a consultant forester and farmer. They have two children, Mark and Amy Campbell.

Linda Rose Johnson Adkinson, a graduate of East Tennessee State University and Administrative Assistant at Durham Regional Hospital, married Thomas Adkinson, a researcher in kidney physiology at the University of North Carolina. They have two children, Alysa Frederick and Lani Adkinson. Alysa and Rex Frederick have two children, Jessica and Kyle.

Kyle H. Johnson died April 13, 1990, and is buried in Highland Cemetery, Rogersville, Tennessee. Dinah, a retired teacher, resides at the family home.

Related Story:

James Thomas "Jack" Drain

Submitted by:

*Jane Johnson Campbell
Rte. 3, Box 3090
Rogersville, TN 37857*

The Thomas JOHNSON Family

Thomas Johnson was born in Virginia about 1759. His parents are not known, but it is thought that his father's name may have been James. He had two brothers and one sister that we know of at this time. His older brother James¹ was born about 1758 in Virginia and died in 1845 in Tennessee. He was married in 1788 to Susannah (maiden name unknown). Little is known of his brother Stephen. In his will dated in 1845, he named his two sons James and Hardy, and a daughter Mary (Polly) who married a George Stubblefield on 5-15-1822, as heirs. His sister Elizabeth was married to a Daniel Hutcheson in Halifax County, Va. 1-5-1786, and later moved to Hawkins County, Tn.

Thomas married Barbara Hutcheson on 7-12-1786, in Halifax County, Va., and soon after moved to Hawkins Co., Tn. Barbara was the daughter of David Hutcheson. Thomas died about 1844 in Hawkins County. The children of this marriage were: Larkin, no information; Sally (Polly), who married Randall Carter; Lucy, who married James Eaton on 11-11-1833; Sanford, born ca. 1793 Va., died ca. 1880 Hawkins County; James, no information; and Betsy, who married William Kennedy 9-5-1820.

Sanford Johnson married Louisa Lebow 10-25-1819, the daughter of John and Catherine (Gray) Lebow. Sanford was a veteran of the War of 1812, and he swore his amnesty oath to the United States of America on February 1, 1865, following the Civil War. Of this marriage, nine children were born: Thomas, born ca. 1820; Martha Ann, born 7-7-1821, died 10-12-1906, married 11-24-1840 to the Rev. Thomas Dodson; Lucinda C., born ca. 1823, died unknown, married 8-2-1842 to William F. Lee; Larkin, born ca. 1828, moved to Missouri; James, born c. 1830; Jacob, born 8-7-1833, died 1-13-1911; Elbert, born ca. 1836, moved to Missouri; Cynthia, born ca. 1841, married Montgomery McClure; and Sarah, born ca. 1845, married a Shipley.

Jacob Johnson first married Sarah Catherine (Kate) Lebow on 10-8-1867, the daughter of Isaac and Sallie (Gray) Lebow. Jacob served throughout the Civil War (1861-1865) in the Tennessee Cavalry. He enlisted as a private on 10-4-1861 at Camp Buckner, Ky. and was paroled at the end of the war as a Lieutenant at Charlotte, NC on 5-3-1865. He had his farm on the Hawkins-Grainger County line just west of Mooresburg. He is buried in the Meadow Branch Cemetery at Bean Station. Kate was born 8-21-1844 and died 8-12-1883. Of this marriage were born seven children: Lucy E., born on 12-20-1869, died 1953, and married T. Curtis Farmer; Bell E., born on 11-18-1870, and died 12-5-1885, never married; Landon C., born on 8-1-1872, and died 1945, married Jose Williams, moved to Oklahoma; Lady D., born on 2-24-1874, died 1944, married William S. Hicks; Clyde W., born 11-18-1875, died 9-18-1963; Linnie M., born on 10-3-1877, and died 7-4-1931, married F.M. Summers; and Samuel L., born on 10-7-1879, died on 5-15-1966, married Sue Moore.

Jacob's second marriage on 11-3-1884 was to Rebecca Harris, who was born on 12-17-1861, and died on 2-6-1931. Of this marriage three children were born: Bessie W., born 8-14-1890, died 5-21-1910, never married; Thomas G., born 2-25-1894, died 10-12-1979, and married Elsie Buchanan; and Hugh L., born 8-22-1899, died 10-4-1969, and married Katherine Moneyhun.

Clyde W. Johnson married Lucy Victoria Livingston², daughter of Benton Henry and Matilda Catherine (Hill) Livingston on 8-3-1898. He was a farmer all his life on land he had bought from his father, located on the County Line Road. Lucy was born on 7-24-1879 in Blackwater, Va., and died 8-5-1968. Four children were born of this union: Mack L., born on 10-9-1899, died ?, and married Dorothy Buchanan; Joy L., born on 9-14-1904, died ?, married Otis Miner; William Hill, born 2-18-1907, died 6-21-1965; and Rebecca K., born on 6-25-1915, married on 8-14-1942 to William B. Price, and she currently resides in Rogersville, Tn.

The children of Mack L. and Dorothy are: Phyllis, married Andrew Molner; William M., married Ann; and James B., married Dell.

The child of Joy L. and Otis is Joe O. Miner.

The children of Rebecca K. and William B. are Mary Jo, married Bill; and William B., Jr., married ?.

William Hill Johnson married on 2-11-1928 to Hazel E. Hughson of Wyandotte, Michigan. Hazel was the daughter of George and Julia (Campbell) Hughson. They resided in Michigan the rest of their lives. His brother Mack and family also lived nearby in Wyandotte. William and Hazel had five children: Joy M., born 1-3-1929, married Robert Delves; William H., Jr., born on 10-19-1930, married Eve Adams; Clyde D., born on 6-11-1932, married Judy Berry; Roger D., born 6-21-1938, married Sue Otto; and Danial L., born on 11-3-1944, and married Linda Evans.

Clyde D. Johnson married Judy Berry on 8-23-1955 in Texas. Judy is the daughter of Earl and Ellen (Wilson) Berry of Yancy, Texas. Clyde and Judy currently reside in Hampshire, Tennessee and have four children: Sherry L., born on 5-23-1956; Craig A., born 3-15-1962; Laurie, born on 4-19-1963; and Kenneth E., born on 12-27-1966.

Sherry L. Johnson married to Mark W. Sigler, and they have children: Lori M., born 7-3-1976; and Aaron C., born 11-18-1980.

Craig A., Johnson married to Kathy D. Cook, and they have children: Heather R., born 12-15-1988; and Jessica N., born 9-22-1990.

Laurie Johnson married to Douglas O. Caffey, and they have children: Stacy R., born on 5-10-1988; and Sarah M., born on 6-3-1993.

Related story:

Benton Henry Livingston Family

Sources:

1. See James Johnson lineage in the book Scattered Leaves in the Genealogical Section of the H.B. Stamps Memorial Library in Rogersville, TN.
2. See family history of Lucy Victoria Livingston.

Submitted by:

Clyde D. Johnson
P.O. Box 188
Hampshire, TN 38461

John C. JOHNSTON

John C. Johnston (ca. 1765-1829) married Mary Rogers (ca. 1765-1848) in Cookestown, County Tyrone Ireland. They immigrated to Philadelphia, PA in about 1790 and then joined Joseph Rogers, brother of Mary (Rogers) Johnston, in Rogersville after 1800 where they lived the remainder of their lives. Their children were: James Johnston (1790-1869), not married; Frances Johnston (1800-1874), not married; Joseph Rogers Johnston (1808-1890), married Diannah Beal; Lucy Johnston (1811-1883), not married; and Mary Johnston (born in 1815), not married.

Joseph R. Johnston (4 February 1808-24 July 1890) married Diannah Beal (7 December 1816-11 July 1888), daughter of John and Mary Elizabeth (Portrum) Beal. They lived on Crockett's Creek in Rogersville behind K-Mart on the west end of Rogersville. Joseph Johnston was a farmer.

Joseph and Diannah had the following children: Mary Frances Johnston (1834-1903) married Joseph P. Rogers; John Clinton Rogers (1835-1906), married Mattie Branner; Lucy Ellen Johnston (born 1839), married Robert Murray; James Matson Johnston (1841-1913), married Sallie Brown; Lavinia Walker Johnston (1844-1935), married Atwood Maine; Sarah Ann Johnston (1846-1910), married Andrew Huggins; and Harvey Vance Johnston (1848-1933) married Malinda Woods.

Harvey Vance Johnston (18 August 1848-28 June 1933), son of Joseph Rogers and Diannah (Beal) Johnston, married Malinda Woods (28 March 1849-20 July 1890), daughter of John and Elizabeth (Parrott) Woods. John Woods was in the Union Army during the Civil War and was killed by Rebels while home on leave. The Woods family lived near Three Springs Community of Hawkins County.

Harve Johnston was a farmer, and a well known fiddle player at local barn dances in the community. He and Malinda lived on the Town Knob near where Allison Heights subdivision is presently located.

Harve and Malinda (Woods) Johnston had the following children: Mary Frances Johnston (1868-1954), married John C. Rogers; Robert Kyle Johnston (born 1870), lived in Shelby Co., TN; Joseph Charles Johnston (born 1872), lived in Jackson, TN; Diana Johnston (born 1875), married C.B. Capps and lived in Knoxville, TN; John C. Johnston (born 1877) married Sarah Angeline Taylor and lived in Johnson City, TN; Alice G. Johnston (born 21 September 1879), married Isaac Newton Wilson; Fred Johnston, lived in Jackson, TN; Ella Johnston, married Roy Bell and lived in Memphis, TN; Lucy Johnston married John Anderson and lived in Knoxville, TN; Kate Johnston married Gabe Price and lived in Knoxville, TN; Henry V. Johnston (a Baptist Preacher) married 1st Maggie Rains, 2nd Moria Whitehead and lived in Dorchester, VA.

Related Stories:

The Beal Family of Hawkins Co., TN.

John Beal.

William D. Wilson.

Submitted by:

*Harve Johnston descendants
c/o Bill Jenkins
Route 3
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Daniel and Robert JONES

My name is John E. Jones, Jr. My four-great-grandfather was Daniel Jones. Daniel was born 17 March 1757 in Orange County, North Carolina, and he died on 27 July 1841 in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

My third-great-grandfather was Robert Jones. Robert was born about 1790, and he married Mary (Poppy) Gardiner. To this union was born two children, Pleasant Jones and Hattie Jones.

My second-great-grandfather was Pleasant Jones, born about 1819, he married Parrade Surgener, and to this union was born thirteen children: Mahaley, William, Martha Jane, Patience, Landon C., Gensha, Polly, Sarah, Elizabeth, Rosa Jane, James Marion, John Alexander, and Jesse.

My first-great-grandfather was James Marion Jones, born 12 January 1865 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He moved to Howard County, Indiana in 1914, and died 1 September 1940 in Kokomo, Howard County, Indiana. James married Thedora Jane (Dosh) Parker, born 25 January 1869 in Hawkins Co., and died on 10 April 1911 in Hawkins County. To this union was born three children: Martha Bell, James Lafayette, and Benjamin Franklin.

My grandfather was James Lafayette "Fate" Jones. He was born 2 January 1889 in Hawkins Co., TN and died on 5 July 1966 in Center, Howard Co., IN. He married Ida Bell Brown, who was born 30 October 1890 and died on 20 November 1920 in Kokomo, Howard Co., IN. She was buried in Hawkins Co., TN. To this union was born four children: Verna Hazel, Lawrence Arnold James, John Earl, and Nora Maxine.

My father was John Earl Jones, Sr. He was born on 4 October 1914 in Martin County, Minnesota. He married Thelma Mae Hughes on 4 April 1934, and to this union was born two children: Barbara Ann and John Earl, Jr.

That was when I arrived, I am John Earl Jones, Jr. I was born 17 April 1937, and I married Freda Juanita Bradley who was born 25 July 1940 in White County, Arkansas. We were married in Oakford, Howard Co., IN on 27 September 1959. To this union was born two children: Robin Jo and John Earl, III.

Robin Jo Jones married Dennis Jay Herrell in Kokomo, Howard Co., IN on 14 August 1981, and to this union was born two children: Rachael Dawn and Rebekah Deeann.

This is how our family moved and prospered throughout the Midwest, but we will always be thankful that our roots came from Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

Jones-Manes-Fields-Strong-Wallen-Bean.

John and Jerusha (Surgener) Jones.

Submitted by:

*John E. Jones, Jr.
744 E. Cassville
Kokomo, IN 46901*

John and Jerusha (SURGENER) JONES

During the Civil War, tragedies were often experienced by the nation, states, cities, communities, and families. One such incident can be documented through the records of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

John Jones (born ca. 1835) was the son of Elijah (War of 1812 veteran) and Nancy (Harmon) Jones and the grandson of Daniel Jones (Revolutionary War veteran). John's brothers and sisters were: Thomas H. who married Elizabeth Harmon; Phebe who married Branch Tucker; Nancy who married Enoch Jones; Mahala who married Othniel Bruner; Jane who married William Owen; Elender who married John Morrison; James Allen who married (1) Mary Jane Luster, (2) Minerva Lawson, and (3) Catherine Roark; Susannah who married George Bailey; David H. who married Olla; and Elijah, Jr. (a physician) who married (1) Mary Ann Cook, and (2) Betsy Ann Smith.

John married (ca. 1853) Jerusha/Gerusha Surgener. John (age 25), Jerusha (age 25), and their children - Lafayette (age 5), Rufas (age 3), and Cornelia (age 1) were enumerated in Hawkins County, Tennessee in the 1860 Federal Census.

During the Civil War, John served the Union Army in Company H, 8th Tennessee Cavalry. In April 1865, after receiving word that Jerusha had died, John and some comrades came home for her funeral. Rebel soldiers learned the "Yankees" were home and came to get them. After shooting part of John's companions, the soldiers dragged John out of the house and away from his children.

John's children clung to their father and begged the soldiers to spare him. John was taken up the river where he was shot and killed.

John and Jerusha's coffins were made by Robert Gray. Both John and Jerusha were buried in the same grave on the 118 acre farm given to John by his father, Elijah.

On Monday, 2 October 1865, Othniel Bruner was appointed guardian of Lafayette, Rufas, Cornelia F., and Phebe C. Jones, all minor orphans. Court records indicate sometime between 1865 and 1874 Wesley Tunnell and Branch Tucker also served as guardians of the children. Phebe (age 6) was enumerated with the family of Branch Tucker in the 1870 Hawkins County, TN census. The same census indicates Rufas was living with his uncle, Elijah, Jr. Lafayette and Cornelia may have been living in Greene Co. TN as this is where all of the children eventually settled.

As a result of these murders, charges were brought against at least twenty-five men. During the September 1867 session of the Criminal Court of Appeals held at Knoxville, the deaths were declared an act of war and all charges were dropped.

John's military headstone and a star given to soldiers who were in the Civil War (see photo) are located in the family graveyard (Cemetery #170, Vol. 3, Hawkins Co., TN Cemeteries). These stand as a testimony to this long ago tragedy.

Related Story:

Rev. Riley and Nancy (Bailey) Jones

Sources:

History of My Mother - Mrs. Annie Eliza (Jones) Allen, by Hazel (Allen) Lipe.

Hawkins County Court Minutes, 7 May 1874.

Hawkins County Deed Book 32, pp. 404 & 405.

Hawkins County Court Minute Book 2, p. 77.

Submitted by:

Karon (Jones) Simpson
3605 Reservoir Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37660

Rev. Riley and Nancy (BAILEY) JONES

Rev. Riley Jones was born 8 November 1805 in Hawkins County, TN, the son of James and grandson of Daniel Jones, Sr. (Revolutionary War soldier who drew a pension from Hawkins County).

Riley was married ca. 1825 to Nancy Bailey. She was probably the daughter of Carr and Granddaughter of William "Fleabuck" Bailey. Both Nancy and Riley's grandparents were very early settlers of Hawkins County.

Riley's sisters and brothers were: Nancy who married Steven Bailey. Nancy lived and is buried at New Hope. She is the only one of James' children who remained in Tennessee; Elizabeth who married John Wiley B. Howell; James Franklin who married Louisa Harmon; Mary who married Annanias Cavin; Sarah who married Moses Long; Claibourn who married Jane Tallent; Barnabus who married (1) Indiana and (2) Rebecca Brown; and Enoch who married Nancy Jones. All of the above were married in Tennessee before going to Arkansas.

Riley and Nancy left Hawkins County around 1852 and moved to Arkansas. It was told by one of Riley's grandsons that the family came by way of St. Louis, where they ferried the Mississippi River, then cut a road eventually landing in Arkansas. The family settled in the community called Carter, now known as Hicks.

Riley was a Missionary Baptist minister. The first records of his performing marriages in Arkansas start in the mid-1850's.

In the 1880 census, Riley stated his father was born in Virginia and his mother in Tennessee. A letter written on 19 May 1868 by Riley Jones of Arkansas to his nephew O.B. Bailey of New Hope, TN indicates his mother was a sister of David Tate. Riley told about Pleasant Riley Jones and Daniel B. Jones being killed in Arkansas by Rebels. Riley also wrote O. B. that he wanted to hear from his brother Daniel, his sister Jane, and his uncle David Tate. The original letter is in the possession of a resident of Baileyton, TN.

Riley served as pastor for many years at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church. He died 5

May 1889; and he, his wife, and several of their children are buried at Mt. Zion Cemetery in Washington County, Arkansas.

Riley's children were: Margaret Francis who married Daniel Jones, Eliza Tabitha who married Pleasant Riley Jones, Sarah who married Carroll Gilliland, Lavina who married Augusta Hicks, Hala Minerva who married Dr. John Parker, Betty who married William Jett, Emmaline who married Ephriam Ramey, Absolon who was killed during the Civil War, and Cornielius who married Matilda Lewis. Cornielius was murdered one month after his marriage.

Riley and Nancy have descendants still living today in the same area where they resided.

Related Story:

John and Jerusha (Surgener) Jones

Submitted by:

Rosella Faulk
2309 Sanford Drive
Kingsport, TN 37664

JONES - MANES - FIELDS - STRONG - WALLEN - BEAN

Daniel Jones Sr. (1757-1841) at the age of 22 joined the Revolutionary Army at Hillsborough, North Carolina. He served as Private under Archibald Lytle's N.C. Regiments. He drew a pension, claim S1915. After the war he came to and settled in Hawkins Co., Tn., date unknown. He was taxed in Hawkins Co. in 1789 for a spotted boar (Knoxville Gazette 1792) and on account book of Thomas Amis store in 1794. In 1796 was conveyed 3 acres of land on Beech Creek, South of the Holston River to build a mill from Mason Combs. He owned 144 acres on both sides of Beech Creek.

Daniel's children were: James, John, Robert, Elijah, Daniel, William, Polly and Sylvia. Daniel is buried on Luster Road in Tarpine Valley behind Henry Parvin's house.

His son John Jones (1789-1875) of Hawkins Co. married in 1808 to Annis Manes (1791-1874), daughter of Jacob and Margaret Manes. He served in the War of 1812 as Private in Allison's East Tennessee Militia. He was granted from the State of Tennessee in 1872, 2000 acres of land located on both sides of the Holston River. Starting at Keplars Corner on top of Grassy Mt. to Bays Mt., along top of same, then North crossing the Holston River, East along river recrossing the Holston at an island across from Burems Mill to Goulds Hill then back to Keplar.

John and Annis Jones children were: Pleasants, Sarah, Althamirah, Eliza, Elisha, Lucenda, John, Jesse, James Fulton, Nancy, Riley and Nicholas Turner. John is buried at Keplar on Jones Cemetery Road.

Their son Nicholas Turner Jones (1834-1875) of Hawkins Co., married in 1860 in Greene Co. to Elizabeth Jane Strong (1839-1898), daughter of Dr. William and Margaret "Burkett" Strong, William, son of Thomas and Annie "Fields" Strong of North Carolina, Annie, daughter of John and Mary "Gibson" Fields and the granddaughter of Nathaniel and Mary Fields, both Revolutionary soldiers of NC and Va. Nicholas Turner Jones served in the U.S. Army in the Civil War as Private in Co. "B" 3rd Regiment of Tenn. Mounted Infantry Volunteers.

Nicholas Turner and Jane Jones children were: Jacob, Sarah, John, William, Lincoln, Elijah, Peggy and Ely. Nicholas Turner and Jane are buried at Keplar.

Their son William taught Indian School in Tulsa, Ok. and Accomida, New Mexico. He was never married.

Their son Jacob "Jake" Jones (1861-1923) of Hawkins County carried mail on horseback for over 40 years along Beech Creek. Jake married in 1889 in Scott Co., Va. to Nancy Wallen (1869-1945), daughter of John George and Virginia "Mahan" Wallen. John was a Confederate Army Vet. Nancy was the Granddaughter of Rev. Greenberry and Sallie "Johnson" Wallen.

Jane and Nancy Jones children were: Van, Jerome, Nicholas, Anne, George (all but Anne died in a Diphtheria epidemic in November, 1897), Barton, Earl, Lurley, Freddie, Archie, Edna, and Ruby. Jake and Nancy are buried at Keplar.

Their daughter Ruby B. Jones (1912-) of Hawkins Co. married in 1929 in Rogersville to John Bean (1908-), son of James Columbus and Mollie "Elkins" Bean. Ruby and John Bean moved to Maryland in 1936 looking for work. All the above people were farmers. John and Ruby's children are: Van, John, David (all born in Tn.), Lewis, and Donna (born in Md.).

Their son Donald Ray Bean (b. 1934) of Hawkins Co., married in 1963, Colesville, Md. to Juanita C. Furlow (b. 1942), daughter of Delmar and Arline "Revercomb" Furlow. Their children are: David, Brian, and Jennifer.

Related story:

WAX-PRICE-BROOKS-BEAN

Submitted by:

*Donald R. Bean
14207 Chelmsford Rd.
Rockville, MD 20853*

The KENNER Family

Richard Kenner emigrated from England to Virginia by 1636/37 and settled in Lower Norfolk County. He had a son, Richard, Jr. born in 1635 who would have been a year old. There is no mention of his wife's name.

Richard Jr. married in 1664/70 to Elizabeth Rodham. He was a member of the House of Burgesses in 1688, 1691, and until his death in 1692 at the age of 57. They had seven children: Rodham, Richard, John, Frances, Elizabeth, Hannah, and Matthew.

Frances married Hannah Howson, and they had three children: Rodham, Howson, and Elizabeth.

Howson Kenner, born 1712, died 1778, moved to Fauquier County, Virginia. He married Margaret Eskridge, born 1715. Their children were: Frances, and possibly others.

Frances Kenner, born 1735, moved to Prince William County, North Carolina (now Tennessee) where he died. He married Elizabeth Howard. Their children were: Howson, Rodham, Winder, and Eskridge.

Howson Kenner, born 1758, died 1828, was in Hawkins County by 1786, as were his three brothers. He married Lucy Calahan, and lived near Stone Mountain (New Life community). He was a Midshipman in the Revolutionary War. Their children were: Wiley Blount, and possibly others.

Wiley Blount Kenner, born 1799, and died 1862. He was married in 1829 to Elizabeth Shanks, born 1811, and died 1887. They lived at Klondike in Hawkins County. Their children were: Doctor Jasper, Polly Ann, and others.

Doctor Jasper Kenner, born September 18, 1849, died November 8, 1909. He was married on January 25, 1867 to Narsissa Sarah Ann Price, born on February 4, 1852, died September 25, 1915. She was the daughter of Rev. Isaac Price and Martha Webb Price. She also had a twin sister, Manerva. Dock and Narsissa had 15 children: Laura, Angeline, Jane, George, Wiley, Mark (my father), Mollie, Harritt, Nora, Isaac, Margaret, Jesse, Ida, William, and Myrtle. They lived on Clouds Creek, at what we now call the Jim Williams Place. In later years they moved to Mooresburg, where they are buried in the Wiley Kenner Cemetery.

Mark, born July 18, 1879, died on May 29, 1963, married on July 21, 1901 to Amanda Brooks, born October 15, 1885, died November 8, 1968. They had five children of their own, and also reared two of Amanda's sister, Maude's children after her death. Their children were: Herschel, Ernest, Mintie, Kelsie, Guy Brooks, Helen Brooks, and Eula. All are deceased except the last three.

We were taught to love the Lord, who blessed us so much with good loving parents, and each other and our neighbor as ourselves. We attended the Clouds Creek School and the Pleasant Hill Missionary Baptist Church.

We lived in the home that had originally belonged to Amanda's Grand-parents, Stokley and Elizabeth Lipe Brooks. Mark and Amanda are lovingly laid to rest in the family cemetery there on the farm.

Eula was born July 21, 1927 and on June 4, 1960 married James Winegar who was born on July 15, 1924 and died September 8, 1975 and is buried in Holston View Cemetery, Weber City, Virginia. They live at Clinchport, Virginia and had two sons, David Mark and Daniel George.

Related Story:

Markham H. Kenner

Sources:

Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Family Bible.

Submitted by:

*Eula K. Winegar
Rte 2, Box 118-A
Clinchport, VA 24244*

Markham H. KENNER

Kenner is believed by some writers to have been derived from the residence of its first bearers at a place called Kennarth, in Wales. Other historians state that it was taken from the ancient Anglo-Saxon personal name Kenward or Keneward meaning "noble and strong."

Families of this name were residents at early dates in the English counties of Surrey, Gloucester, Kent, Hants, and London. It appears that they were, for the most part, of the landed gentry and yeomanry of the British Isles. They were described as an energetic, ambitious, and self-assured race, possessed of considerable intellectual ability, sound judgment, business acumen, and, in many cases, literary ability.

Francis Kenner, born about 1734, died 1784 at Watauga, Washington Co., NC, now Carter Co., TN, was the son of Howson Kenner, born 10 May 1712, died 24 May 1778 in Fauquier Co., VA, and Margaret Eskridge, born 1715 in Westmoreland Co., VA, and died 8 October 1801 in Fauquier Co., VA.

Francis moved from Virginia to Edgecombe Co., NC; later he entered land in what is now Hawkins Co., TN. He was married in NC to Elizabeth Howard, born about 1744 in NC and died about 1822 in Hawkins Co. Francis was in Watauga settlement by October 1778 when he first entered land in what is now Hawkins Co., TN. On 30 March 1784, 500 acres of land on Holston River were surveyed for Francis Kenner.

Francis and Elizabeth's children were: Howson, Rodham, Rosamond, Nancy, Winder, Elizabeth, Francis, and Peggy and Eskridge (twins).

Francis contracted smallpox and died of it. After his death, his widow and children moved from Watauga to his 500 acres of land on Holston River.

Dr. Howson Kenner, born about 1757, and died in 1828 in Hawkins Co. He married about 1787 to Lucy Callahan.

Rodham Kenner, born 1759, died on 18 July 1812, was married about 1786 to Malinda Payne in Hawkins County. Malinda died in 1837. Rodham represented Hawkins County in the Tennessee House of Representatives 1803-1806.

Rosamond Kenner, born in 1766, and died in 1842, married (1) to Daniel Hamblen in 1794, and married (2) to Thomas McCullough.

Nancy Kenner, born about 1768 and died in 1848, was married to Milton Center.

Winder Kenner, born in 1770 in NC, died on 23 December 1856 in Greene County, Missouri, and was married to Mary Davis.

Elizabeth Kenner, born 1773 or 1775 in NC, died before 1829, and was married to John Huntsman.

Francis Kenner, born in 1777, died in 1830, married in 1804 in Missouri to Elizabeth Pillars.

Eskridge Kenner, born in 1778, died in 1858 in Arkansas, and was married to Dorcas Burum in 1809 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Peggy Kenner, born in 1778, died in 1823 unmarried.

Dr. Howson Kenner, a finely educated physician, served as a midshipman in the American Revolution under James Markham, captain of a privateer and the husband of Howson's aunt. They were captured and imprisoned at Dartmoor. They escaped and fell into the hands of the French who sent them home.

Dr. Howson Kenner presented a claim to the 18th U. S. Congress which was withdrawn, then presented again by his heirs to the 31st U. S. Congress. He received a Virginia revolutionary pay certificate for his services on June 28, 1784 for 92 pounds, Volume CLXXV, page 556.

Howson received N.C. Land Grant 2570 for 254 acres of land on the south side of the Holston River in Hawkins Co., TN.

He settled in Hawkins Co. by 1786, and was an advocate of the State of Franklin, NCSR, XXII, p. 715. He owned 640 acres between Clinch Mountain and Stone Mountain, described as in Big Poor Valley on the War Path at the Big War Gap, including a salt lick, Hawkins Co. Deed Book XII, p. 9.

Governor William Blount's letter, written from Knoxville to Col. William Whitley of Kentucky, then at Southwest Point and published in the "Knoxville Gazette," on November 15, 1794 mentioned: "I have been informed first by Howson Kenner ... that you passed this place yesterday with an intention to join General Logan who is said to have marched from Kentucky in force to invade the Lower Cherokee towns"

Lucy Callahan was living in 1818. Dr. Howson Kenner's will, dated June 29, 1824, is on file in Hawkins Co., but was not recopied when the wills were re-recorded in the 1880's. It listed his children as: William, born about 1788, died about 1829, married about 1816 to Mendenhall; Markham, born 1790, died 1855, married (1) to Nancy in 1813, married (2) to Catherine Hart; Sally, born about 1792, died about 1831, married James Fulton or Fullen; Francis, born about 1794, died before October 1828; Wiley "Willie" Blount Kenner, born in 1797, died in November 1862, married in 1827 in Hawkins Co. to Elizabeth Shanks, daughter of Christian Shanks and Mary Pearson Shanks; James, born May 14, 1803 in Hawkins Co., died on July 21, 1872 in Knox County, TN, married on January 29, 1828 in Hawkins County to Susan Mitchell; Elizabeth, born about 1805, married on December 27, 1821 in Hawkins Co. to David Berry.

The will of Wiley B. Kenner, dated March 13, 1858, proven December 1862 in Hawkins Co., mentions his wife Elizabeth, daughters Polly Ann Webb and Lucinda Snyder, and sons James, William, Mark, Howson, Wiley B. Jr., Doctor Jasper, and Newton.

Markham H. Kenner, born on October 13, 1839, killed on 28 December 1893 in Hawkins Co., the son of Wiley B. Kenner and Elizabeth Shanks Kenner, enlisted on July 25, 1863 into the Union Army. He was Sergeant of H Co. 8th Tennessee Infantry. In the line of his duty at Cave Springs, Alabama in November 1864, he contracted partial loss of sight from exposure. When he was discharged at Company Shops, N.C. on June 30, 1865, he was age 40 years, 5 feet 6 inches, fair complexion, light hair, and gray eyes.

The Sheriff's Bond, in Hawkins County Minute Book 6, page shows "Markham H. Kenner, elected to office of Sheriff on the 7th day of August 1884." He served as sheriff from 1884-1886.

Markham Kenner and Rebecca E. "Betty" Lawson were married the 2nd day of May 1881 in Hawkins County.

A Deed filed and acknowledged on July 13, 1889 in Hawkins County transfers land containing one hundred and fifty one and one-half acres situated in the 11th Civil District. "That for the love and affection, I Mark H. Kenner entertain for Elizabeth Helton and Rebecca Jane Burton and their heirs, I do hereby give transfer ... said land to be equally divided between the said Elizabeth Helton and Rebecca Jane Burton ..."

Rebecca Jane Burton was the wife of Shell Burton, the step son of Mark Kenner and the son of Rebecca E. Lawson Kenner.

Elizabeth Kenner Helton, born on 7 February 1864, was the daughter of Katherine Brown Brummett and Mark Kenner. Elizabeth married Landon Helton on January 4, 1879.

Related Stories:

The John Helton Family.

The Kenner Family.

Sources:

Hawkins Co. TN Deeds.

Hawkins Co. TN Wills.

N.C. Rev. Pay Records, Vol I, p. 82, folio 4, by Prentiss Price.

William and Mary College Quarterly.

Submitted by:

Brenda Joan Smith Buchanan
43516 Scenic Lane
Northville, MI 48167

Daniel Chambers KENSINGER 1879-1954

Daniel Chambers Kensinger, known as "Neal" Kensinger, was born 17 March 1879 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. He died 17 May 1954 in Peoria, Illinois. Neal married 9 October 1906 to Laura Ruth Thurman (8 August 1878-1 February 1939) who was the widow of Dr. Cooper Henderson. Laura had a daughter, Mary Gaines Henderson.

Neal and Laura had five children. The eldest, Edward, died young and is buried in Surgoinsville, TN. The second, a son who prefers to use the initials "J.C." was born 23 January 1910. J.C. married first Ann Hyatt of Jonesville, Virginia. They had a daughter, Jann, and were divorced. J.C. married second in 1945 to Mary Ida Ray of Mountain City, TN. They have no children. J.C.'s daughter Jann married Charles Ernest Walker of Tazewell, Virginia, and has six children: Charles Ernest (II) "Chuckey", James Hyatt, Teresa Gail, Charlotte Ann, and Millie Louise. In 1993 J.C. had seven great-grandchildren and at least one more on the way.

Neal and Laura's third child was Helen, born 10 December 1917. Helen married Frank Ayers and had five children: Connie, Donnie, Ronnie, Janet, and Patricia. Helen died when her youngest child was a baby, and she is buried in Peoria, IL.

Neal and Laura's last two children were the twins born in 1917: Matilda Lucille and William Ripley "Bill".

Matilda Lucille Kensinger married Robert Benjamin Livesay and has two daughters: Nancy Ann and (Janet) Carol. Nancy married John D. "Dee" Willis, and has two children: Nathan Dale and Carol Deanne, known as Dale and Deanne. Carol married Danny Roy Price and has two children: Jennifer Page and (Danny) Brent.

Bill Kensinger married Florene . He died childless in 1974 and is buried in Peoria, IL.

Neal and Laura Kensinger had a farm in the Big Creek community on Old Stage Road. Neal tried farming and helping his father in the general store, but when the Great Depression hit, Neal felt that he could support his family better if he "went north." Laura refused to go with him because she claimed that the only real security a family had was the land. No matter how bad things got, as long as there was a farm, the family would never go hungry. So Neal went to Peoria, IL and got a job as a streetcar conductor. He worked at this until his retirement, sending home what money he could. After Laura's death, Neal married to a "Widow Kensinger" but had no more children. He is buried in Peoria.

Neal's parents were James W. and Anne Lyons Chambers Kensinger. James (1851-1883) farmed and ran a general store. James was the son of Andrew Kensinger (1814-1864) and Mary A. Vaughn (1820-1870). Mary Vaughn is the one member of this family line that is not documented, but believed to be true.

Andrew Kensinger's parents were John Kensinger (1775-after 1850) and Martha Groves (1789-after 1875). John was born in Virginia, as was Martha. Martha's parents were John (c1730-1799) and Elizabeth (d. 1805) Groves. John Groves was a Revolutionary War soldier. John and Martha Kensinger came to Hawkins County before 1794.

Neal's maternal grandparents were William S. Chambers (1817-1885) and Matilda Golding Lyons (1821-1847). William was the son of Daniel Chambers (1778-1853) and his wife Mary (1789-1837). Daniel was the son of Mark Chambers (d. 1807/1809) and Elizabeth Criner. Daniel and Elizabeth were in Hawkins County by the late 1770's. Elizabeth was the daughter of John Criner, one of the earliest settlers in Hawkins County, here by 1774. Both Mark Chambers and John Criner served in the Revolutionary War.

Getting back to Neal's maternal grandparents, Matilda Golding Lyons (1821-1847) was the daughter of James Lyons (1790-1829) and Ann Maxwell. Ann (1790-1829) was the daughter of Col. George Maxwell (1751-1822) who was one of Isaac Shelby's Captains at the Battle of Kings Mountain. George Maxwell represented Sullivan County in the legislature, but he died in Hawkins County, where he is buried in New Providence Cemetery at Stony Point. Maxwell Academy at Stony Point was named for George Maxwell. He is said to have been the son of David Maxwell and his wife Nellie McCullough, who came from Donegal, Ireland to Lancaster County, PA in 1750. George Maxwell married Sarah Armstrong (d. 1794), daughter of William Armstrong (1712-1815) and his first wife, Mary Caldwell. William Armstrong was the first of his name in Hawkins County, having been born in County Fermanagh, Ireland. His son, William, built the first brick house in Hawkins County at Stony Point. Mary Caldwell was the daughter of John Caldwell and his wife Martha Campbell. Martha was the daughter of William Campbell and his wife Rowena Wallace, daughter of James Wallace, according to the family.

Neal's wife, Laura Ruth Thurman (1878-1939) also came from Early Pioneer Hawkins County stock. Her parents were James Dickenson Thurman (1850-1925) and his wife Rachel Webster (1851-1918). James Thurman was the son of William Dickinson Thurman (1828-1869) and his wife Elizabeth Watterson (1829-1890). W.D.'s parents were Dickinson Thurman (c1792-1845) and his wife Mary Forgey (1796-1833). Dickinson was the son of William Thurman (1761-1848) and his wife Mary Dickerson (1769-after 1858). William was born in Goochland County, VA and served in the Revolutionary War. Mary was the daughter of Thomas Dickerson.

Elizabeth Watterson (above) was the daughter of Henry Watterson (1795-1877) and his wife Elizabeth Fleshart (1800-1829). Henry Watterson was the son of Edward Watterson (1754-1818) and his wife Rosanna Cooper (1754-1854). Henry was born in Raphoe, Ireland, and came to America and served in the Revolutionary War from Pennsylvania. Rosanna, born in Chester Co., PA was the daughter of James Cooper and his wife Rosanna, who were very early settlers in Hawkins County.

Elizabeth Fleshart (above) was the daughter of Francis Fleshart (d.1811) and his wife Elizabeth Wysong, who was the daughter of Fyat Wysong, a Revolutionary War soldier from Botetourt County, Virginia.

Laura Kensinger's mother was Rachel Webster (1851-1918). Rachel was the daughter of George Washington Webster (1812-1902) and his wife, Rachel Kite (1816-1898). George was the son of John Webster (1759-after 1850) and his wife, Mary Baker (1780-after 1850).

Rachel Kite (above) was the daughter of George Kite (c1770-c1802) and his wife, Susan Louderback (c1786-1830/40).

Mary Forgey (above) was the daughter of James Forgey (1764-1837) and his wife, Margaret Caldwell (1768-1846). Both were born in Ireland. James was the son of Andrew Forgey (1732-1809) and his wife, Margaret (1741-1828). They were married in Ireland and Were in Hawkins County by 1788.

Related Stories:

Forgey's.

John Groves, c1725-c1796.

George Kite.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Mary Kensinger
Rogersville, TN 37857*

The KITE Boys in the Civil War

In the Civil War, 1861-1865, probably no other family in Hawkins County sent more sons to fight for the Confederacy than did the Kite family of Dodson's Creek.

Among these Confederate soldiers were the five sons and two sons-in-law of Martin Kite, Sr. and his wife Susan. Martin Kite, Sr. was the son of John Kite, a Revolutionary War veteran, and Betsy Louderback. John Kite came to Hawkins County with his parents, George Kite and Susan Barrett Kite, and his two brothers, William and George II, from Rockingham County, Virginia in 1796.

The children of Martin Kite, Sr. and Susan Barrett Kite are as follows. Archibald Kite, born 1829, married Sarah Smith. Henderson Kite, born 1831, married his first cousin, Hila "Hiley" Kite. Reuben Kite, born 1833. Martin Kite, Jr., born 1835, married Patsy Smith. Elizabeth Kite, born 1837, married Jesse Grigsby. Sarah Kite, born 1839. Lucinda Kite, born 1841, married William "Uncle Snake" Roberts. Peter Kite, born 1845, married Lucy Hoard. William Kite, born 1847, married Sally Doak.

Of the six sons of Martin Kite, Sr. and Susan Kite, it is known that five of them served with the Confederate Army. Henderson Kite and his brothers, Peter and William "W.A." Kite, along with their brothers-in-law, Jesse Grigsby and William Roberts, joined Company "D", 31st Tennessee Infantry, which later became 39th Tennessee Mounted Infantry. This regiment was raised by Col. William Bradford, an attorney at Dandridge, Jefferson County, Tennessee. Company "D" was raised at Dodson Creek, Hawkins County, on February 18, 1862.

Reuben Kite and his brother Martin Kite, Jr. were both in Company "E" of the 29th Tennessee Infantry, C.S.A.

It is known that Henderson Kite, Peter Kite, W.A. Kite, and William Roberts, were all severely wounded at the battle of Piedmont, Virginia, on June 5, 1864, while serving with Vaughan's brigade. Henderson Kite died from complications of his wounds a few years after the War. Peter and W.A. Kite, as well as William Roberts, were all maimed and crippled for life, as a result of their battle wounds. Jesse Grigsby had been captured and paroled at Vicksburg, in July 1863, as had been most of the Kite brothers and cousins.

It is certain that at least fifteen members of the Kite family, either brothers or cousins, as well as several brothers-in-law, all served with the Confederate States Army. Most are buried in the Kite cemetery at Dodson's Creek, several in unmarked graves. Jesse Grigsby is buried nearby in a private cemetery on his home-place farm. Peter Kite is buried at Philippi Cemetery, and William "W.A." Kite is buried at Antioch Cemetery, both in Greene County, near Mohawk cross-roads.

Related Stories:

George Kite.

George Rufas Kite.

John Windle Kite.

Kite-Lee.

Sources:

This material is taken from The Kite Family, 1750-1987, compiled by Sydney C. Kite, Joleen L. (Anderson) Kite, and Gary Lane Anderson, and from the U.S. National Archives and the Tennessee Archives.

Compiled and Submitted by:

*R. Donahue "Don" Bible
(a great-great grandson of Henderson and Hiley Kite)*

3175 Fish Hatchery Road
Mohawk, TN 37810

Carl Denton and Mary Ann "Mollie" (HAUN) KITE

CARL DENTON KITE (b. March 14, 1889-d. September 1, 1973), son of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, was married to Mary Ann (Mollie) Haun (b. May 21, 1890-d. May 13, 1965). Mollie's parents were William Nelson Haun (b. August 24, 1849-d. January 13, 1917) and Margaret Elizabeth Roark (b. February 28, 1852-d. October 26, 1927), and her maternal grandparents were William Roark (b. February 27, 1830), and Joanna Pratt (b. April 8, 1831), who were married on December 31, 1850 in Beechgrove, Tennessee.

Carl and Mollie were farmers. He was fond of music, and played the violin. He always said he learned to play the violin from David J. Worsham, brother of his sister-in-law, Frances Catherine Worsham Kite. Both Carl and Mollie are buried in the Kite Cemetery.

The following children were born to the union of Carl and Mollie Kite: Horace Kenneth (b. July 25, 1909-d. 1944), Thurman Haun (b. February 12, 1911-d. March 3, 1966), Nellie Elizabeth (b. September 20, 1914-d. October 1, 1990), Roger Martin (b. October 27, 1917-d. January 12, 1984), Edith Irene (b. June 21, 1920-d. September 22, 1989), and Mary Frances (b. January 6, 1924-d. April 8, 1927). This entire family is buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Horace Kenneth Kite was murdered in 1944, and his body thrown into the Cherokee Lake near Morristown. A story appeared in one of the detective magazines which detailed the circumstances of the murder. Horace was first married in Dayton, Ohio, sometime in the early 1930s, and had a son. This son is still living and goes by the name of his mother's second husband, and would be about 60 years of age. The second wife of Horace was Roberta Kite, daughter of Bob Kite whose father was the Rev. Jim Kite.

Thurman Haun Kite was married to Ellen B. Johnson (b. December 3, 1915), a native of Kentucky. They were married in Dayton, Ohio on April 20, 1930. There were two daughters born to this union: Joyce Irene (b. July 7, 1933), and Sandra Lee (b. October 20, 1944). Joyce was married to James Valentine on December 31, 1954. They had four sons, Timothy Dean Valentine (b. December 27, 1957), Bryan Lee Valentine (b. July 4, 1959), Terry Valentine (b. April 11, 1969), and Brad Valentine (b. February 2, 1973), all born in Michigan. The family resided in Michigan where Thurman was employed. Sandra is a teacher.

Nellie Elizabeth Kite was married to Bob Ledgerwood, from whom she was divorced. At the time of her death she was residing in Morristown where she and her sister Edith moved upon their retirement.

Roger Martin (Bussy) Kite changed the spelling of his name to KYTE because of an error in military records. He was married to Frances Welch, a native of Bulls Gap, about 1948. She was the daughter of Joseph Alfred and Elizabeth Kate Smith Welch. Roger and Frances had three children: Roger Kenneth (b. January 26, 1949), Anthony Steven (b. October 4, 1952), and Kathy Laverne (b. July 10, 1962). Both Tony and Kathy were born in Evansville, Vanderburgh Co., Indiana. Roger was a transport driver.

Roger Kenneth (Kenny) was born in Greeneville, Greene Co., Tennessee. He married Carolyn Sue Young on October 28, 1968, in Evansville, Indiana. They have a son, Roger Kenneth Kyte, II, (b. February 26, 1972), born in Evansville. Anthony S. (Tony) was married first to Jean Marie Norton on October 12, 1974, in Evansville. Their son, Adam Martin Kyte, was born in November 12, 1978 and died November 15, 1978. He is buried in the Locust Hill Cemetery, Evansville. Tony was married secondly to Marsha J. Hensley (b. December 21, 1951) on July 27, 1991, in Evansville.

Marsha was born in St. Meinrad, Indiana. Tony is a delivery truck driver.

Edith Irene suffered a heart attack. She was married to Bob Brown from whom she was divorced.

Related Story:

KITE-LEE.

KITE-WORSHAM-LEE.

Submitted by:

Lucille Kite Clemmons
4605 Brockland Drive
Morristown, TN 37814

Charles Oliver & Logan Elizabeth (GIBSON) KITE

CHARLES OLIVER KITE, born September 26, 1911, died April 24, 1975, was married to Logan Elizabeth Gibson, born February 8, 1910, on March 10, 1929 at the corner of Highland and East Center Streets, in Kingsport, Sullivan County, Tennessee. Logan's parents were Robert and Sarah Manerva Steele Gibson, and her sister, Nina Bernice Gibson, married Charles' brother, William Taft Kite.

The family of Sarah Manerva Steele were Elbert (Ebb) and Fannie Logan Smith Steele, whose other children were Charlie, Viola, Paul, Lida, Juanita, Silas and Ernest Steele.

The children of Charles Oliver and Logan Elizabeth Gibson Kite are: Virginia Ruth (b. May 24, 1930); Betty Jo (b. May 18, 1932); Mary Catherine, born April 18, 1934, died October 9, 1934; Helen Jean (b. January 1, 1936), and Johnny Ralph (b. June 4, 1944).

Virginia Ruth Kite was first married to Guy Lee Trent, born February 6, 1927, died May 21, 1983. He died at Holston Valley Hospital & Medical Center, Kingsport, of cancer. His parents were Luther and Martha Wallace Trent, paternal grandparents, Jess and Martha Green Trent, and maternal grandparents, Calvin and Susan Walker Wallace. Ruth and Guy had the following children: Audrey Faye Trent (b. April 12, 1948), married to Dale McKinley Ferrell on November 12, 1966, their children Daryl Anthony (b. August 19, 1967-m. Lorrie Ann Poarch on June 30, 1989), Kevin Scott (b. June 7, 1970), and Brian Keith (b. December 19, 1975); Danny Lee Trent (b. November 13, 1949) married to Brenda Sue Chess on December 15, 1967, their children, Travis (b. July 15, 1975), and Allison Nichole (b. August 27, 1979); Cheryl Anita Trent, born November 27, 1950, died March 18, 1951, Bennie Edward Trent, born December 6, 1952, died December 6, 1952, Kathy Diane Trent (b. August 2, 1954) married to Benny Melville Sullivan on December 17, 1971; Michael Stephen Trent, born March 20, 1957, died December 15, 1976, married to Teresa Beshi Ann Elkins on December 31, 1976, children: Michael Jason (b. June 11, 1978) and Jessica Lee-ann (b. October 27, 1986); and Ricky Dwayne Trent (b. June 7, 1964) married to Janice Marie Sensabaugh on October 1, 1986, one child.

Ruth was married secondly to Earl Holiman, born November 21, 1923, died March 13, 1987, on November 4, 1985; and thirdly, to William (Bill) Johnson on March 16, 1990 (divorced).

Betty Jo Kite is married to Clyde Vernon Sexton (b. March 16, 1927). They had the following children: Connie Clyde, born July 10, 1949, died March 91, 1969, Sharon Ann (b. September 30, 1951), Gary Lynn (b. December 3, 1954), and Terry Ray (b. May 15, 1956). Connie was killed in an automobile accident, and is buried in the Kite Cemetery. Sharon was married to Randall Wayne Ward on June 15, 1968 at the Dodson Creek United Methodist Church; their children: Gregory Wayne (b. April 16, 1972 - married to Nickie Hill), and Shawna Danielle (b. August 8, 1979); Gary Lynn (b. December 3, 1954) was married to Diane Morris on April 19, 1974; their children are Kristi Lynn (b. April 19, 1981), and Lori Beth (b. April 15, 1983); Terry (b. May 15, 1956) is married to Joan Greer, and they have two children, Elisha Michelle (b. May 26, 1976), and Trevor Ryan (b. March 6, 1986).

Helen Jean was first married to Luther Willis by whom she had one son, Timothy Scott (b. June 16, 1957). Her second husband was John W. Daugherty, born October 19, 1928, died October 4, 1990.

Johnny Ralph was married to Mary Helen Maddux (b. December 23, 1944) on April 6, 1963. Her parents are John Franklin Maddux and Anna Belle Smith Maddux. Johnny's and Helen's children are: Jeffrey Scott (b. March 18, 1964), married to Monica Diane Turnmire on April 15, 1987; and Katrina Jan (b. July 25, 1967), married to Aaron Russell Banks on August 16, 1984. Katrina and Aaron have two children: Daniel Aaron (b. January 9, 1989), and Emily Logan (b. June 3, 1991).

Charles Oliver was an avid fox hunter, a sport which he enjoyed for most of his life. He and his wife operated a grocer store in the Strahl Community during the early 1950s, and he later was employed by the Hawkins County Highway Department. Guy Lee Trent, his son-in-law, was Superintendent of the Highway Department for a number of years. Charles is buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia.

Related stories:

Ralph Willard Kite.

Kite-Gibson.

Kite-Worsham-Lee.

Submitted by:

*Logan Gibson Kite
Route 7, Box 1465
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Edward Lee and Louetta Jane (HURLEY) KITE

EDWARD LEE KITE (b. July 26, 1881-d. November 28, 1964), son of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, went to Indiana at the age of 17. There he met and married Louetta Jane (Lou) Hurley (b. ca. 1887-d. March 16, 1965), on February 14, 1906. She was a native of Indiana and daughter of John B. and Amanda Tingley Hurley. Ed and Lou Kite are buried in the Zion Cemetery at Flora, Indiana.

Nine children were born to this union: Roy (b. May 1907-d. ca 1918 of diphtheria), Earl Chalmer (b. May 22, 1908), Martin Vincent (b. February 4, 1911-d. September 15, 1967), Robert Woodrow (b. July 17, 1912), Mary Lavonne (b. October 4, 1914), Ethel Marie (b. May 22, 1918), Reuben Bruce (b. November 23, 1919-d. November 25, 1991), Edward Junior (b. April 21, 1921-d. February 4, 1991), and William Arthur (b. November 14, 1926).

Martin (Cap) married Maude Rowe in May of 1939 in Rockfield, and divorced in 1953. There were four sons: Ralph Lee (b. July 26, 1940), Johnny Vincent (b. September 6, 1942), Ronnie Joe (b. January 10, 1944), and Michael Jay (b. August 28, 1946), all born in Delphi. Martin was killed in a train accident in Rockfield. Maude later married a man named Stevenson. She left her family when the boys were small.

Ralph married Jerry Ann Coe (b. August 4, 1946), of Nebraska, daughter of Robert S. and Phyllis Mary Zavadil Coe. They were married in Lincoln, Nebraska. Their children: Ralph Lee, II (b. April 12, 1963), Krystal Kay (b. January 10, 1967), and Kimberly Ann (b. August 14, 1970), all born in Nebraska. Ralph went to Nebraska about 1958. He is employed by Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, and resides in Malcom.

Mary married Chester Taylor, who died about 1985. She resides in Rossville.

Ethel married Ernest Franklin Robinson (b. November 11, 1918) on January 26, 1941. They reside in Delphi. They have four children: Shirley Ann (b. November 30, 1941), Ernest Eugene (b. November 30, 1942), Ruth Louetta (b. March 30, 1947), and Debra Kay (b. January 5, 1958), all born in Delphi.

Shirley Ann married Ralph K. Dilling (b. December 20, 1940) on October 6, 1963. They have two daughters: Ann Marie (b. October 16, 1973), and Monica Dawn (b. March 11, 1977).

Ernest Eugene married Patricia Ann Cunningham (b. February 4, 1944) on July 27, 1963. They have two sons: Anthony Ray (b. December 20, 1967), and Tim (b. December 20, 1969).

Ruth married Glenn A. Barry (b. November 9, 1947) on March 6, 1965 (divorced). Their children: Ruth Ann (b. October 11, 1965), Kimberly Sue (b. July 5, 1970), and Glenn Jason (b. March 16, 1973). Ruth Ann married Freddie L. Byrd (b. July 3, 1959) on December 1, 1984. Their son is Levi Aaron (b. August 13, 1989). Kimberly Sue married Michael McKinney (b. July 26, 1966) on October 26, 1992. Michael had two children by a prior marriage, Jennifer (age 8), and Michael, Jr. (age 7).

Bruce resided in Carroll County. He was found dead in his home. A former employee of Johnson Motors in Waukegan, Wisconsin, he later worked on the Herschel Smith Farm near Rossville. He served in the Marine Corps in the South Pacific during World War II, was a member of the Delphi American Legion, Post 75, and Delphi VFW Post 9383. Burial was in Zion Cemetery. Bruce married Florence Worth, and was divorced.

Edward (Bud) married first Betty Williams, in 1940, and had a daughter, Donna Jean (b. February 10, 1941), and a son, Kenneth Edward (b. January 11, 1943-?); second to Bertha (surname unknown), and had a daughter, Louetta (b. ca 1948); third to Marge (surname unknown). He died of a heart attack. His home was in Lockport. Burial was in Zion Cemetery.

Bill returned from duty with the U.S. Navy in World War II in August of 1945, and shortly thereafter married Wilma Kimmons (divorced). Their children: William, Jr. (b. June 2, 1947), Barbara (b. December 8, 1948), Robert Carl (b. February 2, 1956), Jeanetta (b. August 15, 1957), and Stevie (b. and d. 1959), all born in Carroll County. He married Oma Stephens Spear (b. December 9, 1921), on March 20, 1971, of Kentucky. She has five children by her first marriage. Bill is retired and resides in Flora.

Related Story:

Kite - Lee

Submitted by:

Mary L. Kite Taylor
Box 249
Rossville, IN 46065

George KITE

George Kite, son of George and Susan (Barrett) Kite, was born in Rockingham County, Virginia ca. 1768. He married Susannah Louderback ca. 1802, born in Rockingham County, Virginia, ca. 1780. They had seven children. George Sizemore married (1) Elizabeth Smith, (2) Matilda Spears; Polly married Marshall Smith; Sarah married John Webster; Susan married Martin Kite (double first cousin); Benjamin married Westy; Rachel married George Webster; and Reuben married Sally Hoard.

George is buried in the Kite Cemetery in Hawkins County. Tombstone reads: George Kite, son of George and Susan Barrett Kite, came here from Western Virginia with his parents and two brothers, William and John, in March 1796, died January 2, 1844". Susannah died 1830-40, has no marker, but is thought to be buried there also.

George Sizemore Kite married Elizabeth

Smith and had seven children, maybe more. George R. married Sarah Haynes; Hickman married Polly Hoard; Tillman married Nancy Smith; John married Polly Smith; Doctor, no record; Hila married Henderson Kite (first cousin and writer's grandparents).

Tragedy struck George R. and Sarah (Haynes) Kite family. George R., Rachel, Mary (Hale) Haynes and Louise Haynes were murdered by two slaves owned by Mary Haynes, Sarah's mother. The slaves were tried and hanged.

Elizabeth died, and George married Matilda Spears. Their children are: Dulcena, no record; Susan married Samuel Grigsby; Martin married Augusta Lee; James married (1) Rebecca Smith, (2) Nancy Lee; Elizabeth married James Morrisett; Eliza married Ebenezer Couch; Benjamin, no record; Newton, no record; Lucy, no record; Ishom married Eliza Smith; and Rebecca married John Morrisett.

During the War of Rebellion, George Sizemore Kite was captured at his home and made to walk to Knoxville, 60 miles. He was placed in prison and badly treated. He died a few days later. He was 62. In Matilda Kite's application to receive some compensation for property stolen by the federal troops during the war, Martin Kite (his brother-in-law and first cousin) testified that he knew that the troops had taken a large quantity of corn and several head of horses. One was worth at least 100 dollars.

Hila (Hiley) Kite married Henderson Kite December 23, 1853 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. He was born August 22, 1831 and died June 12, 1873, buried at Kite Cemetery. Hiley was born April 6, 1836 and died July 9, 1916, buried at Philippi Cemetery, Greene County, Tennessee. They lived in the Persia Community until Henderson's death. Hiley moved her family to near Mohawk, in Greene County before 1880. In 1911, she moved in with her daughter, Carrie (Kite) Long, to Johnson City, Tennessee where she died.

During the Civil War, Yankee soldiers camped in the field of Henderson and Hiley's farm. Henderson was away in the war. After they left, Hiley found a pitcher with the handle broken. It had been used for buttermilk. She kept it, and it is now in my possession.

Hily and Henderson's children are: John married Caroline Burkett; Parthena "Polly" married Jim Everheart; Robert never married, died at 27; William "Bill" married Octavia "Tave" Ingles; Alice married McKinley "Ken" Brown; George Rufas "Rufe" married (1) Dorthula Jane Haun, (2) Eliza Dell Myers; Martin (twin) married Elnora Wisecarver; Tillman (twin) died at 17; Soleta "Sleety" died at 11; and Carrie married (1) William "Bill" Harmon, (2) Joel "Jody" Long.

John and Caroline had 2 sons, and were farmers. Parthenia and Jim had 10 children, and they ran a saw mill. Alice and Ken had 9 children, they farmed and ran a mill. Martin and Elnora had 6 children and farmed. These four children remained in Greene County. Bill and Tave had 15 children. Bill was a blacksmith and farmed. They moved to Collin County, Texas in 1910. George Rufas and Dorthula had 7 children. He was a farmer and carpenter. They moved to Collin County, Texas in 1911. Dorthula died and he married Eliza Dell Myers. They had 5 children. Carrie and William had one son. William died and she married Jody Long. They had 3 children. Jody farmed. They moved to Johnson City, Tennessee in 1911.

Related stories:

Brown-Williams.

Daniel Chambers Kensinger.

The Kite Boys in the Civil War.

George Rufas Kite.

John Windle Kite.

Kite-Lee.

Morrisett.

Sources:

Family.

Bibles.

Courthouse records.

Civil War records.

U.S. Census.

Cemeteries.

Submitted by:

Hily Kite Savage
1462 Transport Road
Jonesboro, LA 71251-5502

George Rufas KITE

George Rufas ("G R" or "Rufe") Kite was born February 6, 1867 at Dodson Creek, Hawkins County, Tennessee near the community of Persia. He was the sixth child of ten children born to Henderson and Hiley (Kite) Kite. His father died when he was young. He had to help out on the farm, so he did not finish school until he was almost twenty.

He married Dorthula Jane Haun August 16, 1894. She was the daughter of Louis Manning Haun and Martha Eldora Harmon. She was born September 28, 1871. Rufe and Dorthula lived in Greene County, Tennessee in the Marvin community. Six of their seven children were born there. The seventh (and youngest) was born in Texas. Rufe was a farmer, deputy sheriff, and a carpenter. The family moved to Collin County, Texas in 1911 where Rufe's brother, Bill Kite, lived. Rufe farmed there until a storm washed away his crop, then they moved to Scurry County. Dorthula died there on May 20, 1920.

Dorthula and Rufe's children were Homer Lacy, 1895-1979, who married Delia Rainwater. They farmed in Collin County, Texas. Their children are Tom Sr., Smith, Haun, James, and Faye Nell.

Asa Larry, 1898-1987, married Florence Thompkins, and their children are C.H. and Thompkins. Florence died, and he married Irma Wooldridge. No children were born. Larry ranched, owned real estate and station in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Zora Alice, 1900, married Byron McPherson. They had one son, B.A. Jr. Byron owned an auto garage in Sweetwater, Texas. Zora lives in Sweetwater.

Josie Beatrice was born 1903 and died 1906. She is buried in Antioch Cemetery in Greene County, Tennessee.

Glocy Lucy, 1905-1986, married Harvey White. Their children are J.H. Jr., Laverne, and Wayne. Harvey worked in the oil industry, and they lived in Andrews, Texas.

Gladys Bonnie, 1908, married (1) Cloyce

Meadows, (2) Ollie Stimson, and (3) Raymond Peters. Glad had no children. She and Ray live in Cassville, Missouri.

Lewis Donald, or L.D., 1914-1988, married Blanche Heflin, and they had one son, Donnie. Blanche died, and he married Annlene Hill. Their children are Byron, Janic, Brenda, and Karen. He was a butcher and lived in Abilene, Texas.

After Dorthula died, G.R. (as he was now known) married Eliza Dell Myers April 14, 1922 in Nolan County Texas. She was born July 25, 1893 in Walkertown, Greene County, Tennessee, daughter of John Franklin Myers and Ellen Day. John and Ellen are descendants of Myers, Manes, Self, Roark, Couch, and Osborne, some of these from Hawkins County. Dell's brothers were (twins) Paris, Frost, Fred, and Ross. Her sisters were Rose, Flo, Nora, Thula, and Hassie.

Dell and G.R. farmed in Snyder, Texas for 2 years, then moved to Lubbock, Texas where he farmed and did carpenter work for seven years. They moved to Dawson County, Texas where they farmed until retirement.

G.R. died September 13, 1954 and Dell died July 13, 1976. Both are buried in the Lamesa Memorial Park, Lamesa, Texas.

G.R. and Dell's children are Nelta Ouita (1923) who married Myron Macy. They live in Big Bear Lake, California. Myron retired from Sears, and Nelta from Grocery Store Management.

J.G. (Johnny) 1925, married Juanita Thomas. They have 2 children, Dale and Jackie, also 4 grandchildren. J.G. retired as Maintenance Supervisor from the Borden County Schools. Juanita is a nurse. They live in Gail, Texas.

Billy Fred "Bill" (1928) is married to Dorothy Goff Pratt. Bill has no children, but Dot has 2 from a previous marriage. He is retiring from working in the oil production industry. They live in Odessa, Texas.

Hily Ellen (1931) married Jack Savage. Their daughter, Oouita Dell, married Arlen Morris. Their children are, son Stacy and daughter, Tina. Both attend college. Hily and Jack's son, Bruce Wayne, was killed in a one vehicle accident on November 23, 1980 and is buried at the Lamesa Memorial Park, Lamesa, Texas.

He never married. Hily enjoys doing family genealogy, and Jack is the owner of Jack's Wholesale Fuel and Oil in Jonesboro, Louisiana where they reside.

Janic Wynell, born October 27, 1933, died February 7, 1935 of whooping cough. She is also buried in Lamesa, Texas.

In the descendants of G.R. or Rufe Kite, there are preachers, teachers, electricians, technicians, oil industrial, medical, and many other professions. All are special people, but one is more well known, Tom Kite, Jr., the golfer.

Related stories:

The Kite Boys in the Civil War.

George Kite.

John Windle Kite.

Sources:

Family.

Bibles.

Submitted by:

Hily Kite Savage
1462 Transport Road
Jonesboro, LA 71251-5502

John Windle KITE

Kites first came to Hawkins County, Tennessee in March of 1796. George and Susan (Barrett) Kite and their three sons, William, John and George, moved from the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia to the Holston Valley of Tennessee, which is now part of Hawkins County. They bought 600 acres of land for 450 Pounds, on Dodson Creek from George Kiser (Kizer).

George Kite is presumed to be the son of John Windle Kite (Windlekeit) and mother unknown, of Rockingham County, Virginia. Susan Barrett's parents are unknown. My father told me there was a surname change years ago.

An article in the Knoxville Journal, Sunday, July 26, 1953, by Charles Patton states "When George Kite first found his way through the almost unbroken forest of Virginia and settled in the rich Holston Valley, he was accompanied by 50 other pioneers who encountered Cherokee Indians and other conditions to make the founding of homes difficult. The pioneers built a fort where they could protect their settlement. One member of the party, George Keener, walked away from the fort in search of a place to build a cabin and was slain by the Indians. The fort was erected on the farm that is now owned by Elmer Kite. The first house was built near the present home. The historic home site of the Kites is located six miles south of Rogersville, near the little town of Persia."

Family history is that son, William Kite, wife unknown, was drowned fording the Holston River. His two children became lost while hunting a cow, and were found the next day near a spring in the mountains frozen to death. He has no living descendants.

John married Betsy Louderback, and George married Susannah Louderback. Both were daughters of David and Keziah (Ward) Louderback. The Louderbacks were neighbors and friends of the Kites in Rockingham County, Virginia before both families moved to Tennessee. David is the son of Johann David Louderback, born in 1716-17 in Straudernheim, Germany. He came to America at age 23, arriving at Philadelphia, on the ship "Samuel", August 27, 1739.

John was a Revolutionary War veteran. He states in his pension application in 1835 that he was born in Rockingham County, Virginia, and was drafted there. That he was about 71 years old and lives in the same neighborhood as his brother, George, who is 67.

John and George remained in the Persia Community of Hawkins County the rest of their lives. They raised their families there. Many descendants still own and live on the land they settled on. No doubt John and Betsy are buried in the Kite Cemetery. We know George is. The cemetery is near their farms.

John, born ca. 1764, died 1851, in Hawkins County, and Betsy, born ca. 1776, in Rockingham County, Virginia, died 1844 in Hawkins County, had six known children. Elizabeth married Bowlin Smith; Martin married Susan Kite; Mary "Polly" married John Short; Henry married (1) Lucy Spears, (2) Nancy Smith;

"Gentleman" George, no record; and James married Hannah Hoard.

Martin and Susan were double first cousins. Susan was the daughter of George and Susannah (Kite) Kite. They were farmers in the Persia Community. They had nine children. Archibald married Sarah Smith; Henderson married Hila (Hiley) Kite, (first cousins and my grandparents); Reuben, no record; Martin, Jr., married Patsy Smith; Elizabeth married Jesse Grigsby; Sarah (Sallie), no record; Lucinda married William "Snake" Roberts; Peter married Lucy Hoard; and William married Sallie Doak.

Two of Martin and Susan's sons, Henderson and Peter fought and were wounded during the Civil War. They were in the battle of Vicksburg, in July 1863 and in Piedmont, Virginia in 1864. They were both seriously wounded in that battle on June 5, 1864. Family relates they were thought to be dead or dying and were left on the battlefield.

Peter had been shot with a "mini ball". It entered his cheek, under his eye, near his nose and exited out the back of his neck, near his ear. It is not known what wounds Henderson had, but he died a number of years later, and the wounds were a contributing factor.

Related stories:

The Kite Boys in the Civil War.

George Kite.

George Rufas Kite.

Sources:

Family.

Bibles.

Courthouse records.

Civil War records.

U.S. Census.

Cemeteries.

Submitted by:

Hily Kite Savage
1462 Transport Road
Jonesboro, LA 71251-5502

Ralph Willard KITE (1900-1918)

RALPH WILLARD KITE, son of Samuel Elkanah Kite and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, was born at Persia on April 2, 1900. He shared his birthdate with his aunt, Ferribe Josephine Kite Thompson. He died on May 30, 1918, of what is believed to have been peritonitis from a ruptured appendix. He is buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia. He was survived by his father, mother, two sisters, and three brothers, and was preceded in death by his oldest brother Thomas Martin Kite, who was killed by lightning at the Dodson Creek Methodist Church at Strahl, and an infant brother, Elmer, who was born in 1903, and lived only three days.

Related Stories:

Kite-Lee

Kite-Worsham-Lee

Submitted by:

Eva Kite Hamblen
311 Broyles Street
Church Hill, TN 37642

Robert Taylor and Loucinda "Cindy" (MORRISETTE) KITE

Robert Taylor Kite (b. September 12, 1878-d. November 21, 1914), son of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, married Loucinda (Cindy) Morrisette (b. June 6, 1885-d. April 28, 1966). They had four daughters: Mary Louise Jane (b. November 2, 1906), twins, Sue Rhea and Lura Mae (b. July 18, 1908), and Lucy Emmalee (b. February 18, 1912).

Mary was born in Indiana. She was married to Judge Ewing Hill (b. April 21, 1893-d. April 13, 1961), by whom there were three children: Eugene (b. October 31, 1932-d. September 18, 1951), a baby son who is buried at Big Stone Gap, Virginia, and Jacqueline (Jackie) Ann (b. September 2, 1937).

Gene was killed in an automobile accident. He was married to Venny Bacon by whom there was a daughter, Kathy Dawn (b. February 17, 1950). Kathy was married to Furman David Browning, of South Carolina. They had one son, Keith (b. July 2, 1972). Keith was born in South Carolina.

Jackie married James Edward Jones (b. 1933) in 1953. Their children are: James Roger (b. April 6, 1965), and Jill (b. October 11, 1970).

Sue married Albert Douglas Arnott (b. January 11, 1904-d. July 6, 1976). There was one son, James Douglas (b. September 30, 1926). James was first married to Barbara Jean Henderson by whom there was one son, James Douglas, Jr. (known as "Butch"). James Douglas, Jr. married Debbie Hartgrove and had three children: Nichole LeDawn (b. February 27, 1975), Doug, and LeShea. James was married secondly to Evelyn Collins in 1955, and had a daughter, Cynthia Sue. His third wife was Irene Tweed (b. February 7, 1930), and there was a daughter, Patty Marie.

The following is from the obituary of Albert Douglas which appeared in The Knoxville Journal, Wednesday, July 7, 1976: "He was a member of the Persia United Methodist Church. A charter member and president of the Pleasant Hill Community Club. Prominent farmer in the community for 42 years." Sue passed away on June 7, 1993 in Morristown. Both are buried at Persia.

Lura was married to Leonard Rose (b. August 22, 1906-d. January 4, 1966). There were two sons, Glenn and Fred. Leonard is buried at Persia.

Lucy was married to Hershal Godfrey Blankenship (b. August 12, 1910-d. January 7, 1981) on December 23, 1933, in Richmond, Indiana. They had three sons: Robert Charles (b. February 11, 1935), Hershal Edward (b. September 24, 1937), and Noel Richard (b. June 18, 1943), all born in Dayton, Ohio. Hershal is buried in the Goodhope Cemetery, Eubank, Kentucky. The family had moved from Ohio to the farm at Eubank in 1945.

Robert Charles was married to Mary Jane Gillott (b. July 21, 1940), on May 27, 1961. Their daughter is Brenda Lee (b. January 16, 1962). Brenda Lee married James (Jimmy) Henderson in 1981, and had a daughter, Jessica Lee (b. September 27, 1984). The Hendersons divorced, and she was married to Rich Hughs on March 26, 1993.

Hershal Edward married Mary Judeene Hancock (b. January 30, 1946) in April of 1969 in Texas. Her father was Fred Hancock. There were two children: John (b. June 17, 1970), and Sarah Elizabeth (b. June 2, 1974). Sarah was born in Spain while her father was in service. He retired from the Air Force at age 42. Judeene works for the University at Austin, Texas.

Noel Richard was married first to Judy (SNU) in Dayton, Ohio. There was a daughter, Jenelle (b. March 8, 1967), who now lives in San Diego. Jenelle was married on October 7, 1990, to Alfred Munoz in San Diego. Richard was married to Peggie Baker (b. May 25, 1939), on March 17, 1985 in Arizona. They reside in Pine Top, Arizona.

After the death of Robert Taylor Kite, Loucinda married Mark Venable by whom she had another set of twins born on November 28, 1925, Claude (d. December 13, 1960), an Clyde (d. February 5, 1959). There was also a daughter, Blanche (now deceased). Mr. Venable had several children by his first marriage.

Related Story:

KITE-LEE

Submitted by:

*Mary Kite Hill
P.O. Box 141
Bulls Gap, TN 37711*

Thomas Frederick and Martha Elizabeth (KING) KITE

Thomas Frederick Kite (b. January 28, 1885-d. March 3, 1967), son of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, was married to Martha Elizabeth King (b. September 10, 1887-d. November 2, 1972), daughter of James M. King (b. September 2, 1847-d. January 10, 1930) and Nancy Tennessee (Tennie) Haynes (b. February 12, 1851-d. February 17, 1929). Tennie was the daughter of Lazarus H. Haynes and Sarah Melissa Haynes (widow of George Rufus Kite, III). There were six children born to this union: William Rufus Kite (b. December 31, 1908), Infant Son Kite (b. February 5, 1910-d. April 26, 1910), Infant Son (b. February 20, 1915-d. February 23, 1915), Lucille Kite (b. February 1, 1917), Martin V. Kite (b. July 27, 1918), and Lois Lorene Kite (b. September 26, 1920). Fred and Martha Kite are buried in the Kite Cemetery. William Rufus Kite was first married on May 12, 1928 to Nell Arnott from whom he was divorced. His second wife is Margaret Butterworth to whom he was married on October 13, 1934. They reside in Michigan where he was employed by Revere Copper & Brass Company. The infant sons of the Kites were both buried in the Kite Cemetery. Lucille Kite was married to Glenn Clemmons (b. October 26, 1914-d. November 7, 1979) on July 4, 1937. There was one son born to this union, Harold Haskell Clemmons (b. August 26, 1938). Harold married Evelyn Collins (b. January 1, 1941) in Greenback on November 2, 1963. They had one son, Harold Edward (b. May 13, 1969). Harold is employed as a designer with the Tennessee Highway Department in Knoxville where the family resides. After her husband's death and after her retirement from the Kingsport Press, Lucille moved to Morristown where she resides near her brother, Martin V. Kite, and her sister Lois Lorene Kite Trent. Glenn had worked for Overnite Transportation in Kingsport. He is buried in the Hamblen Memory Gardens in Morristown. Martin Van Kite was married to Louise Long on June 29, 1941. She was killed in an automobile accident in Detroit, Michigan on November 15, 1956, and is buried in the Kite Cemetery. His second wife is Jean Hull Tickle, whom he married on June 17, 1969. M. V. and Louise had one son, Randall Herman Kite (b. May 6, 1946) was married to Linda (Lynn) Marsh (b. July 20, 1947) on August 23, 1969. They have three daughters: Jennifer Louise (b. March 11, 1977), Jodi Lynn (b. March 4, 1979), and Jamie Leigh (b. August 12, 1983). Jean has two sons, Carl and Bill Tickle, by a prior marriage. M. V. also resided in Michigan where he was also employed by The Revere Copper & Brass Company. He is now retired, and resides in Morristown. Lois Lorene Kite was married to Delmus Trent (b. March 10, 1918-d. June 19, 1991) on June 25, 1941. Delmus was the son of Frank Trent and Dollie Green. Lois and Delmus had three children: Patricia Ann (b. May 27, 1942), Mary Margaret (b. November 26, 1943), and James Fred (b. November 7, 1945). Patricia Ann Trent was married to Richard Davan Binkley on June 26, 1964. They had two children, Margaret (b. 1967), and Richard Binkley, Jr. (b. July 19, 1970). Mary Margaret was married to Hoyt Harper Denton on June 25, 1966. There were two children born to this union: Bradford Haynes (b. December 25, 1972), and Martha Elizabeth (Beth) Denton (b. August 26, 1974). Hoyt Denton is employed by Eastman in Kingsport, and she is now in school to prepare for resuming her career in social work. James Fred Trent was first married to Mary Ann Barren, from whom is divorced. They had a daughter, Melissa Dianne (Missy) Trent (b. September 12, 1969), and a son, James Todd Trent (b. September 23, 1975). He and his second wife, Tina Morton (b. July 20, 1960), have two children: Tyler Matthew Trent (b. September 7, 1987), and Michael Tucker Trent (b. August 15, 1990). He is employed with State Farm Insurance in Oak Ridge.

Related Stories:

KITE-LEE.

Drury L. and Lillie Frances (KITE) HAYNES.

Submitted by:

Lucille Kite Clemmons
4605 Brockland Drive
Morristown, TN 37814

Thomas Martin KITE (1895-1911)

THOMAS MARTIN KITE, son of Samuel Elkanah Kite and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, was born January 26, 1895, at Persia, and was killed by lightning which struck the Dodson Creek Methodist Church at Strahl, on August 12, 1911. He is buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia.

The following resolutions were published in the Rogersville Herald and Review by his church and his school:

"Resolution of Respect."

"Whereas: It hath pleased our Allwise Father to remove from us our friend, our neighbor and our brother, therefore be it Resolved. That we as members of the Dodson Creek Sunday School bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, we feel it our duty to express our sincere sorrow caused by his removal from us. Tom, as we all called him, was a faithful attendant at church and Sunday School; always ready and willing to render any service to the church wherein he was capable, after he made a profession of religion some months ago."

"2. That his sudden removal from us leaves a vacancy in our midst and a shadow upon our hearts, that will be deeply felt by all the members and friends of our Sunday School, which time alone can erase; but in the sad bereavement which is ours to bear, may it impress upon us more forcibly these words:

"'be ye also ready for at such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh.'

"3. That we express our heartfelt sympathy for the father, the mother, brothers and sisters, and immediate relatives and friends who mourn the loss which is irreparable.

"4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kite and to the Herald and Review, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Sunday School."

"Willie Sanders, Onessus Logan, R.B. Keller, Com."

"Resolution of Respect

"It having been moved and unanimously seconded that we, the teacher and pupils of Dodson Creek school do wish to give token of our love and respect for our deceased pupil and schoolmate, Thomas Kite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kite of Strahl, to express our grief at his untimely death, and to extend our sympathy to his stricken ones, be it hereby Resolved,

"1st. Though young in the cause, having professed Christ last January, 1911, he has ever been present at Sunday School and prayer meeting, and attended to his duties as janitor promptly, willingly and cheerfully, and gave promise of becoming a useful citizen.

"2nd. We deplore our loss of one who was ever pleasant to his fellow students, a help to his teacher by his cheerful obedience and co-operation and liked by all for his kindness of heart.

"3rd. We do extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

"Signed, WILLIE SANDERS and Student Body."

Related Story:

Kite-Worsham-Lee

Submitted by:

Clara Kite Testerman
304 Scenic Drive
Rogersville, TN 37857

KITE-GIBSON

WILLIAM TAFT KITE, born September 10, 1908, died March 31, 1964, son of Samuel Elkanah and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, was married to Nina Bernice Gibson, born on January 30, 1908, died October 26, 1988, daughter of Robert and Sarah Manerva Steele Gibson, on October 1, 1928, at Kingsport, Tennessee. There were five children born to them: Sarah Venice (b. July 12, 1929), Clara Mae (b. May 11, 1934), Eva Glynn (b. November 22, 1935), Sam Thomas Kite (b. June 24, 1938), and William David Kite (b. April 9, 1950-d. April 9, 1950). Nina's sister, Logan Elizabeth Gibson, married Charles Oliver, brother of William Taft Kite.

The family moved to Kingsport in the early 1940s where he was employed by Holston Ordnance Works during World War II, and later by Tennessee Eastman Company, from which he retired because of his health. He died of leukemia.

Venice resides in Baltimore, MD., and is the mother of one daughter, Joyce Ellen Dickerson (b. August 15, 1969). Joyce was married to Robert Scott Parker on May 7, 1988. Venice was first married to Sterling Anderson, second to George Nelson Grove, and third to John E. (Jack) Dickerson, who died on December 9, 1982 in Baltimore.

Clara resides in Rogersville. Her husband, Sidney Dale Testerman (b. August 6, 1931), was killed in an automobile accident on June 9, 1966. He served in Korea. He is buried in the Highland Cemetery at Rogersville. She is employed by Card & Label in Rogersville.

Eva was married to John Reed Hamblen (b. January 11, 1930), son of Walter Davis and Pearl Frances Price Hamblen, on March 31, 1962. They reside in Church Hill. Their daughter, Pamela Lynn (b. January 18, 1965), was married to Landon Clarke Roberson, on June 15, 1984, at the First Baptist Church in Church Hill.

Reed had two daughters by his first marriage, Brenda Kay (b. March 3, 1951), married to Clay Ivan Hutson, and Donna Jean Hamblen (b. February 3, 1954), married first Bill Starnes, and second Herbert Fielder, Jr. John Reed Hamblen was employed by Mason & Dixon. He is now retired. Brenda's and Donna's mother was Ruby Olliebell Willis.

Brenda and Clay Hutson are the parents of two daughters: Sherry Ann (b. March 3, 1951) and Anita Dawn. Sherry married Rodney Lynn Roberts on June 27, 1990, and they are the parents of one daughter, Tenea Ariel (b. November 1, 1991). She is now divorced from Rodney Lynn Roberts and remarried.

Pamela Lynn and Landon Roberson have two daughters: Adrienne Nichole (b. June 25, 1988), and Whitney Noel (b. January 6, 1992). Both were born in Kingsport.

Sam Thomas was married to Frances Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doak Gregg of Greeneville, on March 31, 1961. They have two sons, Thomas David (b. December 21, 1961) who was married to Lisa Jo Lawson on July 24, 1981, and William Dale, who was married to Lisa Jean Williamson on August 28, 1992. Thomas David and Lisa Jo had one son, Brandon David (b. August 21, 1984).

After the death of his parents, William and his family moved back to the family farm in Hawkins Co., commuting from there to Tennessee Eastman in Kingsport for some 14 years. He and his wife are both buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Related Stories:

Charles Oliver and Logan Elizabeth (Gibson) Kite.

Kite-Worsham-Lee.

Worsham-Hendricks.

Submitted by:

*Eva Kite Hamblen
311 Broyles Street
Church Hill, TN 37642*

KITE-LEE

Martin Van Buren Kite, born February 8, 1843, died December 8, 1912, was married on February 12, 1868 to Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, born July 25, 1847, died

February 18, 1911. He was one of eleven children of George Sizemore Kite and Matilda Spears.

George Sizemore Kite was also the father of eleven children by his first wife, Elizabeth Smith. Matilda was the daughter of Samuel Spears by his second wife, Rebecca Smith, a daughter of Louther and Barbara Louderback Smith.

George and Susan Barrett Kite had come to Hawkins County in March of 1796 from Eastern Virginia. With them were their three sons, William, John, and George. George Sizemore Kite was the son of George Kite and Susannah Louderback. John Kite married Susannah's sister, Betsy. Susannah and Betsy were the daughters of David Louderback and his second wife, Keziah Ward.

The story goes that George Sizemore Kite was captured during the Civil War and forced to walk to Knoxville, a distance of 60 miles, and that shortly thereafter he died. It is most likely that he is buried in the Kite Cemetery, although there is no stone.

The children of George Sizemore Kite by Elizabeth Smith include George R. Kite, III, (murdered in a slave uprising on May 1, 1861), Hickman A. (Price), Burton, Tilman A. (Bob), John, Doctor, and Hila, who married her first cousin, Henderson Kite, ancestors of Golf Pro Tom Kite. There were four other children whose names are not known.

The children of the second marriage to Matilda Spears were: Dulcena, Susan, Martin Van Buren, James Polk, Elizabeth Louisiana, Eliza R. Tennessee, Benjamin, Lucy, Newton B., Isom N., and Rebecca Ann.

Eliza Jane Augusta Lee was the daughter of Thomas J. Lee (son of James and Hannah Hale Lee), and Lucy Spears (daughter of Jesse and Ferribe Haynes Spears). Jesse Spears was the son of Samuel Spears by his first wife, Sarah (surname unknown), and Ferribe Haynes was the daughter of Christopher Haynes and his second wife, Frances Turner.

Martin Van Buren (Tuck) Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta (Gus) Lee Kite were the parents of seven children: Lillie Frances, Samuel Elkanah, Jesse James, Ferribe Josephine, Robert Taylor, Edward Lee, Thomas Frederick, and Carl Denton.

Lillie Frances Kite (1868-1894) married Drury (Drue) L. Haynes in April 1893. She lived less than a year, and died of what was thought to be tuberculosis of the throat.

Samuel Elkanah Kite (1870-1950) married Frances Catherine Worsham (1870-1943) on August 14, 1892, daughter of Thomas Jefferson and Sarah C. Hendricks Worsham. There were nine children born to this union: Myrtle Leona (1893-1956), Thomas Martin (1895-1911), Homer David (1897-1960), Ralph Willard (1900-1918), Elmer (1903-1903), Mildred Grace (1906), William Taft (1908-1964), Charles Oliver (1911-1975), and an unnamed baby son (dates unknown).

Jesse James Kite (1873-1877) is buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia.

Ferribe Josephine Kite (1876-1967) married William Harrison Thompson (1867-1946) as his second wife. Mr. Thompson has a son, Ernest, by his first marriage. The children of Ferribe Josephine and William Thompson were: Walter Rex (1899-1927), William Hobart (1902-1928), Beulah Lee (1904-1986), Lillian Viola (1906-1988), Sallie Mae (1913-1981), and Truman Vance (1916). She and children Walter, Hobart and Mae are buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Robert Taylor Kite (1878-1914) married Loucinda (Cindy) Morrisette. They had four daughters: Mary Louise Jane (1906), twins Sue Rhea and Lura Mae (1908), and Lucy Emma (1912).

Edward Lee Kite (1881-1964) married Lou Hurley (d. 1965). Their children were: Mary L., Ethel, Robert, Earl, Reuben Bruce (1922-1991), Edward (Bud), William (Bill), and Martin (Cap). Both died in Indiana and are buried there.

Thomas Frederick Kite (1885-1967) married Martha Elizabeth King (1887-1972). Their children: William Rufus (1908), Infant Son (b. & d. 1910), Infant Son (b. & d. 1915), Lucille Kite (1917), Martin V. (1918), and Lois Lorene (1920). Fred and Martha and their two infant sons are buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Carl Denton Kite (1889-1970) married Mary Ann (Mollie) Haun (1890-1965). Their children: Horace Kenneth (1909-

1944), Thurman Haun (1911-1966), Nellie Elizabeth (1914-1990), Roger Martin (1917-1965), Edith Irene (1920-

1989), and Mary Frances (1924-1927). This entire family is buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Related Stories:

Drury L. and Lillie Frances (Kite) Haynes.

The Kite Boys in the Civil War.

Carl Denton and Mary Ann "Mollie" (Haun) Kite.

Edward Lee and Louetta Jane (Hurley) Kite.

George Kite.

Robert Taylor and Loucinda "Cindy" (Morrisette) Kite.

Thomas Frederick and Martha Elizabeth (King) Kite.

Kite-Worsham-Lee.

Thomas J. and Lucy (Spears) Lee.

William Harrison and Ferribe

Josephine (Kite) Thomson.

Submitted by:

*Lucille Kite Clemmons
4605 Brockland Drive
Morristown, TN 37813*

KITE-WALKER

HOMER DAVID KITE, born May 2, 1897, died October 5, 1960, son of Samuel Elkanah and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, was married to Cordie Alice Walker, born April 19, 1906, died May 5, 1971, on September 12, 1927. Her parents were William and Byrd Manis Walker.

The following children were born to the union of Homer David and Cordie Alice Walker Kite: Homer David, Jr., born July 4, 1928, died June 25, 1990, never married; Paul Warren (b. March 22, 1931), married to Dixie Ann Chidester in California; Kenneth D. (b. January 22, 1933), married to Hazel Roberta Seay on January 2, 1962; Mildred Blanche, born December 30, 1934, died September 30, 1988, never married; Shirley Ethel (b. March 17, 1937), unmarried; twins Bonnie Gay (b. May 15, 1939), unmarried, and Bennie Fay (b. May 15, 1939), married to Charles Smith; and Claude Edward (b. September 17, 1945), married to Shirley Ann Drinnon.

Homer David, Sr. served in World War I as a Private 1st Class, Infantry. He entered service at Camp Wadsworth, S.C. on September 5, 1918, sailing overseas three weeks later, September 29, 1918.

Paul Warren Kite served in the Army, and when he left the service he lived in California, where he was married to Dixie Ann Chidester (b. May 1, 1937). They had three children: Myra Pauline (b. June 5, 1955), Steve Edward (b. January 11, 1958), and Michael Warren (b. September 20, 1963). Paul and Dixie moved to Morristown about 1991.

Myra Pauline Kite was married to Donald K. Besse on October 7, 1972. Their children are Shawna Lynette (b. June 4, 1973), and Cherri Ann (b. April 17, 1975). Shawna Lynette is the mother of April Lynn Besse (b. March 20, 1992). Myra Pauline's second husband was Raymond Shelley, and third, Tim Churchill. At present she and her daughters are in Morristown.

Steve Edward Kite has a daughter, Jennifer Lynn, and stepson, Vernon (Bernie) Herman (b. May 1, 1978). At present he resides in California.

Michael Warren Kite was married to Tonia Velasquez on March 5, 1988, at Bullhead City, Arizona. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Velasquez. They have two children: Tara Michelle (b. February 2, 1989 in California), and Candace Renee (b. August 11, 1992) in California. At present they are in Morristown.

Kenneth D. and Roberta Seay Kite had one son, Kenneth Darrell Kite (b. May 22, 1964), who is married to Jennifer Cupp. Kenneth was totally disabled from 1989 until his death on June 22, 1993. He died in Greeneville, TN, where he had been a patient in a nursing home. He is buried in the Long Cemetery near his home on the Bulls Gap Highway.

Mildred Blanche Kite's obituary lists William Edmond Kite as her foster son. He was married to Andra Gail Sutherland on June 30, 1979, and they have a daughter, Valerie Nichole Kite (b. October 17, 1980).

Bennie Fay Kite and Charles Smith have two daughters, Sherri Gwyn (b. February 24, 1970), and Traci Lynn Smith (b. August 27, 1972). Both girls are students at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Claude Edward and Shirley Ann Drinnon Kite have three sons, Scott Edward (b. August 5, 1969), married Robin Beasley in December of 1989; David Warren (b. September 26, 1971), and Terry Lynn (b. May 12, 1975). Scott Edward and Robin Beasley Kite have a son, Timothy Edward Kite, born on September 28, 1990.

Both Homer and Cordie Walker Kite are buried in the Kite Cemetery at Persia, as are Homer, Jr. and Mildred Blanche.

Related Story:

Kite-Worsham-Lee

Submitted by:

*Bonnie & Ethel Kite
2275 Highway 113
Whitesburg, TN 37891*

KITE-WORSHAM-LEE

Samuel Elkanah Kite was the son of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee Kite. Samuel, born March 17, 1870, died March 2, 1950, married Frances Catherine Worsham, born October 13, 1870, and died February 28, 1943, on August 14, 1892, in a double wedding ceremony in which his uncle Thomas Denton Lee and her sister, Rebecca Mildred Worsham, were married. They were the daughters of Thomas Jefferson and Sarah C. Hendricks Worsham. The couples were married on horseback at what is now the intersection of the Greeneville and Dru Haynes Roads.

There were nine children born to this union: Myrtle Leona (1893-1956), Thomas Martin (1895-1911), Homer David (1897-1960), Ralph Willard (1900-1918), Elmer (b. & d. 1903), Mildred Grace (1906), William Taft (1908-1964), Charles Oliver (1911-1975), and an unnamed baby son (dates unknown).

Myrtle Leona Kite married Joseph Franklin Slater (1893-1968), son of William and Ella West Slater. Their children were: James Kite (1915-1925), Grace Pauline (1916), Paul David (1919-1944), Ernest Charles William (1923-1975), Walter Reese (1926), Earl Rufus (1930) and Ruby Nell (1933). The family resided in Kingsport. James was accidentally killed by a playmate in Gypsum, Ohio, and Paul was killed in World War II. Myrtle, Joe, and sons James and Paul are buried in the Kite Cemetery. Ernest is buried in the Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport. Paul was the recipient of two Purple Hearts. As of 1993, descendants of Myrtle and Joe Slater included 15 grandchildren, 15 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

Thomas Martin Kite was killed on August 12, 1911, when lightning struck the belfry at the Dodson Creek Methodist Church at Strahl. He is buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Homer David Kite married Cordie Alice Walker (1906-1972), daughter of William F. and Byrd Manis Walker. They were the parents of eight children: Homer David, Jr. (1928-1990), Paul Warren (1928), Kenneth D. (1933), Mildred Blanche (1934-1988), Shirley Ethel (1937, twins Bonnie Gay and Bennie Fay (1939), and Claude Edward (1945). The family resided at Whitesburg. Homer, Sr. served in World War I in France. As of 1993, descendants of Homer and Cordie Kite include 10 grandchildren, eight great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild.

Ralph Willard Kite died at the age of 18 of what was believed to have been peritonitis from a ruptured appendix. Mildred Grace Kite was married to Robert Franklin Mooney (1899-1962), son of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney. They had one daughter: Frances Jane (1928). The family resided in Kingsport.

William Taft Kite married Nina Bernice Gibson (1908-1988), daughter of Robert and Sarah Steele Gibson. They had five children: Sarah Venice (1929), Clara Mae (1934), Eva Glynn (1935), Sam Thomas (1938), and William David (b. & d. 1950). This family resided in Kingsport, and moved back to Persia to the family farm after Samuel's death. As of 1993, descendants of Will and Nina Kite include four grandchildren, three great grandchildren, two step-grandchildren, and one step-great grandchild.

Charles Oliver Kite married Logan Elizabeth Gibson (1911), sister of Nina Bernice Gibson. They had five children: Virginia Ruth (1930), Betty Jo (1932), Mary Catherine (b. & d. 1934), Helen Jean (1936), and Johnny Ralph (1944). This family resided at Persia. As of 1993, descendants of Charles and Logan Kite include 14 grandchildren, 15 great grandchildren, and several step-grandchildren.

Mildred Grace Kite Mooney and Logan Elizabeth Gibson Kite are still living. The entire family is buried in the Kite Cemetery, with the exception of Robert Franklin Mooney who is buried in the Highland Cemetery at Rogersville.

Thomas Denton and Rebecca Mildred Worsham Lee were the parents of three sons, a baby who died at birth, Paul Dewey Lee (1897-1969), and Earle Spears Lee (1900-1953). Thomas Denton was born in 1863 and died about 1901. After his death, Rebecca married John W. Brown by whom she had one son, Louis. She died in 1915 in Baltimore, Maryland, in childbirth. Both Thomas Denton and Rebecca are buried in the Dodson Creek Cemetery where her father is also buried.

The Worsham girls were born in Sullivan County, near Bristol, Tennessee. They had two brothers, David J. and Ralph, the latter died in childhood. The mother of this family is buried in White Pine.

Related Stories:

Carl Denton and Mary Ann "Mollie"

(Haun) Kite.

Charles Oliver and Logan

Elizabeth (Gibson) Kite.

Ralph Willard Kite.

Thomas Martin Kite.

Kite-Gibson.

Kite-Lee.

Kite-Walker.

Mooney-Kite.

Slater-Kite.

Worsham-Hendricks.

Submitted by:

Clara Kite Testerman
304 Scenic Drive
Rogersville, TN 37857

Evan and Josephine Ann (HAMBLEN) KLEPPER

Josephine (Josie) Ann Hamblen (b. July 15, 1893), daughter of James Deaderick and Allie Jane Price Hamblen, was married to Evan Klepper, son of Madison Klepper, on December 12, 1912, in Hawkins County. To this union the following children were born: Kelsie Clay (b. May 31, 1915-d. September 5, 1974), Walter Lyons (b. September 19, 1918), Mildred Elva (b. May 7, 1922), Edith Alice (b. May 28, 1929), James Roy (b. January 18, 1931), and Waymond Miller (b. November 13, 1933).

Kelsie Clay was married to Mary Bonnie Williams, daughter of Charlie and Cidna Brooks Williams. They had three sons: Coy Harlan, Oscar Wayne, and Luther Murle. He was self-employed as a television serviceman, and his wife was employed by Freels Drug Store in Kingsport, where the family resided. Bonnie married Donald Blizzard after Kelsie's death.

Walter Lyons married Betty Greene in January of 1939. There were three children: Jean, Janice and Thelma.

Mildred Elva married Earsie L. Price. There was one son, Ralph.

Edith Alice married Pleas Lawson. They had two children, Marilyn Faye and Paula Sue.

James Roy married Laura L. Barnes, and they have a daughter, Deborah Kathleen.

Waymond Miller married Shirley King on September 4, 1954. Their children are Kimberly and Teresa.

Clarence W. Payne, on a visit in 1993, related that his father and mother, Garfield and Clara Price Payne, "played cupid" for Josie and Evan in allowing them to "court" at their home.

In commemoration of Josie's birthday, the following article appeared in the July 15, 1993 issue of the Rogersville Review.

ONE HUNDRED WONDERFUL FOR KLEPPER

Josie Ann Hamblen Klepper of Rogersville celebrated her 100th birthday July 15. "She says she doesn't have a secret for living so long, but her daughter Edith Lawson thinks it might be Josie's hard work."

Josie, the oldest child of Derrick (correct name is Deaderick) and Allie Price Hamblen, still has a family portrait from the 1914 Fourth of July celebration in Rogersville. She remembers taking care of her nine brothers and sisters. She kept the baby bottles in cold water and warmed them by the fire before feeding time. She washed the diapers by hand.

Josie remembers riding sidesaddle to Choptack store with a basket for eggs and a bucket for butter.

She attended Browntown School in Sandy Valley. She still has a report card from 1903. Among the grades she received between August and December of that year were 23 head marks for spelling.

Josie fondly remembers the spelling competitions when children would stand in line until misspelling a word.

Preachers came to the one-room school house on Sunday for church services.

In 1906, Josie began attending Choptack Baptist Church. Ice was chopped away from the creek when the Rev. Wiley Cook baptized her and about 20 other people. She said those types of freezing baptisms are rare in today's churches which have indoor facilities for winter baptisms.

Josie's family rode to church in a wagon. Her father offered a ride to anyone he saw waling along the road, then he would take them to church.

Before entering the church people used hoes to knock the mud off their shoes. Then they gathered around the wood stove for warmth during the winter.

In 1912, Josie married Evan Klepper. They lived at Pressmen's Home where he worked for three years. They had six children, Kelsie, Walter, Mildred, Edith, Roy and Wayman.

Josie has 13 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

In 1956, Josie began attending Shepard Chapel Church and continue to attend regularly.

"It's wonderful to be 100 years old and be able to go to church," Josie said.

Related Stories:

James Deaderick and Allie Jane (Payne) Hamblen.

Isaac Garfield and Clara (Price) Payne.

Hezekiah Davis and Sarah Elizabeth (Payne) Hamblen.

Submitted by:

*Edith Klepper Lawson
Route 1, Sneedville Pike
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Peter KLEPPER

Research has pretty well established the Klepper families moved into Tennessee in the mid to late 1700s. As immigrants, they first landed in Philadelphia and then moved south to Virginia, and then to Tennessee. Early census and tax lists show Kleppers in both Washington and Hawkins Counties. Peter Clipper, Frederick Clipper, and George Clipper are listed as taxpayers in McCoy's Company, Hawkins County in 1809. Various theories abound, as is usual in genealogical research, as to a common ancestor, Jacob Klepper, in Washington County in the late 1700s and his children then coming to Hawkins Co.

Peter Klepper was born in 1792. That fact has been established from his tombstone in the family graveyard just to the northeast of the Devil's Nose mountain and his application for a veteran's pension. Neither Peter's place of birth nor his relationship to the other early Kleppers in Hawkins County have ever been determined with any degree of certainty, although Lucille Mehrkam attributes him to be the son of the above-mentioned Jacob Klepper, Sr. who settled in Washington County.

In 1813 Peter, age 21, joined Captain William Gillenwaters' company of volunteers, East Tennessee Militia under an alias - Peter Henry. Therein lies another mystery. His reason for joining using a fake name is unexplained, yet he clearly states on his pension application that he enlisted under the name Henry. Incidentally, the roll shows a David Clepper as part of the same company. His pension application states he enlisted on or about the 10th of October, 1812 and served until on or about 30 January 1813 and was discharged at Rogersville. His application further states he served under the command of General Andrew Jackson. His service stood him in good stead, for later he was to obtain two veterans land grants. His second wife, Polly, was able to obtain a veterans widow's pension.

While serving under General Jackson, his first child, Barnabus, was born 12 January 1813, to his first wife Catherine Myers Klepper. Now for the closetal skeleton -- the only known record of his marriage date is in his pension application and therein he states he married Miss Myers on 13 June 1813. That's after he returned to Tennessee from his Army service. So was Barnabus, later known as Barney, born out of wedlock, or did memory fail Peter some 58 years later when he provided the information for his pension application? Peter could not write, and others completed the documents for him. He signed with the common "x".

It is noted in Hawkins County Veterans of the Revolutionary War that Peter had nineteen children. That was with two wives. Eighteen children can be positively identified and named. He and Catherine were parents of Barnabus, Polly, William, Nancy, Elizabeth, Lourana, Katherine, Susanna, John M., and Margarrett. After Catherine (Katy) died on March 1, 1835, he married Mary Pilant on 1 January 1839 and together they had Susan, Joseph, Cornelius, Phoebe, Francis Marion, Martha, Sarah, and Barbara. Such a number! The older ones had long since married and had children of their own before the youngest were born.

Peter started acquiring land soon after he returned from the War of 1812. The first mention found is in a land grant to Thomas Gillenwaters, registered on 7 July 1817 which described the point of beginning as "at a poplar, dogwood, and two sourwoods, Peter Clippers corner." Later in 1837 he bought land in the Hickory Cove from David Mallery and other Mallery heirs. In 1847 he sold that land and purchased 550 acres at the foot of the Devils Nose mountain.

Later, Peter became a slave holder. He purchased three, Amanda, Richard and Wyatt from the heirs of John Wheeler who had been his longtime neighbor and meticulously recorded his purchase in the courthouse book of deeds.

Numerous of his grandchildren migrated from East Tennessee in the middle and late 1800s as the urge to see and settle new or better land came onto many East Tennesseans. Peter and Perry, sons of William, went to Arkansas and thence to Texas. Margaret and Jacob Isenberg moved to Springfield, Missouri with their family. Robert, Barney's sixth child, went to Missouri where he had a family of 12. Barney's fourth son, James K. and descendants stayed in Hawkins County until the 4th generation and then spread in the mobile 20th century. Peter's youngest son, Marion and his descendants stayed in Hawkins and later Greene County.

Peter's first wife is buried in the Ward Cemetery in the upper part of Hickory Cove beside her father and her son Barnabus. This cemetery was originally the Hickory Cove Church's "burying ground." Peter, his second wife, Mary, five of his daughters, and his sons Joseph and Marion are buried in the Devil's Nose family Cemetery. One son, Cornelius, whose stone reads "A soldier and died at Knoxville" is buried in the Gillenwater Cemetery in the west end of Hickory Cove.

Some of the descendants of Peter Klepper still living in Hawkins Co. as of December, 1992 are Robert Kirtz Klepper, Neal and Louise Shanks. For the most part, all the others have migrated outward to other counties and states.

Related story:

Isenberg-Isenbarger-Eisenberg

Submitted by:

*Mr. Lowell D. Klepper
P.O. Box 27
Jennings, FL 32053*

The KOGER Family 1710-1993

Hans Jacob Koger was born in Schresheim, Baden, Germany, on July 24, 1710. He and his younger brother, Michael, sailed for America aboard the "Mortonhous" in 1728. They settled in Philadelphia, where Michael died several years later after falling from a tree. It wasn't long before the other three Koger brothers began to arrive. First Nickalaus in 1732, then Joseph in 1734, and Peter in 1738.

Jacob married Lucinda Crum, and Michael was born in 1740, Henry in 1742, and John in 1745. Then, with brother Nickalaus' family, Jacob and his family moved southward, arriving in Augusta Co., VA near Stauton. Here the brothers were reunited with their sister, Barbara. She and husband Adam Miller, having left Germany sometime prior to 1728.

By 1748 Jacob purchased 930 acres of land lying in a bend of the Shenandoah River. During the period between 1745 and 1762 Jacob added Jacob Jr., Peter, Nickalaus, Joseph, and Mary to his family and sold the 930 acre farm to eldest son, Michael. He moved south to Henry County, VA where he purchased another 1000 acre property, well suited to growing tobacco.

On this farm he built their home directly over a spring with the pump down through the floor. This was to minimize their exposure to the Cherokee and Lumby Indians in that area. Their young son, Joseph drowned in this spring.

After 55 years in America, Jacob died in 1783, having lived out his life as an all-around machinist, mechanic and farmer. Lucinda's date of death and their burial site are unknown.

Jacob's son, John, married Elizabeth in 1769. Their son Joseph was born in 1770. Daughter Elizabeth's date of birth is unknown.

Joseph married Mary Ann Hamby Tinsley and moved to Littons, Lee Co., VA. Their children were John, born 1791, William, born 1792, Nancy, born 1798, James, born 1800, Lucinda, born 1802, Daniel, born 1804, and David, born in 1809.

Joseph was a very industrious man in many ways. Among his accomplishments were a grist mill, and a saw mill, built on the Powell's River, and an iron foundry. He served as Sheriff, was a member of the court, and a tavern keeper. All these accomplishments were by 1811. The mills, known as Litton Mills, were practically destroyed by a flood and were rebuilt by sons David and James. Some buildings are still standing. James moved to DeKalb Co., TN, where Joseph joined him and died in 1852. Mary Ann died in 1832.

Their son, John, always known as "Jack", served in the War of 1812 and spent time in Kentucky before returning to Lee County. He married Mary (Polly) Chrisman, born in 1799. Son Daniel was born in 1828, followed by Clittia, 1830, Lucinda, 1832, John David, 1834, twins Amelia and Mary Nancy, 1836, and Frances Scott in 1839. "Jack" died in 1852 and Polly in 1884.

Their eldest son, Daniel, married Jane Burke, born 1832. Son John James was born March 11, 1852, just six months before Daniel succumbed to typhoid fever. Here it should be noted that the father, grand-father, and great-grand-father of John James all died in 1852.

Born in Chandler, VA, John James Koger grew up there and knew the Banner family all his life. One of them, Mary Ann, born 1852, became his wife on February 26, 1873. He studied to become a doctor, and their first son, Emmet Bascom, was born March 10, 1874, and a daughter, Ida Jane, in 1876. Both were born in Lee County, VA on Wallen's Creek.

The family then moved to Cariboo, Butler Co., Kansas, where Marvin was born in 1879. Mary Ann and the children returned to Virginia in 1881 and Grove Anthony was born in 1882. John James remained in Kansas to continue his medical studies. He had returned to Lee County, Virginia when Dwight Layman was born in 1885, and Eugene Forrest in 1889. He received his license to practice medicine in 1889, and they moved to Hancock County, TN.

Mary Ann contracted a cold during hog killing time soon after the move and died of complications following pneumonia on July 17, 1891. She is buried in the Fletcher-Fannon Cemetery on Wallen's Creek in Virginia.

John James then married Nan Banner, his first wife's sister, on January 3, 1892. They began their family when Mary Virginia was born in 1892. Later came John Carroll in 1894, Joseph French in 1896, and Ruth Lillian in 1903. The last three were born in Mooresburg, Hawkins County, TN. The family moved to Rogersville, Hawkins Co., TN in 1904 where they purchased the home which is still standing high above Highway 11W across from the Westgate Shopping Center.

His son, Emmet Bascom, also became a physician. He practiced in several Tennessee counties before moving to Miami, Florida in 1923. Ida Jane also moved to Florida. Marvin became a county agricultural agent in Lee County, Virginia as well as Hawkins and Hancock Counties, Tennessee. Grove Anthony moved to Idaho, where he died and is buried. Dwight Layman resided in Morristown, Tennessee, and died there and Eugene Forrest died of typhoid fever in Knoxville in 1923 and is buried in Rogersville. Mary Virginia married H. W. Addington and raised her family in Bulls Gap, TN. John Carroll attended the University of Tennessee, studied agriculture and bought a farm outside Rogersville in Hawkins County. The farm is still in the family. French and Ruth both moved to Miami, Florida.

John James Koger's family was sizeable and so were his talents, which took many directions - physician, horse and mule breeder, inventor of renown, farmer, and writer of prose and poetry.

One of his favorites was the old childrens prayer "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep". He felt that there should be a prayer to be said upon arising and penned the following: "Now I rise from my rest, To think and work and do my best, If I should die during this day, Receive my soul, Dear Lord I Pray."

John James died January 27, 1932 in Rogersville, Tennessee. Nan died in 1943. Both are buried in the Rogersville Methodist Cemetery.

Related Story:

The Banner Family

Submitted by:

*Cecil & Barbara Miller
(Great granddaughter of Dr. J. J. Koger)
Rte 2, Galbraith Springs Rd.
Mooresburg, TN 37811*

John David KOGER

John David Koger was born October 18, 1951 in Rogersville, Tennessee. He is the son of John James and Ethel Marie Walker Koger, both descended from early families in Hawkins County. David has one sister, Linda, born May 15, 1949. She is married to Marine Colonel Frank L.

Brewer; they have a son Jimmy Brewer, born October 10, 1970, and a daughter Ginny Brewer, born December 6, 1974.

John David graduated from Rogersville High School during the height of the Vietnam War. He volunteered for the Army and served in C-3/21 196 Inf. Bat. He was seriously wounded in July, 1971. After many months he came home to Rogersville. David has always been a gentle, compassionate, determined and loyal person. Just as he was learning to walk again, he sponsored a dance for his former science teacher's daughter who, along with her family, was going to have to stay in the State of Washington for several months while the girl underwent bone marrow transplants. This dance for someone in need explains David's loyalty and compassion.

In 1975 David and Wanda Walker were married. On July 1, 1977 Wanda gave David a beautiful son Joshua David Koger.

David is now married to Regina Brice Jones, and they live in a lovely log cabin David built in a cove, Route 1, Rogersville. He spends his time gardening, working in his wood shop, and helping others.

Joshua David Koger is the last generation to date bearing the Koger family name in Hawkins County.

Related Story:

The Banner Family

Submitted by:

*Marian Koger Slaughter
(Paternal aunt)
901 Third Street
Rogersville, TN 37857*

KYLE Family

John KYLE of Scotland died about 1723 in Tyrone County, Ireland leaving 3 sons: William, died 1753 in Ireland; David died in USA, married Elizabeth McKELVEY; and my Robert died 1775 in Buckingham County, Va. married Betty, daughter of Hugh CAMPBELL II. Robert and Betty (Campbell) KYLE had 4 sons and 3 daughters. Robert and Betty KYLE's daughters: Frances married in 1750 in Albemarle Co., Virginia Moses HIGGINBOTHAM; Jane married 1754 in Bedford

Co., Virginia, David IRVINE; and Margaret married James ROWLAND.

Robert Kyle's oldest son William (1730-1820 Botetourt Co., Virginia) married Sarah Ann STEPHENS in Albemarle Co., Va., and then had 4 sons and 3 daughters in Botetourt Co., Va. His second son Joseph married Jane DIUGUID and lived in Botetourt Co., Va.; third son David married Elizabeth CHAMBERS and stayed in Buckingham Co., Va.

The fourth son, Captain Robert KYLE, born 1739 Lancaster County, PA died 1820 in Rogersville, Hawkins County, TN was married to Leah BROOKS, born 1747 Brunswick County, VA, died 1832 Hawkins County, Tn. Leah's probable brothers were Littleton, Castleton, Thomas, John, and a sister who married Samuel WILSON also lived in the Hawkins Co. TN and Washington Co. Va. areas. Robert and Leah (Brooks) Kyle died and are buried in Hawkins Co. Tn.

Robert and Leah's oldest son, Major William John KYLE, born 1777 in Fincastle County, Virginia, died in 1823 Giles County, Tennessee, married 1799 Grainger Co., TN Rebecca YOUNG, had Col. Claiborne married 1829 Tn. Lucy BUGG died 1867 in Hays Co., Texas; Ambrose; William married Mary DALY; Rebecca died 1830 unmarried; Absalom; Mary; and Robert Guston born 1815 in Tennessee - died 1887 married 1840 in Mississippi (1) Julia WOODRUFF. Major William KYLE is also the supposed parent of my Willie Blount KYLE.

Willie was a justice of the peace and farmer in Hawkins County. He lived in Hawkins County, Tn. until the last few years of his life. Willie (born 1795, died 1850 in Alabama or Mississippi) married about 1821 Catherine CREED, the daughter of John CREED of Surry Co., North Carolina (born 1752 Virginia, died 1803 Hawkins County, Tn.) and Rebecca who married (2) Hugh Gallahue MOORE. The 6 known of Willie's 10 children born in Hawkins Co., Tn. were Talbot, died 1887 Monroe, Co. Mississippi married 1842 in Alabama (1) Charlotte MUNSON, (2) Mary Catherine HOLLIDAY; Matilda married Mr. McAFEE; Mary Catherine married 1850 in Mississippi John HUBBARD died 1910 in Texas; Eliza married 1852 in Mississippi Elijah Alexander MURPHY; Claiborne died 1857 Hays County, Texas; and my Felix KYLE died 1902 in Texas married (1) Emma BURLESON (2) married 1861 Hays Co., Texas my Martha KYSER, the daughter of William Marion KYSER and Elizabeth ROGERS (daughter of George ROGERS and Caroline WORSHAM).

Related stories:

Creed Family.

Kyle Family.

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

The Robert Kyle and Samuel Wilson Connection.

Sources:

Robert Kyle's 1820 will, Hawkins Co., Tn. Wills.

Marriage and Cemetery Records of Hawkins Co., Tn.

Book, A Partial History of the Kyle, Kile, Coyle Family in America, by Orville M. Kyle.

Submitted by:

Mrs. April Kyle Bladh
11033 Trudie Ave.
Whittier, CA 90604

Hon. Absalom Arthur KYLE

Absalom Arthur Kyle was born February 20, 1818, upon a farm on the Tennessee river [ed: Holston River], six miles west of Rogersville, Hawkins county, Tennessee. He was the son of Absalom Kyle, who was born in the same county, November 4, 1789, and whose father, Robert Kyle, was an Irishman, having emigrated to this country from the north of Ireland, and was one of the early pioneers to Tennessee, while that territory formed a part of North Carolina. The mother of Absalom Kyle was a Brooks, of English extraction, and was blessed with a numerous progeny, of whom Absalom was the youngest. The latter, in 1812, married Beersheba, daughter of Pharoah and Beersheba Cobb, who were from North Carolina, and of English descent. Thirteen children--eight sons and five daughters--were the fruits of this marriage, the subject of this notice being the third son in the order of birth. He was raised upon the farm, receiving, in early youth, such instruction as in that primitive day was given to children of his age, in the "old field," or common schools of his section. His father, however, being determined to give him a classical training, sent him, when in his fifteenth year, to McMinn Academy, at Rogersville, Tennessee, and placed him under the tutelage of Stokely D. Mitchell, who graduated in the class with James K. Polk, at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. There young Kyle remained for three years, and completed his academic course in 1835. In 1836, he was sent to the university at Knoxville, where he finished his education and graduated in 1838.

Returning home after his graduation, he remained upon the farm until 1840, when, choosing the law as his profession, he went to Rogersville, and read law with Col. John Netherland, until September, 1842, when he was called to the bar, Judges Edward Scott and Robert Anderson signing his license. He at once entered upon the duties of the profession, which he actively prosecuted for several years.

On the 11th of June, 1846, at Tazewell, Tennessee, he married Mary A., daughter of Hugh and Catharine Graham, then in her twenty-sixth year. This pious lady was, for forty-five years, an exemplary member of the Presbyterian church, coy and reserved in her nature, beloved by all who knew her, and distinguished by her noble and unostentatious charities. She died, in the year 1884, deeply lamented by all who ever came within the circle of her acquaintance.

In October, 1847, he was elected by the General Assembly of Tennessee attorney-general for the First judicial circuit for six years. He accepted the office and discharged its functions with much ability.

In April, 1854, he was chosen a delegate to represent his people in the commercial convention, then held at Charleston, South Carolina; after which he continued the practice of law until the civil war.

In 1861, he was a Union candidate for the convention at Nashville, to which he was elected, beating his competitor, Reuben Arnold, son of the late Gen. T.D. Arnold, by over six thousand votes, in the counties of Jefferson, Greene, Hancock and Hawkins. With all the power and ability he possessed, he combated the doctrine of secession, both upon the rostrum and in the walks of private life, until the question ceased to be debatable, and passed beyond the influence of argument or reason.

After the commencement of hostilities, he remained quietly at his home, in Rogersville, until the Federal forces occupied East Tennessee, when he passed through the Confederate lines and resumed the practice of his profession at Knoxville, where he stayed till May, 1865. In 1864, he supported Lincoln for the presidency.

In the winter of 1863-64, he visited Washington City, in company with Gov. Johnson, by whom he was introduced to President Lincoln. Remaining there six weeks, he and the President became quite intimate, and so prepossessed was the latter with Mr. Kyle that he tendered him the office of United States district attorney for East Tennessee which, however, was declined, but he requested that the office be given to a friend, Col. C. W. Hall, which was done. In 1865, he became supervisor of banks in Tennessee.

In 1866, he appointed, without solicitation, by President Johnson, and confirmed by the senate, United States direct tax commissioner of Tennessee. While in this office, three hundred thousand dollars were collected, every dollar of which was paid over and faithfully accounted for.

In the representative district, composed of the counties of Hancock, Hawkins, Greene and Jefferson--all Republican counties--he was elected as a Democrat to the constitutional convention of 1870, over W. P. Gillenwaters, Republican. In 1865, he became a prominent candidate for the United States senate, but was defeated by David T. Patterson, son-in-law of President Johnson.

In 1866, he allied himself with the Democratic party, in consequence of his repugnance and opposition to the radical reconstruction measures and the disfranchising policy of the State, under Gov. Brownlow's administration. In 1868, he was the elector in the First district of Tennessee on the Seymour ticket, since which time he has been frequently mentioned, by the press and by the people throughout the State, as a fit person to occupy the gubernatorial chair.

At the close of the war he owned considerable property, but being kind-hearted, generous, and liberal to a fault, had endorsed for many friends, which utterly ruined him, financially. Yet, in the general wreck, he sought not to conceal or cover up his property from his creditors, but surrendered all he had, thus exemplifying, in an eminent degree, one of the principal traits of his character, that of honesty and scrupulous integrity. After his financial failure he continued to practice law up to the fall of 1875, when he retired to a farm, on the East Tennessee railroad, at Russellville, where he quietly lived until the 22d of April 1884, when death deprived him of his beloved wife, at the age of sixty-four. The happening of this sad event caused him to make a change of domicile, and his children, being all married and forisfamiated, he returned to Rogersville, where he made his home with his son, Hugh G. Kyle, esq.

Mr. Kyle died at the residence of his brother, Gen. W.C. Kyle, near Whitesburg, Tennessee, while there on a temporary visit on the 15th of November, 1885. His death was sudden and unexpected, without the least premonition or warning, and was doubtless, caused by a stroke of heart disease, of which he previously had an attack. He retired to rest, in his usual health, on the night of the 14th, and next morning was found in his bed a corpse, having manifestly passed away without a pain or a struggle.

The untimely death of this good man, for he was only in his sixty-eighth year, with an apparent promise of great longevity, cast a gloom over the entire community, a people who had known him and loved him for years. It has been said that it is difficult for public men to live and flourish without making enemies. Mr. Kyle, however, it may be truthfully remarked, was an exception. He had no enemies, but lived respected, and died much regretted by all who knew him.

Mr. Kyle practiced law for thirty-five years, and his intercourse with the bench and bar was distinguished for courtesy of deportment and probity of character. He preferred rather to lose a case than gain it by unfair means, or a disreputable act. Although fond of politics, he was not a politician, in the modern sense; his reputation being chiefly attained as an honest man, a fair-minded, just and skillful lawyer. So notorious was his integrity that he acquired the sobriquet of "Honest App."

But the strong natural powers of Mr. Kyle's mind lay dormant until 1861, when the stability of the Union was threatened and assailed. Then it was that his latent energies were aroused, and he became conspicuous as one of the Union leaders of the State. In connection with such men as President Johnson, Col. John Netherland, Judge Nelson, Judge Luckey, and others, he breasted the coming storm and sought to avert the impending calamity. His exertions and example in this direction fostered loyalty to the Union among the people of East Tennessee, for which they have ever since been distinguished. He, like his father before him, was a man of great individuality, and a natural leader of men. Mr. Kyle's devotion to the principles of the constitution which ordained these States into one strong general government, was sincere and unaffected. While conceding the right of the several States to regulate their own municipal affairs, he had no patience with the theory of secession, or the right of each State to withdraw from the Union at her own will, and establish independent governments. Hence, when the late conflict of arms was ended, and it became a question whether the southern States were in or out of the Union, Mr. Kyle opposed the measures of reconstruction, logically maintaining that the States had never gone out, within the purview of the constitution, and were therefore, entitled to representation in the American Congress. This drove him into the Democratic party, although a great Unionist, and a Whig, in ante-bellum days. The policy of disfranchisement, too, adopted by the Republican--then called the Radical--party in Tennessee and other southern States, was distasteful to him, and not congenial to his nature. While the conflict was raging, none desired the success of Federal arms and overthrow of the Confederates more than he, yet when the latter were finally defeated and subjugated by the armies of the Union, instead of pursuing a policy of vindictiveness and disfranchisement toward brothers who had, like the prodigal of old, left their father's house, but now returned, restore them to all the rights of citizenship and invite them to again participate in the liberties of a great republic. This sentiment exemplified the forgiving nature of the man, and did credit to his goodness of heart.

Other celebrities in Tennessee may have possessed more versatility of genius, their erudition may have been deeper and more profound, but in strong native intellect and common sense, embellished with much culture, unselfish patriotism and devotion to the principles of government which he deemed best for the commonweal, leaving out of view his personal preferment he was almost without a compeer.

Had he sought his own aggrandizement, to the sacrifice of his convictions and principles, he was in a position, as a distinguished Unionist, at the close of the war, to have sought and obtained any judicial or political office in the gift of the people of East Tennessee, by allying himself with the Republican or Radical party, then, as now, largely in the majority in that section of the State; but, like the illustrious Clay, of whom he was a worthy disciple, he would rather be right than be president.

Mr. Kyle was a fine specimen of the mountain man of culture. Possessing a splendid physique, six feet high, well proportioned, with an olive complexion, and dark or hazel eyes, his appearance was marked and prepossessing. He was frank and open in his manners, with a smile and kind word for all, which endeared him to the hearts of his associates. His temperament was mild and placid, and in his generous nature he was wont to cover the foibles of others with the mantle of a broad charity.

In early youth he was fond of music and the sports, and at one period of his life was a fine performer on the violin. He had a passion for the saddle-horse, and spent much of his time in equestrian exercise.

Although not an orator, he had a strong, musical voice, combined with a rare faculty of presenting his thoughts in terse, epigrammatic phrase, which made him an interesting speaker in the forum or upon the rostrum.

Four children--three daughters and one son--survive to mourn the loss of a beloved father and sainted mother. The eldest, Lucy A., was born on the 3d of May, 1848, educated at Salem, North Carolina, and is an accomplished lady. In 1877 she married Dr. F. A. Shotwell, of Rogersville, where they still reside. The second, Hugh G. Kyle, was born December 29, 1849, finished his education at Princeton, New Jersey, where he graduated with high honors in 1870. Returning home, he read law with his father, and was licensed in 1871. In 1879, he married Bertha, daughter of Tyre Glen, on the Yadkin river, North Carolina. One child blessed this union, a daughter, Margaret, now four years old. He also resides at Rogersville. The third child, Annis, was born in 1853. She was also educated at Salem, North Carolina, receiving a classical training. In September, 1875, she married Judge H. S. K. Morrison, of Estillville, Virginia, where they have since resided. Maria Louise, the youngest, was born in September, 1862, and received her education at the Rogersville Female College. In 1882, she was wedded to W. B. Robinson, a merchant, of Newport, Cocke county, Tennessee.

Though their father left them no patrimony of a pecuniary value, it must be the chief solace of these children to reflect now, and in after years, that he left them a patrimony of infinitely more value, the character of a just and honest man, whose very name was a synonym for integrity, which is the greatest panegyric that could be written of his fame. May they follow the example of their illustrious sire.

Related Stories:

Kyle Family.

The Robert Kyle Family.

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife, Leah Brooks.

Sources:

Prominent Tennesseans, pub. 1886, pp. 431-434.

Submitted by:

Carl Netherland Brown
Rogersville, TN

The Robert KYLE Family

Robert Kyle was born of sturdy Scotch Irish stock in the North of Ireland in the year of Grace 1740. About 1785 he emigrated with two brothers to America, settling first in Pennsylvania, and shortly after, moving to East Tennessee, making his home at Walnut Hill, six miles below Rogersville, and gradually acquiring large tracts of land.

He married Leah Brooks, a daughter of one of the pioneers of that country. His son, Absalom, was born November 4, 1789. Other known children were Thomas, Robert, and Jane. A family tradition says that the latter was scalped by the Indians at her front gate, but she recovered with only the permanent loss of her hair.

However well to do Robert Kyle may have been, he certainly lavished nothing on young Absalom. In fact, so poor and inconsiderable was he, that the aristocratic Pharoah Cobb, who lived about eight miles away on the Holston River, would not even consider the marriage of his fifteen year old daughter, Barsheba, with the young farmer. Nothing daunted the young couple. They defied authority, and on the third day of September, 1812, they were married by Thomas Cocks, Esq. (This was in a day when any unmarried girl over eighteen was a hopeless old maid).

Years later it was one of Mrs. Kyle's favorite topics to tell of their early struggles. Their first home was a log house with a box for a table, and typical pioneer bed. Two walls of the building formed two sides of the bed, and a forked stick set upright in the dirt floor formed a support for the poles, which made the other two sides. A straw tick rendered the mattress, which was composed of criss-crossed rope in five inch squares, slightly less uncomfortable.

Relations remained strained for about a year. Then the Cobbs seem to have relented, and asked them to come to Cobbsford. At any rate, William Caswell Kyle came into the world there on June 6, 1813. Shortly afterward, the family of three returned to their own home. A little darky girl was sent to care for the baby, then came a cow, and a wagon piled high with household goods arrived. Perfect harmony reigned between the two establishments.

By the time Robert Kyle was born in 1815, the state of financial affairs was considerably improved, and still better when Absalom arrived in 1818. About this time a fine brick house was built among the walnut trees on top of the hill, looking down on the rest of the world. Minerva, the first daughter, was born in 1819.

On October 17, 1820, old Mr. Kyle, the pioneer, passed away. To Absalom, he left his blacksmith tools and his writing desk.

In 1832 Mrs. Robert Kyle died on her eighty fifth birthday.

During the next ten years, six children, Stokeley, Ailcey, Joseph, Barsheba, Jesse, and Annis arrived at Walnut Hill. In 1833 Mary Sidney was born. Leonidas Netherland Kyle was born in 1837. Claiborne, who was born in 1835, lived only one year. Then the pet of the family, and the child of the couple's old age, came in 1842. This was Gale.

In 1834, at the age of fourteen, Minerva Kyle married Mr. John Blevins. A year or so later, she was weeping because she had to stay home and mind that blessed baby, instead of going to a dance. That love of pleasure was inherited from the Cobbs.

Mrs. Kyle was an excellent violinist, or rather fiddler. Life in Tennessee was rather gay, and legend tells us she used to dash around the county on Ready, her horse. Rough, another horse, belonged to her husband - she would go from party to party with her fiddle under her arm.

This love of life and company made the lonely days between '54 and '56 harder for her to bear. When Mrs. Kyle would go out to gather herbs for the darkies, Gale was the one who rode behind her. He always accompanied Col. Kyle on his trips over the plantation. He was the ruler of Walnut Hill. But alas, shortly after his father's death in 1854, Gale followed, on April 3, 1855, at the age of fourteen.

What a time this was for Mrs. Kyle. William, Robert, Absalom, Minerva, Ailcey, Barsheba, and Mary Sidney were married. Stokeley, Joseph, Jesse, Annis, Claiborne, and Gale were dead, and Lou was away in Danville, Kentucky, attending school at Center College. How empty the great table must have seemed to the lonely mother. Old, Aunt Cook Liza surpassed herself making tempting dishes, but it was rarely that the solitary occupant would even taste them.

Lucy, a little darky, who waited on the table, would tip toe in, and find her mistress weeping, at the head of the board, with the white expanse of cloth stretching dismally in front of her. Under these conditions Mrs. Kyle could not be expected to live long. On Wednesday, the sixth day of February, 1856, she joined her husband.

Related Stories:

Kyle Family.

Capt. Robert Kyle, and wife Leah Brooks.

Hon. Absalom Arthur Kyle.

Submitted by:

*Carl Netherland Brown
Rogersville, TN*

Family of Robert KYLE (of Clinch)

There were two persons in early Hawkins County history named Robert Kyle. This sketch concerns the Robert who founded the village of Kyle's Ford, on the Clinch River, some twenty-five miles north of Rogersville, now in Hancock County, Tennessee. Another older Captain Robert Kyle also lived in Hawkins County, at Walnut Hill, where he is buried. Although they are probably related, such has not been proven. The younger, less well-known and less opulent Robert, is still referred to as "Robert of Clinch", while the other Robert is described as "Robert of Walnut Hill".

The Kyle Family is originally from Ayrshire, in Scotland. The name is of Celtic origin. In the year 1606, the first Kyle families migrated to northern Ireland. A century and a half later, these same families were transplanted generously to American soil.

Robert Kyle (of Clinch) was born in 1751, in County Tyrone, the north of Ireland. He was the son of William Kyle, born in the same county, about 1730, and his wife Sara Stephens. William and Sara were married about 1750, and he came to America in 1759. Their son Robert emigrated with his parents from Northern Ireland.

The William Kyle family settled in Augusta County, later Botetourt Co., Virginia, where William died in 1824. Robert Kyle married Sarah Reynolds (Runnels), in Botetourt County, on June 10, 1788. She was the daughter of John Reynolds. Both Lieutenant John Reynolds and William Kyle served in the Revolutionary War, as members of the Botetourt County militia.

Robert Kyle (of Clinch) served as an over-age soldier in the War of 1812. He died of exposure in 1814, while serving in Captain Jones Griffin's Company, in the East Tennessee Militia. He is buried in the Kyle Family Cemetery, Punccheon Camp (now Kyle) Valley, near Eidson, Tennessee.

Robert and Sarah Reynolds Kyle had ten children who lived to adulthood. They were: (1) Mary (Polly) Kyle, born 1793, married to Abraham Jones, (2) Nancy Kyle, born 1795, married first to Daniel Rapp, and then to John Wray, (3) Hester (Hetty) Kyle, born 1797, married to Isaac Briscoe, (4) John Kyle, born on December 24, 1799, married to Martha Willis, daughter of Larkin Willis, (5) Diana Kyle, born in 1802, died November 12, 1862, Springfield, MO, married to James C. Garrison, son of Isaac Garrison, (6) Robert Kyle, born 1805, married to Rachael Gillenwaters, (7) Thomas Jefferson Kyle, born 1808, married to Sarah H. Russell, (8) Joseph Kyle, died unmarried, (9) Melinda (Lindy) Kyle, married first to John Eidson, and second to Jesse Hurd, (10) James Madison Kyle, born in 1813, died Nodaway County, MO, married to Elizabeth Anderson.

Sarah Reynolds, wife of Robert Kyle (of Clinch), died in Hawkins County, June 29, 1842. She was born about 1767, in Augusta County, Virginia.

The descendants of Robert and Sarah Kyle have spread throughout the United States. A number of them went from Hawkins County to the southwest part of Missouri, and several went to Texas. Most of them had large families. For instance, Diana Kyle Garrison, and her husband, James C. Garrison, had thirteen children who lived to adulthood.

Both John Reynolds and William Kyle have been recognized as Revolutionary War Ancestors by the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Related Story:

Family of Isaac Garrison

Sources:

1. The Kyle, Kile Family History, by Orville M. Kyle, Waverly Press, Inc. 1958.
2. Revolutionary Records of Virginia, by Gais Marcus Brumbaugh, Volume 1, page 590, Genealogical Publishing Co., 1967 reprint.
3. Soldiers of the War of 1812 Buried in Tennessee, by McCown, Mary Hardin, and Burns, Inez E., Tennessee Society, United States Daughters of 1812. 1959.
4. Kegleys Virginia Frontier, by Kegley, pp 450, 631, and 670. Southwest Virginia Historical Society, Roanoke, VA, 1938.
5. Memories and Experiences, by James Harvey Garrison, Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, MO, 1926.
6. A Seed-Bed of the Republic, by Robert Douthat Stoner, Kingsport Press, Kingsport, TN, 1962.
7. MARRIAGE BOND, June 10, 1788, Robert Kyle and Sarah Reynolds, with attached consent of John Reynolds; Circuit Court Clerk, Botetourt Co., VA.
8. DAR and SAR Patriot Indices.

Submitted by:

*Denzil D. Garrison
P.O. Box 1217
Bartlesville, OK 74005*

The Robert KYLE and Samuel WILSON Connection

Captain Robert Kyle received 200 acres on Caney Creek in 1789, located southwest of Rogersville in Hawkins County, Tennessee, Warrant #1015 from his services along the frontier of North Carolina during the American Revolution.

He married Leah Brooks before 1774 in Virginia. Leah was born 28 February 1747, and died 28 February 1832. They moved to Walnut Hill and were buried in the Kyle Cemetery on the farm.

Robert and Leah had eight children: Jane (Leah), Rachel, William, Mary, Thomas, Robert, Martha, and Absalom.

I am a descendant from Robert Kyle, Jr., who died in 1804. His daughter, Nancy, was mentioned in Robert Kyle's father's Will in 1820, Will Book 1, pages 280-282, item #3, as the wife of Samuel Wilson, Jr.

Samuel Wilson's father, Samuel, Sr. was born ca. 1775 in North Carolina. Samuel, Sr. received a land grant (preemptor) in Hawkins Co. in 1788 on Hickory Cove, 513 acres, Warrant #2569. Samuel, Sr. married Mary Ingram on 18 December 1794 in Hawkins Co. Mary Ingram Wilson gave a deposition on 17 May 1855 in Washington County, Arkansas in which she gave her marriage date among other important information of the family. The following also signed the papers: S.D. Wilson, Wesley Weyette, Andrew J. Wilson, and William I. Wilson (I. could be for Ingram, his mother's maiden name). These could be their children, as they signed papers over the years.

Samuel Wilson, Sr. was a lieutenant in Captain John Williams' mounted regiment, East Tennessee Volunteers in the War of 1812. He volunteered at Knoxville, Tennessee on 1 December 1812 for 3 months. He was discharged in Florida at Camp Williams 25 March 1813.

The Wilson families moved to Washington County, Arkansas between 1830-1840.

Samuel Wilson, Jr. was born in Tennessee about 1799/1800. He married Nancy Kyle between 1819-1820.

The 1830 Census listed Samuel Wilson, Jr.'s family at the same address as his father in Hawkins Co. On the 1840 Census they were in Washington, Co. Samuel Wilson, Jr. had 2 sons and 3 daughters living with them. The 1850 Census shows that Samuel Wilson age 75 (TN), Mary age 71 (TN), and Samuel Wilson age 51 (TN), wagonmaker, were living together.

Samuel, Sr. died there 28 May 1853, and his wife Mary died between 1855-1860.

In the 1860 Census, Samuel, Jr. was age 60, born in TN, and a schoolteacher. He sold land in 1860 and 1861 in Washington Co. On 28 October 1870 William I. Wilson was the administrator of Sam, Jr.'s estate, page 535 of Washington Co. Records Vol. E.

Samuel, Jr.' son, Robert Kyle Wilson, married Nancy Fleming on 13 March 1847 in Washington Co., AK. Before Robert's parents died, he and Nancy moved to Milam County, Texas. He appeared on the 1857 Milam Co. Tax Rolls, "no real estate, one horse valued at $150.00." They later bought a lot in Cameron, TX. He was a wagonmaker and made things of leather. On 26 April 1862 Robert Kyle Wilson enlisted in the Civil War in Texas Cavalry Regiment as a Private, Co. B, age 33 years.

The children of Robert and Nancy were: William Henry (1849-1...) born AK; Serena (1851-1916) born AK, married her cousin Theo. E. Moses Wilson in 1871 in Cameron, TX; Clinton Arthur (1857-1904) born Cameron, TX, married Martha Dockery 16 January 1883 in Bell Co., TX; Bettie Ann "Delle" (1861-1885) born Cameron Co., TX, married Charles Brown in 1880; Robert Ann (19 March 1865 in Cameron, TX-1902), married S.M. Terry in 1885 in Cyclone, TX, license from Milam Co.; and Dewitt (1867 Cameron, TX-1922 Waco, TX) married Susan Lillian McLaughlin, buried in Oakwood Cemetery in Waco.

Nancy Fleming Wilson died in November 1869 in Cameron, Milam Co., TX, and Robert Kyle Wilson died there in June 1870.

Their son, Clinton Arthur, is my direct line. He is my grandfather I never knew. Clinton and Martha's children are: Arthur J. (1883-1903), no issue; Bertie (1885-1901), no issue; Nealey "Tobe" (1887-1944), no issue; Cleo (1888-1938), no issue; married Irene Richey; Claud (1892-1968) married Anna Bell Lawler on 27 August 1920 in Taylor, TX, and had 5 children; Monte "Bay" (1895-1963), married Alice Marie Magnum on 2 May 1925 at Taylor, TX, and had a son Fleming Mangun Wilson; Duel "Dude" (1897-), he had a son Jack killed in WW2 and 2 daughters, Jo Ann and ?; Ivy (1900-1901); Levell Lee (1902-1961) married Hettie Minnie Arnold in 1926, and they had a daughter Patsy Lee and a son Don Eugene.

Clinton Arthur had a ranch near Thornedale, TX. He died of consumption and left Martha with six children to raise.

My direct line is Claud Wilson and Anna Bell Lawler, my parents. I have my families up to date, 1993.

Recently I have met 2 cousins from the Robert Kyle clan (by mail), Verna M. Banes from the Rachel Kyle line, and Richard E. Hickman, Jr. from the Absolom Kyle line.

Related Story:

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

Kyle Family.

Submitted by:

Claudine Mulhern
P.O. Box 311126
New Braunfels, TX 78131

Capt. Robert KYLE and wife Leah BROOKS

Robert Kyle, usually identified as Capt. Robert Kyle of Hickory Cove and Walnut Hill, may have emigrated to this country from County Tyrone in Ireland and arrived in Virginia as a small boy. Other sources state that he was born before August 18, 1739, almost certainly in Lancaster County, PA. He died on 17 October 1820. Research in Albemarle and nearby counties indicates that this Tennessee Robert was the son of an earlier Robert, "referred to as Robert of Old Albemarle County, VA", and both came from Ireland. His mother was Betty Campbell.

His wife, Leah Brooks, of English extraction, was probably born in Brunswick County, VA, as records indicate that her brothers Castleton, Thomas, and Littleton were born near the Nottoway Bridge area of that county. They were Revolutionary Soldiers whose names appear often in Hawkins County activities. Their parentage has not been established.

The following is copied from a letter written in 1947 by Prentiss Price to his cousin Sidney Brietz: "Capt. Robert's wife was Leah Brooks, born 28 February 1747 in Virginia (probably Brunswick County) and died on her birthday in 1832. They were married some time before 1774 in Virginia, probably in Buckingham county. They came down to the Rogersville area and lived first in the Hickory Cove (this side of Alum Well). About 1785 they moved to Walnut Hill on the Holston and died there and are buried in the Kyle graveyard on the family farm. They had eight children, one of whom is traditional--at least I have never found any record proof of her, but her name has come down in several branches of the family."

1. Jane (one source says Leah), the traditional one; scalped at her front gate by the Indians, but lived, wearing a leather cap to the end of her days. She is not named in her father's will.

2. Rachel Kyle, born on 16 November 1774, died 24 June 1818 in Hawkins Co., married William McCarty 1764-1818 (13 children).

3. William Kyle 1776-1823 married on 5 August 1799 in Grainger Co, Tenn., Rebecca Young.

4. Mary Kyle, born 1780, died 5 June 1837 in Limestone Co Alabama, married (1) John Prigmore, killed in 1807 by Indians on Elk River. (4 children); married (2) John Maples (5 children).

5. Thomas Kyle, died 1808-9, married circa 1805 Susanna Hamblen (2 sons).

6. Robert Kyle, Jr. 1784-1804, married Nancy (1 daughter).

7. Martha Kyle married (1) before 1805 to William Sims; (2) to Holloway Maples.

8. Absalom Kyle, 1789-1854, married 1812 Barsheba Whitehead Cobb."

Capt. Kyle obtained a large tract of land fronting for about six miles on the Holston River and was one of the largest land owners in Eastern Tennessee. He was one of the early pioneers to Tennessee while that territory formed a part of North Carolina. In 1784 he received from the State of North Carolina 400 acres in Sullivan NC on the North Side of the Holston River in Hickory Cove beginning on Wm Brice line (heirs of Cash Brooks, decd) south along Joel Gillenwater's line NE to Brooks line to the beginning by Alex Martin, Newburn NC.

He was a captain in the Revolutionary War, with a company of Rangers. A fort at Hickory Cove and another at the mouth of Big Creek were captained by him. These forts were established to protect residents of the area against the Indians who were encouraged by the British to make raids against them. The forts were not manned until a raid had swept over the country by surprise, and a dozen or so of the most advanced settlers were killed. Pension application papers of Littleton Brooks state that he served 5 months in the winter of 1788-89 under Capt. Robert Kyle in the Hickory Cove area, where they scouted against the Tories and Indians. For his service, he is recognized by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution as a Patriot and Soldier.

Robert's will dated Sept. 21, 1820, on file at the Hawkins County Court House, has been copied by several descendants and is a good example of the wills of that day when the distribution of numerous slaves and much land was involved. While the name is usually spelled with a 'y' there is on file at least one deed in which Robert's name is spelled 'Kile.' Other versions are Coyle and Koil.

Related stories:

Littleton Brooks, Sr.

Creed Family.

Kyle Family.

The Robert Kyle and Samuel Wilson Connection.

James and William McCarty Families.

Sources:

(1) SKETCHES OF PROMINENT TENNESSEANS by Speer, p. 431.

(2) A PARTIAL HISTORY OF THE KYLE, KILE, COYLE FAMILY IN AMERICA, by Orville M. Kyle. Note by O. M. Kyle: "This section taken from the records of Prentiss Price of Rogersville, Tennessee, and Mrs. Guy Rogers of Wichita Falls, Texas. Both are Kyle descendants.

(3) Sheldon Lindsay, Reporter, ROGERSVILLE TN NEWSPAPER, July 1985.

(4) Prentiss Price, letters to his cousin Sidney Brietz, 1948.

(5) Research by Walter S. Mayer, sent to Rose Kyle, sent on to Annie Ruth Howell White, and then to Verna Baker Banes.

(6) Additional research by April Kyle Bladh, Shirley Vaughan Praytor, Fay Vaughan Mills, Robert Charles Mills, A. D. and Dorothy Kyle Simpson, Ruth E.

Dudley, and others.

Submitted by:

Verna Baker Banes
(4th Great-Granddaughter)
P.O. Box 7435
Huntsville, TX 77342-7435

LAWSON "The Lawson Who Married a Lawson"

This is the story of a man and woman who met, fell in love and married. He was from one side of Clinch Mountain and she was from the other side. He would walk across the mountain, court her and then stay with her relatives, and go back across the mountain the next day. They courted for a while and were married on the 30th of June 1907. On that day a Lawson married another Lawson. They were not related. Those two people were my grandparents.

My grandfather was James Nathaniel Lawson. But he used the name of Greene or Greenberry Lawson. Even his own children didn't know his real name, until I started looking into our family history. He was very good looking and had blue eyes, dark curly hair and he stood five feet eight inches tall. His parents were William and Martilla Lawson. He was one of five children. He had three sisters and one brother. His sisters were Nellie, Pearl, and Verdie, and his brother was Mack Lawson. Nellie married Arthur Cobb. Pearl married Jack Thomas. Verdie married Tilson Rhoton. Mack married Flora Jane (last name unknown). My grandfather had many jobs in his life-time. But during the last twenty-five years of his life he owned and operated a small grocery store on Bear Hollow Road in Hawkins County, between Rogersville and Surgoinsville. Everyone liked him, especially the children.

My grandmother was Sarah Elizabeth Lawson. She was born on the 5th day of September 1889. She was five feet six inches tall, and had blue eyes and black hair. She was very pretty. Her parents were Ambrose and Amanda Murrell Lawson. She was one of nine children. She had three older sisters and five brothers. She was the baby of the family. Her sisters were Susan, Cordelia, and Mary. Her brothers were Gaines, William, Wheeler, Joel or "Joe" as he was known, and Pete. My grandmother's parents were married on the 9th of June 1865. Her sister Sue married Wilkerson Lawson. Mary married James Dalton, and Cordelia married Will Herron. Her brother Gaines married Cordelia Brown. William married Valian Lawson, Pete married Rittie Collins, and Wheeler married Annie. Her brother Joel Lawson went to Missouri and she lost contact with him.

Therefore, on the 30th of June 1907, a man age twenty-two and a woman age eighteen were married. So out of the Lawson union in marriage, there were thirteen children born to them. There were nine boys and four girls. The oldest, Garnie was born in 1908. The second son, Benny, was born in 1909 and died when he was four years old. The third son, Nergie, was born on the 14th of March 1912 and died in 1914. Chester, the fourth son, was born in 1915. Fred, the fifth son was born in 1922. The sixth son, my father Creed Lawson, was born on the 12th of February 1924. Elmer was the seventh son and he was born on the 5th of December 1926. Heiskell, the eighth son, was born on the 30th of August 1929. And finally, Kermit Dale Lawson was born on the 12th of July 1931. All of the Lawson men have blue eyes, dark hair, and dark complexion.

My grandparents' oldest daughter was named Nellie. She was born blind, but they said she could see some light when the sun was shining through the window. Nellie died in 1912 at age two. The second daughter, Kate Elizabeth, was born on the 7th of October 1918. Pauline, the third daughter, was born in 1920 and died when she was a few minutes old. Allene Rhea was the last daughter born to my grandparents on the 4th of January 1928.

James Nathaniel and Sarah Elizabeth Lawson were married for sixty years, two months, and fourteen days when he passes away on the thirteenth day of September 1967. He died in the back room of his country store, where he loved and wanted to be. Then on the thirteenth day of May 1972, Sarah Elizabeth Lawson passed away. When my grandmother passed away there were eight living children, forty grandchildren, and several great-grandchildren to pay tribute to them. This story is to pay a tribute of love to my grandparents.

Related Story:

Dobbs

Submitted by:

*Carolyn Lawson Rhoton
Route 1, Box 586
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

Burrell LAWSON

Burrell Lawson was born in 1790 in North Carolina, and died in 1840 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. His wife's name is believed to be Elizabeth or Elender. They had one known son, James Lawson, born in 1815 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, died 7 December 1875 in Marshall County, Kentucky. James' first wife's name was Nancy, born in 1815 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, and died in 1851 in Hancock Co., Tennessee.

They had the following children: 1. Samuel Lawson, born in 1831 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, married Margaret Rider in Marshall County, Kentucky; 2. Elender Lawson, born in 1835 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, died 1869/70 in Marshall County, Kentucky, married Harmon Owens on 8 September 1856 in Marshall County, Kentucky; 3. Sarah Lawson, born in 1838 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, married James Collie in Marshall County, Kentucky; 4. Jane Lawson, born in 1842 in Hawkins County, Tennessee; 5. Mary Lawson, born in 1842 in Hawkins County, Tennessee; 6. Margaret Lawson, born in 1846 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, married John Cunningham in Marshall County, Kentucky; 7. John Lawson, born 1849 in Hawkins County, Tennessee

Sources:

Hawkins Co., Tn. census record 1840.
Hancock Co., Tn. census record 1850.
Marshall Co., Ky. census record 1860.
Marshall Co., Ky. census record 1870.
Marshall Co., Ky. Marriage Records.
Marshall Co., Ky. Death Records.

Submitted by:

*Wayne Langston
188 Mitchell Dr.
Atwater, CA 95342*

James Patton LAWSON (1867-1945)

James Patton "J.P." Lawson was born 5 January 1867 in the Eidson Community of Hawkins County and married Nancy Bray (18 April 1873-30 June 1913). Both are buried in the Lawson Family Cemetery in Eidson. J.P. Lawson had four children: Ollie, Hugh Eugene, Washington Monroe, and Gale Charles.

Ollie Lawson (5 November 1892-3 March 1974) married Blaine Williamson and had three children: Ruth, Ann, and Robert. Blaine and Ollie (Lawson) Williamson are buried in the Lawson Family Cemetery.

Hugh Eugene Lawson (17 April 1895-14 January 1916) died at the age of 20 of tuberculosis and is buried in the family cemetery.

Washington Monroe Lawson married Willie Ruth Greene, and is listed below.

Gale Charles Lawson (30 October 1906-14 September 1983) married Sallie Jane Greene. (Willie Ruth Greene Lawson and Sally Jane Greene Lawson were sisters).

Washington Monroe "Roe" Lawson was born 6 May 1903 in the Eidson Community of Hawkins County. He married Willie Ruth Greene, daughter of William Harve and Laura Elizabeth (Lawson) Greene, on 31 July 1927. Roe and Ruth Lawson lived in Hawkins County until the late 1950's when they moved to Indianapolis, Indiana where Ruth still lives. Roe Lawson died in Indianapolis 28 June 1983 and is buried in Acton Cemetery. Roe and Ruth's children have ten children:

Nadine Gertrude Lawson married first Jack Fults and had one son Johnny. Nadine is presently married to Walt Jackson and lives in Hemet, California.

Renn Lawrence Lawson married Naomi Ruth Goins, and is listed below.

Hugh Eugene Lawson married first Carolyn Griner. Hugh and Carolyn have three sons; Douglas Dean Lawson, Michael Allen Lawson, and Jeffrey Hugh Lawson. Hugh Lawson and his present wife, Brenda, live in Kingsville, Missouri.

Muriel Lawson married Bill Ford and has two children, David Monroe Ford and Debbie Ford. Muriel presently lives in Indianapolis, Indiana.

James William "Jay" Lawson and wife Joanne had three children; James, Jenny, and Jeffrey. Jay and present wife Debbie have one son, Zachary Monroe Lawson and live in Covington, Kentucky.

Douglas Burl "Andy" Lawson and wife Beverly have two daughters, Stacy and Wendy, and live in Yukon, Oklahoma.

Franklin Delano Lawson and wife Mary have one son, Scott, and live in Hartsville, Alabama.

Bob Lawson and wife Donna have four children; Amy, Casey, Eric, and Jarrett, and live in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Hope Lawson married John Ronald Byrd and has three children; Marsha, Ronnie, and Charlie. Hope and Ron Byrd live in the St. Clair community of Hawkins County.

Judy Ann Lawson was married to David Padgett and had one son Tony Padgett. Judy presently lives in Yukon, Oklahoma.

Renn Lawrence Lawson (born 12 January 1931) married Naomi Ruth Goins (born 9 June 1932), daughter of Zack and Bessie (Begley) Goins on 5 June 1951. Renn and Naomi lived in Eidson until 1955 when they moved to the Choptack community, five miles north of Rogersville where they still reside. Renn and Naomi Lawson have four children:

Renn L. Lawson, Jr. (born 9 May 1952) married Audrey Kay Wilder (born 15 June 1957), daughter of Milton and Kay (Carpenter) Wilder, on 28 June 1975. Renn, Jr. and Audrey Lawson have two sons: Renn Lawrence Lawson, III (born 3 March 1977) and Zachary Anderson Lawson (born 3 July 1988).

Sandra Kay Lawson (born 9 January 1954) married Larry Neal Bass (born 19 September 1953), son of Robert and Barbara (Williams) Bass, on 12 September 1972. Sandra Kay and Larry Bass have four children: Rebecca Kay Bass (born 19 November 1973), Angela Fay Bass (born 5 June 1975), Laura Michelle Bass (born 1 December 1979), Larry Neal Bass, Jr. (born 18 June 1985).

Gloria Karen Lawson (born 29 June 1957) married Lloyd James Horton (born 21 June 1958), son of Lloyd and Nelle (Collins) Horton, on 2 September 1977.

Karen and Lloyd have two sons: Joshua Edward Horton (born 9 January 1986) and Justin Glen Horton (born 17 September 1987).

Pamela Renee Lawson (born 12 July 1969) married Douglas Templeton Jenkins (born 20 March 1968), son of William L. "Bill" and Kathryn (Myers) Jenkins, on 28 December 1991. Pamela and Douglas Jenkins live in Franklin, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

The Zack Goins Family.

Gale C. Jenkins Family.

Martin Lawson.

Submitted by:

*Pamela Lawson Jenkins
Roue 1, Box 4955
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Martin LAWSON

Martin Lawson (1796-1880) is believed to be the son of Burrell Lawson of Stokes County, North Carolina. Martin Lawson came to Hawkins Co., Tennessee with his family about 1820. His wife's name is unknown, but they had a large family. Only three of their children's names are known: George Washington Lawson (1821-1891) married Melvina Jane Cook; Minerva Lawson (1837-1890's) married John Stapleton; and Susan Lawson (born 1840) married Iredell C. Willis.

Martin Lawson married 2nd in 1846 to Patsy Johnson, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Johnson. They had no children. Martin Lawson is buried in the family cemetery in Eidson, TN.

George Washington "Wash" Lawson (15 February 1821-11 October 1893), son of Martin Lawson, lived in East Pumpkin Valley on the north side of Clinch Mountain in Hawkins County, where he owned several acres of land and farmed. "Wash" was a Democrat politically, and he attended Union Methodist Church.

He married first to Melvina Jane Cook (20 January 1829-14 May 1891), and they had eight children: G.W. Lawson, Jr. (1846-ca. 1884) married Annis Bloomer; Elizabeth Lawson (1849-1905) married Mahlon Winstead and lived in Jefferson City, TN; Martin Monroe Lawson (born 1852) went West; William Asbury Lawson (1856-1939) married Dianah Taylor; Cornelia Lawson (1862-1918) married John T. Rogers; Robert Lee Lawson (1865-1937) married Chassie Hurd; James Patton Lawson (1867-1945) married Nancy Bray; and Martha Lawson (1871-1945) married Rufas Hartley.

After his first wife's death, Wash Lawson married Delphia Ann (Hart) Hurd, widow of James Hurd. Wash and Jane (Cook) Lawson are buried in the family cemetery in Eidson, Tennessee.

I would like to give special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lawson of Eidson, TN, and to Mrs. Belle Brewer of Elizabethton, TN for their contributions to this article.

Related Story:

James Patton Lawson

Submitted by:

*Pamela Lawson Jenkins
Route 1, Box 4955
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Robert Lee LAWSON

Robert Lee Lawson was born on 25 July 1877 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, to Wilkerson and Mary Ann (Winstead) Lawson. He married to Lillie Murrell in Hawkins County, Tennessee, on 23 April 1897. They were married by J. C. Curry, the Justice of the Peace at the time. Lillie was the daughter of Harvey G. and Jane (Lawson) Murrell and was born 23 August 1880 in Lee Valley, in Hawkins County. Robert Lee Lawson was a member of Cobb's Chapel and an ordained Deacon. Robert and Lillie had two children born to them, Maggie and Rose Bell Lawson.

Maggie Lawson was born 9 July 1899 in Lee Valley, in Hawkins County. She joined Cobb's Chapel 8 February 1913. She married Rufas Lawson (ed: Jr.) 23 November 1919. Rufas (Jr.) was the son of Rufas (ed: Sr.) and Sarah Ann Lawson. Rufas (Jr.) and Maggie (Lawson) Lawson had two children, Ora Edith and Ben Lawson. Maggie passed away 24 June 1924.

Rose Bell Lawson was born on 12 July 1901 in Hawkins County at Lee Valley.

She married Hobert Bowlin 13 February 1927 in Hawkins County, at the home of Arthur Bowlin. Their children were: Clifford, born in 1927 in Lee Valley, in Hawkins Co.; Irene, born 19 October 1928 in Hawkins Co.; Paul, born 6 September 1929 in Lee Valley in Hawkins County; Mary E., born 14 October 1931 in Lee Valley in Hawkins County; Leonard Bruce, born 12 July 1933 in Hancock County; and Iva Lee Bowlin, born in April 1936, born in Hancock County.

Hobert Bowlin preceded Rose in death, with Rose passing away on 30 April 1991, at Fort Sanders Regional Medical Center in Knoxville, Tennessee. At the time of her death, she was a member of Norton Baptist Church. She was buried in Courtney Cemetery.

Lillie (Murrell) Lawson passed away about October, 1901. Robert Lee Lawson remarried to Nocie Harris, a daughter of Riley and Nealie Harris. This marriage took place about September or October, 1902. Nocie was born 9 May 1883. She, also, was a member of Cobb's Chapel. Robert and Nocie had seven children, Lulie, Wilk J., Bert Albert, Paul, Mary Nell, Dovie Lee, and Sturm.

Lulie Lawson was born 22 May 1903 in Hawkins Co. She married Jeff Lawson. They had: Trula, born 25 December 1924; Ruth, born 10 July 1927; Ann, born 19 March 1930; and Edith Lawson, born 1 September 1932.

Lulie (Lawson) Lawson passed away the first part of December 1983. Her burial was on 4 December 1983. She was 80.

Wilk J. Lawson was born in 1905. He married Lillie Hicks. Their children were: daughters, Ollie; Maxie; and Mary; sons, Millard; Earl; and Arnold Lawson.

Lillie (Hicks) Lawson, Wilk's first wife passed away in 1964. He remarried Elsie. Wilk was a farmer and a member of Cobb's Chapel Baptist Church. He died 5 August 1986 at the Hancock County Hospital, and is buried in the Lawson Cemetery.

Bert Albert Lawson was born 5 September 1906 in Hawkins County. He married Georgia Williams 24 September 1930 in Jonesville, Va. They had a son, Fayne L. Lawson born 7 November 1931 in Hawkins County. Fayne lives in Russiaville, Indiana. Bert was a member of New Salem Baptist Church and a retired farmer when he died 12 August 1986 at Hawkins County Memorial Hospital. He was buried in Highland Cemetery in Rogersville.

Paul Lawson was born 9 September 1909 in Lee Valley, in Hawkins County. He married Alpha Lawson 22 December 1930 at Pressman's Home, Tennessee. Alpha was the daughter of Mack Clinton and Mary Ellen "Mollie" (Ringley) Lawson. Paul and Alpha had: Jimmy Reed, born 8 December 1931; and Gladys Jewell Lawson, born 11 May 1934.

Paul Lawson passed away about 8 July 1984 in Rogersville, Tennessee.

Mary Nell Lawson was born 11 May 1911 in Hawkins County. She was a member of Collins Chapel at the time of her death on 6 April 1928.

Dovie Lee Lawson was born 9 October 1915 in Hawkins County. She married Hugh Willard Bowlin and had two sons. Dovie passed away 10 February 1981 in Church Hill, Tennessee. She was buried in Church Hill Memory Gardens.

Sturm Lawson was born 22 September 1922 in Hawkins County. He married Helen Edith Horton 17 October 1942 in Hawkins County. They had a daughter, Betty Ilene, born 18 October 1943; and a son, Billy Morris Lawson, born 14 April 1945.

Robert Lee Lawson passed away on 26 November 1950. Nocie (Harris) Lawson passed away 13 January 1952 at age 68. Both are buried in Bill Burton Cemetery in Hawkins Co., Tennessee.

Related stories:

Rufas Lawson (1865-1920).

Rufas Lawson (1898-1966).

Murrell.

Sources:

Hawkins Co. Marriages, Bk. 5, p. 9.

Submitted by:

Sam D. Lawson
1929 Hiker Trace
Columbus, IN 47203-3541

Rufas LAWSON 1865-1920

Rufas Lawson (ed: Sr.) was born in

Hawkins Co., Tennessee at Eidson on 29 November 1865. He was born out-of-wedlock to Iredell Campbell Willis and Sarah (Manis) Lawson, the widow of Palestine Lawson. Sarah "Sally" Manis was the daughter of Arthur L. and Analiza (Berry) Manis. Rufas (Sr.) was brought up by William and Eliza (Frazier) Lawson as their own.

Rufas (Sr.) married Sarah Ann Drinnon on 16 September 1882 in Hawkins Co. Sarah's maiden name was HAND. She had been married the first time to a man named Drinnon. She was born ca. 1860 and had a daughter from her first marriage, Laurie Drinnon, born about 1877. Laurie Drinnon married George W. Lawson, a son of Newton and Ellender (Gilbert) Lawson.

The children of Rufas (Sr.) and Sarah Ann Lawson were:

(A). John Lawson, born 9 September 1883. He married Cora Lee Harris on 10 August 1902. John died 9 January 1940.

(B). Harvey Lawson, born 4 August 1889, and died 8 August 1901.

(C). Clinton G. Lawson, born 24 September 1893. He married twice, secondly to Mattie Winstead on 16 April 1915. Clinton was shot and killed 27 April 1930.

(D). Eliza Lawson, born 6 May 1897. She married George Templeton on 14 October 1915. Eliza Templeton died 14 July 1952.

(E). Rufas Lawson (ed: Jr.), born 18 November 1898 at Eidson, in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Maggie Lawson on 23 November 1919. She was the daughter of Robert Lee and Lillie (Murrell) Lawson. They had two children: Ora Edith Lawson, born 15 August 1921. She married Alvis Garfield Seals 1 May 1936 in Hancock County, Tennessee; Ben Lawson, born 10 February 1924 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. Ben married 3 December 1945 at Sneedville, Tennessee to Dorothy Pauline Murray.

Maggie (Lawson) Lawson died 29 June 1924, and Rufas (Jr.) remarried to Quinie Belle (Trent) Smith on 9 November 1924 in Hancock County, Tennessee. She had been married first to Buttry Smith, and had two children: Johnny Raymon Redell Smith and Mary Rosavie Smith.

Rufas (Jr.) and Quinnie Belle (Trent) (Smith) Lawson had the following children: Annalee Lawson, born 17 August 1926 in Hancock Co., Tennessee. She married Guy N. Wolfe. Annalee died 6 June 1985; Trula Beatrice Lawson, born 20 May 1932 in Hancock Co., Tennessee. She married Henry Horace Horton; Delmer E. J. Lawson, born 12 December 1937 in Hancock Co., Tennessee. He married Laura Belle Hurley.

Rufas Lawson (Jr.) (born 18 November 1898), died at Sneedville 3 December 1966. Quinnie Lawson died 3 October 1988, and is buried at Big Hill Cemetery. Rufas (Jr.) is buried in the Lawson Family Cemetery.

(F) Willie Anne Lawson, born on 24 February 1902. She died 4 June 1910.

Sarah Ann (Hand) (Drinnon) Lawson died 20 March 1920. Rufas (Sr.) Lawson remarried to Ida Helton 9 October 1920. They had no issue. Rufas Lawson (Sr.) died 29 December 1920. Both Sarah Ann and Rufas Lawson (Sr.) are buried at Eidson, in Hawkins Co., Tennessee.

Related stories:

Rufas Lawson (1865-1920).

Iredell C. Willis.

Submitted by:

*Sam D. Lawson
1929 Hiker Trace
Columbus, IN 47203-3541*

Rufas LAWSON 1898-1966

Rufas Lawson (ed: Jr.) was born on 18 November 1898, in Eidson, Hawkins Co., Tennessee to Rufas (ed: Sr.) and Sarah Ann (Hand) (Drinnon) Lawson. On 23 November 1919, he married Maggie Lawson, a daughter of Robert Lee and Lillie (Murrell) Lawson. Maggie was born 9 July 1899, in Hawkins County, Tennessee. She joined Cobb's Chapel 8 February 1913. Her mother died when she was 3 years of age.

Rufas (Jr.) and Maggie had two children, Ora Edith and Ben.

Ora Edith Lawson was born 15 August 1921, in Hancock Co., Tennessee. She married Alvis G. Seals in Hancock Co., Tennessee on 1 May 1936. Their children were: J. C. Randell Seals, born 5 March 1937, died 4 April 1937; Quinnie Louise Seals, born 25 October 1939; Billie Jean Seals, born 18 February, 1942; Deloris Ann Seals, born 13 August 1944; Janice Faye Seals, born 18 June 1946; Kathrynine Seals, born 26 January 1949; Brenda Kay Seals, born 24 July 1951; Roger Dale Seals, born 4 November 1954; Teresa Pamela Seals, born 12 February 1958; Robin Renee Seals, born 1 March 1963; and Melissa Gail Seals, born 13 May 1966.

Ora Edith (Lawson) Seals passed away 19 July 1988 at Baptist Hospital in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Ben Lawson was born 10 February 1924 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Dorothy Pauline Murray on 3 December 1945 at Sneedville, Tennessee. Their 3 sons are Sam D., Ricky Ben, and Randy James.

Sam D. Lawson was born on 7 February 1947 in Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Kentucky. He married Mary Jill (Tatem) Voelz on 15 November 1969 in Columbus, Bartholomew County, Indiana. They have two sons, Jon C. and Paul J. Lawson.

Ricky Ben Lawson was born 19 November 1953 in Columbus, Bartholomew County, Indiana. He married Anita Patricia Klingsmith on 17 November 1973, near Taylorsville, Bartholomew Co., Indiana. They had a daughter, Willow Spring Lawson. Rick and Anita were divorced. Rick's second marriage was to Melissa Jane (LaMaster) Boas in 1984. After their divorce in 1988, Rick's third marriage was to Kathy (McNeil) Dunlap. This marriage took place in Bedford, Trimble County, Kentucky on 27 May 1989.

Randy James Lawson was born 28 July 1955, in Columbus, Bartholomew Co., Indiana. Randy married Peggy Kay Verbosky on 24 March 1979, in Hayden, Jackson County, Indiana. They had Benjamin M., Tyler J., and Jessica A. Lawson. They adopted a daughter, Wanda Garrity.

Maggie (Lawson) Lawson died 24 June 1924, shortly after the birth of her second child. Rufas (Jr.) remarried to Quinnie Belle (Trent) Smith, the widow of Buttry Smith, on 9 November 1924 in Hancock County, Tennessee. Quinnie was the daughter of Richard and Jane (Bowlin) Trent. Quinnie had two children from her first marriage, Johnny Raymon Redell and Mary Rosavie Smith.

Johnny Raymon Redell Smith was born 10 March 1921. Johnny married Jewell Vaughn. They had two children, Dewayne Smith and Verla Nadine Smith, born 4 February 1941. Johnny Smith was killed in action during World War II, about 1945.

Mary Rosavie Smith was born 29 August 1923. She married to Lloyd Elmer Drinnon 8 February 1946 in Middlesboro, Kentucky.

Rufas (Jr.) and Quinnie Lawson then had three children together: Annalee, Trula Beatrice, and Delmer E. J. Lawson.

Annalee Lawson, was born on 17 August 1926 in Hancock County, Tennessee. She married Guy N. Wolfe 6 September 1944 in Rogersville, Tennessee. They had three children: Norma Jean, born 24 June 1945; Christine, born 16 January 1947; and Terry Dean Wolfe, born 15 May 1952.

Annalee (Lawson) Wolfe passed away 6 June 1985 at Morristown, Tennessee. She is buried at Big Hill Cemetery.

Trula Beatrice Lawson was born 20 May 1932 in Hancock County, Tennessee. She married Henry Horace Horton 27 July 1957, in Hamblen County, Tennessee. They had five children: Freida Faye, born 10 May 1958; Rita Kaye, born 3 June 1960; Jeanie, born 23 August 1961; Billy Joe, born 10 December 1962, and Betty Dianne Horton, born 24 November, 1964.

Henry H. Horton passed away 22 April 1989, probably at Morristown, Tennessee.

Delmer E. J. Lawson was born 12 December 1937 in Hancock County, Tennessee. He married Laura Belle Hurley in Hawkins County, Tennessee on 19 June 1959. They had three children: Marty Gene, born 8 September 1960; Jennifer Carol, born 14 September 1961; and Cynthia Deloris Lawson, born 12 July 1963.

Rufas Lawson (Jr.) passed away 3 December 1966 in Sneedville, Tennessee. He is buried in the Lawson Family Cemetery in Hawkins County, Tennessee. His wife, Quinnie Lawson, passed away 3 October 1988 at Morristown. She is buried at Big Hill Cemetery.

Related stories:

Robert Lee Lawson.

Rufas Lawson (1865-1920).

Submitted by:

*Sam D. Lawson
1929 Hiker Trace
Columbus, IN 47203-3541*

Thomas J. and Lucy (SPEARS) LEE

Thomas J. Lee (b. April 20, 1824-d. September 30, 1893), son of James Lee and Hannah Hale, was married to Lucy Spears (b. March 28, 1823-d. early 1900's), daughter of Jesse Spears and Ferribe Haynes, on November 23, 1843. Ferribe was the daughter of Christopher and Frances Turner Haynes. The family moved to Missouri in 1850, but returned to Hawkins County in 1851. See the following story from Goodspeed History of Tennessee which was published in 1887.

"Thomas Lee, farmer, was born near St. Clair, Tenn., April 20, 1824, the son of James and Hannah (Hale) Lee, the former born in Hawkins County about 1786, and deceased in 1866. The ancestors of the Lees came from England, and James, a farmer, was in various battles of the war of 1812. The latter was well educated and held Democratic principles. The grandfather, Thomas, a farmer, also a native of Virginia, died in Hawkins County, in which he was among the earliest pioneers. The mother was born and died at dates corresponding nearly to those of her husband, and in the same county.

Our subject, the tenth of fourteen children, was twenty years old when he left the old homestead and began as a farmer on rented land for himself. In 1861 he enlisted in Company B, Thirty-first Tennessee Confederate Infantry as third lieutenant, and remained in service until the close of the war, engaging in the actions at Oak Hill (Miss.) and Big Black River, where he was captured May 17, 1863, and taken to Camp Morton, Indianapolis, Ind., then Fort Delaware, and after six months at these places, to Point Lookout, Md. In September 1864, he rejoined his company then in Virginia. He lost all he had during the war, but now owns 340 acres of land in this county, and has it greatly improved. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and is a Democrat who favors prohibition. Lucy, a daughter of Jesse Spears, became his wife in 1843. She was born in Hawkins County, March 23, 1823, and is a Methodist. Their children are (See Bible record below); those deceased are Jesse J., who was also captured at Big Black River, and died in the war prison at Point Lookout; Joseph N., deceased in this county, Maltenota, who died near Springfield, Mo., which State became their home for a time in 1850, and Christopher who died in Salem, Mo., in 1851, while they were enroute back to Tennessee."

The following is from the Lee Family Bible: Jesse J. (b. March 18, 1845-d. December 24, 1864), Eliza Jane Augusta (b. July 25, 1847-d. February 18, 1911), Joseph Lee (b. February 12, 1850-d. June 14, 1853), Joseph C. (b. November 8, 1853-d. October 9, 1858), John Brown (b. April 10, 1855-d. 1918), Maldenota (b. June 28, 1857-d. January 12, 1858), Sally E. (b. October 21, 1859-d. early 1900's), Thomas Denton (b. June 22, 1863-d. ca 1901), Edna Viola (b. February 23, 1867-d. September 23, 1940), and Samuel Spears Lee (b. August 25, 1869-d. July 12, 1952). There are discrepancies in Bible dates and the Goodspeed account.

Eliza married Martin Van Buren Kite on February 12, 1868.

John married Candace King (1861- 1944). Both are buried at Dodson Creek. Their children were Jimmie (b. 1882-d. 1887), Lucyemma (b. February 1885-d. December 11, 1972), and Robert Edward Lee (b. May 1889-d. December 25, 1951).

Denton married Rebecca Mildred Worsham on August 14, 1892.

Edna married Gaines Horner (b. September 22, 1866-d. April 25, 1955). Both are buried at Bent Creek, Hamblen County. Edna's gravestone gives her birth year as 1866, the Lee Family Bible gives 1865. The children of Edna and Gaines Horner are: Carl (1894), Lillian (1896), Virge (1899-), Carmel (1903-1959), Willie Ralph (d. December 31, 1991), and Allene Horner. The birthdates here are from Census records.

Samuel married Anna Cornelia Belle King (1885-1972) on February 6, 1905.

Both are buried at Dodson Creek. Their children are: Claude Spears (1906), Mary Ruth (1907), Willie Katherine (1909), James Denton (1911- 1990), Samuel Charles (1913-1980), Kenneth Douglas (1915), Blanche King (1917), John Brown (1919-d. in infancy), and Hal Winston Lee (1922-1989).

Related Story:

KITE-LEE

Submitted by:

*Mary Lee Widener
1649 Pineola Avenue
Kingsport, TN 37664*

LEONARD Family

The Leonard family of Hawkins County begins with a Hessian soldier who deserted the British and fought with the American forces for two years. His Revolutionary War pension record was transcribed and printed in Distant Crossroads, Volume VIII, No. 1, January 1991. The widow's pension No. W1625 was printed in the same issue.

There are many problems associated with researching John Leonard including his origins and his actual name. If he merely anglicized his German name, it is likely that it was Johannes Leonhardt. The marriage record from Greenbrier County, West Virginia shows that he married Edy Scarborough as John Leonard on 7 February 1797. The pension record says they were married in June 1796.

However, some records of the Louderback family in Hawkins County show that John married Elizabeth Louderback. More reliable records show that Elizabeth married James L. Coile. Since the original records of Greenbrier County have been lost, it seems possible that the transcriber could not read the date or the name and guessed that it was Scarborough. Since the Scarborougs were a prominent family, it seems unlikely that a daughter would marry a man of such humble origins as John Leonard. In an addition to the widow's pension application by Henry Louderback, he states that Edy and John were married in his father's house where she had lived for some time, but he does not say that she was his sister or any relation for that matter. In Edy's pension application she says that she was born 2 February 1771 in Virginia. Edy died after 1850. John died on 7 October 1841.

In John's pension application he describes his military affiliation in some detail, but a check of the roster records for that group does not show him as part of it. Of course we do not know for sure what his German name was. An extensive review of the HETRINA which supposedly lists all of the German soldiers serving in the colonies does not provide a match with his birthday which was 17 April 1754. However, there were a number of Johannes Leonhardts.

The Johannes Schwalm Association is an association that concentrates on the genealogy of Hessians, and it is their opinion that John Leonard is probably the Johannes Leonhardt who was born in Hohenzell, Germany. However, this is not proven.

Since John mentions a prayerbook and a hymnal in his pension application, and since Catholics did not have a hymnal at that time, we can assume he was Lutheran. An attempt to check Lutheran church records in Germany has not met with success.

In any event, John and Edy had seven children who are listed below, with what information we have.

David Leonard was born 30 March 1797, died 10 November 1874, and he married Margart Gray.

Elizabeth Leonard was born 14 February 1799, her death date is unknown, and she married James L. Coile.

John Leonard, Jr. was born 19 February 1801, his death date is unknown, and he married Jane, surname unknown.

William Leonard was born 5 February 1803, died in 1850, and he married Lydia, surname unknown.

Agnes Leonard was born 11 July 1805, her death date is unknown, and she did not marry.

Jacob Leonard was born 12 November 1807, his death date is unknown, and if he was married, he did not have children.

Edy Leonard was born 11 March 1811, her death date is unknown, and she did not marry.

Since the first son was named David and the second John, it seems possible that John Leonard's father was David Leonard. It was fairly common for Germans at that time to name their first son after the child's grandfather and the second son after the father. However, this is only a guess.

It is also interesting to note that the first daughter was named Elizabeth and that not until the last daughter was a girl named Edy.

The Lenoards lived for many years in Persia, a community approximately five miles south of Rogersville, TN, but there are none living there today. There are several in the Maryville, TN area who are descended from this couple.

A complete genealogy including this family from the earliest date to the present has been printed, and a copy is in the H.B. Stamps Library in Rogersville, TN.

I am a great-great-great grandchild of this couple, and I welcome correspondence.

Submitted by:

James H. Leonard
750 Laura Lane
Hanford, CA 93230-1618

The LIGHT Family

As you may know, if you have researched the Light families of Hawkins County, TN, there are many of them. And yet, almost every lead runs into a blank wall. We have been researching our family on both the Paternal and Maternal sides for about 8 or 9 years now. The Paternal side has yielded much and the Maternal side has been very rewarding also, with the exception of our Light ancestors.

William Light and Patience Morelock Light settled in Hawkins Co. many years ago and left many descendants in the area. One of these was my grandmother, Ida Light who married John C. Goad. Ida's mother was Rhoda Light and her father was Lowry Light. Lowry was married to Tennessee Morelock according to the 1900 census of Greene Co., TN and had two daughters, Emma and Oma.

After Lowry died, between 1910 and 1920, Tennessee married, either A.M. (Avery) Moore or his brother, J.H. Moore. These boys were the brothers of my grand-mother on my Paternal side, Kate Moore.

I do not know if Lowry and Rhoda were married before his marriage to Tennessee. Rhoda and her sister, Fannie Light, were the daughters of Samuel Light and Elizabeth Strop (Stroupe). Fannie was the mother of Sallie Light, who married Charlie C. Scalf, singer and song master. Samuel Light was the son of Stacy Light and Rhoda Morrison. I have not been able to nail down if Stacy was the son of John Light, Sr., but I truly believe that he was, and John was the son of William Light.

Children of Stacy Light and Rhoda Morrison Light were: Tempe Light, born about 1829; Baylis Light, born about 1836; Nellie Light, born about 1838; Samuel Light, born about 1843, married Elizabeth Strop (Stroupe); and Lucinda Light, born about 1845.

Children of Samuel Light and Elizabeth Strop (Stroupe) Light were: Rhoda Light, born about 1866, married William (Bid) Morelock, and Frances (Fannie) Light, born about 1868, married Nate Light, and later Johnson Hensley.

Children of Rhoda Light and Bid Morelock were: Rosa Lee, born about 1886; and Bertha Pearl, born about 1888, married Crawford.

Children of Rhoda Light and Lowry Light were: Ida Light, born about 1890, married John C. Goad; and William R. Light, born about 1894.

Children of Fannie Light (sister of Rhoda) and Nate Light were: Martha Ann; and Sallie Light, married Charlie C. Scalf.

Children of Fannie Light and Johnson Hensley were: Vernie.

Children of Fannie Light and Morrison were: Ette, married Isom Hensley; and Sammy, married Creedie Mullins.

Children of Sallie Light and Charlie C. Scalf were: Ezra Scalf, born 1929, married Dolly Jewel Hill; Talmedge Scalf, born 1930, married Imogene Rice; Ellis C. Scalf (1933-1982), married Mildred Robinette; Margie Darlene Scalf, born 1935, married Bob Fink; Dorothy E. Scalf, born 1937, married Clarence Calton; Phyliss Scalf, born 1940, married Kenneth Campbell; Mary Lou Scalf, born 1944, married Charles Wayne Kilgore; and Floyd Scalf, born 1948, married Judy Hammonds.

Related Stories:

The Goad Family.

William and Patience Light.

William and Patience Light, their Children and Grandchildren.

Light-Skelton.

The Scalf Family.

Submitted by:

*Margaret Scalf Fleenor, and Mary Scalf Kilgore
518 Springview
Kingsport, TN 37664*

William "Billy" and Amanda (NIX) LIGHT

The family of William "Billy" and Amanda (Nix) Light came from Waverly, Humphries Co., TN and settled near Ladonia, Fannin Co. Texas in 1853, not many years after Texas was annexed by the United States. It is believed that this William is the great grandson of John Light of Halifax Co., VA, grandson of William Light of Hawkins Co., TN, and son of Wright and Elizabeth Light of Humphreys Co., TN. At the time of Billy and Amanda's emigration from TN to TX, their family consisted of: Wright, born 1841; James "Jim" Young, born January 1, 1845; William Vache, born February 13, 1846; Rufas "Ratty" H., born October 26, 1847; Nancy "Nan" E., born 1848; Sarah A., born April 25, 1851; and Elmeta Jane, born October 22, 1852, all born in Tennessee. Three more children were born in Texas: Eliza C., born March 14, 1854; Franklin O., born March 6, 1856; and Amanda Lovica, born October 1859.

William and Amanda Light purchased a farm of some 200 acres about 13 miles southeast from Bonham on the North Sulphur River in September 1862. The children grew up there and after "Billy's" death in 1881, it was purchased from the other heirs by his daughter Sarah Ann Holt (1/1883).

In the War Between the States both Wright and Jim served as privates in the Confederate Army. William Vache was just shy of 15 years old when Texas voted to secede, but he served the South by hauling wagonloads of cotton from Texarkana to Matamores, Mexico. The Texas coast was blockaded in July 1861, and cotton was Texas' primary source of export revenue.

Captains of French and British ships anchored at the mouth of the Rio Grande paid $1 gold/lb. of cotton. These dollars were spent to purchase guns, medicine and tools for the Confederate Army.

As the Civil War drew to a close, Billy and Amanda's family began to separate as marriages were made and new families were established: Wright Light to Mary E. Colvin, December 27, 1866; Jim to Lucinda Cannon, July 20, 1865; William Vache to Sarah Virginia Davis, October 9, 1870; Nan to Franklin B. Holt; Amanda L. to Roe Lee; Sarah Ann to Andrew H. Holt, March 3, 1870; Elmeta Jane to Elbert Meredith Bartley, November 5, 1876; Eliza C. to Charles A. Lee. Franklin O. and Ratty never married.

As the new families formed, they scattered abroad. William Vache bought a farm west of Wolfe City on the Rainbow Ranch of the South Sulphur River in 1873. His wife, Sarah V. Davis was the daughter of Mary A. (Terry) and Luther G. Davis of Greene Co., IL, and granddaughter of Andrew B. and Margaret D. (Waggoner) Terry, who'd settled in Fannin Co., Republic of Texas in 1842.

The children of Wm. V. and Sarah V. Light, all born in Wolfe City, were: (1) Laura Lillian, born September 24, 1871, married Rev. Joseph Randolph Smith July 29, 1888, died October 2, 1927; (2) Maude Alma, born February 14, 1874, married Bradford Monroe Fitzgerald, died June 8, 1924; (3) William "Willie" Perry, born August 17, 1876, died October 26, 1877; (4) Francis Marion, born March 6, 1878, married Myrtle Weathers October 3, 1897, died December 16, 1960; (5) David Aaron, born July 26, 1883, married Lessie Belle Reeves January 1, 1912, died October 12, 1918; (6) Jesse Elizabeth, born December 11, 1886, died October 11, 1887; and (7) Loyd Manuel, born May 4, 1890, married Ivy May Reynolds, May 10, 1912, died January 5, 1929.

William Vache and Sarah V. were both buried in the Rehobeth Cemetery in Fannin Co. near Wolfe City. He is remembered lovingly by his descendants as a fine and gentle Christian, active in the Baptist Church throughout his life. In his later years, having retired from farming, he lived with various relatives rather than maintaining a separate home and so was well-acquainted with many of his grand- and great grand-children. He lived to the age of 96.

Related Story:

Wright and Elizabeth Light.

Submitted by:

*Francie Thomasson Lautner
1410 Wren Ct.
Arlington, TX 76013*

William and Patience LIGHT, Their Children And Grand-children

William and Patience Light were among the first wave of settlers to join the traders and trappers in Northeast Tennessee when they arrived in the late 1770's or early 1780's. They had left the Difficult Creek area of Halifax County, Virginia, probably following the death of William's father, John Light (Halifax County, VA Deeds 11:409).

The sparse records from the turn of the Eighteenth Century provide a brief glimpse of a typical pioneer family. Shortly after they arrived in the mountains of then North Carolina, the Revolution came to the mountain people. William and Patience's sons, Vachel and John, joined the militia fighting for their land and independence against the British, Loyalists, and Cherokees. Rendezvousing at Dungan's Mill near Jonesborough in the fall of 1780, their militia joined Colonel Isaac Shelby's forces mustering at Sycamore Shoals. From there they marched to the Battle of Kings Mountain (Revolutionary War Pension files: #S4549, John Light; #S1551, Vachel Light) where the American mountain militias defeated the loyalists and British regulars commanded by Colonel Patrick Ferguson. In 1781, they again marched, this time against the Cherokees, recovering Cherokee plunder and burning several Cherokee towns, including the Cherokee capital at Chote. In 1786, the remoteness of the mountain region and the preoccupation of the new state government of North Carolina with problems on the piedmont and tidewater led to charges that the welfare and protection of the mountain settlers was being ignored. William and sons Vachel, John, and William joined John Sevier and the other founders of the short-lived State of Franklin to sign the petitions to the North Carolina State Legislature requesting that North Carolina cede the territory for a new state.

We think that William probably first settled near the Watauga settlement, but by the 1790's he was on Horse Creek in Sullivan County. He, his son Vachel, and Henry Light (who may have also been a relative) were on the tax lists in Sullivan County in 1796 and 1797. In 1811, William bought land across the divide from Horse Creek in the Beech Creek valley of Hawkins County (Hawkins County Deeds 6:402-403), where he died in 1817. His will names his children: Jacob, Vachel, John, William, George, Wright, Joshua, Michael, Patience, Susannah, Eleanor, and Prudence.

We believe that Vachel was William's oldest son. He was born in Halifax County, Virginia, in 1763 (Vachel Light Pension Application). He remained on Horse Creek when his father moved to Hawkins County. He was still alive when requesting attention from the pension office in 1843 and may be the pensioner identified as "R. Light" who died in 1850 "of old age" (1850 Sullivan County TN Mortality Schedule). If so, his wife's name was Sarah.

John Light was born in 1766 in Halifax County (John Light Pension Application). He was probably the earliest of the brothers to come to the Beech Creek valley. He is there in one of the earliest tax lists we have from Hawkins, in McWilliams' militia company (1809 Hawkins County Tax List). John lived on Beech Creek through 1840 and disappears before the 1850 census, probably dying during that decade.

Joshua Light was born in Halifax County, c1769. He and his wife Nancy lived first on one side and then the other of the Hawkins-Sullivan County line through 1860. In the 1860 census, Joshua, aged 91, and Nancy, age 85, are living on Beech Creek in Hawkins County with a Jacob Light who was probably their grandson.

William's sons, William, George, and Michael Light, left Hawkins County around 1811 (Hawkins County Deeds 3:297-298). They are probably the Lights which appear in the 1830 census in Dickson County, Tennessee. Another son, Wright, is probably the one appearing in nearby Hickman Co., Tennessee, in the 1830 census.

Jacob was the youngest of William and Patience's sons. He inherited his father's settlement in Hawkins County through the 1817 will. He may be the Jacob Light who appears in the 1830 census on Beech Creek, or he may have died by that time. Rachel Light who appears as a widow on that census may have been his wife.

Patience was probably the oldest of William and Patience's daughters, born in the 1770's in Halifax County, Virginia. She married Flower Mullins, another Revolutionary pensioner, and raised a large family on Beech Creek. Although some of her descendants may be among the Mullins on Beech Creek today, others moved on to Scotland County, Missouri, and Johnson County, Illinois.

Eleanor Light was born about 1780, probably after the family moved to Tennessee. She married John Light of Greene County, Tennessee, who was probably a cousin, son of William's brother Jacob Light. John and Eleanor raised their family in Greene County, before Eleanor moved to Maries Co., Missouri, where she died in 1864.

Susannah Light was born in the 1780's in Tennessee. She married, before 1817, Levi Rice. Levi and Susannah remained in Hawkins County. We believe that some of their descendants moved to Johnson Co., Illinois.

Prudence Light married a member of the Mohrlock (ed: spelled "Morelock" today) family that lived on Beech Creek. Nothing more is known about her.

William Light's grandchildren were numerous on Beech Creek in the 1820's and 1830's. In fact, the few records from that period make it difficult to identify the parents of various members of this third generation. Beginning in the late 1830's and through the beginning of the Civil War, many left the valley for the West. A large migration settled in Maries, Laclede, Crawford, and Pulaski Counties, Missouri. This included Michael who married Eliza Dykes, Samuel, Wright who married Elizabeth Dalton, Dorothy who married Thomas Dalton, Joshua who married Polly, plus the children of Eleanor and John Light. Others went to Scotland and Clark Counties, Missouri, and Lee County, Iowa. This group included Patience who married John Dalton, and some of the children of Patience and Flower Mullins.

Another group of grandchildren stayed to raise their families on Beech Creek. This group included John who married Jane Morrison, Stacy who married Jane's sister Rhoda (Hawkins Co. Deeds 17:190), Vachel who probably married Sarah Barnard, Wright, Winney daughter of Joshua, and Nancy who married Yancey Mohrlock (Tennessee Civil War Veterans Questionnaires, p. 1609), Jacob, William who married Elizabeth, and James. By the Civil War, a large colony of Lights remained on Beech Creek to suffer the dangers of the divided loyalties in the valley.

Along Beech Creek under Chimney Top Mountain the Lights raised their children on small farms in the early nineteenth-century. The single road that is today State Route 347 followed the creek and the farms dotted either side. The sugar camps on the slopes of Chimney Top provided their syrup, the orchards provided a variety of fruit, and the small fields the grains. The Lights and their neighbors, the Daltons, Mohrlocks, Mullins, Morrisons, Barnards, Balls, and Dykes signed each other's deeds, married each other's children, and ultimately many left the valley with each other's families.

Related Stories:

Early Daltons on Beech Creek.

William and Patience Light.

Wright and Elizabeth Light.

Sources:

Hawkins County TN Deeds.

Hawkins County TN Marriages.

Hawkins County TN Wills.

Hawkins County Tax List, 1809.

1830 Federal Census Dickson, Hawkins, Sullivan, Hickman Counties, TN.

1840 Federal Census Hawkins, Sullivan Counties, TN.

1850 Federal Census Hawkins, Sullivan Counties, TN, Laclede, Maries, Crawford, Pulaski, and Scotland Counties, MO.

1860 Federal Census Hawkins, Sullivan Counties, TN.

Revolutionary War Pension Files: John Light, Vachel Light, Flower Mullins, National Archives, Washington, D.C.

Petition from the inhabitants of the Western Counties (State of Franklin Petitions), 1787, N.C. State Archives, Raleigh.

Sullivan County TN Tax Lists, 1796, 1797.

1850 Federal Census Mortality Schedule, Sullivan Co. TN.

Tennessee Civil War Veterans Questionnaires.

Maxine Kincheloe.

Jerry Kasperek.

The author extends special appreciation to Barbara Ragsdale who has been a co-researcher in reconstructing the Lights on Beech Creek.

Submitted by:

*James F. Klumpp
1457 Casino Circle
Silver Springs, MD 20906*

William and Patience LIGHT

Many of the Light families of 19th Century Hawkins and Sullivan Counties were descendants of William Light. It is believed that William was the son of John Light of Antrim Parish, Halifax Co., Va., whose will was proven 29 June 1790. He names his sons as William, Jacob, and John; the latter inherited William's real estate in Halifax Co. William and Jacob moved from Halifax Co. to Eastern Tennessee, and Jacob, subsequently, to South Carolina before 1793. John's wife was Bridgett, and they had three daughters; Hannah Brown, Sarah Childree, and Agness Moody, all of whom are named in John Light's will. John appears in Land Entry Books of Halifax Co., VA as early as 1746. He is also listed as one of the first constables of Halifax Co. in 1752, but, other than the land records, few details of his life have been unearthed as yet.

That the Lights of East TN lived in Halifax Co. previously is indicated in the Revolutionary War Pension Applications filed by John Light of Hawkins Co. and Vachel Light who resided in Sullivan Co., who both indicated they were born in Halifax Co., VA. Vachel stated that he resided in Halifax Co. at the time the Revolutionary War broke out and that he enlisted in 1780 in the Virginia Militia. John stated that he moved from Halifax Co. to what was then Washington Co., NC (subsequently TN) before he entered military service in September 1780 which indicates that he was among the earliest settlers of the area. While there are a number of Light relatives bearing the same given names as William Light's sons, both in VA and TN, these two Revolutionary Soldiers are thought to be sons of William because of their ages relative to William's other children and other relations of the same given names.

Both Vachel and John Light fought the British during their enlistments although Vachel served in Virginia and John met the British and Tories as they tried to escape from the Battle of King's Mountain. Portions of John Light's application for pension for Revolutionary service indicate that TN frontiersmen faced opposition on more than one front. He describes activities in his second term of service in 1781 which included entering the Cherokee Nation to recover horses that had been stolen from the settlers but also for the purpose of weakening Cherokee opposition to settlement of the area by burning several of their towns and killing any Indians who might be a threat to local communities. These problems in addition to those inherent in establishing new towns and governments must have made life very difficult for the citizens of what was to be Hawkins County.

Land records of Washington County indicate that Jacob Light (William's probable brother) received a land grant from NC 17 August 1787 which he subsequently sold to Samuel Melvin when he moved to SC. It is not known whether Jacob preceded his brother William in the move from Halifax to Hawkins Co., but it's possible he was in the vanguard of early residents and encouraged William and other families to make the move. The earliest deed record for William Light which has been found is for the purchase of 300 acres on Beech Creek in Hawkins Co. dated 20 April 1812, originally purchased by Philix Walker from the State of NC in 1790. However, William Light and his son Vachel appear as earlier landowners in 1796 and 1797 tax lists of Sullivan County. Vachel's land there was also located on Beech Creek.

William Light's will dated 25 September 1817 is found in Hawkins Co. Will Book I, p. 311. In it he names his wife Patience, eight sons and four daughters as follows: Vachel, John, William, George, Wright, Joshua, Michael, and Jacob; Patience Mullins, Susannah Rice, Elenor Light, and Prudence Morelock. No further records of Patience Light have been found to date. It is believed that some of William's sons stayed in the locale except for Wright, George, William, and Michael who removed to Middle Tennessee prior to William's death. Jacob, which William's will indicates was his youngest son, inherited William's farm on Beech Creek. John, Vachel, and Joshua appear as late as 1840 in the U.S. Census in Hawkins and Sullivan Counties, but their families and vital records dates have not been determined by this researcher, nor have those of the daughters of William and Patience Light. Details of Wright Light's records are recorded separately.

The preceding information is pieced together from many sources and as a result may not be altogether accurate since some connections are not verifiable in more than one source.

Related Stories:

William "Billy" and Amanda Nix Light.

William and Patience Light: Their Children and Grandchildren.

Wright and Elizabeth Light.

Submitted by:

*Francie Thomasson Lautner
1410 Wren Court
Arlington, TX 76013*

Wright and Elizabeth LIGHT

Wright Light, according to the census records, was born before 1775, probably in Halifax Co., VA to parents William and Patience Light. He is named as a son in William's will of 1817 in Hawkins Co., TN and probably moved to Hawkins Co. from Virginia with various members of his family before the turn of the century.

What has been discovered about Wright Light, son of William and Patience is that he served as a Private in Capt. Andrew Beaty's Company in the regiment commanded by Gilbrath Christian, Esq. of Sullivan Co. Militia from September 1793 to December 1793. No pension records have been found. No other records for Wright Light have been located in Hawkins County.

In 1812 Wright Light appeared on the Tax List return of Capt. People's Company in Humphreys Co. TN, so it would appear that he moved to middle Tennessee before his father's death in 1817. Various deed and census records indicate that several other brothers of this Light clan also moved to the Middle Tennessee counties of Dickson and Hickman from Hawkins Co., namely William, George, and Michael. George's official documents in Hawkins Co. seem to end with a sale 17 March 1814 of 200 acres to John Light. He is next found serving jury duty in 1817 and purchasing land in Dickson Co. from Edmond Howard. Michael Light also purchased land in Dickson Co. in June 1826 on Tumbling Creek, the deed being witnessed by George and Right Light. All four men appear with their families on the 1820 U. S. Census with George, William, and Michael residing in Dickson Co. and Right in Hickman Co.

On 29 September 1843 a land grant was recorded for the heirs of Right Light which had been entered originally on 5 February 1820. This was for a 100-acre parcel of land on the south side of the Tumbling Creek of Duck River. It is believed that Wright Light died in 1839 since Humphreys County Court Minutes of the November Term noted that letters of administration had been granted to Elizabeth Light, presumably his widow, and Vachel Light, presumably his son. While Wright Light was mentioned in various other records of this period, little else of his personal life is known. He apparently died without a will since no record was found, but an inventory and sale of his personal property is found in Humphreys Co. records, and the estate was settled on 6 October 1841. The estate consisted of a number of farm animals--cows, hogs, sheep and horses, farm equipment, and household furnishings that one would expect to find on a farm. Purchasers who were probably close relatives at the estate sale of Wright Light, other than the Widow Light, were Elizabeth Light, P. Light (probably Peter), V. Light (probably Vachel), and Sarah Light. Reference is made in Volume 1 of Humphreys Co. Court Minutes to the settlement of the estate of Elizabeth Light by Administrator B.B. Spicer, which indicates that she died before 1850. William Light, most probably the "Billy" discussed below, acted as security to B.B. Spicer.

Early Census records, which indicate approximate age and sex of children, and coincidence of the sale of land and emigration dates would indicate that Wright Light was the father of up to six sons and three daughters of whom William "Billy" Light was one. The others were probably the family of William and Amanda (Nix) is detailed in a separate narrative.

Related Stories:

William and Patience Light.

William and Patience Light: Their Children and Grandchildren.

William "Billy" and Amanda Nix Light.

Finding the right Wright Light.

Submitted by:
Francie Thomasson Lautner
1410 Wren Ct.
Arlington, TX 76013

Finding the right Wright LIGHT

An old Light story says that when my great-grandfather Wright Light was born, his father held him up and said, "This boy is right light!" There were at least five Wright Lights in Tennessee, all probably related to the William and Patience Light family group of Hawkins County, Tennessee. The 1817 Hawkins County will of William Light shows a wife Patience and twelve children: Vachel (b. 1763); John (b. 1766); William (R.); George; Wright; Joshua; Michael; Patience Mullins; Susannah Rice; Elenor Light; Prudence Morelock; and Jacob. The Revolutionary War Pension affidavits of Vachel Light (b. 1763) and John Light (b. 1766) both state they were born in Halifax County, Virginia. John states he moved to Washington County, North Carolina before 1780. The 1790 Halifax County will of John Light Sr. (d. 1790), husband of Bridgett, shows six heirs, including the Hawkins County William Light; they are William, Jacob, John, Hannah Brown, Sarah Childree, and Agnes Moody. In his will John stipulated that "my old horse Dick may be continued on the Plantation unsold."

A December, 1787 Petition of the Inhabitants of the Western Country, in Volume XXII of the State Record of North Carolina on 5/27/1834, is signed by William Light, William Light Jr., John Light, Jackel (probably Jacob or Vachel) Light, and some other familiar Middle Tennessee surnames. The petitioners propose the "erecting of a new Government, complaining that they "travel from one to two hundred and more miles through some other State 'ere we can reach our government." They complain that the amount of taxes owed exceeds "the whole of the medium (cash) now in circulation."

John Light (born 1766) probably passed through Middle Tennessee as early as 1781 on a raid under Colonel Clark and Captain Smith "for purposes of entering the Cherokee Nation and weakening them by burning their towns," according to John Light's 1834 Hawkins County affidavit. One of the Cherokee towns was "Chota" on the Tennessee River. John Light describes his experiences as a private in the North Carolina Service at the Battle of King's Mountain at the age of fourteen. Guarding the prisoners after the battle, we "hung some of the Tories who had been most active and troublesome during the contest with the British." John Light was the seventh generation of a line of Virginia planters. The 1744 Lancaster County Virginia will of George Light included a sword, a pair of silver shoe buckles, and "my gun my Father gave me."

The first two generations of this line of Hawkins County Lights, London merchant John Light of Bishopgate Street and his son George, sailed to Virginia in 1648 for the first time. Several generations of George Lights lived in York, New Kent, King and Queen, and Lancaster Counties in Virginia, before two Lights surveyed land in Halifax County, then Lunenburg County, Virginia in 1746. These settlers were John Light (died 1790) and George Light (died 1778).

Several persons named Wright Light appear in Hawkins County records.

Wright Light(1), son of William and Patience Light, appears in the 1817 Hawkins County will of William Light. As a veteran of 1793 Frontier Wars, he was probably born before 1780.

Wright Light(2), son of DAR soldier John Light and wife Ellandar, married Margaret Bailey in Hawkins County, and moved to Maries County, Missouri with brothers Enoch Light and Flower Light. His brother Obidiah Light stayed in Tennessee. The Maries County Historical Society has several pages on this family.

Wright Light(3), probably the son of Wright Light(1) was born in 1795 and lived in Sullivan County, Tennessee. See the 1850 Tennessee Census.

Wright Light(4), (3/4/1851-2/8/1920) married Judah Hickman. This Wright Light was the son of a Jacob Light, father of Kyle B. Light, grandfather of Harry L. Light of Rogersville, Tennessee.

Wright Light(5), (a. 1842-1917), my great grandfather, was the son of William "Billy" Light and Amanda of Humphreys County, Tennessee. Wright Light(1) also owned land nearby in Humphreys County suggesting that Wright Light(1) is probably the grandfather of Wright Light(5). This Wright Light(5) moved to Fannin Co., Texas before the War Between the States, marrying Mary Elizabeth Colvin. Their descendants include my grandfather, father, brother, nephew, all named Harve Clifton Light.

All of these Wright Lights appear to be descendants of the William and Patience Light family group of Hawkins County, Tennessee. I am not sure who of the DAR Roll of Honor soldier John and Ellandar Light descended from. Perhaps they are descended from John Light Jr. or Jacob, William Light's brothers from Halifax.

I have found few other Light surnames of English-Episcopal origin in the Virginia records between 1700 and 1775, except those in old Lunenburg County, and Lancaster County, Virginia. The sequence of George Lights and neighbors that also moved to Lunenburg County, lead me to believe that the William and Patience Light family group are descended from John Light (born a. 1590) of Bishopsgate Street, London, England. The Bristol Record Office Entries have numerous references to the Light surname throughout the Virginia Colony as early as 1636. These ancestors of Hawkins County residents have many interesting stories to tell. The Light surname is among the oldest settlers in America, at least seven generations before the Revolutionary War. Many Hawkins County citizens are at least fourteen generations in America.

Related Stories:

William and Patience Light.

William and Patience Light, Their Children and Grandchildren.

William "Billy" and Amanda Nix Light.

Wright and Elizabeth Light.

*Submitted by:
Stephen W. Light
P.O. Box 428
Haslett, MI 48840*

LIGHT-SKELTON

John C. Light was born in Hawkins County, TN about 1827-31. We do not know the names of his parents. We believe that he was the great grandson of William Light. In 1817 in Hawkins County, William left a Will naming his wife, Patience, and their twelve children.

John married Anna Jane Skelton on 13 February 1853 in Hawkins Co. Jacob Light signed as surety for their Marriage Bond. There were a Jacob and a John living with Joshua and Nancy Light on the 1850 Hawkins Co. Census. The age given for John, age 16, was a little young; however, the ages on these early censuses were not always accurate and we are not sure of the correct date of John's birth. We have no proof that this was the same John or how he was related to the others living in this household. Joshua was the son of William and Patience Light.

Anna Jane Skelton was born on 13 May 1838 in Hawkins County. She was the daughter of Samuel Skelton and his first wife, Susannah Casey. Samuel was the son of James Skelton and his first wife, Anna Curry, daughter of Samuel Curry, Sr. and Mary Seawright.

John and Anna Jane moved frequently and never owned any property. This has made it difficult to trace their movements and to prove some of the family stories. We found them on the 1860, 1870, and 1880 Hawkins County Censuses. However, we have been told that they moved to Illinois twice for brief periods of time before finally settling there in the early 1880's. One of their granddaughters, Mary Ragsdale Wilson, told us they were living in Johnson Co., IL at the time their daughter, Susie, died in 1858. She was buried in an unmarked grave. According to Mary's story, the night that Susan died, John was playing the violin for a dance. He believed that God was punishing him for playing at dances and he never played the violin again. Anna Jane's obituary states that while John was serving in the Confederate Army, she drove a team of oxen from East Tennessee to Illinois. After his discharge John joined them. Their daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, was born while they were living there.

On some of the Illinois censuses, we have found some other families who seemed to have been from Hawkins Co. and related to John and Anna Jane. They may have accompanied some of these families as they moved to IL. We do not know why they did not remain in IL the first two times.

John and Anna Jane had nine children: Julia Ann, born 11 February 1854; Susan (Susie), born 9 August 1857, died 3 March 1858; Mary Frances, born 29 December 1859; Catherine M., born 4 October 1861; Launie Isabel, born 24 October 1863; Sarah Elizabeth, born 17 February 1866; John M., born 17 September 1873; Rebecca Jane, born 26 April 1875; and Elijah I. (Lige), born 4 August 1879.

During the 1880's, John again moved his family to Johnson Co., IL. Three of their daughters were married and remained in Tennessee for several years. After the deaths of their husbands, they all moved to IL. and remarried. Julia Ann married William Mowell on 8 February 1874 in Hawkins Co. They had three children: John T., Amos, and Cecil (a daughter). Catherine M. married Jacob Mowell, Jr. on 1 October 1881, and Mary Frances married a Smith. We have been told that the two grandchildren living with John and Anna Jane in 1880 were the children of Mary prior to her marriage. We have no further record of Peter, age 5, and Elizabeth, age four months on the 1880 Census. We have been told that they moved to the midwest but we are not sure if this is correct.

John died 21 March 1886 in Johnson Co., IL. Anna Jane died 1 June 1933 in Union Co., IL at the home of a daughter. Both John and Anna Jane, most of their children and many other members of their family are buried in the Pleasant Grove Cemetery in Johnson Co., IL.

Their daughter, Rebecca Jane, married Henry Harrison Ragsdale on 5 June 1895 in Johnson Co., IL. They were the paternal grandparents of Odell Ragsdale.

Submitted by:

*Odell and Barbara Ragsdale
503 Moncla Ave.
Belle Chasse, LA 70037*

Enoch LIVESAY

Enoch Livesay, grandson of Thomas Livesay of Lancashire, England, was born 28 October 1804 in Grayson Co., Virginia, and died in 1877 in Hancock Co., Tennessee. He was the eleventh and last child of George Livesay (son of Thomas) and Nancy Anderson (daughter of Peter Anderson) who married in Grayson Co., VA in 1781, and lived there 25 years along Bridle Creek, before moving to Lee Co., VA, and then to Hawkins Co., TN in 1816. George Livesay was a Revolutionary War Soldier, and in 1793 he was an officer in the Grayson County Militia.

In 1822 Enoch Livesay married Mary "Poly" Wilbourn (1804-1842), parents unknown. He built a log cabin Northeast of the Clinch River along Turkey Creek, near Kyle's Ford. He was a farmer and blacksmith.

Enoch and Polly were the parents of seven children: James (born 1825), married Sarah Bledsoe; Stephen (born 1826), married Margaret Anderson; Mary (1829-1897); William H. (born 1833), married 1st Emily, 2nd Amelia; George (born 1835), married Armina Testerman; Wilbourn (born 1837), married Sarah Bloomer; Claiborne (born 1840), married Anna Johnson.

Mary "Polly" Livesay, my great-grandmother, was born 16 February 1829, and died in 1897. On 17 May 1848, "Polly" married William Roberts (1824-1861), the son of Joseph and Amy Roberts. Joseph Roberts died ca. 1833, and his wife Amy died ca. 1855.

William and Polly were the parents of nine children, all born in Hancock Co., TN: Millus "Milly", Joseph, George, Enoch Jesse, Susan, Jane, Celia, Sarah, and Mary Ann.

William Roberts died of pneumonia during the Civil War, in 1861, at Flagpond, where the family was living, about two miles north of Kyles Ford. According to family record, "Polly" Roberts, widowed, with nine children, loaded a wagon with family and possessions and travelled to Crab Orchard, Kentucky, the children walking alongside the wagon during part of the journey. She lived with or near a relative there, returning to Kyles Ford after the Civil War.

On the 1870 Census, Polly and 4 children are living with her father, Enoch Livesay and his second wife, Rachel Anderson, at Kyles Ford. Her other children are listed as living with other relatives and neighbors in the area, including my grandfather, Joseph Livesay Roberts, age 20, residing with Stephen Livesay and family. Joseph Livesay Roberts was born 13 November 1850, and married Barbara Sweet 14 December 1874, at Crab Orchard, Lincoln County, Kentucky. She was the daughter of Isaac L. Sweet and Susannah Hysinger, and the sister of Hannah Sweet.

About 1877 Polly Roberts married widower Jacob Eller, grandfather of Jacob H. Eller, who married Polly's daughter, Celia Roberts, 4 December 1877 at the home of the bride's parents.

Jacob H. Eller and Celia had ten children: Mary Ann Roberts married Joseph White, and they had twelve children; Milly Roberts married Anderson Marcum; George Roberts married Nancy Jaynes; Enoch Jesse Roberts (1853-1918) married Barbara Jane Bishop; Jayne Roberts (died age

92) married L.H. Wallen; Sarah Roberts married L.H. Barner; Susan Roberts no additional information; Joseph Livesay Roberts was a railroad construction superintendent, he moved westward from Tennessee, and his first two children, William Isaac (born 1875) and Joseph Henry (born 1876) were born in Tennessee; George R.E. Lee Roberts (born 1879 in Kansas); Susan Charlotte (born 1883 in Kansas; Wade H. (born 1887), and my father Grover Cleveland (born 9 January 1893 Las Animas, Colorado, died 13 January 1982 Sonora, California).

My mother, Katherine Cecilia Convey (7 March 1890 Joliet, Illinois-12 March 1966 Stockton, California) married Grover C. Roberts, 25 November 1914 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Pueblo, Colorado. Witnesses were Kathryn M. Hollywood, and James P. Convey.

I am the youngest of four children, born 12 January 1922 in Pittsburg, California. I have four children: Michael Mager, Linda Mager, Patrice Henson, and John Mager. I have four grandsons: Joshua and Donovan Mager, Nathan and Brian Henson, and six granddaughters: Kristen Mager, Andrea Mager, Bridget Henson, Brittney Mager, and her twin sisters Ashley and Sydney, born 16 November 1992.

Submitted by:

*Gloria Roberts Oxley
12370 Big Hill Rd.
Sonora, CA 95370*

Benton Henry LIVINGSTON Family

The family history of Lucy Victoria Livingston, wife of Clyde W. Johnson, traces back to Alexander Livingston who died in 1547. He was the first of three generations of Ministers of the Scottish Church.

William Livingston, son of Alexander, married Agnes Livingston. In 1600 he was Minister at Ninyabonck and in 1614 Minister at Lauach. He died in 1641.

John Livingston, son of William, was born at Monabrock in Sterlingshire, Scotland on June 21, 1603 and died on August 9, 1672 in Holland. He married Mary (Janet) Fleming, and was a celebrated Scottish Divine. They had two sons that came to America. Robert, born about 1651 and settled in Albany, N.Y. William, born about 1653 lived in Ireland and came to America from Ballyhinch County Down in Ulster, Ireland in 1697 and settled in South Carolina. William was first ruling elder, then minister of the Circular Church (Presbyterian) in Charleston, S.C. from 1704 until his death in 1720.

John Livingston (ca. 1690-1775), son of Robert, was Vestryman and Warden in Stratton-Major Parish church, King and Queen County, Virginia from 1754 to 1761.

John and Mary's children were: Samuel; Paul B.; John, Jr.; George (1706-1772); William Todd; and Henry.

William Todd Livingston was born in England in 1730 and died in 1778, married Sarah Ware prior to sailing to America about 1745 or 1750. Two or three of their children were born in England. William sailed to America with two of his brothers, Samuel and Henry. They settled in North Carolina on the Yadkin River and built a mill on Mulberry Creek. One of the brothers built a ship and sailed for England for goods and was supposed to have been lost at sea.

William Todd emigrated to Washington County, Virginia in 1770. He was one of the first settlers in this community. In 1774 he received 400 acres of land from his father.

William and Sarah's children were: John, who married Rachel Freeman; William, whose wife was Isabel Wilson; Katherine, wife of William Wilson; Peter; Susannah, whose husband was William Head; Samuel, (1757-1834) husband of Phoebe Head; Elizabeth, who married Thomas Elliott; and Henry, whose wife was Mary Farish.

Peter Livingston, born in 1755 and died in 1815, married Elizabeth Head. Their children were: Susannah, (1784-1827) wife of Richard Fulkerson (1780-1852); Mary (Polly), whose husband was James Jett; William, died while a minor; Henry, whose wife was Mary Hawk; Nathan Francis; Henrietta, (1793-?) who married Solomon Osborne; Sarah, wife of Henry Frasier; Frances; Katherine, wife of Wood Osborne; Elizabeth, who married Jonathan R. Wood; Peter, married Catherine Benham; Phoebe, wife of David Culbertson; and Nancy, wife of Robert Tate.

Nathan Francis Livingston, born in 1792 and died 1865, married Mary Fulkerson, born 1794. Their children were: Peter Francis, husband of Sarah L. Crockett; Abraham J.; James G., husband of Mary Ann Cooper; Sarah M., wife of George Frederick Cooper; William Head, who married Dorothy Jane Cooper; Henry A., husband of Rebecca A. Williams; Elizabeth K., wife of James Walker; Nathan Francis, married Elizabeth Neill; John S.; Mary V., who married John Walker; Katherine, wife of Jonathan Howard; Henrietta R., wife of Lewis Brown.

Abraham J. Livingston, born in 1811 and died in 1898, married twice. The children by his first wife, Mary B. Ewing were: Benton Henry; Mary E. (Lizzie), husband of A. J. Bray; Marion W., married Ellen Lawson; and Medora E.

The children by his second wife, Lucy Tyler Bishop were: Nathan B., husband of Cora Loyd; Lavina J.; and Sarepta J., married William T. Anderson.

Benton Henry Livingston and Matilda Catherine Hill, both of Lee County, Virginia were married March 5, 1867 at the home of C.M. Hill by the Rev. John Wiley Robinett. Benton was born August 24, 1842 and died October 17, 1905. Matilda was born February 20, 1851 and died February 2, 1926. Both are buried on the family farm they established 1 mile north of Mooresburg, Tn. The family log home in Blackwater, Va. was still standing in 1985. Benton served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. After the war he returned to his farm and served as a preacher in the Methodist Church South having been confirmed at Rye Cove Academy July 12, 1868.

Matilda was the daughter of Charles Hill and Martha Jane Duff. Her Grandfather was Benjamin Hill and Great-Grandfather was Dr. John S. Hill who emigrated from Scotland. She had four sisters: Emily, who married F.C. Anderson; Victoria, who married a John Robinette; Mary, who married a Lawson and lived in Bakersfield, Calif.; and Belle, who married a Chandler and lived to be 105. Two brothers died in infancy.

Benton and Matilda's children were: James M. R.; Mary J., born 28 January 1870, died 22 June 1894, contracted cholera from a water well; Wright S., born 28 July 1872, died 21 May 1894 from cholera; Sarah (Sallie) E. H.; John Boring, born 24 November 1876, died 17 June 1894 from cholera; Lucy Victoria, born 24 July 1878, died 5 August 1968, married Clyde W. Johnson; Lodeas (Logan) Ewing; Sarepta Byrde; and Eva Engenia.

James M. R. Livingston, born 25 February 1868, died 11 October 1888, was a student at John Hopkins Medical School when he became ill, and his mother took him home where he died.

Sarah (Sallie) E. H. Livingston, born 28 October 1874, died 26 June 1958, married Newt Stubblefield who was killed by a run-a-way team of horses on their farm. Sallie later married App Campbell. They adopted a baby boy, Jack Campbell, who now lives on the homeplace in eastern Grainger County, Tn. near Bean Station.

Lodeas (Logan) Ewing Livingston, born on 27 April 1882, married Jenny Ruth Petty. They had one son Robert N., who married Virginia Walters, and they had two sons.

Sarepta Byrde Livingston, born on 2 April 1884, married H.T. McClain Sr. (Uncle Doc). They had three children, H.T. Jr., Katherine, and Virginia.

Eva Engenia Livingston, born 17 July 1891, married George Moore. They had 5 children, George E., Lillian, Jay, Eugene, and Mary Lynn Moore Cook.

Related story:

The Thomas Johnson Family

Submitted by:

Clyde D. Johnson
P.O. Box 188
Hampshire, TN 38461

John LONG

John Long (1735-1826) was born in Londonderry, Ireland, and "brought by his parents to this country about 1853." He was the son of Joseph and Ann Long of Augusta County, Virginia. Joseph Long left a Will in Augusta County naming the following children: Samuel, Henry, Joseph, John, Agnes Calhoun, Gennet, Elizabeth, Ann, and Ruth Long.

John Long married in Virginia to Jane Young Henry (c1738-prior to 1826), the daughter of Robert (Sr.) and Mary Young of Augusta County and later Washington County, TN. They settled in Washington County, Virginia about 1772. Later they moved to Carter's Valley, Hawkins County, about 1775.

They lived in the area of the New Providence Presbyterian Church, Stoney Point. John and Jane were among the charter members of the church. It is thought Jane Young Long was buried in the New Providence Presbyterian Church Cemetery; however, there is no stone there for her.

After her death, John Long went to live with his son, Robert Long, in Grainger County, TN, "Just across the river from Hamblen County about four or five miles from Morristown." John Long had sold his farm in Hawkins Co. and went to live with his son who had lost his beloved wife, Isabella Leeper Long. It has been said the "two widowers" reared Robert's children at his home "Riverside."

John Long was a soldier in the Revolution in Col. Shelby's Regiment, NC Troops. He served in the Battle of King's Mountain. His second enlistment was in July 1781 in the 10th Regiment, Brevard's Company, Continental Line, NC. He was separated from the service July 1782 and was immediately appointed as a Justice for Hawkins County in the formation of the new State of Franklin.

John and Jane Long reared seven children: Joseph Long; James Young Long; Nancy Long Looney; Robert Long; John Long; Ruth Long Leeper; and Jane Long Williams.

John Long was buried in Bethesda Churchyard Cemetery, Hamblen County.

Jane Long was Robert Douglas Young's aunt.

Related Story:

Robert Douglas Young

Submitted by:

Dessie L. Simmons
500 Hillrise Blvd.
Johnson City, TN 37601

John Blair LOONEY

John Blair Looney, the son of Absalom Looney and Sallie Starnes Looney, and grandson of Revolutionary War Veteran Michael Looney and his wife Temperance Cross Looney, born on 14 August 1828 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, and died near Rogersville 10 December 1906, married 1860 Martha ("Mattie") Ellen Charles, born 4 May 1840, died 3 December 1916, daughter of John Rogers Charles (1811-1869) who married 1837 Mary Gillenwater (1817-1844). John Blair is buried beside his parents in the Absalom David Looney Cemetery in Hickory Cove. Martha is buried in the Charles Cemetery, located on the old John Rogers Charles farm. Martha and John Blair Looney were the parents of eight children: Lillie Morgan Looney, Orville Bradley Looney, Absalom David Looney, Mitchell Starnes Looney, Charles Looney, Lida Ann Looney, Gaines Hasson Looney, and Ella Myrtle Looney.

Lillie Morgan Looney: born 14 September 1862, died 10 June 1917; married Robert Johnson Looney on 16 November 1882. Robert's parents were Elizabeth Caldwell Johnson and Joseph Payne Looney. Both Lillie and Robert were great-grandchildren of Michael and Temperance Cross Looney. Robert and Lillie were parents of nine children.

Bettie Caldwell Looney (1883-1906).

Murry Gaylord Looney (1885-1886).

Ella Mae Looney (1889-1977) married William Reece Yonas, and had three children: Nettie B. Yonas, Mary Lee Yonas who married Conrad Wohlwend, and Robert Reece Yonas who married Catherine Fegley.

Eliza Pearle Looney (1890-1968) married Hiram Darter.

Aubra Eulala Looney (1893-1971) married Carl Brobeck, and had eight children: Harold Brobeck married Carrie Marcum; Lealon Brobeck; Robert Brobeck; Helen Brobeck; LeRoy Brobeck; William ("Billy") Brobeck married Rose Gibson, and had twins Daisy and James Brobeck.

Ethel Kenner Looney (1895-1983) married Winfrey B. Carter, and had four children: Lena Helen Carter married Clarence David ("John") Noe; Elmer Looney

Carter married Mary Moore; Frances Hope Carter married Joseph Noe, then Marion Moore; Lucille Joyce Carter married Arrie Cradic.

Starnes McBride Looney (1898-1973) married Pearl Bellamy, and had one child: Cornelia Looney married Harold Pack, then James Bolin.

Lida Mick Looney (1901-1980) married Perry Blevins Pearson, and had three children: Robert Looney Pearson who married Ellen Sinagra, Jean Blevins Pearson who married Doyle Anderson, and Paul Ernest Pearson who married Dorothy Barlow.

Robert Vance Looney (1905-1907).

After the death of Lillie, Robert married Mrs. Linnie Lena Jones Cope, born 27 January 1879. They had no children.

Orville Bradley Looney was born about 1864, went to Boise, Idaho, and died there in 1943.

Absalom David Looney was born 1866, died February 1939, and married 4 August 1897 to Lena Catherine Schlafer of Illinois. Lena was born 1872. Absalom and his family made their home in Oregon, but died in California. They had one child, Genevieve, who married Edward Rudolph Anderson.

Mitchell Starnes Looney was born in 1871 and married Rosa Anderson, who was born 1873 and died 1946 in Hawkins County, the daughter of Marvel and Nancy Anderson. Starnes died in 1958. They are buried at Surgoinsville, Tennessee. Nine children were born to this family: Esther Anderson, Paul Starnes, Robert Burton, Hazel, Laura Lou, Genevieve Katrina, Benjamin Anderson, Rogers Charles, and Lloyd Baker Looney.

Charles Looney was born later than his brother Absalom, sometime between 1866 and 1871. He was afflicted by palsy and never married. Charles died in 1923, and is buried beside his mother in the Charles Cemetery.

Lida Ann Looney: born October, 1873, and married September 1903 to James Robert Brotherton (born September 1874). Their farm was part of the John Looney homeplace. Lida Ann died in 1954. Six children were born to the Brothertons: Elizabeth Imogene, James Blair, William Charles, Laura Lee, Kelsie Dawn, and Mary Ruth Brotherton.

Gaines Hasson Looney was born 1875, and he married Lena Klepper. They had one known child, Ray Klepper.

Ella Myrtle Looney, born June 1877, married J. Carmack Charles (grandson of Mary Ann Looney Carmack, daughter of John and Elizabeth Looney of Stanley Valley). Myrtle and her husband went to Idaho about 1897/8. There were several girls born to them: four of whom were Thelma, Edna, Genevieve, and Jalah. Thelma, Edna, and Myrtle are buried "out west". J. Carmack Charles disappeared years ago leaving no trace.

Related stories:

Michael and Temperance (Cross) Looney.

William Carroll and Rachel Payne (George) Looney.

George Robert and Harriet (Birchfield) Noe.

Andrew J. and Roxie Orval (Looney) Wood.

Sources:

Information from the Mick Looney Pearson Collection/with others.

Submitted by:

*Linda Noe Bland
Route 4
Church Hill, TN 37642*

Michael and Temperance (CROSS) LOONEY

Michael Looney was born near Hagerstown, Md., in 1751. He was the first born of Absalom Looney and his wife, Margaret. He lived with his parents in 1754 on the Bluestone in Virginia, a branch of New River when his grandfather Robert sent for the family because of danger from the Indians, and offered Absalom part of the homeplace. A grandson of Michael said Granddaddy Mike was 5 ft. 10 in. tall and distinguished looking.

Mike was in his twenties when Patrick Henry screamed "Give me Liberty or Death." Mike was #30 on the list in Captain Henry Paulding's Company and fought in the Battle of Point Pleasant, West Virginia in 1774. He served in Lord Dunmore's War of 1775. He was mustered out between 1775 and 1777.

School books in existence indicate that Mike was in pursuit of an education before the surrender of Yorktown. Michael carried a Bible with him through the war, and an old arithmetic book with Michael Looney, May 27, 1777, in it. It has been acknowledged with the Seal of the County Court Clerk, R. E. Easley, Shawnee, Oklahoma, placed on it by W. G. Looney at age of 80 years, a great grandson of Michael.

According to family tradition it was in 1780 that Mike rode horseback from Virginia to North Carolina (now Tennessee) and bartered for land. There are several versions of this transaction. One says he bought 1500 acres of land from a Mr. Stanley for 12-1/2 cents an acre. Another says Mike traded a span of horses to Mr. Stanley for a claim with a cabin on it. The story most often told, and the one most plausible, says that Mike traded to Mr. Stanley his horse and a long knife for an entry with a cabin on it. Long knives were valuable to a horseman on a long journey. Entries were there for the taking.

In 1780 Michael Looney married Temperance Cross, an immigrant Irish girl, in Botetourt County, Virginia, and brought her to his home in beautiful Stanley Valley, now Tennessee. Around 1782 a spacious new log house was built by Mike. Later the house was weather-boarded and the place was later known as the Old Looney Place. For over a hundred years it held love, life and laughter and became a familiar landmark in Stanley Valley, preserved and treasured by three generations of Mike's descendants.

An interesting fact is told that about 1806 Mike's brother, Jonathan, and their cousin, Ben, of Craig County, Virginia, with Daniel Boone stopped off on their way to Kentucky. Our tradition says they prevailed on Mike to make the trip with them. On their return Ben was killed by Indians and Jonathan was captured and held a prisoner at Cumberland Gap. It is said Boone stopped at Michael's place on more than one occasion.

Ten children were born to Mike and Tempe in their beloved log cabin home. Eight went out into the world to reflect honor on the name of their parents. An infant son, Peter, and a young daughter in her early teens, Ann, were the first to be laid to rest in a sacred plot, high on the side of a hill, to become known years later as the "Old Looney Graveyard."

Tempe died (1830 or 1840?) and Mike broke up housekeeping and lived among his children. He spent some time in Middle Tennessee with his daughters, Polly and Margaret, and son, Michael, Jr., and made a trip to Missouri to visit a son, William. After his return to Hawkins County, he made his home with son, Benjamin. He had deeded the last of his land to his three sons living in Hawkins County - the homeplace to youngest son, John, in 1829. John was born there and was buried by the side of Michael and Tempe in the family cemetery. Absalom David was deeded land in 1829 and Benjamin received his deed in 1830.

The children of Michael and Temperance Looney were: Mary (Polly) who married Sherrod Williams; Margaret who married Dangerfield Rice; William who married Rhoda Stubblefield; Michael, Jr., who married Susannah Matthews; Peter deceased in infancy; Absalom David who married Sarah Jane Starnes; Benjamin who married first Jennie (Jane) Caldwell and second Jennie (Jane) Brice; Rachel married Joseph McVey; Ann deceased in early womanhood; and John who married Elizabeth Johnson.

Condensed by E. Looney from compilation by Mrs. Elsie Wood Stroud in 1959.

Related stories:

John Blair Looney.

William Carroll and Rachel Payne (George) Looney.

Andrew J. and Roxie Orval (Looney) Wood.

Submitted by:

*Miss Elizabeth Looney
(great-great-great-granddaughter of Michael and Temperance Cross Looney)
2800 Woodley Rd., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20008-4139*

William Carroll and Rachel Payne (GEORGE) LOONEY

William Carroll Looney was born in Hawkins County, Tenn., June 9, 1822, and died at his home west of Morristown, near Alpha, Hamblen County, Tn. Sept. 11, 1893. He was eldest son of Absalom David Looney (1790-1862) and Sallie Starnes (1799-1874) who was one of the nine children of John Starnes and Sally Jane Adams (Craig Co., Va. to Lee Valley, Tn.).

William Carroll Looney married in 1845, Rachel Payne George, step-daughter of James Johnson. Rachel was the daughter of George and Annie Payne, who was the daughter of John Payne and Annie Parker.

There were nine children born to Carroll Looney and his wife, Rachel. Two died in early childhood (Louisa and Frances), and were buried in the family cemetery in the homeplace.

William Carroll Looney and his children were born on the original homeplace of Absalom David Looney, deeded to him by Michael Looney in 1829, located 7 and 1/4 miles east of Rogersville, the county seat.

In about 1870 Carroll sold his Hawkins County farm on Big Creek and bought land in Hamblen County, five miles west of Morristown, near the small town of Alpha. Here he became a progressive leader of the community, a steward of the Panther Springs Methodist Church and a member of the Masonic Lodge. The Looney home was known for hospitality and became a mecca to tired traveling Circuit Riders of that area. His grave in the churchyard cemetery at Economy, near Morristown, is marked by a tall brown marble monument inscribed with name, dates, a Masonic square and compass, and the motto:

"His toils are past, his work is done, He fought the fight, the victory won."

William Carroll was a staunch Democrat, admired Grover Cleveland and the governor of Tennessee, Peter Turney.

The nine children born to William Carroll and Rachel Payne George were: Rebecca Ann, who married Perry C. Bettis; Sarah Isabella, who married William Thomas

Johnson; Rowena Catherine; Louisa, who died as a child and is buried in the family cemetery in Hawkins County, Tenn.; Frances, who died as a child and is buried in the same cemetery; Matilda Josephine, who married Alonzo Rankin; James Johnson, who went to Texas when young; Edward Ervin, who married Armilda Haecker; and Roxie Orval Looney, who married Andrew Johnson Wood.

This information is condensed from manuscript prepared by Mrs. Elsie Wood Stroud, granddaughter of William Carroll Looney and Rachel Payne George Looney. She is the daughter of Roxie Orval Looney and Andrew Johnson Wood.

Related stories:

John Blair Looney.

Michael and Temperance (Cross) Looney.

Andrew J. and Roxie Orval (Looney) Wood.

Submitted by:

*Mary Elizabeth Looney
(great-great-great-great granddaughter of Michael Looney and Temperance Cross Looney)
2800 Woodley Rd., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20008-4139*

William Gaines and Ida Marguerite (RAY) LOONEY

William Gaines Looney was born December 12, 1854, the youngest child of James Gaines Looney and his first wife, Polly Ann Johnson. William Gaines was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee, and died in Shawnee, Oklahoma, ca. 1935, where he made his home for many years. He was nine days old when his mother died of scarlet fever and was taken by his aunt, Louisa Morgan Looney Hutchison, and kept until he was 10-1/2 years old. He then went to live with his father who had remarried in 1856, to Nancy Jane Harrell, daughter of Daniel and Nancy Ann Harrell of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

When W. G. reached maturity, he and his brother, App, made a trip to Mitchell, Oregon, where they remained for ten years, operating a sheep ranch. After what they considered a prosperous venture, they both returned to Hawkins County, Tennessee.

William Gaines married Ida Marguerite Ray on March 10, 1903, in Knoxville, Tennessee. She was the daughter of James Henry and Mary E. Ray of Maryland, born September 12, 1867. They had two daughters: Ida Gaines Looney, born March 21, 1904 in Shawnee, Oklahoma, who married William Wallace Seward and they had one daughter, Margaret Ellen born August 9, 1941.

The second daughter was William Louise Looney, born August 22, 1910, in the home of her parents, Shawnee, Oklahoma, who married William Harrison Bailey, September 26, 1935. They have one daughter Rhea Beth, born May 22, 1945. Louise received a B.A. Degree, majoring in drama and English, from the University of Oklahoma and taught school in Oklahoma and Missouri, where she resigned in 1945.

Billy, as his family and friends in Hawkins County called him, was a poet and had many of his poems published while he made his home in Oklahoma.

The above information was prepared by William Gaines Looney and sent to Mrs. Elsie Wood Stroud.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. William H. Bailey
(William Gaines Looney's daughter)
424 Colony Woods
Kirkwood, MO 63122*

Thomas MADDUX

About 1819, Thomas Maddox, son of Jacob Maddox and Sarah Morrow of Virginia, married Frances (Franny) Roberson in Hawkins County. Their eleven children who were all born in St. Clair, Hawkins Co., were: William Hamilton, who died as a small child; Ann, married Washington Campbell; Elizabeth, married George King Beale; Sarah (Sally) married George W. Brooks; John Roberson, married Lydia Farris; Mary, married someone with the surname of Neely; Lucinda (Lucy), married Thomas Brooks; Jacob Hamilton, who was killed by a sniper on his way to join the Civil War; Catherine, married John Brooks; James Hamilton, married (1) Orlena Tharp, and (2) Mary A. Tharp; Robert Hamilton, married Elizabeth Ann Finley.

There is a story in the family which says that John Roberson, a Welsh sailor, lost his wife in the early 1800's. He brought his three young children from Wales to relatives at Bean Station, TN. The children were: Frances, her sister Axie, and brother John. Their father went back to sea and was never heard from again.

The relatives left with the children, bound them out to different masters to work for their room and board. The master who took the girls was strict, but the one who took John was harsh and cruel. He beat the boy until he was unconscious and left him for dead. John was found by an old slave woman who hid him and nursed him back to health, so that he could escape. She let his sisters know that he was alright, but wouldn't tell them where he was for fear that his master might find out and go after him. When Axie grew up, she married Spencer Horner. They lived at Hilham, TN.

About 1860, Thomas Maddox and Fanny bought a farm in Overton Co., near Livingston, TN. In 1870, Thomas was driving a wagon hitched to a team of horses one day, the horses ran away, and he was thrown from the wagon and killed. Fanny died in February 1878. They are both buried in Bethlehem Methodist Cemetery at Livingston.

Thomas Maddox and Ann Roberson's oldest living child, Ann, born in 1823, married Washington Campbell ca. 1840 in Hawkins County. Washington was the son of Absalom Campbell and Winnie Alice Sevier of Russell Co., VA. Washington and Ann's children were: James; Anderson, killed 12 March 1863 at the battle of Germantown; John, married a girl named Malinda; Sarah, married (1) Sam Waldroupe, and (2) John F. Cue; Mary, married Harry Cline; Martha, married Paskel Taylor; Aaron, while still young, climbed through a fence carrying a gun which went off and killed him; Thomas; Charles Edward, married Elizabeth Jane Carter.

About 1850, Washington and Ann moved their family to southern Illinois, then about 1870, moved to Winfield, Cowley Co., Kansas where they are both buried.

Thomas and Fanny's tenth child, James Hamilton, born 10 October 1842, married Orleana Tharp in 1866. Their children were: Archibald Lee, married Sally Maddux; Permelia Frances, married Will Thrasher; Mary (Molly) Elizabeth, married Jim Bell.

Orlena died, and in 1875, James married her sister Mary Angelina Tharp. Their children were: Willie Hines, married (1) Rosa Lee Creel, and (2) Minnie E. Hubbard; Arva Dawson, married Dora Jane Bayer; Robert Thomas, married Tollie Pierce; Eddie Gideon, married Ella Bittick; Hattie Cornelia was killed by lightning at age 17; John Huston, married Laura Vanderhaven; Nettie Arlena, married Nathan Louis Tharp; Benton McMillan, married a girl named Ethel; Beatrice (Betty), married L. Zimmerman; and Lucy (Anna) Maddox.

James Hamilton Maddox was a Civil War veteran, having been wounded at the Battle of Chickamauga. He was taken captive at the Battle of Vicksburg and was released after the war. He and Mary Angelina are buried in the Port Cemetery at Port, Oklahoma.

Submitted by:

Shirlee Crow
2001 Tennessee St.
Vallejo, CA 94590

Malin A. MANIS and Family

Malin A. Manis, resident of Hawkins County, Tennessee was a direct descendant of Seth Manis, Revolutionary War soldier. Seth, born March 1792 in Bedford County, VA, married Patsey Fields, and to this union were born six sons: Jacob Wilson, born 1780; William, born 1782; Jesse, born 1790; John; James; George; and a daughter Tempa.

Seth's son, Jesse married Alsey Lawson and to them were born six children: Clinton, Dollason, Jesse, Sterling, Eldridge, and Webby.

Sterling, born 1829, married Rachael Manis 29 November 1842 in Hawkins County TN, and to them were born the following children: William Quillen, born June 1849; Malin A., born 20 January 1851; Rosa, born 1853; Martha; and Jesse. During the Civil War, Sterling served as a Private in Co. E, 43 Tennessee Infantry (5 East Tenn Vols., Gillespie's Regiment) in the Confederate Army. He enlisted 15 November 1862 at Lenoir, Tennessee and his record shows him being present April 1863.

The Manis family Bible shows that Malin A. Manis married Sarah Elizabeth Hilton 25 July 1870 near Grassy Springs. Isaac Rimer, minister, officiated, and Enoch Rimer was a witness. Sarah was born 20 May 1848, daughter of James and Mary (Polly) Hilton in Virginia. To Malin and Sarah were born the following children: Amanda E., born 9 May 1871, m/1 Dennison, m/2 Seane, died 9 July 1896; John, born 4 November 1873, married Drucilla Dean; Martha Jane, born 21 May 1876, married Wm. Harve Price 24 December 1891, died 12 September 1944; Luna E., born 24 November 1878, married James Cody 24 March 1896, died 29 April 1904; Jesse B., born 13 July 1880, m/1 Cena Jones, m/2 Sarah Jones; and LuVirna, born 24 March 1885, married Andrew Jackson Carter 18 August 1901, died 12 January 1958.

Malin's grandchildren remember him as a short, portly man; one who liked to talk and tell funny stories. The family also liked to sing and some of the descendants traveled about the country singing gospel songs at various church meetings and other gatherings.

Deed books in Hawkins County show that Malin and Elizabeth owned various parcels of land in the 3rd district. They are both buried in Jones Cemetery, East Pumpkin Valley, Eidson, just inside the Hancock County line.

Submitted by:

Ruby Mae Price

John MARSHALL Family

John Marshall was born around 1764 in Virginia and died in Hawkins County, Tennessee on 10 December 1826. He married on 23 November 1785 to Ann Long, who was born circa 1762 and died 13 September 1835. They had ten children, all born in Hawkins County: Elizabeth, born 9 October 1786; William, born 2 January 1788; Joseph born 10 February 1790 and died December 1813; George, born 17 January 1792 and died November 1792; Rutledge born 7 September 1793 and died December 1793; John, born 6 February 1795; Jean, born 1 August 1797; Thomas born 12 July 1800, married Mrs. Casey Grey, a widow; David R., born 20 January 1805, married Mary Caroline Rea; and Ann, born 11 May 1813-31, died May 1888, married Joseph Rea, and moved to Stoddard County, Missouri.

Joseph Rea and Mary Caroline Rea were both children of William and Sarah Vernon Rea/Rhea. Joseph's daughters, Elizabeth Emiline and Virginia Caroline, married Scisms and moved to Oregon. Also see the story of the Scism family history in this book.

The area on the Holston River in Hawkins County near the Marshall home was called "Marshall's Deep Water."

Related story:

The SSources:

The Scism & Allied Families, compiled by DeLos Scism, Scism Family Association, 1942.

June Moore Hayes, Great-great-great granddaughter of John and Ann Marshall.

Submitted by:

Jo Walker Liggett

(Great-great-great-great-great granddaughter of John & Ann Marshall).

2706 S. 25th St.

Terre Haute, IN 47802-3402

William and Susannah (WOLFE) MARTIN

My husband, Joe N. LaRue, traces his family tree back to Hawkins County, Tennessee, through his great-great-grandparents, William MARTIN and Susannah WOLFE. We were well aware of their lives in Benton County, Arkansas. William was postmaster at the Pea Ridge post office almost 14 years when his daughter, Martha, became the first woman postmaster in Benton County following in her father's footsteps. A legacy of William's estate is a wooden works shelf clock that we display on our living room wall. It was made by Elisha HOTCHKISS after 1820 in Burlington, Connecticut. A paper glued inside the back of the clock indicated a dealer "near Nashville, Tenn." We have speculated as to whether this clock was purchased as the William MARTIN family moved from Hawkins Co., TN to Benton County, AR between 1848 and 1850. The style represents the Federalist Period and required restoration as authentic as possible.

Research has revealed that both William MARTIN and Susannah WOLFE were probably born in Hawkins County, TN. Although family tradition points to Susan's parents being Dennis WOLF and Polly BEAR, documentation shows George WOLFE and wife, Polly are probably correct.

George WOLFE, Sr. was born ca. 1765, possibly in Virginia and married Mary (Polly) circa 1790. They were the parents of 13 children: (1) Valentine WOLFE, born ca. 1791, married Mary; (2) Hannah WOLFE, born ca. 1793, married Peter OGAN and had 6 children; (3) Katharine WOLFE, born ca. 1795; (4) John WOLFE, born ca. 1797 in TN, married Mary HOLLOWAY about 1818 and had 13 children; (5) Elizabeth WOLFE, born circa 1799 and married BULL; (6) Barbara WOLFE, born circa 1801, married James MURRELL; (7) Sarah (Sally) WOLFE, born circa 1803 in TN, married William ELROD on 12 December 1824 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 30 October 1875, and is buried in New Florence, MO; (8) Mary (Polly) WOLFE, born ca. 1805, married Howell Cobb BREWER (his 3rd wife) on 3 September 1838, died 2 June 1896 in Owensley Co., KY; (9) Susannah WOLFE, born ca. 1807 in TN, married William MARTIN circa 1828, died 16 July 1851 and is buried at Twelve Corners Cemetery, Benton Co., AR; (10) George B. WOLFE Jr., born ca. 1809, married (a) MILLIKIN, (b) Louisa MILLIKIN; (11) Nicholas WOLFE, born ca. 1811, married Nancy GREENE ca. 1837, moved to Osage County, MO in early 1860's; (12) Margaret WOLFE, born circa 1813, was unmarried in 1840; (13) Alla (Allie) WOLFE, born ca. 1815, married Ellis MILICAN.

George left a will dated 15 April 1837, proved 2 September 1839. An 1862 settlement lists Susan and William MARTIN's children inheriting 1/9 each since Susan had died previous--a document I have only had reference to. Mary (Polly) WOLFE, wife of George, was born circa 1770 and died after 1840. She was executrix of her husband's will.

William MARTIN's parents were also early residents of Hawkins Co., TN. They were Thomas MARTIN, Sr., born between 1770-1780 in TN. His wife, Elizabeth, was born ca. 1785 in Virginia. They were the parents of 10 children as follows: (1) James MARTIN, born 17 May 1801; (2) John Martin, born 12 June 1803 in TN, married Margaret; (3) Mahala (Mahaly) MARTIN, born 2 January 1806 and married SULLIVAN; (4) Thomas MARTIN, Jr., born 9 February 1808; (5) William MARTIN, born 18 March 1810 in TN and married (a) Susan WOLFE, (b) Mary, died 31 July 1866 and is buried at Twelve Corners Cemetery, Benton Co., AR; (6) Aaron MARTIN, born 28 June 1812 in TN, married Sarah; (7) Paschal MARTIN, born 6 September 1816 in TN, married Nancy COPE, died 2 November 1896 and is buried at Twelve Corners Cemetery, Benton Co., AR; (8) Absalom MARTIN, born 1819 in TN, married Elizabeth; (9) Elizabeth MARTIN, born 1823 in TN, married Wilkinson LAWSON; and (10) Abijah MARTIN, born in 1824 in TN, married Susan GILBERT on 8 April 1849, died ca. 1880-1890 in White County, TN. Thomas' will was dated 17 May 1847 and was proved 5 July 1847. His wife, Elizabeth, was still living with son, Abijah MARTIN on the 1850 Hawkins Co., TN census.

Sources:

Hawkins County Genealogical and Historical Society.

American Origins, by Dr. David B. Trimble.

Handling The Mail in Benton County, Arkansas, 1836-1976, by George H. Phillips.

Eastern Cherokee Applications, U.S. Court of Claims, 1906-1909.

U.S. Censuses of Hawkins and Hancock-Cos., TN

Correspondence with many dedicated genealogists.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Joe N. LaRue

1917 Avenue C

Billings, MT 59102

James H. MAXWELL

James H. Maxwell (1840-1930), son of Harriet Justus and Samuel Maxwell, was born in Buncombe County, North Carolina. He came to Hawkins County, TN as a young man. He married Miss Starnes, near Rogersville, and they had three daughters: Willie Mae Martin (1874-1969), Hattie Miller (born 1875), and Lena Peavler (1877-1958). They settled in the States of Washington and Texas. Mrs. Martin had no children, but Mrs. Miller had a son, Bill, and Mrs. Peavler had a large family in Texas. Willie Maxwell, before her marriage, taught school in Hawkins County - at least one year at Cedar Bluff School (I believe in the Looney's area).

Mr. Maxwell fought in the Civil War as a Confederate, at which time a family servant accompanied him.

After his wife's death, Mr. Maxwell married Matilda Ann (also known as Annie) Galbraith (1859-1908) of Galbraith Springs. She was the daughter of Teresa Lopez Lee (1815-1899) and Joseph Galbraith (1813-1905). Teresa was the daughter of Sarah Tinsley (1794-1872) and Edward Lee (1788-1873) of Lee Valley. The Maxwells built a lovely large house near Mooresburg known as "Belle Aire" on a sizeable acreage. He bought and sold cattle while she worked hard in the local Methodist church to help build a new church. They had 4 daughters: Mary Lee, Lucy Galbraith, Jenny Cornelia, and Ada Teresa.

Mary Lee Maxwell (1882-1969) graduated from the University of Tennessee - the second coed from Hawkins County to do so. After some years teaching in Hawkins County, she went to Louisiana where she married Alex Andrews. She was recognized there as an outstanding teacher and civic leader. She had 4 children: James, Martha, Mary, and Ada. She lived, died, and was buried near Delphi, Louisiana.

Lucy Galbraith Maxwell (1884-1976) was also a graduate of U.T. She taught school 2 years, and then married Charles J. Beal. She was married at "Belle Aire" on October 11, 1911. They had three children: Charles, Jr., Matilda Ann, and Mary Teresa. "Miss Lucy" as she was affectionately called, was a tireless church worker and played the Ebbing & Flowing United Methodist Church organ well past her eighty-seventh birthday. She and her husband are buried in the Ebbing & Flowing Spring Cemetery - near where they always lived.

Jenny Cornelia Maxwell (1886-1921) came home from college to be helpful to her family and in December, 1919 she married Ernest Rogers, also of Mooresburg. She passed away 2 years later and is buried beside her mother in Galbraith's Cemetery.

Ada Teresa Maxwell (1890-1958), after college and extensive medical training in New York, taught music at Tusculum College, the University of Tennessee, State School for the Blind, and early on she taught briefly at Mooresburg. Her later years were spent in Knoxville, TN where she is buried. She was unmarried.

After his second wife's death, Mr. Maxwell married Isabella Mitchell, originally from Sneedville, TN. She was a house mother in a small North Carolina college where his daughter was a teacher. She was so nice to him when he visited that he went back until he married Miss Mitchell. They had one daughter, Edith Lois (1913-1988) who was an honor student in Rogersville High School, later graduated from Tusculum College and got her master's degree from U.T. She taught in Hawkins County, Hancock County, and spent 34 years in Linden School, Oak Ridge, TN, near where she lived. She married Joseph Lloyd Mahan, a school superintendent, who preceded her in death, and both are buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Memphis, as their bodies were willed for scientific purposes at U.T., Memphis.

James H. and Isabella Mitchell Maxwell (who died at age 95) are buried in Highland Cemetery in Rogersville. The eight daughters are gone, but grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great grandchildren carry on the family tradition - if not the family name.

Related Story:

Thomas Amis.

Sources:

Family Bible.

Family papers.

Census records.

Submitted by:

Mary T. Beal Doty
(a granddaughter)

223 Bell St.
Blountville, TN 37617

James and William McCARTY Families

DARBY McCARTY was the progenitor of the McCARTY line. He and HANNAH RICHARDSON were married 4 July 1736 in the First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pa.1 Between 1747 and 1787 he was in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley, where he probably died. In 1758 he voted for George Washington, a candidate for the House of Burgesses.2

JAMES McCARTY was the oldest of the 11 children born to Darby and Hannah. He was a surveyor and justice of the peace and came to Hawkins County in the late 1700's. He married SARAH FUGATE, who was killed by Cherokee Indians in February 1788 in what was then Washington District, N.C. She was on a ferry boat with 39 other people making the trip to the Cumberland Settlement.3

James and Sarah's children were: WILLIAM, born 1 April 1764, died 2 December 1818, Hawkins County, married 1789 RACHEL KYLE, born 16 November 1774, daughter of Captain ROBERT KYLE and LEAH BROOKS, granddaughter of ROBERT KYLE SR and BETTY CAMPBELL, died 24 June 1818, Hawkins County; ISAAC, born 2 March 1766; SARAH W., born 29 October 1767 Shenandoah Va., married 16 April 1787, THOMAS NORTH; ENOCH, born on 5 October 1769; JAMES JR., born on 3 July 1773, married 24 February 1798 SARAH (SUSANAH) MAYES; and JOHN, born on 27 September 1775, died circa 1845 Greene County, Mo., married ELIZABETH PRICE.4

WILLIAM McCARTY and RACHEL KYLE, above, had 13 children: ELIZABETH, born 3 October 1790, died 7 September 1847, married 10 December 1807 THOMAS HAMBLIN; MARY (POLLY), born 18 June 1792, died 1850's, married circa 1812 ROBERT GAMBLE; LEAH, born 29 November 1793 Tn., died 16 October 1863 McMinn County, Tn., married 9 March 1819 in Hawkins Co. THOMAS VAUGHAN, born 27 August 1793, son of JAMES VAUGHAN; ROBERT KYLE, born 23 October 1795; MARTHA, born 16 July 1797 married THOMAS PAYNE; JAMES P., born 27 January 1799 died 7 August 1855 Carroll Co., Va., married 4

October 1826, NANCY FAIN, daughter of NICHOLAS FAIN and SARAH GAMMON, granddaughter of Captain JOHN FAIN and NANCY AGNES McMAHAN and RICHARD GAMMON and SARAH GAMBLE; WILLIAM L., born 20 February 1802, died before 1849; ANDREW R., born 28 September 1804, died circa 1819; SARAH (SALLY), born 10 August 1806, died 4 March 1850 Hawkins Co. married circa 1822 Colonel ROBERT DOUGLAS YOUNG, son of ROBERT YOUNG JR. and PHEBE DOUGLAS, grandson of ROBERT YOUNG SR. and JONATHAN DOUGLAS; ABSALOM P., born 16 July 1808, died 15 August 1855 Hawkins County, married circa 1832 VIRGINIA MOORE; RACHEL B., born 15 April 1810 married 30 September 1832 WILLIAM P. KYLE; JOHN C., born 25 December 1813; and THOMAS JEFFERSON, born 7 April 1818.5

William McCarty was a militia captain and plantation owner. According to the Hawkins County coroner's report, he died "on his own plantation of a visitation of God by greazing." He and Rachel are buried in the McCarty Cemetery, outside Rogersville.

Related stories:

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

Littleton Brooks, Sr.

Gambill-Gamble.

Rodham Moore family.

James Vaughan, Jr.

James Harvey and Margaret (Laughner) Young.

Sources:

1 Records, First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pa, in possession of the Presbyterian Hist. Society, 425 Lombard St., Philadelphia.

2 The McCarthys in Early American History, by O'Brien, p. 87.

3 Tennessee & King's Mountain Papers - Calendar Series - Volume III (Draper Manuscripts).

4 Family Bible published 1762 in Edinburgh by Alexander Kincaid, possession of S.L. Cope, Caney Creek Rd, Rogersville Tn in 1983.

5 Family Record, Virginia Genealogist, Volume 3, page 25.

Submitted by:

Shirley Vaughan Praytor
4303 Burney Dr.
Austin, TX 78731-1207

William Lafayette McCARVER Family

SARAH JANE ROBERTSON, the daughter of William and Mary Robertson, was born 5-1830, died 5-10-1864, and is buried in the Dodson Cemetery in Hamblen County, Tennessee, near Russellville. She married WILLIAM LAFAYETTE McCARVER 9-11-1851. William L. McCarver was born in 1830, and died between 1862-1865, during or just after the Civil War. He never returned home after the War. More than one hundred years later, a great, great granddaughter located his grave in a Confederate Cemetery in Columbus, Ohio. The inscription on his tombstone reads: "122 - Wm. L. McCarver, Co. 1, 59 Tenn. Reg. C.S.A." One report was he died in a prison camp at Camp Chase, Ohio, with pneumonia, another was he died of smallpox. The only time he came home on leave during the War was in July or August 1862. The youngest daughter never saw her father. Before the War, William was a farmer and a Baptist preacher.

William was the son of WILLIAM McCARVER (1784-1841) of Scotch-Irish origin, who came to Hawkins County from North Carolina, and MARGARET (PEGGY) PRICE McCARVER (1786-186) of Virginia. William was the twin brother of James McCarver who went to middle Tennessee to live, and they never heard from him again. William had an older brother, Alexander McCarver. William's wife, Sarah Robertson McCarver, died at age 34, while he was at war, leaving five orphan children to be reared by her parents, William and Mary Robertson. The children were: Margaret Frances, James T., Kate A., Nancy Jane, and Nora.

Margaret Frances (Magg) McCarver, who was born in 1852, married James Henry Cozart, and lived on Fall Creek, near Russellville. After he died in 1886, she took her seven children, W. T., James L., Hugh F., Eddie L., Arlie E., Nannie Pearl, and Arthur Donahue Cozart and went to Texas in covered wagons to "find a better way of life."

James T. McCarver, born 1854, and his wife, Lou Howery, lived at the original McCarver homestead on Fall Creek. Their children were: Slamis, Sallie, Nannie, Ula, and Della McCarver.

Kate A. McCarver, born in 1857, married Thomas N. Horner. They had one daughter, Rebecca Mae, and lived in Russellville.

NANCY JANE McCARVER, born 9-3-1859, married BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MILLER, son of Kinchen Miller and Elizabeth Jane McNabb Miller of Washington County, Tennessee. Their three children were Robert O. Miller, Lucy Miller Talley, and Herbert S. Miller. They lived in the Grassy Valley Community of Hawkins County. For more information, see the history of the Benjamin Franklin Miller family.

Nora McCarver was born in 1863 and never saw her father, William McCarver. She married Pony Jackson and lived in Texas. After he died, she came back to Russellville to live. There were no children.

The family of William and Sarah Robertson McCarver is buried at Bethesda Cemetery in Hamblen County except Margaret Cozart who lived in Texas. William and Margaret (Peggy) Price McCarver were buried on the family farm in the Fall Creek area of Hawkins County, now Hamblen. These graves were moved to the Robertson Cemetery in 1941 by the T.V.A. For more information, see the Robertson family history.

This is the early history of the McCarver family of Hawkins/Hamblen County. The only McCarver now living is Mrs. Nora McCarver White of Morristown, daughter of Slamis McCarver, who drowned while on a raft of logs going down the Holston River to Knoxville, Tennessee in 1916. Her grandfather was James T. McCarver, son of William and Sarah Robertson McCarver, and a brother of Nancy Jane McCarver Miller.

Related stories:

Benjamin Franklin Miller and Family.

William Robertson Family.

Sources:

Census records.

Bible.

Cemetery records.

T.V.A. records.

Stories handed down from parents and grandparents.

Submitted by:

*Mary Miller (Talley) Ayers
(Granddaughter of Nancy Jane McCarver Miller)
3604 Shady Road
Bybee, TN 37713*

McCONNELL Family

GEORGE McCONNELL, 1721-1793, was believed to have been born in 1721 in Northern Ireland in the area of Derry in Londonderry and Tyrone Counties. At about the age of 25, George McConnell travelled to the United States, and is believed to have travelled on a 2-mast ship named the "Nancy" and landed in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on August 24, 1746. Soon thereafter George McConnell was assigned to a George Sanderson at Lancaster, PA for a period of 7 years to pay off his travel debt of about 15 pounds.

While in Lancaster, PA, George McConnell married his first wife, Eva. They had 3 children: John, 1761-1815; George, 1770-1845; and John Adam, 1776-1804. After the death of his wife Eva, George McConnell married his second wife Regina, who bore him 2 children: Nancy in 1780 and David in 1783. David died as a young child.

In about 1798, THOMAS J. McCONNELL was born to Nancy McConnell and a German man by the name of Dempsey (Dennis).

In 1799, Nancy McConnell married Phillip Dingus in Lancaster, PA, and in 1803 she travelled with her young son Thomas J. McConnell, her husband Phillip Dingus, her half brother George and others to Glade Hollow, near Lebanon in Russell Co., Virginia. After a brief stay in Glade Hollow, the family moved to Scott County, Virginia, and began living on a farm near the community of Wood, Virginia. Nancy McConnell Dingus raised several sons and daughters before she died. She is believed to be buried in the Dingus family cemetery near the old Dingus home near the Clinch River. The date of her death is unknown to this writer.

Thomas J. McConnell was raised in the home of his mother and stepfather, Nancy and Phillip Dingus, and in the home of Abraham Compton II, whose daughter he later married.

THOMAS J. McCONNELL married Elizabeth Compton. They had 5 children. Their names and order of birth was: Berry, John B., Floyd Compton, Elizabeth, and Louisa.

Thomas J. McConnell later married Elizabeth Elliot, the daughter of William Elliot Sr. and Margaret Elliot. Thomas J. McConnell and Elizabeth Elliot McConnell had 7 children. Their names and order of birth are: Elisha Martin, Margaret Ann, THOMAS JEFFERSON, Martha, James M., William Henderson, and Sarah Elizabeth.

THOMAS J. McCONNELL resided and died in a home that he built or had built on Obeys Creek a short distance Northeast of the old Irvington School and Church in Scott Co., VA. This house was built on land Thomas J. McConnell had purchased from Abraham Compton II, his first wife's father. The McConnell home later became the home of Samuel Elbert Smith, and housed the Mack, VA Post Office from 1902-1929. The house is currently (1993) in good condition and is now known as the Claude Gillenwater place.

In 1870 THOMAS JEFFERSON McCONNELL married Emma Quillen (1847-1927). They had 2 children, James Elbert and Victoria.

In the early 1900's Thomas Jefferson and his ailing wife travelled some seasons to Bledsoe (Bradshaw) Springs in Hawkins County, Tennessee in the hopes that the mineral spring water would provide healing and good health for the two. Later they moved to what is now known as Phipps Bend in Hawkins County. Later they moved 2 miles north of Stony Point, TN where they spent their remaining years. The original log house is gone, but the newer frame house still stands on property owned by the Cross Family on the left side of the road going from Stony Point to Carters Valley, about 1 mile north of Maxwell Academy and the New Providence Church.

Thomas Jefferson McConnell and Emma Quillen McConnell are buried in the family cemetery 300 yards west of the family home.

Thomas Jefferson McConnell was a veteran of the Civil War. He was a decorated Lieutenant in the Army of the Confederacy and was wounded in battle. A marker on his grave testifies to this fact.

Victoria McConnell married Jasper Kindrick. They had 5 children. They were: Estelle, Moda, Emma E., Norma, and Laura.

JAMES ELBERT McCONNELL married Ida Bell Kindrick. They had 10 children. Their names were: Dempsey Blain, Ezra Hobart, Anna Louise, David Jessie, Jefferson Lawton, John Hoge, Charlie Patton (died as an infant), Otis Cecil, Robert Anderson, and Nellie Gertrude.

Dempsey Blain McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA in 1895. He married Rosa Barns on December 23, 1918. She had 2 sons: Vivian and Hal.

After the death of Rosa Barns McConnell, Dempsey married Nellie Jane Maddox. She had one daughter, Linda Compton. Dempsey and Nellie Jane McConnell had no children.

After the death of Nellie Jane Maddox McConnell, Dempsey married Roxie Davis. Dempsey and Roxie McConnell had no children, and they spent their last days in a nursing home near Duffield, VA, and both are buried in the Hurd Cemetery near the Daniel Boone community in Scott Co., VA. Dempsey Blain McConnell spent his entire life in Scott Co., VA and was a well known Baptist minister. Roxie Davis McConnell died on October 16, 1989. Dempsey Blain McConnell died January 27, 1985.

Ezra Hobart McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on January 14, 1897. He married Mary Johnson. She had 1 child. She died in 1957 and is buried in Wallens Creek, KY. Ezra and Mary Johnson McConnell had no children. Ezra McConnell spent much of his life in Detroit, Michigan and returned to Tennessee upon his retirement. After a lengthy confinement to nursing homes because of failing health, he died on May 1, 1980. He is buried in the Morning Star Cemetery in Hawkins Co., TN.

Anna Louise McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on August 4, 1898. Anna Louise married Robert L. (Bobby) (Bob) Alley (1878-1930), and they had 3 children: Elmer Otis Alley, born October 10, 1919 in Scott Co., VA; James Edgar Alley, born 1922; and Una Marie Alley, born April 18, 1928.

Elmer Otis Alley married Betty Lou Roller on June 16, 1941. Betty Lou was born May 5, 1923 in Hawkins Co. They had 3 children: Jerry Lee Alley, born July 8, 1943; Doyle Burton Alley, born December 7, 1945 in Forrest County, Mississippi; and Brenda Kay, born June 21, 1951 in Sullivan County, TN.

Jerry Lee Alley married Brenda Ann Crisp on March 20, 1965 in Blount County, TN. Brenda was born February 6, 1945 in Blount Co. They had 3 children: Sherri Leigh and Terri Ann (twins) born September 17, 1968; and Bethany Lynn, born August 8, 1981. Terri Ann Alley married Brently Ben Best June 6, 1992 in Blount Co. Doyle Burton Alley married Nancy Jean McGee on July 11, 1971 in Scott Co. Nancy McGee was born June 4, 1946 in Scott Co. They had 3 children: Angela Jean, born December 21, 1973; Bradly Doyle, born April 12, 1976; and Joel Scott, born March 31, 1979.

Brenda Kay Alley married William Joseph Mason on February 24, 1973. Joseph Mason was born May 20, 1949 in Queens County, Maryland. They had 1 child, Jenifer Joe Mason, born February 11, 1981.

James Edgar Alley married Elsie Lee Fields who was born in 1922. They were married on December 19, 1941. They had 2 children: James Ronald, born on March 15, 1947; and Linda Faye, born on April 24, 1950.

James Ronald Alley married Ella Carol Bellamy who was born on October 27, 1951. They were married on August 7, 1971. From this marriage was born Julie Carol Alley on January 28, 1977.

Linda Faye Alley married J.T. Bruner, Jr. who was born on March 25, 1947. They were married on June 28, 1971. From this marriage was born Tonya Rene Bruner on June 2, 1974, and Nicole Bruner on April 27, 1985. Edgar Alley now lives in Church Hill, Tennessee.

Una Marie Alley was married to Earl Reese Jenkins. Earl Reese Jenkins was born on October 11, 1922, and died on July 18, 1947. From this marriage was born 2 children: Palmer Reese, born on June 16, 1944; and Wanda Sue, born on May 5, 1946.

Palmer Reese Jenkins married Mary Alexis Jones on June 25, 1966. Mary Alexis Jones was born September 19, 1944. They had 3 children: Jefferson Scott, born on September 25, 1964; Christopher Reese, born October 22, 1967; and Kelli Suzanne, born April 6, 1973.

Palmer Reese Jenkins later married Brenda Faye Hamilton on May 15, 1989. Brenda Faye Hamilton was born November 22, 1955.

Jefferson Scott Jenkins married Lisa Rene Paulson, born July 27, 1961. They have one child, Alexis Anastasia, born April 12, 1987.

Una Marie Alley Jenkins later married Donald Melvin Linkous on April 13, 1952. Donald Melvin Linkous was born February 24, 1930 and died July 7, 1971. They had 2 children: Donna Marie, born January 25, 1954; and Tina Jo, born April 6, 1957.

Una Marie Alley Jenkins Linkous later married Harold Rivers Merrill, Doctor of Chiropractic, on June 4, 1975. Harold Merrill was born April 29, 1918. Marie Merrill now lives in Kingsport, TN.

David Jesse McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on June 22, 1900 and married Maxie Bell Quillen, February 1, 1919 in Sullivan Co., TN. Maxie Bell Quillen was born October 16, 1899 in Scott Co., VA. They had 5 children: Frances Geraldine, born December 12, 1921 in Scott Co.; Mervin Odell, born July 11, 1924 in Scott Co.; William Conner, born March 23, 1929 in Hawkins Co.; Franklin Dale, born February 15, 1933 in Hawkins Co.; and Beverly Jean, born July 27, 1939 in Scott Co.

Frances Geraldine McConnell married J.R. Poston on December 9, 1938. They had 5 children: James Randall, born November 8, 1939 and died February 7, 1947; Karen Jorenda, born October 29, 1946; Brenda Francine, and Linda Christine (twins), born March 2, 1949; and David, born July 2, 1959 in Virginia. Frances Geraldine and J.R. Poston have 4 grandchildren. Geraldine now lives in Virginia.

Mervin Odell McConnell married Mildred McConnell of Wise Co., VA on July 27, 1946 in Scott Co., VA. They have 2 children: Anthony Wynn, born December 1, 1950; and Sharon Bernice, born December 18, 1962. Mervin and Mildred McConnell have 3 grandchildren. Mervin McConnell now lives in Kingsport, TN.

William Conner McConnell married Mildred Lawson on June 11, 1948. They have one son, Larry Douglas, born June 6, 1949 in Sullivan Co., TN. William Conner McConnell now lives in Morristown, TN.

Franklin Dale McConnell married Elizabeth A. Babb on September 6, 1952. He later married Mildred Walker and they have 1 daughter, Maxine Ladell, born September 20, 1965. Franklin Dale and Mildred have 2 grandchildren.

Beverly Jean McConnell married William Garber on February 22, 1958 in Timberville, VA. They have one daughter, Jorenda Lynn, born August 1, 1960.

David Jessie McConnell later married Thelma Wall Atwood in 1943 in Indiana. Later David Jesse McConnell married Muriel Johnson Trumble on March 23, 1957 in Watseka, Illinois. They have 1 child, Nellie Colleen, born July 6, 1960. Dave McConnell now lives in Watseka, IL.

Jefferson Lawton McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on May 12, 1902 and died February 15, 1953. Jefferson Lawton McConnell and Fannie Derrick had 1 child, Evelyn, born on July 21, 1922. Fannie Derrick was born in Hawkins Co., TN on October 12, 1900 and died on July 31, 1922.

Evelyn Derrick McConnell married William Kenneth Bradshaw on September 21, 1941. They have 3 children: Sandra Kay, Larry Lawton, and Patricia Marie.

Sandra Kay Bradshaw married James Clifton. They have 2 children: James Jr., and Jill Christine. James Clifton, Jr. has 1 child, Leighann. Jill Christine married Daniel Short. They have no children.

James Clifton later married Sue Ellen Cloud.

Sandra Kay Bradshaw Clifton later married Claude Cain. They have no children.

Larry Lawton Bradshaw married Janet Manes. They have no children.

Patricia Marie Bradshaw married James E. Dean. They have 2 children: Robin Kay, and Jefferson Scott.

In 1993 Evelyn and Kenneth Bradshaw had 4 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren. She now lives in Church Hill, TN.

Jefferson Lawton McConnell married Blanche Mae Cox of Hawkins Co., and they had 1 child, Luther Alexander, born November 7, 1920. Luther McConnell married Ruby Elton Heflin, born October 17, 1921. They were married on October 16, 1943, and they have 2 children: Mary Rebecca (adopted), born August 20, 1938; and Patricia Sue, born July 20, 1945/47.

Mary Rebecca married Louis Reed Baker. Later she married Frank Hendrick Buster.

Patricia Sue married David Leroy Busch and later married Lee Robert Bohning. She had 2 children: Amanda Sue, born September 13, 1974; and Carrie Lee, born April 7, 1978.

Jefferson Lawton McConnell later married Eva Smith of Keokee, VA.

Blanche Mae Cox McConnell was born on August 3, 1902 in Hawkins Co., TN and died on March 7, 1989 in Sullivan Co., TN.

John Hoge McConnell, was born in Scott Co., VA on October 1, 1904. He died in Sullivan Co., TN on September 30, 1984. John Hoge McConnell married Thelma Valentine Hammond in Sullivan Co., TN on June 1, 1922. Thelma Valentine Hammond was born in Scott Co., VA on February 14, 1905, the daughter of A.R. (Orbin) Hammond. John Hoge and Thelma Valentine McConnell had 3 children: Thomas Calvin, born June 21, 1924; Edmond Cecil, born October 12, 1926; and Ernest Randolph, born on September 20, 1928. All were born in Hawkins Co.

Thomas Calvin McConnell married Jessie Virginia Gatewood, born February 19, 1924. They were married in 1943 in Walla Walla, Washington. They had 1 child, Cecilia Ann, born March 12, 1954. Cecilia Ann married Martin Ferguson, born August 28, 1950, and they have 1 child, Anna, born December 22, 1973.

Edmond Cecil McConnell (6 October 1926-30 October 1977) married Geraldine Elizabeth "Gerry" Rutledge, and they had 2 children: John Paul, and James Edward.

John Paul, born October 30, 1946 and died December 8, 1988. John Paul married Mary Ann Nagy, and they had one child, Kelly Ann. John Paul McConnell later married Carole Smith, and they had 1 child, John Paul, Jr.

James "Jimmy" Edward McConnell was born January 6, 1948 and married Marie Young, and they had one child: Sharon Lynn, born January 6, 1968. Later he married Vicki Sanders, and later he married Rhonda Johnson.

Edmond Cecil McConnell later married Corrine Hamrick of West Virginia.

Ernest Randolph "Doc" McConnell married Virginia Mae Russell of Hawkins Co., TN. Virginia Mae Russell was born May 11, 1930. They had 2 children: Ernest Russell, born March 15, 1955, and died on March 18, 1955 in Hamilton Co., TN; and Hannah Denise, born December 3, 1957 in Sullivan Co., TN. Hannah Denise McConnell married Donnie Gillenwater of Scott Co., VA. Ernest "Doc" McConnell now lives in Rogersville, TN.

Otis Cecil McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on August 7, 1910 and died on March 8, 1993 in Sunnyside, WA. In 1932 Otis Cecil McConnell married Mable Sandidge. Mable Sandidge was born in Church Hill, TN on April 14, 1916. They had 2 children: Ralph Samuel, born in 1934; and Otis Eugene, born in 1936.

Ralph Samuel married Marie Padgham. They had 6 children: Patrick, born in 1956; Marcie Hanna, born in 1954; Wesley, born in 1975; Angel, born in 1979; Rosie, born in 1980; and Carleen Febus who now has 2 sons, Toby and Tyler.

Otis Eugene married Regina Funk in 1954. Otis Eugene died in 1955. Otis Eugene McConnell had 1 child, Gene Marie, born in 1955. She has 3 children:

Jermy Schree, born in 1976; Heidi, born in 1978; and Ronald, born in 1982.

Otis and Mable McConnell have spent much of their lives in Sunnyside, Washington. Mable McConnell now lives there.

Robert Anderson McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on June 4, 1913 and died in Hawkins Co., TN on May 11, 1954. Robert Anderson McConnell married Dorothy Juanita Robinette on June 12, 1932. Dorothy Juanita Robinette was born on December 16, 1916 and died November 14, 1990. She was born in Hawkins Co., TN and was the daughter of John and Mary Robinette. Robert Anderson and Dorothy Juanita McConnell had 3 children: Helen Frances, born on April 9, 1933; Nina Gertrude, born November 10, 1934; and Robert Anderson, Jr., born November 9, 1938.

Helen Francis McConnell married Burgess Clyde Davidson. Burgess Davidson was born on March 24, 1927. They had 4 children: Daniel Boyd, born February 1, 1952; Donald Jeffrey, born August 12, 1953; Robert Clyde, born December 1, 1959; and Roger Dean, born May 6, 1963.

Donald Jeffrey Davidson and Linda Ward Waley have 1 child, Juanita Denise Davidson, born January 28, 1984.

Robert Clyde Davidson married Myrna Mae McCombs. They have 1 child, Talitha Nicole Davidson, born August 12, 1980.

Nina Gertrude McConnell married Dorman Reasor Rutledge on 19 June 1954. Dorman Reasor Rutledge was born on November 24, 1930, and is the son of Edward Vance Rutledge and Ethel Mae Mayo. Nina and Dorman had 4 children: Delilah Hope, born July 21, 1955; Delores Faith, born May 19, 1956; Robert Edward, born December 6, 1957; and Michael David, born May 15, 1959.

Delilah Rutledge married Mack Cook on January 24, 1976 and had 2 children.

Nina Rutledge now lives in Morristown, TN.

Robert Anderson McConnell, Jr. married Norma Jean Alexander of Henry Co., VA on February 16, 1966. Norma Jean was born November 9, 1941. They had 2 children: Melinda, born December 7, 1966 in Henry Co., VA; and Stacy, born May 29, 1968 in Sullivan Co., TN.

Melinda married Byron Archer in Sullivan Co., TN in 1986. She later married Mark Scholtz in 1989. They had one child, Evan Anthony, born on December 14, 1992.

Nellie Gertrude McConnell was born in Scott Co., VA on August 8, 1914. She married Henry Haynes Sandidge in Scott Co., VA in 1932. Henry Haynes Sandidge was born in Hawkins Co., TN on June 9, 1914 and died August 22, 1978 and is buried in the Morning Star Cemetery in Hawkins Co. Nellie Gertrude and Henry Haynes Sandidge had 2 children: Ezra Gale, born March 24, 1934; and Wanda Marie "Patsy", born November 17, 1938.

Ezra Gale Sandidge married Mary Elizabeth Pryor. Later he married Janice Drinnon. They had 1 child, Gina Gale Sandidge, born October 25, 1958. Janice Drinnon Sandidge died October 12, 1975. Ezra Gale Sandidge later married Gladys Frizzel. He later married Mary Elizabeth Pryor.

Wanda Marie "Patsy" married Paul Brooks in 1956 and they had 2 children: Sherry Elizabeth, born August 20, 1957; and Craig Haynes, born May 5, 1960. Wanda Marie "Patsy" Sandidge Brooks later married Charles Lee Ellis on October 12, 1976. They now live in Surgoinsville, TN.

Every effort has been made to avoid mistakes and errors in this McConnell history. It is requested that when errors are detected and misinformation is discovered, please make such corrections and forward the new or corrected information to the author, Doc McConnell.

Sources:

Scott Co. VA Court House Records.

The McConnells, a New Family History by E.M. McConnell.

Published works of Ruth McConnell and John Edgar McConnell, 1977.

History of Scott County, by Robert M. Addington, 1932.

The McConnell Family by John Martin, 1980.

Conversation with family members and friends.

Information furnished by family members.

Submitted by:

Ernest R. "Doc" McConnell
1120 Scenic Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857

Gabriel McCRAW (ca. 1776-1860)

William McCraw, my third great grandfather, came to Goochland County, Virginia prior to 1745 from the Isle of Skye. He also lived in Cumberland and Amhurst Counties, VA, Henry and Surry Counties, North Carolina before he came to Hawkins County, Tennessee by 6 June 1796 when he had a land transaction (deed) where he deeded land to Dancy and Gabriel McCraw of Hawkins Co., Book 3, Page 503. This Gabriel is my great-great grandfather.

William was born ca. 1776, and died ca. 1860; his will was proved 4 April 1860. He married in Hawkins Co. ca. 1802-03 to Susannah Lathim/Latham, daughter of John Latham and Susannah Henderson. Susannah was born 10 May 1777, and died 1859-60. Both are buried in Dean Cemetery, Hawkins Co., but no tombstones have been found.

Gabriel and Susannah's nine children, all born at Mooresburg, Hawkins Co., were: William, Minerva, John Latham Orlena, Evelina, Samuel, Adeline E., James, and Susan Latham.

William McCraw was born ca. 1805, and died between the 1860 census and 1868 when his wife, Martha, was listed on tax rolls in Grundy Co., TN. William married Martha ca 1838 in Hawkins Co. She was Martha Armstrong, born ca. 1814 in TN, died 1869-70, in Grundy Co., the daughter of William and Elizabeth (Galbraith) Armstrong of Hawkins Co., later of Grundy Co., TN. Elizabeth was the daughter of Arthur Galbraith and Mary Sharpe.

William had a stagecoach line between Bean Station, Hawkins Co. and Greenville, South Carolina when he wrote his brother in Greene Co., Missouri on 19 December 1837.

William and Martha's children were: Frances (Fanny), born 4 January 1839 in Hawkins Co., died 17 February 1907, married 26 July 1862 to Harris Bradford Northcutt; Gabriel, born ca. 1842, not on 1860 census; Susannah Laura, born 29 February 1844, died 21 January 1896, buried Altamont, TN City Cemetery, married on 27 October 1866 Harrison Campbell; Jane A., born ca. 1846 in Grundy Co.; Evelina, born 1848 in Grundy Co.; and William E., born 1851 in Grundy Co.

Minerva McCraw, born 13 April 1807 in Hawkins Co., died 18 December 1873 in Mooresburg, married on 5 July 1821, Hawkins Co. to James Leonidas Etter, born 19 October 1796, died 6 July 1872 in Mooresburg, the son of George H. Etter and Elizabeth Wax.

Minerva and James Leonidas Etter's children, all born in Hawkins Co. were: Harriet Rowan, born 16 June 1824; Penelope M., born 18 November 1825; Leonidas Lide, born 4 July 1828; George, born 29 June 1830; Orlena Elizabeth, born 9 June 1832, Gabriel McCraw, born 29 July 1833, Margaret Eveline, born 22 November 1834, Columbus Carden and Augustus Hopkins (twins), born 22 October 1836, William Wax, born 10 August 1838, John Latham, born 17 July 1840, and Susan, born 10 August 1842, died 15 February 1914.

John Latham McCraw was born on 8 December 1808 in Hawkins Co. and died 2 April 1882 in Springfield, Greene Co., MO. He is buried in McCraw Cemetery, Cherry Street Road, Greene Co., MO on McCraw family farm. He married Elizabeth Kenner in 1835 in Hawkins Co. She was the daughter of Winder Kenner and Mary Elizabeth Davis of Hawkins Co. She died 10 October 1854 in Greene Co., MO.

They had eight children: Susan, John Jr., Josephine Adeline, Elizabeth Frances, Gabriel, William, Joseph P., and James Etter.

Susan Latham, born 16 June 1836 in Hawkins Co., died 16 September 1851.

John Latham, Jr., born 30 September 1838 in Greene Co., MO, died 27 June 1923, married Virginia Ann Ingram in Greene Co., MO.

Josephine Adeline Latham, born 3 June

1840, died 8 December 1925, married 22 September 1869 in Greene Co., MO to Danny Turner, born 3 July 1840, died 8 April 1920, the son of John Turner and Edith Wester.

Elizabeth Frances Latham was born 23 August 1841 and died 1 July 1895, unmarried. She helped raise my father, James Gabriel McCraw and his sister, Susan Ellen, after their mother died in California 26 August 1881. My grandfather Gabriel brought the children back to Springfield, MO and they lived with Aunt Elizabeth Frances "Liz" and uncle "Jim" (James Etter) and his family on the McCraw farm that my brother and I still own.

Gabriel Latham, born 3 April 1843 in Greene Co., MO, died 15 May 1921 in Greene Co., MO, married 27 May 1877 in Greene Co., MO to Columbia Elizabeth Watterson, born 24 February 1851 in Rogersville, TN, died 26 August 1881 in Yuba City, Sutter Co., CA, buried in Yuba City "Town Cemetery." Gabriel and Columbia "Lum" had two children: Susan Ellen, and James Gabriel.

Susan Ellen McCraw, born 11 February 1878, died 15 March 1931, married on 10 August 1904 in Greene Co., MO to James Elmer Potter, the son of Louis Cass Potter and Susan M. Hankins. They had two sons, Eldred McCraw and Howard Cass.

Eldred McCraw Potter was born 16 May 1905 and died 7 August 1905.

Howard Cass Potter, born 5 July 1910, died 26 March 1959, married on 23 June 1934 in St. Louis, MO to Kate Ellen Jenkins, daughter of Frances ____ and Samuel Jenkins. Kate and Howard were parents of two daughters, Frances Sue and Emma Lou.

Frances Sue Potter, born 13 July 1936 Greene Co., MO was married on 11 June 1958 to Richard Warren Berry in Greene Co., MO (now divorced). They had three boys: William Howard, Thomas, and Jefferson. Frances Sue is now a Presbyterian Minister in Washington D.C.

Emma Lou Potter, born 27 Feb 1939 Greene Co., MO, married 5 September 1962 to Alan Appleton McClelland. They have two children, Michael Craig, born 21 Feb 1965, and Karen. Emma Lou "Emmy" is a State Representative in the Missouri Assembly.

James Gabriel McCraw, born 15 March 1879 in Yuba City, CA, died 9 April 1935 in Greene Co., MO. James was murdered by chicken thieves. He was married on 22 May 1918 in Greene Co., MO to Emma Elizabeth Bodenhamer, the daughter of William Andrew Bodenhamer and Elizabeth Thompson Fielder. They have two children, Columbia Elizabeth (this writer), and William Gabriel.

Columbia Elizabeth McCraw, born 14 January 1921, married on 3 February 1952 to Gordon Howard Drake, born 8 February 1918, died 23 November 1987. Gordon and Elizabeth had two daughters.

Nancy Elizabeth Drake, born 16 April 1954, died 13 July 1979 along with her unborn daughter, Allison, in a car accident. She was married on 3 May 1975 to Michael Ray Quimby in Benton Co., MO, born 24 November 1951.

Mary Jane Drake, born 23 December 1957 in Springfield, MO, married to Gary Alan Cone on 1 October 1983 in Benton Co., MO. Mary Jane and Alan have one daughter, Jennifer Elizabeth Cone, born 22 January 1993. They live in Marietta, GA.

William Gabriel McCraw, born on 25 August 1926, married on 6 February 1951 to Mrs. Eulalia Lena Lindsey Ratcliff in Harrison, Arkansas. Gabriel and Eulalia have three children, all born in Greene Co., MO.

James Gabriel McCraw, born 29 February 1952, married on 1 June 1974 in St. Charles Co., MO to Linda Trimble. They have two daughters, Jennifer and Heather.

Brenda Sue McCraw, born 16 June 1955 Greene Co., MO, married 19 June 1976 in Greene Co., MO to Rodney Blane Miller. They have a son and daughter, Christopher and Kimberly Nicole.

Donna Kay McCraw, born 13 August 1959, married 14 October 1979 in Greene Co., MO to Glen Chapman (now divorced). They have one daughter, Jessica, born 12 July 1983.

My great grandfather, John Latham McCraw was surveyor of Greene Co., MO for many years dividing up a large Greene Co into smaller counties.

John Latham McCraw and Elizabeth were given a slave named "Wiley" as a wedding present. Wiley was sold for $1,000 and the money was used to move to Greene Co., MO in 1836 and purchase the farm on the James River which is still owned by his great grand daughter and great grandson.

William Latham was born 8 January 1845, and died 27 January 1850.

Joseph P. Latham was born 6 June 1847, in Greene Co., MO and died 3 September 1907. He married Eleanor A. Parsley, and they had no issue.

James Etter Latham, born 8 February 1849 in Greene Co., MO, died 1 October 1924 in Greene Co., MO, married Doretta Tennessee Gibson in Greene Co, MO. James Etter and Doretta had two children: Emma, born 26 January 1882, died 10 February 1965, married George Linn Potter in Greene Co., MO, no issue; and John Latham, born 29 February 1884, died 12 July 1912 of Bright's disease. He had completed a civil engineering degree at Bozeman, MT. He became ill before graduation, came home in May, and died in July.

All the children of John Latham McCraw are buried in McCraw family cemetery on East Cherry Street Road, Greene Co., MO on the farm which he settled in November, 1836.

Orlena McCraw, born 6 March 1810, died 6 March 1844, married 24 May 1827 in Hawkins Co. to Andrew Larkins Galbraith, born 17 January 1796 and died 16 May 1873, the son of John Galbraith and Martha Larkins. He served in the War of 1812, and was wounded. Their children, all born in Hawkins Co. were: Dewitt Clinton, born 5 January 1829, John Gabriel (twin) born 1 November 1830, Martha Ellen (twin) born 1 November 1830, died 3 March 1878, married Francis Edward Watterson in Rogersville, TN, son of Henry Watterson and Elizabeth Flesheart of Hawkins Co. Martha Ellen and Francis Edward are the writer's great grandparents. Their daughter, Columbia Elizabeth, married Gabriel McCraw in Greene Co., MO; Stephen Decatur, born 16 June 1832, died 11 February 1906, married Elizabeth M. Hagen in Greene Co., born in Hawkins Co., Commodore Pinkney, born 9 February 1834, died 5 February 1893, married Drucilla Drumright; Thomas Arthur, born 28 August 1835, died 15 March 1909, married 1st on 29 February 1872 to Sabella Vivion, married 2nd to Nancy J. Martin in Yuba City, CA; Fidillo Sharp, born 28 April 1837, died 15 March 1885, single; Frederick DeWolf, born 12 August 1838, died 11 November 1843; Volney Dallas Galbraith, born 12 April 1840, died 20 January 1850; Susan Adeline, born 6 February 1842, died 3 March 1880, single.

Evelina McCraw, born 7 April 1812, died 1 December 1835, married on 30 December 1830 to James Reynolds Forgey, born 23 January 1809, died 6 December 1853. Their children were: Matilda twin, born 26 August 1833, died 26 August 1868, buried in Rogers Cemetery, Rogersville, TN, married on 9 February 1859 to Randolph Dulaney Wells; Minerva Etter (twin), born 26 August 1833, died 25 May 1891, married on 21 November 1861 in Hawkins Co. to John Hasson, and they had seven children; and Evelina McCraw, born 1 December 1835, died 10 June 1914 in Decatur, Alabama, married on 28 October 1856 to Rev. Crockett Godbey, in Grainger, Co., Tennessee, a Methodist Chaplain in CSA, born 23 May 1818 in Virginia, died 20 September ____ in Madison Co., AL. They were married while visiting her aunt, Adeline Senter.

Evelina's mother died 15 minutes after her birth, and she was raised by her grandparents, Gabriel and Susannah McCraw.

Samuel McCraw, born 1814, died 1884, will proved December, 1884, married in 1840-45, Mary M. (Polly) Dodson, born in 1822, died probably in 1884. They lived near Mooresburg, TN, near the Dean Cemetery where his parents are buried. They had three children, but I only have record of two: Letitia "Sally", born 1846, married after 1870 to James Biggs in Hawkins Co., Sally wove beautiful coverlets in a one room log cabin; and Eliza T. "Lizzie", born 1854, married on 11 September 1881 to William G. Young in Hawkins Co.

Adeline E. McCraw, born 28 October 1818 in Hawkins Co., died 22 July 1889 in Grainger Co., married on 19 November 1837 to Pleasant M. Senter in Hawkins Co., the son of Stephen Willis Senter and Elizabeth Ore. Pleasant M. Senter was

Col. P. M. Senter, having fought in Florida in 1857 and served in the Mexican War. Both are buried in the Methodist Cemetery, Rutledge, TN.

Their children, all born in Grainger Co. were: Susan E., born June 1839, died on 6 February 1909, buried in Methodist Cemetery, married on 14 December 1858 to George H. Groves, the son of Ruben Grove and Nancy Mayes; Harriett T. (Cricky), born 22 January 1841, died 13 February 1916, married on 1 September 1859 to DeWitt Clinton Senter, son of William Tandy Senter and Nancy White, a distant cousin and later Governor of TN, 1869-71, no issue; Olivia J., born 23 January 1851, died 25 February 1897, married 16 September 1873 to William H. Manly; Columbia, born 12 July 1842, died after 1860, before 1880, married 28 October 1856 to John Moody Groves, born 2 October 1827, died 4 June 1898. Both died in Arbuckle, CA and are buried in Arbuckle College Cemetery; Valerie L., born 18 March 1853, died 25 July 1858 of typhoid fever.

James McCraw, born ca. 1818, may have died young, after 1839 when he witnessed a deed in Hawkins Co., no other record.

Susan Latham McCraw, born in 1820, died date unknown, married 5 November 1845 to William K. Mayes, born 1827. Both died in Texas. They moved to Texas 20 September, 1875. Nothing was ever heard from them again. Efforts to trace them have all been futile. They had a boy Pleasant, born ca. 1848 (census), a girl Adeline, born ca. 1850 (census), both born in Hawkins Co., and possibly other boys. According to her niece, Evelina Godbey, in a letter to my grandfather, she mentions Uncle William and boys.

Related Stories:

Forgey's.

Arthur Galbraith.

Sources:

Bible records.

Cemetery records.

Census records.

Family records.

Submitted by:

Elizabeth McCraw Drake
P.O. Box 255
Warsaw, MO 65355

James Anderson McCULLAH

The earliest established McCullah ancestor is James Anderson McCullah, born 19 July 1822 in Hawkins County, TN. He was married four times and had at least 12 children. He married his first wife, Nancy Siler, in Campbell County, TN and they had a daughter, Rachel, who was born in 1845 in Jellico, which records show to be a small town on the border of Tennessee (Hawkins Co.) (ed: present day Campbell Co.) and Kentucky (Whitley County).

His second wife was Mary A. Williams, whom he married 27 February 1854 in Whitley County, KY. They had a son, Whitley William who was born in 1855.

His third marriage was to Elizabeth Creekmore on 6 October 1859. Their children were: John, born 15 June 1860, in Whitley County, KY, James A., born 27 September 1861, Laurel Forks, Whitley County, KY, a set of twins that were thought to have burned to death in a house fire, and Eller Jane born 1867 in Missouri.

James' last marriage was to Mahala "Hattie" Wilson, and to this union were Thomas M., born 24 July 1870 in Franklin County, AR, Nancy, born <1873>, Christiana, born <1875>, Hattie, born <1877>, and Rutha, born <1879>. All children of this marriage were born in Arkansas.

During the Civil War, James Anderson McCullah was a Second Lieutenant of the 8th Volunteer Kentucky Infantry. He enlisted on 2 September 1861 in Barbourville, Knox County, KY and mustered in at Camp Dick Robinson, Garrard County, KY. He resigned his commission 30 August 1862 for medical reasons at Headquarters 23rd Brigade Company, an 8th Regiment Army of the Ohio at McMinnville, TN.

The 1870 census shows James Anderson McCullah as being a Minister of the Gospel. He is known to have performed several marriages in Crawford County, AR up until 31 March 1881. James Anderson McCullah died on 24 June 1882 and is buried in Bolton County, north of Alma, Arkansas, in Crawford County. He is buried beside his third wife, Elizabeth Creekmore.

Submitted by:

*Pamela J. McCullah
12431 Maryland Place
Sherwood, AR 72120*

Hon. John Augustine McKINNEY

John A. McKinney, progenitor of the McKinney family of Hawkins County, Tennessee, was the youngest of five brothers born in Colerain, County Antrim, Ireland in 1781. John A. emigrated to the United States in 1800. He was finely educated when he arrived, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh. Yet in addition he studied law (his chosen profession) after landing in Philadelphia, and took a course in medicine under the celebrated Dr. Rush. Dr. Rush was a partner of his brother, Dr. Archibald McKinney.

John A. McKinney began the practice of law about 1807 and soon took a leading position in his profession. He came to Jonesborough, Tennessee on legal business for clients in Philadelphia, and was so pleased with the country, that he decided to remain.

At Greeneville, Tennessee, John A. McKinney met Eliza (Elizabeth) Ayer of Alna, Maine who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Susan Coffin, wife of Dr. Charles Coffin, a noted minister and teacher and at that time President of Greeneville College. Eliza and Susan were descendants of the New England Woodbridge, Dudley, and Ayer families who were among the earliest settlers in America.

John and Eliza were married about 1809 and moved to Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. In 1810-1817 John bought about a thousand acres of land and built his beautiful mansion. His fine taste and liberal expenditure of money made his home one of the most beautiful in Tennessee. His home was a generous, open one, frequented and often crowded with ministers, teachers, professionals in the medical and law fields and others who found there an atmosphere of hospitality and good conversation. He was interested in everything that assisted in building up the religious, educational and material welfare of the country. He was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church.

John A. McKinney practiced law in Hawkins, Hancock, Sullivan, Washington, Greene, Grainger, Claiborne, Union and Campbell counties in East Tennessee. He was appointed U.S. District Attorney by President John Quincy Adams, and was chosen to represent his county at the State Constitutional Convention of 1834. Goodspeed attributed his great success to his thorough knowledge of the law, his untiring energy and his incorruptible integrity.

The Honorable John A. McKinney was nearly six feet tall, very straight and graceful. He wore the finest broadcloth, was always neat, dignified, a finished scholar, talented writer, and great lawyer.

James Coffin of Madisonville, Tennessee told of his Uncle John A. McKinney's death as follows: "The sudden death of your uncle McKinney ... When on one of my last visits, I perceived that the painful affliction in the region of his heart was a threatening aspect. The Rev. F.A. Ross, who did most of the preaching on our late sacramental occasion remarked to me that the last time Mr. McKinney was in Kingsport, ...told him... 'I do not expect to live long!' and when he shook hands at parting he said, 'I do not know that I shall ever see you again.' John Netherland, McKinney's son-in-law, was alarmed at hearing his father-in-law's coughing with such difficulty an seeing his efforts to expectorate. He immediately called a physician living close by ...brother suggested cupping but before the cupping instruments could be brought in about fifteen minutes after the Doctor came, he was a corpse. His death was mourned by all people no matter their station ... his politics were founded in his purest moral sentiments, and his love for his adopted country was such as few native patriots have equalled. His family affections were intensely kind and rendered him beloved in domestic relations. But, I must forbear, the theme (of this fine man) is inexhaustible."

John A. McKinney and his wife Eliza Ayer McKinney bore the following children: Charles McKinney (1811-1812); Charles J. McKinney (1813-1880) married Mary Gaines; Mary E. McKinney (1816-1900) died unmarried; Susan C. McKinney (1818-1887) married John Netherland (1808-1887); Margaret McKinney (1820-1878) married James Woods Rogan (1823-1891) son of John Netherland's sister, Sarah Netherland Rogan; Sarah McKinney (18...-1890) married James B. Heiskell; and John McKinney (1824-1882) died unmarried.

Suffering a serious fire in the 1870's, the McKinney mansion "Three Oaks" was repaired, and after a recent restoration still stands at the corner of McKinney Avenue and Colonial Road in Rogersville, Tennessee.

At least four other noteworthy structures built by Mr. McKinney's contractors are still standing. These include the Springhouse, Rosemont, Clay Kenner House, and the Hale Springs Inn.

Related Stories:

Hon. John and Susan Coffin (McKinney) Netherland.

James Woods and Margaret (McKinney) Rogan.

Source:

Ancestry and Descendants of Richard Netherland, Esquire, 1764-1832., by Muriel Clark Spoden, 1979.

Submitted by:

*Carl Netherland Brown
Rogersville, TN*

Thomas McKIRGAN (1775-1830)

Seven weathered McKirgan tombstones in the cemetery of the New Providence Presbyterian Church at Stony Point, near Surgoinsville, stand to remind today's visitor of the residency of the McKirgan family in Hawkins County.

Who was Thomas McKirgan? Born in Ireland, in 1798 he married Jane Lyons in County Antrim. That same year he and his bride left Ireland for America. Living at first in or near Philadelphia, they were in Augusta County, Virginia a few years later, the birthplace of several of their daughters.

Thomas McKirgan was an heir in the Will of Nicholas Hope in 1809. He was enumerated in the 1810 Census in Greenville, Virginia, with his wife, and six daughters.

By 1813 he had removed to Hawkins County, Tennessee. Drafted into Capt. John Slatten's Company of East Tennessee Drafted Militia, he served from November 13, 1814 until June 2, 1815. His service enabled his wife to secure Military Bounty Land in 1850, at least a part of which, at the junction of Arnold Road with Surgoinsville Creek Road, is still known to have been McKirgan land. Old chimneys of the McKirgan home remain in the completely rebuilt residence of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Pierce. Thomas McKirgan may have been engaged in milling, but efforts to connect him with the nearby mill ruins have been unsuccessful.

The 1820 Census of Tennessee is lost. By 1830 the McKirgan family consisted of three daughters and two sons. The four older daughters are presumed married and gone, but the marriage records for that period are also, unfortunately, lost.

Thomas McKirgan died on October 21, 1831, aged about 55 years, one of 47 victims of a fever that raged from the upper end of Hawkins County for about 20 miles on the Holston River, from Ross' Bridge to four or five miles below Surgoinsville.

Widowed Jane McKirgan heads the 1840 Census household, at home with two daughters and one son, the other son not then in the home. In 1842, William McKirgan, the older of the two sons, died unmarried. By 1850 only Jane McKirgan, then 73, and her daughter Jane, age 42, were in the home. The younger son, James McKirgan, who married Elizabeth Jane Reare in 1842, lived nearby with their four children. In 1854, at age 77, Jane Lyons McKirgan was laid to rest next to her husband and son. No Will or Probate records have been found.

The 1893 "Genealogy" of a great-great-granddaughter, Edith Hodge, is the only known record of the McKirgan family. It names the sons, James Lyons McKirgan, and William Lyons McKirgan, who "died just as he reached manhood". Of the seven sisters, she said "they all married, and went to far away homes." Almost true, except for Jane, who never wed, and died in 1888, aged 70 years.

An 1825 listing of members of New Providence includes Thomas and Jane Lyons McKirgan, with four of the daughters, Rachel, Jane, Matilda, and Sally. Rachel McKirgan married John Hutchisson, and moved to Ohio. Sally McKirgan may have married Henry Loughmiller, and may have removed to Alabama. Matilda McKirgan married David Wines, and is believed to have gone to Hardin County, Kentucky. Jane, of course, never left Hawkins Co., and one daughter, given name unknown, is thought to have married a Newell (or Howell or McDowell?).

One daughter, Rosannah, married James Erwin on January 15, 1818, and like her mother before her, left as a new bride for the then new State of Alabama. Later she, along with her new husband and family, went to Perry County, Missouri. The seventh daughter is a complete mystery!

By 1860 James Lyons McKirgan was widowed, and at home with his children, Rachel, William, David, Mary Annie, Rosa Jane, and James. Jane Reare McKirgan died in 1858. James survived her some 30 years. His only heirs in his 1897 Will were his single daughter, Rosa Jane, and a grandson, Edgar Hodge, the only son of daughter Annie Mary McKirgan Hodge.

His Will suggests that all his children had predeceased him, but letters in the possession of the only McKirgan descendant in Hawkins Co., Mary Ellen Hodge, "found" his children, Rachel, William, David, and James alive and well in Ostrander, Ohio. They may have followed their aunt, Rachel McKirgan Hutchisson. The James Lyons McKirgan "homeplace" is adjacent from the Thomas McKirgan homesite, nearly unchanged from the "growing up" days of his six children. The two storied dog-trot style log home is owned by Norma McPherron Netherland, whose family last lived there.

One hundred years later, the "Genealogy" of the McKirgan family is being pursued by descendants of the Ohio and Missouri descendants, combining here the accumulated research of both groups.

Related Story:

James Erwin (1793-1850)

Submitted on behalf of the McKirgan descendants by:

Lou Hudson Pellican
7840 Sunray Ln., #3
St. Louis, MO 63123-1951

McLAIN/FEAGINS/BURCHFIELD

The first McLAIN of the East Tennessee clan came from North Carolina. His name was Rev. Thomas McLAIN, a Baptist Minister, who was living in Greeneville, Tennessee during the 1850 census. His age was listed as seventy-nine. It is thought he was the son of Alexander McLAIN of Wilmington, North Carolina.

Many of the descendants of Rev. Thomas McLAIN would also become ministers of the gospel. One of the first ministers was a grandson, James C. McLAIN. Many others would follow in their footsteps. At present, a great-great grandson, Jim McLAIN, is a missionary to Japan.

There were several grandsons of Rev. Thomas who fought in the War-Between-The-States. Most went with the North during the War.

Rev. Thomas McLAIN was born 1770 in North Carolina. He died May 3, 1855, age 85, Greene County, Tennessee. He married Elizabeth DOTY. Their children were: Nancy, Daniel, Joseph, George, John, Clark, Deborah, Elizabeth, Murrell, and Jonathan.

John McLAIN, son of Rev. Thomas, was born 1803, NC. He married Elizabeth STARNES, born 1802, daughter of Barbara Ann BOWMAN and Leonard STARNES. They both died after 1880. Their children were: Nancy Ann, married William GREY; G. Elliott, married Charlotte PARISH; L. Mitchell married Mary Ann JEFFERS; Ruthie Jane married 1. Isaac TUNNELL and 2. Elbert JONES; Thomas H. married Hulda McNEESE; Shedrick D. married 1. Elmira GARDNER and 2. Virinda MYERS; Mary Caroline married John FEAGINS; John B. married M. J. CHRISTIAN.

Mary Caroline McLAIN, daughter of John McLAIN, was born in 1842. She married John FEAGINS, grandson of Rev. William FEAGINS, II and his wife, Jane WINSTEAD. Rev. FEAGINS was pastor of the McPheeter's Bend Baptist Church from 1803-1847. Rev. FEAGINS was ninety-four years old when he died in 1865. His mother, the widow, Margett FEAGINS, was listed in Richmond County, Virginia, Will Book 1800-01. The children of Rev. William and Jane were (?) Margaret and James. James married Ann LONG - their children: Elizabeth, Tabitha, John, William B., Thomas W., James H., George W., and Wilson J. James and Ann's son John married Mary Caroline McLAIN.

John FEAGINS was born about 1838. He was wounded in the battle of Vicksburg during the War-Between-The-States. He was a Sergeant, in G Company, 39th Mounted Infantry, CSA. He died around 1891 and is buried in the Long's Bend Baptist Cemetery. His wife Mary Caroline, called Caroline, died in the early twenties when the home she lived in with her daughter's family caught fire. The home was on River Road at Surgoinsville. Caroline, her daughter, Martha Adderson, called "Add", and Add's two children burned to death. Their remains were buried in one grave at the Surgoinsville Baptist Church Cemetery.

The children of John and Caroline FEAGINS were: Anna Elizabeth, married Will WAITES; Thomas, married Ebbie CHRISTIAN; Laura, married John Floyd MORRISON; Jackson (John "Jack" Bowman) married 1. Arminty DYKES and 2. Becky Jane (CHRISTIAN) SIMPSON; Martha, married Yancy Baxter (Bud) FARMER; Nancy Ann, married William Harve BIRCHFIELD; and Ebbie, married 1. Gurnie CRADIC and 2. ARNOLD.

Nancy Ann FEAGINS was born 28 March 1878, Hawkins County, Tennessee. She died 14 Sept. 1962, at age 84, and is buried in the Long's Bend Cemetery. She married in May, 1896, by Bill Bailey at Long's Bend Church, to William Harve BURCHFIELD. "Harve" was born 10 February 1875, Hawkins County, Tennessee. He died 7 July 1947 and is buried at Long's Bend. He was the son of Thomas BURCHFIELD and Martha BRADSHAW.

The children of Nancy Ann and Harve BURCHFIELD were: Minnie Blanche, married Glenn GREER; Florence, married Sam K. SMITH; William Glen, married 1st Gertrude DYKES; Charlie Mack, married Roxy WILSON; Lora Lee married Fred JOHNSTON; Sally Ethel, married Clint REYNOLDS; Lillie Bethel, married Dan BAILEY; and Stanley Raymond married Zelma BOWLIN.

Submitted by:

*Sheila Weems Johnston
Route #1, Box 1330
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Joseph P. McMinn 1839-1917

Joseph P. McMinn was born in Bristol, Sullivan County, Tennessee on February 1, 1839. Both of his parents were also born in Tennessee.

When Joseph was 25, he married Mary Ann Easley, of Hawkins County, Tennessee. Her parents were Benjamin Easley and Eliza of Tennessee.

Joseph and Mary Ann were married on February 14, 1864 and had twelve children from this marriage. In the 1870's, the McMinn family lived in Burem, in Hawkins County. Joseph earned his living as a farmer. The first five McMinn children were born in Hawkins County: (1) Ellen Faye 29 November 1864 - 20 January 1943 Texas; (2) Robert Patton 15 May 1866 - 4 Nov 1913 Texas; (3) Hiram Fain 11 May 1868 - 12 October 1945 Texas; (4) Joseph Benjamin 7 April 1872 - died Texas; and (5) James Pearson 23 March 1873 - died Texas.

Between April, 1873 and December, 1879, three wagons of family and friends left Tennessee for a new home in Texas. One wagon reached Independence, Washington County, Texas where the occupants decided to settle. This was the wagon that carried Joseph and Mary Ann McMinn and their children. It's been told the other two wagons continued until they reached Harris County. To make a new life for themselves, after reaching Texas, the McMinn family continued to farm. The family increased in Texas with the birth of six additional children: (6) Teitus Clay 23 September 1877 - 26 January 1968 Texas; (7) & (8) twins, Asa Hoxey and Addie Clay were born 16 January 1880. Asa died 22 June 1943 in Somerville, Texas, and Addie died 18 April 1921. (9) John 8 September 1882 - 18 May 1932 Texas; (10) Willie 19 September 1884 - 19 November 1944 Texas; and (11) Harrie born January 1888. It is not known where the twelfth child was born or when.

Most of the McMinn family stayed in Texas, where they married and raised their children. They lived in Washington, Burleson and Brazos Counties.

Mary Ann preceded Joseph in death and is buried in Independence, Washington County, Texas. Joseph died on 30 May 1917 and is buried in Oak Lawn Cemetery in Somerville, Burleson County, Texas.

Related story:

Benjamin Easley

Sources:

Bible.

Cemetery Records.

Death Certificate.

Census: 1840, 1850, 1870 Hawkins Co., 1880, 1900, 1910 Washington Co., TX.

Information from daughter of John McMinn, the 9th child of Joseph P. McMinn.

Page from Joseph P. McMinn's Bible.

Submitted by:

*Mary E. Kuehn
6202 Willow Pine Drive
Spring, TX 77379*

William McPHEETERS Family

William McPheeters and Rebecca Thompson were married in Ireland, and came to Pennsylvania about 1729. By 1745 they were living in Augusta County, Virginia. They had eight children. After Rebecca's death, William married Mrs. Mary Peery, widow of Thomas Peery. There were no children by this marriage.

Children of William and Rebecca were Annie (born and died in Ireland); Martha (born in Ireland, died in Kentucky, married Samuel Downey); Mary (born in Ireland, married Alexander Crawford, both killed by Indians in Virginia); John (married Elizabeth Campbell, died in Kentucky); William (born in Pennsylvania, died in Virginia, married Rachel Moore); David (born and died in Pennsylvania); Jannett (Jane) (married John Patrick in Virginia); and Samuel (died in Hawkins County, Tennessee, married Margaret Seawright).

By 1780, Samuel and Margaret Seawright McPheeters had settled in the area of Hawkins County now known as McPheeters Bend. He entered 640 acres on Duncan Branch and 300 acres on the south side of the Holston River in 1785. They built a home that stood over 120 years. Samuel died during the epidemic of 1829.

Margaret Seawright was the daughter of John and Sarah Seawright. Other Seawright children were Jane (married Robert Curry); Polly (married Samuel Curry, who settled Curry's Ford in Hawkins County); Sarah (married Nicholas Curry); Anne (married Isaac Rankin); James (married Eleanor); and perhaps another son who predeceased his father.

Samuel McPheeters, Jr., son of Samuel and Margaret, and the first white child born in McPheeters Bend, was born 15 October 1783. Samuel married Lucretia Barrett in 1809. He died 26 October 1829 during the epidemic, and she died 28 February 1867 following a fall in her old age. Their children were Elizabeth (married Samuel Smith); Margaret (married John Caldwell, and moved to Missouri); George (married Milly Armstrong, and moved to Missouri); Sarah (died young); Lucinda (married William Scism, and moved to Missouri); Samuel D. (married Elizabeth Curry, and moved to Missouri); William (died young); Lucretia (married John Scism, and moved to Missouri); Rebecca (married Alexander Hicks, and moved to Greene County, Tennessee, then to Missouri, and later to Arkansas); and John Bovell (married Sussanna Kelly, and moved to Missouri).

Related story:

The Scism Family

Sources:

The Scism & Allied Families, compiled by DeLos Scism, Scism Family Association, 1942.

The McPheeters Family, by Helen McPheeters Rice, 1956.

Distant Crossroads, July 1991, Vol. VIII, No. 3, Hawkins Co. Genealogical & Historical Society.

Church Hill, Tennessee, Area History 1754-1976, by Clara Smith Reber, E. Tenn. Printing Co., 1977.

Submitted by:

Jo Walker Liggett

(Great-great-great-great-great-great-granddaughter of William & Rebecca McPheeters).

2706 S. 25th St.

Terre Haute, IN 47802-3402.

The MEE Family 1885-1887

It all began in 1885. The Mee family was summoned to appear in Chancery Court of Hawkins County because Betty Mee, age 73, brought suit against her sister-in-law and her nephew over a parcel of land.

Her complaint? That Polly Mee, widow of Joseph Mee, and her son, Richard and other members of the family were living on Betty's land rent free and selling timber from it without having title to the land. Betty wanted restitution in the form of monies from back rent, sold timber and to have Richard's family evicted.

This case started in February, 1885 and continued off and on through September, 1887 in the Supreme Court of Tennessee. A long and wearisome time for the Mee members involved.

Betty Mee's story initiated with her father, Thomas Mee, who had received a state land grant from Tennessee in 1826 and other grants as well. Thomas later deeded these to Betty. Her brother, Joseph Mee, had been "allowed" to live on his father's land and had acknowledged that the land was his "Daddy's land." Betty had at one time asked her father to make a deed for Joseph but Thomas wanted "no more writings" about it as he had already made one.

Joseph had married Polly Biggs in 1831 and had begun to live on the land belonging to his father about 1833. He raised a family consisting of Richard, Matilda, Joseph, Thomas, John, Andrew, William, and Mary Jane. By the time of the suit, Joseph had left the home, Andrew had died in the Civil War, William was unaccounted for, and the two girls had married: Matilda to W. Caswell Potts, and Mary Jane to John Floyd Lincous.

In the midst of the main case Richard filed a counter suit against Betty Mee in which he denied all of her allegations. He testified that he and his Aunt Betty had an oral agreement as to his upkeep of the property, making improvements of any kind and obtaining a deed for the property, in exchange for living there. But Betty reiterated that she had never agreed to those terms, and that Richard had not really made any improvements. Richard wanted compensation for his improvements and if Betty would pay him "fair value" for said improvements, he would agree to surrender the land. The result of Richard's suit was that Betty owed $1.66 to Richard and that the land would remain in his and his family's possession.

In the interim of the main trial, Polly Mee died. But the case continued on with Betty filing against "Richard Mee and others." After many tedious testimonies over the rights and boundaries of the land in question, the final judgment was that the family of Richard must vacate the land and make restitution to Betty Mee.

Richard and the other family members immediately filed for an appeal to rehear the case. They listed all of their arguments of proof, including receipts of taxes paid by Joseph Mee, and, after his death, wife Polly. This being proof that Joseph and the others of the family thought of the land as their own. The re-hearing was denied and refused. But Richard et al had one more move, and that was to file an appeal to the Supreme Court to be held in Knoxville.

In June of 1887, the Supreme Court found the defendants "entitled to recovery" because in the "eye of the law" continuous possession for 20 years or more is assurance of title. The other prevailing reason was that the original grant of land was in question because it was granted to one CANADY Mee, not Thomas Mee! Therefore, the questions of heirs was indeed in doubt. Both parties maintained their land by right of possession over 20 years. And later the deeds of their ownership were filed in the courthouse. To this day the question of "Who was Canady Mee?" has not been answered.

Sources:

HAWKINS COUNTY MINUTE BOOK G; Courthouse, Rogersville, TN, selected pages.

"Transcript from the Chancery Court at Rogersville in the cause of RICHARD MEE vs. BETTY MEE." Filed Sept. 13, 1886. Tennessee State Library & Archives; Nashville, TN.

"Transcript from the Chancery Court at Rogersville in the cause of BETTY MEE v. POLLY MEE and others." Filed June 27, 1887.

Tennessee State Library and Archives, Nashville, TN.

Submitted by:

Phyllis Gallimore Sheets
1106 Swern Lane
Newark, Ohio 43055

The MILLER Family and the Yellow Store

It was in 1795 that Peter Miller came to Hawkins County with his wife Sibyl and family and his son-in-law, Henry Burem. Both were of German descent--Miller was originally Mueller or Muller. Peter had been for some years near Fincastle, Virginia, in Botetourt County where he had a farm and a mill.

In coming to East Tennessee, a good part of the journey was by raft down the South Fork of the Holston River until he came upon an island at the mouth of Sinking Creek, and his son-in-law, Henry, took the next island down river. In December, 1796, Peter Miller bought a tract of land from Elisha Walling and made his home at the mouth of Sinking Creek.

Sibyl was killed while helping Peter in logging some timber when a log rolled over her. Both are buried on a knoll overlooking the creek and Holston River.

Peter's sons lived on both sides of Holston River. The oldest, Jacob, was the one who bought on Sinking Creek and inherited the home place when his father, Peter Miller, died in 1810.

Jacob Miller married Susannah Carmack in 1800. Their second son was Cornelius Carmack Miller.

It was around 1830 that Jacob established a store on his land where the stage road and Carter's Valley road joined. The building was given a coat of yellow paint; thus, the landmark Yellow Store, was born.

As were so many properties in those days, the Miller place was practically self containing consisting of the Yellow Store, a tan yard, a grist mill, saw mill, and cultivated farm lands. March 8, 1837, the Yellow Store became a post office and Jacob was the Postmaster.

On Jacob's death, January 13, 1843, C.C. Miller inherited the estate and on February 3, 1843, he became the Postmaster. He died in 1870 and his property was divided between his sons Wiley and DeWolfe Miller. Wiley sold his land to James R. Forgey in 1885, and in 1890 Robert V. Smith acquired the property, which included the Yellow Store.

The Millers continued to operate the Yellow Store, renting the building from the Smith heirs. As the Miller sons grew up, they were put to work in the store. DeWolfe's oldest son, Sam P. Miller, (my father) kept the store for two or three years after his marriage in 1906. Bob Armstrong also had charge for a few years. About 1910, Jim Thurman took over and kept the store going for 40 years.

The last three or four years before the tornado blew the store away (ed: May, 1955), the store was closed for the first time except for two years during the Civil War when Federal soldiers kept it shut.

During the Civil War, DeWolfe Miller joined fellow Hawkins Countians who were in Company E, Ashby's 2nd Tennessee Cavalry at Chickamauga in early 1864. They fought Sherman from Atlanta to Savannah, to Charlotte, N.C., where April 3, 1865, the South surrendered. The Smiths, Ellisons, Vances, Willie Young, Will Lyons, Wint Henderson, and DeWolfe Miller rode home through scattered blue coats and anti-rebels the best they could.

DeWolfe Miller recalled in 1921, "I can remember when produce from the Yellow Store was hauled by wagon train to Baltimore, Maryland. We paid six dollars in silver for every hundred pounds of merchandise brought back. The wagons left East Tennessee loaded with feathers, beeswax, hides, tallow, beans, dried fruit, ginseng, and so forth. The man in charge was Wiley Woods who made several trips to Baltimore. The railroad was completed in 1859 and thus ended the wagon trains."

"Mr. Sam," Sam P. Miller recalled the "feather room" at the store. A room with no doors or windows, with only an opening at the top through which the feathers were dropped to be later stuffed into sacks by a young member such as he. It left a vivid picture of a part of the work required on and about the Miller place.

Mr. Sam raised eight children: Dr. F. DeWolfe Miller, Harriett Miller Haynes, Sam P. Miller, Jr., James Hisey Miller, Annis Miller Hale, Peter Miller, Katherine Miller Westmoreland, and Frank P. Miller.

From the arrival of Peter Miller in Hawkins County in 1795 until the arrival of my two grandsons, James Hisey Miller, III, and Michael Jeremy Miller, there have been eight generations in this community in Hawkins County.

The Miller house in Surgoinville was originally built by E.W. Whittaker in 1892 and was L-shaped. Mr. Whittaker sold it to George Edens of Hancock County in 1901. Sam P. Miller bought the property in January, 1907 from George Edens. "Mr. Sam" remodeled the home, adding a huge living room, the balcony, and the front porch, along with the eight 20-inch columns which grace the front of the house. Other changes have been made throughout the years to make the home warm and comfortable. Nine Miller children were born there.

This lovely 100-year old home is the property of the author, James H., and his wife, Carolyn Dobyns Miller. The home, where James was born, has been in the Miller family since 1907.

Related Stories:

Forgey's.

Gale C. Jenkins Family.

John Jenkins.

Abraham Miller.

Peter Miller.

Sources:

Miller Records.

Newspaper clipping written by Prentiss Price.

Stories handed down from generation to generation by word of mouth.

Submitted by:

*James H. Miller, Sr.
P.O. Box 118
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

Abraham MILLER

Our Miller family came from Germany to Northampton, Virginia in 1640, then to Washington County, North Carolina, then Greene County, North Carolina, then to Jefferson County, North Carolina. (ed: Washington Co., formed from NC, was established in 1777, and covered the present state of TN. Sullivan Co. was formed in 1779 from Washington Co.; Greene Co. was formed in 1783 from Washington Co.; Hawkins Co. was formed in 1786 from Sullivan Co.; Jefferson Co. was formed in 1792 from Greene and Hawkins Counties.; Tennessee was created in 1796. Thus, Jefferson County was part of North Carolina until Tennessee's formation.)

Abraham Miller, Sr. married Elizabeth Gittrell. They were both born and raised in Rowan Co., North Carolina, but were married in Greene County, Tennessee. They had ten children: John, James, Sarah "Sally", Abraham Jr., Mary "Polly", Margale, Samuel, Rachel, Jane, and Nancy.

Abraham Miller, Jr., the son of Abraham and Elizabeth Miller, was born in 1794, died 11 March 1879, and married on 4 May 1835 to Elizabeth Morris Miller. Elizabeth, the daughter of Gideon Morris, was first married to Abraham's brother, Samuel, who died in 1834. Elizabeth and Sam had four children, all daughters: Martha Carolina, born 1828, married on 26 January 1846 to James E. M. Bettis; Rebecca E., born in 1830, married on 11 January 1848 to James Walker; Nancy Adaline, born on 19 November 1832, died on 26 May 1907, married James E. Walker; and Rachel E., born 1834, married 3 March 1852, married Eliha B. Milligan.

Abraham, Jr. and Elizabeth had eight children: William A., born 4 March 1836, died 22 July 1916, married 13 May 1856 to Eliza J. Bettis; James Gideon, born 9 October 1837, died 13 April 1905, married 25 August 1859 to Rosella Rimmer; Charity Evaline, born 1 September 1839, died on 15 November 1921, married 3 March 1861 to James H. Line; Shadrach S., born June 1842, died December 1861, single; Sarah Ann, born on 17 August 1843, died 29 January 1882, married 12 January 1859 to Alexander Rimmer; Mahala Angeline, born 6 April 1845, died 9 July 1919, married on 29 August 1867 to Joseph Line; John Albert, born 26 May 1846, died 25 May 1898, married 1 January 1876 to Margaret C. Skeen; and Jehue Jasper, born in May 1848, married on 2 September 1875 to Minerva E. Witt.

James Gideon Miller, son of Abraham, Jr. and Elizabeth, married Rosella Rimmer, born on 19 September 1841, died 17 June 1899. Rosella was the daughter of William Rimmer and Mary A. "Mollie" Whitfield.

James Gideon and Rosella had twelve children: Albert W. C., born 7 August 1860, died 6 January 1936, married on 19 May 1879 to Martha E. Cox; William Abraham "Bill", born on 11 February 1862, died on 2 August 1931, married on 1 January 1882 to Mary Elizabeth "Mollie" Howell; Mary F. "Mollie", born 11 February 1864, died in 1947, married on 7 August 1881 to Theondo Walker; Frazier J. G., born 15 June 1865, died 27 August 1883, single; Millard Filmore, born on 22 November 1867, died after 1938, married on 22 October 1888 to Susie Miller; Oslee Arlieannie, born 10 May 1869, died in 1870; Burnice, born on 22 September 1870, died 15 December 1950, married 9 January 1900 Joseph L. Rainwater; John G., born on 18 December 1871, married 12 September 1900 to Cordie M. Lampkin; George A., born 22 May 1873, died 5 August 1951, married 19 July 1906 to Nora Carter; Elizabeth M., born 5 September 1874, married 1st on 4 October 1894 to Ellison, 2nd in 1901 to Whalen, and 3rd in 1905 to Woods; Benjamin D., born on 15 July 1877, married on 25 December 1901 to Josie Carter; and Winfield Scott, born September 1879.

Mollie Howell, born on 29 August 1864/65, died on 8 August 1938, was the daughter of Isaac B. and Sarah Melinda Bettis Howell.

Bill and Mollie had ten children: Floyd L., born February 1884, died March 1964, married 9 October 1903 to Ellie White;

Maude A., born May 1886, died on 24 June 1970, married on 24 December 1900 to Frank Mills; Lucy, born on 17 November 1888, died on 30 November 1896; Ada B., born on 23 January 1891, died on 26 April 1954, married on 16 February 1907 to Mack Monroe; Clifford Eugene, born on 12 January 1894, died on 19 May 1962, married on 16 July 1911 to Elizabeth Frank; Jessee Hobert, born in April 1897, died in July 1968, married on 4 January 1918 to Grace Martin; Oattie B., born 10 August 1899, married 25 December 1919 to Veda Wice; Ralph S., born 4 May 1903, died 25 March 1967, married 16 December 1921 to Gertrude Underwood; and Irene, born 17 March 1905, died 10 July 1983, married in 1945 to Clarence Slack.

Clifford Eugene "Jimbo" Miller was born on 12 January 1894, in Sager near Jefferson City. The Post Office on the Census was called Mansfield Gap. Elizabeth "Lizzy" Emmaline Frank was born at Green Hill near Piedmont Post Office, called Flat Gap on the census. Lizzy was the daughter of William A. and Ida Jane Woods Frank. We called them "Pa" and "Meme."

Jimbo and Lizzy were married 16 July 1911 in Jefferson City. Their first house was a little house fixed up by Eugene from a smoke house on Eugene's father William A. Miller's farm on Sam Martin Road in Sagar. This was where Geneva was born.

Jimbo worked for his father. They had a sawmill, and all of Bill's sons worked at the sawmill.

In 1916 Jimbo and Lizzy moved to what they called the Emmitt Malcom house on the old Mt. Horeb Road about one mile from the old New Jersey Zinc Company on Highway 92, side faces Mt. Horeb Road. New Jersey bought the Malcom farm for putting lime on. This was where Clifford "Cracky" was born. Geneva was almost five years old when Clifford was born. Geneva's first school was Gravely Hill, also known as Devotie Hill (Hwy. 92) near New Jersey Zinc Company. Geneva said they lived in a house on Gravely Hill when Helen was born 24 August 1921.

They next moved to Jay Byrd Hill in Jefferson City. I believe this is when Jimbo and his brothers started a service garage and a taxi service. They didn't live on Jay Byrd Hill long, they then moved into a house on what is now Sizer Street (where Mrs. Jessie Frazier lives now). They lived there in 1922, and Ralph and Gertrude Miller lived upstairs.

Clifford's first school was at the old City Hall in Jefferson City. Helen went to the old Grammar School where the Carson-Newman boy's dorm is now. Geneva, Clifford, and Helen all finished their school in Jefferson City.

I know the Miller Brothers owned the garage in 1924, because they sued my father Jack Morrisett for $60.00, it is on the Minutes Book in Dandridge Court House. Mom said, "they took his old car for the bill, because Jack didn't have the money to pay them."

Jimbo owned one of the first cars in Jefferson City.

On 22 July 1927 Jimbo and Lizzy bought two lots from Ralph and Gertrude Miller in what was called Moody Addition, now Highland Avenue, next to the Church of God in Jefferson City. They built a small house and moved into it (Deed Reg. 2 September 1927).

Jimbo and Lizzie had three children: Ruby Geneva, born 8 December 1912, married 7 November 1931 to Roy W. Ballew; Robert Clifford, born 12 October 1917, died 27 October 1987, married on 24 December 1936 to Gladys Morrisett; and Helen Maebell, born 14 August 1921, married on 15 January 1939 to James Earl Baker.

Gladys Morrisett Miller, born on 11 April 1923, is the daughter of Thomas Jack Morrisett and Lillie Mae Underwood.

Robert Clifford and Gladys Miller have two children: Jacky Eugene "Jack", born 12 August 1937, married 7 May 1966 to Katherine D. Ross; and Robert Dahl "Dink", born 31 October 1941, married on 19 August 1966 to Stella Faye Manis.

Jack lives in Cordelle, Georgia, and has one son "Cliff" who lives in Greenville, NC.

Robert D. lives in Blountville, TN. He has a son Rodney who is married and lives in Texas, and a daughter Monica who lives in Bristol, VA.

Peter and Sybil Miller lived in Hawkins

County. They were cousins of our Miller family, they had a son Jacob and Susan Miller had a son Cornelius C. Miller who married Matilda Forgety who was also a cousin on the Underwood side of my family. Matilda's brother William married Mallie Underwood, sister to Elisha Underwood, William and Mallie Forgety had 16 children, two died young and 14 lived to be grown.

Our Morris family was Gideon Morris, fourth great grandfather of Clifford Miller. Clifford's third grandfather was Gideon Morris, Jr., who married Rebecca Crow. They were the parents of Elizabeth Morris Miller. Edward Morris lived in Hawkins County, and owned lots of land. He was a brother to Gideon. Gideon and other Morris family members owned land in Hawkins County.

Related Stories:

Forgey's.

The Miller Family and the Yellow Store.

Peter Miller.

Thomas Morrisett.

Elisha Underwood.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Clifford (Gladys Morrisett) Miller
1344 Clinch View Circle
Jefferson City, TN 37760*

Benjamin Franklin MILLER and Family

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MILLER (1858-1938) was the son of Kinchen Miller (1824-1905) of Washington County, Tennessee and Elizabeth Jane McNabb Miller (1835-1900), daughter of Andrew and Margaret Bogart McNabb of Carter Co., Tennessee. He had four sisters and a brother: Julia Hannah, Margaret Elizabeth, Rebecca, Martha J., and Andrew M. Miller. His grandparents were John Jack Miller, Jr. (1800-1874) and Mary Kelly Miller (1798-1864), daughter of Kinchen and Mary Hammer Kelly, all of Washington County. His great-grandfather, John Miller (1764-1822) of German origin, settled in Pennsylvania, later in Rockingham County, Virginia, before coming to the Knob Creek area of Washington County in 1788. He married Caterine (Caty) Bowman (1775-1844) in 1789, daughter of Jacob, Jr., and Susanah Milhouse Bowman, also of German descent, very religious, Dunkards, who came to Virginia from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Caty's grandparents were Jacob and Katherine Bowman.

Benjamin Franklin Miller's parents, Kinchen and Jane Miller, owned a great deal of property along Cherokee Road near Jonesborough, where the six children were reared. In 1889, they left Washington County and bought a farm in the First Civil District of Hawkins County, in Grassy Valley, near the Hamblen County line and Whitesburg.

Ben Miller, as he was known by his family and friends, made staves for barrels in Washington County. He also was a farmer. He married Laura E. Eutsler, born in 1860, of Washington County. Their three children were Charles Madison (Mack) born in 1882, Cora Bell Miller Creech born in 1883 and Andrew Cleveland Miller born in 1884. His wife died, leaving him with the three small children and he left Washington County, came to Grassy Valley in Hawkins County and lived with his parents, Kinchen and Jane Miller. He had six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren by this marriage.

Ben Miller remarried May 17, 1892 to Nancy Jane McCarver (1859-1942), daughter of William Lafayette McCarver and Sarah Jane Robertson McCarver.

Ben Miller and Nancy McCarver met at a church picnic. He ate a piece of white cake and thought it was the best he had ever eaten and said he would like to meet the person who made it. They were introduced and sat around the spring and got acquainted. He always enjoyed relating this story.

Ben bought his father's farm in Hawkins County, later buying adjoining land and had the home built about 1902. Additions and improvements have been made, but the basic structure looks very much as it did when completed. This house has only been occupied by family members until just recently.

The three children of Ben and Nancy were Robert O. Miller (1896-1978), Lucy Miller Talley (1897-1987), and Herbert Smith Miller (1899-1985). Two children died in infancy. They had nine grandchildren: Olen A. Talley, Mary Miller Talley Ayers, Robert C. Talley, Mildred Miller Ballew, H.S. Miller, Jr., John F. Miller, Charles Andrew Miller, Peggy Ann Miller Roberts, and Nancy Miller Morelock. They had seventeen great grandchildren and several great, great grandchildren.

Ben Miller was a member of Whitesburg Baptist Church. He joined Kyle Lodge No. 422 F. & A.M. at Whitesburg in 1887. He was presented a certificate in 1937, as the only member of Kyle Lodge who had been honored with a 50-year certificate. He was an outstanding citizen and a good neighbor in the community.

Ben Miller's grandparents and great-grandparents were buried on the family farm on Knob Creek, Washington County, which later became a large family cemetery. It is evident the Millers of Knob Creek made a good living for their large families by farming, operating mills, carpentry, blacksmithing, and possibly other occupations.

Kinchen and Jane Miller, Ben and Nancy Miller, along with two of their children, Robert O. Miller and Lucy Miller Talley, also the two infants, are buried in Bethesda Cemetery, Hamblen County. The youngest son, Herbert S. Miller, is buried in Sullivan County.

The Kinchen/Ben Miller farm in Grassy Valley has been handed down to each new generation for over one hundred years and is now owned by R.C. Talley, a grandson of Ben Miller.

Related story:

William Lafayette McCarver Family

Sources:

Bible Records.

Gravestones.

Census records.

Family records.

Handed down by "word of mouth" from parents and grandparents.

Books: The History of Washington County, Tennessee, and The Miller Family of Knob Creek, Washington County, Tennessee.

Submitted by:

*Mary Miller (Talley) Ayers
(a granddaughter of Ben Miller)
3604 Shady Road
Bybee, TN 37713*

Peter MILLER

At his death, the emigrant, Peter Miller, left a copy of an early pirated edition of Franklin's Autobiography, printed in Albany in 1798. In it is a penciled note on his death which gives his birthplace as Germany in 1742. He is said to have been a Palatine, clockmaker apprentice, he emigrated to America in the early 1760's and may have been the Peter Miller who signed the loyalty oath in Philadelphia, in 1760. His wife, Sybil, though it is not proven, was by name pattern a Pitzer (Pitser).

Peter's first three children were born in Pennsylvania, the last five were born near Fincastle, Botetourt County, Virginia, where Peter had bought a farm just as the Revolution was beginning.

Another German, Henry Burem, took up a tract nearby and married the oldest daughter, Polly. The two men--Peter was the first--were the only settlers south of Staunton to be indicted for breaking the Scotch-Irish sabbath. Peter's offense was grinding corn on "five sundry Sundays." Henry's was carrying bags of corn "to and from" Peter Miller's mill.

Peter came to Hawkins County in 1785. He bought an original land grant and its adjacent island from Peter and Mary Cocke and then put down the customary 50 shillings for a land grant alongside his original purchase. Then Peter gave his son, John, some of his earliest land and he moved to the north side of the river where he died twelve years later in 1810. The creek mouth was a corner of the new plot; its line moved up the creek to where as the deed puts it the "waters of the sunken creek burst from the stone."

Four years later than Peter, in 1789, Henry Burem followed to the Holston River, passed the Millers at Sinking Creek, and settled on down the river at Mill Bend, now known as Burem.

The Miller family flourished, as Jacob married Susannah Carmack, bought the next land up creek from Elisha Waller, built a three story grist and flour mill, added a tan yard, and began a merchandise business, the Yellow Store. He entered local and state politics as he continued to expand his holdings. He and his son, Cornelius Carmack Miller, kept leather-bound ledgers at the Yellow Store that have revealed the residents in this community.

One of Jacob's sons, Wylie B. Miller, is said to have run the store before leaving for Memphis, Tennessee where he increased the wealth of the South by pioneering the use of cottonseed oil on farm and dairy. A younger relative, James Russell Miller, began as a cottonseed buyer for Wylie and ended as a top industrialist in the development of Arkansas.

The Miller family had two brothers who became doctors, Dr. Sam Miller, and Dr. East(man) Miller. Also, Dr. Robert Miller Young, Dr. Henry S. Burem, and Dr. Billie Armstrong were related to the family.

In the financial world, Jacob Miller, II, sometimes called "Hogback Jake", was President of the Bank of Tennessee in Rogersville. He signed by hand the dollar bills used by his establishment.

The Citizens' Union Bank of Rogersville in its 90th Annual Report made special tribute to one charter board member, F. DeWolfe Miller, who was followed by a son, Sam P. Miller. Neil D. Miller is presently chairman of the board of Citizens' Union Bank.

The Rev. Dr. Pitser Miller Lyons, III, the family's most important cleric, has retired from his ministry in the First Presbyterian Church of Atlanta.

Two landmark Miller homes are: One at Yellow Store on Sinking Creek, owned by Neil and Nancy Miller; and the century old home remodeled by Sam P. Miller, now owned by James H. and Carolyn Dobyns Miller, at Surgoinville.

Related Stories:

Gale C. Jenkins Family.

John Jenkins.

Abraham Miller.

The Miller Family, and the Yellow Store.

Submitted by:

F. DeWolfe Miller
3834 Sequoyah Drive
Knoxville, TN 37919

Hugh Paul MITCHELL

Hugh Paul Mitchell, "Paul" as his friends call him, was born in Kyles Ford, Hancock County, Tennessee, on September 10, 1926. He was the oldest of four children born to Luther and Lillie (Lawson) Mitchell, who were married in Tennessee in 1925. Paul has one brother, Jack, and two sisters, Pauline Sheeks and Wilma Skeen, all residents of Indiana. A native of Sneedville, Tennessee, he received a high school education from Hancock High School. Mitchell grew up on a farm in that area. (ed: Hancock County was formed from Hawkins and Claiborne Counties in 1844, with its county seat at Sneedville).

After his discharge from the Navy in 1948, Paul enrolled in East Tennessee State University and in only 2 years he graduated with a B.S. degree in chemistry and biology. He continued his education studying at Arkansas State University, University of Louisville, and the University of Wisconsin.

Teaching has been Mitchell's life. Following graduation from college, he started his career in education by teaching in Bristol, Tennessee. In 1955 Paul enrolled at Indiana University to work on his Master's degree, then came to Bedford in 1956 and began teaching sixth grade at Lincoln School. He was named principal of the school in 1967 and remained in that position for the next 14 years.

During this time Mitchell owned and operated his own business, Mitchell Construction Company. From a humble beginning, he has achieved much, working long hours and doing hard work to make his business and community better. He developed Western Hills, a subdivision west of Bedford, Indiana. He also had developments in Orleans and Paoli and in a period of 35 years built some 200 homes and offices in a radius of 30 miles of Bedford. Mitchell, through hard work and determination, has become one of the county's most successful businessmen.

When the building trades instructor at the North Lawrence Vocational Center became ill, it seemed only natural that he step in and take over the classes, combining two of the skills he had developed over the years--teaching and construction trades. After 6 years for North Lawrence Vocational Center, and a total of 34 years as a teacher and administrator, Mitchell retired from teaching in 1987.

Mitchell, longtime member of the Bedford Exchange Club, was president for 2 years. He served as District Director for the Indiana-Kentucky Division from 1974-1975 and was named "Outstanding Director" in the division. In 1976 he was elected President of the Indiana-Kentucky District. Voted the "Exchangite" of the year by his fellow club members, he was a recipient of numerous awards for outstanding work done in the Exchange Club, and in one year he brought into the local Exchange Club over 100 new members. This is a National record that still stands today.

A leader in civic endeavors in Bedford and Lawrence County, he has at one time or another, served in leadership capacities in the United Fund, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Boys Club, Save the Children Federation, Senior Citizens, Speech and Hearing Foundation, Cancer Society, Heart Association, North Lawrence School Foundation, JayCee's, Kiwanis, Bedford Elks Lodge, Phi Delta Kappa, and is a 32nd Degree Mason, and a member of the Baptist Church.

He married Betty King--and they had two children: Linda S., born November 1954, who married Scott Turney and now resides in New Harmony, Indiana. The Turneys have two children. Their son, David L., was born in November 1956, and married Patty Gunn. They have 2 children and live in Tampa, Florida. In 1982 Paul married Joan D. (Fuller) Mathews, daughter of William and Edna Wykoff Fuller, a native of Lawrence County.

Paul is an avid sports fan and when time permits, his hobbies include golf, boating, and fishing.

Submitted by:

Joan Mitchell
409 Shandell Dr.
Bedford, IN 47421-9662

Richard H. MITCHELL

I am a descendant of the Rogers-Amis family of Rogersville, Hawkins Co., Tenn. I have a copy of some bible records on the Mitchell family. The first shown are Richard H. (Henderson?) Mitchell and Lousiana N. Rogers, she being the daughter of Joseph Rogers and Mary Amis of Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tenn. They were married August 7, 1825, presumably in Rogersville, Tenn. Fredrick Egbert Mitchell, son of Richard H. Mitchell and Lousiana N. Rogers Mitchell, and Martha L. Drake, daughter of D.W.W. Drake and Sabriana Evans Drake, were married August 25, 1862 presumably in Rogersville, Tenn.

W. W. Drake, the son of Gabriel and Rebecca Drake, and Sara A. Evans, the daughter of Walter and Sabriana Evans, were married November 25, 1841 presumably in or near Rogersville, Tenn.

Fred E. Mitchell, son of Fredrick Egbert Mitchell and Martha L. Drake, married Roma Verda Martin, daughter of William and Eva Josephine Hulery, of McMinnville, Oregon, on September 1, 1907.

This is my lineage according to the bible records which are in the possession of my uncle F.E. Mitchell of California.

Little is known of the early life of Richard and Lousiana other than what is to be found in Hawkins County archives and in the pamphlet by Mr. James Woods Rogan.

I know that Fredrick Egbert was presumably in the Confederate Army, and that he and Martha migrated to California, but no family records are available. I do have a picture that is presumably of 'Fredrick Egbert Mitchell and Martha L. Drake Mitchell' taken just after their marriage or before their migration to California. I have found military records for Fredrick Egbert showing him to be in the Confederate Army, at least listing are for F.E. Mitchell.

The Bible records go on to list the births and deaths of the children of Fredrick Egbert Mitchell and Martha L. Drake Mitchell, but no places of birth or death are mentioned. Their children were: Minute Mitchell, b. 18 May 1863, d. 30 Sept. 186 ; Frank Mitchell, b. 25 May 1865, d. 25 June 1873; Iva Mitchell, b. 7 April 1867;

Minnie D. Mitchell, b. 1 April 1869, d. 2 June 1873; Ruth Mitchell, b. 9 Jan. 1871, d. 28 June 1873; Rowena Mitchell, b. 18 June 1873; Eulah Mitchell, b. 9 August 1875; Flora Earnest Mitchell, b. 7 March 1878; Fred Earl Mitchell, b. 6 September 1883, d. 30 March 1936 in California.

The story goes that some of these children were being born and dying at the same time due to some sort of epidemic.

One paper from the family bible shows someone's handwritten record, with the name of the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad Co. President's Office, Knoxville, Tenn., dated 186 .

Unfortunately, no written records of their lives survived them, other than those bible records.

Fred Earl Mitchell and Roma Verda Martin Mitchell homesteaded in Malheur Co. in eastern Oregon. This is where Roma's cousins, the Hulery's, had settled. Roma's Mother was Eva Josephine Hulery from McMinnville, Oregon. I have copies of pictures of Roma when she was about two years old, also pictures of Eva as a young woman.

The nearest town was Weiser, Idaho. They would cross the Snake River to Weiser to buy provisions. At one time, so the story goes, they, with daughter Ginny, had crossed the river into Idaho to get provisions, and the bridge washed away while they were in town. When they returned Roma walked Ginny across, at Fred's direction. When Fred tried to cross the river with the wagon and horses, he lost most of the provisions and the wagon, but was able to save the team of horses.

When they first arrived, they built the house and a well. Fred built the only two-story house in the county outside of town. He dug the well on a slant, so eventually they had to call in an expert to dig it right. Roma always complained the water tasted oily when it had stood awhile.

They both loved being on the land where sagebrush and buckbrush abounded. The summers were terribly hot, up to 101 degrees, and the winters were terribly cold, with the snow coming up over the first floor windows.

One day, ca. 1913, when Fred had gone to town, a rabid coyote frightened the animals. Roma was in the privy, and when she tried to reach the house their small dog, I presume a terrier of some sort, got between her legs, hindering her movement to the house. She eventually made it inside the house and their larger dog "Tige" fought the coyote "all around the house." The coyote bit the cow which calved three days later. A bull calf was born, and the cow died due to the coyote bite. When Fred returned, Roma yelled out the window to him about the mad coyote, and Fred shot it.

During the fall and winter months, the homesteaders would frequently gather at one farmhouse or another for dancing and socializing. Fred and Roma had a wind up phonograph record player and loved to have the neighbors over. Children were put to bed upstairs, sometimes six to a bed, and the adults would dance all night.

Roma, being small of build, could only help plant by pulling the gear on the seeder. Riding horses was an everyday occurrence then, and one time she got her corset caught in the saddle.

During WWI Fred farmed in eastern Oregon because he could not join the Army as he had lost an eye when a family cow hooked him at the age of three or four. He and some neighbors rounded up horses and loaded them on a boxcar and took them to Denver for use by the Army.

Roma lived to be in her 90's. She was always impeccably dressed, and never without her corset. I can remember being very small and helping her fasten it up. Lots and lots of hooks. She had a permanent crease in her back from wearing it.

Grandmother Roma also had a very good sense of humor, and was not above using a few swear words, although I never got to hear her. She taught me how to cross stitch, and I can remember her threatening us children with her cane – we sure settled down in a hurry.

Roma and Fred are survived by their children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren, all of whom are scattered, most live in California. So, the Rogers-Amis-Mitchell family line still survives. There are still four Mitchell males alive.

I am the only one interested in trying to keep the family record. I have managed to collect quite a bit of information, but this quest never ends. Perhaps one day one of my cousins will be interested enough to pick it up.

Related story:

Thomas Amis

Submitted by:

*F.L Wallace
1122 F. St. N.E. #2
Washington, D.C. 20002*

Robert Tyner MITCHELL

Robert Tyner Mitchell was born in Scotland, came to Ulster Co., Ireland, then to America during the early settlement of this country. He settled on Edisto Creek in S. C.

His children were: Absalom, Daniel, Benjamin, Isaac, and Robert Tyner, Jr. Robert Tyner Mitchell, Jr. was born 1-12 1733 in Abbeville, S.C. He married Jane Tanner Henderson of Granville, N.C. There were 8 children: John, Mark, William, Rebecca, Thomas, Louis, Robert, and Solomon.

Solomon Mitchell was born 6-5-1759 in Granville Co. N.C., and died 1-1839 in Hawkins Co. TN. He is buried in the Mitchell Cemetery in Hancock Co. on Clinch River near the mouth of Panther Creek on the north side, which was the old Mitchell farm.

Solomon volunteered and served in the Continental Army during the Revolutionary War in 1777 from S.C.

He married in May 1787 in Abbeville, S.C. to Nancy Broughton, born 4-10-1762 and died 2-22-1849. They had 13 children: Steven, Rebecca, Louis, Jessie B., Mary, Robert T., Morris, Nancy, Richard H., Susanna, Elizabeth, John, and Greenberry.

Greenberry Mitchell was born 12-28-1796 in Abbeville, S.C. He was a soldier in the War of 1812. He later located in Hancock Co. Tn, owned a farm at the mouth of Blackwater Creek. He was well educated, a great reader, taught school, very mechanically inclined. He married Elizabeth Wilborn, and they had 5 children: Lucy, Nancy, Greenberry, Jr., Robert, and Sterling.

Sterling Mitchell was born in 1827. He married Clara Fletcher and lived for a time on his father's farm. After his death he was buried in that county. He worked as a cooper and was said to be one of the best. He did some farming, hauled supplies for merchants in and near Sneedville, TN.

It was said that Sterling went to Rogersville to get supplies for the merchants in Sneedville and nearby. When he purchased the supplies he liked (sic) 10¢ having enough to pay for them. He promised to return that day and pay the 10¢. After delivering the supplies, he headed back to Rogersville to pay the 10¢. I'm not sure if he walked or rode from Sneedville the 20 miles one way to pay the promised debt. He was honest and kept his word.

He had 9 children: Mary, Lewis, Margaret, Amanda, Catherine, Jesse, Elizabeth, Martha, and Robert.

Robert Mitchell was born 3-7-1862. He married Cinthea Ann Livesay in 1881. He died 5-12-1943. He had 9 children: Flora, Sara, George, Lavinia, Carrie, Leonard, Lonnie, Gale, and Luther. He lived at the mouth of Turkey Creek in Hancock County TN. A very prominent farmer, and timber harvester. He gave his children a farm or money when they got married.

A very honest man, it was said "he would walk miles to pay a penny if he owed you." A very hard worker, a Christian and member of the Unicoi Church.

He cut timber and ran rafts to Chattanooga.

He and Cindy are buried in the Livesay Cemetery near the mouth of Turkey Creek.

Luther Mitchell was born 9-20-1894, died 10-11-1989. He married Lillie Lawson. She was the daughter of Layfayette and Jane Lawson. She had a sister Mrs. Elsie Moles and a brother Mack H. Lawson who lived in Rogersville, TN. They were married in the middle of the road near the bridge where the road from Kyles Ford to Sneedville crossed Panther Creek. (Ed: Mack H. Lawson was co-owner of Boyd-Lawson Co., which sold hardware and furniture in Rogersville. Elsie married Hugh Moles, who owned Moles Lumber Company in Rogersville).

Luther Mitchell lived in Hancock Co. til 1948. He was a farmer. A very hard worker. A very intelligent and well read person. He loved sports. A great competitor. He had a kind disposition, well liked by everyone. A very generous person. When working on the farm he set the pace for others to follow and try to keep up. It was said "when you work for Luther Mitchell you will know that you did a full days work."

He liked to grow garden vegetables and especially watermelons. He gave to the neighbors and friends very freely.

He was a deacon in the Davis Chapel Church, a song leader, Sunday School Supt. and a Sunday School teacher.

Luther Mitchell bought a farm and moved to Orleans, In. in 1948. Again, a very successful farmer, an intelligent farmer, possessed good health, lots of friends, he never saw a stranger and shared his wisdom with those seeking knowledge.

He attended Mt. Pleasant Church, a faithful member.

At age 95 he fell off the top of the house. He wasn't hurt, but was taken to the hospital, and he was to be released the next day. However, the shock from the fall caused his heart to stop. He just went to sleep.

He is buried in Orange Co., In. near Mt. Pleasant Church, east of Orleans, IN.

As of this writing 6-15-93 Granny (Lillie) is 93, born 9-5-1898. She lives in Orleans, In. in an apartment close to her daughter Wilma Skeen. She has always been a hard worker, good Christian Mother, loves people and they love her. She has a lot of visitors. She taught school at Rock Hill Elementary, 5 miles south of Kyles Ford, TN and taught at Dry Branch Elementary on Panther Creek. A strict disciplinarian. She likes to quilt and cook.

They had 4 children: Jack, a jewelryman in Paoli, IN.; Wilma, a housewife in Orleans, IN.; Pauline, a housewife and a retired school teacher; Paul, a retired school teacher of 34 years, a contractor, and businessman for more than 35 years living in Bedford, IN.

Submitted by:

Mr. H. P. Mitchell
409 Shandell Dr.
Bedford, IN 47421-9662

The Asa MONROE Family

Descendants of Asa Monroe (1792 NC) have been told that he left Ashe Co., N.C. on foot, carrying a bale of cotton which he used to mark his trail for the rest of the family who followed later. They traveled through Virginia into Tennessee (a trip which took "two moons") probably in 1834-35. His wife Sarah (1799 NC) and his known children were: Calvin W. (1817 NC); Madison J. (1819-1905 NC); Mordicai (1822-1905); Robert (1830); Ellen (1832); Marian (1833); and Martin (1837). The Monroe property was in Gravelly Valley. Asa died before 1860 and his wife died between 1860-70. We believe they are buried in the Mellons (formerly Monroe) Cemetery.

The oldest son, Calvin W., married Mariah Jane Ann Larkin (1824) in Hawkins County October 11, 1842. Their children were: William Levi (1844-1920); Nancy (1847); John Franklin (1850-1910); Sarah M. (1853); Mariah I. (1855); James C. (1858); and Eliza E. (1860).

Madison J. married Rebecca Davis (1826-1893), and their children were: James J. (1845); Eliza Ellen (1848); Robert H. (1850), married Sarah; Sarah Caroline (1852-1939), never married; Mary Emaline (1854), married a Byington; Ferbie Jane (1857); Lydia (1859), married (1) William T. Monroe and (2) James B. Bruner; Martha Adaline (1862-1885); twins -- William Harve (1866), married Matilda Bellamy; Mariah Tennessee (1866), married a Lee; Rebecca Elizabeth (1870), married a Coffman.

Madison was a Union soldier in Company H, 8th Regiment, Tennessee Cavalry Volunteers from November 12, 1863 until his discharge September 11, 1865. Morning Star Church and Cemetery are part of Madison's property. His homeplace, at the time of his death on March 12, 1905, was located on Morning Star Road.

Mordicai lived with his family in Jefferson County, and he died there in 1905. He is buried in Mount Herob Presbyterian Church Cemetery off Dumpling Valley Road in Jefferson County.

Martin Valley Monroe married Sarah E. Wells in Hawkins County in 1860. He also served in the same Union Army company as his brother, Madison. In the 1880's he went West and staked his claim to land in Pence City (Scott County) Kansas in a section known as Beaver Flats. His letters to Hawkins County relatives (1887-1892) mentioned (probably his children): Nannie had a house and 160 acres of land in Pence City; Sherman was clerking in a hardware store in Boliver, Missouri; Nate was married and living in Missouri; George was working in a hotel in Pence City; and John was still at home with him and Sarah. Martin travelled back to Mossy Creek (ed: presently Jefferson City) and Hawkins County to visit his relatives several times.

As of this date (1993) I am still researching my Monroe relatives and hope that someday I can have complete information on all of the children of my great-great-grandfather Asa.

Related story:

John Franklin Monroe Family

Sources:

Family records

Census records

Courthouse records

Submitted by:

Leslie Monroe
(Great-great grandson of Madison)
(Grandson of Edward Peavler Monroe)
813 Kendrick Creek Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37663

John Franklin MONROE Family

John Franklin, the son of Calvin W. (1817) and Mariah Jane Ann Larkin Monroe (1824), was born in Hawkins County January 15, 1850, and died February 25, 1910. He went with his brother, William Levi (a carpenter) to Jefferson County in the late 1860's to help build houses. They met Sarah Isabell and Cornelia Adaline Newman, daughters of Aaron and Catherine Tillette Newman. William married Sarah Isabell in 1868, and John Franklin married Cornelia "Neeley"

June 5, 1879. Cornelia was born January 26, 1858 and died June 15, 1941. Their 11 children were: Ludema, Gerta Belle, Samuel, Margaret, William Calvin, James Thomas, Oscar Leroy, Rosa Maude, Myrtle Mae, John Clyde, and Nannie Pearl.

Ludema Monroe (1880-1931), married Ethel Moffitt, and had children: Bridget, married a Wooten; Georgia, married a Hicks; Belle, married a Fox; Carson; and Tom.

Gerta Belle Monroe (1881-1902), married John Anderson, and had children: Ellen, Maude, and Frank who died in infancy.

Samuel Monroe (1883-1936), married Annie Coles, and had children: Bethel; Tessie, married a Taylor; Clarence; Ruth; Garland; Reeves; Myrtle, married a Fields; and Dorothy, married a Derrick.

Margaret "Maggie" Monroe (1885-1970), married John Christian, and had children Rosa, and Fannie Pearl.

William Calvin Monroe (1887-1941), never married.

James Thomas Monroe (1888-1964), married Cassie Gilbreath, and had children: Viola, married a Reece; Pearl, married a Necessary; Buddy; Evelyn, married a Shipley; Mary Ellen; and Gladys.

Oscar Leroy Monroe (1890-1969) married Ida Josephine Davis (1896-1956), on April 13, 1911, daughter of Thomas and Sallie Rose Davis, and had children: Ella Mae (1912), married Neil Herron; Alberta (1914), married Marion Byington; Cornelia "Cornie" (1916) married Frank Taylor; Annalou (1918-1919); Oscar Franklin (1920), married Ada Hankal; John Paul (1922), married Sarah Head; Lou Ethel (1925), married Ralph Surcey; Edna (1928), married Emory Edwards; Margaret (1930-1969) married Ralph Peak; Helen (1932), married Ed Emingholz; Doris (1934), married John Johnson; Geneva (1936), married Bert Cobb; and James Winifred (1939), married Jean Moore.

Rosa Maude Monroe (1893-1984), married Milton Herron, and had children: Pearl, married a Phillips; Beulah, married a Jarrett; Reese; and Glynn.

Myrtle Mae Monroe (1895-1985), married Claude Davis, and had children: Alpha, married a Frazier; Gladys, married a Henderson; Edith, married a McCracken; and Thelma, who married a Vaughn.

John Clyde Monroe (1898-1985), married Offa Christian, and had children: John Clyde, Jr.; Godfrey, married Phyllis Arnott; Phyllis, married Jack Haulsee; Earl Ray (twin) (1941), married Ann Light; and Gerald Fay (twin) (1941-1941).

Nannie Pearl Monroe (1900), married John W. "Bud" Mellons, and had children: Edgar; J. C.; Marie, married a Hudson; Ruth, married a Watts; Hazel, married a Smiley; Ralph; Brenda, married a McClain; and Annie, married a Dalton.

In the early 1880's John operated a small store in Hawkins County. He farmed approximately 20 acres of his share of his father's land in Gravelly Valley. He taught school (penmanship) for two or three years. His handwriting was discovered in old record books at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church by his great-grandson, Lonnie Wooten, Jr., the present pastor of the church. He was actively involved in church work and was often described as a highly respected Christian man. His daughter, Pearl, remembers him going (every Sunday after Church) to read the Bible to his blind Uncle Madison.

He, his wife, two children, and several infant grandchildren are buried in the Mellons Cemetery located off Morning Star Road.

Related Stories:

The Asa Monroe Family

Thomas Davis

Sources:

Family Records.

Census Records.

Pearl Mellons, youngest child of John Franklin Monroe.

Submitted by:

Mae Taylor Tate
(Great-granddaughter of John Franklin and Cornelia Newman Monroe, Granddaughter of Oscar Leroy Monroe, and Daughter of Cornie Monroe Taylor)
209 Stuffle St.
Kingsport, TN 37660

MOONEY

Four of the eleven children of Charles and Margaret (Peggy) Brooks Mooney need to be listed separately. There were ten boys and one girl, and it is said that the boys always told people that there were ten boys and they all had a sister. This is one illustration of the humor of the Mooney clan, and their Irish heritage.

Anderson Mooney was born January 13, 1851 and died ca 1864, at age 13 of blood poisoning due to a stone bruise on his heel. He is probably buried in the William Brooks Cemetery on Clouds Creek as that is where his father was buried about 1867.

Susan Mooney, the only girl, was born March 7, 1853 and died June 3, 1888, of typhoid. This was during the epidemic of that year in which her mother and her sister-in-law, Barsha Bentley Mooney, and Barsha's baby son died. All are buried in the Courtney Cemetery.

John Mooney was born on February 3, 1855. Nothing more is known about this member of the family. The birthdates are all taken from the Mooney Family Bible which disappeared from the home of a great granddaughter, Anna Mae Mooney Foster, several years ago.

The last baby was a son who died at birth, and who was not named. This baby is also probably buried in the Brooks Family Cemetery.

Another story of the "pranks" of one of the boys was that of Edley Mooney who was captain of a boat traveling the Holston to Knoxville. The men had been out for quite some time and had not shaven for many days. There was one razor, and since Edley was captain he had charge of it. He told the men that they would pass the razor to each man who would shave one side of his face, and that would mean that all would one side clean shaven. He started the procedure and the razor was passed. When it came back to Edley he shaved the other side of his face and threw the razor into the river.

But the boys were not the only ones who liked to play pranks. The Mooney family lived just across the road from the Courtney Cemetery. One night several people were at the house and it seems that perhaps ghost stories were the order of the night. Susan decided to put into play some of the ghost stories. She disappeared, wrapped herself in a sheet and returned to the house, and was quite successful in her attempt to frighten some of the more timid guests.

Related Story:

Mooney - Payne

Submitted by:

*Judy Rose Mooney
Burem Road
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Jim MOONEY

James "Jim" Irving Mooney (1906- 1979), son of Robert Charles (1871-1907) and Rebecca Ann Isenberg Mooney (1875-1957), was a professional baseball player, World War II Navy commander, college baseball coach and professor, and college veteran's adviser.

In 1932 he married Maude Elizabeth "Sweetie" Wilkinson (1913-1992) and they had three children: Jean Elizabeth (b. 1937), Susanne (b. 1941), and Judith Ellen (b. 1943).

Jim Mooney grew up on Snow Flake Farm, outside of Mooresburg, with his mother and her second husband, John Coleman Hicks, and his brother, Charles Jacob (1901-1957), and sister, Love Zereña (1904-1977). A second sister, Eula, died at an early age (1902-1908).

Jim Mooney attended Mooresburg High School where he participated in sports. In 1924, when his mother and sister Love moved to Johnson City so the daughter could attend East Tennessee State Normal School for teachers, he transferred to the two-year high school on campus.

In the spring of 1924, he answered State's Coach Jim Luck's call for baseball tryouts. Technically, Mooney was still a high school student, but there was a shortage of college players and Luck gave Mooney a uniform. Mooney had played baseball at Mooresburg High School and had developed a good left arm. In Normal's first game against the mighty Emory and Henry Wasps, Luck decided to play the left-handed country kid. Luck's judgment was true for Mooney pitched a 11-0 game. The rest of the season was sheer pleasure for the lean Mooresburg pitcher for he pitched every game during the 1924 season, and Normal had an undefeated season.

Mooney liked the game of baseball. It was fun, and he liked the people who played the game and the fans reacting to his strike-outs with hurrahs and boos. And he liked it even more when he found he could help pay his way through teacher's college by working for coal field companies in Virginia and Kentucky and pitching on their baseball teams on weekends. He was paid for working in the fields, not playing ball, which kept his amateur status.

The first such team he joined in 1924 was in Dorchester, Virginia. The team belonged to a church league, and all team members had to attend Sunday School each week to be eligible to play for the team.

After Dorchester came Mascot, Tennessee and Secco, Kentucky.

Each spring he pitched for the teacher's college, then he played the summer in the coalfield leagues. By his senior year he had amassed a local following and an impressive record--enough for a minor league scout to sign him with the Chattanooga Lookout team. With his B.S. degree from East Tennessee State Teachers College, which he received in 1929, Mooney was able to teach high school during the winter and pitch baseball in the summer.

He found the two professions complemented each other to his satisfaction. Sportswriters referred to his teaching as his "winter trade." During the next several years he taught school at Unicoi High and played the minor league. It was while he was pitching for the Charlotte Hornets in 1931 that he caught the eye of John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants.

One sportswriter wrote: "Mooney attracted the attention of John McGraw to the extent that McGraw scouted the husky Tennessean and bought him for 1931 delivery a few days later. Mooney has struck out 157 men in 175 innings.

Another sportswriter described Mooney's first game with the Giants: "An unknown young school master from a small Tennessee town walked out on the pitching mound at the Polo Grounds yesterday and pitched the Giants to a brilliant 2 to 1 victory over the heavy-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates."

At 3:16 p.m, he was an obscure small-town boy. At 5:05 o'clock he was a New York hero, and sauntered across the field at 5:22 on the way home through the speedway entrance, puffing on a big cigar.

"It's been years since John McGraw has had a rookie make a debut like Mooney's."

McGraw had a new sensational pitcher, and the sportswriters had a new subject for colorful copy. His mannerisms, East Tennessee background, and his rapid rise to fame inspires writers to describe him as "Lefty," "Southpaw," "Mound Ace," "Boy Wonder," "Tennessee Twirler," the "Tennessee School Master," and the "most feared rookie in the majors."

In 1933, Mooney was traded in a controversial deal to the St. Louis Cardinals. It proved to be a good trade for him for he joined a group of friends who became legend as the "Gas House Gang" - Pepper Martin, Joe Medwick, Rip Collins, Leo Durocher, Frank Frisch, Dizzy and Paul Dean, and Dazzy Vance. It was with this group of friends he pitched for the Cardinals in the 1934 World Series win over Detroit.

In 1937, Mooney decided to leave pro ball and return to teaching. His overall professional record was 163 wins and 144 losses. He moved his family back to East Tennessee, and he earned a master's degree from the University of Tennessee. He taught industrial arts at Tennessee High in Bristol in 1939 when he joined East Tennessee State Teachers College to coach the college baseball team and teach mechanical drawing, which he did until 1966.

During World War II, he was a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy and commanded an LST and saw two tours in the Pacific.

He guided his ship through eight major landings including the Philippines and Okinawa. He was cited for "personal courage and leadership in performing duties and accomplishing designated assignments under regulated enemy air attack."

Mooney's active naval career ended when his ship, USS LST 555, was blown onto the beach at Wakayama, Honshu Island, Japan, by a typhoon during the night of September 17-18, 1945. The ship was crippled to the extent it could not be moved, and Mooney, true to Navy tradition, stayed with the ship until it could be decommissioned.

Returning to East Tennessee State in 1946, he assumed the duties of Director of Veterans Affairs along with his duties as head baseball coach and teacher. In 1966, he turned the coaching duties over to Coach Joe Shipley and concentrated on his veterans, who were beginning to increase as a result of the Veterans Readjustments Benefits Act of 1966.

He retired from the university in 1974. He died of heart failure in Johnson City in 1979.

Submitted by:

*Jack Mooney
1120 Knob Creek Road #20
Johnson City, TN 37604*

Joseph Thomas and Allie Jane (PAYNE) MOONEY

Joseph Thomas Mooney (b. March 5, 1859-d. April 26, 1931), was first married to Barsha Bently (d. 1888), and second to Allie Jane Payne (b. September 7, 1876-d. November 18, 1961), daughter of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne. Joseph Thomas was a brother of Albert Mooney who married Allie's sister, Nancy Jane Payne.

Two sons were born to the union of Joe and Barsha Bentley Mooney, Charley Atholl (b. October 14, 1886-d. 1956), and an unnamed baby who died in 1888. The mother also died in 1888 in the typhoid epidemic, and both are buried in the Courtney Cemetery.

Two daughters were born to the union of Joe and Allie Jane: Jannie Vee (b. June 27, 1900-d. January 23, 1972), and Mattie Sue (b. May 5, 1902-d. April 15, 1967). This entire family is buried in the Courtney Cemetery.

Charley Atholl Mooney was married to Laura Cornelia Brooks (b. March 23, 1884-d. 1947), daughter of Joseph Daugherty and Annis Delilah Williams Brooks, on December 29, 1907. To this union the following children were born: Joseph Clifford (b. January 21, 1909-d. August 4, 1944), Anna Mae (b. February 19, 1910), Lawrence Edgar (b. October 23, 1911), and Cecile Christine (b. June 12, 1916-d. October 30, 1986).

Joseph Clifford was married to Opal Louise Ethel Bullion (b. July 12, 1920), on November 22, 1943. He was killed in World War II, and is buried in Courtney Cemetery.

Anna Mae was married to William Dolphus Foster (b. December 7, 1902-d. December 19, 1984). Mr. Foster had a daughter, Ina (Darger), by a former marriage. He is buried at Courtney.

Lawrence Edgar was married to Rachel Beatrice Stubblefield (b. October 22, 1921-d. January 21, 1983), daughter of William Henry and Verdie Slater Stubblefield. There were two children born to this union: Judy Rose (b. June 15, 1944), and Johnny Edgar (b. January 27, 1946). Beatrice and her parents are buried in the Dodson Creek Cemetery.

Cecile Christine was married to Martin Kelsie Harrell (b. December 25, 1911-d. March 14, 1953) on August 4, 1934. Her second husband was Adam Woods (b. August 11, 1933) whom she married on July 11, 1959, and later divorced. Her third husband was William (Bill) Light. Cecile and Martin Harrell were the parents of a son, Charles Martin Harrell, who married Opal Rhea. Charles Martin and Opal had a son, Martin Craig Harrell (b. September 28, 1962), and she was the mother of a son, Bobbie Rhea, by a prior marriage. Cecile's obituary stated that she was survived by one son, one step-son (Kenneth Light), three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Jannie Vee Mooney was married to Carl Richmond Shepard (b. September 8, 1905-d. September 29, 1964), son of James M. and Mary Jane Hamblen Shepard. There was one son born to this union, Estel Ray Shepard (b. February 28, 1939-d. April 9, 1984). Jannie Vee and Carl were second cousins, her mother, Allie Jane Payne Mooney, being the youngest sister of Mary Jane Hamblen Shepard's mother, Sarah Elizabeth Payne Hamblen.

Ray's first wife was Opal Green whom he married in January of 1967, and later divorced. His second wife was Nancy Bowman whom he married in 1973. Nancy died in November of 1988, and this family is also buried at Courtney.

Ray and his first wife, Opal, were the parents of Timmy Ray (b. January 3, 1968), and Renee (b. March 26, 1969). She had a daughter by a prior marriage. Nancy Bowman Shepard was the mother of several children by her first marriage.

Mattie Sue Mooney was married to Barlow Lee (b. October 20, 1923-d. June 13, 1955). Both are buried at Courtney.

Related Stories:

Hezekiah Davis and Sarah Elizabeth (Payne) Hamblen.

Mooney - Payne.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

*Judy Rose Mooney
Burem Road
Rogersville, TN 37957*

William MOONEY

William Mooney (born 1804), a son of Josiah (born 1770), had 9 children: William (born 1831); Samuel (born 1832); Martha (born 1835); Jonathan; Sarah; Nancy; David; Daniel; and Fannie. William is the line from which I descend.

William Mooney (1831-1902) married first , and they had three children: Darthula (1862-1886); George (born 1864); and Polly (born 1866). I have found no record of either child being married.

William married second Elizabeth Farris (1841-1928), and they had five children: Victoria (1873-1898); Joe; Luther; Mary Jane; and Charlie.

Joe Mooney (1874-1954) married , and they had a son, Carl. Carl married Ina Cash, and they had a daughter, Clara Nell, who never married.

Luther Mooney (1876-1959) married

Alice Chesnutt (1880-1948), and had 3 children: Harry, Betty, and Lula.

Harry Mooney (1902-1977) married Katherine Fisher, and had no children.

Betty Mooney (1905-1980) married James Morrisett, and they had one daughter, Mary Evelyn, who married Lewis Hagood. Mary Evelyn and Lewis have 3 children: Rusty; Victoria; and Gregory.

Rusty Hagood (born 1957), a doctor in Knoxville, TN, is not married.

Victoria Hagood (born 1960) married Bob Olson, and they have two daughters, Tori and Chelsie.

Gregory Hagood, born in 1965, is not married.

Lula Mooney (born 1909) married Charles Wright, and they have three children: Billy; Joe; and Henry.

Billy Wright is married and they have 3 children: Chucky, Karen, and Elizabeth.

Joe Wright is married, and they have 3 children: Joey (born 1959); Jeff (born 1961); and Jeanna (born 1965).

Henry Wright died young.

Mary Jane "Mollie" Mooney (1880-1944) married John Henry Morell (1872-1966). They had 7 children: Dewey Steele (1898-1899); Ora Pearle (born 1899); an unnamed infant (1900-1900); Jerome (born 1903); Corbin (1908-1992); Wanda (born 1913); and Willie Frankie (1915-1990). See the John Morell story for further information.

Charlie Mooney (1884-1953) married Ada Chesnutt. They had no children.

There is a story that I remember from childhood. It goes something like this:

It happened back in the early 1900's when men bound logs together to make a raft. Three or four men would float the logs down the Holston River to Knoxville to market. On this occasion my cousin Ed Mooney (a jokester) said on the way down "You know, we only have one razor so we will shave half of our face, pass the razor around, and then finish, so the last ones will not have a dull razor."

As they came near Knoxville all the other men had shaved half of their face, and Ed took the razor, shaved the other side of his face, and as he started to pass it on to the next man he accidentally on purpose, dropped the razor in the river.

When they reached the market, all the other men all had to go to the market with half their face shaved, the other half covered with a beard.

Related Story:

John Morell

Sources:

An old family Bible owned by the author.

Court House Records.

Cemeteries.

Family tradition.

Submitted by:

*Wanda Morell
200 Henard
Rogersville, TN 37857*

MOONEY-GARDNER-LIGHT

Joseph Charles Martin Mooney, born January 24, 1898, died May 6, 1977, son of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, was married first to Lena Mabel Gardner, born April 6, 1901, died February 22, 1943, on June 4, 1922. She was the daughter of John Wiley (Rock) and Mary Ann Jones Gardner of the Van Hill Community.

The second wife of Martin was Clydie Light, born February 14, 1913, daughter of Floyd and Cordelia Ward Light. They were married on September 28, 1945. Cordelia Ward Light is believed to have been of Indian descent. Clydie had a twin brother.

There was one daughter, Louise Kathleen Mooney, born May 16, 1925 by the first marriage. On August 23, 1945 in Elkton, Maryland, she married Henry Thomas Shorter, born April 24, 1925. Henry was serving in the U.S. Navy at that time. He was the son of Edward and Maude Etta Baker Shorter of Mooresburg, TN. There were three children born to this union: Dennis Martin, born October 12, 1946, died October 16, 1946, Christal Ann, born March 6, 1956, and Carol Delisa, born May 22, 1966.

Christal Ann Shorter was married to Thomas Robert Richmond on July 7, 1979, at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church in Knoxville, and Carol Delisa was married to Paul Hart on May 12, 1990, in Knoxville. Chris and Tom have an adopted daughter, Laura Elizabeth, born May 19, 1990, in Lexington, Kentucky. Tom's parents are John Robert and Ruth Geraldine Blind Richmond of Chattanooga.

Chris Ann received a certificate in secretarial sciences from UT, and Tom was graduated from UT, Chattanooga, with a B.S. in Biology. Both are employed by TVA.

Carol Delisa Shorter was married to Paul Hart on May 12, 1990, at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church in Knoxville. She and her husband reside in Knoxville.

Louise was employed by a real estate and insurance firm in Knoxville, and Henry was employed by the Exxon Corporation. Both are now retired.

There were two daughters by the second marriage, Brenda Fay, born April 15, 1947, and Kathi Ann, born September 4, 1953. Fay is married to Alan Ray Bernard and they have three children: Mary Beth, born June 12, 1973, Thomas Allan, born May 5, 1980, and Savannah Joy, born February 1, 1991.

Kathi's first husband was Robert White by whom there was one daughter, Jennifer Samara born October 6, 1971; her second husband was Luke Goddard by whom there was a daughter, Kathi Rebecca, born 1971; a son, Joseph Martin Mooney, born March 1, 1980; and a daughter Jamey Cassandra, born May 5, 1983 by her third husband, Gary Matthews. She is now married to Walter Daryl Chandler.

Martin traveled for Rogersville Wholesale for many years, and later was a salesman for Terry Motor Co. He also served for several years as a Magistrate in Hawkins County. After retirement from Terry Motor Co., he operated a grocery store in the Van Hill Community where the family resided.

He served as a deacon in the Van Hill Free

Will Baptist Church and in other offices such as Sunday School Superintendent, Trustee, Treasurer, and on the Building Committee. He served as Sunday School Superintendent for 37 years. His daughters, Fay and Kathi, were also active in the Church Training Service, each serving in the office of President.

Mabel Gardner Mooney and her grandson, Dennis Martin, are buried in the Weems Cemetery at Van Hill. Martin is buried in the Mount Carmel Church Cemetery.

Related Story:

Mooney-Payne

Submitted by:

*Louise Mooney Shorter
1900 Matthew Lane
Knoxville, TN 37923*

MOONEY-HICKS

WILLIAM THOMAS MOONEY (b. May 6, 1894-d. August 13, 1959, son of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, was married to Nora Elizabeth Hicks (b. January 20, 1898-d. July 6, 1972), daughter of R. Deaderick Hicks and Amanda Brooks. They had ten children: James Howard (1916-1971), Chloe Agnes (1918), Margaret Elizabeth (1919-1922), Ola Mae (1921), Albert Deaderick (1923), John Thomas (1925), Laura Kathryn (1927), Harry Eugene (1929-1982), Mattie Sue (1931), and William Thomas, Jr. (1937).

Howard first married Dorothy Jeffers. They had three children: Charles (1939-1943), Daughter (died at birth), and Betty Sue (1942). Dorothy died in 1942 and is buried with her son in Indiana. Betty married James Edward Huff on September 1, 1961. There were five children born to them: Sharon Jeanne, Yvonne Darlene, Kathy Marie, Johnny Edward, and Jerry Lee. Sharon Jeanne married first Tim King, and second Gordon King. She had a daughter by each husband. Yvonne Darlene married Mark Allen Bender and had two children. Kathy Marie married Paul Wilkerson, Jr. and had two children. The Huffs reside in Greeneville.

Howard's second wife was Clara Opal Jones. There was one daughter, Margaret Jean. Jean married Donald Landon Wagner on March 18, 1963. There were three daughters, Amy Christine (adopted), Rebecca Kay, and Cathy Jean. Amy is a teacher. She married Richard Allen McFarland, Jr. on May 28, 1988. They have a daughter, Katie Elizabeth. Becky married John David Lilley on October 26, 1990. They have a daughter, Makenzie Brooke. Cathy has a son, Andrew Landon Wagner.

Agnes married James Millard Francis on December 28, 1936. They had three children: Homer Harold, Emmajean, and Ronald Lee. Homer married Shirley Irene Thomas on May 2, 1959. They have three children: Timothy Wayne, Homer Harold, Jr., and Michael Eugene. Emmajean married Harold Ross Fisher on April 28, 1957. They have six children: Steven Ross, James Harold, Regina Rae, David Michael, Daniel Bryan, and Thomas Wayne. The family resides in Texas. Ronald married Angela Faye Lewis on May 30, 1971. They have four children: twins, Benjamin David and Christopher James, Amy Faye, and Caron Lee.

Margaret Elizabeth is buried in the Hicks Cemetery, without a marker.

Mae married Glen Moffitt on January 11, 1941. They have three children: Willard Clarence, Thelma Louise, and Shirley Lorene. Willard married Edna Arlene Peterson on May 12, 1961. They have one son, Stephen Todd. Louise married Bill Eugene Butler on July 29, 1961. They have two children: Michael Shane, and Sharon Denise. Mike married Maria Lynne Brobeck on January 7, 1984. They had one son, Andrew Shane. Mike is a policeman in Johnson City. Sharon married Mark Andrew Jewett on May 30, 1987. She is a teacher in Florida. Lorene married Paul David Parsons on June 5, 1965. They had two children: David Scott, and Rebecca Lynne. Becky married Alan Barton Haynes on December 14, 1991.

A. D. married Jackie Riffin on October 22, 1960. There were three children: Katherine Dee, Albert Deaderick, Jr. and Debra Denise. He was a tractor-trailer driver before his retirement due to ill health.

John married Sallie Teague (Moffitt) on August 3, 1975. She had two children by her first husband.

Kathryn married Roy Hipp and had five sons: William Dennis (Kathryn's son, adopted by Roy Hipp); Gary Michael, Kenneth Earl, John Robert, Douglas Allen. After Roy's death Kathryn married Frederick Andrew Spiridonof and had a daughter, Tania Lee.

Gene married Mollie Faye Francis on January 15, 1955. There were two daughters: Teresa Jean and Diane Faye. Teresa has two sons, Eric Eugene and Corey Gene Mooney.

Sue married William Marvin Moffitt, whose brother Glen married her sister Mae. Sue and Bill and two children: Vickie Ann and William Marvin, Jr. William Marvin, Jr. is the father of a son.

William, Jr. first married Evelyn Larue Dell on October 14, 1962. Their daughter Linda Sue is now married. William, Jr. is now remarried.

William Thomas and Nora Elizabeth Hicks Mooney are both buried in the Evergreen Cemetery in Westminster, Maryland.

Most of the family worked for Black & Decker.

Related Story:

MOONEY-PAYNE

Submitted by:

Jean Mooney Wagner
523 Spruce Street
Mount Carmel, TN 37644

MOONEY-ISENBERG

LUCY LEOTA MOONEY (b. February 22, 1893-d. December 2, 1974), daughter of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, was married to Samuel Asbury Isenberg (b. November 4, 1889-d. July 17, 1982) on January 19, 1916 in Morristown, Tennessee. There were four children born to this union: George Edgar (b. October 12, 1916-d. September 26, 1984); Ola Pearle (b. October 25, 1917), Albert David (b. January 4, 1919), and Charles Samuel (b. March 21, 1920), all born in Hawkins County.

Samuel was one of twelve children of David and Susan Gillenwater Isenberg, who were married on August 9, 1874. The family moved to Indiana in 1928 where Samuel and his sons worked on some of the large farms, including the John Case Dairy Farm, Howard Cadle Farm, and the Lugar Farm, but only Edgar remained a farmer. Albert and Charles entered other fields.

Edgar married Ruth Virginia Edwards (b. April 3, 1925) on Easter Sunday, April 21, 1946, at the Cadle Tabernacle, Indianapolis. There were six sons born to this union: Edgar Alan (b. November 3, 1948-d. February 27, 1992), Jonathan Wayne (b. November 16, 1948), David Eugene (b. January 8, 1952), Daniel Joe (b. September 13, 1953), James Lee (b. March 4, 1955), and Timothy Dean (b. October 23, 1960). Edgar Alan (Eddie) Isenberg died as the result of injuries received in a robbery of his workplace. Edgar died of a heart attack. Ruth's parents were Edward and Lelia Jackson Edwards, natives of Kentucky.

Jonathan and his wife Debby were married on February 16, 1974 in Indianapolis. They have four children: Jennifer Lynn (b. March 18, 1975), Douglas (b. January 9, 1979), Catherine Grace (b. December 29, 1980, and Benjamin Curtis (b. October 3, 1984). All the children were born in Indianapolis, Marion County, Indiana.

David and his wife Margaret were married July 12, 1980 in Muncie, Indiana. They have three children: Joshua David (b. October 24, 1982), Matthew Lee (b. April 26, 1984), and Mark Samuel (b. July 8, 1986).

Timothy and his wife Nancy were married on November 19, 1983 in Little Rock, Arkansas. They have one daughter: Nicole (b. October 15, 1985). Nancy is originally from Colorado. Timothy and Nancy met in Arkansas where he was serving in the Air Force at Jacksonville. He is a policeman in Little Rock, but is now at the Plainfield Police Academy preparing to join the Indiana State Police about October 1993.

Pearle was married to Bennie Morgan (b. July 22, 1917) on October 19, 1941. Bennie and Pearle were active in church work and evangelism for a number of years, and still are active in the church they built in Southport, Indiana, several years ago. Before his retirement he was director of special education in the Indianapolis School System.

Albert (A.D.) was first married to Anna Ruth McElfresh (b. October 7, 1923-d.

March 31, 1985), daughter of Frank C. and Gladys Marie Lory McElfresh, on September 22, 1946. They had two sons: Richard David (b. November 30, 1952), and Jay Thomas (b. November 7, 1954). Jay was married to Kim Marie Smith, daughter of James Cecil and Joan Kinzalow Smith, on March 18, 1977, at the First Baptist Church of Concord. They have a son Kevan Thomas, born in May 7, 1983. Albert was married to Dorothy Johnson on December 7, 1991 in Knoxville. Dorothy has a daughter, Sherry, by her first marriage. Sherry is married to Larry Roach. Ann died of a massive stroke. The family resides in Knoxville, where Jay and Rick are engaged as partners in sub-contracting work. Albert is a contractor.

Charles was married to Ada June Thorpe (b. July 26, 1928) on May 27, 1947. They had three children: Charles Samuel (b. January 18, 1948-d. August 30, 1991), Sheila Kathleen (b. August 21, 1949), and Jackie (b. April 8, 1953-d. April 9, 1953). Kathy was first married to Dick Thornton on June 14, 1968, and there was one son, Stephen Cash Thornton (b. September 18, 1970). She is now remarried.

Lucy Leota Mooney was a charter member of the Mooresburg Baptist Church. She was a talented musician, and wrote music, some of which was published.

Lucy and Sam are buried in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Related Story:

MOONEY-PAYNE

Submitted by:

Pearle Isenberg Morgan
64 South Street
Southport, IN 46227

MOONEY-KITE

ROBERT FRANKLIN MOONEY, son of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, was born on February 12, 1899, in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, and died on June 3, 1962, in Kingsport. He is buried in the Highland Cemetery, at Rogersville.

He was married to MILDRED GRACE KITE, daughter of Samuel Elkanah and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, on September 1, 1926, in Hawkins County. She was born March 27, 1906.

In November of 1927, Robert and Mildred Mooney moved to Kingsport where their only daughter, Frances Jane Mooney, was born on March 22, 1928.

He was employed by the Blue Ridge Glass Corporation until sometime in the early 1930s, at which time the family returned to Hawkins County for a short time. They then returned to Kingsport where he again was employed by the Blue Ridge Glass Corporation, and during World War II, he served as a rural mail carrier and operated a small grocery store near Kingsport. He retired in 1959 because of his health.

Frances Jane Mooney graduated from East Tennessee State University with a degree in music, and taught in the Sullivan County School System for about six years. Leaving the teaching field, she worked as a stenographer in the FBI Field Office in Knoxville, returning to Kingsport to work as secretary to Ben Haden, Vice President and General Manager of the Kingsport Times-News. Mr. Haden left the newspaper to enter the ministry, and is presently pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Chattanooga, with a nationally televised program, and also radio program.

She later worked as secretary to the Vice President-Finance of American Saint Gobain Corporation, successor to the Blue Ridge Glass Corporation, and then was secretary to William T. Gamble, of the law firm of Wilson, Worley, Gamble & Ward in Kingsport, for a number of years. She retired from this position and was at that time senior secretary at the law firm.

In 1969 she became a Certified Professional Secretary, which is the highest honor attainable in the secretarial field. She was a member of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (now the Professional Secretaries Association). She served in a number of offices in both that organization, and the Kingsport Legal Secretaries Association.

At present she is serving as organist at the Calvary Baptist Church in Kingsport, having gone there in 1970. Prior to that she was organist at the Lynn Garden Baptist Church, and the Mafair United Methodist Church, serving at Mafair from 1956 to 1969. She also serves as Church Clerk at Calvary Baptist Church.

ROBERT FRANKLIN MOONEY was one of seven children born to Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney. They were: Lucy Leota (Isenberg), William Thomas, Ralph Hamblen, Joseph Charles Martin, Maggie Ola, and Letha Sue (Mullenix). Albert was the son of Charles and Margaret (Peggy) Brooks Mooney, and Nancy was the daughter of William Latham (Billy) and Letha Whitson Payne. The Mooneys were natives of Hawkins County, and the Paynes were from Washington County, the original State of Franklin.

MILDRED GRACE KITE was one of nine children born to Frances and Samuel Kite. They were: Myrtle Leona, Thomas Martin, Homer David, Ralph Willard, Elmer, William Taft, Charles Oliver, and an unnamed baby.

Robert's older sister, Lucy Leota Mooney (Mrs. Samuel A. Isenberg), was a charter member of the Mooresburg Baptist Church; and his younger sister, Letha Sue Mooney (Mrs. Hobart Mullenix) was a teacher. His brother, William Thomas, moved to Maryland where he died. He is buried in the Evergreen Cemetery at Westminster. His brother, Joseph Charles Martin, was a salesman for Rogersville Wholesale for a number of years, and later was a salesman for Robinette-Terry Motor Company, and also served as a Magistrate for several years.

Mildred's older sister, Myrtle Leona Kite (Mrs. Joseph Franklin Slater), and a younger brother, William Taft Kite, moved to Kingsport where Myrtle's husband worked for Tennessee Eastman Company, and William worked first for Holston Defense Corporation, and later for Tennessee Eastman Company.

Related Stories:

Kite-Worsham-Lee

Mooney-Gardner-Light

Mooney-Hicks

Mooney-Payne

Mullenix-Mooney

Payne-Whitson

Submitted by:

*Frances J. Mooney
1564 Warpath Drive
Kingsport, TN 37664*

MOONEY-PAYNE

On March 30, 1892, Albert Mooney, born September 6, 1856, died April 13, 1922, married Nancy Jane Payne, born July 15, 1863, died October 14, 1922. They were the parents of seven children: Lucy Leota (1893-1974), William Thomas (1894-1959), Ralph Hamblen (1896-1896), Joseph Charles Martin (1898-1977), Robert Franklin (1899-1962), Maggie Ola (1900-1904), and Letha Sue (1901-1986).

Albert Mooney was the son of Charles (1802-ca. 1867), and Margaret (Peggy) Brooks Mooney (1819-1888). The names of Charles' parents are not known. Margaret's parents were William Deaderick (Billy) Brooks and Susannah Price. William Deaderick is erroneously identified as William "Dixon" in several listings. Susannah's parents were Henry Price and Catherine. William's brother, Anthony, married Susannah's sister, Hannah.

Nancy Jane Payne was the daughter of William Latham (Billy) Payne (1834-1915) and Letha Whitson (1838-1911). William was the son of Abigail Payne. Letha was the daughter of Enoch and Elizabeth White Whitson. These families were from Washington County, TN.

Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, and their children, Ralph Hamblen and Maggie Ola, are buried in the Courtney Cemetery. Also buried in this cemetery are Joseph Thomas (brother of Albert) and Allie Jane Payne Mooney (sister of Nancy Jane), with their children, Charley Atholl Mooney and an infant son by Joseph's first wife, Barsha Bentley, and daughters Jannie Vee (Shepard) and Mattie Sue (Lee), daughters of Allie Jane.

Lucy Leota Mooney married Samuel A. Isenberg on January 19, 1916 in Morristown, TN. They were the parents of George Edgar (1916-1984), Ola Pearle (1917), Albert David (1919), and Charles Samuel (1920). The family moved to Indiana in the late 1920s. Lucy and Sam, together with their son, Edgar, are buried in Indiana. Sam and Lucy were farmers.

William Thomas Mooney married Nora Elizabeth Hicks (1898-1972), daughter of R. Deaderick Hicks and Amanda Brooks. They had ten children: James Howard (1916-1971), Chloe Agnes (1918), Margaret Elizabeth (1919-1922), Ola Mae (1921), Albert Deaderick (1923), John Thomas (1925), Laura Kathryn (1927), Harry Eugene (1929-1982), Mattie Sue (1931), and William Thomas, Jr. (1937). The family moved from Hawkins County to North Carolina in the late 1930s, then to Maryland in the early 1940s. Will, Nora, and son Eugene, are buried in the Evergreen Cemetery, Westminster, Maryland; Howard at Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport, TN, and Margaret Elizabeth in the Coleman Hicks Cemetery in Hawkins County. Most of the family who resided in Maryland worked for Black & Decker.

Joseph Charles Martin Mooney was first married to Lena Mabel Gardner (1901-1943) on June 4, 1922, and second to Clydie Light on September 28, 1945. There was one daughter by the first marriage: Louise Kathleen (1925), and two daughters by the second marriage, Brenda Fay (1947) and Kathi Ann (1953). The family resided at Van Hill. Lena Mabel Gardner was the daughter of John W. (Rock) Gardner and Mary Ann Jones. The family resided at Van Hill. Martin was a salesman for Rogersville Wholesale for a number of years, then served as a Magistrate in Hawkins County, and before his retirement was a salesman for Terry-Robinette Motor Company, Rogersville. He is buried in the Mount Carmel Free-will Baptist Church Cemetery; Mabel is buried in the Weems Cemetery, Hawkins County.

Robert Franklin Mooney married Mildred Grace Kite (1906), daughter of Samuel Elkanah and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, September 1, 1926, erroneously entered as September 2 in the County Court Clerk's Office. There was one daughter, Frances Jane (1928). Robert worked at Blue Ridge Glass Corporation (now AFG), was a rural mail carrier during World War II, and later ran a grocery store. He is buried in the Highland Cemetery at Rogersville.

Letha Sue Mooney married Hobart Mullenix (1896-1944) on March 21, 1925. Their children were: Orlen Hobart (1927), William Paul (1929-1938), Nancy Irene (1931), Albert Kenneth (1933-1992), Joseph Charles (1935), Marvin Dale (1937), and Clarence James (1943). C. J. was about a year old when his father died. Paul died of spinal meningitis. Sue was a teacher for a number of years before her marriage. Sue, Hobart, and son Paul are buried in the Solomons Temple Baptist Church Cemetery at Blairs Gap, and Kenneth at East Lawn Memorial Park, Kingsport.

Related Stories:

Mooney.

Joseph Thomas and Allie Jane (Payne) Mooney.

Mooney-Gardner-Light.

Mooney-Hicks.

Mooney-Isenberg.

Mooney-Kite.

Mullenix-Mooney.

Mack McCarty and Annie (Brooks) Payne.

Payne-Whitson.

Submitted by:

*Frances J. Mooney
1564 Warpath Drive
Kingsport, TN 37664*

Rodham MOORE Family

Darby GALLAHUE, d. 1771 in Prince Wm. Co., VA, married Charlotte EWELL. Their son William GALLAHUE, died in 1754 in VA, married Ann KENNER, a daughter of Captain Matthew KENNER, died 1744 Northumberland Co., Va. and Elizabeth ALDRIDGE. William and Ann's daughter, Elizabeth GALLAHUE, died in 1825 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Rodham MOORE.

Rodham and Elizabeth (GALLAHUE) MOORE's family lived in Surry Co., N.C. Shortly before Rodham's death on 4 June 1803, they moved to Hawkins Co., TN. They had 2 daughters and 6 sons. Their daughters were Elizabeth Moore, born 1897 in N.C., married Peregrine YOE; and Sally MOORE, who died in 1853 in Mooresburg, Hawkins Co., Tn., married 1817 in N.C. to George WILLIAMS.

Rodham and Elizabeth's sons were: (1) Hugh Gallahue MOORE, died 1842 in Hawkins County, married 1st in 1806 to Rebecca Smith Creed, widow of John CREED, and married 2nd to Mary HILL; (2) William MOORE, died 1821 in N.C., married in 1798 Jane HANBY; (3) John MOORE, died in 1822 in Hawkins Co., married Betsey WILLIAMS; (4) Gallahue MOORE, died in 1852 in TN; (5) Cleon MOORE, born in 1789 in N.C., died in 1852 in Mooresburg, TN, married to Margaret CREED in 1812 in N.C.; and (6) Ewell MOORE, died in Polk Co., MO, married Nancy CREED in 1812 in N.C.

Hugh and Rebecca had 5 children. Their oldest unmarried son John Alexander's death in 1843 initiated a law suit in Hawkins County, TN Chancery Court in 1854 (case 2-401), brought by 1/2 sister Catherine Kyle, widow of Willie Blount KYLE, in which all of the Rodham and Elizabeth Gallahue MOORE, John and Rebecca Smith CREED, and the Hugh Gallahue and Rebecca Smith Creed MOORE family associations were proved in court. Hugh and Rebecca's youngest son James Madison, born in 1810, died in 1861 in Mooresburg, TN, married in 1842 to Mary Barsheba Whitehead COBB, and they had 8 children: (1) Hugh, born in 1843, died 1926 in Mooresburg; (2) Jesse; (3) Rebecca, married Hugh WILLIAMS; (4) James; (5) J.P.; (6) Mary; (7) William; and (8) Steven, born in 1859, died in 1946 in Hawkins Co.

Hugh and Rebecca's 3 daughters were: (1) Mariah, born 1809, married John BOYKIN in TN, and had children: C.M., Joseph, Thomas, Mary, and Samuel; (2) Julia, married Isaac MOORE; and (3) Elizabeth, married Gideon ROGERS, and had children: Thomison, Julia, Robert, Elbert, Jacob, and Greenberry Rogers.

Hugh and his second wife Mary's eight children were: (1) Samuel, born 1821; (2) Mary Ann, born in 1822; married Robert P. MOORE; (3) Margaret, married 1st to William CLARKSON and 2nd to John WILLIAMS; (4) Jane, married in 1844 to William DICKSON; (5) Angeline, who married Alexander COOPER; (6) Felix, died in 1854, unmarried; (7) Frances, died 1854, unmarried; and (8) Napoleon Moore.

Cleon and Margaret CREED Moore's 12 children were: (1) William, died 1897 Hawkins Co. Tn., married Julie SMITH; (2) Virginia, died 1848 Hawkins Co., married Absalom McCARTY; (3) Emiline, born 1817; (4) Sarah; (5) John, died 1910 in Texas, married 1849 Augusta CLARK; (6) Margaret, died 1868 in TN, married in 1854 Alexander BRADFORD; (7) George, died in 1893, married to Elizabeth TAYLOR; (8) Mariah, born in 1830, married to Theodorick BRADFORD; (9) Mary, married in 1852 to William REYNOLDS; (10) Elizabeth, married in 1854 to Ephriam WARD; (11) Josephine, married in 1853 to William WARD; and (12) Cleon Rufas, died in 1912 in KS, married Susan BRUNDAGE.

Related Stories:

Creed Family.

Kyle Family.

James and William McCarty Families.

Sources:

Hawkins Co. Tn. Wills.

Hawkins Co. Tn. Census.

Hawkins Co. Tn. Marriage Records.

Hawkins Co. Tn. Cemetery Records.

Hawkins Co. Tn. Chancery Court, 1854, case no. 2-401.

Papers by Prentiss Price.

Submitted by:

Mrs. April Kyle Bladh
11033 Trudie Ave.
Whittier, CA 90604

John MORELL

The first part of this history telling about the first John Morell, born in 1740, was handed to me with no proof. Similarly, the Jacob Morell of 1760, married to Elizabeth Brokech who had 10 children is without proof.

According to Baring Gould, the Morells had their beginning in France. They were very suppressed, and in the 1500's many became very poor. Then many others were killed in the Bartholomew Day massacre, around 1572. Later, a law was passed that no man could leave France.

They broke away from the Catholic Church and became Protestants or French Huguenots. They became members of the reformed Calvinist Communion. Several escaped to England. They did much to enhance the manufacturing, mercantile, and prospered there.

When they decided to come to the US, actually the Colonies at that time, they bought a boat and sailed by way of France. As the story goes, there were two Morell brothers and a few others aboard. The trip took longer than they expected, and they ran out of food, and ate the little dog which was aboard.

They left a mother, a sister, and another brother, and never heard from them again after their departure.

According to Prentiss Price, a well known historian of the Rogersville area in the 1950's, an old family Bible owned by the author is one printed by Matthew Carey of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The pages have the type of border used at that time, about 1818. It is translated out of the original tongues, now known as the King James version.

The Morells landed in Virginia and made their way across the mountains, settling in Robinett Valley near Gate City, Scott County, Virginia, where they had friends.

The story handed down says they had a churn full of gold. Now they must have had some money because shortly thereafter they bought land and started a grist mill.

They married two Robinett sisters. William stayed in that area, and Christian came to Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Taken from the old Bible, Christian Morell was born in 1788 and died in 1827, and is buried in the McCarty Cemetery, Hawkins County. He married Susannah Hamblen, born in 1799 and died in 1859. She is buried in the Flora Cemetery, Hawkins Co.

They had six children: Elizabeth (1817-1842); John H., Incobod "Jacob" (1820-1905), Samuel (1823-1874), William (1825-1875), and Christian (1826-1865).

John H. Morell (1818-1878) married Sally Robinett (1827-1910). They had 13 children. Their first child was another Christian (1847-1923). Next was William (born 1849), Hezekiah (born 1850), Susanna (born 1852), Isaac (born 1855), Mary (born 1857), Laura (born 1859), Samuel (1861-1951), Rhoda (born 1863), Sarah (born 1866), Robert (twin) (1869-1939), Martha (twin) (1869-1950's), and John Henry (1872-1966).

There was also another John Morell (1856-1913), the father of Minnie and Letha Morell, who was a cousin.

John Henry, the 13th child of John and Sally Robinett Morell, born 1872, and died 1966, married Molly Mooney (1880-1949). They had 7 children: Dewey Steele; Ora Pearle; an unnamed infant; Jerome; Corbin; Wanda; and Willie Frankie.

Dewey Steele Morell (1898-1899) and another unnamed child (1900-1900) both died in infancy.

Pearle Morell (born 1899) married Leo Spear, and they have two daughters, Mary Pat and Emma Lea.

Pat Spear (born 1931) married David Tippet, and they have a daughter Mary Lou and a son Douglas.

Mary Lou Tippet (born 1955) married William Clark and they have 2 daughters, Diann and Cathryn.

Douglas Tippet (born 1957) married Olivia Farmer and they have 3 children, Cynthia, Mary Beth, and David.

Emma Spear (born 1934) married Donald Ellis and they have 3 children, Karl, Rene, and Shawn.

Karl Ellis married Kimberly Foster.

Rene Ellis married Vernon York, and they have a son, Robert.

Shawn Ellis married Denise Gilliam, and they have no children.

Jerome Morell (born 1903) married Virgie. They had twins who died in infancy. Then they had two sons, Thomas (born 1945) and Timothy (born 1948). Thomas married Rita, and they have two children, Karl and Kathy. Tim married Linda, and they have no children.

Corbin Morell (1908-1992) married Esther (Cochran?), and they had 5 children:

Marilyn, an infant, Peggy, George, and Donald.

Marilyn Morell (born 1930) married Joe Harrell. They have 3 children, Spencer (born 1952), John Scott (born 1954), and Iris Ann (born 1957).

Peggy Morell (born 1931) married Jim Osborn, and they have 7 children: James (born 1951), Richard (born 1953), Dennis (born 1955), Daniel (born 1956), Gerald (born 1957), Ann Marie (born 1969), and Susan Kay (born 1963).

George Morell was born in 1933 and died in childhood.

Donald Morell (born 1934) married Carolyn, and they have one daughter, Kimberly (born 1961).

Wanda Morell (born 1913) never married. She taught fifth grade in Rogersville Elementary School.

Willie Frankie Morell (1915-1990) married Melvin Skinner. They had no children.

From our Coat of Arms, prepared by Halbert in Bath, Ohio, we find a few who have established significant places in early history. One is Abraham Morrell who went to Cambridge, Massachusetts in 1632, William Morell, a clergy, 1623 was the superintendent of all the New England churches for the Ecclesiastical Court of England. Daniel Morrell 1821 was elected to Congress of Pennsylvania.

We find preachers, teachers, lawyers, doctors, politicians and whatever else turning up.

I have also prepared a lengthy genealogy to be placed in the H.B. Stamps Library in Rogersville, available for use by anyone who is interested in researching the Morrell/Morrell names in their family tree.

Related Story:

William Mooney

Sources:

An old family Bible owned by the author.

Court House Records.

Cemeteries.

Family tradition.

Submitted by:

*Wanda Morell
200 Henard
Rogersville, TN 37857*

John Martin and Margaret Ann (PAYNE) MORELL

Margaret Ann Payne (b. September 18, 1867-d. June 18, 1934), daughter of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married at the age of 16 to John Martin Morell (b. March 5, 1856-d. December 12, 1915). He had been her teacher. His parents were Christian Morell (b. December 31, 1826-d. March 9, 1865), and Sarah Chestnutt, daughter of Sam Chestnutt (b. 1797-d. 1862), and Susan Lee (b. 1802-d. 1858).

To the union of Margaret Ann Payne and John Martin Morell, the following children were born: Minnie Viola (b. January 23, 1886-d. July 30, 1937; Sarah Letha (b. July 6, 1887-d. December 17, 1972), William Christian (b. June 29, 1889-d. July 22, 1889), Hugh Lee (b. July 30, 1890-d. May 10, 1923), and twins, Lida Kate and Mary Gertrude (b. March 20, 1892, Lida died April 7, 1892, and Mary died April 8, 1892), and John Milton (b. November 13, 1893-d. December 16, 1893). Hugh Lee was killed in a railroad accident and is buried in the St. Clair Cemetery. William Christian, the twins, and John Milton are buried in the Payne Family Cemetery.

Minnie was married to John A. Morissette on October 11, 1905. Their son, John James (b. July 31, 1906-d. June 20, 1964) was married to Mary Elizabeth (Betty) Mooney (b. September 1, 1904-d. July 30, 1980), daughter of Luther and Henry Alice Chestnutt Mooney of St. Clair. James and Betty had one daughter, Mary Evelyn (b. August 26, 1931), who married Lewis Russell Hagood (b. July 13, 1930), son of Hobert and Stella Carter Hagood, of Persia. They have the following children: Lewis R. (Rusty), Jr. (b. September 27, 1957), Mary Victoria (Vickie) (b. April 28, 1960), and Paul Gregory (b. May 3, 1968). Lewis is an attorney in Knoxville.

Letha married Joe Straley Headrick (b. February 15, 1888-d. June 29, 1956), son of Orville H. Headrick and Mary Jane Grigsby. Their children are: Mary Margaret (b. March 26, 1917), Orville Morell (b.

April 21, 1919), and Hugh Walter (b. October 6, 1923).

Mary was born in Portland, Oregon. She was married to Carl Midkiff Wheelless on January 19, 1947. They had the following children: Letha Jo (b. June 3, 1949), Richard Morelle (b. April 30, 1954), and Margaret Ann (b. September 9, 1959). Both Letha Jo and Richard were born in Washington, DC, and Margaret Ann was born in Lahore, Pakistan, where Mary and Carl were serving as missionaries. Carl served on the staff of a Methodist- Presbyterian College in Lahore.

They came home in 1970 and were in High Point, North Carolina, for 14 years, where Carl was on the staff of High Point University (a Methodist institution) as head of the Political Science/History Department, and Mary taught remedial math in the High Point City Schools. Upon retirement in 1985, they moved to Orlando, Florida.

Orville Morell (called John) was married three times, first to Renovia Lewis Green on June 22, 1949 (divorced), second to Hildegard Shepherd on July 22, 1955 (divorced), and last to Naomi (SNU). He had no children of his own, but there were some stepchildren. He died at the home of his brother. Mary and her husband were on their way there for a reunion, but he fell dead at the dinner table before they arrived. They had not seen each other in over 20 years. He is buried with his parents in the Evergreen Cemetery at Erwin.

Hugh Lee was married to Getta Jane Allen on June 29, 1947, in Oceanside, LI, New York. Hugh is a graduate of Tusculum College, Greeneville. He was born at Greeneville, Tennessee. Their children are Mark Morelle (b. February 24, 1951), at Knoxville, and Patricia Jane (b. June 3, 1954) in Atlanta, Georgia. The name "Morell" is spelled two different ways in this story because Mary and Hugh had thought until their mother's death, that the correct spelling was "Morelle". Therefore, their children's names are spelled with the additional "e".

Related Story:

Payne - Whitson

Submitted by:

Mary Headrick Wheelless
1422 Briarcliff Drive
Orlando, FL 32806

Thomas MORRISETT

Our Morrisetts came from Paris, France to Scotland, then to Virginia, then to North Carolina, and in 1790 to Hawkins County, Tennessee.

There is a story that was told from the older Morrisett family about how our Huguenot ancestors escaped from Paris, France. This is a wonderful story, true or not. The story goes that, during the days of Huguenot persecution in France, there was a young man of noble birth who was arrested, imprisoned, and brought to a mockery of a trial and sentenced to be executed. This young nobleman, name unknown, was of a group of high spirited youths of high birth, mostly younger sons of wealthy land owners and lesser nobility. These young men, not having the responsibility of inheriting the land or titles of their fathers, sought adventure, espoused causes, much the same as some of radical youth of today.

Somehow the group learned of the execution date of their friend and made plans to rescue him. They knew the dangers and also knew if they brought it off, they could not stay in France. They somehow chartered some sort of vessel to take them across the English Channel to England, and spent the night before the young man's execution waiting for him to be brought out of prison. Shortly before dawn, the cart came out of the courtyard with their friend bound inside and flanked by several guards. The friends mounted on horseback, surrounded them, overpowered, and killed the guards, and set off at top speed for their rendezvous with their ship. In the group was a pair of identical twins named Morrisett, our ancestors.

Mr. Reeves from California researched the Morrisett Coat of Arms and says the Morrisett family was Noble, from Paris, France. Our Thomas Morrisett, came to Virginia in 1695, with John Rodolph expedition and with the descendants of his son Thomas Morrisett who migrated into North Carolina. The name Thomas, our first ancestor, literally, means a twin; also, there were several twins in the Morrisett family.

My Morrisett family came from Paris, France to Scotland, then to Virginia, then to North Carolina, and in the year 1790 to Hawkins County, Tennessee. Joseph and family came by wagon to Hawkins County in September, 1790. Joseph Morrisett, born 1735 in Camden County, North Carolina, died on 1 January 1791 in Hawkins County and is buried in the Morrisett Cemetery in Lee Valley on the farm he moved to near St. Clair in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Joseph married Abiah Roberts, born circa 1835-40 in Virginia. Their children were Jonathan, Mary, Rhoda, Enoch, and John.

They lived near the James River when they lived in Virginia. Joseph's son Enoch stayed in Hawkins County, son John moved to Monroe County, Alabama, and was a self-taught lawyer. John moved to Texas, soon died, and was brought back to Monroe Co., Alabama and was buried on his farm. Mary and Rhoda married brothers "Gregory" and stayed in North Carolina. Jonathan went to Dickson County, Tennessee.

Enoch and Mary Ford Morrisett are buried in the Morrisett Cemetery along with their children, Joseph, James Samual, Alexander, and Nancy. Nancy was said to be a witch. I have a good story on her, also pictures.

George Washington Morrisett and Mary Rork "Roark" divorced in 1825, and Mary lived with her parents until they died. Then Mary lived with son Enoch until she died.

My grandfather, John Alexander Morrisett, moved to Jefferson City, Tennessee 1 September 1904, where he bought a 97 acre farm. (Ed: from the George Kite story, Rebecca, daughter of George Kite and Matilda Spears, married John Morrisett). My father, Thomas Jackson "Jack" Morrisett, born in Hawkins Co., was only one year old when they moved to Jefferson County. Jack and Lillie Mae Underwood were married on 17 September 1921 in Jefferson County, Tennessee. Jack is buried in Jefferson Memorial Gardens near Jefferson City, Tennessee. Lillie Mae died 24 July 1991 at the age of 86 and was buried beside Jack.

My husband Clifford Miller died 27 October 1987, and he is buried in Jefferson Memorial Gardens.

Related Stories:

George Kite.

Abraham Miller.

James S. and Matilda (Lee) Underwood.

Submitted by:

Gladys Morrisett Miller
1344 Clinch View Cir.
Jefferson City, TN 37760

Our MORRISETT Witch

This is a story about a Witch in our Morrisett Family, she was my Great Great Aunt Nancy Morrisett, born 4 July 1804 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, Lee Valley near St. Clair.

Nancy died 14 February 1886 at her home where she lived all her life. Nancy is buried in the Morrisett Cemetery, Lee Valley, near St. Clair, Hawkins Co., TN on the farm that belonged to her father and mother, Enoch and Mary Ford Morrisett. Before that the farm belonged to Enoch's father Joseph Morrisett.

Nancy's house was a log house in sight of the Cemetery.

All this was told to me by my Great Aunt Kate Morrisett who was born in 1867 in Hawkins Co., near Persia. Aunt Kate died on 7 October 1944 in Jefferson Co., TN.

Everyone was afraid of Nancy, because they said she was a Witch, and would put spells on them and make them do things they didn't want to do. They were afraid if they didn't do what she asked, she would put a spell on them and they would die.

Aunt Kate said Nancy (Kate called her that old Morrisett woman) put a spell on her husband John Everet who she married 17 January 1835 in Hawkins County. John died before 1850.

Aunt Kate said there was also another Witch, a Mrs. Lee that lived just down the road from Nancy, and that everyone was talking about who had the most Witch power, Nancy or Mrs. Lee. So they got together with a lot of people watching Nancy's house. Mrs. Lee put a big kettle of water on the stove and when it came to a boil, she took a butcher knife and cut the water out just like soap or candy.

Nancy could not do what Mrs. Lee had, so everyone said Mrs. Lee had the most power as a Witch. Nancy got real mad about what people were saying, and she put a spell on some of them, and they died.

Aunt Kate really believed Nancy killed those people with her spells as Aunt Kate called them. Aunt Kate said Nancy would make dolls that looked like people, and stick pins in them, and this would cause lots of pain for the people. Aunt Kate was 19 years old when Nancy died, so she could remember her real well, but she was so afraid of her she would not go to Nancy's house.

One time a young girl came to Nancy and asked her to make her a Witch, so Nancy put her in an empty room, and told her whatever she did not to say the Lord's Name or she could not become a Witch. The girl sat down on the floor, and in came a black Cat, then another black Cat, then another Cat and so on until the room was full of Black Cats. The girl jumped up and said, "My Lord, I never saw so many Black Cats in my life," and then she jumped out a window and ran. The girl said if that is what makes you a Witch she never wanted to be one.

When Nancy died they tore her house down log by log, because no one would live in the house (they said it was haunted).

There was a couple from Indiana who bought the logs and moved them to Persia, and built the house back just like it had been when Nancy lived in it. These people did not know who Nancy was, therefore they were not afraid to live in the house.

There is an old lady living in the house now. I went to see her, and went inside the house. This lady is the daughter of the couple who bought the logs and built the house back.

I asked her if she knew about the house, she said she had heard the tales about it, but she wasn't afraid of anything, or anyone. She said sometimes she heard weird sounds, and sometimes she would see a shadow of a pretty woman in different parts of the house.

I visited this woman twice and took a picture of the house.

Aunt Kate said Nancy was a very pretty person, with lots of charm, why, she could even charm a bird.

Nancy has a beautiful Tombstone with a pretty Rose at the top. I took a picture of it myself, and when it came back the rose looked like an ugly face. You would have to see it to believe it.

I also took a picture of the Graveyard (called Morrisett Cemetery). and when the pictures came back, there was a place just like a fresh grave had been dug, but when I took the picture everything was so green and pretty. This is the oddest thing I ever saw. If I hadn't taken the picture myself, I would not believe it myself.

Williams owns the farm now where the Cemetery is. It is in Lee Valley, near St. Clair, in Hawkins Co., TN.

I have done a lot of checking on this, and it must be true, the things I have seen for myself makes me a believer.

This story was told to Gladys Morrisett Miller by her Aunt Kate.

Related Story:

Thomas Morrisett

Submitted by:

*Gladys Morrisett Miller
1344 Clinch View Circle
Jefferson City, TN 37760*

William MOUNTCASTLE

William Mountcastle was born May 13, 1778 in England or Virginia. He married Miss Susannah Moore, July 21, 1804, in Prince George Co., VA. The announcement was printed in the Petersburg, VA "Intelligencer."

Susannah Moore was a first cousin to Ann Hill Carter Lee, the Mother of General Robert E. Lee. In 1807, William enlisted as a Private, 1st Battalion, 19th Regiment, Virginia Militia, under Major John Ambler.

Later the Mountcastle family moved to Edgefield County, South Carolina, where most of their children were born; then later to Rogersville, TN, where on July 8, 1831 William purchased one town lot from Mr. Hugh Blaknod.

The Mountcastles were one of the old and cultured southern families, and were fortunate to be able to provide their children with good schooling, as well as a social life which included meeting many notables of the day: Andrew Jackson, when he was a young practicing attorney; Landon C. Haynes, John Calhoun, and Andrew Johnson.

William Mountcastle died at the age of 75, May 26, 1853, and is buried in the Rogersville Presbyterian Cemetery beside sons-in-law, Ambrose Mills, Robert Carden, and daughter Susan Mills.

Christian Elihugh Mountcastle, son of William and Susannah Moore Mountcastle, was born September 27, 1823 in Edgefield County, SC. Christian grew up in Rogersville, TN, where he was educated, and learned the trade of Blacksmith under the tutelage of his brother-in-law, Robert Carden. Christian married Sarah, daughter of David and Elizabeth Loughmiller of Surgoinsville, TN ca. 1845, and later moved to McMinn County, TN.

During the Civil War, Christian joined the Confederacy, Co. C, Carter's Regiment, Tennessee Cavalry, and fought in the Battle of Vicksburg.

Sometime after 1875, this Mountcastle family moved to Collin County, Texas, where their son, George had founded the town of Allen. Christian died February 13, 1885 as the result of pneumonia. His illness and passing were mentioned in "The Democrat," a local newspaper: "Among those stricken down with the fever is our venerable and highly esteemed christian friend Father Mountcastle, whose present condition is extremely critical. This community could ill afford to lose so worthy a citizen." The article goes on to talk about the weather, then finishes with... "Since writing the above, old Father Mountcastle has shuffled off the mortal coil; he died as but few do; without an enemy or one to doubt his Christianity—his future was as bright as the noon-day sun."

Related Stories:

Jeanetta (Mountcastle) Carden.

Abraham & Susan Elizabeth (Mountcastle) Cox.

Submitted by:

Wendy Jacobs
2327 Horseshoe Dr.
Alex., LA 71301

MULLENIX-MOONEY

LETHA SUE MOONEY, born August 22, 1901, died November 29, 1986, daughter of Albert and Nancy Jane Payne Mooney, was married on March 21, 1925 to Hobart Mullenix, born January 28, 1896, died September 7, 1944. They resided at Blairs Gap. They operated a store in the community known as Shipley & Mullenix. Hobart's parents were William and Sallie Conkin Mullenix.

There were seven children born to this union: Orlen Hobart (b. July 19, 1927), William Paul (b. February 25, 1929-d. March 12, 1938), Nancy Irene (b. March 25, 1931), Albert Kenneth (b. May 13, 1933-d. July 8, 1992), Joseph Charles (b. August 18, 1935), Marvin Dale (b. June 18, 1937), and Clarence James (b. May 3, 1943).

Orlen married Trula Morelock (b. May 26, 1922), on June 18, 1950. They have two children: Sandra Kaye (b. August 9, 1951) and Ricky Paul (b. April 7, 1959). Sandra married Ronald David McMahan on January 30, 1982, but is now divorced. She resides in Knoxville. Ricky first married Regena Gayle McGlothlin on November 29, 1980 (now divorced), and second Marty Cain on April 16, 1988. She was a resident of Florida. Ricky and Marty have a son, Marcus Ricky Paul, born May 29, 1989. Orlen was employed by the Mead Corporation in Kingsport. Trula's parents were Matt and Myrtie Mae Light Morelock.

William Paul died of spinal meningitis. He is buried in the Solomons Temple Cemetery at Blairs Gap.

Irene married Ralph Clyde Littleton (born July 18, 1927) on August 27, 1950. They have five sons: Gary Hobart (b. January 3, 1952); Donnie (b. November 2, 1953); Robert Enos (born October 2, 1957); and twins, David Wayne and Daniel Wade (b. March 2, 1964). Gary first married Donna Jean Bentley on August 23, 1973 (divorced), and second Usley Lourie Rhoton Davis on February 14, 1993. Gary and Donna had one son, Gary Seth, born March 15, 1979. Donnie married Sue Andes on January 6, 1973 and their children are Julie Suzanne (b. April 4, 1985), and Joshua Paul (b. April 15, 1987). Robert married Angela Christine Crawford September 1, 1978 and their children are Rachel Elizabeth (born May 12, 1986), and Rebekah Elaine (born July 9, 1987). Wayne married Laura Olina White on April 21, 1990, and Wade married Tina Marie Wolfe on December 31, 1991.

Kenneth was married to Dorothy Crawford by whom he had two sons: Jerry William (b. 1953), and Larry Hobart (born 1957). Jerry first married Martha Head by whom there were two children, Deanna Dawn Mullenix (born September 11, 1972, now married to ___York, and Christopher Shawn (b. October 5, 1975); married second Dorothy Jean Conkin on December 30, 1978, by whom there were also two children, Lindsey Shea (b. 1983), and Ashley Jared (b. July 17, 1987). Larry first married Judy Annette Anderson on June 20, 1975, and there was one son, Bobby James (b. November 14, 1986); married second Celia Ruth Begley, who has three children, Shannon, Daniel and Kandi Begley.

Charles is married to Martha Sue Bragg and they have three children: Ramona LaDonna (b. November 6, 1958), Joe Charles (b. August 18, 1966), and Tommy Lynn (b. March 9, 1972). Ramona first married Stephen Dwight Riner in April of 1981 (divorced), and is now married to Ernest Dugger by whom she has a daughter, Emily Lugenia (born October 27, 1991). He has a daughter and a son by his previous marriage.

Marvin Dale first married Carole Morelock Mullenix, who had two sons by a previous marriage: Chuck and Tony Mullenix. He married secondly Dolly Gosser on December 23, 1976. She has a daughter by a previous marriage, Shari Gosser. They reside in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Clarence James (known as C. J.) married June Rosalyn Anderson on July 5, 1969. They have two daughters, Michele Lee (born March 21, 1973), and Ellen Ann (b. July 10, 1975). They reside in Indianapolis.

Letha Sue graduated from Mooresburg High School, attended the University of Tennessee, was a teacher and was teaching when she met her husband.

Hobart and Sue Mooney Mullenix are buried in the Solomons Temple Church Cemetery.

Related Story:

Mooney-Payne

Submitted by:

Wade Littleton
Route 1
Bulls Gap, TN 37711

Flower MULLINS

Flower Mullins was born in North Carolina ca. 1759, and he died around 1850. He served in the Revolutionary War off and on for about three years. After the war he drifted into Tennessee. Flower is listed first on the Tax list in Sullivan County, Tennessee in 1782 and as late as 1797. He is on the Census list in Hawkins Co. in 1830 and 1840. He drew a pension in Hawkins County for his services in the Revolutionary War. He also was owner of several pieces of property on both sides of Beech Creek between Bays Mountain and Chimney Top Mountain. His wife's name is not known, but he had two sons, Thomas and Wright, that we know of (I am sure there were other children).

Wright Mullins was born ca. 1790, died 1861-62, and married first to Sally Stacy. The two children by this marriage, Flower, born 1814 and Juda, born 1815, both married and moved to Scotland County, Missouri. Wright's second marriage was to Emily Phelps on 4 July 1843. Their five children were: Jesse R., Sarah Elizabeth, Mary J., Nancy Catherine, and John Alexander.

Thomas Mullins, born ca. 1792, died 8 November 1848, married Susanah Light in November 1820. Thomas served in the War of 1812, being 22 years old at the time he was drafted. He performed a tour of duty against the hostile Creek Indians. After his death, his wife Susanah drew a pension. In her papers she described Thomas as 6 feet tall, with dark hair, blue eyes and a dark complexion, occupation farmer. They always lived next door to Flower. Thomas and Susanah had 3 children, Michael, Wright, and Joshua.

Michael Mullins was born in 1822, and married Elizabeth Bragg.

Wright Mullins was born in 1823, and died 31 December 1888. He married Elzira Dalton in 1845 (these are my husband's great-grandparents). They had 8 children: Samuel L., born 27 November 1845, married Rachel Christian, and served in the Civil War; John, born 1847; Michael P., born 1850, died 26 February 1941, and married Alice Parker; Juda, born 1853; Amos K., born 5 March 1856, died 5 March 1948, married Virginia Bragg from Sullivan Co. Tn., the daughter of William Bragg and Ellen Davis (grandfather and grandmother); Elbert M. (El), born July 1858, died 1907, married Eliza Arnold, came to Texas when Amos and his family came; Wright, born February 1862, died 23 May 1924, married Nannie Morrison; and Susanna, born March 1864, died 1915, married George Morrison.

Joshua Mullins, born 14 June 1838, died 7 February 1916, married Elizabeth Arnold. They had 6 children: Thomas, born October 1860, died 1930, married Ema Wilson; William (Bill), born May 1863, died 1947; John, born in April 1865, died 13 January 1953, married Josephine Light; McKinney, born in September 1868, died in 1935; Flower, born 1870, died at an early age; and Mary, born on 25 September 1871, died on 17 September 1960.

Wright Mullins enlisted in the Union Army on July 1, 1864 in Co. F, 3rd Reg't, Tennessee Mounted Infantry at the age of 41. He was discharged on November 13, 1864. Wright's widow Elizabeth drew a pension after his death. They are buried in the Dykes Cemetery in Hawkins County.

Amos K. Mullins and wife Virginia (Jenny) lived in Pulaski, Giles Co., Tennessee for a number of years, then moved to Ellis County, Texas about 1891 or 1892. They had 9 children: Ida Ellen; Emory M., born 28 September 1886 in Pulaski, died 4 December 1963 in Texas; Cara Apry, born 11 March 1889, died 20 April 1891; Melvin Ross, born 11 April 1892, died 8 January 1972; Charlie, born on 13 February 1895, died 3 May 1968; Nan, born on 8 January 1898, still living; Carl, born on 8 November 1901, still living; Bill, born on 17 August 1903, died on 25 December 1977; Amos Lloyd, born 25 June 1906, died as an infant.

Emory M. Mullins married Vera Alice Moon on 8 November 1908. Their 7 children were: Jack Raymond, Lillian Kathryn, Morhae, Emory Basil, Hugh, and a set of twins - Robert Leslie and my husband James Lester. Four of them served in the military during World War II, three were overseas in the fighting, and all came home safe.

Related story:

Early DALTONs on Beech Creek

Submitted by:

Mrs. James L. (Alyne) Mullins
602 Willowwood
Lancaster, TX 75134

Harvey G. MURRELL

Harvey G. Murrell was born in Lee Valley, in Hawkins Co., Tennessee on 14 February 1846. His parents were Pleasant G. and Susan (Trent) Murrell. Harvey volunteered for service in the War Between the States on September 1863. He enlisted in the Union Army, serving in Company L, 8th Regiment of Tennessee Cavalry. He served his term out and was discharged at Knoxville, Tennessee on 11 September 1865. Harvey was a Baptist minister for 32 years, and stood up for God in everything and wanted everyone else to.

On 19 February 1871, Harvey married to Jane Lawson, a daughter of Banks and Thersey (Parvin/Pervin) Lawson. They were married at Eldorado, in Hawkins County, Tennessee by Elder G.W. DeBoard. Jane Lawson was born in 1851.

Jane (Lawson) Murrell professed faith in Christ, in the year 1868, but like many others, failed to discharge her duty. She lived out of duty until the year 1879, when she was baptized into the fellowship of Cobb's Chapel Missionary Baptist Church, by Elder P.A. Byrd.

Harvey and Jane had ten children, eight daughters and two sons: Alice, Mollie, Malvina, Martha Jane, Lillie Lee, Eliza Jane, Amanda Jane, Marena, William L., and Simpson Franklin.

Alice Murrell was born 27 February 1872. She married to Anderson Lawson. They had children: Hugh, Will, Dana, Mary, Benia, and Leona Lawson. Alice passed away 9 January 1964 in Sneedville, Hancock Co., Tennessee. Burial was in the Bailey Cemetery.

Mollie Murrell was born 2 December 1873. She married George Hicks on 14 May 1893. George was born in 1871. George and Mollie had children: Lillie, Bobbie, and Ula Hicks.

Either Mollie passed away or she and George divorced, because George remarried on 15 May 1954 to Minnie Brewer. They had no issue. George Hicks died in 1960.

Malvina Murrell was born on 30 June 1875. Many called her "Aunt Pine". It is believed that she never married.

Martha Jane Murrell was born 8 March 1876. She married the first time to John Mallett. In a 16 January 1895 issue of THE ROGERSVILLE HERALD, Vol. IX, No. 26, their marriage license is listed. John and Martha Jane Mallett had children: Emmitt, John, and Mitchell Mallett.

Martha Jane then remarried secondly to John Ferrell. John and Martha Jane had children: Harvey, Daisey, Esper (a daughter), Ethel, and Lon Ferrell.

Martha Jane (Murrell) (Mallett) Ferrell passed away on 2 February 1958 at Rogersville, Tennessee. She was buried in Jones Cemetery.

Lillie Lee Murrell was born on 23 August 1880 at Lee Valley, in Hawkins County, TN. She married Robert Lee Lawson, a son of Wilkerson and Mary Ann (Winstead) Lawson, on 23 April 1897 in Hawkins Co., TN. Robert and Lillie had two daughters: Maggie, born on 9 July 1899 at Lee Valley; and Rosa Belle, born on 12 July 1901. Lillie (Murrell) Lawson died in October 1901.

Eliza Jane Murrell was born 29 April 1881. She married Lewis Hicks. Lewis was a brother to George Hicks, the husband of Mollie Murrell. Lewis Hicks stuttered. Lewis and Eliza had children: Frank, Luther, William, Lewis, Jr., Lizzie, and Bessie Hicks.

Oddly enough, Eliza Jane (Murrell) Hicks passed away just hours apart from her sister, Amanda Jane Murrell, of Kingsport, TN. Eliza Jane died at 9:20 P.M. on Wednesday, 8 February 1956 at Sneedville, TN, with Amanda Jane dying at 7:15 A.M. on Thursday, 9 February at Kingsport. None of the families in the respective cities knew of the other sister's death. Both sisters were listed as "survivors" of the other in their obituaries.

Eliza Jane was buried in Cobb's Cemetery.

Amanda Jane Murrell was born on 4 February 1882. Amanda did not ever marry. She had but one hand. In one of Harvey G. Murrell's pension application forms dated 10 April 1915, he states that Amanda's hand was "tuck of" when she was but 12 days old. Amanda passed away 9 February 1956 at Kingsport, TN. She had lived the last 17 years of her life there. She had been a member of Cobb's Chapel Missionary Baptist Church. Amanda's burial was in the Price Family Cemetery, in Lee Valley, Hawkins Co., TN.

Marena Murrell was born on 24 March 1885. She married to Wes Manis, a descendant of Landon Manis. They lived in Murrelltown in West Pumpkin Valley. Wes and Marena had children: Eva, who married Jess Martin, and had John, Douglas, and Laura Renee Martin; and Susan Manis, who married Arthur Brown, Jr. Marena (Murrell) Manis may have died about 1934.

William L. Murrell was born 24 August 1888. Bill married the first time to Martha Manis. They had children: Clyde, and Nola Murrell. Nola eventually married Matt Lamb.

Bill Murrell's second marriage was to Geneva Lawson, a daughter of George Lawson. Geneva was a first cousin to Robert Lee Lawson, who married Lillie Murrell, Bill Murrell's sister.

Bill and Nevie Murrell had children: Dora, Stella, Virgie, Arthene, and Creed Murrell. William L. Murrell died before 1973.

Simpson Franklin Murrell was born on 4 May 1893. Simp married Minnie Lee Price, a daughter of James D. and Catherine (Goodman) Price. Minnie had three children before she married Simp: Homer, Mabel, and Bobbie Price.

Simp and Minnie had five children of their own. There were sons, J.B., Ofair, and twins, C.D., and H.G., and one daughter, Ogle Murrell. Twin, H.G. Murrell, died at birth. Simpson F. Murrell passed away 12 June 1973. He was buried in the Price Cemetery at Eidson, Hawkins Co., TN.

Jane (Lawson) Murrell, wife of Harvey G. Murrell, passed away 17 June 1901. Harvey remarried a second time to Margaret Ferrell. She died, and Harvey remarried a third time, on 21 October 1908, in Hancock Co., at Sneedville, TN, to Martelia Lawson, the widow of William Lawson, the son of Newton and Ellender (Gilbert) Lawson. Harvey and Martelia were married by J.C. Curry, M.G. (William Lawson, aforementioned, had died at Knoxville, TN, at Lyon's View Hospital, on 8 July 1905).

Harvey G. Murrell passed away on 25 January 1924, at Lee Valley, in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Related story:

Robert Lee Lawson

Submitted by:

*Ben Lawson
2812 East 16th Street
Columbus, OH 47201*

Hon. John and Susan Coffin (McKINNEY) NETHERLAND

John Netherland was born in Powhatan County, Virginia, a twin, on September 20, 1808. His little twin brother did not survive his first year of life. John grew to be a strong and influential man, known as an orator and statesman by Tennessee historians. He was loved and admired by all those close to him. He was only a small child when his parents brought him to their new Long Island of the Holston plantation in 1810 (Kingsport, Sullivan Co., TN). John was the youngest of Richard and Margaret (Woods) Netherland's children, adored by his parents and older brothers and sisters.

His young years were spent on the large 814-acre plantation on the historic Long Island of the Holston (a National Historic Landmark). When he was ten, his parents moved into the village across the Holston River from their Long Island plantation. They moved to the village then called Christianville Boatyard (Kingsport), a thriving commercial town where freighting by wagon on the Great Stage Road, and by flatboat on the Holston River made it an exciting place to live. Here, his father, Richard established the famous Netherland Inn which would be John's home until he married. In this old Inn John heard the politics of those days thoroughly "cussed" and discussed by many famous men as well as by ordinary citizens.

Many lawyers and statesmen including presidents of the United States visited with the Netherlands. John by nature was fascinated with the affairs of state. He listened avidly to the conversations of his father and men like David Crockett, Andrew Jackson, Edmund Pendleton Gaines, Nathan Page, Francis Preston, John Rhea and many others. The young boy also heard all the local talk of travel, business and folk tales from the local merchants, tanners, tradesmen, boatmen, wagoneers, stagecoach drivers and the slaves. Many of these men wrote their names on the Netherland Inn's tavern walls. Just listening must have been an education in itself. However his education included a good academic training by area teachers, including Samuel Doak, Daniel Rogan, F.A. Ross and Henry Hoss, and he was an excellent scholar. Later he was exposed to "reading the law" under the direction of some of the finest lawyers in East Tennessee.

John had completed his law studies when his father died. John was then 23 years old and had located in Franklin, Tennessee. Margaret Netherland, John's mother, wrote him that "she could not live without him," so he went back to East Tennessee to live. He renewed his friendships and contacts with his father's friends including the esteemed lawyer John Augustine McKinney of Rogersville, Tennessee.

Within a few years when John was but 25 years of age, he was elected to the Tennessee State Senate from the district composed of Sullivan, Hawkins and Carter counties. This began his long career of public service to Tennesseans, a task he performed with great sincerity and belief in his fellowman. His father had died in 1832 and he was very close to his father and his mother. His law background aided him in assisting his mother with the many affairs of his father's estate. In 1837, John took care of the taxes on the famous Netherland Inn and on the Long Island plantation. His mother kept the Inn open after her husband's death, as well as having the guardianship of her two orphaned little granddaughters.

It was in 1839 that John Netherland (age 31) married Susan (age 28), the lovely daughter of Judge John A. and Eliza (Ayer) McKinney of Rogersville, Tennessee. They were married in the beautiful McKinney mansion on a warm summer day. Judge McKinney gave them, as a wedding gift, part of his estate's property, and in 1841 John and Susan began building their beautiful home, "Rosemont."

"Rosemont," restored by Captain Carl Netherland Brown, today speaks of a romantic yesteryear. For four generations the descendants of John and Susan McKinney Netherland made their home in the old brick mansion situated among the giant elms and beech trees at the corner of Main Street and Colonial Road in Rogersville, Tennessee. Bricks for the house were made on the place. The mansion was built with high ceilings, large mantels over deep fireplaces, ornamental plaster trim, and a broad stairway to the upper stories. Once summer houses flanked a long avenue of cedars that led from the big gate to the house, and an elaborate display of boxwoods, roses, lilies, and perennials graced the formal gardens. One relative recalled the long summer afternoons, when the lawyers, statesmen and friends would come down the avenue wearing their suits of black broadcloth with long coats and shining high hats, carrying gold-headed canes, for a game of croquet or archery or for a smoke and a quiet talk with Mr. Netherland.

There is not space in this sketch to relate all of John Netherland's activities with his family, land ownership, representing his people and the many acts that showed the courage of his own convictions and a compassion for less fortunate people. Nor is there space to tell the story of his life as a financier, and his many state and national contributions.

John Netherland opposed secession during the Civil War, but took no part in the war except to constantly work to prevent hardships among the divided people of East Tennessee. His service to his state proved an example of high integrity in office. In 1848, he was elector for the state at large on the Taylor-Filmore ticket. In 1859, he was elected as the Whig candidate for governor. He was unanimously the choice of the convention at Nashville. His opponent was his cousin, Isham Harris a strong advocate for secession. Isham Harris won the election, and Tennessee seceded from the Union. Had John Netherland won, it might have been a different story for Tennessee during this period of history.

In 1852 John Netherland supported General Winfield Scott for the presidential election over Franklin Pierce. Wirt Johnson Carrington recalled a speech delivered by John Netherland in the opera house in Cincinnati. "He made the speech in reply to the letter of Hon. Charles Faulkner, Whig member of Congress at that time from Virginia, who as a Southern Whig opposed the election of Gen. Scott, believing, as he stated, it would be a triumph of sectionalism as well as abolitionism. The speech John Netherland made was applauded by thousands of Whigs and those who were for Gen. Scott. I remember he was tall and had no surplus flesh; was a positive and forcible speaker, and I think honest in his opposition to Pierce. I will never forget the speech or the appearance of the speaker. He was very much like the Netherland family that settled in Jessamine County (KY) in 1788."

Along with Thomas A.R. Nelson (a law partner of John Netherland) and Andrew Johnson, John took the side of the union during the Civil War, and while he suffered, as many others on both sides, he did not harbor hatred, but advised tolerance and good feeling when the battles were over. His last official act was as a member of the Tennessee Constitutional Convention of 1870. He was later offered a foreign ambassadorship by President Andrew Johnson but he declined it.

Yet it was as a lawyer of great oratory that he was most remembered by both the important and smallest levels of society. Even those who disagreed with his politics did not question his integrity. During the mid-1800's he helped the Melungeons (an unknown race of people living in Hancock County, Tennessee) in many legal cases. He was one of the few legal experts of his time sympathetic to them, and succeeded in getting their voting rights legally restored in the Tennessee Legislature after the Civil War ended. John Netherland became one of the most brilliant orators and popular public men of his day.

John and Susan Netherland's personal life was one deeply involved with family love and devotion. They were always available to help John's widowed mother, Margaret Netherland. Margaret adored her daughter-in-law and corresponded with her regularly when they were not visiting back and forth between Rogersville and Kingsport.

John and Susan's life was one of strength as they faced political, economic and personal crises. Their second baby and first son was stillborn. Their third child, a little boy lived only nine years. Their beloved and beautiful daughter, Mollie was tragically killed by a run-away horse. She was thrown and dragged to her death as her foot caught in the stirrup. Mollie was greatly loved by all and was engaged to marry Hugh Kyle of Rogersville when she was killed in 1872. Their only surviving son, John Augustine Netherland grew up and entered the law profession. A constant companion, colleague and friend to his father, he died of an illness, yet unmarried at the young age of 28 years. Only two of their children, both daughters (Eliza and Margaret) married and lived long and successful lives.

John Netherland became very ill late in 1872. He had a stroke, and fell from his horse, breaking his hip. Thereafter he was near an invalid physically but always alert and keen mentally. After the death of his son, John in 1882, and five years later the loss of his beloved wife in 1887, he was brought relief from pain, and went to meet those who had gone before him. He died the same year as his wife, Susan, following her by five months. He is buried in McKinney Cemetery at Rogersville, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

Hon. John Augustine McKinney.

James Woods and Margaret (McKinney) Rogan.

Source:

Ancestry and Descendants of Richard Netherland, Esquire, 1764-1832., by Muriel Clark Spoden, 1979.

Submitted by:

*Carl Netherland Brown
Rogersville, TN*

Roy Fred NEWBERRY, 27 April 1917 – 17 April 1978

Roy was the first of four children born to Lena May McClellan Newberry (May 10, 1900-February 8, 1974) and Bud Newberry (June 12, 1894-March 1955). His siblings were Nina Newberry Carter Reynolds Turner, Mary Edith Newberry Hinshaw, and C.B. Newberry. His paternal grandparents were William Blount Newberry and Rose Ann Kite Newberry. His maternal grandparents were Charles Lee McClellan and Texie Anna King.

His father, Bud Newberry, was a well-known Missionary Baptist Minister. East Rogersville Baptist Church was organized and built during his pastorate (7/1948-9/1954). "Mr. Bud" had served as pastor to several Churches in the area; he resigned from this Church that he loved and founded due to his failing health. Roy's parents and grandparents are buried in the Dodson Creek Cemetery.

Roy lived with his family in Webster's Valley. This was a very close-knit people who farmed, logged, operated saw mills, sold milk, cured hams, quilted, etc., and did a lot of neighboring in the meantime. He attended Tunnell Hill School (grades 1-8), and Surgoinsville High School. His above-average skills in math and his love for reading consumed many hours of his childhood. Family members recall his reading all night long by lamp-light.

The Newberry family were active members of the Tunnell Hill Baptist Church adjoining the school grounds. The families of the Slide Community were close-knit. The Newberrys neighbored with the Parkers, Baileys, Tunnells, Russells, Kings, Bradshaws, Slaters, Powells, Stubblefields, Cavins, Kites, Selfs, Bruners, and Hoards. Most households were well-blessed with children, thus a game of ball or horse-shoe was simple to get into -- Fishing and frog gigging or "possum" hunting was popular during the seasons (not to mention Sunday afternoon chinquapin hunts!).

Shortly after his 18th birthday in 1935, he joined the Army. During the 27 months in Hawaii, he adapted well to the sun, sea, sand, and metropolitan life. He returned home a very "suave man about town", with much to tell of this island adventure.

He was excited that his World War II Army outfit (98th Bomb Group) was having a reunion in Hawaii in 1979, and was planning to attend.

Roy re-enlisted (6887076) in the Army Air Force shortly before war was declared in 1941. He returned to Hawaii prior to being transferred to the South Pacific Theatre of war. He served in this field of action throughout World War II. He was awarded 2 Bronze Service Stars, to be worn on his Asiatic-Pacific Campaign ribbon, for his participation in the Central and South Pacific Campaigns. He received the Good Conduct Medal with his discharge in November, 1945.

Shortly after he returned home from service, he was married to Georgia Rose Drain Hagood (b. April 29, 1925) of the Persia community. Their first home was in the County Line community on Route 70 at the Greene County line. Their children were born there. They owned and operated the Newberry Grocery Store next to their house. Roy would comment that he didn't make any money in the store, but he sure did make a lot of friends. He relished the camaraderie around the pot-bellied stove and the horse shoe games in the summertime. Since there were few cars in the area, he never refused a midnight trip for a doctor, a message to deliver, or just a ride into town. He served as deacon in the Providence Baptist Church in this community.

When the children became school-age, they moved to Rogersville for a short time before settling in the Persia community. He bought a house with five acres and a barn. Roy was in his element once again. He was gainfully employed with the Tennessee Highway Department by this time, but evenings and Saturdays he enjoyed being a "Gentleman Farmer." He and the children milked the cow, fed hogs, chickens, and tended a huge garden, all of which helped with their 4-H Club projects. He received a certificate of recognition for his 16 years of participation in the Hawkins County 4-H Club.

Roy became involved in the development of the new, growing neighborhood. He was active in the organization of the Persia Fire Department and the Persia Utility District. He made land surveys for the local churches and drew the plans for the Persia Community Cemetery. During his tenure as President, the Persia Community Club was judged 1st place winner in the East Tennessee Community Development contest. He served as Treasurer of the club for 10 years.

He was a mild-mannered family man, a caring son to his parents and grandparents. He was a loving father to his children, instilling in them good morals and the need for education. He was proud of each child as they received their degrees in their chosen fields.

Robert Alan Newberry (b. 1/16/1949) graduated from East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, Tennessee with a B.S. degree in Psychology and Political Science. He took graduate courses in Personnel Management at the University of Tennessee and received a Masters Degree in Hospital Administration from the University of Minnesota. Alan began his career as Personnel Director at Lakeshore Mental Health Center in Knoxville, Tennessee. In 1977 he went to the Central Baptist Hospital located in Lexington, Kentucky as Vice President. In 1985 he was named Administrator of Mary Chiles Hospital in Mount Sterling, Kentucky. In 1992, he became Executive Vice President of the Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury, Maryland. Alan was married to Linda Thompson of Bulls Gap, Tennessee. Their children are Robert Alan II (b. February 27, 1977), and Amiee Elizabeth (b. March 12, 1978). Roy knew these grandchildren and cherished the time with them. Alan and Jo Geren of Cleveland, Tennessee were married in 1989.

Mary Anne Newberry (b. February 6, 1950) earned a B.S. and Masters Degree in Elementary Education from the University of Tennessee. She is a kindergarten teacher. She married John Robert "Bob" Brookshire from Guntersville, Alabama in 1977. They live in Aiken, South Carolina. Their children are John Robert, Jr. (b. November 13, 1979), Mary Elizabeth (b. January 19, 1983), and twin daughters, Sara Katherine and Emily Rose (b. April 1, 1987).

Susan Ellena Newberry (b. August 3, 1954) received a B.S. in Elementary Education from Carson Newman College, Jefferson City, Tennessee. She teaches 1st grade in Cherryville, North Carolina, where her husband, Keith Hollar, is Pastor of the Shady Grove Baptist Church. Their son is Joshua Adam (b. April 22, 1979), and their daughter is Rachel Anne (b. July 7, 1983).

Roy worked with the Tennessee Valley Authority during the construction of the John Sevier Steam Plant. He was with the Civil Engineers that built the towers and tunnels.

With the exception of this time, most of his career was with the Tennessee Department of Highway and Transportation (beginning 1947). He went to work in the Rogersville office as a rod-man. In those days, the crews worked on construction in the summer and location in the winter. Some of the projects he worked on were Highway 31 at Mooresburg, 11W to Treadway, Carter's Valley, 11W from Kingsport to Rogersville, Newport to Gatlinburg, Hugh B. Day Bridge, Slate Hill, Alum Well to Eidson, and 25E. Roy was promoted from the Rogersville office to the Morristown office as District Maintenance Engineer. At his death, he was Region One Rural Roads Engineer for the Tennessee Department of Transportation and supervised activities in 24 counties, with offices in Knoxville, Tennessee.

On April 27, 1979, one year after his death, State and County officials joined representatives of Tennessee Highway Department in dedication ceremonies naming a section of State Route 66 in his honor. Senator Tom Garland of Greenville read a letter from Governor Lamar Alexander to friends and family present. The letter told of Roy's proud career, advancing through the ranks from rod-man to Regional Rural Roads Engineer. During those years, he studied and took courses to better prepare himself for his work. He became a licensed surveyor and licensed civil engineer. He was remembered for his 28 years with good report, serving under 5 administrations.

The Governor's letter also described Roy as a truly good man, able to communicate with people of high and low estate. The ceremonies were held in a field near the Orange Bowl Restaurant in Rogersville. The road from Highway 11E in Bulls Gap to 11W in Rogersville was named

"The Roy Newberry Highway."

Roy was an avid reader, a student of Tennessee and Hawkins County history. He searched flea markets and shops for artifacts and books to add to his collection of old books.

He was an active member of the Persia Baptist Church. His funeral was conducted in his church and he was buried in the cemetery adjoining.

Related Story:

James Thomas "Jack" Drain

Submitted by:

*Alan Newberry, Mary A. Brookshire, Susan Hollar, and Georgia R. Newberry
Route 7, Box 960
Rogersville, TN 37857*

George Robert and Harriet (BIRCHFIELD) NOE

George Robert Noe (1867-1933), born in Lee County, Virginia, was the son of Jackson "Jackie" M. Noe (ca. 1832-1910) of Kentucky and Sarah "Sally" Ann (Mellons) Noe (1843-1901). "Sally Ann" was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Mellons who lived in Sullivan and Hawkins Counties. Jacob and Elizabeth were both buried in 1891 in the Christian Cemetery off West Carter's Valley Road, near the Dana and Mattie Frazier farm. Jackson's descendants believe he and "Sally Ann" are buried in the Pyle Cemetery, Sullivan County.

Other children born to Jackson and Sarah were: Mary Elizabeth "Mollie" (1863-194.), married S.A. Begley, buried at Carter's Valley Cemetery; Samuel Harlan (1865-1955), married Margaret Shipley, buried at Glenwood Cemetery, Bristol, Tennessee; Ida Bell (1870-1951), married Thomas Birchfield, William "Billy" McHenry and James Hickman, buried in Frank Armstrong Cemetery.

On December 25, 1892, George Robert Noe married Harriet Birchfield (1869-1917) of Hawkins County. She was the daughter of James Andrew and Lucretia "Creasy" Birchfield. George and Harriet had eight children: William L.; George MacDonald; Kyle Watson; Frank; Mary Elizabeth "Mollie"; Myrtle Mae; Clarence David; and Charles Edward. George Robert is buried in Carter's Valley Cemetery. Harriet is buried in the Surgoinsville Cemetery, near the Baptist Church, beside her mother.

William L. "Will" Noe (1893-1923), born in Hawkins County, married Daisy Wood (died 1925) and they lived in Hawkins County. They had three sons: Hugh Decator (born 1916), married Jeanette Greer; Joseph "Joe" Marshal (1918-1969), married Frances Hope Carter; Richard "Rich" Bradley (1920-1969), married Cecile Brown. "Joe" and "Rich" are buried in Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport.

George MacDonald "Mac" Noe (1896-1948), born in Hawkins County, married Effie Christian. Mac and Effie had nine children: Carl MacDonald, married Virginia Bass; Herbert "Hub" Conner married Ruby Tate; Willie B. "Bill" married Sallie Ann Wood; Goldie Virginia married Samuel Wood; James Ervin (1927-1930); Ida Lucille (1931-1936); Betty Evelyn married Haskell Teague; Thelma Jean married Virgil Dalton; and Max Gerald married Emily Britton.

Kyle Watson Noe (1899-1969), born in Hawkins County, married Ella Holbrook (1897-1971) and resided his adulthood in Virginia. They were the parents of five children: Cecil Kyle, married Betty Kiser and Ruth (Johnson) Jones; Leyburn Clarence married Drucilla Griffith; Frances Georgia married Maynard Holbrook; Lucille Jean (1928-1992) married Curtis Byington; Della Irene (infant, 1929). Kyle and Ella are buried at Temple Hill Cemetery, Castlewood, Virginia.

Frank Noe was born in 1901 in Cincinnati, Ohio, but resides at Stoney Point. In 1921, Frank married Lillie Looney (1889-1923) and they had a son, William Conner Noe. Lillie and the newborn died in 1923. Frank married Hazel Noe in 1925 and had three children: Frank Hale (1926-1945); Mary Elizabeth; and Robert Charles "Bill". who married Mae Fields. Hazel is buried in the Carter's Valley Cemetery.

"Mollie" Noe (1903-1924) married James Robert Mauk (1897-1988) and had two sons: Charles Hale "Jake" (1921-1937) and James Edward "Jim" (born 1924). "Jim" married Virgie Gatewood and had three children: Shelby, Jerry, and Larry. "Mollie" and her sons and "Jim" are buried in the Frank Armstrong Cemetery.

Myrtle Noe (1906-1929) never married, and was born in Cincinnati, but resided in Hawkins County. She is buried in the Carter's Valley Cemetery.

Clarence David Noe (14 March 1909-24 June 1987) was born in Sullivan County, but he resided in Hawkins County. He married Lena Helen Carter of Hawkins County, the daughter of Winfrey B. (1891-1970) and Ethel Kenner (Looney) Carter (1895-1983). Clarence (nicknamed "John") and Helen have four daughters: Linda Hope married David Bland; Oleta Karen; Winfrey Leanne married Jimmy Larkin; Donna Huelene married Carlos Salley. Clarence is buried in the Liberty Hill Cemetery at Mt. Carmel.

Charles Edward "Ed" Noe (1911-1982) was born in Lee County, Virginia and lived his adulthood in Virginia. He married Maxie Holly and had one son, Charles Edward "Bud" Noe, Jr. (1935-1986). Both "Ed" and "Bud" are buried in the Temple Hill Cemetery, Castlewood, Virginia.

Related Stories:

The Bland-Tate Family.

James Harmon, and Johanna (Brown) Carter.

Greer Family.

John Blair Looney.

Submitted by:

*Linda Noe Bland
Route 4
Church Hill, TN 37642*

NOTHERN - NORTHERN - YOUNG

Davis and Sarah Northern were in Burke County, NC in the 1820, 1830, and 1840 census. They moved to Hawkins County, TN between 1840 and 1850 for they are listed in District 11 with children: Ellender (23), Joseph (21), Ephriam (18), William (15), Elizabeth (13), Nelson (12), Nancy (9), and Mary (1). Several unnamed children were listed in early census records.

Elizabeth Northern married Thomas Young on 28 August 1852 in Hawkins County. In the 1860 TN census she and three sons were living with Davis, Sarah, and Nancy Northern. Thomas was working as a farm laborer, probably in Jefferson County, since in 1850 he was there working for Joseph Stafford.

In the 1870 TN census records Davis (75)? and Sarah (70)? were living with daughter Nancy and husband W. W. Stubblefield. Elizabeth Northern and Thomas Young lived in District 12 with five sons: John C. (Crocket), William, George (Washington) born 27 April 1858, Joseph P., and Thomas (Jr.).

There is a question about the correct spelling of the Northern name. In the 1850 and 1860 TN census it is spelled Nothern. In those records Davis' name is written David.

A search of Early East Tennessee Marriage Records shows the following information: Joseph Nothern married on 21 January 1856 to Mary Hambrick, Ephriam Nothern married 22 February 1855 Frances Beck, William Northern married 11 January 1855 Mary Hallet, Elizabeth Northern married 28 August 1852 Thomas Young, Nelson Northern married 22 April 1862 Sarah Schooler? These are probably the children of Davis and Sarah.

Thomas and Elizabeth Nothern Young lived in District 14 alone in 1880, according to the census. A family story suggests Thomas Young was of Irish descent from Monroe Co., TN.

Son George Washington Young married first Narcissa Matilda Ann Webb 26 November 1878, daughter of Samuel and Narcissa Gamble Webb of Hawkins Co. She was born 25 May 1856 and died 25 September 1882. Their son was Robert F. L. Young, born 11 September 1882, and died 3 December 1903. He married Laura Emert 23 March 1903.

G. W. then married Ann Baldwin who died 12 December 1883 of tuberculosis. His third wife was Carrie Cheatham, born September 1866 and died 9 November 1885 of tuberculosis. They had a son Thomas M. born 10 September 1885 and died 24 January 1885.

G. W. then married Rachel Ann Henard, 14 June 1886, daughter of Elijah J. and Katherine Isenberg Henard. She was born 13 June 1863 as the War Between the States raged in East Tennessee. In 1911, G. W. and Rachel Young moved from their Hawkins County farm to Blount County in search of more land. They took with them twelve of their fourteen children.

1. Merri Catherine Elizabeth Young was born 18 June 1887 and died 17 June 1906 of sun stroke, the day before her nineteenth birthday and planned wedding day.

5. Ida Florence Young, born 16 July 1892, died 10 June 1906 of typhoid.

The other children, born in Hawkins County, TN are:

2. Roy Jeter Young, born 2 October 1888 and died 26 November 1968 in Maryville, TN He married Elsie May Kinser and had two sons.

3. Ellie A. Cordellia, born 15 December 1889, died 30 January 1978 in Bloomington, IL. She married Tolbert Reed Price, and had five children.

4. Buena Vista, born 28 February 1891, died 17 September 1973 in Bloomington, IL. She married Alvin Arnold Cruze 22 August 1915 and had four children.

6. George Etter, born 16 December 1893, died 6 November 1972 in Tampa, FL. He married Mary Emaline Plotner 27 June 1927, and had two children.

7. Maude Haze, born 27 March 1895, died 7 January 1961 in Hammond, IN. She married John Horace Dixon, and had two children.

8. Dora Jane, born 17 August 1896, lives in Maryville, TN. She married George King Feezell, and had one child.

9. Charley Simeon, born 9 February 1898, died 7 October 1976 in Maryville, TN. He married Annie R. Wrinkle with no issue.

10. Willie Asbury, born 8 October 1899, died 15 September 1953 in Maryville, TN. He served in the U. S. Navy, married Edith Riley Cunningham, and had one child.

11. Henri Maxwell, born 2 March 1901, died 28 July 1951 in Maryville, TN. He never married.

12. Christian Simmons Kirk, born 29 June 1902, died 1 November 1971 in Maryville, TN. He married Nora Margaret Chandler 21 May 1928, and had two children.

13. Esther Eula, born 15 March 1904, died 25 June 1977 in Maryville, TN. She married Walter Alexander Crye, and had one child.

14. John Kelsey, born 11 November 1906, and is living in Greenback, TN. He married first Margaret Hunt Lee on December 1930, and had two children. He married second Virginia Lee Wallin 8 December 1942, and adopted three children.

Related Stories:

Henard-Hennard

Isenberg-Isenbarger-Eisenberg

Sources:

Census records of TN and NC.

Hawkins Co. Marriage Records.

Early East Tennessee Marriage Records.

Family Bibles and papers.

Compiled and Submitted by:

*Mary Lynn Anderson
2169 Sentell Circle
Maryville, TN 37801*

The Harve PARKER Family

Harvey Hamilton Parker, born 1859, married Adeline McMinn Rowland, born 1860. Their marriage date was December 8, 1880. Harve was the second child of William James and Amelia Jane (Hancock) Parker. Harve had two brothers and three sisters, also four half sisters. Adeline "Add" (Rowland) Parker was the third child of David M. and Phoebe Ann (Vaughn) Rowland. Add had seven sisters and seven brothers. Her father, David Rowland, taught school in Hawkins County for over fifty years.

Harve and Add Parker lived the first year of their marriage with her Grandparents, Nathan and Mary (Parker) Rowland. Nathan was a master carpenter. He did repairs for F.A. Ross on the wooden bridge that spanned the North Fork of Holston River at Rotherwood. He also did repairs on the Rotherwood Silk Factory.

After the first year of their marriage, Harve and Add Parker leased land in Solitude from Capt. Clay and moved there (Solitude was located south of the main Holston River, and is at present a storage area of Igloos for explosives manufactured by Holston Ammunition Plant). Capt. Clay was known as The Cattle King of Hawkins County as he raised and exported many cattle.

Solitude at that time was mostly forest. Mr. Clay leased the land to families to have the land cleared and put into cultivation. Leases ran for three years, and the lessee received all the profits during the lease. Other sections were available if the families wanted to lease again.

Several families lived there during the time, the Grahams, Rowlands, Carmacks, Hamlins, Bates, Depews, Graggs, and perhaps others.

There was a school and a church located there, and David M. Rowland, among others, taught there. He was a small person of stature, and his grandchildren called him "Little Grandpap." He taught school in the Hawkins County system for over fifty years.

The Harve Parkers were regular churchgoers and rarely missed a service. My Mother, their daughter, told about the chimney falling one Sunday morning. As a result, all the family missed church that day as they were cleaning up the debris and rebuilding the chimney.

Harve and Add Parker were the parents of nine children, all being born in the Solitude community. They were: Eva, who married Estill Huxley "Dick" Ripley; Alice Eudora "Dora", who married Creed Netherland; Charley LeRoy, who married 1st Annabelle Pyle, and 2nd Alice Boyd; Earnest Gale, who married Myrtle Calhoun; Tempa Ann, who married Nicklous "Nick" Showalter; Ray Edward, who married 1st Katherine Yates of Wyoming, and 2nd Margarite Kenney of Denver, Colorado; Clarence Audubon, who married 1st Virginia Calhoun, and 2nd Maude McGlothlin Crabtree; Carrie Lee, who married Albert McKenzie; Carl Preston, who married an artist Hazel – of Dallas, Texas.

Ray Parker served in France in WWI, was gassed and wounded. After his discharge, he went to Nebraska, later Wyoming, and last lived in Englewood, Colorado. Clarence Parker served in WWI in the Wildcat Division as a wagoner, and returned to Hawkins Co. after discharge where he lived the rest of his life. Carl Parker served in the U.S. Navy during WWI, after discharge he went to Texas, living at Huntsville and later Dallas, working as a lineman for several power companies.

While living in Solitude, the Parker family raised the usual crops - corn, wheat, tobacco, cane for molasses, and watermelons were raised in the sand bottoms along the river. In the fall, after crops were harvested they cleared new grounds, getting out rafts of logs to be floated to Knoxville on the spring tide. Harve Parker made many trips as a Steersman of the rafts. The older sons would do the spring planting when their Father was away on the rafting trips. They also rived barrel staves from the logs. These were hauled to Gate City and shipped from Bratton's Switch located there.

Solitude being located near the mountain, was infested with many snakes, including rattlers and copperheads. The Parkers owned a dog named Trey. When a snake was sighted, Old Trey was called and he killed the snake.

There was a ford to Solitude that was used when the river was at its normal level. Boats were also used to cross the river. When the river was in flood stage, one option was to cross the mountain. During the winters the river would freeze enough to hold a wagon and team of horses. My mother told of the river freezing hard enough that wagon loads of grain were brought on the ice to the mill that was located near The Big Elm at Rotherwood.

The Parker family lived in Solitude for a period of twenty years. As there were limited profits and a lot of hard work involved, the older sons persuaded the other family members to seek a better livelihood as they were just getting by in their present situation. About 1905 the family moved to a farm owned by Dr. Ed Bacon, located on present Independence Avenue in Mount Carmel, TN. After two years there, the Parker sons were employed by the Southern Railroad. They, along with their sister "Dora" (who at the time had a teaching job), helped to purchase a farm from Will Rowland, Add's brother. Will was moving to St. Clair, TN.

The farm they bought was also located on present day Independence Avenue. Part of this Avenue was the Kinhead Road in earlier times. The Eppersons and Byrley families at the present time own the farm, Eppersons the north and Byrleys the south portion of the farm.

Harve and Add Parker were dedicated Christians. They held Bible reading, followed by family prayers around the fire-side each night. This family had a great influence on their friends and others that came into contact with them. The Parkers were active members of Mount Carmel Methodist Church. Harve was a leader of this church. I remember him visiting inactive members, most of them living a long distance away, and transportation was limited in those days. He would often walk to visit with these folks. Most of them would give him money for the church, money in those days also was scarce. Add, his wife, was a quiet type of person. She had a lot of influence on others and was dearly loved by all, especially us Grandchildren. On the day she died, she said, as she lay dying, "THIS ROOM IS FILLED WITH GLORY", she was in close contact with her God in that hour. Grandfather Harve often led the singing in the church. He would sing the old hymns from memory in a deep bass voice. During his funeral service held by a former minister, Rev. E.H. Yankee said "when I first met Harve Parker, I said to myself 'here is a common, ordinary man,' but after knowing him a few years, being his Minister, I now say 'Harve Parker was an extraordinary man.'"

Harve Parker had little or no formal education, he was educated in other ways. He taught himself to play the fiddle, at which he was very good. When I was a boy, many times I listened to him sing in his deep bass voice, while accompanying himself on the fiddle. This singing and playing of old Hymns were performed in the early morning during his visits at our house after his wife had died.

He was a man of many talents, he made many trips down the Holston River on log rafts as the Steersman, he was a very good carpenter building houses and barns, could cradle grain with the best, could stack wheat so it would not be damaged by the rain, could rive roofing shingles, barrel staves from oak timber, and tobacco sticks from pine timber. He was adept at building plow beams and plow handles, drag harrows and other farm implements that were made of wood as the need for those items would arise. He too in this capacity was an extraordinary man, as he was in his Christian endeavors.

Harve and Add Parker raised all their children to maturity, providing means for their education. Two of their daughters, Dora and Tempa, attended the Rogersville Synodical College. Dora and her sister Carrie taught school until they were married. Eva was a housewife. Charlie stayed with the railroad and became a section foreman on the Southern. Earnest was a farmer in the Ross Camp Ground community and he lived to the age of 100 years. Ray went out west, living in Nebraska, Wyoming, and Colorado. Clarence worked at various plants in Kingsport. He was last employed as a warehouseman for Broad Street Furniture. Carl went west and lived in Texas, working as a lineman.

All of Harve and Add's children are now deceased, the last was Clarence, who died on June 11, 1991 at the age of 97.

Related story:

Joshua Phipps (1801-1861)

Submitted by:

*Frank R. Netherland
101 Netherland Lane
Kingsport, TN 37660*

Francis PARVIN, Sr.

My grandmother Paralee Parvin was born in 1875 in Tenn. She married Chester Venoy Buchanan in 1906. She was raised in Hawkins County.

Paralee was the daughter of Hugh Henry Parvin and Susan Lovin. Her mother died when she was a small girl. Her father remarried after her mother died. Her brother, Hugh Henry Parvin Jr., left for Texas. Chester Venoy Buchanan followed her and they were married. Hugh Henry also had these children:

1. Anna Parvin married 1912 to R. Henry Catron.
2. Charles Parvin married Annie Garri-son.
3. Andrew Augustus married Hester Lee, daughter of Thomas.

4. Joseph R. married Lou Tilda.
5. Eldina Parvin married Robert Taylor.
6. Mary Bell married Guy Chesnut.
7. Henry George married Francis Beatrice White.
8. Jessie F. Parvin married William Seymour.
9. Brady Ernest married Renday Dean.
10. Arthur William Parvin married Virginia Montgomery.

Hugh Henry was born in 1852 to Augustus Parvin and Matilda Woods. Their children were:

1. George Washington, married Elmira A. Woods.
2. A. John married Janis Faris.
3. Hugh Henry married first Susan Lovin later married Sarah Kass Watter/Wallace.
4. Clinton married Elizabeth Elkins.
5. Mary married Madison Gilmore.
6. Robert Lee married Emphis Minerva Archer.
7. Charles married C. Luvena Mooney.

Our ancestor, Francis Parvin, Sr. was born about 1700 in Ballykilroe County, West Meathe, Ireland. He was a Quaker. He married Deborah Pearson. They sailed for America to join the Quakers in 1728. They now had sons Thomas and Francis, Jr., and a third child was born on the way.

Francis received a land grant in Berks County, Pennsylvania.

I descend from Francis' first son Thomas.

The story is told that the house at that time had double doors, like barn doors, with no locks, only the latch string of the day. The latch string was always out to Indians, and in severe winter weather as bedtime lights appeared on the second floor and the rooms below became darkened the latch was quietly lifted and a silent group of Indians filed and settled themselves around the hearth. At first sound when morning came, the Indians silently filed out.

Thomas was in the Revolutionary War from Pennsylvania.

The father of Augustus Parvin was Ephriam, who was born about 1799 in Maryland. He married Maria Carden. They are both buried at the south end of the Melinda Ferry Bridge on a knoll in a tiny burial lot (ed: this is located west of Rogersville, just off highway 11-W). It is now a wrecking yard with old cars covering the graves.

Their children were: Thomas, Augustus who married Matilda Woods, Elizabeth married John Falon, Christopher who married Caroline Mooney, Jane who married Kindrich Woods, Isaac, Sarah who married William Lewis, Lafayette, Joseph, Amanda, Margaret, and Malvina (Milly).

After the death of Maria, Ephriam married Lucy Crowder Heck and had Henry who married Emily Essie Gilman, and twins Orvil and Margaret.

Sources:

Marriage Records of Hawkins Co.

Census Records of Hawkins Co.

Death Certificates.

Records from Pennsylvania.

Family Records.

Submitted by:

Betty Buchanan Martin
217 N.W. Jayellen
Burleson, TX 76028

The John PATTERSON Family in America

Although there were earlier migrations of Pattersons to Maine, Massachusetts, and Canada, the first Pattersons of our family came to America in the period 1750-60. The original migration included two brothers, John and Robert Patterson, who sailed from Tyrone County, Ireland sometime in 1754. Robert settled in Baltimore where he became a wealthy merchant.

John settled in North Carolina on 1900 acres composed of five land grants given by the King of England and distributed by Earl Granville. These holdings were known as The Patterson Plantation and were located near the towns of Liberty, Julian and Ramseur in Randolph County (formerly part of Orange County). John and Margrete Patterson had nine children: William, David, Isaac, Jean, James, John, Margrete, Mary, and Agnes.

John's first child, William, was born at Sandy Creek, North Carolina in 1764. He married Mary Fruitt in 1787. They had five children: Margaret, William, John, James, and Elizabeth. He died in 1855.

John W. Patterson, son of William, was born 17 January 1789 at the Patterson Plantation on Sandy Creek, North Carolina. On the 12th of September, 1812, he married Hannah York. John and Hannah had nine children: Isaac, William, Eleanor, Mary, Sylvania, Elizabeth, David, Hannah, and Almira. This John Patterson was one of four men who settled in Shawneetown, Illinois in 1812. They were driven out by the Indians and returned to Sandy Creek, North Carolina. The children were born after this. He died March 8, 1851.

Isaac, John and Hannah's first child, was born January 17, 1815. He married Turzy Stout on January 26, 1839. They had seven children: William, Melville, Nancy, James, Orange, Naomi, and Jonathan (who was born at Jasper County). Isaac Patterson was a millwright, teacher, and farmer. He moved from Sandy Creek, North Carolina to Jasper County, Illinois in 1851, the same year his father died. Isaac came in a covered wagon to Edgar County, Illinois in 1851. He married the second time to Sarah Melinda Ogden Jones. Isaac died May 6, 1871, and was buried near Rosehill, Illinois.

William Elwood Patterson was born at Sandy Creek, North Carolina April 4, 1841. In 1866 he married Mary Ellen Badger. They had five children: Charles, Mary, Elmer Lee, Ana, and Nina. William's principal occupation was schoolteacher. He was also a farmer, Justice of the Peace, and Notary Public during his lifetime. He told about going back to North Carolina years later. A neighbor woman had picked up one of his little shoes and kept it (for him). During the Civil War he served with the 38th Illinois Infantry.

In his diary he wrote about his travels through Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky. He was wounded at Chickamauga on September 19, 1863. He died at the age of 75 and was buried at Gila, Illinois.

The son of William, Elmer Lee Patterson, was born May 7, 1873 near Chicago, Illinois. Elmer Lee was a schoolteacher and farmer. He married Mary Maria Story on January 1, 1896. Elmer and Mary had four children: Elmer, Payton, Ada, and Mildred. Elmer Lee died October 4, 1953 in St. Louis, Missouri.

Elmer Julian Patterson was born near Chicago on February 25, 1903. On 21 June 1928, he married Jennie Ethel House, of Murphysboro, Illinois. Six children were born to this union: Eugene, Wilma, Lowell, Sylvia, Lynette, and Brian. Elmer was father, grandfather, great-grandfather, student, preacher of the gospel, and postal employee. At the age of 59 he earned an undergraduate degree. He started work on his Masters degree, but died in St. Louis, Missouri in 1981.

The third child, Lowell W. Patterson, was born in St. Louis, Missouri on October 18, 1933. He was married first to Elizabeth Bedell of New York on June 7, 1958. Children of this marriage were: Susan, Margaret, and Randall. Lowell has been an educator/administrator for 30 years, in Missouri, Ohio, New York, and Tennessee. He began teaching school in Hawkins County in 1968 and finally moved to Rogersville, Tennessee in 1973 where he now resides with his present wife, Barbara Louis Corice, formerly of Appalachia, Virginia. He earned his doctorate in Education at the University of Tennessee in 1980.

Submitted by:

Lowell W. Patterson
407 West Hills Drive
Rogersville, TN 37857

Christopher Columbus and Mollie (SHANKS) PAYNE

Christopher Columbus Payne (b. March 7, 1869-d. mid-1940's), son of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Mollie Shanks (b. December 1873-d. 1918), in 1892. The records of the Hawkins county Court Clerk list the date of the license as March 19, 1892. The 1900 Census of Hawkins County lists them as being married 10 years. They had three children: Luther, Bessie, and an unnamed baby daughter (b. October 10, 1899-d. October 14, 1899). The baby daughter is buried in the Payne Family Cemetery on the family farm in Choptack.

Christopher and his family moved west, as did his brother, Garfield. Chris, as he was known, at one time operated a grocery store and meat shop in Seaside, Oregon. Sometime in the mid-1940's he bought and operated a resort. He died in Portland, Oregon.

Luther moved to the twin cities of Newport, Oregon/Washington, 30 miles east of Spokane. His business was operated as Payne & Weak. He was unmarried. Further information on this family is not available.

Related Story:

Isaac Garfield and Clara (Price) Payne.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

Clarence W. Payne
1885 Todd Street
Eugene, OR 97405

Clarence William PAYNE

CLARENCE WILLIAM PAYNE, born July 12, 1902, son of Isaac Garfield Payne and Clara Morland Price, was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was first married to Yoma Estella Qualley, who is deceased. This marriage lasted 58 years. His second wife is Ella Mae Carbaugh, born August 19, 1908. They reside in Eugene, Oregon.

Clarence was born "William Clarence", but had his name legally changed because there was a great deal of confusion over his use of the middle name.

Clarence and his first wife, Gilma Estella Qualley, had one daughter, Myrna, who was born in 1926. She was a talented musician, an outstanding pianist. Her married name was Bresler. She and her husband had four children: Kevin, who lives in Eugene Oregon, Layne, who lives in Duval, Washington, Meri-Sue, who lives in Eugene, and Lynette, who lives in Noti, Oregon. Myrna died of a brain tumor about 1980.

Layne Bresler has three children. Meri-Sue Bresler is married to Ron Neel and has three daughters, including twins, and Lynette Bresler is married and has three children.

In 1917 the family moved to Montana. Clarence became a versatile worker, working at many different jobs including railroad, aircraft inspector, vaudeville performer, etc.

He was a natural athlete. As a youngster he climbed to the top of the "Devil's Nose" in Hawkins County. He would climb a tree, get the tree to sway, and by timing his jumps correctly, he could travel from tree to tree, getting to the bottom of the mountain without setting foot on it.

During silent movie days, theater owners needed entertainers to keep the crowd happy while the film reels were being changed. Clarence and his brother, Miller, would dance (The "Buck and Wing", "Irish Clog", "Soft Shoe", etc.) and do a vaudeville blackface comedy act.

During the 1940s, Clarence worked his way up from mill worker to mill supervisor. He returned to Oregon and bought a mill in Albany, which he owned from 1945-1947. He sold out, took six months off, and became a West Coast Lumber Inspector, a job he held for 20 years. After that he moved into quality control and teaching.

He first voted for Herbert Hoover, and also liked Teddy Roosevelt. Of Roosevelt, he said, "He meant what he said and everyone knew it."

One of Clarence's earliest memories is of his cousin taking him places on horseback. Around noon Clarence would be on the lookout for his cousin riding by on a horse. When he spotted him Clarence would get a ride to the store or to the grist mill which his uncle owned. When they got to the mill it would be noon and his uncle would blow the steam whistle which would scare the 2-1/2 year-old Clarence half to death.

At around this same age Clarence saw his father working in the corn up on a hillside. He left the house and started after him. On the way he became tired, sat down under a tree, and fell asleep unnoticed by his father. Upon returning to the house for lunch Clarence was discovered missing. A search was mounted with friends and relatives helping. He was found by his cousin, Lucy Leota Mooney, still asleep under the tree. Unfortunately the shade had moved and Clarence had a nice red sunburn on one side of his face.

Lucy grabbed Clarence and ran down the hill to the house. On the way they saw Clarence's Uncle Albert Mooney, Lucy's father, in waist deep water searching the pond for Clarence's body. Everyone was upset except for Clarence who was too young to understand the turmoil he had caused.

Clarence has faced death seven times, has spent 103 days in hospitals, lost 505 days time from 1920 to 1981 from accidents, and 10 days with pneumonia. He is now retired and lives in Eugene, Oregon.

Some of the material in this article was taken from papers prepared by Steven A. Klein (1981) and Craig W. Cole (1982), both students in a gerontology class with Clarence W. Payne.

Related Story:

Isaac Garfield and Clara (Price) Payne

Submitted by:

Clarence W. Payne
1885 Todd Street
Eugene, OR 97405

Elijah Von and Margaret Lou (LAWSON) PAYNE

Elijah Von Payne (b. May 7, 1884-d. December 3, 1969), youngest son of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Margaret Lou Lawson (b. April 19, 1884-d. May 15, 1972), daughter of George Wesley and Alice Emmert Lawson, on December 28, 1902. Their children were: Daisy Beatrice (b. October 27, 1903-d. February 14, 1942), Dennie Von (b. December 20, 1909-d. March 20, 1985), and Roy Lee (b. December 4, 1912-d. January 14, 1988).

Daisy Beatrice Payne married Jesse Mack Price (b. June 2, 1889-d. February 23, 1988). There was one son: Harry Von Price (b. May 22, 1922). Jesse was at one time sheriff of Hawkins County.

Harry Von Price was married to Frances Will Drinnon (b. January 12, 1923) on February 17, 1942. He retired from the University of Tennessee in July 1979; she retired from Home Federal Bank in December 1983. Their children are: Richard Harry (b. June 10, 1944), Carolyn Vonette (b. April 8, 1946), and Thomas Jesse (b. December 21, 1951).

Richard Harry Price is married to Dale Fonts. Their children are: Richard Andrew (b. December 21, 1971), Ashli Shea (b. July 25, 1975), and Robert Adam (b. September 2, 1977).

Carolyn Vonette Price married Larry Charles Wallace on March 29, 1969. Their children are: Lawrence Mitchell (b. December 12, 1970), and Laura Shannon (b. August 7, 1972).

Thomas Jesse Price is unmarried. He resides in Marietta, Georgia, and is employed by the Cobb County School System.

Dennie Von Payne married Verdie Gladson (b. September 14, 1909-d. August 13, 1980). There were no children. Den- nie was County Court Clerk of Hawkins County for 24 years, and was assisted by his wife for most of that time. Both are buried in the Highland Cemetery.

Roy Lee Payne was first married to Ruth Stubblefield, daughter of Edgar and Clyde Myrtle Russell Stubblefield. Their children are: Marguerite Jean (b. January 25, 1932), Roy Leonard (b. April 7, 1937), and Norman Von Payne (b. April 30, 1940).

Jean was first married to Raymond L. Williamson, Jr., second to John Parker, and third a Mr. Parsons. She had two children: Carlos Anthony Payne (b. November 1, 1953-d. May 9, 1990), and Ruthie Parker (Kopreva). Tony had two children: Carlos Anthony, Jr. and Nikki.

Roy (Buddy) married Sybil Dixon. He worked as a fireman in Kingsport and is now retired. There were three children: Buddy Lee (b. September 21, 1965), Calvin and Teresa.

Norman married Doris Elizabeth O'Dell (b. October 25, 1940-d. June 6, 1992), daughter of Paul and Grace Ball O'Dell. She died of cancer. Burial was at Chop- tack Baptist Church Cemetery. There were four children: Norman Von (Butch), Jr. (b. August 27, 1959), Jeffrey Scott (b. May 11, 1962), Donna Katrina (b. January 15, 1967), and Michael Joel Lance (b. June 28, 1969). Butch was married to Tammy Frady, daughter of David W. and Nadine V. Frady. They had a son, Joshua Von Payne (b. November 9, 1985). Jeffrey Scott was married to Linda Kay Blakley on April 24, 1981. Their son is Jonathan Matthew (b. December 21, 1987).

Roy and his second wife, Rose King, had two sons: Roy Lee, Jr. (b. February 1956), and Gilbert Wayne. Gilbert Wayne was married to Carol Louise Rich, daughter of Robert Paul Rich, on March 7, 1987.

Roy's third wife was Ann Bright. They resided in Knoxville. Roy was a tractor-trailer driver. He is buried at Choptack. E. V. Payne died at Blountville, apparently from heart failure. He and his wife had been living in a trailer at the home of their son Roy.

Margaret Lou Lawson Payne died on May 25, 1972, in the Reed Rest Home at Jonesborough, where she had been a patient for 15 days. She had previously been a patient at the Bristol Memorial Hospital, suffering from a broken hip.

Both Elijah and Margaret are buried at Choptack. He lived on the farm which his parents moved on in 1855 when they moved from Washington County. He also was a blacksmith (as related by his nephew, Clarence W. Payne). The family were members of the Choptack Baptist Church, and he served as Clerk of the Association to which that church belonged for a number of years.

Related Story:

Payne - Whitson

Submitted by:

Jean Mooney Wagner
523 Spruce St.
Church Hill, TN 37664

Isaac Garfield and Clara (PRICE) PAYNE

Isaac Garfield Payne (b. July 5, 1880 - d. 1941), son of William Latham (Billy) and Letha Whitson Payne, was born at Chop- tack, Hawkins County, and was married to Clara Morland Price (b. September 1876 - d. 1958), a daughter of Henry Price. The 1900 Census of Hawkins County lists them as being married one year. The following children were born to this union: Sue Lee (b. June 8, 1900), Wil- liam Clarence and Henry Clifford (twins born July 12, 1902), Miller (b. 1907-d. 1928), Clara Louise (b. November 25, 1910), Mary Helen (b. 1915 - d. 1980), and James Eldridge Payne (b. August 13, 1912).

Miller Payne worked in a store in Bell- ingham, Washington. He fell over in the store and died the next day of a ruptured ulcer. He is buried in Bellingham. Miller and his brother Clarence sang together.

Sue Lee Payne was married to Walter C. Mackie. They resided in Bellingham, Washington. Both are deceased, she having passed away since 1979.

William Clarence Payne had his name le- gally changed to "Clarence William" to allay confusion because of his use of his middle name. He was first married to Gil- ma Estella Qualley, by whom there was one daughter, Myrna Euline (b. January 15, 1927-d. 1977) They were married in Bonner's Ferry, Idaho on October 22, 1922. His second wife is Ella Mae Car- baugh (b. August 19, 1908). They reside in Eugene, Oregon.

Myrna was married to Harold Cecil Bressler. She and her husband had four children: Kevin Cecil (b. April 12, 1950), Layne Claire (b. December 8, 1955), Meri- Sue (b. February 28, 1957), and Lynette Euline (b. June 21, 1958). Harold Cecil Bressler was actually Harold Cecil Standi- fer (he assumed the name of his stepfa- ther upon his mother's remarriage).

Henry Clifford Payne, twin of Clarence William Payne, lived about 10 months. He is buried in the Payne Family Cemetery in Hawkins County.

Clara Louise Payne was married to V. H. Gerry, and they resided in Bellingham, Washington. Both are deceased.

Mary Helen Payne was married to Clay Cooper, a minister who was at one time pastor of a Baptist church in Spokane, Washington. He helped found a missions organization called Visions, Inc. of which he was president. The motto of this organization was "Nothing to win but the world." Helen was very active in her husband's ministry. She was a singer, as many of the Payne family are. Clay and his partner, John Newman, traveled a great deal. After Helen's death, Clay married his interpreter who was the mother of two daughters. He built a new home on a lot next to the house where he and Helen lived.

James Eldridge Payne, the youngest child of this family, had one son, Robert Miller Payne, named for his Uncle Miller. Robert Miller Payne has been married twice, and has a son by each marriage. His oldest son, Craig Robert Payne, was born in 1963, and his second son, Robert Michael Payne, was born in 1967. He has two adopted children, the children of his second wife. The oldest son resided in Portland, Oregon, and the second family resided in New Jersey. This information was obtained on October 5, 1979, and may now be obsolete. Robert Miller Payne at that time worked in construction work, and was being transferred to Washington, D.C. He had been in Atlanta, Georgia, for about a year. It is understood that he is now in California.

Isaac Garfield Payne died in Bellingham, Washington. His death was the result of injuries received in a cross-arm accident. Clara Morland Price also died in Bellingham, Washington, and both are buried there. Clara Morland Price Payne was a talented musician. She played the banjo.

Isaac Garfield Payne had moved with his family to Cutbank, Montana, in August of 1917. Hawkins County had held little opportunity for the family except for farming, and opportunity was much greater for a better life in the west. Garfield was a farmer, railroad man and lumberman.

Related Stories:

Evan and Josephine Ann (Hamblen) Klepper.

Clarence William Payne.

Christopher Columbus and Mollie (Shanks) Payne.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

Clarence W. Payne
1885 Todd Street
Eugene, OR 97405

James Madison and Allie Jane (RUSSELL) PAYNE

James Madison Payne (b. August 4, 1856-d. April 19, 1928), son of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Allie Jane Russell (b. February 4, 1860-d. July 24, 1931) in 1875. Their children were: John W. (b. August 19, 1878), Nila (b. December 16, 1880-d. July 5, 1926), Daisy J. (b. April 27, 1883-d. February 17, 1989), Mack M. (b. January 16, 1886), James Horace (b. October 3, 1888-d. November 7, 1978), Leota (b. November 21, 1890-d. March 3, 1891), George Herbert (b. January 17, 1892-d. July 19, 1968), Maude Lou b. August 25, 1895-d. November 28, 1937), McKinley (b. August 1, 1898-d. December 11, 1898), and Lassie Cleo (b. June 20, 1901).

John resided in Bloomington, Illinois.

Nila married Tom Hamblen. Their children: Paul, Ruth (Rippeto), Eugene, Thomas James, Ruby (Ketron), Mildred (Carver), Frances, and Ray.

Daisy J. married Dan Williams. She died at the age of 105 in Las Vegas, Nevada. Her children: Edward Lee, Clyde, Gladys, Dee J., William N., Georgia, and Elwood. (See separate story.)

James H. (Rod) married Frances Ethel Stubblefield. Their children: Una Mae (Winstead) and Grace Inez (Sharits). He resided in Colorado where the daughters still live. (See separate story.)

George Herbert married Marion Rogers who died February 20, 1969 at age 71. They had one son, Joseph Rogers, who married Betty Evelyn Woods.

Maude Lou married Mack Price. Their children: Eileen (Lipe), and Grant.

Lassie married Luther C. Williams. They had two sons, both of whom are buried in the Lynnhurst Cemetery, Knoxville. She is a widow and resides in Tonasket, Washington. Lassie relates that she was not happy with her middle name "Cleo" and liked the name "Letha". She asked her father to change her name, and he agreed to do so, and changed it in the Bible.

James Madison Payne was killed in a sawmill accident on April 19, 1928, at the age of 72. He is buried in the Highland Cemetery. Allie J. Russell Payne died on July 24, 1931, and is also buried in the Highland Cemetery. The following is the article which appeared in the Knoxville newspaper in April of 1928. An number of errors were made in the article, and corrections have been made as to spelling of names, locations, etc.

SAW SPLITS OPEN HEAD AGED MILL OWNER

"James M. Payne Meets Tragic Death at Work" ROGERSVILLE, Tenn., April 19, (Spl.) - Raising from a fruitless search for a bit of sawmill track, the head of James M. Payne, 70 years old, came in contact this morning with the shirring saw and was cleft from crown to chin as his son, seeing the danger, had cut off the power, but too late to avert the tragedy. The accident happened at Charles Mill, two miles north of Rogersville, where Mr. Payne ran a sawmill, near which he made his home."

"A bit of track on which the log carriage ran had dropped from its place into the debris below, and Mr. Payne had reached to make a search. As he sought to regain his place on the mill floor he miscalculated the distance and thrust his head squarely against the saw, which split his head from top to mouth. He breathed several minutes before life became extinct."

"Mr. Payne had been operating a sawmill at the stand where he met his death for several years, having bought the mill from C. R. Ross. He was well known and highly regarded."

"Mr. Payne is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. L. C. Williams, of Knoxville; Mrs. Mack Price, of Rogersville, and Mrs. Dan Williams, of Fort Collins, Colo., and by four sons, Rod Payne, of Brush, Colo., Mack Payne, of Livingston, Ill.; John Payne, of Randolph, Ill., and Herbert Payne, of Charles Mill. Two brothers reside in Rogersville, E. V. Payne, and Clinton Payne, and three brothers, Garfield, George and Chris Payne, reside in the west. He leaves also two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Morrell, of St. Clair, and Mrs. Joe Mooney, of Rogersville."

The name of another brother, William Payne, of Dallas, Texas, was omitted.

Related Stories:

PAYNE-STUBBLEFIELD.

PAYNE-WHITSON.

Submitted by:

*Eileen Price Lipe
Route 9, Box 506
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Mack McCarty and Annie (BROOKS) PAYNE

Mack McCarty Payne (b. October 8, 1865-d. June 12, 1922), son of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Annie Brooks (b. May 22, 1866-d. April 8, 1937), daughter of Thomas and Mary (Polly) Gladson Brooks. Both are buried in the Altom Cemetery and the gravestone of Mack gives his birthdate as October 18, 1865). Mack and Annie had the following children: Carl Harrison (b. July 4, 1888-d. February 12, 1973), Walter Austin (b. November 23, 1889-d. December 15, 1978), John Reed (b. November 17, 1891-d. October 25, 1973), Scottie Louise (b. June 4, 1894), Onesiss Eugene (b. 1898-d. August 14, 1962), and Juanita (b. August 3, 1905).

Carl Harrison Payne was married to Margaret Altom (b. 1888-d. March 10, 1988). They had two children: Curtis Harrison and Betty Ruth. Curtis was married to Mary Madeline Hawk, daughter of Meredith D. and Leona Roller Hawk, on January 7, 1956, at Mafair Methodist Church, Kingsport. They had one daughter, Teresa Lynn. Curtis is retired from Tennessee Eastman Company, and Madeline from J. C. Penney Company. Betty Ruth was married to Bill Hawkins, and they had a daughter, Traci. Betty is a teacher.

Walter Austin Payne was unmarried. He was in the transfer business in Seattle, Washington, and died in Auburn, Washington.

John Reed Payne was first married to Florence Smith, and second to Agnes Scranton (b. September 29, 1913). Agnes is still living and resides with her son in Enumclaw, Washington.

John and Florence had the following children: Dorothy Jean (b. November 10, 1927), and Shirley Ann (b. November 6, 1929); and John and Agnes had: Lassie May (b. April 18, 1942), and John Reed, Jr.

Dorothy Jean married Gilbert N. Reel, and their children are: Nicky Lynn (b. July 13, 1946), married to Jerry Bale; Kathy Ann (b. January 28, 1948- d. April 6, 1948); Cynthia Lianne (b. July 13, 1958), and Tracy (b. March 25, 1960).

Shirley Ann married Origene Senay, and their children are: Sally Jean (b. October 21, 1951), Carole Ann (b. July 3, 1954), and Sebra Kay (b. September 9, 1959).

Lassie May married Jerald J. Nelson and they had: Janet Louise (b. November 13, 1961), Pamela Susan (b. February 5, 1963), Kevin Jerome (b. March 20, 1965), and Keith Edward (b. September 5, 1967).

John Reed, Jr. married Cecilia Schofield. They reside in Enumclaw, Washington.

Scottie Louise Payne was married to William David Isenberg (b. October 8, 1891-d. August 13, 1959), son of David and Susan Gillenwater Isenberg. His brother, Samuel Asbury, married Scottie's first cousin, Lucy Leota Mooney; and his sister, Cornelia, married Lucy's first cousin, Tom Mooney.

Scottie and Will had two sons, William Reed (b. November 10, 1923), and Walter Gene (b. April 14, 1929). William Reed married Doris Sheffield (b. April 19, 1930) of Bryson City, North Carolina. He was airport manager for 31 years at Hickory, North Carolina. His military service was as turret gunner on a bomber in World War II. Walter Gene is married to Betty Jo Martin (b. June 6, 1930) of Elizabethton. He is manager of an insurance business in Stone Mountain, Georgia.

Onessis Eugene was a victim of polio at a very young age, and as a result was retarded.

Juanita was married to Kyle Blevins Price (b. November 6, 1905-d. February 18, 1960). Their children are: Ralph Harrison

(b. June 26, 1931), Teddy Blevins (b. October 28, 1932-d. December 11, 1932), Scotty Annette (b. May 23, 1934), and Robert Kyle (b. November 26, 1941).

Ralph Harrison was first married to Alta Harrell. The birthdate of Teddy Blevins is given in the Hawkins County Cemetery Book as October 26. Scotty Annette is married to James Edward Pyne, and they have a son, James E. Pyne, Jr. (b. May 14, 1962). She is a music teacher in the Rogersville School System. Robert Kyle Price is married to Glenda Jane Eidson.

Carl, Juanita, Paul Hamblen (a cousin), and Cash Elkins sang in a quartet for many years. Paul's mother, Nila Payne Hamblen, was a first cousin of Carl and Juanita.

Related Stories:

Mooney - Payne.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

*Curtis H. Payne
1220 East Brook Road
Kingsport, TN 37663*

William Monroe and Harriett Emmaline (WEBB) PAYNE

William Monroe Payne (b. October 2, 1871-d. March 31, 1954), son of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Harriett Emmaline Webb (b. November 14, 1877-d. September 30, 1963), on December 11, 1907, in Dallas, Texas. There were three sons born to this union: Elmer William (b. October 26, 1909), Walter Lee (b. January 21, 1915), and Ralph Sidney (b. June 29, 1916).

Elmer William was married to Myrtle Benton on September 11, 1936; Walter Lee was married on October 29, 1938 to Clyde Lowe; and Ralph Sidney was married to Lois Everett on July 19, 1941.

The following is taken from a column written for the Rogersville Review by Mr. Ira Shelton, and the date of this column was July 13, 1967, and is quoted by permission from the paper:

"Back in the late nineties I had been going to school at the Old McMinn Academy and had begun to think there surely was a better way to make a living than walking behind 'Old Bell' guiding a double shovel plow along a corn row. There wasn't much for a young fellow to choose from in the way of making a living back in those days, but it was my determination to do something. Therefore I decided to take an agency for some books. I secured a good reference Bible and a history of the awful, destructive tidal wave that destroyed so much of the city of Galveston, Texas, and killed so many of its people. It was a very exciting book and sold readily. When the day came that I had set to start out on my business career, I dressed in my best clothes, gathered my portfolio under my left arm, and with pencil over my right ear I went forth toward Choptack, knocking on door after door as I came to them.

One day I came to the house of Mr. William Payne. His daughter, Mary, had married my uncle Oliver Shanks, and when I was around any of the Payne family, I had a feeling of being with my own folks. I was invited to eat dinner with them. After we had finished with the meal, one of the girls wanted a Bible. While I was making out an order for her to sign, her father came by and asked what I was doing. She told him she was buying a Bible from me--that I was a book agent. He said, 'Well, I never thought I would live to see one of John Shelton's boys trumping about over the country trying to sell books.' Not long after that time one of his own boys (Will) became a Bible agent. He told me he knocked on every door in Grainger County and sold most of them."

William Monroe Payne went to Dallas, Texas in 1896 to make his home, and never returned to Tennessee.

There are no grandchildren in the William M. Payne family. Both he and his wife are buried in the Oakland Cemetery, Dallas, Texas.

Harriett Emmaline Webb Payne's father was a brother of John W. Webb, who married Louise Kitzmiller Payne, sister of William Monroe Payne.

Related Stories:

John W. and Louise Kitzmiller (Payne) Webb.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

Jean Mooney Wagner
523 Spruce Street
Church Hill, TN 37644

PAYNE-LARMER

GEORGE WASHINGTON PAYNE, son of William Latham (Billy) Payne and Letha Whitson Payne, was born June 12, 1873 at Choptack, and died of a heart attack on August 9, 1963 at Savannah, Georgia.

He was married to Loretta Victoria (Rettie) Larmer, daughter of Doc Larmer, who was born in Virginia in November of 1877. The 1900 Census of Hawkins County lists them as being married one year. She is buried at Noe's Chapel in Hamblen County.

The following children were born to this union: Anna Lorene Payne, born December 23, 1900, died June 24, 1977, Harry R. Payne, born July 12, 1903, died June 28, 1906, Milton Oliver Spencer Payne (b. August 30, 1910), and Norman Ernest Payne (birthdate not known). Norman Ernest Payne was erroneously listed as "Willard" in the history of Washington County, Tennessee.

Lorene Payne was married to Thomas (Tom) James Mailes. There were two children, a daughter, Mildred Lorene Mailes (b. November 5, 1922), and a son, Norman Ernest Mailes (b. January 21, 1924), Lorene died in Biloxi, Mississippi, and is buried there in the Southern Memorial Cemetery.

Mildred Mailes was married to Norman Louis Gunderson on January 21, 1942, in Biloxi. They have one daughter, Lorene Ann Gunderson (b. September 1, 1943 in Biloxi, Mississippi). Ann Gunderson was married to Philip Irwin Harvey November 12, 1961 in Biloxi. Their children, Philip Harvey, Jr. (b. June 1, 1964) who is married to Michelle Parker, daughter of Mitchell Parker; Elizabeth Ann (b. April 10, 1966), who is married to Randall Craig (Joe) Joachin; and David Harvey.

Philip, Jr. and Michelle Harvey have a daughter, Megan Michelle (b. August 21 1985). Elizabeth is a graduate of William Cary College and is an RN at Charter Hospital, Mobile, Alabama, and she and her husband reside in Ocean Springs, Mississippi. David Harvey is a second year student at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Norman Ernest Mailes was married to Alice Gertrude Westbrook on May 8, 1948. Their children are: Patricia Ann (b. February 14, 1953), Peggy Ann (b. June 20, 1956), and Norman Ernest, Jr. (b. August 31, 1962).

Patricia Ann Mailes was married to Gary Matthew Boudreaux on June 8, 1973 at Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary (Catholic Church), Biloxi. They have two children: Gary Matthew, Jr. (b. June 23, 1979), and Carrie Leigh (b. July 11, 1980). She was a dental assistant but now she is a teacher's assistant, and he is a carpenter at Keesler AFB.

Peggy Ann Mailes is married to Richard Alan Penn. They have two children: Jodi Lynn (b. May 2, 1979), and Staci Eileen (b. March 2, 1983). She is a cook at Keesler AFB, and he is parts manager for Business Machine Corporation.

Norman Ernest Mailes, Jr. is married to Patricia Lynn Alford. They have three children: Jason Michael (b. December 8, 1982), Kevin Charles (b. September 15, 1985), and Randall Keith (b. May 19, 1988). He is employed by Northside Builders and she at Delchamps Super Market.

Lorene and Tom Mailes at one time lived in Williamsburg, Kentucky, later moving to Pikeville, Kentucky, Florida and Biloxi, Mississippi. They were divorced.

Harry R. Payne is buried in the Payne Family Cemetery on the family farm near Choptack.

Milton Oliver Spencer Payne was married in Jacksonville, Florida, to Mary Morgan of Alabama. There were two children born to this union: Gayle Payne and Milton (Sonny) Payne, Jr.

Norman Ernest Payne disappeared sometime in the 1930s, reportedly having gone to California. He was never heard from again.

GEORGE WASHINGTON PAYNE moved his family to Morristown before 1920, and was engaged at one time in the grocery business there. He later went with his son, Ernest, and son-in-law, Tom Mailes, to Knoxville where he was employed by a newspaper. Later the three went to Florida where he went to work in an orange grove in Kissimmee.

GEORGE WASHINGTON PAYNE is buried in the Choptack Baptist Church Cemetery. He had purchased burial plots for both him and his wife at Noe's Chapel, but shortly before his death he requested that he be buried at Choptack.

Related Stories:

Payne-Morgan

Payne-Whitson

Submitted by:

*Milton O. Payne
8017 High Point Blvd.
Brooksville, FL 34613*

PAYNE-MORGAN

Milton Oliver Spencer Payne (b. August 30, 1910), was one of four children born to George Washington Payne and Loretta Victoria (Rettie) Larmer, in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was married to Mary Morgan (b. January 16, 1916) of Alabama, in Jacksonville, Florida on April 23, 1937. Two children were born to the union of Milton and Mary Morgan Payne: Mary Gayle and Milton (Sonny) Payne, Jr.

Mary Gayle Payne (b. December 20, 1941) was married to Robert Russell, from whom she is divorced. She is a teacher now living in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and has an adopted son, Aaron Russell (b. November 23, 1977).

Milton (Sonny) Payne, Jr. is a full Colonel in the Air Force. As of April 1992, he serves in Germany where the family will live for three years. He is married to Linda Marie Bojan. They have two daughters, Elizabeth Ann (b. February 5, 1977), and Leslie Mary (b. March 30, 1979).

Milton Payne finished high school in Kissimmee. He went to work for the A&P Store and worked for about four years on that job. He then worked for the Greyhound Bus Lines, moving to Jacksonville, where he was married to Mary Morgan.

From Jacksonville Milton moved to Waycross, Georgia, as manager of the station and from there was transferred to Savannah, Georgia. He spent 31 years with the Greyhound Lines, until he suffered a heart attack in 1965. It was thought that the attack might have been caused by the stressful conditions under which he was working.

He later became associated with the Travelodge Motel and managed a motel for several years, retiring about 1972. He and his wife settled in Brooksville, Florida, near Tampa where they still reside.

Related Story:

Payne-Larmer

Submitted by:

*Milton O. Payne
8017 High Point Blvd.
Brooksville, FL 34613*

PAYNE STUBBLEFIELD

On October 3, 1888, James Horace (Rod) Payne was born to James Madison Payne and Allie Jane Russell, the fifth of nine children. He grew up on a farm near Rogersville. As a young man he decided to travel to Washington State where his Uncle Garfield Payne, and his sister, Daisy Payne Williams, lived. From there he went to Canada to work in a lumber camp.

Frances Ethel Stubblefield was born December 31, 1888, on a farm east of Mooresburg, the fifth of seven children of James Finley Stubblefield and Eliza Emma Dodson.

After about three years, Father came back to Morristown to marry my mother on July 14, 1912. He caused some excitement on arrival as he brought an orphan black bear cub that he had found in the woods. It would ride on his shoulder. He left the bear with his parents. It grew unmanageable when it became mature and had to be killed. My parents received a lot of teasing about my father leaving a bear in exchange for my mother.

They traveled by train and boat to their home which was to be in the lumber camp several miles inland from Campbell River, Vancouver Island, British Columbia. The only other woman in the camp was French. The two became very dear friends, sharing joys and hardships. Mother told of a bad and continuous snowstorm. They were down to split pea soup before the men could go with the handcar to purchase groceries. Father's job was brakeman on the train which took logs to the Strait of Georgia to float them to Vancouver.

Mother took the steamboat to Vancouver, and entered a private hospital where James Horace Payne was born June 5, 1913. After she returned to camp everything seemed to be fine for awhile. Then Horace became increasingly irritable and slept very little. He needed a doctor so they went to the home of John Williams in Kirkland, across Puget Sound from Seattle. John was Father's cousin.

Horace passed away October 30, 1914, and was buried in Queen Anne Cemetery in Seattle. He was the third baby to die that young with diabetes in the United States.

Father worked for a cement company, and I was born in the Williams home May 6, 1915. Sometime in 1916, Mother developed a cough. The doctor advised them to go to a drier climate. They moved to Ft. Morgan, Colorado, where Aunt Daisy and her family had moved.

My father then went to work in a tire shop learning to fix tires and batteries. Grace Inez was born in our home July 15, 1918. Mother caught the flu shortly afterwards, and was not expected to live.

In April 1926, my parents bought a business in Brush, Colorado. It was fixing tires and batteries, selling new ones, and by that time radios were what everyone wanted. My father sold many of them. In 1934 he built a new building across the street, adding gas pumps to have a complete service. Father was a hard worker, known as an honest businessman.

Sometime in the late 1940's he retired. He had several years to enjoy his hobby of trap shooting. He filled his own shells and also had his own electric trap. He spent hours shooting blue rocks. He had many trophies. Turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners were always those he had won at a shoot.

Mother, a wonderful mother and homemaker, did a lot of quilting for people. I'm only sorry I do not have any of her beautiful quilting. Her health failed, and she died April 22, 1968. Burial was in Brush Memorial Cemetery.

Father lived alone doing very well until he fell and broke some ribs. He died November 7, 1978. At his request he was cremated and his ashes in their container were buried on top of my mother's casket.

I married Hurchell C. Winstead on August 17, 1941. I now work for my church, exercise, read, do crafts, and have done a little oil painting.

On September 4, 1969, Grace married Paul Sharits, a traveling salesman, with whom she traveled. They live in Canon City. Grace spends her leisure time doing beautiful embroidery.

Related Story:

James Madison and Allie Jane (Russell) Payne.

Submitted by:

Una Mae Payne Winstead
617 Clayton
Brush, CO 80723

PAYNE-WHITSON

William Latham Payne, born May 18, 1834, died February 20, 1915, and Letha Whitson, born October 8, 1838, died January 5, 1911, were married March 30, 1854, Washington County, Tennessee. Shortly thereafter they moved to Hawkins County, traveling by riverboat. Both families were from Jonesborough.

There were fourteen children: Sarah Elizabeth (1855-1927); James Madison (1856-1928); Louise Kitzmiller (1858-1922); Mack McCarty (1865- 1922); Margaret Ann (1867-1934); Christopher Columbus (1869-mid 1940s); William Monroe (1871-1954); George Washington (1873-1963); Allie Jane (1876-1961); Isaac Garfield (1880-1941); and Elijah Von Payne (1884-1969).

1922); Clinton (1860-1932); Mary Emeline (1862-1918); Nancy Jane (1863-

Elizabeth married Hezekiah Davis Hamblen in 1871. There were thirteen children, five of whom lived: Deaderick (1873-1939); Mary Jane (1875-1948); Harriett (1879-1946); and twins Laura and Allie (1876).

James married Allie J. Russell in 1875. Their children were: John (1878); Nila (1880-1926); Daisy (1883-1989); Mack (1886); Rod (1888); Leota (1890-1891); Herbert (1892-1968); Maude Lou (1895-1937); McKinley (1898-1898), and Lassie (1901). James was killed in a sawmill accident. Lassie is the last surviving child.

Clinton Payne was unmarried. He and his parents are buried in the cemetery on the family farm at Choptack.

Louise married John W. Webb (1856-1929). There were three children: George (1877-1880); Lida (1883-1950); and Willie (1887-1887). George was burned to death.

Mary married Oliver M. Shanks (1856-1943) in 1885. Their three children were: Cora (1886-1979); Mae (1889-1973); William Charles (b. 1890).

Nancy married Albert Mooney (1856-1922) in 1892. Their children were: Lucy (1893-1974); William (1894-1959); Ralph (1896-1896); Martin (1898-1977); Robert (1899-1962); Maggie Ola (1900-1904); and Sue (1901-1986). Albert's parents were Charles and Margaret (Peggy) Brooks Mooney.

Mack married Annie Brooks (1855-1937) about 1887. Their children were: Carl (1888-1973); Walter (1889-1978); John Reed (1891-1973); Scottie (b. 1894); Onessis Eugene (ca. 1889-1962); and Juanita (b. 1905). Scottie and Juanita are the surviving children.

Margaret married John Martin Morell (1856-1915) in 1884. He was 28 years of age, and was a teacher. She had been his pupil. Their children were: Minnie (1886-1937); Letha (1887-1972); William Christian (1889-1889); Hugh Lee (1890-1923); twins, Lida Kate and Mary Gertrude (1892-1892); and John Milton (1893-d. in infancy). Hugh Lee died in a railroad accident.

Christopher married Mollie Shanks (1873-1918) in 1892. They had three children: Luther (b. 1891), Bessie (b. 1893), and unnamed baby daughter (1899-1899). Christopher died in Portland, Oregon and is buried there. Luther and Bessie did not marry.

William married Harriett Emmaline Webb (1877-1963) in 1907 in Dallas, Texas. Three sons were born: Elmer (b. 1909); Walter (b. 1915); and Ralph (b. 1916). William went to Dallas in 1896 to make his home, and never returned to Tennessee. They are buried in Dallas.

George married Rettie Larmer, daughter of Doc Larmer. They were married about 1899, and had children: Lorene (1900-1977); Harry (1903-1906), Milton (b. 1910), and Norman Ernest (erroneously listed as Willard in the Washington County History). George died of a heart attack in Savannah, Georgia. He is buried at Choptack.

Allie Jane (1876-1961), married Joseph Thomas Mooney (1859-1931). There were two daughters: Jannie Vee (1900-1972); and Mattie Sue (1902- 1987). Joseph and Albert were brothers. Joseph first married Barsha Bentley, by whom he had two sons, one died at birth, and Charley Atholl Mooney.

Garfield was married to Clara Price (1876-1958), daughter of Henry Price. Their children: Sue Lee (1900); twins Clarence (1902) and Henry Clifford (1902-1903); Miller (dates unknown); Clara (b. 1910); Helen; and James Eldridge (1912).

Elijah (E.V.) was married to Margaret Lou Lawson (1884-1972) in 1902. Their children were: Daisy (1903- 1942); Dennie (1909-1985), and Roy (1912-1989). Dennie served for 24 years as County Court Clerk of Hawkins County.

William Latham served in the Union Army during the Civil War. His mother, Abigail, was listed in the 1850 Census of Washington County head of household, age 42, children, William, Emmaline, Martha, and husband, Jacob Rose. Emeline married Dan Archer.

Letha's parents were Enoch and Elizabeth (White) Whitson. The 1850 Census lists the family of Enoch Whitson (42), as: Margaret, Letha, Isaac, Julia, Jesse, Susannah, born in Tennessee; Andrew Johnson, born in North Carolina, and wife, Sarah (Whitson), born in Tennessee. Elizabeth Whitson died between 1846-50, and Enoch between 1850-60.

Related Stories:

James Deadrick and Allie Jane (Payne)

Hamblen.

Andrew and Sarah (Whitson) Johnson.

Joseph Thomas and Allie Jane (Payne) Mooney.

Mooney-Payne.

John Martin and Margaret Ann (Payne) Morell.

Christopher Columbus and Mollie (Shanks) Payne.

Elijah Von and Margaret Lou (Lawson) Payne.

Isaac Garfield and Clara (Price) Payne.

James Madison and Allie Jane (Russell) Payne.

Mack McCarty and Annie (Brooks) Payne.

William Monroe and Harriett Emmaline (Webb) Payne.

Payne-Larmer.

Oliver Miller and Mary Emeline (Payne) Shanks.

John H. and Louise Kitzmiller (Payne) Webb.

Daisy Jane (Payne) Williams.

Submitted by:

*Frances J. Mooney
1564 Warpath Drive
Kingsport, TN 37664*

Christian PEARSON

Hawkins County - Organized 18 November 1786 from Sullivan County (North Carolina Lands) area being settled as early as 1769. North Carolina yielded the property rights to the United States in 1790. Tennessee was admitted as a State on 1 June 1796...

My g-g-g grandfather Christian Pearson, Sr., born 1755 in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, died about 14 May 1819 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Records show that he did Patriotic Service in Pennsylvania during the Revolutionary War (1775-1783). His wife (maiden name unknown) died before 1819 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Christian was a taxpayer in Durham Township, Bucks Co. PA, in 1778.

About 1788, Christian, his Wife and children moved to the North Carolina Lands. The main wagon road from Philadelphia southwest to the Hawkins County Area was the Great Valley Road. The Pearson family settled in the Lee Valley area before Tennessee became a State.

The Will of Christian Pearson, Sr., dated 14 May 1819, listed children: Michael, Betsy Jones, Polly Shanks, George, Christian, Cathy Begley, Lawrence, John, Henry, Sally, Peggy Nash, and Susan Pearson.

Census records indicate that Michael and John lived in Claiborne County. George went to McMinn County. The Lee Valley was probably called home for the rest of the family.

My direct line -- Henry, was born in 1875 in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and married Mary Polly Cole about 1820 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Henry's Will dated 13 October 1841 mentioned daughter Louisa Davis and his son Christopher Columbus Pearson.

His wife Mary Polly's Will, dated 4 March 1872, listed children: Christopher Columbus, Eliza, John M., Mariah, Sallie Ann, Thomas J., Stokley D., Jane, Manerva, Manilla, and heirs of William McClellan Pearson.

John M. Pearson, born on 2 February 1825, married Jemima Bean (daughter of John Calvin Bean and Alice Setser) about 1848. Their ten children were: Christopher C. "Richard", born 1849, married Luvernia Jones; Mary, born in 1853, married N.M. "Nick" Green; Alice born in 1855, married Harvey Lawson; Sarah, born 1856, married H. Franklin Amyx; Jackson, born in 1857, married Sidney Elizabeth Davis; William Asa, born 1860, married twice; Henry, born 1863, married Frances Davis; George L., born 1865, married Laura Arnott; Susan M., born in 1869, married Rev. George Davis; and Stokley B., born 1870, married Martha Susan Davis.

William Asa Pearson, born 1860 in Lee Valley, Hawkins County, Tennessee and married first to Cornelia Green in 1890. They had one child, Charlie Christopher, born 1891. Asa purchased a farm near Sanger, Texas about 1895. Cornelia died 9 July 1898, and was buried in the Sanger Cemetery. Asa and son Charlie moved back to Tennessee and bought a farm on Beech Creek adjoining the Holston River. Asa married second to Mary Smith about 1904. They had one child, Roy Ross, born 27 July 1905. In 1907 they bought a farm located between the App Davis farm and the McKinney farm near McKinney's Chapel. Asa died in 1913.

Charlie Christopher Pearson, born 6 July 1891 in Hawkins County, and died 29 June 1971, married twice. On 5 July 1914 Charlie Christopher married first to Kittie B. Baker, daughter of John Baker and Sallie M. Barb. Kittie died on 23 June 1927. They had five children: Ruth, Charlie Christopher, Jr., Robert Lee, Louise, and Eldridge McGee.

1.) Ruth Pearson, born 1915, married Hursle Elkins, and had two children: Blanche Marie, born 1932, married Paul Bishop; and Linda, born 1944, married Michael McCamey. They had two children: Chad, born 1976; and Keri, born 1980.

2.) Charlie Christopher Pearson, Jr. was born 1917 and died 1919.

3.) Robert Lee Pearson, born in 1919, married Fern Owens on 19 January 1952 and had two children: Michael David, born 1953 Dayton, Ohio; and Tana Sue, born 1954 Dayton, Ohio, married David Marshall on 12 May 1990 and had one child Michael David Marshall, born 26 October 1992 New Orleans. Robert Lee was in WWII, AAF, North African Division, Air Transport Command Marrakech, French Morocco.

4.) Louise Pearson, born in 1921, married Hugh Goan 26 June 1942, and had four children; Charles, Rose, James, and Thomas. Charles, born in 1943, married first Barbara Wegmyer, and had children Charles Scott, born 1968, and David Brandon, born 1972. Charles married second Patricia Anne Taylor, 22 May 1993. Rose, born in 1945, married first Johnny F. Brown 25 September 1961, and had children Deborah, born 1962; and Sandra, born 1967, married David Roach, Jr. James, born in 1950, married Judy Harmon 29 July 1977, and had children Crystal, born in 1979; and Eric, born in 1985. Thomas, born 1956, married first to Carolyn Marshall, and had children Jacob born in 1981: and Rachel born 1983. Thomas married second Cynthia Horn, and had children Joshua born in 1986: and Brittney born in 1993.

5.) Eldridge McGee Pearson, born 1925 in Albuquerque, New Mexico, died 10 April 1991 Sioux Falls, South Dakota, married Velda Fuerst on 18 December 1949, and had four children; Jolene, Rodney, Lance, and Heidi. Jolene, born in 1950, married David Amo 1972, and had children Matthew, born 19.., and Emilee, born 1980; Rodney, born 1959, died 1959, married Elizabeth Halbersma 10 August 1979 and had children Chad, born 1981, Nichole, born 1982, and Rachael, born 1985; Lance, born 1962; Heidi, born 1967, married Tod Jorgeson 24 August 1991. Eldridge was in the U. S. Marine Corps, Pacific Theater, WWII.

On 30 January 1929 Charlie Christopher married second to Eula Mae Burton. Eula was born 23 February 1909 and died 22 March 1989. She was a great Mother. They had one child, Frances Marie, born in 1929, married Glen Carroll 21 June 1947, and they had seven children: Donna, Larry, Sharon, Rick, Rhenda, Daniel, and David.

1.) Donna Carroll, born 1948 in Midletown, Ohio, married Bruce Trent 16 March 1969, and had three children: Ted born 1970 and married Cynthia Jaynes 12 July 1991; Scott born 1973; and Sandra born 1978.

2.) Larry Carroll, born 1950, married first Carlene Gray 19 December 1971, and had one child Sean. Larry married second Carol Harper, and they have one child Joey Glen.

3.) Sharon Carroll, born 8 March 1953 in Rogersville, TN.

4.) Rick Carroll, born 1956, married Sandra Bowman 17 May 1976, and they have one child Chrystal, born 1982.

5.) Rhenda Carroll, born 1959, married Michael Miller 1981, and they had two children: Christopher, born 1981; and Eric, born 1986.

6.) Daniel Carroll, born 1961, married Leslie Jo Stewart 10 June 1989.

7.) David Carroll, born 1963, married

Paula Sue Brooks 16 December 1989.

Roy Ross Pearson, son of William Asa Pearson and Mary Smith, born 1905, died 1969 in Farmville, Virginia, married Martha Ann Laing in Hong Kong, China 10 March 1935, and they had two children, Roy Laing and Ann Marie. Roy Laing, born 1939 in Hong Cong, married Louise Johns 11 June 1960 in Farmville, VA, and had one child Cynthia, born 1961 in Charlottesville, Va.

Ann Marie, born 1948 in Farmville, Virginia, married Reginold Wood 27 November 1970.

There have been Pearsons in Hawkins County for 205 years.

Related story:

Lawrence Pearson

Submitted by:

*Robert L. Pearson
664 Timber Lane
Wilmington, OH*

George Anderson PEARSON

George Anderson Pearson was born on 27 November 1853 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, the fifth child of John H. Pearson and Minerva Greene. He came with his family from Tennessee to Texas and settled in Dallas County, between Coppel and Grapevine.

George married Sarah Elizabeth Corbin on 28 November 1878. Sarah E. was the daughter of William and Mary Jane Sanders Corbin, and she was born in Tennessee.

George and Sarah had the following children: Fanny Ellen, born 18 November 1879, married William Anthony Greener; Clara Stewart, born 18 August 1881, married James George Greener; Clarence Marvin, born 18 August 1881, unmarried; William Rufas "Boss", born 5 October 1883, married (1) Lula Dixon, and (2) Margaret Edna Kirkland.

Sarah E. died on 12 October 1883, when "Boss" was only seven days old, leaving George with four babies. Clarence was sick, possibly with infantile paralysis, and never walked without crutches.

After the children's grandfather, John

H. died, their grandmother Minerva and George's younger brother, Nickolas, moved into Grapevine from the farm and helped with the older children. The Corbin grandparents took the baby, "Boss", and reared him. He was known as "Boss Corbin" to a number of people.

George A. Pearson died on 12 October 1905, and he is buried in the Grapevine Cemetery along with Sarah.

Related Story:

John H. Pearson

Sources:

Memory.

Information obtained from other family members and grave stones.

Submitted by:

*Mary E. Greener Cate
(granddaughter)
5809 Broadway Ave.
Ft. Worth, TX 76117-3306*

John H. PEARSON

John H. Pearson was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee on 29 January 1820. He was the son of Lawrence and Elizabeth (DeVault) Pearson. Lawrence was born in Bucks County, Pennsylvania in 1785, and he came to Tennessee with his parents, Christian and Catherine Pearson when he was a small child.

John's mother, Elizabeth, was the daughter of Abraham and Katherine (Gross) DeVault, and she was born in Claiborne County, Tennessee. Her parents probably came from Virginia earlier.

When John was twenty-two he married Minerva Greene, daughter of William and Ruth (Slaton) Greene of Hancock County, Tennessee. William Greene served in the War of 1812 under Capt. John Slaton, Ruth's father.

John and Minerva Pearson had the following children, all born in Hawkins County: Elizabeth Jane, born 29 September 1842, married James W. Berry; William Eldridge, born on 1 February 1845, married Arminda Sanders; Rowena Emoline (Rena) born 1847, married to John C. Willmuth; Liza Ruth, born 11 August 1850, married

Thomas G. Swindell; George Anderson, born 27 November 1853, married to Sarah Elizabeth Corbin; Nickolas, born 24 April 1856, unmarried; Mary Catherine, born on 2 October 1859, married to William S. Saunders; James M., born on 12 March 1865, married Rachael Lou Hodges.

In the fall of 1870 John and Minerva and their family left Tennessee in a wagon train with a number of other families to come to Texas. Clyde Sanders, whose father came with the group, said the wagons left Howards Quarter (in Claiborne County) in September, and the families who came directly to Texas arrived around Christmas. John and Minerva stopped off in Christian County, Missouri for a few years, and then came on to Dallas County, Texas and settled on the Grapevine Prairie. They lived there until John's death on 12 December 1895.

In later years Minerva lived with her daughter, Mary C. Saunders, in Grapevine, Texas, and she died there on 14 January 1909. She and John are buried in the Grapevine Cemetery.

Related story:

Nickolas Pearson

Sources:

Census Records.

Grave Stones.

Biographical History of Dallas Co., TX, originally published in 1892.

Submitted by:

Dorothy Pearson Stanfield
(Great Granddaughter)
2045 FM 740 North
Forney, TX 75126-9083

Lawrence PEARSON

Christian Pearson came from Bucks County, Pennsylvania and settled in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was a descendant of Thomas Pearson, who originated from Cheshire, England. Thomas immigrated to America on the ship "Welcome" with William Penn and landed at Upland, Pennsylvania on October 27, 1682.

Thomas was the son of Lawrence Pearson (1600-1673) from England, and Elizabeth Janney. Thomas married Margaret Smith, born 8-2-1691. Margaret was the daughter of Mary Croasdale, who was born in Yorkshire, England, 8-30-1669, and William Smith.

Mary Croasdale came to America with her family, Thomas Croasdale and Agnes (Hathornethwaite) Croasdale on the ship "Lamb" in 1682. William Smith and Mary announced their intentions to get married at a Monthly Meeting on 6-7-1690, and the marriage took place at John Chapman's home. Twenty four people signed the wedding certificate in Wrightstown, PA. Mary died and was buried in Bucks County October 16, 1716.

William Smith was believed to have been the servant of Phineas Pemberton. William immigrated to America on the "Friends Adventure." His will is dated 12-10-1740 and was probated on 3-29-1743. The will shows seven children: Margaret, Mary, William, Sarah, Thomas, Hannah, Lydia, and Elizabeth. William Smith owned several tracts of land in Wrightstown, Bucks County, PA.

Thomas Pearson and Margaret Smith Pearson had Lawrence Pearson (1688-1756). Thomas' will was probated on 7-27-1752.

Lawrence's wife's name was Ann. They had Joseph Pearson, born in 1712 in Bucks Co., PA.

Joseph had a son Lawrence Pearson (1732-1803). Joseph's will was proved 9-5-1801, and he is buried in Bucks Co., PA.

Lawrence married a woman named Elizabeth, and they had a son, Christian Pearson, born in 1755 in Bucks Co., PA, and died in Hawkins Co., TN on 5-18-1819. The submitter of this article is a third great grand-daughter of Christian Pearson.

Christian was an American Revolutionary Patriot who gave money and supplies for the cause of the American Revolutionary War. He took the Oath of Allegiance before Thomas Long, the Esquire of Durham, Bucks County, PA on 9-19-1777, and again 9-14-1778.

Christian's wife's name was Catherine. Christian and Catherine had twelve children: Michael, Betsy, Mary, George, Christian, Catherine, Lawrence, John, Henry, Peggy, Susan, and Sally. Christian's will is dated 5-14-1819 at Hawkins County, TN.

Henry Pearson (1785-1841) married Mary "Polly" Cole, who died in 1872. Henry's will is on file in Hawkins Co. and dated 10-13-1841. Mary's will is dated 9-26-1871 and proved on 3-4-1872. Both of their wills are found in Will Book I-II in Hawkins County, Tennessee. They had twelve children: Minerva, Eliza, Christopher Columbus, John, Sarah, Stokely, Jane, Mariah, Manily, McClellan, T. J., and Jackson.

Minerva Pearson married Riley Samuel Amyx in December 1854 in Lee Valley. They lived in Hawkins County and are buried by the Friendship Baptist Church in the Amyx Cemetery. They had thirteen children: Wm. Harvey, Manilla, Henry, Mary, Lawanna, Martha, Elizabeth, Cordelia, Susan, Minerva, Riley, Josie, and Eva.

Wm. Harvey married Orlena Trent. They had nine children while they lived in Hawkins County. They then moved to Texas and settled near Sanger, Texas. They had four more children after they moved to Texas. Their thirteen children were: Mattie, Samuel, Coy, Bill, Fannie, Jack, Hattie, Carrie, Zannie, Henry, Myrtle, Fred, and Frank.

Myrtle Marie Amyx married William Clinton Rice 11-26-1919. Both were from Sanger, Texas. They had three children while living there, and they later moved to Memphis, Texas and had three more children there before moving to a farm in Eldorado, Jackson County, Oklahoma. They had two more children after they moved to Eldorado. Their children are: Lewis, Nancy, Vencil, Margaret, Floyd, Clara, Gloria, and Jolene.

Gloria West, submitter of this article, was born on the farm in Eldorado, OK, and is married to Roy E. West, from Eldorado, OK. We have four children: Debra, Sarah, Chris, and Laura; and we have seven grandchildren: Heather, Rachel, Aaron, Christopher, Joshua, Katie, and Savannah.

Related Story:

AMYX-BREWER-SEALE-TRENT.

Christian Pearson.

Submitted by:

*Gloria Rice West
1204 Kingston Dr.
Yukon, OK 73099*

Nickolas PEARSON

Nickolas "Nick" Pearson, the son of John H. and Minerva Greene Pearson, was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee 24 April 1856. He was a midget, 40" tall and weighed around 58 pounds, and wore a child's number five shoe. His clothes had to be tailor made.

It was always a thrill to have Uncle Nick come to visit us. He smoked a corn cob pipe, and told of things that happened when he was a little boy in Tennessee. He told us about the war and how the soldiers came and drove their cows away. He was sitting on the rail fence and cried when this happened because he knew that they would have no milk. When one of the soldiers saw him crying, he drove one cow back into the lot. The soldiers also went to the smokehouse, where the family kept a keg of molasses; they took all they wanted and threw dirt and rags into the remainder.

A cousin told that when Nick's mother was old, they went to live with his widowed sister, Mary Saunders. All three of them smoked their corn cob pipes, and each had their sack of tobacco hanging on door knobs. Nick never married, but he did go courting in his horse-drawn buggy.

Everyone in Grapevine, Texas knew him. He died 19 September 1937 at the age of 81 years. He is buried in the Grapevine Cemetery, near his parents, and has an unusual heart-shaped grave stone.

Related story:

John H. Pearson

Sources:

Memory, and things other family members have told us.

Submitted by:

*Mary E. Greener Cate, & Dorothy Pearson
Stanfield
(Great nieces)*

*2045 FM 740 North
Forney, TX 75126-9083*

P. Lee PEARSON Family

Prior Lee Pearson, born 23 October 1837, died 1 November 1913, married Sarah "Sallie" Jane Looney on 19 August 1866 in Hawkins County, TN. P. Lee was the son of Lawrence and Elizabeth DeVault Pearson and the Grandson of Christian and Catherine Pearson, who came to Hawkins County from Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Christian was a Revolutionary War Soldier, born ca. 1755 and died after May 18, 1819 in Hawkins County TN. The maiden name of his wife is still unknown.

P. Lee was a Confederate Soldier serving as Corp of Co-D-4-Batt Tenn Cav.; he enlisted 8 July 1861, and fought in the battles of Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, and Missionary Ridge. He was captured in October 1863 and held as a prisoner of war until March 1865 in an Indianapolis, Indiana prison.

P. Lee was a farmer, merchant and, teacher. He and Sallie had eight children: (1) Lalla Rook Pearson, born 27 September 1867, died 5 July 1885; (2) Carroll Looney Pearson, born 14 March 1869, died August 1952, was married to Pearl Eva Gibson. Both were born in Hawkins Co., TN and died in Nampa, Idaho; (3) Maggie Pearson, born 4 October 1870, died 11 June 1888 in Hawkins Co. TN; (4) Moonsfier Pearson (later known as "Montie" Pearson), born 1 September 1872 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 26 September 1931 in Ontario, Oregon, was married to Bertie Getrood Holmon of Washington State, Whitman County. Montie is buried in Nampa, Idaho, and Bertie is buried in Burns, Oregon; (5) Absalom David "A. D." Pearson, Sr., born 9 November 1873 in Hawkins Co., TN, married first to Nannie McClellan Forgey, second to her sister Carrie Ewing Forgey. "App" as he was called, died 23 September 1952, and all three are buried in Hawkins County, TN; (6) Nora O. Pearson, born 20 August 1875 in Hawkins County, TN and moved to California in 1917, where she married Thomas Spach. Nora died on 12 November 1946 and was buried in Santa Barbara, CA; (7) Gale Pearson, born 10 February 1877 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 16 July 1970, married Hattie L. Campbell in 1905, and both are buried in Fort Hill Cemetery in Cleveland, TN; (8) Leonzalo, later known as Lee Onzie or "Onzie", born 21 January 1879, died 9 June 1955, married Ollie M. Gillenwater of Hawkins County, TN. Both died and are buried in Bakersfield, CA, along with one son who died in a motor vehicle accident.

A. D. Pearson, Sr. and his first wife Nannie M. Forgey, my Grandparents, had five children. (1) Harry Lee Pearson, born on 31 March 1899, died 8 December 1973 in San Francisco, CA. (2) Evelyn Louise Pearson, born on 26 September 1901, died 3 November 1902 in Hawkins County. (3) John Harlan Pearson, born on 23 August 1904, died on 12 August 1972 in Hawkins County. (4) Helen Pearson, born 19 December 1907, died 15 August 1908 in Hawkins County. (5) A. D. Pearson, Jr., born 22 May 1909 in Hawkins County, died 29 May 1960 in Seattle, Washington. He and his wife Virginia had one son David, no more information.

A. D. Pearson Sr. and his second wife had one son, Ray Wayland Pearson born 25 September 1914, married Ada Mae Watterson. They have one daughter, Elizabeth Ann, born 21 January 1944, married 10 September 1966 to James Vernon Christian, and there are two daughters in this family. Heather Denise Christian, born 12 December 1969, married Shane Summers on 4 January 1992. Brooke Nichole Christian was born 12 August 1976.

Ray W. Pearson was with Citizens Union Bank for 35 years. He is a Mason and served as Grand Master of all Masons in Tennessee in 1980.

John Harlan Pearson, my father, married Ruth Wheeler of Sullivan County, TN to whom were born three children: Patsy Ruth "Pat", born on 18 January 1931; Carolyn Ann, born 24 November 1931; and John Harlan Pearson, Jr., born 1938, died 1938.

Pat married on 5 June 1955 to Clinton Green Winstead and divorced in 1983. There were two children in this marriage. Vickie Lynn Winstead, born on 23 December 1958, married James E. Willis 31 July 1992. Stan Allen Winstead was born 23 October 1960, and he married Debbie Rogers Trentham on 1 August 1992.

Harlan bought the family Grocery Store from his father, having one of the oldest licenses in Surgoinsville, date 1877. He also enjoyed doing other things - building houses, selling used cars and furniture. Daddy was a good man and enjoyed helping others.

Related Stories:

Christian Pearson.

John H. Pearson.

Sources:

Family Bible.

Cemetery.

East Tennessee History, by Goodspeed.

Submitted by:

Carolyn A. Pearson
329 Bell St.
Blountville, TN 37617

Joshua PHIPPS (1801-1861)

William Phipps and his wife Sarah Erwin came to Hawkins County, Tennessee in January 1786 from Botetourt County, Virginia, bringing a letter of introduction from that County to people of the Holston Settlements. They settled in Phipps Bend near Stony Point, and they called their home GRANDVIEW, perhaps built shortly before 1797.

They were the parents of thirteen children. Their fifth child was named Joshua, born February 24, 1801. He is the subject of this article. He married first on July 13, 1830 to Abenaida Leeper, daughter of Francis Leeper. They had four children: an Infant son, born and died April 1831; Sarah Elizabeth, born 1832, died 1842; Francis "Frank" Leeper, born December 4, 1833, died September 19, 1878; and Abenaida "Ida", born April 9, 1835, died 1907. She was named Louisa at birth, but was christened Abenaida "her mother's name" after her mother's death June 9, 1836.

Joshua's second wife was Louisa (Bradley) Morgan, born March 11, 1794, died May 18, 1851 at Rotherwood. She was the widow of William M. Morgan. Joshua and Louisa had one child, Nancy Phipps, 1839-1916. In 1847 Joshua bought 1900 acres of the Rotherwood Estate from the bank that held mortgages on the property. This 1847 purchase did not include the original Rotherwood Mansion, now referred to as "Rotherwood I" by some local historians.

Mr. Phipps moved his family to the house that Frederick A. Ross had started constructing for his daughter Rowena and her husband Edward Temple from the two parallel houses located south of the Old Stage Road on the Bledsoe Nine Hundred tract. Major Anthony Bledsoe was given a Grant for this land in payment of his service during the Battle of Kings Mountain of the Revolutionary War. Major Bledsoe sold this 900 acres, known later as the "Bledsoe 900 Tract" to David Ross, Sr., father of F.A. Ross on 24 January 1788 (Deed Book I, page 1, Hawkins County records).

During the process of joining the two houses into one for his daughter, Mr. Ross lost all of his property, due to failure of the Rotherwood Factory. Joshua Phipps completed the construction and moved his family there. Later the original Rotherwood Mansion and Factory were bought from the creditors of Mr. Ross by Joshua Phipps. This transaction took place in the early 1850's.

After the loss of the Factory and Rotherwood, Mr. Ross moved his family to Alabama, where he spent the rest of his life. A story is told that when the Ross family was preparing to leave for Alabama, someone in the Phipps household put some gold coins into the Ross baby's bottle so the Ross family would find them after leaving on their trip.

Louisa (Bradley) Phipps died at Rotherwood and was buried at New Providence Cemetery, where his first wife Abenaida is also buried. Louisa's death occurred May 18, 1851. The next year Mr. Phipps married for the third time, this being his marriage to Ann Peoples Bachman, daughter of Jonathan and Fannie (Rhea) Bachman. Ann was the sister of the Bachman boys that later became well known Presbyterian Ministers. Joshua Phipps helped pay for their education.

Joshua and Ann Phipps had one child, a son they named William Joshua McKinney "Mack" Phipps. Mack was eight years of age when his father died in 1861. When Mr. Phipps moved to Rotherwood in 1847, his children Frank was 14 years of age, Abenaida "Ida" was 12 years old, and their half sister Nancy was 8. "Mack" was born at Rotherwood on 25 February 1863. The other children were born at New Canton, Tennessee.

The Rotherwood Classical Seminary was chartered by act of the Thirty-First General Assembly at its first session for the years 1855-56. Chapter 236 states "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Tennessee, that Joshua Phipps and John L. Lampson, who have purchased a tract of land on the North Fork of Holston River, in Hawkins County, with the buildings thereon, for the purpose of establishing a Classical Seminary."

The exact location of this Seminary was the original Rotherwood Mansion, being the former home of Frederick A. Ross. Dr. Fred and his wife, Dr. Annabelle McConnell, built their house on the site of Rotherwood home and later the Rotherwood Classical Seminary.

John L. Lampson was the first president, and Joshua Phipps was a joint owner with him of the land and buildings on which it was situated. The Charter gave the President and Trustees of said Seminary full power to confer on any student, or any other person, they deem proper, the Degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, or any other degree known and used in any college or University in the United States. The Seminary was operated until the outbreak of The War Between The States. It was of short duration, 1856 to 1860. In his Will of 1861 Joshua Phipps gave material bought for the Seminary to his son Frank and his son-in-law, Robert Glen Netherland. By this action it is believed that the school had already closed operation. One of the descendants of Squire John Fain of Blountville who attended the Rotherwood Classical Seminary, told me recently that it was considered a prestigious school.

Mollie Jones of Meridian, Mississippi was driving her parents through East Tennessee and stopped at Rotherwood for a drink of water. The boy who took it to her told Frank he should go out and see the pretty lady in the carriage. Later Frank Phipps went to Mississippi and brought her back to Rotherwood as his bride. She was later referred to as Red Mollie, she having red hair, to distinguish her from another Phipps that lived in the same community. Frank Phipps served as a Major of Cavalry in the Confederate Army. Abenaida "Ida" married Robert Glen Netherland, grandson of Richard Netherland who owned and operated The Netherland Inn in Sullivan County. Robert and "Ida" resided at the present site of Allandale. The kitchen ell of their house is still standing, being attached to the back of the Allandale Mansion.

Nancy Phipps married first General John Bynum in 1860. He was shot and killed by John D. Riley in 1862 at Rogersville, Tennessee.

Nancy's second marriage was to Henry Boyle Clay, a Captain of the Confederate Army, and a grandson of Henry Clay, "the statesman" of Ashland, Kentucky. Mary Clay Kenner of Rogersville was the daughter of Capt. H.B. Clay and Nancy (Phipps Bynum) Clay.

When Joshua Phipps died in 1861, he devised in his Will, made just a few days before his death, his house and part of the farm to his widow and his son "Mack" who was eight years old. To his other children he gave the same amount of equal value.

After the Seminary was closed and Mr. Phipps' death, the Rotherwood Mansion I was rented to a family named Tipton who lived there until the house was destroyed by fire during the Civil War. After Ann (Peoples Bachman) Phipps' death, her son "Mack" who married Mary Gaines McKinney, lived at Rotherwood in the Phipps House, later called Rotherwood after Mack Phipps sold it to the Unaka Company in 1907. Mack and Mary Phipps were the parents of ten children, all born at Rotherwood. The family moved to Bristol, Tennessee after Rotherwood was sold.

Related Stories:

James Erwin, 1793-1850.

The Harve Parker Family.

Submitted by:

*Frank R. Netherland
101 Netherland Lane
Kingsport, TN 37660*

My Grandmother (Alsie PILANT) Talked To Me

Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee, with its heavily wooded hills and lush fields, is a long way from the arid prairie and rugged Rocky Mountains of Colorado. But as a young girl growing up in Fremont County, Colorado, Rogersville was very real and important to me.

I was a privileged child. My grandmother talked to me. I did not always look on this as a blessing. When I was thirteen and more interested in the opposite sex than in the exact house my great-grandparents lived in when they first came to Colorado from Tennessee, I did not feel privileged at all. The hours I spent in my grandmother's Rambler, being driven up and down mountain roads as she talked to me, were hours I could have spent styling my hair. (I was grateful that she stuck to mountain roads, since I didn't want to seen in town in a Rambler.)

The stories she told of her childhood home near Rogersville did not particularly interest me. She had an amazing memory for details of her young life in Hawkins County and while she explained exactly how her father was paid as a farm hand, I wished I was home watching American Bandstand. As we chugged down dusty roads and up rocky grades, at what I considered an obscenely slow pace, she chattered myths into my mind as if she were giving me some precious irreplaceable gift.

She was of course. She was giving me the gift of roots. Today I am a writer and editor, a former English teacher. Both my brothers, one a pilot, one a state administrator by profession, are writers as well. I'm sure our interest in words was influenced by my Grandmother's story telling and her interest in passing on, orally, a history of her family. Some of her favorite stories had to do with Hawkins County, which had been the home of some members of her family since at least 1800.

My grandmother was born in Rogersville in 1897 to Mary Jane Rutledge and John Wesley (Wes) Pilant. She was named Alsie after Alsie Hale Riley, a Hawkins County resident. Her maternal grandparents were Baxter S. Rutledge and Rachel Ann Cox. Her paternal grandparents were James Pilant and Sarah Winnie Eidson.

Wes Pilant was primarily a farmer, as the men of his family had been for several generations. In the early 1900s, he worked on both the Jake Hale and the George Hale farms and in Miller Lee's store. Jake and George Hale were the brothers of Alsie Hale Riley. Miller Lee, as my grandmother remembered had five daughters, one named Mattie. In 1902 a baby was born to Mary Jane and Wes Pilant, whom they named Mattie Lee, presumably in honor of the storekeepers family.

Six feet tall like most men in his family, Wes Pilant was a good hand. On the George Hale farm in 1906, he was paid a salary of $90 a year, provided with a house, 40 bushels of wheat, 60 bushels of corn, a cow to milk and a piece of ground for his family's garden. He was allowed to pick all the fruit and potatoes growing on the farm that he and his five children could eat. Mary Jane raised chickens for the farm in exchange for half the eggs and half the butchered chickens.

Mary Jane was a petite 4'10" and could stand under her husband's outstretched arm. The Rutledges were as small as the Pilants were tall. When she was a child Alsie remembered an uncle of Mary Jane's coming to visit. His foot was small enough to fit into her mother's size four shoe. (Some of Mary Jane's Rutledge uncles would have been Thomas K., Samuel Crawford, Robert J., and Richard Kine.)

My grandmother took after the Pilant side of the family. In a letter to her Unkel Georgie (George Marion Pilant) written in 1911, four years after the family had moved to Colorado, her younger sister, Winnie, expressed her impression of Alsie's growth pattern; "Elsie is like a baby elephant. weighs about 121-lb and only 14 yr. old Let her get a holt of you and you well see. she is not like she was when she was back there." On December 30, 1911 Alsie told her Aunt Lou in a letter that she was "five and half feet tall. Taller than Ma," which obviously wasn't that hard to achieve.

As an adult she reached 5'8", an unusual height for a woman of her generation. She had four daughters and three granddaughters, none of whom were as tall as she. When she became a grandmother, her mother, Mary Jane, was called Little Grandma by all her great and great-great grandchildren. Each generation seems to bring a couple of very petite women to our family, whom we say are throw backs to Little Grandma, or throw backs to the Rutledges.

My grandmother only attended school two more years, after leaving Rogersville at the age of ten. Her formal education ended after sixth grade. All her life she was an avid reader and had multiple hobbies. After the age of 70, she oversaw and helped construct her own fishing cabin. She always kept abreast of current events and at her death at the age of 80 still looked forward weekly to the arrival of what she called her magazine (U.S. News and World Report) at the local post office.

In 1982, I visited Rogersville for the first time. Only the second descendant of the John Pilants' ever to return to the families long time home. I was astonished at the clarity with which my grandmother had described the area. At the Library, I asked for directions to the town of Eidson, which she had always pronounced "it son." I thought that was a cute country way for her to pronounce the name which obviously to me was "Ed son." I was quickly instructed by librarian Opal Alvis, "We say it son." And again I was reminded of the remarkably, capable woman, who grew to adulthood far away but harbored a love for Hawkins County, and the gift she had given me.

Related Stories:

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond,
m/2 Susannah Carr.

Colorado Bound, John Wesley and Mary Jane (Rutledge) Pilant Family Leaves Hawkins County.

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Submitted by:

Martha Williams LaCasse
3242 La Avenida de San Marcos
Santa Fe, NM 82505

Colorado Bound John Wesley and Mary Jane (RUTLEDGE) PILANT Family Leaves Hawkins County

Augustus Rose Gumaer owned two ranches east of Florence, in Fremont County, Colorado at the turn of the century. In 1906, he advertised in various parts of the country for hands to run these ranches, guaranteeing a loan for the price of their transportation to Colorado.

Near Rogersville, in Hawkins County, Tennessee, Jim Potts, Frank Hawkins, Seth Gibson and Wes Pilant read one of Gumaer's advertisements and discussed his offer. It seemed to be an opportunity too good to ignore. Florence was booming! There was ranching, mining and oil in the area. Gumaer himself was a financier involved in the oil and cattle industries. He owned excellent racing stock and vast tracts of land in other counties of Southern Colorado.

Jim Potts, Frank Hawkins, Seth Gibson, and Seth's bachelor brother, Bill, contacted Gumaer and made arrangements to work for him on the ranch near Florence. Gumaer paid for the transportation of the three families to Florence, in mid-1906, in exchange for work on the ranches.

John Wesley (Wes) Pilant and his wife, Mary Jane Rutledge, were good friends of the Potts, Gibsons and Hawkins. At the time their friends accepted Gumaer's offer, John Pilant was working on the George Hale farm in Hawkins County. He worked long hard hours on the farm, but the farm provided all his family's needs. There were five children. The youngest, Mary Thelma, was not yet two years old. Mary Jane was expecting another child late in the Fall. She hadn't been well. All things considered, John Pilant did not think it wise to move his family to Colorado, at the time his friends left.

Frank Hawkins' father operated a mill just up the road from the Hale place. All of the Pilant's grain was milled by the elder Hawkins. In the Fall of 1906, at the mill, John heard encouraging news of his friends in Colorado, and had second thoughts about Gumaer's offer. It seemed like a good opportunity for a young man, with a family. As the damp Appalachian winter approached, Mary Jane continued to be plagued by a nagging debilitating cough, and ten year old Alsie seemed susceptible to illness in the damp weather. The weather in Colorado was dry, and some said good for these types of health problems. He decided to contact A.R. Gumaer himself, and see what he would offer.

On November 11, Mary Jane gave birth to a son, in their home on the George Hale farm. The new baby was named George Wesley Pilant. Wes had completed arrangements with Gumaer late in 1906. The family's transportation would be provided and there would be a house waiting for them. By the morning of January 7th, 1907 Mary Jane and the seven week old George were ready to travel.

It was still dark, when they arrived at the station in Rogersville. Wes Pilant and his fifteen and thirteen year old sons, James Winfrey (Win) and Rutledge Phipps (Chuck) saw that the family trunk was aboard the train. Pa supervised as Alsie and Winnie Lou, six, helped Mary Thelma up the cold hard steps of the coach. Mary Jane followed carrying her infant son. As the train pulled out of Rogersville at 7 AM and crossed Hawkins County, glowing in the first rays of the morning sun, most of the Pilants looked their last on the countryside that had been the home of their family for 100 years. Only Win and Chuck ever returned.

Mary Jane fed her family at noon from a large wicker clothes basket she had packed with food for the journey. They ate cold meals from the basket for four days as they passed out of the Appalachian Mountains, across the forested lowlands, grassy plains and onto the dry prairies of eastern Colorado. The evening of Thursday, January 10, 1907 the Pilants stepped down from the train at Pueblo Union Station to board another train for the last part of their journey to Florence.

The Pilants stayed with their old friends from Hawkins County, the Jim Potts family, for a few days. The Potts family had a home on Gumaer's ranch and Mrs. Potts cooked for the ranch hands to help pay off their debt to Gumaer for the family's transportation. The house that Gumaer had promised the Pilants was not yet finished and a small apartment was prepared for them, at one end of the ranch's bunk house. The family lived in the apartment through the spring and summer of 1907.

Chuck and Win, joined Pa Pilant in working off the families transportation debt to Gumaer. In the Fall of 1907 the house Gumaer had promised the Pilants was ready. They lived in the dwelling for about a year. Late in 1908, the Pilants had cleared their debt with Gumaer and left the ranch. They moved to a house on Front Street in Florence. Wes began working for the Coal Creek Coal Mining company, as had Jim Potts after clearing his debt with Gumaer. John brought his heritage of farm life to the mine by taking the job of handling the mules that hauled the ore from the mines. He was both a muleskinner for the mine and the payroll guard. Each day he walked the three miles to Coal Creek, spent ten hours in the mine and walked home again. On January 20, 1909, Mary Jane gave birth to their last child, Ada Leona, in the house on Front Street.

Front Street was just west of Main Street. As in some other Colorado mining towns, saloons were only permitted on the west side of Main Street in Florence, so that women and children, using the east side of the street, could walk down Main Street without passing the doorways of the saloons. One Saturday just at dark the Pilant's old friend, Jim Potts, rushed through the back door of their Front Street house, exclaiming that he was in "terrible big trouble." He explained that he had just cut a man's throat in a dispute over a card game in one of the saloons on Main Street. That evening he borrowed money from John Pilant and started at a snappy pace for Coal Creek. The next morning he had his family at the station early with what belongings they could carry and they all boarded the first train back to Tennessee.

Six years later, on March 4, 1915 at the age of 18, Alsie Pilant married William Johnson McDonald in Coal Creek. "Mickey", as he was known, was 33. He had a faded scar, on the side of his neck, about two inches long. He told Alsie, that in his younger wilder days a Tennessean had cut him with a knife, during a lively card game in a saloon in Florence.

Related Stories:

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond, m/2 Susannah Carr.

My Grandmother (Alsie Pilant) Talked to Me.

The Rutledge Family and Hickory Cove Baptist Church.

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Submitted by:

Martha Williams LaCasse
3242 La Avenida de San Marcos
Santa Fe, NM 87505

Etheridge N. and Florence (GREENE) PRICE

My father, Etheridge Nathaniel Price was born 23 Apr 1898 in Eidson, Hawkins Co., Tennessee. He was the son of John Anderson Price (6 November 1869-8 August 1955) and Margaret Elizabeth "Maggie" Heck (7 August 1873-29 March 1919), both also of Hawkins County. They lived in Eidson until about 1904 when they moved to Hamblen County.

Daddy grew up on the farm and attended East Tennessee Normal School and tried his hand at teaching, but that didn't suit him. However, while he was there he did meet my mother Florence Viola Greene who was a teacher and did teach for 8 years before her marriage. During the twenties Daddy heard auto plants in Detroit were hiring and went to Detroit for job hunting. He was the first of many in his family, including his two brothers and many cousins, to go to Detroit to work.

From Detroit Daddy corresponded with my mother and somehow persuaded her to come to Detroit and they married there 24 July 1927. They were to live in the north 18 years and in almost that many homes, and the last few years were near Tecumseh, Michigan. In 1945 we moved yet again, the time to Tennessee. The last of five children was born when we had to make an unexpected stop in Richmond, Kentucky.

We lived in Mooresburg for awhile until housing was available in Oak Ridge and moved into a two-bedroom flattop house that seems small by today's standards, but we were considered lucky because many families lived in trailers at that time. We stayed in Oak Ridge area from 1945 until 1951 when we moved to the Karns Community of Knox County where most of the family still live. After leaving Oak Ridge Daddy was a builder/contractor and he died in Knox County 11 July 1958.

Florence Viola Greene was born 14 December 1901 in Maryville, Kansas, but her family was from Hancock Co., Tennessee originally and lived many years in Hawkins County. Her parents, John Pettibone "Pet" Greene and Mary Cantwell Greene had gone to Kansas when they were first married but returned to East Tennessee when my mother was an infant. Mama died 31 October 1979 in Knoxville of cancer and is buried at Sherwood Memorial Gardens in Blount Co. with Etheridge and son John.

Florence and Etheridge had five children, all born in Detroit except the last, and four of whom are still living. All are graduates of the University of Tennessee except Hallie.

The oldest boy was John Royce Price (25 July 1928 - 1 September 1982) married Evelyn Woody and had two children, John Etheridge and Susan Ruth. He served in both World War II and the Korean War. He graduated in electrical engineering but spent most of his working life as a home builder, realtor and insurance broker.

The oldest girl is Mary Hallie Price (b. 8 April 1936) who married John Kendall and had two children, John Kevin and Kent Patrick. After graduating from Berea College, with a M. Ed. from the University of Maryland, I taught for 23 years on four continents, but now spend most of my time on genealogy, work part time, and live happily with my second husband, Glen Garner, in Dallas, Texas.

The second boy was Larry Vance Price (born 1 January 1941) who married Patricia Mays and has one daughter. All members of Larry's family are graduates of the University of Tennessee. Larry is a mechanical engineer, and his daughter Jill Sabrina is a CPA.

Lester Kay, the last boy, (born 30 June 1942) married Sara Suda, also a graduate of the University of Tennessee. Lester has spent his entire career with the agency now called the Department of Energy (formerly Atomic Energy Commission) and is a nuclear engineer. Their four children, Kenneth Nathan, Michael Wayne, David Whitney and Kara Elaine, are widespread and all in graduate school except the youngest, an undergraduate.

The youngest child, Pattie Lorraine (born 4 June 1945) married Jerry Loveday, a UT graduate in engineering, and has two children, Jeremy Ryan and Jennifer Marie. She is a teacher in Knox County after many years as a community volunteer in both church, PTA and political party work.

Related Story:

George and Susan (Bean) Price

Submitted by:

*Hallie Price Garner
8923 Woodshore Dr.
Dallas, TX 75243*

George and Susan (BEAN) PRICE

My great grandparents, Susan (Bean) and George Price were farmers and lived their entire lives in Hawkins County. George (10 October 1846-17 March 1919) and Susan (12 May 1844-9 September 1918) are both buried in the Brooks Cemetery in Eidson.

George's father was James Davis Price and his mother was Sarah Drinnon, James' first wife. Both George and James Davis Price fought on the Union side in the Civil War. They went into the war on the same day. The family story is told that James Davis Price hid out in the mountains until George was old enough to join and that they then walked together to Knoxville to volunteer. George received a leg injury during the war, but they were fortunate to return together.

George's paternal grandparents were Henry Price Jr. and his first wife Nancy Davis, a descendant of the early Hawkins County settler Hezekiah Davis. His maternal grandparents were William and Ellen (Amyx) Drinnon. Ellen was a descendant of the Henry Wax who served in the Pennsylvania militia during the Revolutionary War.

Susan Bean's parents were John Calvin and Allie (Setser) Bean. They had moved to Hawkins County from Burke County, North Carolina about 1835. John's father was Richard Bean but his wife is unknown. Allie Setser is thought to be the daughter of Jane ? and John Setser, although definite proof of this is lacking. Family story has always been that the Bean children were of partial Indian descent and we believe that Jane, the wife of John Setser is the most likely source for this. The timing of their move to Tennessee coincided with the first Indian removals in North Carolina.

Susan and George were the parents of ten known children. The first child, Mary N. (6 October 1865-December 1865) is buried with her parents. Next was William "Billy" Price (6 August 1868-14 December 1947) who married first Lucy Heck by whom he had 3 children--Ira, Kyle and Della--and then divorced. By his second wife, Effie Sutton, he had 8 children: Herman, Elmer, Elisha, Edgar, Laura, Raymond, Drew and Etheridge. Billy and Effie are buried in the Baker Cemetery in Hancock County and Lucy is buried in the Creeches Chapel Methodist Church Cemetery in Hamblen County.

The third child, John Anderson Price (6 November 1869-8 August 1955), was my grandfather. He married Maggie Heck (7 August 1873-29 March 1919) and had 8 children. The first two children, John Clay and Maggie Mae died as infants. The other children were: Etheridge, Hallie, Ray, Vandilla, Houston and Edna. After Maggie died, my Grampaw Price married Creedie Ballard but they had no children. John and Creedie are both buried at Highland Cemetery but Maggie is buried at the Brooks Cemetery with the two infants, although her name is on the Highland marker.

The oldest girl was Roxie Price (2 May 1879-10 April 1952) who married Hugh Blanken (15 March 1879-27 November 1953) whose original name was Blankenbeckler. They are both buried in the Courtenay Cemetery, and they had three children, George, Laura May, and Sue.

The next girl was Nancy Jane "Siss" Price (20 November 1871-11 February 1938) who married James Arthur Davis and had one child, William Harvey Davis. Siss is buried at the Hamblen Cemetery, but Arthur is at his old homeplace near Walker Grove.

Mamie "Minie" Price (18 October 1873-6 December 1935) came next and she married James Nelson Manis. They had three children, Earl, Leslie and Edna Mae, and are buried at the Manis Cemetery.

Charley Chester Price (4 September 1876-28 May 1945) married Noonie Kyle and went west to Oklahoma and then

New Mexico. Their eight children were: Eldridge, Houston, Neva, Beatrice, Jewel, Keith, Charlie Kyle, and Mae Lona.

Stokely "Stoke" Price (12 September 1877-18 March 1959) married first Mattie Rogers and then Allie Clevenger. By Mattie he had John Gaither and Belle. Stoke and Allie are buried at the Highland Cemetery but Mattie is at the Rogers Cemetery.

Laura Price (13 January 1881-6 July 1944) married John Amyx but they had no children, and are both buried at the Hamblen Cemetery.

The youngest child was Houston A. Price (4 November 1883-29 March 1976) who married Lou McMillan. They had four children, Lillie Ruth, Lizzie, Etta and Charlie and are buried at the Highland Cemetery.

Related Stories:

William P. and Emeline (DeBord) Blankenbeckler.

Heck-Woodard-Orrick.

Etheridge N. and Florence (Greene) Price.

Submitted by:

*Hallie Price Garner
(great granddaughter)
8923 Woodshore Dr.
Dallas, TX 75243*

Milum Jackson and Byrd (CARPENTER) PRICE

Milum Jackson Price, son of William Harve and Martha Jane Manis Price, was born 2 April 1901 in Pumpkin Valley, Eidson, in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Later the family moved to Spruce Pine near Mooresburg where he met an married Byrd Ethel Carpenter 23 October 1921. Byrd, second child of Felix Houston and Susie Parker Carpenter, was born 20 December 1902 in Luther, Hancock Co., TN. To this union was born a daughter, Minnie Ruth, born 3 May 1923, who lived only three days. Then they moved to Gaffney, SC where Jackson's parents had moved to work in the cotton mill. While there, Jackson worked in the mill and Byrd cooked in a boarding house where they lived.

After a short time living in Gaffney, they returned to Hawkins Co. and had a son, Gerald Glen, born 3 February 1925, and died 17 February the same year. The promise of a good job took them to Normal, IL where their next child, Ruby Mae, was born 22 September 1927. After losing two babies in infancy, Byrd sometimes anxiously awoke Ruby from sleep to be sure she was alive.

Homesickness brought Jackson and Byrd back to Tennessee. Then another daughter, Opal Bernice, was added to the family 23 June 1930. Soon afterward a nephew, Virgil Kyle Winstead, son of Byrd's sister, Hazel, came to live with them after the death of his father, Charles Winstead.

Jackson was a tenant farmer and lived in Hawkins Co. at Mooresburg, then Big Creek, Mt. Carmel, and McCloud before buying his own farm at St. Clair. There the last child, M. J. was born 21 January 1942. The family was active in community life with Jackson serving as president of the St. Clair Community Club. The family attended Mt. Zion Baptist Church where Jackson was a deacon and often taught a Bible class. Byrd taught the ladies Sunday school class, and the children regularly attended all the services. During their time there Ruby and Opal joined the church and were baptized. Jackson liked to sing gospel songs and often sang in a quartet at singing conventions and funerals. When Opal was small, he often had her sing with him on various occasions. As she grew up, she studied piano and played hymns and gospel songs at church.

Virgil remained with the family unit until after his mother remarried and then at age 14 went to Knoxville to live with her. Ruby graduated from Bulls Gap High School in 1944. Opal attended Bulls Gap two years, Whitesburg High one year, and graduated from Rogersville High in 1946. Both girls attended Carson-Newman College, but Ruby dropped out to go to nursing school. Instead, on 1 April 1948 she married Isaac (Jack) Altom who had returned from serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II. To this union was born three girls: Bridgette Gail, born 18 January 1949, married Keith Hatfield 24 October 1969; Brenda Faye, born 16 April 1950, married Coy E. Feagins 28 December 1969; and Benita Carol, born 4 September 1951, married Larry D. Ferrell 15 June 1968.

Ruby returned to school to study nursing and received her LPN in 1966. She worked for several years at Hawkins County Memorial Hospital, and after she and Jack were divorced, moved to Knoxville where she worked at Baptist Hospital until her retirement in 1989.

Opal graduated from Carson-Newman College in 1950. She taught at Clinch High School and then married Haynes W. Alvis, son of Oscar and Clara Webb Alvis on 1 June 1951.

In 1952, Jackson sold the farm at St. Clair and moved to Cocke County where M. J. graduated from high school. He met and married Joyce Lee Moore, daughter of Albert and Lona Lumpkin Moore on 25 August 1952 in White Pine, TN. They settled in White Pine where they had two sons: Richard Jackson (Ricky), born 6 October 1965, and Robert Lee (Robby), born 19 August 1970. M. J. was a building contractor by trade. Later he served as Commissioner of Jefferson Co. and worked as supervisor of transportation of the Jefferson Co. school system. He presently is semi-retired. After rearing her sons, Joyce works as a secretary and bookkeeper.

In 1959 Jackson and Byrd moved to Jefferson City, TN where they became active in church and community life. Both were teachers at Emmanuel Baptist Church where Jackson sang in the choir and Byrd was active in the Women's Missionary Society. In later years Jackson ministered to patients at Life Care Nursing Home by teaching and singing on Sunday mornings until his death on 3 July 1987. He is buried at Jefferson Memorial Gardens in Jefferson City. Byrd resides in Jefferson City where she was joined by daughter, Ruby, in 1987.

Related Stories:

Haynes W. & Opal (Price) Alvis.

Joseph H. Alvis.

Oscar Ronda "Happy" & Clara W. Alvis.

Felix Houston Carpenter.

William Harve and Martha Jane (Manis) Price.

Submitted by:

Ruby Price

Samuel Porter and Sallie Mae (SHANKS) PRICE

Sallie Mae Shanks (b. April 9, 1889-d. August 15, 1973), daughter of Oliver M. Shanks and Mary Emeline Payne, was married to Samuel Porter Price (b. September 20, 1884-d. December 24, 1961). The following children were born to this union: Harvey Miller (b. October 17, 1909-d. November 5, 1926), Clarence Chester (b. April 5, 1912-d. December 28, 1969), Eldridge Hale (b. April 13, 1920-d. August 28, 1991), and Mary Ada (b. August 28, 1922).

Chester was married to Ruth Dale Russell (b. July 26, 1909), who now lives in Florida with her daughter Louise. They had the following children: Sarah Katherine (b. September 13, 1932), Margaret Jean (b. February 8, 1934), Martha Louise (b. March 29, 1935), Clarence Russell (b. May 4, 1937), and Barbara Ann (b. March 31, 1939).

Katherine married Vernon Reuben Giles (b. April 11, 1934), on June 30, 1953, Blount County. Their children are Theresa Irene (b. January 27, 1954) and Pamela Ruth (b. February 19, 1957).

Jean was first married to Jacky Alburn Burchfield (b. October 26, 1933), and divorced September 25, 1961, and second to Thomas William Greene (b. April 1, 1943). The children of Margaret Jean and Jacky Alburn Burchfield are: Dennis Ray (b. July 25, 1953), Denise Kay (b. October 4, 1956), and Donna Gail (b. January 29, 1960).

Louise was married to Dwain Wilbert Duggan (b. May 4, 1936). Their children are Deborah Lynnette (b. September 24, 1956), and Kimberly Louise (b. December 21, 1960).

Clarence was married to Joyce Romelia (Mickey) Romines (b. April 6, 1940) on November 15, 1958, in Rockford, Blount County. They had one son, James Clarence, born December 12, 1961, in Werzburg, Germany, while his father was in service. James Clarence was married on August 17, 1984, in Maryville, to Michelle G. Hall-Hill (b. August 26, 1964), of Joliet, Illinois. She had a son, David Noah Hill (b. March 22, 1984), in Maryville. James Clarence and Michelle had two sons, Cody James (b. October 6, 1987), and Michael Jared (b. May 21, 1990), both born in Maryville.

Barbara was married to Edward Harold Green (b. June 24, 1938) on April 8, 1959. Their children are: Tammie Ann (b. January 20, 1960), Dianna Lee (b. July 25, 1961), and Rosemary (b. January 29, 1963).

Eldridge Hale Price was married to Minnie Edith Williams (b. April 5, 1920), daughter of James (Jim) and Mollie Lucretia Harrell Williams, on September 20, 1941. Their children are: Beverly Ann (b. November 24, 1951), Myrna Jean (b. August 17, 1955), and Charles Eldridge (b. June 10, 1959). Eldridge was Comptroller of the Johnson City Medical Center in Johnson City, but was retired. He passed away at St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville and is buried in the Highland Cemetery.

Beverly was married to Barney E. Taylor on November 29, 1971, in Johnson City, Tennessee. They live in Trenton, Ohio. Both are teachers at Miami University. There are no children.

Myrna is married to Edward Dean Davis of Carter County, on December 17, 1977. Their children are: Rachel Elizabeth (b. December 4, 1984), and Richard Edward (b. August 2, 1989). They live in Clayton, North Carolina, where he is a computer programmer, and she is a housewife and mother and a volunteer worker.

Charles is married to Deborah Lemke. They moved from Boulder, Colorado to Long Island, New York, where they now reside. He is a nuclear physicist, and she works in a bank. There are no children.

Mary Ada was married to Walter Douglas Ward (b. November 25, 1917-d. November 14, 1967), son of Andy and Gusta Slater Ward, on December 3, 1946. They had one daughter, Mary Douglas (b. September 14, 1947). She was married to Mack Earl Lipe in November of 1968.

Mary Douglas Ward was married to Michael Steven Sizemore (b. October 27, 1941), son of T. H. and Cleo Sizemore, on July 25, 1963. There were two sons born to this union: Steven Douglas (b. July 8, 1964) and Mark Thomas (b. January 5, 1968), who married Sandra Gail Hensley on May 23, 1992 at Howes Chapel Church. Sandra Gail is the daughter of Sam and Shirley Hensley.

Related Story:

Oliver Miller and Mary Emeline (Payne) Shanks

Submitted by:

*Minnie Williams Price
1701 Lakeview Drive
Johnson City, TN 37601*

Theophilus and Nancy (WEBB) PRICE

THEOPHILUS PRICE, born 12 June 1836 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, the son of Isaac and Martha Ann Webb Price, died 15 March 1907, and was buried on his farm on Clouds Creek Road in Hawkins County, where he had farmed all his life. He married Nancy Webb ca. 1860. Nancy was born 27 May 1840 and died 11 January 1907, and is buried with her husband. Nancy was the daughter of John and Susan Hicks Webb. "Theo" and Nancy were the parents of eight children.

John G. Price, born 1860 in Hawkins Co., died in 1895, married Denila Overbay in Tazwell, TN.

Martha E. Price, born 1862 in Hawkins Co., died in 1917, married John Everhart 20 December 1881 in Hawkins Co.

Sallie Price, born on December 25, 1862 in Hawkins Co., died on 17 September 1942, married George Carpenter on 15 December 1882 by John Altom, J.P. in Hawkins Co. George was born 25 December 1860, and died 16 November 1924. Both are buried in the Carpenter Cemetery, Mooresburg, TN.

Elijah David Price, born ca. 1867 in Hawkins Co., died in 1933. He married (1) Maggie Livesay in Barren Co., KY, and (2) Ova Lee Hollingsworth in Doyle, TN.

Eliza Ann Price, born 14 September 1870 in Hawkins Co., died 23 June 1954, married Albert Webb on 8 April 1894. Albert, the son of Elijah Webb and his second wife Mary Brooks, was born on 8 December 1866, and died 10 October 1938. Both are buried in Highland Cemetery, Rogersville, TN. Elijah was the son of Theodoric Webb and Catherine Mattox.

Mollie Price, born 1872 in Hawkins Co., married Tom Jefferson Price, born 23 September 1872, son of James Deaderick and Narcissa Cobb Price. They moved to Clairborne, Texas.

William Anderson "Ance" Price, born 15 January 1877 in Hawkins Co., died 26 May 1951, married Nora Price on 16 March 1901 in Hawkins Co. Nora was born on 25 August 1877, and died 16 January 1944. Both are buried in the Choptack Cemetery, Rogersville, TN.

Dora Price, born 23 May 1879 in Hawkins Co., died in 1938, married Bob Boyd. Bob was born 3 January 1880, and died in 1934. Both are buried in the Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Rogersville.

Related stories:

Albert Webb.

Theodoric Webb.

Submitted by:

*Haynes W. Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

William Harve and Martha Jane (MANIS) PRICE

William Harve Price, born 21 May 1871 in Eidson, Hawkins Co., TN, was the third child of William James and Sarah Jane Forrester Taylor Price. He married Martha Jane Manis, daughter of Malin A. and Sarah Elizabeth Hilton Manis on 24 December 1891. Harve, a slightly built, soft-spoken man of few words, was a farmer, carpenter, and stone mason and built many of the chimneys still standing in the Clinch Valley area where he and Martha lived.

Martha, a short, plump, energetic woman, devoted her time and energy to gardening, keeping her home and caring for their thirteen children: Mary Paralee, born 18 November 1892, married Richard Lype, died 5 January 1947; Stella J., born on 16 November 1894, died 12 October 1897; Lonley Effie, born 13 April 1897, died on 20 December 1897; Sarah Elizabeth, born 12 November 1898, married Robert Sam Mallory 12 April 1914, died 28 September 1966; Milum Jackson, born on 2 April 1901, married Byrd Ethel Carpenter on 23 October 1921, died on 3 July 1987; Amos Anderson, born on 9 March 1904, married Flora Seals on 23 February 1924, died 30 July 1991; Susan

Viola, born 23 July 1906, married Ralph Russell on 19 September 1926, died 15 October 1987; Dinah Mae, born 3 May 1908, died 1 January 1978; Guy P., born 1 May 1911, married Eunella Miller on 30 September 1928, died 1933; Elmer Basil, born 27 January 1913, married (1) Mary Lou Williams on 25 August 1934, and (2) Inez Baldwin, in 1964, died 19 September 1989; Jimmie Thomas, born 20 May 1915, married Nettie Ringley on 9 January 1937, died on 26 June 1989; Albert Miller, born on 2 July 1917, married Ethel Mae Grider on 13 August 1938, died 29 June 1985; and Vangie Pauline, born 19 October 1920, married Elmer Lee Brummitt on 26 November 1938.

The family lived at various places in Hawkins Co. - Pumpkin Valley, Shady Grove, Cave Springs, Spruce Pine, and Poor Valley. In later years, Harve and Martha lived with their son, Miller, and his family, at St. Clair where Martha died 14 September 1944. Miller's family moved to Russellville in Hamblen County, taking Harve with them where he died 20 October 1953. Both are buried in Long's Cemetery at St. Clair.

The Price family had a tradition of coming home for a family gathering on the Sunday nearest Harve and Martha's mutual birthday in May. The house was filled with children and grandchildren where they enjoyed visiting and feasting on the delicious food prepared by each family. Especially prized were Martha's stack cakes and other delicacies made by daughters and daughters-in-law who are renowned as good cooks. In the afternoon, the family gathered for worship where they would sing, pray, and listen to one or more preachers invited for the occasion. This tradition continued until after the death of Harve. Then in the late 1970's it was begun again with a gathering of children, grandchildren, and other relatives and friends at a local park on the second Sunday in June. Though Harve, Martha, and most of their children are no longer with us, their memory is indelibly etched on the hearts of the grandchildren who loved them.

Related Stories:

Felix Houston Carpenter.

Milum Jackson and Byrd (Carpenter) Price.

William James Price.

Submitted by:

*Opal Price Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

William James PRICE

According to his Civil War records, William James Price was born on 15 December 1813 in Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. On 22 July 1864, he enlisted in the Union Forces in Company C, 11th Tennessee Cavalry at Cumberland Gap, TN. Later he transferred to Company I, 9th Tennessee Cavalry under Major George Steadman into Western Virginia which resulted in the capture and destruction of the Confederate Salt Works at Saltville on December 19. The brigade returned to Knoxville on 29 December after a march of 461 miles. As a result of this march, William James, nicknamed "Major" had frostbitten feet which left him partially disabled with rheumatism and for which he received a pension during his later years.

He states in his record that he had enlisted in the Tennessee Militia at Tazewell, TN in 1847 for service in the Mexican War and was discharged at Memphis in 1848. He applied for a pension in 1887, and he was denied because he could not produce his discharge. He stated in a letter dated 1894 that Confederate soldiers took his discharge during the Civil War. No Mexican War record had been found though he listed names of other soldiers in his company.

James married Sarah Jane Taylor, a widow with four children, at St. Clair (Hawkins Co.) on 11 June 1865. She was the daughter of John and Atha McCoy Forrester and was born 17 June 1847 in Taylorsville (now Mountain City) in Johnson County, TN. She married John R. Taylor on 4 February 1853 in Carter County and to them were born four children: Harrison H., born 7 August 1854, died before 1900 in Hawkins Co.; Amanda J., born on 3 November 1857, married (1) Robert Henry Carter (2) Ernest Fain, died 7 July 1942 in Hawkins Co.; Sion, born 30 January 1859, married Rosannah Carter, died 10 December 1935 in Gem County, Idaho; and Diannah, born 7 March 1861, married Bill Lawson, died 8 May 1936 in Hawkins County. John R. Taylor died in Nashville, TN on 15 March 1864 while serving in the 13th Regiment Tennessee Volunteers. He is buried in the Nashville National Cemetery.

To the marriage of William James and Sarah Jane were born six children: Henry T., born 1 April 1867, married (1) Sarah J. Albright, (2) Sarah Jones, (3) Docia Anderson, and (4) Victoria Gilliam, died 26 January 1954; Mary A. "Moll", born 9 July 1869, married Lewis Ford, died 1954; William Harve, born 21 May 1871, married Martha Jane Manis, died 20 October 1853; Sarah A. "Did", born 11 January 1873, married Pete Helton, died 1954; John A., born 9 July 1875, married Delphia Hurd, died 1 June 1954; and James Hamilton, born 8 May 1877, married America Hurd, died 15 May 1925.

William James is described as being 5 ft. 7 in. tall with light hair, blue eyes and fair complexion. He was a farmer and lived most of his life in Hawkins County, first at Whitesburg, and later at Eidson, after being discharged from the service.

The census records of 1900 and 1910 show him living in Hancock County, TN. He died 3 April 1913 lacking just eight months being one hundred years old. His widow, Sarah Jane, made her home with a grandson, Will Price, until her death on 22 December 1919. Both she and William James are buried in Sizemore Cemetery in Pumpkin Valley at Eidson, TN.

Related Stories:

Milum Jackson and Byrd (Carpenter) Price.

William James Price.

Submitted by:

*Opal Price Alvis
136 Stewart Hills Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

REED/READE/REID

My Reed Family are of Scotch/Irish ancestry and I believe are descended from those who settled first in America in Chester and Lancaster Counties of Pennsylvania. They moved down through Virginia into old Rowan County, North Carolina by mid-eighteenth century and thus into Southwest Virginia perhaps, and for sure into East Tennessee.

The earliest Reed I can prove to is Enoch B. Reed/Reade, born circa 1812 probably Hawkins Co., TN who married first in Hawkins Co. to Mary/"Polly" Brooks 3 January, 1832. Their first four children were born in Hawkins Co., - James Reed, who married 1st Mary in Kansas Territory apparently before 1860 and 2nd to Lucinda (David) Abbott 15 January, 1863 in Barton County, Missouri. They remained in Barton County.

The next child was my Great Grandfather, Charles "Littleton" Reed, born 7 February 1833 or 1834 and married 1st probably in Kansas Territory Elizabeth Bledsoe. They had Mary/"Molly"/"Polly" Reed who married William Scott about 1875 probably in Arkansas. There were also twin sons: Thomas and A ? who died young. Elizabeth died probably 1865 and Littleton married 2nd to my Great Grandmother, Malinda (David) Whelchel (widow of Plez Whelchel) in Barton County, Missouri 14 January 1866.

The 3rd child was Elizabeth, born circa 1835/36--no other information on her.

The 4th child was Sarah, born circa 1837/38 and married a Bryan.

Enoch's and Polly's 5th child was Jesse, born circa 1842 in Missouri. Polly died before July, 1844 in Cass County or Jackson County, Missouri as Enoch B. Reed married 2nd to Margaret "Peggy" (?) Gwin in Jackson County, Missouri at that time.

Enoch B. and Margaret had Issue: Thomas, Enoch, Jr., G. W., and Margaret. Enoch B. Reed, Sr. died of a 9-day illness in July, 1860 in Kansas Territory.

Littleton and Malinda Reed had Issue: 1. Eleanor Jane/"Janie" Reed born, November, 1866, married John Wesley Vandagriff (my grandparents); 2. William "Riley" Reed born 1868, married Bertha Rogers; 3. Hester/"Hessie" Reed born 1870; 4. Sarah Frances/"Fanny" Reed born about 1873, married Will Smallwood; 5. Susanah Reed born 7 September, 1876, married Samuel Hooe; 6. Elnora Reed born 15 April, 1879, married Lon Loux; 7. "Jesse" Thomas Reed born 11 June, 1881, married Lavada Brown; and 8. Charles "Littleton" Reed, Jr. born 9 October 1883, married 1st Bess Brown (sister of Lavade) and 2nd Bess Holland. Hester Ann married the brother of my Grandad John Vandagriff--James Wilburn/"Will" Scott who was also a younger half-brother to William Scott who married Molly Reed. My Great Grandmother, Malinda E. (Duckworth?) Vandagriff, married as 3rd husband--John Scott.

My Grandparents had 12 children as follows: 1. John Wiley Vandagriff, born September, 1883, married Mary Viola/"Ola" Price; 2. Monroe "Lee" Vandagriff, born August, 1885 and died about 1897/8; 3. Charles Richard "Dick" Vandagriff born 1887, married Nina Gelwick; 4. Alfred Littleton Vandagriff born January, 1890, married 1st Lena Jones and 2nd Verna Knight; 5. Myrtle Malinda Vandagriff born April, 1892, married Martin Luther "Bud" Medley; 6. James "Loyd" Vandagriff born August, 1894, married Grace Huddleston; 7. Elliot "Bryan" Vandagriff born June, 1897; 8. Percy Wesley Vandagriff born May 1899/1900, married 1st Mabel Clingenpeel and 2nd Mrs. Lorene (Blackburn); 9. Ellen Viola "May" Vandagriff, married on 9 September, 1918 in Lincoln County, Oklahoma William "Bill" Elbert Morrow (my parents); 10. Hazel Jewell Vandagriff (twin) born 19 November 1906, married Leonard Lingo; 11. Ernest Jesse Vandagriff (twin) born 19 November 1906, who married Susie (Woods) Hogue; and 12. Cecil Edward Vandagriff born January, 1910, married Mrs. Peg (Coplin) .

My parents were born in present Oklahoma--Mom November 14, 1902 and Dad May 8, 1895 and made their home in Tulsa and nearby Osage County, Oklahoma from 1921. They had 11 children born to them and raised 2 others from infancy, plus caring for many Foster children and some grandchildren. Their 13 children were: 1. Fern Beatrice Medley/Morrow married 1st Fred Rhode and 2nd Norman Letsinger; 2. Lois Louise Morrow married Bernard E. Tipton (of a Tennessee family); 3. Marjorie May Morrow married Robert Anderson; 4. William Keith Morrow married Margie Clark; 5. Robert Ernest Morrow married 1st "Nan" West and 2nd D. Sue House; 6. Derrell Ray Morrow married 1st Billie Oaks and 2nd Beverly "Jean" (Winterringer) Dresser; 7. Dale Brian Morrow married Norma Tinkle; 8. James Loyd Morrow married Shigeno/"Jeannie" Nanjo; 9. Richard Garfield Morrow married 1st Betty George and 2nd Phyllis Jones; 10. Stacy "Dean" Morrow married Georgia "Vivian" (Ex) Catron; 11. Gerald/"Jerry" Wayne Morrow married Alice L. Barrett; 12. Tharell Ann Morrow (author of this history); and 13. Sally Lynne Morrow married Edward Jamison.

Our Reed line were in Arkansas from about 1868 to 1896--and to Oklahoma, from whence some moved to California, Colorado, and New Mexico. We Morrows remain in Oklahoma.

Related Story:

Littleton Brooks, Sr.

Submitted by:

*Tharell Ann Morrow
122 North Louisville
Tulsa, OK 74115*

Aaron RICHARDS

Aaron Richards was born in 1814 in Tennessee and married Phoebe Hundley, who was born in 1816 in Tennessee, on December 22, 1841 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Aaron's parents are unknown; however Phoebe's parents were Jordan Hundley, born 1770-1780 in Virginia and Elizabeth , born 1780-1790 in Virginia. Aaron and Phoebe had the following children: Joshua, Priscella, Nancy born 1831, Newton born 1840, Emanuel born 1842, Jasper born 1844, Joseph born 1847, John born 1849, and Jordan.

Jordan Richards, born in May of 1851 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, married Mary E. (Mollie) Spears. Mollie was the daughter of Kindrick A. Spears and Elizabeth Hicks. Kindrick and Elizabeth Spears were married circa 1845 and had eight children. Kindrick was the son of Lazarus Spears, born 29 September 1786 in North Carolina and died 24 March 1849 in Hawkins County, and Nancy Hayes, born 1792 and died 27 August 1826. Nancy Hayes Spears was the daughter of Christopher Haynes, who was a Major in the militia, and Justice of the Peace.

Jordan and Mollie Spears had the following children: Lillie E. born 1879, David D. born April 1881, William H. born November 1882, Walter T. born May 1884, Idelia F. born on 9 October 1885, John E. born in October 1888, Amias born in May 1890, Idell F. born in August 1893, Hobert Wilson born 14 November 1896, and Robert D. born May 1899.

Hobert Wilson Richards was born in Persia, Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married Eva Lou Carter, daughter of Delaney

E. Carter and Martha Ann Dowell Carter on 23 August 1924 in Hiltons, Virginia. Hobert Richards was a member of Calvary Baptist Church and the Zollicoffer Masonic Lodge in Bluff City. He died in Bristol, Tennessee on 1 April 1970. Hobert and Eva had two children, Delaney Carter and Elizabeth Ann.

Delaney Carter Richards was married (1) Joyce Belinda Morrison, born on 10 June 1926 and died 12 July 1983. They had two sons: Richard Wayne Richards born 6 April 1949 and died on 1 August 1990; and Douglas Ivan Richards, born 15 December 1950 and married to Patty Roach. Doug and Patty have two sons: Jacob Douglas and Jared Carter. Delaney Carter Richards married (2) to Dorothy B. Mills in 1985.

Elizabeth Ann Richards married Walter Joe Wall, Jr. of Morristown, Tennessee and had one daughter, Robin Hope Wall, who married Gary Almony Bagnall.

Related Story:

Guilford Wall

References:

Census Records.

Marriage Certificates.

Death Certificates.

Submitted by:

Robin Wall Bagnall
522 Lee Street
Bristol, VA 24201

Theophilus RICHARDS Family

Theophilus Richards was born ca. 1808 in Tennessee. He married Eliza Lawson on 27 January, 1834 in Hawkins Co. TN. Eliza was born ca. 1814 in TN. Eliza died between 1870 & 1880; Theophilus between 1880 & 1890.

To this union was born 9 children: Eldridge, Jasper, James, Alexander, Jacob M., Joseph, Daniel C., Nancy Elizabeth, and Sarah F.

Eldridge Richards, son of Theophilus & Eliza, was born ca. 1835, Hawkins Co. TN, and on 11 Aug 1856 married Sarah C. Grantham in Hawkins Co. TN. Sarah was born ca. 1837 in TN.

To this union was born 8 children: Harvey S. 1858, Julia A. 1860, William S. 18 April 1862, Clinton 1865, Huffan 1868, Bolivar T. 1870, Lilly B. 1873, and Huge Eldridge 1876, all born in Hawkins Co. TN.

The Richards family lived near Surgoinville & Watterson until around the late 1880's, at which time Eldridge and Sarah Richards and their family moved to Texas Co. Missouri, around Upton.

Eldridge died ca. 1901 and is buried in Liberty Cemetery, Upton, Texas Co. MO. Sarah died in 1917 and is buried at Liberty Cemetery also.

The Richards were farmers, both in Tennessee and Missouri.

Eldridge & Sarah's son William S. was my great-grandfather. William married Cordelia Dellray Cantrell (Hart) 11 December 1886 in Turley, Texas Co. MO. William died on 1 March 1933 at Upton MO and is buried in Liberty Cemetery. Cordelia was born 4 March 1864 in Maries Co. MO to Julina "Cox" Cantrell. When Cordelia (Della, as she was known) was just a baby her father passed away, and her mother married Lovic Hart from TN. Cordelia died 20 March 1952, and is buried at Liberty Cemetery.

To William & Cordelia were born seven children: Dora Ethel born 16 August 1887, Wade H. 1889, William Frank 1892, Mary Kate 1895, Earl R. 1897, Newton 1899, and Martha Velma 1903.

Dora Ethel was my grandmother. She married Benjamin Henry Link 5 June 1904 in Turley, Texas Co. MO. She died 24 July 1915, and is buried in Liberty Cemetery.

Submitted by:

Ethel C. "Link" Mundy
Rte. 6, Box 221-B
Clinton, AR 72031

RICHARDSON

The Richardson name of the Clinch Valley line is a relatively young name when compared with the early history of Hawkins County. The genealogy becomes more complex as it is traced to Grayson County, Virginia and Ashe County, North Carolina. The Richardsons now residing at Mouth of the Wilson, Virginia are positive evidence of inherited traits passed on to these people in Hawkins County, such as the ethic of work, independence, rugged individualism, and self-reliance. The effects of isolation, poor transportation, and a lack of economic mobility only helped to strengthen the qualities of community cohesiveness, kin, networks of aid and help, and a host of virtues simply tagged as "rural".

John Granville Richardson of Virginia (1848-1933) was the son of John Richardson and Elizabeth Reedy, son of John Mack Richardson and Margaret Bryant, son of David Richardson and Elizabeth (Betsy) Ross, all early contributors to the growth and development of the states of Virginia and North Carolina.

John Granville Richardson came to Hawkins County from the Virginia area, bringing with him his wife, Mary Jane Debord, and their two sons, Walter Monroe and James Roby Richardson, around 1880. He purchased a small farm of 50 acres in West Pumpkin Valley in the Eidson community. Four daughters later born into the family were Mattie, Minnie, Lou, and Paralee.

Mary Jane Debord Richardson (1847-1941) was the daughter of Reuben Debord of Grayson County, North Carolina. Her father (as to census records) was a school teacher. Her mother was full-blood Cherokee Indian. Mary Jane was a tall, strong, stately woman...very independent and self-reliant.

Walter Monroe lived in the environment of being the oldest son with great responsibilities. From the age of 12 he assisted his mother, Mary Jane, in providing for and helping to raise his siblings in the absence of his father.

Walter Monroe, "Roe" lived and died in the Eidson community at the age of sixty. Even with his early death, he was recognized as one of the stalwarts of the community. He had deep religious convictions. He was a deacon in the Compromise Baptist Church, regular in attendance, even though it meant walking a great distance. There was never a doubt, according to statements of those who knew him, when issues of right and wrong were involved, Roe Richardson would always choose right.

Monroe was married to Magnolia Manis, daughter of Nelson Thurman and Elizabeth Sizemore Manis of the same community. To this union was born, in order of age, a son Newton; daughter, Maude; sons, Kitt, Luther; daughter, Susan; sons, John, Hubert, and Gale, who was killed in the Battle of the Bulge, WWII.

Newton Richardson, the oldest son of Monroe and Magnolia, was born January 17, 1901. He died on March 23, 1973. He grew to an adult in the Eidson community with his parents. Newton, commonly called Newt, married Jessie Johnson, daughter of Absolum (App) and Dora Drinnon Johnson while in high school. He farmed a short time as a tenant or for hired labor. He and his wife Jessie moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, to work for Good-year Tire and Rubber Co. His interest being in farming, he soon returned to the Eidson area and purchased farm land.

Newt and Jessie were parents of children in order of birth: L.B., 1922 (married Betty Blue Hagood); Nadine, 1924 (married Carlisle Nolen); Norma, 1927 (married John C. Rutledge); James H., 1930 (married Jean Pearson); Charles C., 1933-1989 (married Carol Turley); Kyle, 1935 (married Joyce Webster); and Shirley, 1937 (married John P. Graham). All children of Newton and Jessie are responsible citizens, working for their respective Baptist churches and in their communities.

During World War II, Newt sold his farm in Clinch Valley and purchased one of the better farms in Webster Valley, a progressive community of the U.S. Post Office, Persia. He was one of the earlier farmers to modernize his dairy farm with new equipment and took pride in his grassland preparation and silage for high-per-cow production. He was always active in community farm programs. He was a member of the County ASCS committee and a promoter of Farm Bureau.

Newt was appointed and served as Postmaster of the Persia U.S. Postoffice. He was very active in the Persia Baptist Church, serving as a deacon. He always regarded the privilege of voting with high priority. Newt ran successfully in the Republican primary for Hawkins County Trustee in 1950. He was interested and involved as a partner in a successful real estate development in the Strahl community.

Newt and Jessie were good neighbors and had a great many friends. They worked very hard on the farm and in the dairy business, while still maintaining a special dignity, modesty, and class about them. They went to Rogersville at least once a week, Sunday-dressed. Jessie frequently wore a hat with her dress or suit, and always wore gloves.

Jessie was also very active in the Persia Baptist Church. She was a Bible scholar, an excellent teacher. She always sang in the choir and was frequently a member of quartets who sang at special church functions and funerals. Jessie was an accomplished seamstress, tailoring her own clothes, quilting and crocheting for her home, her children, and her 25 grandchildren.

James Thomas Newton and Jessie Johnson Richardson both died in the year 1973, fulfilling 50 good years of married life.

Related Stories:

James Thomas "Jack" Drain.

Hagood Family.

H.V. Hagood.

Sources of information:

Virginia Archives, Richmond, VA.

North Carolina Archives, Raleigh, NC.

Wade Richardson, researcher, Mouth of Wilson, VA.

Richardson Family Bible.

Submitted by:

*L. B. Richardson
609 Douglas Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

John RICHARDSON, Mystery Man From North Carolina

My great grandfather, John (NMN) Richardson, was born May 27, 1819 near Hillsborough, North Carolina. While his life is reasonably documented after his arrival in Tennessee, his family (even the given names of his parents) and early years remain an "unreasonable mystery."

It is not clear when John (1819) arrived in Tennessee. Reportedly, he came to Jonesboro and worked for the firm of John H. Blair. They operated a stage line between Blountville, Knoxville, and Abingdon, Virginia. His obituary states the he soon became manager of the entire system. The first documented record of John (1819) comes from the minutes of the Eagle Masonic Lodge in Hillsboro, North Carolina. In November 1991, I was allowed to search the original minutes of the lodge. I give some quotes and some condensation.

December 5, 1842. "The petition of Mr. John Richardson praying to be initiated an Entered Apprentice (as it was a case of emergency) on motion it was read Balloted for Received and initiated accordingly."

December 10, 1842. "On this date John petitioned to be passed to the degree of Fellow Craft and this passed. The lodge of Fellow Craft adjourned and a lodge of Master Masons was opened and John presented a petition to be raised to Master Mason. This was balloted and passed."

John did not attend any meetings until April 10, 1843.

April 10, 1843. "The craft was called from refreshment to Labour in Master Degree. Bro John Richardson then stated that he was going to Western Country and he wished to get a certificate showing he was an honourable and Regular member of this lodge which on motion was unanimously granted to him."

Is there any doubt who provided the refreshments. John attended only two meetings in five days and became a Master Mason. The minutes reflect that meetings were held on a monthly basis. A meeting was held on April 7, 1843, just three days before John asked for his dement. A cousin has this original. Considering that John would have had to memorize certain catechism between degrees, his progression was unusual. John must have been closely associated with other Masons. He apparently had considerable influence over this lodge in order to get seemingly special meetings called. There were no other Richardsons in the lodge and none of the members names gave me an apparent connection. I have all the data recorded.

On July 14, 1846, John (1819) married Elizabeth Susannah Ellis (1824-1899).

Elizabeth's father was John E. Ellis II (1772-1844). Mr. Ellis was a Mason and operated a stage stop-over and tavern on the Old Stage Road near where the Church Hill Elementary School is presently located. John (1819) drove a stage-coach and on one occasion when he was carrying a large sum of money he put up at the Ellis Tavern. He was obliged to occupy the same room with a party of strangers so he gave the money to his future bride for safe-keeping.

A conveyance dated July 10, 1846 states, "John Richardson of Washington County." He purchased two lots with improvements in Russellville. Another conveyance dated November 29, 1847 "John Richardson of Jefferson County." Here he purchased land from Guy, inherited from his father John E. Ellis II. The 1850 Census lists John, Elizabeth, and son, Henry, in Jefferson County. A conveyance dated June 16, 1851 sells the Russellville property. This was made by "John Richardson of Hawkins County." The 1860 Census of Hawkins County, sixth district shows, John 41, Bettie 36, Henry E. 11, Guy H. 8, Milburn 3, Robert R. 1, Nancy 5, Joanna Horton 54. Joanna was John Ellis' oldest child. She inherited the Ellis home place. She appears in the Richardson household until her death in 1883. She was married to Robert Horton, but I know nothing of Robert. Incidentally, Elizabeth and Joanna inherited slaves, but they are not listed in 1860 with the Ricardsons.

My mystery and search is further confused by John E. Ellis II's will. The will is dated June 6, 1840. Mr. Ellis had eight children and considerable property, so the will is involved. It leaves in trust of two sons "for use and benefit of my daughter Nancy Fisher one tract of land where John Richardson now lives amounting to one (100) acres" etc. "excluding the land in possession of Richardson." The will has a codicil dated February 27, 1844 that again mentions "the Richardson place." The 1830 and 1840 Hawkins County census has a John Richardson with a large family living close to John E. Ellis II.

John and Elizabeth had four children to survive to adulthood. Four sons died as infants. Henry Ellis (1849-1923) married Rhoda Tarter, Guy Hale (1853-1911) married Rhoda's sister Catherine Tarter, Nancy Jane (1856-1937) married Augustus E. Roadman, John Wesley (1863-1951) married Virginia A. Charles. Except for Mr. Roadman, all were from Hawkins County and all had children who grew up in and around Hawkins County. Elizabeth Ellis Richardson died in 1899, and John (1819) remained in Church Hill. He had considerable land and gave each of his children a nice farm. John and Elizabeth could read and write. Their children were well educated for the times. Their grandchildren and great grandchildren became prominent citizens of the area, yet there is no record that I or any of my many cousins can locate that gives any clue to John (1819) parentage. Family history states that the Richardsons were related to Patrick Henry and through the post Revolutionary War days, every generation of Richardsons had one son named Henry to maintain the awareness of the relationship with Patrick Henry.

John was probably the oldest Mason in Tennessee when he died in 1909. In 1882, he and Elizabeth gave land to the Clay Lodge in Church Hill to be used as a high school. It was to be known as Church Hill Academy High School and was also to be used for a Masonic meeting hall. The 1900 census shows John (1819) as head of household living in District 6. It shows his father being born in Maryland and his mother in North Carolina. It also shows Elizabeth Pippen age 62 as a member of the household and as John's niece. I find Elizabeth Hart marrying Daniel Pippin July 4, 1865. There are Pippins buried in line with John's plot at Liberty Hill Cemetery. John's will left $500.00 to the "orphants" home in Greenville, Tennessee. He also left $100.00 to maintain the old Ellis Cemetery. I have searched many records but without given names am lost. I will make a generous donation to the Genealogical Society if someone can give me quality documentation of John's parents.

John Richardson's granddaughter Alfa/Alfa married George C. Sells, and they had three children: William who is deceased, George C. Jr. who is living in Johnson City, TN and operated General Shale Brick Company until it was sold a few years ago, and Margaret, who is retired and lives in Florida. Alfa and her daughter Margaret Sells both served as missionaries in China before WWII.

Other members of this Richardson family are Charles Worley, whose parents were Clarence Henry and Ruth Worley Richardson. Clarence was the son of Guy Hale Richardson and Catherine Tarter. All are buried in the Richardson plot at Mt. Carmel.

William Augustus Richardson was a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and the son of Henry Ellis Richardson and Rhoda Tarter. Rhoda and Catherine were sisters. William Augustus was Alpha's brother. Also on that same plot with William A. are buried the ashes of his son William A. (Billy) Jr. There are many stories about these. Billy went to Canada to join the RCAF in WWII and stayed there. He had six children in Ontario, several of whom came to the Richardson family reunion a few years ago.

Guy Hale Richardson was the son of John (1819) Richardson and Elizabeth Ellis. He had two children, Clarence Henry, mentioned above who was the school superintendent of Hawkins Co. for many years. His other child was Elizabeth who married John Powers. Elizabeth's son Dr. John Powers is retired and lives in Kingsport. Augustus E. Roadman married Nancy Jane (Nannie) Richardson, the only daughter of John (1819) and Elizabeth. They had three children. The children have also attended the Richardson reunion.

Related stories:

William Bussell.

The Seventh Son of the Seventh Son (John Wesley Richardson Family).

Submitted by:

*Charles Ray Richardson
3732 Eakley Court
Raleigh, NC 27606*

The Seventh Son of The Seventh Son (John Wesley RICHARDSON Family)

My father, Robert Roadman Richardson, was born September 26, 1897 in Morristown, Tennessee. His parents were John Wesley and Virginia Charles Richardson. Both parents were born in Hawkins County. Robert was the youngest of seven boys and one girl. They were: Charles Ray (1886-1914), James Hale (1888-1947), Henry Edward (1888-1965), John Wesley Jr. (1889-1978), Shields (1891-1968), Sarah Virginia (1893-1960), Joseph Ellis (1896-1981), and Robert Roadman (1897-1979). The family had moved to Morristown from Hawkins County before the birth of Joe. Each summer the boys attend "summer camp" tending the family farm on the Holston River near Honeycutt in Hawkins County. John and Virginia had sixteen male and four female grand children so the male dominance continued but my sister would say, "only in quantity."

John Wesley's father was John Richardson who was born May 27, 1819 near Hillsborough, North Carolina. His mother was Elizabeth Susannah Ellis born June 24, 1824 in Hawkins County (present day Church Hill). John and Elizabeth also had seven sons and one daughter. They were: John H. (1847-1847), Henry Ellis (1849-1923), Guy Hale (1853-1911), Nancy Jane (1856-1926), Milburn V. (1857-1862), William (1858-1858), and John Wesley (1863-1951). The four who died as children are buried at the old Ellis Cemetery just across the old Stage Road from the Church Hill Elementary School. Henry Ellis and Guy Hale married sisters, Rhoda and Catherine Tarter. The Tarter girls came from a family of eleven girls and one boy, so I guess nature has a way of evening gender. Robert received his middle name from his Aunt Nannie Roadman who had two sons and a daughter. One son was Robert Richardson Roadman. Both RRR's were sometimes called "Railroad."

Considering that everything was pretty well "used up" by the time it was handed down to him, Robert probably felt being the seventh son of the seventh son was a considerable disadvantage. At one time all of his brothers worked for Armour & Company. The oldest, Charles Ray was branch manager at Charleston, West Virginia when he died at twenty-eight from complications with appendicitis. At that time he was the youngest branch manager in the company. Robert started in Logan, West Virginia and it was there that he met and married a raven haired beauty, Delilah Chapman. They had two sons born in Logan, Robert Roadman Jr. in 1926, and Charles Ray in 1927. Robert became manager of the Pikeville, Kentucky branch in 1931.

One of the great pleasures of the family was the annual vacation. In the mid to late thirties some of this vacation was spent at Galbraith Springs in Hawkins County. Well do I remember those meals of fried chicken, country ham, biscuits, and fresh vegetables. There were cabins and the main lodge. One time we stayed one night in a cabin but discovered a snake was also a guest, so Mother quickly moved to the main lodge. A few years ago I went back to the Springs, and the Spring area and water flow was just as I remembered.

Robert and Delilah added a "post script" to the family in 1940 when their daughter Virginia Ann was born. This was indeed a blessing as she helped to divert the stress of the War years. Both sons served in World War II. Robert Sr. came under much pressure and stress during the war trying to keep food distributed to the thousands of Eastern Kentucky coal miners. The difficulty was in getting adequate products and their equitable distribution. My father worked seven days a week during the war, not so much for the company because prices were frozen, but it was his contribution to the effort.

Maybe being the seventh son of the seventh son had some advantage after all. He had great respect from his family and the community. His life long hobby was raising chickens for exhibition. For many years he raised exhibition Plymouth Barred Rock chickens and certainly contributed to the refinement of this strain. He often showed at the New York Poultry Show and won many blue ribbons and several Best In Show. He was never in need of a job, never without good food, never without someone who cared for him, and never without fond memories of East Tennessee and Hawkins County. Maybe there is some advantage to being the seventh son of the seventh son.

Related story:

John Richardson, Mystery Man From North Carolina.

Submitted by:

*Charles Ray Richardson
3732 Eakley Court
Raleigh, NC 27606*

L. B. RICHARDSON

L.B. Richardson was born 10 February 1922 in the Eidson community of Hawkins County, Tennessee, to J.T. Newton "Newt" and Jessie M. Johnson Richardson, their first of seven children. L.B.'s grandparents were Absolum "App" and Dora Drinnon Johnson and W. Monroe and Magnolia Manis Richardson. The Johnson, Manis, and Drinnon families had settled in the Eidson area following the Revolutionary War. L.B.'s grandfather, Monroe Richardson, was born in Virginia, the son of John Granville and Mary Jane Debord Richardson. Monroe's father, of English and German descent, was from Grayson County, Virginia, and owned land in Ashe County, North Carolina. Monroe's mother was Mary Jane Debord, a tall and well-educated Virginian of strong Cherokee blood lines.

L.B.'s siblings are: Nadine married Carlisle Nolen; Norma married John C. Rutledge; James married Jean Pearson; Charles married Carol Turley; Kyle married Joyce Webster; and Shirley married John P. Graham.

As a lad, L.B. and his brothers and sisters walked to school at Eidson and faithfully walked to the Beech Grove Baptist Church. L.B. was elected as church clerk at age 14. The summer between his junior and senior years of high school, he helped in the construction of the Lonesome Pine School, where he later taught. He graduated from Clinch High School in 1939.

A good family friend, Mr. Emory A. Cope, who was superintendent of the Hawkins County school system, recognizing L.B.'s abilities and potential, drove him to Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tennessee (Mr. Cope's alma mater), and helped him to get a work scholarship. During the summer of 1939 and 1940, L.B. worked on the farm at LMU ... in the milk parlors, in the fields, and even canning tomatoes for the cafeteria.

During regular session, he carried the required curriculum, studied very hard, worked in the cafeteria daily, and in June 1941, L.B. received his coveted permanent teachers' certificate for the State of Tennessee.

The attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese on December 7, 1941 marked the beginning of World War II and the end of L.B.'s teaching. In January 1942, he took a welding course in Bristol, Tennessee and left from there to Bethlehem Steel shipyards in Baltimore, Maryland. L.B. was a ship building welding foreman when he enlisted in the Navy, leaving from Rogersville in April 1944. His Navy tenure was for twenty-five months. For some twelve months Radarman Richardson helped maneuver his LSM278 ship through the South Pacific. His ship was a part of the initial battle of Okinawa.

Early in 1945 the ship's captain saw leadership potential and drew up the papers for his attendance at the next Officers Training School at the University of Pennsylvania. L.B. was transferred to a States-bound ship. This ship had a breakdown and had to return to Anoewetok for repairs, which took over three weeks.

On arrival at the University of Pennsylvania, L.B. discovered the class was already in session. He was given leave until the next class began.

At home on August 14, L.B. was awakened with the news that the war was over. This cancelled the class. For the next nine months, L.B. was in ship de-commissioning.

While L.B. was away in service, his parents and siblings moved from Eidson to a lovely valley farm in the Webster Valley area of Persia in East Hawkins County. This dairy farm was built into one of the most modernized in the county. The Richardsons worked this farm until Newt and Jessie's retirement in 1970.

The value of work was important to L.B. After WWII, he immediately began employment at the International Playing Card and Label Company. After only a few months there, having a personal ambition to enter his business, L.B. accepted a position as bookkeeper in the Rogersville Motor Company from Sam R. Livesay, local businessman and Chevrolet dealer.

L.B. later became a full partner of this firm and largely through his own effort a farm machinery department called ROMOCO, an acronym from the parent company, was developed, promoted, and grew into one of the most successful enterprises in Hawkins County. L.B., via ROMOCO, has contributed greatly to the modernization of farmers in East Tennessee. When he began his business, farmers were using only mules and horses.

ROMOCO Farm Store became the sole ownership of L.B. and Betty Richardson in 1970, representing John Deere, Massey-Ferguson, Long, New Idea, and other allied or independent lines throughout the years. Lawn and garden equipment, sales and service, was later added to strengthen and progress with the customer's needs.

L.B. would certainly agree that much of his success was due to the love and continual support, encouragement, and labor of his wife, Betty Blue Hagood Richardson. The daughter of Hobart V. and Stella Rose Carter Hagood, a lovely and lively, tall and red-headed beauty queen, a pre-med student of LMU, Betty Blue joined L.B. in marriage on November 20, 1948. Betty had grown up in the Persia community with her family of seven brothers and sisters, and extended family who resided with them during Depression years.

Betty left her education continuation and joined with her husband in the raising of their five children: Charlotte, married George E. Webb, Jr.; Lloyd; Denise, married Arnold Fairchild; Elaine, married Charles G. Jordan; and Suzanne, married Jeff Whiten. Betty has since devoted her time and energies to the support of L.B. and the upbringing of their children and grandchildren.

Real estate development became a side interest to L.B., Betty, and consequently, their children. They spent their off-hours investing in and renovating several buildings in the Rogersville city limits and in operating a sizeable farm near Alum Well.

Being idealists, L.B. and Betty saw value in properties that others failed to see. Being realists, they did all the renovation work that they were capable of doing themselves, hiring out only as necessary. L.B., Betty, children, and grandchildren all joined in the "fun" when a piece of real estate was being developed and renovated, thus producing properties with income and sentimental value: ROMOCO, Richardson Building, Richardson West Main, Fern Valley Farm, Hagood/Richardson Building, and Mountcastle Arms, the latter being listed on the National Historical Register.

Keeping life in proper balance, L.B. led his family to a love of Christ and His Church, a love of education, a love of family values, and a love of community and social interests.

Church attendance was a high priority. L.B. was ordained a deacon in Rogersville First Baptist Church in 1964 and has served continuously since that time, currently as Chairman. Betty and L.B. have both taught Sunday School for many years, and are very active in Discipleship Training. Their children have followed suit, all serving in their local churches. Two of their daughters are in full-time Christian vocations.

Education was emphasized and encouraged in their children and grandchildren. Dinner talk was rarely idle chatter, but informational and intelligent sharing of ideas, philosophies, and local and national news.

Community involvement was important also. L.B. was voted "Strong Man of the Year" by his fellow Rotarians due to his work on the construction of the local Rotary Park. L.B., for a period of time, was also a Kiwanian and both he and Betty were active in 4-H and Boy Scout leadership while their children were at home.

It is important to note from L.B.'s personal journal writings "I have lived with my past. The hardships were real, but I feel they have contributed to my strength of today. If I am to have any influence on my grandchildren, it is necessary to leave no thought of carelessness and unconcern on my part. I am sure our children know where I stand on the issues and principles."

...And we do.

Related Stories:

Hagood Family.

H. V. Hagood.

Richardson.

Submitted by:

*Denise Richardson Fairchild Carlton
Rogersville, TN*

The Capt. George RIDLEY Family

Capt. George Ridley was an early pioneer settler of Sullivan and Hawkins Counties, TN from Virginia. He is said to have derived from Robert Ridley who came from England to Virginia in 1635 but an exact link has not been found. Capt. George Ridley lived in Hawkins County but for a short time, from about 1782 until 1790, before moving on to the Nashville region where he settled permanently and where he was a prominent citizen. While in Hawkins County he lived in a fortified station but was never attacked there by the Indians.

Capt. George Ridley was born in Isle of Wight County, VA in 1737 and may be placed in Amelia County, VA from where he enlisted in the Virginia militia for the fateful expedition of General Edward Braddock against the French and Indians in 1755. Later he lived in Halifax County, VA before moving on to Sullivan County, TN in 1778 during the Revolution. He first settled on Horse Creek south of the Long Island but soon moved down the Holston River into present Hawkins (then Greene) County where he lived in the Solitude Bend region 1782 to 1790, on the Holston River.

In 1790 Capt. George Ridley left Hawkins County and took his family down the Holston River following the path of the Donelson party a decade earlier, into the Tennessee River, up the Ohio and Cumberland Rivers to the Nashville region. The circuitous route avoided the more direct overland passage beset with Indian troubles.

We know relatively little of the Hawkins County period, as most tales of Capt. George Ridley date from his move to Nashville. His family included Beverly Ridley, born 1762, died 1844; George Ridley Jr., 1764-1793; John Ridley, born 1765; William Ridley, 1767-1787, killed in an Indians skirmish; Patsey Ridley, born 1770; Elizabeth Ridley, 1772-1854; Sarah Ridley, 1773-1831, married Major John Buchanan; Lettie Ridley, born 1776; all born in Virginia by his first wife Elizabeth Weatherford Ridley.

From his second marriage to Sarah Vincent in 1777 were born Capt. Vincent Ridley, born 1778; Thomas Ridley, 1780-1854; Moses Ridley, 1782-1864; James Ridley, 1784-1847; Abigail Ridley, born in 1786; Winifred Ridley, born 1789; Samuel Jones Ridley, born in 1791; and Henry Ridley, born 1794, all born in Tennessee.

Many of these children moved on to other regions of Tennessee, but daughter

Elizabeth Ridley had married William Smith of Hawkins County by 1790 and settled on the south bank of the Holston River near Honeycutt Creek and the Smith family. She had adventures riding between Hawkins County and Nashville to see her family there. On one occasion she stopped at an inn overnight and heard a murder occurring in the next room. The next morning she rode off but was shortly approached by a man who wanted to know if she had heard anything odd during the night. She responded in the negative but rode on to the next settlement where she reported the incident. After the early death of William Smith in 1805 she married Robert McMinn, brother of Joseph McMinn to be Governor of Tennessee.

The strong pioneer character of Capt. George Ridley is summed in an obituary at his death at 98 years of age: "What he felt he professed and what he professed he felt. It was his fashion to avoid all circumlocutions and to speak plainly; he flattered no man, feared no man, and courted no man; when he spoke he was believed; when he promised his word was never forfeited."

Related stories:

William Ernest and Bessie Bell (Smith) Dyer.

The Calvin Morgan Smith Family.

Source:

The Ridley Family, a 39 page unpublished manuscript by Leland L. Smith, based on G.R. Ridlon "History of the Ancient Ryedales..." and many other items extensively incorporated into the manuscript.

Submitted by:

*Leland L. Smith
104 Royal Court
Friendswood, TX 77546*

Michael ROARK

MICHAEL (RORK) ROARK was the son of Timothy and Sarah O'Roark was born on 29 September 1745 in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. About 1755, when he was approximately ten years of age, the family moved to Shenandoah County, Virginia and later on into Rockingham County, Virginia. In about 1766 he was married to Letitia Grigsby. This union was blessed with ten children; James, David, Michael Jr., John, Sarah, Susan, Mary, Rebecca, Judith, and Elizabeth.

The Roark family left Rockingham County, Virginia in April 1792 and arrived in Hawkins County, Tennessee in May 1792 (of course it can be assumed they did not travel alone as the Roark, Grigsby, and Breeding families were all inter-married). Michael and Letitia remained in Hawkins County for the remainder of their lives. He died 9 January 1839 and her death came on 26 April 1844.

Michael Roark and four of his brothers, Timothy, Owin, Phillemon, and John all served in the Revolutionary War from the State of Virginia. In his application for a Revolutionary War pension, Michael stated that he had volunteered several times from Rockingham and Shenandoah counties in Virginia, as a Lt. Indian Spy and that he was well known to Generals Washington and Morgan.

After the War his service was required from time to time to bring in law violators. One such case was that of a Jesse Walker who Michael said he tracked for 33 days in Alabama and Kentucky. After his return to Hawkins County, he testified in Circuit Court that he doubted that Walker would ever be taken to surrender.

Through the years since the Roark family arrived in Hawkins County there have been many descendants of the family who have lived in and contributed to the development of the area. But as often happens, the family has scattered and most seem to have settled elsewhere. One of his sons James, after serving in the War of 1812, from Hawkins County came to Missouri Territory with his family and settled near what is now Hermann, Gasconade County, Missouri. Roark Township in the county was named for him. He died 3 July 1855 at Newport, Franklin County, Missouri. An interesting article concerning James Roark was written by the Hon. Gert Goebels and is in Vol. #16, pp. 292-4 Missouri Historical Review. Later on another son, Michael Jr. and his family also went to Missouri Territory, but they did not stay there very long, moving on to Arkansas and finally into Texas, settling in Denton County.

Much of the Roark information that is available today is due to the foresight of one of Michael Roark's grandsons, Mortimer Bingley Roark, who gathered much of the information while it was still available.

Submitted by:

*Maynard R. Dilthey
8223 Villaton Dr.
St. Louis, MO 63123*

John ROBERTS

John ROBERTS was born ca. 1829 in Virginia. His Mexican War Pension records state that he was a Private in Company E. of the 5th Tennessee Volunteers. A family story tells that he served under General Winfield Scott and was cited for bravery at Tehuantepec, the battle that led to the capture of Mexico City. He is described as six-foot, jet black hair and blue eyes.

His pension application states he married Elizabeth SIMPSON (born 23 June 1829) on 19 September 1850 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. They were married by "one McFarland."

I am unable to find John Roberts on the 1850 Census of Hawkins County. However, I am able to find in District 12 William SIMPSON (born 1797), his wife Temperance (born 1796), their daughter Elizabeth, and son Albert L. Simpson (born 1833). The entire Simpson family was born in North Carolina. Elizabeth Simpson Roberts lists on her widow's pension her place of birth as Rockingham County, North Carolina. Elizabeth's brother completed her death certificate, declaring her mother's maiden name was Temperance BESHES.

In about 1853 John Roberts, with his family, and in-laws moved to the Dallas/Shopville Area of PULASKI COUNTY, Kentucky. On the 1860 Census of Pulaski County we have found William and Temperance Simpson.

Living near them are Albert L. Simpson and his wife Nancy STOGSDILL, daughter of Shadrack Stogsdill and Mary PING. Albert was married in Kentucky and fathered 12 Children: George, William, Temperance, Mary, Shadrack, Delilah, Albert, James, Nancy, Surrelda, John, and Matilda.

It should be noted that other Hawkins County families made the move with them.

Also on the 1860 Census is Thomas WHITUS 41, born NC, living with Elizabeth 32 born TN, children Sarah 16, Jesse 14, Martha 11, all born in TN, and children Mary 8, Acy 5, Lucinda 8/12, all born in KY.

Nearby is Josiah RUSSELL 40, born VA, living with Milly 35, born TN, Nancy 13, born TN, Paralee 3, and Fountain F. 8/12, both born in KY.

Also residing in the same district was John WHITUS 43, born TN, Susan 34, born TN, with their children Moman 17, Frances 13, Wesley 11, Amanda 10, all born in TN and Hiram 8, Thomas 5, Rachel 4, and James 1, all born after the family moved to Kentucky.

Family tradition is that Susan the wife of John Whitus and Milly (or Permelia), the wife of Josiah Russell, were sisters of John ROBERTS, although we have not been able to prove these relationships.

John Roberts volunteered 24 July 1861 for service in the Civil War. He served in the Union Army as a Captain in Co. K of the 3rd Regiment of the Kentucky Volunteers. He served at the Field of Shiloh, but returned home on medical leave. He was known throughout the rest of his life as "Captain Roberts." John Roberts died 11 January 1891 and was buried in McAlister Cemetery near Shopville. A marker has been erected to him there to commemorate his service in two wars.

The children of John Roberts and his wife Elizabeth were: Elizabeth born 1852, Milly A. born 1855, William A. born 1856, Rachel N. born 4 July 1857, Temperance A. born 1859, Noah born 3 March 1866, Sarah Kate born 1869, Ellen (Elenora) born 1870, and Edison born 1870.

Submitted by:

*Vanessa Wood
c/o ELCO
P.O. Box 5015
Carson, CA 90749*

William ROBERTSON Family

The early history of the Robertson family of Hawkins/Hamblen County, Tennessee begins with JONATHAN ROBERTSON, who was born on October 7, 1740 and came to the United States when he was six years old. His ship landed at Charleston, South Carolina.

THOMAS ROBERTSON, son of Jonathan Robertson, was born September 3, 1769 in North Carolina. Thomas married Dorcas Ford, born July 15, 1771 in Maryland. They were married July 31, 1792 in North Carolina and moved to Tennessee between 1800 and 1804. They lived in that part of Grainger County which became Hamblen County. Thomas Robertson's parents were Irish-English, and Dorcas Ford's parents were Scottish. Their children were: Mary, John, Elizabeth, Rebecca, all born in North Carolina; Benjamin, William H., Thomas F., George, Henry, Harrison, Nancy, and Dorcas, all born in Tennessee.

It is believed that RICHARD ROBERTSON was a son of JONATHAN ROBERTSON, and a brother of THOMAS ROBERTSON.

RICHARD ROBERTSON was born between 1770 and 1780, and died about 1831. His Will was probated June 21, 1831 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. Richard's wife, Mary, was born in Virginia about 1771, and died between 1850 and 1860. Their children were: James, Richard Tolivar, John, William, Sarah, Jesse, Hezekiah, Matilda, Lamena, Nancy, Dorcas, Jane, Mary, Elizabeth, and Caleb W. Robertson, all of Hawkins County, now Hamblen.

WILLIAM ROBERTSON, (1801-1879), son of Richard and Mary Robertson, and wife, Mary (1808-1880), who is thought to have been a Davis, lived in Hawkins County. They are buried in Dodson Cemetery in Hamblen County, near Russellville. William was a miller and a farmer.

Children of William and Mary Robertson were James D., William, SARAH JANE, Elizabeth, Marian G., Prudence, Adeline, Obediah Boaz, Caroline, Thomas, Catharine, and John D. Robertson, all of Hawkins County. SARAH JANE ROBERTSON, born May 1830, married William L. McCarver in 1831. For more information, see the McCarver family history.

The Robertson Cemetery is a small family cemetery with nine graves. It is located near Dodson Cemetery on Cedar Creek near Russellville. T.V.A. records show this small family plot was on the farm of Charlie Roberson in 1941. When Cherokee Dam was constructed, the graves of William and Margaret McCarver were re-interred by T.V.A. in 1941 from the McCarver farm to the Robertson Cemetery, where there were seven existing graves. According to their records, there were no Robertson or Robeson graves relocated. The Robertson Cemetery is not listed in "The Cemeteries of Hamblen County" at the Morristown library. It is possible this farm was owned by Richard and Mary Robertson, and that two of the seven unknown graves could be theirs.

The spelling of the name Robertson depended on the person recording the early information on the census records, the Bible, and other records. Some records use Robeson and some Robinson, and the T.V.A. record used Roberson. The family Bible of Nancy Jane McCarver Miller spelled her grandfather's name Robeson.

Related story:

William Lafayette McCarver Family

Sources:

Family research paper.

Census records.

Bible.

Cemetery records and tombstones.

Letters.

T.V.A. records.

Stories handed down from parents and grandparents.

Submitted by:

Mary Miller (Talley) Ayers
(Great granddaughter of Sarah Jane Robertson and William L. McCarver)
3604 Shady Road
Bybee, TN 37713

James Woods and Margaret (McKINNEY) ROGAN

In 1859 over the nom de Plum "Analectes," Col. James W. Rogan wrote for Robert D. Powell's STATE SENTINEL, a series on the early history of Hawkins County, Tn. These articles were preserved in a little leather-bound notebook by his son, A.B. Rogan. Excerpts follow:

"The eldest born of Daniel and Catherine Rogan and native of Virginia received the name of JAMES, who married SARAH NETHERLAND at Kingsport, Sept. 25, 1822. When he died at Talladega, Ala., he lacked three months of celebrating his eighty-eighth birthday. The oldest child of this marriage was JAMES WOODS ROGAN, historian, merchant, and public-spirited citizen, who was born in Kingsport, Tn. December 15, 1823. He died at Sweetwater, Tn. in the home of his daughter, Fanny, Mrs. J. Lynn Bachman, December 30, 1891 and lies buried in the McKinney Cemetery of Rogersville, Tn. His early years in Alabama belonged essentially to the pioneer period of that state. From her borders had not yet disappeared the Creek and Cherokee nations of Indians. Young Rogan's association with them gave him a knowledge of the Indian speech at times used to good advantage."

"After the forced migration of the Indians west of the Mississippi River, northeast Alabama received a valuable element of population from East Tennessee. Often when children were to be educated, they were sent to the region whence their parents had come. If one will examine the extant catalogues of East Tennessee colleges, or universities, as it came to be in 1839, he will be struck by the numbers of students registered before the Civil War from Alabama as though that state had not flourishing institutions in operation. A catalogue of the University (of Tenn.) for 1840 shows that James Woods Rogan was registered that year in the freshman class from Alabama. One of the 1844 catalogues is proof of the fact that he was a member of the senior class. One of the 1852 catalogues gives his name as a member of the class of 1844."

"After graduation in his native Tennessee, Mr. (James W.) Rogan took up his abode. For a time he taught school but the duties of the school master were not congenial. His son, Robert McKinney Rogan, told me that fortunate in his marriage, November 4, 1846 with Margaret, daughter of Judge John A. McKinney, the distinguished lawyer, upright man and progressive citizen. From Coleraine, Ireland, by way of Philadelphia, Pa. where his legal career began, Judge McKinney found himself an adopted Tennessean.

The circuit he rode as a young lawyer and in the neighborhood of Greeneville, was the female college over which Charles Coffin presided. During court it was the habit of Dr. Coffin to entertain visiting lawyers in his home. Doubtless on one of these occasions young McKinney met Elizabeth Ayer of Alna, Maine who was visiting her sister, wife of Dr. Coffin. Later, about 1809 they were married and Judge McKinney built a beautiful mansion house of brick and ornamental decorates with grounds laid out in the good taste of the finest mansions of Europe. Here he entertained with quality that illustrated the virtues of this beauty to the citizens."

"The happy beginning of James W. Rogan from Alabama found for himself a Tennessean whose life was one continuous satisfaction of noble service. Soon after James W. Rogan's marriage, he connected himself with the Presbyterian Church under the ministry of the Rev. Samuel Sawyer. In the Civil War his service was given to the Confederacy. In the most responsible positions and under the most trying circumstances, he proved himself always a patriotic and a Christian gentleman. Not the least of the services rendered to the state and community in which he lived are the faithful sketches he penned in illustration of their life and institutions."

James and Margaret (McKinney) Rogan lived their entire lives in Rogersville, Hawkins Co., Tennessee. They are both buried in the McKinney Family Cemetery there. Their seven children were all born and raised in Rogersville and many descendants of their family reside in Tennessee today. All of their children married except two: John A.M. Rogan died when he was only nineteen years of age, and their last daughter, Sally Woods Rogan, lived less than six months.

Related Stories:

Hon. John Augustine McKinney.

Hon. John and Susan Coffin (McKinney) Netherland.

Source:

Ancestry and Descendants of Richard Netherland, Esquire, 1764-1832., by Muriel Clark Spoden, 1979.

Submitted by:

*Carl Netherland Brown
500 East Main St.
Rogersville, TN 37857*

ROGERS/RODGERS Family History

ROBERT ROGERS was born ca. 1690 in Virginia and made his livelihood as a lawyer. Robert along with his wife Susanna and children Robert, Lucy, William, Elizabeth, Caroline, Ann, David and Susanna lived in York, New Kent and Goochland counties in Virginia. Robert died in 1740 in Goochland County, Virginia.

WILLIAM ROGERS was born ca. 1715 in Virginia. William made entry for land on Snow Creek, a tributary of Pigg River in 1741, being among the first families to settle the Blue Ridge Mountain frontier area. William, with wife Secia and sons David, George William Jr., and Clement lived in Brunswick County, Virginia. William died in 1758 in Bedford County, Virginia.

DAVID ROGERS was born ca. 1735 and married Mary Christian in 1762. David served as an officer in the Revolutionary War including duties at Flower Gap, and also served under George Rogers Clark in the capture of Vincennes. David, wife and three sons lived in Henry County, Virginia in 1779. David's date and place of death is unknown at this time.

GEORGE ROGERS, son of David, was born ca. 1769 and moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee in 1792 being among the early settlers. George, wife Matilda (Brown) and children George Jr., David, Robert, and Manila lived near Rogersville in the Copper Ridge and Lee Valley areas. George served as Magistrate for his District from 1822 to 1836. George died in 1853.

ROBERT ROGERS was born in 1801 and he lived with his wife, Katherine Starnes Rogers, and children Mariah, William, John, Pleasant, Absolom, Mary, and Robert Jr. near Rogersville, Tennessee with land holdings in the Copper Ridge and Lee Valley areas. Robert served as Magistrate for his District from 1836 to 1843. Robert died in 1858.

JOHN DAVID ROGERS was born in 1829 near Rogersville, Tennessee, and moved to Lawrence County, Indiana in 1850 with others from Hawkins County, Tennessee. John married Elizabeth Stipp and had children John Oscar and Mariah Katherine. Following the death of Elizabeth, John married Emily Woody. John, Emily and children Robert, William, David Edward and Charlotte lived in the Leatherwood area and raised prize horses. John served in the Union Army from 1861 to 1865. He was shot in the back following a card game in Bedford, Indiana on December 24, 1867 and died the following day.

DAVID EDWARD ROGERS, son of John, was born in 1865 and married Grace Whitted. David and his wife lived in the Vinegar Hill area of Lawrence County, Indiana with children Maude, Hazel, Lottie, Mary, Edwina and Grace. David raised prize horses and farmed. He also served as Lawrence County Highway Superintendent and died in 1944.

CHARLOTTIE ROGERS, daughter of John Rogers was born in 1868 in Lawrence County, Indiana and married Joseph Conley. They with their children Robert, William, Katherine, and Francis Luther (Pat) homesteaded in Missouri, Nebraska, and Oklahoma, later returning to Bedford, Indiana. Joseph was a building contractor and served in the Spanish American War.

GRACE RODGERS, daughter of David Edward Rodgers, was born in 1907 and married first to Roy McCain with son Marion Edward born to this marriage. In 1934 Grace married her first cousin, Francis Luther (Pat) Conley. Pat was the son of Charlotte Rogers and Joseph Conley. They lived on Tunnelton Road in Lawrence County, Indiana with daughters, Patsy, Peggy, Hattie, Hallie, and Connie. Pat was a stone and brick mason and built many of the buildings around, including Shawswick School where his children, grandchildren, and now great grandchildren attend school.

PATSY was born in 1935 and married Robert H. Sons.

PEGGY was born in 1937 and married Donald G. Ritchison. Their children are Rick, Douglas, Timothy, Tina, and Lynette.

HATTIE was born in 1938 and married Joe D. Armstrong. Their children are David and Stephanie.

HALLIE was born in 1941 and married Orville Coulter. Their children are Kimberly, Tamara, and Melissa.

CONNIE was born in 1943 and married Charles Beasley. Their children are Bryan, Thea, and Rhea.

The five daughters of Francis Luther (Pat) Conley and Grace Rodgers have travelled to Tennessee, Virginia, Nebraska, and Oklahoma researching their ancestors and share an interest in their heritage.

This genealogy is presented in honor of generations past and preserved for generations to come.

Submitted by:

*Hattie Conley Armstrong
R. R. #18 Box 10
Bedford, IN 47421*

James Leftwich ROGERS, Jr.

Our family history shares a tradition of hard work and education and deep involvement in the roots of Hawkins County and surrounding area. We are going to share some of our own personal Hawkins County history with you.

Our father, James Leftwich Rogers, Jr. was born in Mooresburg to James Leftwich (Lef) and Ada Ruth Williams Rogers. He has a sister, Rebecca Rogers Santen, and a brother, Thomas Amis Rogers. Dad graduated from Rogersville High School, served in the U.S. Navy during World War II, and ran Rogers Brothers Construction, a successful road construction business for 41 years. He is now retired.

Our mother, Ruth King Rogers, was born in Pennington Gap, Virginia to Vance Sutton King and Ethel Virginia Armstrong King. She had a sister Margaret King Beverley, brothers Vance and Edward King, and has one living brother Bayard Armstrong King. Mother graduated from Queens College in Charlotte, NC, worked in Oak Ridge during the war, and afterwards taught school for 23 years. She is retired.

Our maternal great grandmother Grace Logan Campbell Armstrong Williams was born in 1876 to a Pennsylvania family who had moved to Caney Creek in Hawkins County, Tennessee. During the Civil War her family was divided and fought on both sides. She always told us their house was the first white washed house in the community.

She married John Armstrong who was associated with the Rogersville Livery Stable until his death from tuberculosis at an early age. He left a young daughter Ethel (our maternal grandmother) and his young widow Grace.

Grace and Ethel lived in the Brownlow Apartments in Rogersville after his death and Grace supported them, working as a seamstress and doing alterations for Rod Armstrong Company. Grace's sister Mamie Goldie managed the millinery in Rod Armstrong's as well. My mother always said that Aunt Mamie delighted in taking a "guest" down to the City Drug on Main Street for a Coca Cola.

Grace and Ethel lived in Rogersville until Grace married Hugh Bayard Williams of Mooresburg. Ethel went to school at Martha Washington College in Abingdon, Virginia. She said her stepfather once brought her home from school with the chicken pox, in a buggy wrapped with a hot brick at her feet. Ethel met Vance Sutton King whom she married. They moved to Pennington Gap, Virginia after he finished at Emory and Henry College. He later graduated in law from the University of Virginia where they survived the early years of "student housing."

You will see how our parents' families connect as we continue.

Our paternal great grandmother was Rebecca Caroline Moore Williams (Mammy) of Mooresburg. She was born in 1846 in Mooresburg. She was widowed at an early age and had to raise five young children by herself. She took in boarders at her house and also managed Mooresburg Springs Hotel through the early 20th century. As many as 100 guests from all over the country would congregate there in the summer to enjoy Mammy's good food, to drink the iron water, and to enjoy the restful atmosphere.

Hugh, Caroline's son, married Grace and the connection between our maternal and paternal families was thus formed. Our mother's grandmother married our father's uncle.

Our paternal grandmother Ada Ruth Williams Rogers was born in Mooresburg in 1883. She and her sisters Maggie and Mary attended Rogersville Synodical College.

The Williams house is still in our family, owned by Priscilla Rogers, great granddaughter of Rebecca Caroline.

Our paternal grandfather James Leftwich Rogers, Sr. was born in Mooresburg in 1872. He is the direct descendant of Joseph and Mary Amis Rogers who founded Rogersville. He attended the University of Tennessee and graduated from Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in Maryland. He had a brother, Thomas Amis, and three sisters, Minerva, Matilda, and Mary.

According to family history, all the children were offered the choice of an education or family property. Grandad and Uncle Tom chose an education instead of inheriting property. Later Granddaddy bought the "homeplace" and built a new house for his bride there. He also purchased parts of the farm from his sisters. Uncle Tom married Sue Galbraith and lived on the Galbraith property which is still owned by our cousin Susan Galbraith Shelton. Our father still lives in the house that his father built on the site of the old Rogers homestead.

Our father has also found another way to make use of his family heritage. He established Short Mountain Silica in 1987. This is a thriving business which is located on part of the family farm and employs a number of Hawkins County residents.

Parents: James Leftwich Rogers, Jr., born August 10, 1918, and Ruth King Rogers, born December 27, 1923.

Children: Priscilla Anne Rogers, Melissa Logan Rogers Jessie, and James Leftwich Rogers, III.

Grandchildren: Rachel Alison Jessie, and Matthew Logan Jessie.

Related Story:

Thomas Amis

Submitted by:

Melissa R. Jessie
719 Outer Dr.
Rogersville, TN 37857

and

Priscilla Rogers
P.O. Box 3130
Frankfort, KY 40603

Jesse ROGERS

Jesse Rogers, my great grandfather, was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee. His father was Thomas Rogers #2, born ca. 1780 in Hawkins Co. Thomas Rogers #2 was the son of Thomas Rogers #1 who was born ca. 1740 in Virginia. He was living in the Cumberland Gap area as early as 1765 when he was driven off by the Indians. He settled in the Kyles Ford area in Hawkins Co. and was listed as a resident as early as 1790 with Joseph Rogers and many others. Thomas #1 made his Will in 1811 and registered it in Book 1, pages 414 and 415. In his Will he named his sons Dauswell and Thomas #2, and daughters Martha, Betty, Susanna, and Moley.

In the Hawkins Co. Tax List for 1812, Thomas and Dauswell were each listed with 75 acres. Then in the 1840 Hawkins Co. Census, Thomas and Jesse were living next door to each other.

Jesse Rogers, son of Thomas #2, was born in 1801 in Hawkins Co. and died 1866/70 in Scott County, Virginia. He married Lucinda Rice who was probably the daughter of John M.C. (McClellan) Rice who was in the home of Orville Rice in the 1850 Hawkins Co. Census. If not a daughter, at least related. Lucinda was born in 1801 in North Carolina.

They had six sons: Thomas Rogers, born ca. 1819 in Hawkins Co., married Nancy Louisa Lewis; Erastus Rogers, born ca. 1821 in Hawkins Co., married 1st Sarah Amos, 2nd Charlotte Miller, and 3rd Eliza Brooks; Edmond Rogers, born ca. 1825 in Hawkins Co., married Elizabeth Tarry; Calaway Rogers, born ca. 1830 in Hawkins Co., married Winney Anderson on 6 December 1853; Arthur Rogers, born 19 August 1831 in Scott County, Virginia, on 11 January 1855 (probably in Hancock Co., TN where the records have repeatedly burned, family records are the only ones that have been found) married Alcy Lawson, born 6 October 1837, the daughter of Dyer Lawson and Jane England of Lee Co., VA; and Patton M.C. (McClellan) Rogers, born in 1836 in Scott Co., VA, married 1st Malinda Tyree, and 2nd Mahala Bledsoe.

Great grandfather Jesse was a very patriotic Union man. His strong sentiments caused him to be interned in a Confederate prison during the latter part of the Civil War. His strong sentiments had great influence on his sons. Three of them were killed because of their Union loyalty. Thomas went out one night to doctor a neighbor's cow and didn't come home. They found him the next day dead on the road. Edmond was bushwhacked and killed near the end of the War. Patton M.C. became a Sgt. in the Union Cavalry and was home on sick leave and sitting in his cabin door taking the sun when he was shot from the corn field.

My grandfather, Arthur Rogers, the fifth child of Jesse and Lucinda, served with the 1st Tennessee Cavalry, Co. G. He went with Sherman to Atlanta as a wagoner and lived to return home to his family who was living with Alcy's father Dyer Lawson in Lee Co., VA. Feelings between the Union and Confederate neighbors were very bitter. Killings were frequent and most of them were bushwhacking murders. Both North and South participated.

In February 1879, Reverend Arthur Rogers and family joined his brother Caliway and wife Winney Anderson in Taney Co., Missouri. Arthur bought 80 acres from Caliway and later sold 40 acres. From this acreage and his small country minister's fees, he earned a living until he was granted a small pension.

Jefferson Rogers, son of Erastus, served with the Confederate Army, and he, too, was killed. So the family was divided and torn asunder.

Arthur and Alcy had the following children: Caliway Rogers, born on 11 November 1855 in Lee Co. VA, died on 30 September 1860 in Lee Co.; Enoch Rogers, born 7 April 1858, and died on 9 April 1858 in Lee Co.; William Harrison Rogers, born 11 January 1860 died 1891 in Taney Co., MO, married Mary Bledsoe in VA; Ira Rogers, born on 8 August 1862 in Lee Co., died 2 October 1862 in Lee Co.; Emily Jane Rogers, born on 25 April 1866 in Lee Co., died 16 December 1881 in Taney Co., MO, buried in family cemetery; Lillie Frances Rogers, born 20 June 1868 in Lee Co., VA, died 1952 in Kansas, married William Roller; Mahala Ann Rogers, born 6 October 1870 in Lee Co.,

VA, died 2 June 1957 in Taney Co., MO, married J.L. David; Henry Logan Rogers, born 25 March 1873 in Lee Co., VA, died 12 October 1916 in Boynton, Oklahoma; Mary Elizabeth Rogers, born 17 April 1875 in Lee Co., VA, died 1 December 1921 in OK, married 1st Martin Ingram, and 2nd J.B. Hammons; Lew Vesta Rogers, born 23 September 1877 Lee Co., VA, died 19 January 1968 in Taney Co., MO, married Bill Grady; Sara Adelaide Rogers, born and died 22 August 1879 in Taney Co., MO, buried in family cemetery in Beaver township, Taney Co., MO.

Henry Logan Rogers, the eighth child of Arthur and Alcy, was born 25 March 1873, and died 12 October 1916 in Boynton, OK. He married Martha Ann Adams, born 20 July 1883 in Taney Co. MO. She was the daughter of J.A. Adams and Sarah Jane Adams.

They had six children: Bethany, born in 1900 in Taney Co., died on 19 July 1919 in OK; Bethel, born 23 July 1904 in Taney Co., died in 1981 in OK; Omah Ellen, born 1907 in Taney Co., died 1908 in OK; Velma Ann, born 23 September in Pottawatomie Co., OK; Dorothy Winona, born 1 October 1914 in Pottawatomie Co.; and Leland, born January 1917 in Lincoln Co., OK.

In 1907 Henry Logan Rogers and various relatives made up a wagon train and moved to Oklahoma. They left Taneyville on the 2nd of September and arrived in Lincoln Co., OK on the 19th of September. They were headed for Snyder, OK, but the cotton gin operator came out and asked them to help harvest his cotton crops. This they did and liked the people and the area and decided to settle there. They rented farms and eventually bought farms. Many of their descendants are still in the Lincoln Co. and Pottawatomie Co. area. The majority of their descendants made farmers, but there are also preachers, teachers, mechanics, electricians, carpenters, and many military men in their descendants.

On 24 September 1930 I married William Ray Tower in Lincoln Co., OK. He was born 29 March 1910 in Lincoln Co. OK to Reuben Theadore Tower and Pearl Heudonia McElvany. Ray's parents had bought a farm that had a log cabin with a lean-to kitchen just big enough for a cook stove. There he was born. The cabin didn't have a ceiling, and the dirt would drift in and settle on the bed and table.

My parents went back to Missouri in the fall of 1909. Jobs were so scarce they almost starved. They came back to Oklahoma in time to help with the fall harvest. Papa's sister Mary Elizabeth had a large smokehouse that had a floor in it. My parents moved into that until they could rent a farm. There in that smokehouse I was born with a country doctor in attendance. We always felt like real pioneers.

My husband Ray died on 30 October 1992.

Submitted by:

*Velma Ann Rogers Tower
107 West Paul
Elmore City, OK 73035*

Elizabeth (CHARLES) ROSS

Mennonite Hans GRAF (ca 1675 Switzerland - 1746 Earl Township, Lancaster Co. PA) emigrated to Pennsylvania from Alsace, France about 1700. By 1717 he had taken up land in an unsettled area (now West Earl Twp.) and had become an Indian trader and freighter carrying skins from the Susquehanna to Philadelphia. He had 10 children.

Peter GROFF (ca 1704-1764) was the oldest son of the second marriage. His father gave him 200 acres which included the spring Hans found while chasing his horses. Groffdale Mennonite Church in West Earl, Lancaster Co., faces Peter's old stone house. Peter and Barbara Graff's children included John GROVE.

John GROVE (ca 1730 Earl Twp. PA - 1796 Hawkins Co. TN) married Anna and lived in Donegal Twp on the Susquehanna at Weinegar's Ferry where he had a mill. He married the widow Elizabeth Klepferine ca 1771. By 1787, he and his children and their families were moving to Hawkins Co., TN where he purchased land to settle his children.

1. Daughter born ca 1757? married Mr. KENSINGER. (Original NC Grant in Carters Valley, Hawkins Co. TN).

2. Nancy GROVE (ca. 1758) married John STOKLII and 2nd William MAULS-

BEE. (Hickory Cove, Cove Ridge-Robert COYLE ie KYLE grant).

3. David GROVE (ca 1775) married Mary Jane KEPLER and moved to Perry Co. IN. (Carters Valley sold land to David SENSABAUGH).

4. Jacob GRAFF ca 1761 married Fannie BEIDLER. (Big Creek, Carters Valley).

5. John GROVE, Jr. (1760) married Anna. (Big Creek).

6. Elizabeth GROVE married Jacob HOW. (Hickory Cove, Cove Ridge. Robert COYLE ie Kyle Grant).

Katharine(KLEPFERINE?)Elizabeth GROVE's daughter by a previous marriage, married David SENSABAUGH.

Jacob GRAFF (ca 1761 PA-ca. 1804 Hawkins Co.) married Fannie BEIDLER (1763 York, PA-1843 Maury Co. TN) daughter of Daniel BEIDLER and Barbara LEHMAN.

Fannie's grandfather, Ulrich BEIDLER bought land in Hereford Twp. in 1729. Hereford Mennonite Meeting House was built on his land, but when Ulrich was censured by the church, he sold his land to a Catholic layman and moved to York Co. where he died in 1749. Fannie's other grandparents, Peter LEMON, gunsmith, and the widow Magdalena LICHTY LEMON had a mill on Conestago Creek in the city of Lancaster - later the County Farm. Jacob and Fannie GRAFF had 5 children:

1. Chrisley GROVE (born before 1789 - died before 1837)

2. Susan GROVE (ca 1789 TN-ca 1874 TN) married John CHARLES.

3. Nancy GROVE (ca 179?-) married Peter BURUM

3. Jacob B GROVE (ca 179.-1837) Not married

4. John Beidler GROVE (1797-1853 New Orleans) married Sarah SMISER

Susan GROVE married John CHARLES (ca 1787 VA - 1861 TN) son of James and Tabitha SENTER CHARLES. James and Tabitha CHARLES moved to Hawkins Co. about 1794 from of Patrick Co. VA (formerly Henry). They and some of the children moved to Warren Co. TN around

1812. John CHARLES married Dorcas MILLER, Cynthia CHARLES married John MILLER, Hiram CHARLES married Sally BURUM, and John CHARLES married Susan GROVE and remained in Hawkins Co. John and Susan CHARLES' children were:

1 John Rogers CHARLES (1811-1869) married 1st Mary GILLENWATER, 2nd Elizabeth SNODGRASS, 3rd Margaret O'DELL.

2 Frances CHARLES (c 1815-before 1854) married George WILHELM.

3 Nancy CHARLES (c1818-1858) married Jesse BROWN.

4 Susan CHARLES (c1825-) married Thomas T BARRETT.

5 Sarah CHARLES married John Tivis COX & 2nd Samuel S HENDERSON. (Ed: She married John Cox on 18 June 1848 in Hawkins Co., and Samuel Henderson on 14 June 1866 in Hawkins Co.).

6 Harriet CHARLES (c1825-) married John Smith WOODS.

7 Eliza CHARLES (c1830-) married Bu-rem HARRISON.

8 Elizabeth CHARLES (1833-).

9 Jacob CHARLES (1838-between 1850-1854).

John Rogers CHARLES married 1st Mary GILLENWATER (1817-1844), daughter of Elijah and Rebecca SNODGRASS GILLENWATER. Mary's grandparents were Joel GILLENWATER and Colo William and Mary ELDER SNODGRASS. Their 4 children were:

1 Elizabeth Jane (Lizzie) CHARLES (1838-1907) married Thomas Tuglas ROSS.

2 Martha Ellen (Matt) CHARLES (1840-1916) married John Blair LOONEY.

3 Susan Rebecca (Dutch) CHARLES (1841-1883) married 1st William ANDERSON 2nd Anthony LANE.

4 John Brice CHARLES (1843-1902) married Matilda S. BROWN.

After Polly died, John R. married 2nd Elizabeth SNODGRASS, daughter of David and Elizabeth JOHNSON SNODGRASS and granddaughter of Colo William SNODGRASS.

5 Robert Davis Glenn CHARLES (1846-1895) married Mary Ann LANE.

6 William Lafayette CHARLES (1848-1926) married Susan BARRETT.

Related stories:

The William Nelson Barrett Family.

Joel Gillenwaters.

Howe Family.

Jacob Howe.

John Blair Looney.

Thomas Tuglas Ross.

Sensabaugh.

James Simmons.

Submitted by:

*Vera Ross Boyatt
1305 Big Springs Rd.
Maryville, TN 37801*

Thomas Tuglas ROSS

Mark ROSS was born ca. 1780 in North Carolina. He died before 1870 in the Big Poor Valley area, South Side of Clinch Mountain near Fischer Creek in Hawkins County, Tennessee, and was survived by his wife, Elizabeth (STILL), and at least two sons: Benjamin ROSS and Thomas Tuglas ROSS. There may have been another son, George J. ROSS (circa 1828) and a daughter born circa 1830, but I have no information about them.

The father of Mark ROSS came to America from Scotland by way of Ireland in the company of a brother. They went their separate ways and lost contact with each other. Aunt Mattie did not remember their names.

On 12 October 1822 in Carter County, Tennessee, Mark ROSS and Elizabeth CARENDON applied for a marriage license. The marriage was never recorded. Mark and Elizabeth STILL, the daughter of Lewis STILL and Jincey RUSSELL, married circa 1826. They lived first in North Carolina, moved to Russell County, Virginia before August 1829, and to Hawkins County before 1835.

They raised their family in the Caney Valley area of Hawkins County. Elizabeth's mother, Jincey STILL, and brother, John STILL, were neighbors. There were other relatives, but I have been unable to identify them. Mark bought what they could not grow or make at the Yellow Store - salt, soda, dye for thread, coffee, powder, and shot. He paid his bill with fruit and hides.

Mark and Elizabeth died in the difficult years following the Civil War. He had sold his land to his sons, Ben and Tom, in 1855 so there were no probate records for them.

Benjamin ROSS, born 23 December 1827 in North Carolina, and died 5 January 1887, Fisher Creek, Hawkins Co., Tn., married Eliza Jane Klepper, born 11 November 1825, and died on 8 February 1889, the daughter of Peter Klepper. They had at least 3 children: Margaret, who married and divorced William Hensley, and had no children; Mary Ann, married Andrew Gross, and had 10 children; and Francis Marion who died young.

Thomas Tuglas ROSS, born 7 December 1831, and died 31 December 1899, married on 8 March 1857 to Elizabeth Charles, born 18 December 1838, and died 9 July 1907, the daughter of John Rogers Charles and Mary Gillenwater. A member of the County Court, licensed to practice law, involved with his church and school, Thomas produced almost all the goods used by his family on his Stanley Valley farm with oxen and horses. He sawed planks from his woods to enlarge his house, built a pond for the family's fish, and tanned hides for their 12 children's shoes, while Elizabeth took care of babies, tended the garden and barnyard animals, and did the spinning and the weaving.

They supported the revivals, singing schools and neighborhood happenings. He and D. F. SHANKS, J. C. SPANGLER, J.L. HENSLEY, and W.R. JONES started a subscription school at Okalona in 1891, making the rules and setting the prices. Each pupil must have a song book and Bible or Testament and be strictly obedient. Swearing and the use of Tobacco in the school room were strictly forbidden. The conduct of each pupil must comply strictly with the rules of morality as laid down in the Bible. The charge for Primary students was $1.00, Secondary $1.50, and Higher Department $2.00.

Thomas ROSS was a big man - 6 feet tall and over 200 pounds - but agile. A few days before he died, he was able to jump and click his heels together three times before landing. Elizabeth, a tiny, erect lady, survived him by 6 years. They are buried on a knoll overlooking their Stanley Valley home.

All 12 of their children lived to be adults: America Tennessee ROSS (1858) married John W. JONES, and had 4 children; Martha Ellen ROSS (Mattie) (1860), unmarried; Cornelius M. ROSS (1862), unmarried; John Rogers ROSS (1866), married first Mary DARTER, and had 7 children; Nancy Jane ROSS (1864), unmarried; Thomas Tuglas ROSS, Jr. (1868), married Kate HALL, and had 7 children; Susan Rebecca ROSS (1870), married Albert KETRON, and had 4 children; James H. ROSS (1872), married Miss HETTINGER, and had no children; Charles Bruster ROSS (1874), married Ida S. WILSON, and had 4 children; Benjamin Mark ROSS (1876), married Maude E. BOYER (died 24 January 1972), and had 4 children; Ellis C. ROSS (1879), married Belle BUSSELL, and had 8 children; and Robert S. ROSS (1881), married Lizzie GIBBONS, and had 4 children.

Related story:

Elizabeth (Charles) Ross

Submitted by:

*Vera ROSS Boyatt
1305 Big Springs Road
Maryville, TN 37801*

ROWAN Family

The Rowan surname in England came from the beautiful red berry Rowan tree. I have not found the immigrant ancestor of this family. William Rowan was born before 1768, and he died in 1809, drowning in the Holston River near Webster Valley, Hawkins County. The earliest legal records of William were two bills of sale in Washington County, Virginia, dated 10 June 1789. These documents indicate he was a resident of that county and of legal age, probably 21. William married Elizabeth "Betsy" who died before 1850.

On 12 August 1800, William purchased 640 acres of land for $2000. This land was in Hawkins County on the south side of the Holston River. On 6 May 1806, William and Elizabeth Rowan sold over 100 acres in Washington County for $533.34.

After Betsy's death, their children instigated a lawsuit against their eldest brother's receiving all the land in Hawkins County. This made it possible to locate the daughters' married names and the childrens' locations at that time. Final disposition of this case has not been found.

Their children were: James, married Elizabeth Montgomery; Samuel M., born 1792, married Rebecca Blessing; William Jr.; Francis; Polly Mary, born 1792, married Lewis Lawson; Elizabeth, died 1869 at Persia Tennessee, married Charles King; David married (1) Miss Hord, (2) Rebecca Biggs; and Ann married John Blessing. Elizabeth and David were the two children who remained in Hawkins County.

Elizabeth and her husband, Charles King, born in 1796 in Monroe County, Virginia, died in 1854 in Webster Valley, and was the son of Andrew King and Barbara Bowyer, lived in Webster Valley and prospered. They had one child, a daughter, Mary Lucinda, born 7 April 1822 in Webster Valley, died 22 March 1897, and is buried in the Rowan Cemetery overlooking the Holston River.

Lucinda married a cousin, William A. Rowan, born 1815, died on 3 November 1861 in Webster Valley, the estate was probated 6 January 1862. William was a bridge builder and was building a railroad trestle between Strahl and Rogersville when a stone pillar fell, killing him. He died three months before his twin daughters were born.

Lucinda and William had twelve known children, and all were born in Webster Valley: Jacob, born 1841, died 1889 in Seattle, Washington (Confederate Vet); Sarah Rebecca, born 1844, died before 1889, and married George Bailey; James W., born on 30 November 1845, died 19 January 1926 in Webster Valley, married Rachel Kate Flenner; Mary Magdalene, born 1847; Margaret Lucinda "Maggie", born 15 November 1848, died 25 April 1903 in Webster Valley, married John Virgil Russell; John M., born 23 August 1851, died 11 August 1889 in Webster Valley; Martha Matilda "Tee", born 15 February 1853, died on 25 May 1936, married Clinton Deewitt "Dee" Charles; Charles King, born on 25 July 1855, died 4 February 1895, married Cornelia Shanks, both are buried at Rogersville; Frances Sarah, born 19 January 1857, died 12 January 1927 Webster Valley, married William "Lum" King; Minerva Alice, born 24 February 1862, died 14 April 1885 in Hawkins County, married L. D. "Rangy" Owens; Augusta Eleanor, born 24 February 1862, died 14 July 1918, married Joseph T. McClellan.

Jim, Maggie, Tee, Charles, Frances, and Neva have descendants still living in Hawkins County.

Related story:

John Virgil Russell family

Submitted by:

*Mel & Jean West
655 La Mancha Pl.
Hemet, CA 92543*

John Virgil RUSSELL Family

JOHN VIRGIL RUSSELL, born 29 October 1841, at Tiger Creek, Rabun County, Georgia, died 9 June 1894 in Webster Valley, Hawkins County, Tennessee, and married MARGARET "Maggie" LUCINDA ROWAN, born 15 November 1848 in Webster Valley, died 25 April 1903 in Webster Valley, the daughter of WILLIAM A. and LUCINDA (KING) ROWAN. Both are buried in the Russell Farm Cemetery on Webster Valley Road.

John Virgil was the son of WILLIAM FERN and MARGARET KING (JORDAN) RUSSELL of Rabun County, Georgia, the grandson of ELISHA and NANCY RUSSELL of North Carolina and JOHN O. and MARY (MARTIN) JORDAN of South Carolina.

John was only three years old when his father was killed by lightning. His mother later married Joel Arrendale, and he and sister Sarah were raised with five step-brothers and one stepsister.

At 21 years of age, on 4 March 1862, John Virgil enlisted in Company F, 52nd Regiment, Georgia Volunteer Infantry,

Army of Tennessee (Confederacy). He first saw action at the battle of Cumberland Gap, and then fought in a number of battles throughout Mississippi. John was promoted to Corporal in December, 1862 and then to Sergeant.

By May, 1863 their entire Division under General Stevenson was under siege at Vicksburg, Mississippi. Starvation of the town and troops caused General Stevenson to surrender to General Grant on July 4, 1863. The Federal Army could not provide provisions for so many prisoners and after three days permitted the men to go home if they agreed to sign an agreement not to bear arms against the United States.

Family legend mentions his friendship during the war with the Rowan boys which caused him to settle in Webster Valley rather than return to Georgia. He married one of their sisters.

John Virgil at first worked as a stone mason on the railroad trestle. He traded his long "hog" rifle which he had carried through the war for 124 acres in Webster Valley. He built a home, farmed, raised his family, died, and is buried in that valley. The land is to the top of the ridge, and the part that is too steep to plow is in timber. The main cash crop was tobacco. The farm remained in the family for three generations and was sold in 1974.

John Virgil and Maggie were charter members of the Tunnell Hill Baptist Church in Webster Valley, which was organized on Sunday, 4 January 1884, at a log school house known as Promise Land on Beech Creek near D. C. Tunnell's mill. The church met in the school house until a meetinghouse was built in 1911. The church joined the Holston Valley Baptist Association in 1885, being number thirteen on the roster.

John Virgil died at the age of 53 of a lung disorder. Maggie died at the age of 55 of a stomach illness. Their children were all born in Webster Valley: Mary Frances "Molly", born 13 October 1869, died 24 December 1891, married William Loftig West; James Edward, born on 24 July 1870, died 28 February 1928, married Zora Ann Barron; William Fern, born 9 March 1873, died on 31 July 1950, married Clara Elizabeth Center;

Joseph Rowan, born 29 July 1875, died 15 March 1923, married Frances Mariah Tunnell; Lulu Rivers, born on 17 August 1877, died 2 June 1924, married William Marion Hagood; and John Dedrick, born 5 July 1879, died 16 September 1907, married Pearl Addington Abernathy.

Many descendants of this couple still live in Hawkins County, especially the descendants of Joseph Rowan Russell and Lula Rivers (Rowan) Hagood.

Related story:

Rowan family

Submitted by:

*Mel and Jean West
655 La Mancha Place
Hemet, CA 92543*

The RUTLEDGE Family and Hickory Cove Baptist Church

The Church was an important aspect of rural life in Tennessee during the last century. The microfilmed church record book of the Hickory Cove Church of Hawkins County, Tennessee traces lives of many families from its founding in 1820 through 1940.

Much of my great grandmother's, Mary Jane Rutledge, young life centered around the church. Her grandfather, Emanuel Rutledge had been active in the Hickory Cove Church of Hawkins County since its inception in 1820. Church records show that he acted as moderator for the church several times during his lifetime, for periods that together add up to many years. Her father, Baxter S. Rutledge, and her brother Lilton Rutledge were, according to family history, circuit ministers.

Her father had strict rules and high expectations for his children. As a young woman, she wanted to have the front of her hair styled with bangs, a new fashion. Her father would not allow such a sinful demonstration of vanity and forbade it. Mary Jane and a friend took a straight raiser out behind the barn and fashioned bangs for Mary Jane.

As an adult Mary Jane, had a close interest in her father's work and received the following letter and postscript to the local church, from him, just six weeks before his death. It may survive to this day, because it may have been her last contact with him.

May the 20 x1902

Well mary i am well ate presente and ate worke ate $2.00 per day i will gete som monea son and i will sende you som. well i have preach every nighte sens i gote her. Manie bige crowds and good meeting laste sunda i hade to stande in the grove an preach the hous woden holde the wimen an children thate was thear. well Mary donte righte to me till i righte you agane. tell the children houdea. ciss the baba for me. so this leve me well.

by by your father

B.S. Rutledge.

Tell brother wiman and the church that i am well speritual tolberil well natcherel.

May god Bless the church an the members indivigual. I am preachen all the time ate nighte pray for me. B.S. Rutledge to John Wiman.

After his death, Baxter's Bible was sent to my Grandmother in Colorado and she faithfully cared for it and recorded family birth and death dates family .

Related Stories:

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond, m/2 Susannah Carr.

My Grandmother Alsie Pilant talked to me.

Colorado Bound, John Wesley and MaryJane (Rutledge) Pilant Family Leaves Hawkins County.

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Submitted by:

Martha Williams LaCasse
3242 La Avenida de San Marcos
Santa Fe, NM 82505

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (WILSON) RUTLEDGE

My Rutledge ancestors originated in England, according to family legend. My earliest identifiable Rutledge was Emanuel, born ca. 1801 in Virginia, and died 20 August 1878. Emanuel was a wagonmaker by trade. He was also an early minister of Hickory Cove Baptist Church, located a few miles east of Rogersville, in Hawkins County.

Emanuel married Sarah Kate "Sallie" Wilson. She was born circa 1806 in Virginia and died 10 May 1887. They had at least 6, but more likely 10 children, all born in Tennessee. The 6 known were: Thomas K., Samuel Crawford, Robert J., Baxter S., Richard Kine, and Mary W.

The 1830 and 1840 Hawkins Co. census includes two sons born ca. 1825-30, a daughter born ca. 1830-35, and a son born ca. 1835-40 that should be added to the list of known children of Emanuel and Sallie, but little other information is known about them.

The 1850 Hawkins Co. census shows a Wilson Rutledge, born ca. 1828 in Tennessee, apparently widowed, with four daughters: Mary age 3, Ann age 2, and Jane and Rutha each age 1 (twins?). Wilson was likely one of Emanuel's sons mentioned above.

Although I cannot prove she was the same daughter born ca. 1830-35, a Rebecca Rutledge married Eli Eaton in Hawkins Co. on 15 December 1847, it is possible that she is. In the 1850 Hawkins Co. census he is 25, and she 21, with daughter Chary age 2, and son William, age 3 months.

Nevertheless, until the roles of the additional children are better known and understood, they will neither be further mentioned nor accounted for herein.

I affectionately, and respectfully, say that Emanuel and most of his sons were "whittlers". They were craftsmen who earned their living working in wood as carpenters, wagon makers, and cabinet makers. Many of Emanuel's descendants continue the tradition.

(1) Thomas K., born ca. 1833 and died after 1880, married Elizabeth, born ca. 1833 in Tennessee and died after 1880. They had 7 children: William A. Rutledge (ca. 1854-19...) married Sarah S. lived in KY and they had 7 children; Zachary David "Zach" Rutledge (1856-1909) married Sophia R. Eidson, lived in Sullivan Co., and had 9 children, 6 reached adulthood; Nathan Melvin Rutledge (1859-...) lived in KY and married twice, his second wife was Edna; John Rutledge (ca. 1862-...);

Thomas E. Rutledge (ca. 1865-...); Austin G. Rutledge (ca. 1868-...) married Mary H. "Mollie", lived in KY and had 5 children; and L. A. Rutledge (f) (ca. 1870-...). About 1884 Thomas may have remarried Malissa, born in May 1847 in Kentucky, according to the 1900 Barren County, KY census.

(2) On 9 December 1858 in Hawkins Co., Samuel Crawford Rutledge, born 1 October 1839 and died 18 March 1917 in Knox Co., TN, married Mary Matilda "Tildy" Palmer, born 23 November 1839 in Hawkins Co. and died 25 February 1925 in Knox Co. They had 10 children: William T. "Will" Rutledge (1859-1938) married Mary Harrell, lived in Kittitas Co., Washington and they had 7 children; Rebecca Jane "Janie" Rutledge (1861-1936) married George A. Toomey, lived in Knox Co., TN and had 4 or 5 children; L. F. Rutledge (1863-1864); Florida E. "Flo" Rutledge (1866-1885); Sarah Martha "Sally" Rutledge (1867-1945) married Albert "Bert" Octavius Child, lived in Knox Co. TN and they had 13 children, 10 reached adulthood; Mary E. Rutledge (1869-1870); John M. Rutledge (1871-1938), lived in Knox Co., TN, married and had at least 2 children; Rowena M. Rutledge (1873-1910), married; Samuel Walter Rutledge (1874-1941), married 1st Cora Price and they had 4 children, married 2nd Carolyn C. ; and E. J. Houston Rutledge (1879-1896).

(3) On 30 June 1859 in Hawkins Co., Robert J. "Bob" Rutledge, born March 1841 and died after 1910, married Catherine "Katie" Fansler, born 20 March 1839 in Tennessee, and died 12 April 1905, the daughter of David and Mary "Polly" (Shipley) Fansler. Bob and Katie had 8 children: B. L. Rutledge (m) (ca. 1861-...); R. B. Rutledge (f) (ca. 1863-...); E. B. Rutledge (m) (ca. 1865-...); N. E. Rutledge (f) (ca. 1867-...); M. C. Rutledge (f) (ca. 1871-...); Sarah Elizabeth "Betsy" Rutledge (1875-1956) married James M. "Jim" Fields, lived in Hawkins Co., and they had 4 children, 3 reached adulthood; Robert Cornelius "Dock" Rutledge (1879-1910) married Susan Frances "Sudie" Sivert, lived in Hawkins Co., and they had 5 children, 4 reached adulthood; and Edward Lea "Edd" Rutledge (1882-1936) married Sarah Elizabeth "Betty" Cox, lived in Hawkins Co., and they had 3 children, 2 reached adulthood.

Thomas K., Samuel Crawford and Robert J. lived in Tennessee at the time of the 1870 Census. Their children identified only by initials were all born either in Tennessee or in Barren County, Kentucky where the 3 brothers moved in the 1870's, and are found in the 1880 census. By 1900 Samuel Crawford moved to Knox Co., TN and Robert J. returned to Hawkins Co. and their youngest children returned with them to East Tennessee. I have no further information on those initialed children, other than a descendant Bernice Rutledge married Ray Pitcock in the Glasgow, KY area and they probably had 3 children.

(4) On 19 September 1863 in Hawkins Co., Baxter S. Rutledge, born 9 July 1843 and died 19 July 1902, married Rachael Ann Cox, born 26 February 1838 in Tennessee and died 6 November 1889 in Hawkins Co. They had 7 children: Lilton "Lit" Emory Rutledge (1865-1940) married Catherine Poe and had 10 children, 7 reached adulthood; Mary Jane Rutledge (1868-1960) married John Wesley Pilant, moved to Colorado and they had 11 children, 7 reached adulthood; Julia Rutledge (ca. 1871-...); Arline Connely Rutledge (1871-...); Lula Rachel Ann Rutledge (1874-...); Barbara Frances Rutledge (1879-19...); and Salea Carmeen Rutledge (1881-1882). It is possible that on 4 November 1893 in Hawkins County Baxter remarried M. J. Ward.

Baxter was also an early minister at Hickory Cove Baptist Church, and according to family tradition he died in Knoxville, TN, or on the way home in connection with attending a church convention in Knoxville.

Mary Jane "Mollie" Norman, daughter of Daniel and Lynda Spears Norman, was born on 28 October 1843 in North Carolina and died 6 June 1927. Mollie was married first to Ephriam G. Knight, who was killed in the Civil War. Mollie Jane and Ephriam had 2 children: Susan A. "Sue" born on 11 January 1862 in Tennessee, and Laura E., born 19 December 1864. Apparently Laura died prior to the 1870 census. Later, Sue married Eldridge Otto "El" Akard, they moved to Fannin Co., TX, and they had 6 children, 5 reached adulthood.

(5) On 6 April 1867 in Hawkins Co. Mollie married second to Richard Kine Rutledge, born 7 April 1845 and died 27 July 1891. Richard Kine apparently adopted Susan A. "Sue", and he and Mollie had 7 children of their own: Zollicoffer "Zol" William Rutledge (1868-1937) married 1st Nora E. , and had 1 child, married 2nd to Mary Ellen Parker, and they had 6 children, and married 3rd to Minerva Jane "Nerva" Crawford Murray, and 5 of those children reached adulthood; Albert J. Rutledge (1869-1869/70); Richard Baxter "Dick" Rutledge (1871-1949) married Hannah Lillie Amanda Shoemaker, lived in Sullivan Co., TN and they had 10 children, 8 reached adulthood; Clinton D. Rutledge (1873-187.); Mary Elsie "Mollie" Rutledge (1875-1959) married Frances Marion "Frank" Miller, lived in Morristown, TN and had 4 children, 3 reached adulthood; Sallie Kate Rutledge (1879-1969), married Joe Brannum, lived in Hawkins Co., and had 1 child that died as an infant; and Nancy Clay "Nannie" Rutledge (1889-1968) married Murphey Purkey, lived in Hamblen Co., TN, and had 2 children, both of whom reached adulthood.

(6) According to the 1900 Hawkins Co. census, ca. 1862 or 1863, but I believe a few years later, Mary W. "Polly" Rutledge, born 18 April 1849 and died 26 June 1912, married James Hiram "Jim" Cox, born 27 March 1840 in Tennessee and died on 4 July 1913. See the Samuel Cox story for their descendants.

Rachel Ann and James Hiram Cox were the children of Samuel Cox and his first wife Barbary Hammond.

Mary W. Rutledge and James Hiram Cox were my great-grandparents.

Related story:

Samuel Cox, m/1 Barbary Hammond, m/2 Susannah Carr

Sources:

Hawkins Co., TN Censuses

Scott Co., VA Censuses

Sullivan Co., TN Censuses

Family Bibles.

Personal interviews and correspondence.

I wish to extend special thanks to each of the following, whose information on this and on all my other Rutledge family research has been most helpful, and greatly appreciated: June Rutledge Beckner of Mt. Carmel, TN; Sallie Lou Rutledge McCann, Francis Kyle and Faye Collier, Hazel Pearson Huddle Calton, John and Bonnie Rutledge Harr, Kathy Sue Steadman Charlton, Donald Ray Rutledge, Ruby Josephine Siniard Rutledge, and Jeanette Lorena Rutledge Lawson of Kingsport, TN; Harley Glen and Lois Riggs Rutledge and daughters of Greene Co., TN; Susie Mathes Elkins of Rogersville, TN; Louise Shoemaker Frye of Erwin, TN; Garnie Collier, Scott Rutledge, and Randall Collier of Surgoinsville, TN; Cecil Collier of Church Hill, TN; Alberta Rutledge Jett, of Knoxville, TN; Margaret Orrick Rutledge of Mooresburg, TN; Barbara Dee Rutledge Hensley of Greeneville, TN; Martha Lee Williams LaCasse, of Santa Fe, NM; William Erwin "Bill" Edmonston, Jr. of Sweetwater, TN; Thelma Beatrice "Jack" Coates Maness of Statesville, NC; and John E. Akard of Abilene, TX.

Submitted by:

*Darryl C. Gardner
Route 3, Box 3170
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Richard Baxter and Lillie (SHOE-MAKER) RUTLEDGE

Richard Baxter "Dick" "RB" Rutledge (28 June 1871-12 December 1949) was the son of Richard Kine Rutledge and wife Mary Jane "Mollie" Norman Knight Rutledge, and the grandson of Emanuel Rutledge and his wife Sarah Kate "Sallie" Wilson. Dick was a blacksmith and carpenter. On 22 October 1891 he married Hannah Lillie Amanda Shoemaker (10 February 1875-27 September 1958), daughter of George A. Shoemaker (21 November 1851-22 October 1907) and wife Amanda E. Arnold (11 September 1852-3 July 1921). After George's death, Amanda married Noah Childress.

Dick and Lillie had 10 children, all born in Sullivan Co., TN, 8 reaching adulthood: George Washington R. (10 June 1892-14 September 1892); Cora Mandy Mae; Fostine Roy; James William; Mary Ellen; Callie Lucy; Katie Tessie May (7 March 1906-24 September 1909); Alma Jessie Rachael; Cecile Mattie Pearl; and Bonnie Virginia.

Cora Mandy Mae Rutledge (20 October 1893-18 September 1991), married on 9 January 1910 to Allie Anderson "Al" Shoemaker (23 August 1882-5 February 1960), son of John Mack "JM" Shoemaker (18 Jan 1858-16 May 1931) and wife Nancy Melinda "Nannie" Marion (8 September 1858-5 February 1927). Cora and Al had 4 children: Clifton; Pauline Frances (8 April 1917-26 August 1932); Louise; and Kathleen.

Clifton Richard "Cliff" Shoemaker (27 June 1914-12 September 1978) married Virginia Campbell (2 August 1909-4 July 1980).

Louise "Tiny" Shoemaker (born 6 April 1919) married on 2 June 1935 to Delbert Devin Frye (24 April 1908-15 April 1977, and they have two sons, Delbert and James.

Delbert J. "Ronnie" Frye, born on 2 October 1938, is an accountant. He married first Norma Jean Shell, and they have two children, Kimberly Ann "Kim" (born 6 December 1959) and Andrew Devin "Andy" (born 22 May 1965). Ronnie married second Raija Lethonen, and they have two children, Stephen Karila (born 27 July 1971) and Stacy Grant (born 13 September 1974). Ronnie married third to Jacqueline Anne "Jackie" Newton.

James Lee "Jimmy" Frye (born 13 February 1941), married Mary Catherine Paulo, and they have three daughters: Catherine Elizabeth "Cathy" (born 23 February 1970); Jennifer Lynn (born 20 December 1973); and Serena Leanne (born 25 June 1977).

Kathleen Lillie "Kathy" Shoemaker (born 10 July 1924) was married on 17 October 1942 to Beryl Franklin Collins (16 October 1921-26 November 1990), and they have three daughters: Frankie Lee, Barbara Sue, and Jo Ann.

Frankie Lee Collins (born 10 October 1943) was married to Roy Henry Alexander, and their children are: Ricky Lynn "Rick" (born 22 December 1962), and Kelly Diane (born 11 December 1972).

Barbara Sue Collins born 21 September 1946, is married to Larry Ray Simerly and their children are: Brian Keith (born 2 August 1969); Christopher Rhea "Chris" (born 5 July 1975); and Stacy Nicole (born 23 July 1978).

Jo Ann Collins born 25 May 1948, was married to Robert Dana "Bobby" Rambo Jr., and they have a daughter Vickie Diane (born 20 April 1971).

Fostine Roy "FR" Rutledge (27 April 1896-25 March 1984) married on 7 March 1915 to Mary Lusinda Jeanette "Janie" Hobbs (20 July 1896-27 December 1974, daughter of Noah Hobbs (9 May 1859-26 October 1949) and wife Hattie May Hickman (19 November 1859-9 December 1902). Fostine and Janie's children were: Mildred, Walter, Fostine, Jr., and Russell.

Lillie Mildred Rutledge (26 April 1916-28 August 1990) married on 18 December 1941 to Ray Pippin. Their daughter Bernice Rhea "Bernas" born July 1952, married first Steve Clark, and they have a son Jeffrey "Jeff" born about 1968. Bernas married second to Danny Lassiter. Their son Ray, born about 1973, married Missy and has a daughter born in 1991. Bernas married third to William, now deceased.

Walter Keener "WK" Rutledge (born 26 January 1918) married on 12 February 1937 to Muriel Virginia "Gerri" Dishner (born 16 July 1918).

Fostine Roy Rutledge, Jr. (13 October 1920-14 August 1954) married on 4 March 1939 to Ruby Josephine "Josie" Siniard (born 4 May 1922). Their children are James and Janie.

James Roy "Jimmy" Rutledge (born 24 January 1940) married first to Connie Hamilton, and their children are: Gay Lee and John Bruce. Jimmy married second to Linda C. Bowen (born 18 May 1948). Their children are Vicky Lynn and James Jason. Jimmy married third to Loretta Begley.

Janie Lee Rutledge (born 7 March 1943) married Denzel Crawford (born 1 June 1937). Their children are: Theresa Gail "Terri" (born 22 April 1961) Rebecca Ann "Becky" (born 15 September 1962), Denzel Christopher "Chris" (born 11 November 1966), and Robin Denise (born 20 May 1969).

Russell Evans "Russ" Rutledge (born 16 November 1922) married 3 February 1942 to Lois Ann Greear (born 15 December 1924). Their children are Russell Wayne and Roger Steven.

Russell Wayne Rutledge (born 2 January 1943) married Gloria Jane Powell (born 13 April 1945).

Roger Steven "Steve" Rutledge (born 25 February 1956) married Sandra Gail Arnold (born 17 July 1959). Steve and Sandra's children are: Diva Renee (born 28 January 1983), Dena Michelle (born 16 September 1985), and Devin John (born 30 September 1987).

James William "Bill" Rutledge (2 December 1898-11 January 1975) married first on 9 September 1923 to Hazel Kelley, and had two sons that died as infants. Bill married second on 22 December 1930 to Flora Alice "Flo" Elkins (13 August 1907-20 January 1975), daughter of Robert Elkins (October 1870-1917) and wife Barsha Price (January 1872-ca. 1918). Bill and Flo's children are Donald and Naomi.

Donald Rhea "Don" Rutledge (born 29 March 1933) married on 13 September 1957 to Leah Jane Fields (26 February 1940). Don and Jane's children are Steven and Terri.

Steven Rhea Rutledge (born 25 November 1958) was married to Nancy Spencer.

Terri Lea Rutledge (born 1 August 1964), married first to Elmer Blake Hauck and they have a son Kenneth Wayne "Kenny" (born 26 April 1984). Terri married second to James Lester Waycaster and they have a daughter Kirsten Lea (born 11 February 1990).

Naomi Jane Rutledge (born 30 April 1937) married on 25 August 1956 to Charles Coeburn "Charlie" Franklin (born 25 September 1934), and had children: Debra, David Charles (1 November 1960-19 March 1976), Rebecca, and Kathy Jean (born 21 February 1973).

Debra Jane "Debby" Franklin (born 27 May 1958) married James David "Dave" Starnes (born 17 March 1947), and have children, David Allen (born 11 November 1983) and Angela Dawn "Angel" (born 20 January 1987).

Rebecca Anne "Becky" Franklin (born 22 October 1964), married Robert Joseph Spivey (born 7 July 1967), and have children, Summer Rayne (born 26 August 1992), and another child born December 1993.

Mary Ellen Rutledge (18 June 1901-18 October 1988), has a daughter, Jeanette Lorena "Tina". Mary was married on 23 October 1936, and divorced, Glen Willis Hackney (ca. 1904-ca. 1960).

Jeanette Lorena "Tina" (born 15 November 1925) married first on 20 October 1943 to Brady Lee Lane (born 14 March 1925) and they have 3 children, Brady Keith, Tana Jeanette, and Robert Larry. Tina later married Clarence Eugene Neal, Dewey Clyde Davis, and Dewey William Lawson.

Brady Keith Lane (born 4 August 1944) married and divorced Sharron Bentley. They have a daughter Shannon Nicole (born 18 June 1970).

Tana Jeanette Lane (born 30 September 1946) married Richard Henry "Dickie" Jones (born 27 July 1946). They have twins Tiffany Paige and Richard Casey born 11 December 1978.

Richard Larry Lane (born 10 January 1948) married and divorced Amanda Sue Gray. They have a daughter Vanessa Dawn (born 30 May 1978).

Callie Lucy Rutledge (21 September 1903-25 November 1987) was married on 14 September 1927 to John W. Linkous (12 September 1904-25 November 1973), son of Perry W. Linkous and his wife Cordelia.

Alma Jessie Rachael Rutledge (born 6 February 1908) married on 11 March 1933 to Robert Lee "Bob" Overbay (29 February 1912-16 June 1973), son of Elijah "Lige" Overbay (died 11 December 1962) and wife Lell Inman.

Cecile Mattie Pearl Rutledge (10 May 1910-29 June 1983) married first on 1 October 1931 to Jesse R. Gross (1897-22 August 1939), and they have a son William. Cecile married second ca. 1938 to Ralph Stallard Hensley (1917-23 October 1953), and they had a daughter Gertrude.

William Howard "Bill" Gross (born 4 May 1932) is married to Ann Droke.

Gertrude Susanne Hensley (29 November 1952-18 November 1981) married Lowell Edgar Gent (born 2 May 1951) and they have children Brian Edgar (born 14 August 1972) and Tina Marie (born 1974).

Bonnie Virginia Rutledge (born 10 March 1917) married on 22 December 1935 to John Martin Harr (born 18 September 1916), son of James Elcaney "Jim" Harr and wife Martha Ann Wine (27 October 1887-19..). Bonnie and John's children are Billy and Virginia.

Billy Roy "Bill" Harr (born 17 October 1936) married first Annette "Ann" Collins (born 2 January 1947), and have a son Billy, Jr. Bill is married to Elizabeth Andrews.

Billy Harr, Jr. (born 12 April 1967) was married and has a son Travis. Billy lives in Indiana.

Virginia Ruth Harr (born 23 January 1940) is married to Marvin Dale Harr, and they have children Julie Kay, Timothy Dale "Timmy", and Tammy Jean.

Related Stories:

Emanuel and Sarah Kate "Sallie" (Wilson) Rutledge.

Richard Kine and Mary Jane "Mollie" (Norman) Rutledge

Sources:

Family Records.

Personal Knowledge.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Louise (Shoemaker) Frye
126 E. Erwin Rd., Apt. 11
Meadowwood Park
Erwin, TN 37650*

Richard Kine, and Mary Jane "Mollie" (NORMAN) RUTLEDGE

Richard Kine Rutledge, born 7 April 1845 in Tennessee, died 27 July 1891 in Hawkins Co., and is buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery in Hawkins Co., was the fifth known child of Emanuel Rutledge and his wife Sarah Kate "Sallie" Wilson Rutledge. Like his father before him, Richard was a wagonmaker.

Richard's known siblings were: Thomas K., Samuel Crawford, Robert J. "Bob", Baxter S., and Mary W., all born in Tennessee, probably Hawkins Co.

Richard married Mary Jane "Mollie" Norman Knight on 6 April 1867 in Hawkins

Co. Mollie, born 28 October 1843 in North Carolina, died 6 June 1927 in Hamblen Co., TN, and buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery, was the daughter of Daniel Norman and his wife Lynda Spears Norman.

Mollie was married first to Ephriam Goldsmith Knight, who was killed in the Civil War. They had 2 children, Susan A., and Laura E. (born 19 December 1864 and died in the 1860's).

Richard apparently adopted Susan A. "Sue", and he and Mollie had 7 children of their own, all born in Hawkins Co.: Zollicoffer "Zol" William (the subject of another story herein); Albert J. (1869-1869/70); Richard Baxter (the subject of another story herein); Clinton D. (1873-1870's); Mary Elsie; Sallie Kate; and Nancy Clay.

"Sue", born 11 January 1862, died 26 June 1943 in Fannin? Co. Texas, married Eldridge Otto "El" Akard on 26 December 1878. El (23 November 1854 in Virginia-21 October 1939 in Texas) was the son of Frederick Akard, Jr. (born ca. 1824 Virginia) and Polly Goldsmith (born ca. 1825 in Virginia).

Sue and El's children were: Mary Kate, Minnie Malcolm, Sarah M., Frank G. W., Joseph William, and Claude Eldridge, all born in TN, probably Sullivan Co.

Kate Akard (12 November 1879 in TN-12 December 1918) married William "Bill" Sudderth on 29 September 1901 in TX. Their nine children included Tucker, Troy, Ola Lee (twin), Dee (twin), Robert, and Willa Mae, all born in TX. Bill had been previously married, and had 10 children by his first wife, who had died.

Tucker "Tuck" Sudderth married, and has a child Georgie who is married to a Brown.

Troy Sudderth, born 3 June 1893, died 5 August 1975 in TX, is buried in Grove Hill Methodist Church Cemetery in Fannin Co., TX. He was married twice.

Ola Lee Sudderth, born 26 November 1910 in Fannin Co., died 7 May 1977 in Grayson Co., TX, is buried in Grove Hill Methodist Church Cemetery. She married Bernie Roberts.

Dee Sudderth, born 26 November 1910 in Fannin Co., is married to Ellis W. Parks. Ellis was previously married and has children by that marriage.

Robert "Bob" Sudderth is married and has a son Larry.

Willa Mae Sudderth, born 13 June 1917, and died 20 July 1975 in TX, married first to a Chennault, had 2 sons, Jerry and Dale, and a daughter Billie who married a Millsap. Willa Mae remarried Berna Middlebrooks.

Minnie Malcolm Akard, born 13 May 1881, died 30 October 1945 in TX, married Richard Parker Smith on 27 November 1904, and they had a daughter Viola who married Rufas Wallace.

Sarah M. "Sally" Akard, born 22 June 1884, died 21 June 1922 in TX, married and had 2 daughters and a son.

Frank G. W. Akard, born 24 August 1889, and died 18 October 1912 in TX, never married.

Joseph William "Joe" Akard, born 24 April 1894, died 3 July 1971 in TX, married 1st to Ada Sivert, and had 2 daughters, Anne B., and Nanelle(?). Joe married 2nd to Ruth Ann Moore on 10 December 1921, and had Patsy Ruth and Clyde Joe.

Patsy Ruth Akard, born 15 March 1931, married a Chick, and has 3 children; Carol JoAnn who married a Bluestein; Betty Marie, born 4 June 1947, who married a Zlatich; and Billy Ray, born 17 October 1949.

Claude Eldridge Akard, born 17 August 1896, died 22 August 1968 in New Mexico, and is buried in Grove Hill Methodist Church Cemetery, married Hattie Nell Sudderth on 8 July 1917. She was born 16 March 1902 in Fannin Co., and died 22 March 1958 in Fannin Co. They had 6 children, including Claudia L., and John Eldridge.

Claudia L. Akard, born 7 July 1918, married Harvey O. Bowlin (14 October 1920-17 July 1973), and they have 4 children: Norma J., born 15 July 1944, who married a Richardson; Johnnie F., born 16 June 1946, who married a Burge; Paula S., born 17 September 1947, who married a McGee; and Harvey J. (5 November 1953-26 May 1955).

John Eldridge Akard (born 26 August 1925 in Fannin Co.) married Bettye Camele Dulaney (born 1 December 1929 in Fannin Co.) on 13 July 1946. Their children are: Joe Michael (born 28 September 1949 in Artesia, NM) and married Debbie; Stephen Dulaney, married Della; Paul Jane (born 24 January 1953 in Austin TX), married Vinny Lossasso and has a son Jonathan born ca. 1982; Jeffrey Scott (born 15 August 1961 in Cheyenne Wyoming); and Mary Elizabeth (born 19 September 1967 in Abilene TX).

John and Camele have grandchildren, including Jessica Akard, age ca. 16, and Erica Akard, age ca. 10.

Mary Elsie "Mollie" Rutledge (27 September 1875-29 August 1959 in Hamblen Co., TN) married on 2 March 1893 to Frances Marion "Frank" Miller (2 August 1868 in Hamblen Co.-1 August 1923 in Hamblen Co.). Frank was the son of James Deaderick Miller (17 June 1847-15 May 1892) and his wife Margaret "Maggie" Watts (8 August 1849-1 June 1922).

Mollie and Frank's children were: James W., Lucian H., Paul Helms, and Robert E. Lee Miller.

James W. Miller, born 21 December 1893 in Hamblen Co., died, married Amanda, and lived in Marietta, Georgia.

Lucian H. Miller (December 1896-1915), never married.

Paul Helms Miller (19 August 1902-1 July 1985), a policeman in Morristown, TN, married on 17 March 1923 to Gertrude Witt (16 December 1901-20 April 1983). She was the daughter of Abijah Witt (30 December 1856-27 February 1923) and his wife Mary Jane "Mollie" Bible (13 August 1864-28 January 1930). Paul and Gertrude's children were Harold, Joel, and Paul.

Harold C. Miller, born ca. 1924, is a schoolteacher and principal, and is married to Betty Ruth Callaway, and lives in Lakeside, California. They have two children, daughter Sandra, born ca. 1946 is married to Wayne Papac, and son Paul Norris is married and has three children.

Joel Norris "J Norris" Miller, born 15 February 1928, married first to Bobbie Rogers. He is now married to Betty Ruth Hawkins Lee, and lives in Morristown, TN. They have no children, but Betty has three children by a previous marriage.

Paul Gordon Miller (7 December 1932-28 June 1969), was a schoolteacher. On 25 August 1956 he married Norma Jean Joyce, a nurse, born 30 June 1933. Norma's parents were Jesse Oliver "JO" Joyce (27 October 1897-17 July 1974) and his wife Ruth Irene Hill (4 June 1902-7 December 1979). Paul and Norma have two sons, Gordon Wayne and Paul Allen.

Gordon Wayne Miller (born 5 September 1957) is a schoolteacher. He was married to Diane Gentry (born 8 January 1958), daughter of Robert Homer "Bob" Gentry, Jr. and his wife Betty Lacy. Wayne and Diane have two daughters, Shannon Marie, born 27 July 1983, and Paula Richelle, born 8 June 1990.

Paul Allen "Al" Miller, born 19 July 1960, was married to Kelley Weatherford.

Robert E. Lee "Bob" Miller (4 July 1905-30 December 1971), married on 20 November 1926 to Margaret "Maggie" Mae Orrick (born 1 September 1908), the daughter of Samuel Robert "Little Sam" Orrick (28 August 1872-8 January 1918) and his wife Hattie Jane Steadman (21 December 1889-5 December 1951).

Sallie Kate Rutledge (15 April 1879-24? June 1969), married on 9 March 1901 to Joe Brannum (14 March 1872?-October 1945). They lived on the Arnotte farm in Hawkins Co., and he operated a mill. They had 1 child that died as an infant.

Nancy Clay "Nannie" Rutledge (19 April 1889-13 April 1968) married Murphey Purkey (25 December 1884-14 April 1931). They lived in Hamblen Co., TN, and had 2 children, Burnett M., and Mildred L.

Burnett M. Purkey, born ca. August 1908, died, married Irene Marshall and they have a son Tommy, who is married and has children.

Mildred L. Purkey, born ca. 1911, married Freeman Southerland, who died about 3 years after their marriage. They had no children, but he had children by a previous marriage.

Related Stories:

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Richard Baxter and Lillie (Shoemaker) Rutledge.

Zolliecoffer William "Zol" Rutledge.

Sources:

Census Records.

Family Stories.

Personal Knowledge.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. June Rutledge Beckner
(great-granddaughter of Richard Kine)
207 E. Main
Mt. Carmel, TN 37645*

Stephen W. RUTLEDGE, His Life and Time In The Civil War

Stephen W. Rutledge was born either in northeast Tennessee, probably Hawkins County, or possibly in Giles County, in July 1833. The first time I ever saw the name Wilson Rutledge, born in Virginia and wife, born in North Carolina, he was in Monroe County, TN in 1830. He probably had not been married long, and was travelling with a James Rutledge and family. The next time I find a Wilson Rutledge was in Hawkins Co., TN with no wife, but he had 4 little girls. He would have been born ca. 1828, and could have been Stephen's older brother.

Stephen's diary shows he attended Holston River School (in Hawkins Co. TN?) in 1848/49. It may have been a subscription school, where parents pledged money, goods, etc. to pay the teacher. He gave the name of Isaac Tate as his teacher.

Stephen married Mary Massey who was born in Bledsoe Co., TN in 1835. Her parents were Richard and Mary Alsop Massey, both born in North Carolina. I know Richard bought land in Bledsoe County by 1832. This is all I have on them.

Stephen and Mary met when there was to be a hanging of a murderer near the Pikeville, TN bridge over the Tennessee River. It seems every one was on horseback. It was a bad, stormy day, and Stephen and another young man were watching the people cross the river. While they were there, he saw what he said was the most beautiful girl he had ever seen. She rode out into the river and started going down in quicksand. Her horse went down fast, and the girl's head went under the water. Stephen, a young man, 6' tall, went to her rescue. Reaching them, he was able to save the girl, but not her horse. They rushed her to the doctor. When she came to, she asked who had saved her, and he told her "Johnny Reb."

After falling in love at first sight, he returned to his father's house, and he kept thinking of the beautiful young girl. So he wrote her a note and asked if he could see her. She wrote a note back saying "yes," so he went up to see her. When he asked her name, she said "Just call me Mary of Sequatchee." She was 1/4 Cherokee Indian. (At one time the valley down to Chattanooga was called Sequatchee Valley. We saw it while visiting there in 1977).

They fell in love, although they were both very young. They married in 1850 and left Bledsoe County soon afterward. They later lived in Giles County, where they had five children, losing two as infants. The others were John B., Sarah Elizabeth, and Chelnessie Matrina.

They next moved to Henryville, in the northern part of Lawrence County. They had barely gotten to Lawrence County when Stephen had to go to war. He was called into the Confederate Army. Stephen and another man almost got hung because they wouldn't sign for the south to secede from the Union. Having signed under duress, he said "it was a poor man's war and a rich man's gain."

While in the Confederate Army, he fought at the Battle of Fort Donelson, which was near Mt. Pleasant, TN. While he was at Ft. Donelson, he caught the measles and went home for a short time. As he was returning to the battlefield, he could hear the guns. During the battle the rest of their Army just ran off and left, and the Confederates were beaten. Their captain surrendered to General Grant, who said to them "How many men were here to start with?" After they told him, he said "Men, if they had stayed and fought like you men did, we may have had to turn tail and head back home." Although the Confederate soldiers were taken prisoner, they gave three cheers for General Grant.

While Stephen was in the army, he was sent to Columbus, Georgia to buy leather and to make shoes for the army.

While Stephen was being held in a prisoner of war camp in Indiana, he learned they were to be sent south, and he wrote about it in his diary. Then he tore the scroll in two and said "I will pack this with me". So he ripped the seams in both pant legs and put part of it in each side and sewed the pants back up. He packed it all through the war.

He was almost taken to Libby, a northern prison, but he escaped.

While Stephen and Mary were in Lawrence Co. they had two more sons, Jerome and James Harve. They stayed there until after the war, and then they loaded up and headed for Missouri.

They went first to Dent Co., MO, where Stephen started a church in 1870. In 1880 they had crossed into Texas Co., MO, and Stephen bought land there.

They had four more children: Josephine, William (my husband's father), Martha, and Mae.

One day Stephen had just gotten back from visiting his daughter in Arkansas. He was talking to my husband-to-be, Virgil, a young teenager. He took the diary from an inside pocket and handed it to Virgil, telling him "maybe you can do something with this some time." He had told Virgil and his brother some of the stories in it, and Virgil repeated them to our children. Virgil gave it to a young cousin to have it typed.

The diary was lost for over 55 years. I finally remembered that Virgil had a cousin in Rogers, Arkansas and they had run a store. So I wrote the postmaster to see if there were any of them left. He gave her the letter, and she told him where the diary was. I wrote and finally got it. She had just made me a copy. Looks like it was meant to be. The original was lost in a flooded basement in St. Louis. I was sure glad to find it once again. Since then it has been in several places.

My husband said every winter, his grandpa made them each a pair of shoes, with not a nail in them, and he said his pair lasted. He used pegs and had the lasts for sizes.

Mary died in 1909, and Stephen died in 1910. They are buried at Tyrone, Texas Co., MO, in a cemetery on land which Stephen had given.

Stephen was a very interesting man and I think well educated.

Submitted by:

*Pearl L. Rutledge
946-17th Ave.
Longview, WA 98632-2307*

Zolliecoffer William "Zol" RUTLEDGE

Zolliecoffer William, or "Zol" Rutledge, born 29 March 1868 in Hawkins County, and died 24 January 1937 in Hawkins Co., and buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery in Hawkins Co., was the eldest child of Richard Kine Rutledge (7 April 1845-27 July 1891) and his wife Mary Jane "Mollie" Norman (28 October 1843-6 June 1927). Emanuel Rutledge and his wife Sarah Kate "Sallie" Wilson were Zol's paternal grandparents. Richard Kine was a wagon maker.

Zol was a mill operator, and caretaker of the Marsh family cemetery, which later became Liberty Hill. He lived in a small log cabin, at the entrance to the cemetery. He expanded the cemetery, clearing the land with a mule and a plow. He also sold ice cream, and other snacks from the cabin.

At one time there was an old two-room schoolhouse located on top of the hill, where the flagpole is now, in the center of the present day Liberty Hill Cemetery. A larger schoolhouse was built later, where the new part of the cemetery is now.

Zol's siblings were: Susan A. "Sue" Knight (stepsister) (11 January 1862- 26 June 1943), Laura E. Knight (stepsister) (19 December 1864-1860's), Albert J. (14 August 1869-1869/70), Richard Baxter "Dick" (28 June 1871-12 December 1949), Clinton D. (22 September 1873-1870's), Mary Elsie "Mollie" (27 September 1875-29 August 1959), Sallie Kate (15 April 1879-24 June 1969), and Nancy Clay "Nannie" (19 April 1889-13 April 1968) Rutledge, all born in Hawkins Co.

Zol married three times. He married 1st to Nora E. Roark on 17 June 1888 in Hawkins Co. They had one child, Mary Kate. Nora was born in March 1868, died in 1890, and is buried at Liberty Hill.

Zol married 2nd to Mary Ellen Parker on 18 August 1892 in Hawkins Co. They had six children: William Kendrick, Sallie Maud, Zollie Claude, Houston L., Raymond, and Robert Lee. Ellen, the daughter of William James Parker (14 February 1837-2 March 1908) and his wife Amelia Jane Hancock (died ca. 1868), born 23 March 1866, was burned to death on 3 May 1909 while fighting a fire in a field when the long dress she was wearing, characteristic of women's clothing at the time, caught fire and could not be put out. She was buried at Liberty Hill.

Zol married 3rd Minerva Jane "Nerva" Crawford Murray on 1 January 1914 in Hawkins Co. They had no children, but she had 9 children by her previous marriage to John Thomas Murray. Nerva was born 1 March 1866, died in 1922, and is buried at Liberty Hill. Her parents were Ephriam Crawford (3 July 1826-24 October 1905) and his wife Martha E. Pulliam (1826-10 May 1922).

Mary Kate Rutledge (24 October 1888-13 January 1977 in Hawkins Co.) married Isaac Stuart "I.S." Bellamy (16 September 1882 in Scott Co., VA-24 January 1948 in Hawkins Co.) on 26 February 1913 in Hawkins Co. Isaac's parents were Robert "Bob" Bellamy and Elizabeth Cornelia Mendenhall. Isaac was a millwright.

Isaac and Mary had 7 children, all born in Hawkins Co.: Margaret Elizabeth (18 April 1914-4 May 1914); Mae Cornelia; Laura Roe; Isaac Paul (9 November 1919-4 March 1920); Marion Stewart; Alger Keen; and George Eual.

Mae Cornelia Bellamy (26 May 1915-20 December 1984 in Hawkins Co.) was married 1st to Commodore "Dick" Jones (24 November 1910 in Scott Co., VA-21 July 1954 in Hawkins Co.) on 24 December 1934 in Scott Co. His parents were Clinton Levi "Clint" Jones (29 February 1884-20 November 1940) and his wife Amanda Virginia Victoria "Manda" Larkins (23 June 1884-8 April 1941). Mae and Dick had no children. Dick was a spinner in a cotton mill in Kingsport.

Mae married 2nd to Early L. Brooks on 5 October 1962. They had no children, but he had six children by a previous marriage.

Early was a merchant.

Laura Roe Bellamy (b. 21 April 1917) married Joseph Roy "Joe" Winingner on 28 September 1935. They had no children. His parents were John Clinton "Clint" Winingner and Minnie Belle Bruner. Joe was a welder.

Marion Stewart Bellamy (15 March 1923-10 March 1989 in Hawkins Co.) married Betty Frances Sutherland (3 August 1924 in Greene Co., TN-10 August 1987 in Davidson Co., TN) in March 1945. Betty's father was Samuel Sutherland, and her mother was a Parks. Stewart and Betty have two children, both born in Sullivan Co.: Billie Jo and Buddy Stuart. Stewart was a maintenance mechanic at Mead.

Billie Jo Bellamy (born 25 February 1945) married Jerry Simpson, and they have two children, Sabra Kim (born ca. 1975) and Jonathan Stuart.

Buddy Stuart Bellamy (born 24 February 1946) married Brenda Kay McMakin (born 23 April 1945). Brenda is the daughter of Charles McMakin and Ruth Duncan. Buddy and Brenda have a son, Chad Stuart, born 22 April 1970 in Sullivan Co.

Alger Keen "K" Bellamy (born 12 October 1925) is not married.

George Eual Bellamy (born 17 March 1933) married Carolyn Hale Curry (born 3 August 1933 in Jefferson Co., TN) on 2 September 1955. She is the daughter of Bruce Curry, Sr. and a Hale. They have two daughters: Jan-Annette Curry (born 8 April 1965 in Florida), married to Walter Brewer and has a son Cole, born in 1989; and Jayne (born ca 1971 in FL). George is a banker and Carolyn a schoolteacher.

William Kendrick Rutledge (15 June 1893-8 February 1978) was married twice. He first married Bertie Mae Marsh (17 April 1898-2 October 1951) on 10 September 1919. Bertie's parents were James Lewis Marsh (11 October 1860-2 August 1919) and his wife Margaret E. "Margie" Grimm (12 September 1860-8 July 1916). Kendrick and Bertie have 2 children, Margaret June and George Calvin, both born in Hawkins Co. Kendrick was a bread deliveryman.

Kendrick was married second to Helen Gertrude Gray (26 January 1910-29 May 1983) on 6 September 1953. Gertrude was the daughter of Charles Delaney Gray, Sr. (30 January 1886-3 February 1963) and his wife Mary Malissie Bailey (10 November 1883-14 February 1968). Kendrick and Gertrude had no children, but she had 4 children by a previous marriage to John Heiskell Bailey.

Margaret June Rutledge (born 16 June 1920) married Ezra McKinley Beckner (10 October 1920 in Russell Co. VA-28 January 1987 in Sullivan Co.) on 17 March 1939 in Scott Co. Ezra is buried at Liberty Hill. His parents were Guyon Thomas Beckner (27 October 1889-28 August 1964) and his wife Ethel Mary Christian (27 November 1898-22 January 1981). Ezra and June have four children, Paul McKinley, Margaret Ruth, Lois Carol, and Anna Marie. Ezra was an operator and foreman at Eastman.

Paul McKinley Beckner (born 19 May 1940) married Judy Carol Vicars (born 28 May 1946). Judy's parents were Delmas Talvin "Vic" (26 February 1912-4 March 1990) and his wife Audrey Clarice McConnell (born 28 February 1913) Vicars. Paul and Judy have two children, Tezra Carol and Mark McKinley. Paul is a mechanic and a foreman at Holston Ordinance.

Tezra Carol Beckner (born 7 January 1969) married Eric Volkmire.

Mark McKinley Beckner (b. 9 May 1971) married Rebecca Ann "Becky" Franklin. They have a daughter Whitney Shea, born 30 May 1992. Mark is a mechanic.

Margaret Ruth Beckner (born 5 July 1943) married William Edward "Willie" Taylor (born 5 August 1936). Willie's parents were John Morgan Taylor (1900-1955) and his wife Mary Leola Hamblen (11 October 1908-24 April 1992). Ruth and Willie have two sons, Christopher Edward "Chris" (born 3 August 1972) and William Andrew "Andy" (born 25 August 1979).

Lois Carol Beckner (born 6 August 1950) married Michael Edward "Mike" Caldwell (born May 1950). Mike's parents are Mossie Edward Caldwell (born 5 February 1927) and his wife Helen Ruth Edens (born 1 February 1934). Lois and Mike had three children, David Edward (born 31 October 1970), Tracie Carol (15 April 1972-4 February 1993), and Michael Scott (born March 1973).

Michael Scott Caldwell (born 12 March 1973) married April Morelock, and they have a son, Michael James, born 28 January 1991.

Anna Marie Beckner (born 27 October 1957) married David Allen Higgins (born 1 August 1959). David's parents are James Fred Higgins (born 19 December 1937) and his wife Erma Ruth Blizzard (born 25 August 1937). Anna and David have two children, Christy Lee (born 22 January 1980) and David Brian (born 1 September 1982).

George Calvin "Buster" Rutledge (born 9 February 1927) married Mildred Christine Smith (born 17 August 1927 in Sullivan Co.). Her parents were Arthur McKinley "AM" Smith (18 July 1896-4 October 1976) and his wife Gladys Theresa Gibson (6 December 1900-14 September 1937). Buster is a chemical plant supervisor, and Mildred is an auditor. They have no children.

Sallie Maud Rutledge (11 June 1895-12 November 1969 in Cincinnati, Ohio) married Marion "Mike" Jordan (?-ca. 1965). They have four children: Howard (died 1992) is married to Kate and has a daughter Barbara; Louise married "Red" Morris (died 1980's); Albert married first Maynora, and has three children, and he is remarried; Edna married Robert "Bob" Combs, and they have two children, Sandy and Elaine. Sandy married "Bill" and their children are Kim and Mike. Elaine married Kevin O'Brien, and their children are Molly and Adam.

Zollie Claude Rutledge (August 1898-14 November 1965 in Cincinnati, Ohio. He first married Zora McGoady (1902-1939) on 13 January 1924 in Scott Co., VA. Zora was the daughter of Troy McGoady and Martha. Claude married second to Lucy.

Houston L. "Hugh" Rutledge, born 29 March 1901, died in March 1992 in Cincinnati, married Nola Hughes (17 July 1902-19..) on 17 May 1921 in Sullivan Co., TN. They had two children, George (1920-died in WWII) and Mary Lou, and they adopted Shirley. Mary Lou is married to Bob Sivers, and they live in Cincinnati. Shirley is married, and has children.

Raymond Rutledge (1905-1907) is buried in Liberty Hill Cemetery.

Robert Lee "Bob" Rutledge (21 May 1907-31 May 1983 in Hawkins Co., buried Liberty Hill), married Maggie Lou Byington on 21 February 1926 in Hawkins Co. Maggie (born 5 April 1907 in Hawkins Co.) is the daughter of Luther Edward "Ed" Byington (11 March 1882-17 November 1958) and his wife Sarah Kate Wilmoth (18 August 1890-22 October 1977). Bob and Maggie had six children: Robert Frederick, Norma Helen, Dorothy Louise, Paul Curtis, Bobby Joe, and Janet Carolyn.

Robert Frederick Rutledge (23 November 1926-19 March 1927) is buried at Liberty Hill.

Norma Helen Rutledge (born 4 April 1928) married Paul Walter Ballman (born 18 March 1927) on 28 June 1950. They have two children.

Linda Marie Ballman (born 30 July 1951 in Maryland) married John L. Gerwig (born 19 March 1949). They adopted John Roy (born 3 August 1971), and their children are: Joy Christina (born 22 March 1976) and Christie Maria (born 30 September 1980).

Steven Paul "Steve" Ballman (born 18 April 1954) married Linda Gerwig (sister of John L.). Their children are: Steven Michael (born 27 January 1978) and Tiffney Lynn (born 10 September 1980).

Dorothy Louise "Dot" Rutledge (born 4 September 1931 in Hawkins Co.) married Lyle Jennings Sams (born 2 February 1930 in Sullivan Co.) on 30 October 1950. Lyle's parents are Roland Fleet Sams (11 August 1896-30 August 1958) and his wife Birdie Elizabeth Wilson (20 November 1892-17 May 1975). They have 5 children, all born in Sullivan Co.: James Michael, Roger Lynn, Dennis Wayne, Randy Howard, and Janet Ellen.

James Michael "Mike" Sams was born 14 August 1951, and is a cabinetmaker.

Roger Lynn "Rod" Sams was born 6 September 1953, and is a painter.

Dennis Wayne Sams was born 13 May 1955 and married Delores Lin "Dee" Thomas (born 31 July 1958 in Pennsylvania). They have 3 children, all born in Sullivan Co.: Joshua Allen "Josh" (born 16 May 1980), Eric Ryan (born 8 August 1984), and Jessica Renee "Jessie" (born 11 November 1987).

Randy Howard Sams (born 13 June 1957) married Gail. She has 4 children by a previous marriage.

Janet Ellen Sams (born 21 October 1958) married Donald Allen "Don" Davis. They are divorced, and have no children.

Paul Curtis Rutledge (born 7 December 1937 in Hawkins Co.) married Mary Emma Pickens (born 4 March 1937 in Washington Co., TN) on 30 May 1958. Mary Emma is the daughter of John Burl "JB" Pickens (28 August 1907-26 December 1972) and his wife Sallie Jane Arterburn (29 September 1908-5 January 1948). Paul and Mary Emma have two children, Robin Renee and Curtis Wayne.

Robin Renee Rutledge (born 1966 in Sullivan Co.) married Walter Earl Wininger, Jr. (born 29 January 1957 in Sullivan Co.). His parents are Walter Earl "Walt", Sr. (born 4 April 1923 in Scott Co.) and his wife Edria Ottalee "Ott" Skelton (born 15 October 1925 in Sullivan Co.) Wininger. They have two children, Emira Lee, born 15 February 1989 in Jefferson Co., New York, and Emily Renee, born 28 January 1992 in Wyandotte Co., Kansas.

Curtis Wayne Rutledge (born 5 June 1969 in Sullivan County) married Michelle Renee Quillen (born 20 April 1970), and their daughter, Regan Elizabeth, was born 1 March 1990. They are divorced.

Bobbie Joe Rutledge, (born 28 January 1940) married 1st Judith Anne "Judy" Hubbard (born 3 December 1942), and they have one son, Thad Justen, born 20 August 1971 in Sullivan Co. He remarried Helen Marie Woods Christian (born 28 May 1937). Helen's parents were Hershel (ca. 1910-25 January 1991) and his wife Virginia "Tot" Blizzard Woods (died 1977). Helen has three children by her previous marriage to Delmus Christian (1930's-1991).

Janet Carolyn Rutledge (born 9 December 1943 in Hawkins Co.) married Jimmy Clarence Light (born 26 August 1942). Jimmy's parents were Clarence C. (died 1993) and Clyde Light. Carolyn and Jimmy's children are: Jonathan Craig and Jason Clarence (born 1 June 1970 in Sullivan Co.).

Jonathan Craig "Jon" Light (born 8 September 1966 in Sullivan Co.) married Ginger Paulett Fansler. Ginger (born 3 March 1966 in Sullivan Co.) is the daughter of Paul Junior Fansler (born 2 September 1926 in Hawkins Co.) and Geneva Pearl "Neva" Cox (born 21 December 1928 in Scott Co.). Jon and Ginger have a son Jonathan Caleb, born 11 February 1990 in Sullivan Co.

Related Story:

Emanuel and Sarah Kate (Wilson) Rutledge.

Sources:

Hawkins Co. Census.

Personal knowledge.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. June Rutledge Beckner
(Granddaughter of Zol)
207 E. Main St.
Mt. Carmel, TN 37645*

The SCALF Family

The "Scalf Family" journey began in North Carolina before 1719 with John Scarfe and Mary Greves Scarfe. The name changed to Scalf with the grand-son of John and Mary, (Lewis Scalf). The son of Lewis, John Scalf Sr. (1760-1848), Revolutionary Soldier, journeyed through Russell County, Virginia, to Hawkins County, Tennessee between 1820 and 1830 where he was a resident when he died in 1848.

John married Edeah Carlisle in Edgecombe Co., NC in 1787. John and Edy were blessed with 16 children. An affidavit submitted by John's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Martha Counts Scalf, in support of his appeal for his war pension in 1845 revealed that John and Edy had 109 grandchildren and 40 great-grand-children and one of the great-grand-children being old enough to have children also. John Scalf, Sr. died in Greene Co., TN while visiting one of his sons.

John and Edy left several descendants in Hawkins Co., TN, one of these being Charlie C. Scalf, a well known singer and songmaster in this area. Charlie's brother, John E. Scalf was also well known for the same ability. John lived most of his life in Greene Co., TN and NC while Charlie remained in Hawkins Co. I would like to dedicate this small piece of History to their memory and I will be forever grateful for the heritage they left.

The children of John Scalf, Sr. and Edeah Carlisle Scalf were:

(1) Polly, born 1788 in NC, married Alexander Trent.

(2) Nancy, born March 1789 in NC, married Collins.

(3) John, Jr., born about 1791 in NC, married Martha Counts.

(4) William, born about 1795 in NC, died young.

(5) Brittan, born about 1799 in NC, married Delitha Couch.

(6) Dicy, born about 1800 in NC, married Williams.

(7) Lydia, born about 1804 in NC, married Panther.

(8) William, born about 1806 in NC, died before 1845.

(9) Berryman, born about 1809, married 1st Rebecca Myrtle Page, and 2nd Margaret Fields Gilliam.

(10) Lee, born about 1810.

(11) Ira, born about 1812, married 1st Rosannah Gibson, and 2nd Nancy McVay.

(12) Jesse, born about 1813.

(13) Peter, born about 1815, married Charlotte Hubbard.

(14) Betsy, born about 1816, married Collins.

(15) Robert, born about 1818.

(16) Cecilia, born about 1823, married Lockard.

The children of Berryman Scalf and Rebecca M. Page Scalf were:

(1) Jesse (1832-1914), married 1st Clarissa Brown, and 2nd Martha J. Cox. Jesse was a Confederate Veteran, 60th Mtd. Inf., was at the siege of Vicksburg, Mississippi.

(2) Sela, born about 1833.

(3) Nathan A. (1835-1863), married Martha Crabtree. Nathan was in the Confederate Army, 60th Mtd. Inf., died at Vicksburg, MS of disease.

(4) Martha J., born about 1837, married Joseph P. Ruth.

(5) Mark M. (1839-1862), C.S.A. 37th Inf., died Decatur, AL of disease.

(6) James (1841-1863), C.S.A. 60th Mtd. Inf., died at Vicksburg, MS when a tree fell on him.

(7) Andrew, born 1843, C.S.A. 39th Mtd. Regt., discharged in 1862 at Vicksburg, MS.

(8) William, born 1845, married Amanda Crumley.

(9) Berry B. (1848-1932), married Matilda Pierson in 1870.

(10) Simpson M., born 1850, married Sarah Pierson.

(11) Samuel Doctor, born 1852, married Nancy Caroline Eads.

The children of Berry B. Scalf and Matilda Pierson Scalf were:

(1) William "Bill", born about 1871, married 1st Vonne Self.

(2) Martha "Matt", born about 1873, died 1950, married Monroe Scalf.

(3) Thomas Jefferson, born about 1877, died 1934.

(4) Gillie Ann (1879-1951), married Thomas Houston Dykes.

(5) Mary Bell (1882-1959), married 1st Abraham Lincoln Dykes, 2nd George Hensley, and 3rd Marion Flanary.

(6) John Eli (1885-1945), married 1st Sarah Caroline "Kate" Moore, and 2nd Nancy Mae Miller.

(7) Daughter, died young.

(8) Charlie C. (1889-1957), married 1st Lula Bates, and 2nd Sallie Light.

The children of John E. Scalf and Kate Moore Scalf were:

(1) Ira Bernie (1909-1972), married Gladys J. Goad.

(2) Elma (1911-1918).

(3) James Garfield (1913-1949), married Mary Sherff.

(4) Charles (1916-1932).

(5) Matilda (1918-1920).

(6) Martha, born 1923, still living, married Denver Hensley.

The children of John E. Scalf and Nancy Mae Miller Scalf were:

(1) Joan, born 1838, married Harlan Bowman.

The children of Ira B. and Gladys J. Goad Scalf, Beatrice, James Harvey, Margaret, and Douglas Edward, are shown in The Goad Family story.

Joan and Harlan reside at Piney Flats, Tennessee.

Mae Miller Scalf is still living and resides at Johnson City, Tennessee.

Related Story:

The Goad Family.

The Light Family.

Submitted by:

*Margaret Scalf Fleenor
5118 Springview
Kingsport, TN 37664*

William SCISM

William Scism was born around the time of the Revolution. He married about 1802 Elizabeth Duncan who supposedly was born near Jonesboro, Tennessee. William was a farmer and owned land overlooking Silver Lake. He died about 1840.

William and Elizabeth had ten children. The first was Polly who was born 29 July 1804. She died in 1829 during the epidemic.

Lucretia was the second child. She was born 18 September 1806 in Hawkins County and married James Patterson, Sr. (1798-1876, Hawkins County). Their children, all born in Hawkins County, were John, William (married Ellen Patterson), Jesse (married Nancy Cavin), Mary Elizabeth (married Joseph Marshall), and James, Jr. (married Pheobia Ann Smith). Lucretia died at Plano, Texas 7 November 1892 while visiting her children James, Jr., and Mary.

William and Elizabeth's third child, Jesse D. Scism, was born 1 May 1809. He married Nancy Skelton of Hawkins County. Their children were William (died in the Civil War), James (married Elizabeth Emiline Rea, and moved to Oregon), Ann (married Eldridge Crawford), Elizabeth (married Henry Reynolds), John (married Paralee Black), Lucretia, Jesse, Samuel (married Mary Hobbs), Franklin, Mary, George, and Martha (born in Missouri, and married John C. Lindsay). This family moved to Stoddard County, Missouri, and entered land there in December, 1855.

William Scism, born 15 November 1813, was the fourth child of William and Elizabeth. He married Lucinda McPheeters. They were the first of the family to move from Hawkins Co. to Stoddard County, Missouri, and entered land there in February, 1851. William and Lucinda had 7 children--Mary (died young in Hawkins County), George (married Mary Jane Reed), Sarah (married Gaston Lane), Elizabeth, Samuel C. (married Harriet M. Springfield), Rebecca (died young), and William D. (married Nancy R. Denny).

John Scism, born 8 September 1816, was William and Elizabeth's fifth child. He married Lucretia McPheeters, sister of Lucinda, and later moved to Stoddard County, Missouri, also. He served as county judge there 1867-1873. Children of John and Lucretia were Samuel (married Mary Ann Palmer), Elizabeth (married James Christian), William (married Mary Reynolds), George (married Virginia Caroline Rea), James M. (married Anna Kelley), John Mack (their first child born in Missouri, married Mildred Kelley), Ellen (married Samuel Denny), Green Lee Poplin (married first Mary Walker, second Nancy Reynolds, and third Isabella Christian), and Schuyler Colfax (married Lelie I. Denny).

Elizabeth was the sixth child. She was born in 1819 and didn't marry.

The seventh child was Nancy, born 13 August 1821. She married William Arnold of Hawkins County and raised a family of at least two sons, George and William, Jr. They supposedly married sisters, Mary and Priscilla Loyd. William, Jr. and Priscilla Arnold are buried at McPheeters Bend Cemetery.

James M. was the youngest child of William and Elizabeth Scism. He was born 26 January 1826 and died during the Civil War. His wife was Anna Skelton, daughter of Reubin Skelton of Hawkins County. They had seven children, including Sarah (married John Woods), Nancy (married James Skelton), Mary (married Henry Dykes, and moved to Missouri), and Rubin (married Matilda Crodic).

There are many connections between the families of Scism, McPheeters, Skelton, Curry, Reynolds, Rea, Marshall, and Christian - both in Hawkins County, Tennessee and Stoddard County, Missouri.

Related stories:

The Marshall Family.

The McPheeters Family.

Sources:

The Scism & Allied Families, compiled by DeLos Scism, Scism Family Association, 1942.

Cemeteries of Hawkins County, Tennessee, Vol. 3, Hawkins County Genealogical & Historical Society, 1988.

Submitted by:

Jo Walker Liggett
(Great-great-great-great-granddaughter of William & Elizabeth Scism)
2706 S. 25th St.
Terre Haute, IN 47802-3402

David R. and Frances Roberta (SMITH) SCRUGGS

David Richard Scruggs, son of Arthur Bruce and Rosa Belle Heabler Scruggs, was born 29 March 1906 in Sweetwater, Tennessee. He was the grandson of Dr. Richard Francis Scruggs, the first graduate of Carson-Newman College at Jefferson City, Tennessee, and a great grandson of John Scruggs who came to Rogersville, Tennessee in 1826 to teach classical languages at McMinn Academy. He left Hawkins County in 1832 and later moved to Monroe County, Tennessee where he died in 1867.

David Scruggs married Frances Roberta Smith, daughter of Bert Edgar and Fannie M. Akard Smith, 12 January 1929 at Washington College, Tennessee. She was born 28 February 1903 at the old Hamilton home south of the Holston River near Church Hill, Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Roberta Smith graduated from Church Hill High School and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Carson-Newman College. Upon graduation she taught Home Economics at St. Clair, Tennessee and later at Washington College, Tennessee where she also coached girls' basketball. After her marriage, she moved to Monroe County, Tennessee and taught at Tellico Plains and Vonore until her husband entered the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the family moved to Springfield, Illinois.

David Scruggs began his career in law enforcement as Chief Deputy Sheriff of Monroe County, Tennessee and was a U.S. Deputy Marshall for the Eastern District of Tennessee. In 1937, he became a Special Agent for the FBI, serving as resident agent in various assignments in Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Tennessee, and Oklahoma, where he retired in 1959.

After retirement the Scruggs family moved to Church Hill, Tennessee, where they lived at the Smith home place on the Holston River. Mr. and Mrs. Scruggs were active in church and community affairs. He was a director of the Polled Hereford Association of East Tennessee and director of the Polled Hereford Association of Tennessee. She returned to teaching and was a member of the Association for the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities, the Tennessee Historical Society, and Retired Teachers Association.

Mr. Scruggs worked for the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Investigation and served as a consultant for the Kingsport, Tennessee Police Department. In 1969, he was appointed Director of The First Tennessee Region Law Enforcement Planning Agency, serving in that capacity until his death.

He was a member of the Criminal Justice Educators for the United States, served on the Advisory Board for the Curriculum of Criminal Justice System at East Tennessee State University and belonged to the Ex-FBI Agents Association.

David Scruggs was a dedicated law enforcement officer for over forty years. He frequently encouraged young people to enter the field of service in which he served so long and so well. He was instrumental in the development of the Criminal Justice Curriculum at East Tennessee State University.

The David R. Scruggs Memorial Award was established at East Tennessee State University in his memory in November 1973. The award is given annually to a graduating senior with an exceptional academic record and promise for contributing to the field of Criminal Justice. The David R. Scruggs Memorial Scholarships are given annually to undergraduates and are based on academic achievement, potential in the Criminal Justice field, and need.

Mr. Scruggs died 27 September 1973 at Kingsport, Tennessee. Mrs. Scruggs died there 19 September 1974. They are buried at Oak Hill Cemetery, Kingsport.

The children of David and Frances Roberta Smith Scruggs:

(1) Patricia Jane Scruggs (born 1930) married Donald C. Trolinger, USAF retired.

Their children: Richard James Trolinger (born 1956) married Jill Elaine Prater. He is Vice President of Green Country Savings and Loan in Miami, Oklahoma. Two children: Alexis Lee Trolinger (born 1983) and Ellie Alexandra Trolinger (born 1987).

Betty Ann Trolinger (born 1958) married Matthew Swift Giffhorn. Betty is a registered nurse at St. John Hospital, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Matt teaches high school English. Three children: Christopher Ryan and Benjamin Swift Giffhorn (born 1983) and Katharine McBride Giffhorn (born 1988).

(2) David Richard Scruggs, Jr. (born 1939) married 1-Diane Myers and 2-Jane (Hart) DeMier. He lives in Miami, Oklahoma and is Senior Regional Director for Bama Pie, Inc. of Tulsa.

Three children: David Richard Scruggs, III (born 1965) - daughter Lauren Elizabeth Scruggs (born 1991); Elizabeth Finley Scruggs (born 1967) married Daniel Richard Beard, II - son Richard Myers Beard (born 1992); and Andrew Myers Scruggs (born 1975).

(3) Susan Ann Scruggs (born 1942), a teacher in Kingsport, Tennessee.

Related Story:

Robert Hamilton, Sr.

Sources:

Personal Knowledge.

Scruggs family records in the possession of Patricia Scruggs Trolinger.

Submitted by:

Patricia Scruggs Trolinger
Ottawa Hill
Route 1, Box 154
Miami, OK 74354-9370

Henry Clinton SEAVER and Family

Henry Clinton Seaver was a Saddler who eventually became a merchant in Whitesburg, Hamblen County, Tn. Born 10 October 1833 in Hawkins Co., he was the third son of Jeremiah Seaver (1805-1869) and his wife, Nancy Thurman (1811-1850), their first child to reach maturity. On 8 April 1858 he married Helen Williams, born in Hawkins Co. 16 August 1841.

When Henry was only 25 years old with a bride of 6 months, he entered into an agreement dated 16 September 1858, and registered 30 May 1859 in Hawkins Co., to purchase from Henry Watter-son 7 lots in the town of Surgoinville, Hawkins Co., Tn. for $400.00. He sold the same 7 lots to Matthew Creasey in 1861 for $300.00!

The 8 children of Henry C. and Helen W. Seaver, all born in Hawkins County were: Laura Alice, born 9 September 1859, died 17 June 1922, married John Biddle Smith 12 December 1886, and is buried in Rutledge, Grainger County, Tn.; Harriet Paralee born 11 September 1861 in St. Clair, Hawkins Co., Tn., married Martin Dale Weems (1858-1923); John Williams, born 2 August 1863, died 23 November 1876; Robert (Bob) Lee, born 7 January 1866, married Ida Mae Fox; Mary Eliza (Mollie), born 3 November 1868, married Will Flora; Patrick Henry, born 24 January 1871, died 12 January 1960, married Hattie Reynolds, is buried in St. Clair; Verda, born 11 December 1873, died 15 June 1874; and Helen Ann, born 28 August 1875, died 6 December 1875.

Helen Ann died nearly 2 months after her mother's death on 27 October 1875, probably due to childbirth complications. Helen is buried in St. Clair Cemetery behind the Methodist Church.

Helen's parents were John Williams (1790-1864), Hawkins Co. farmer, and Ruth Harmon. They appear in the 1850 Hawkins Co. Census with 5 children: Joseph born 1821; Elisha born 1828; George born 1830; Harriet born 1836; and Helen. In his will, written in 1860, proved in 1864, John Williams mentions 6 other children: Anna, Nancy, James, Ruthy, John N., and Eliza. His will was carefully composed to establish equality and fairness in the distribution of his property. Daughter Helen is mentioned as "Helen W. Seaver" and H. C. Seaver is a witness to the will.

Henry Clinton Seaver married second, Narcissa Elizabeth Reeve, daughter of Thomas Jefferson Reeve and Rebecca Ann Earnest of Greene County. Elizabeth was born 19 March 1844 in Tennessee, probably Greene Co. H.C. and Elizabeth had two children. Pearl Reeve was born 20 December 1879 in St. Clair. She married Robert Sevier Rader. She died 22 January 1965 in Johnson City, Tn. and is buried in Whitesburg, Hamblen Co., Tn. Pearl's brother, Clyde Earnest, was born in 1882. He went west as a young man and was never heard from again.

The 1880 Hawkins Co. Census gives the following information: Severs, Henry male 46 saddler; Elizabeth female 36 keeping house; Alice, female 20; Robert male 14; Mary female 11; Patrick H. male 9; and Gus 6 months. "Gus" must be Pearl, who would have been approximately 6 months old at the time the census was taken.

Son Patrick Henry, known as P. H. Seaver, became deputy trustee and deputy circuit court clerk of Kingsport, Tn. and held the office for six years, succeeding W. P. Flora, his brother-in-law. He resigned due to ill health and was succeeded by W. C. Pectol of Sullivan County. At the time of Mr. Seaver's resignation, A. N. Hawk, circuit court clerk stated: "The resignation of Mr. Seaver is a distinct loss to Sullivan county of a man whose services have always been of the highest order. He has rendered Kingsport and Sullivan County invaluable service during the years he has held the offices."

Henry Clinton Seaver died on 28 March 1910 in Whitesburg, Hamblen County, Tn. and is buried in St. Clair Cemetery.

Related stories:

Jeremiah Seaver.

Jeremiah Seaver (1805-1861).

John Biddle and Laura (Seaver) Smith.

The Family of M. D. and Paralee (Seaver) Weems.

Sources:

1. H.C. Seaver Family Bible, Quaker City Publishing Co., Philadelphia, 1873, now in possession of Hugh Seaver, Greeneville, TN.

2. Hawkins Co. Cemeteries, Vol. 2. 3. Will of John Williams, Hawkins Co.

4. Census Records, Hawkins Co., TN 1850, 1880.

Submitted by:

Jane Stephenson Fairburn
314 Palmer Lane
McCormick, SC 29835

Jeremiah SEAVER

Jeremiah Seaver was an early resident of Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was the father of nineteen children, most of whom remained in Hawkins County. Jeremiah is, no doubt the ancestor of many present Hawkins Co. residents.

Jeremiah Seaver was born March 15, 1805. His place of birth is not certain, although Virginia is indicated by census records. He died July 28, 1869, and is buried at St. Clair. He appears to have had two brothers - Christopher and Joseph.

In the early 1800's Jeremiah Seaver moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee. He married first Nancy Thurman who was born December 6, 1811, in Hawkins County, and died in December of 1850. She is buried at the Surgoinville Community Cemetery. After Nancy's death, on September 4, 1851 he married Elvira Counts (Kountz) (October 9, 1829 - October 26, 1907).

Jeremiah and Nancy Thurman Seaver had ten sons and one daughter: William (February 27, 1829 - February 27, 1829), Joseph (March 27, 1830 - August 23, 1834); Henry Clinton (October 10, 1833 - March 28, 1910) who married (1) Helen Williams and (2) Narcissa Elizabeth Reeve; William Thurman (July 16, 1837 - August 5, 1837); John B. (September 1, 1838 - September 16, 1861) who married Emmaline Seaver; Wiley Winton (August 2, 1840 - February 5, 1920) who married (1) P. Yates and (2) Lula Morrison; Jeremiah Dicenson (December 27, 1841 - ?) who married Susan Yates; William Fulton (June 22, 1846 - February 29, 1920) who married Nancy (Nannie) Walters; George Curry (August 2, 1847 - 1935) who married (1) Hattie Ballard and (2) Mary Ruth Reeve; James Thomas (January 27, 1850 - ?) who married Mary Eliza Cross; and Nancy Susan (December 27, 1850 - ?) who married Arlen S. Hagood.

Jeremiah and Elvira Counts Seaver had five daughters and three sons: Mary (born November 2, 18--) who married W. B. Hagood; Frances (born 1853) who married George W. Carr; Christopher (born March 30, 1855) who married Fannie Camp (Campbell); Matilda (born November 3, 1857) who married Calvin C. Dotson; Margaret Elizabeth (September 28, 1860 - June 25, 1936) who married William Kincaid; Campbell Walter (November 9, 1863 - December 20 1956) who married Ada Rhea Darden; Lillie Bell (October 17, 1866 - 1950) who married William Hunt; and Ap Percell (born March 11, 1869) who married Lillie Hutchens.

Related stories:

Henry Clinton Seaver and Family.

Jeremiah Seaver (1805-1861).

John Biddle and Larua (Seaver) Smith.

The Family of M. D. and Paralee (Seaver) Weems.

Sources:

U. S. Census Records.

Bibles - H. C. Seaver and one of Margaret Louise Seaver McMackin.

Tennessee cemetery records.

Family records of Virginia Radar Clemmer.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Marjorie Smith Stadelmeyer
13930 Lake Candlewood Court
Miami Lakes, FL 33014*

Jeremiah SEAVER (1805-1861)

Jeremiah Seaver was born March 15, 1805 in Virginia. He came to Hawkins County with his two brothers, Christopher and Joseph. It is unclear when the three arrived in Hawkins County. The Seaver name has long been connected to the harness and saddle business. Following family tradition, Jeremiah was a Saddler.

Jeremiah Seaver certainly arrived in Hawkins County prior to 1827 because about then he married Nancy Thurman who was born in Tennessee December 6, 1811. Their first child, William, was born February 27, 1829, but died the same day. Jeremiah appears on the 1830 Hawkins County Census with one female between the ages of 15 and 20 years and a male child between the ages of 0 and 5 years. Nancy was age 19 and son Joseph, who was born March 27, 1830, would have been less than a year old when the census was taken. This son died before reaching age 4.

Jeremiah and Nancy had 9 other children, 8 of whom reached adulthood and married. They were: Henry Clinton (1833-1910); William Thurman (1837-1837); John (1838-1861); Winton Wiley (or Wiley Winton) (1840-1920); Dickerson (Dickason) Jeremiah (b. 1841); William Fulton (1846-1920); George Curry (1847-1935); James Thomas (b. 1848); Nancy Susan (b. 1850).

Nancy Thurman Seaver died 27 Dec 1850 in St. Clair, Hawkins County. On 4 Sep. 1851, Jeremiah married Elvira Kountz in Hawkins Co. Jeremiah and Elvira were the parents of eight children: Mary; Frances (born 1853); Christopher (born 30 March 1855); Matilda (born 3 Nov. 1857); Margaret Elizabeth (born 28 Sep. 1860); Campbell Walter (born 9 Nov. 1863); Lillie Bell (1866-1950); and Ap Percell (born 11 March 1869).

During his younger years Mr. Seaver apparently needed a loan. A Deed of Trust shows that on 5 July 1834 Jeremiah Seaver borrowed $300.00 from Absalom L. Bivins with John I. Bivens as Trustee. Jeremiah pledged ALL of his worldly goods as collateral - including an impressive inventory of saddles, bridles, and reins, right down to the kitchen table and the family Bible if he didn't pay the entire debt by the 25th day of December 1834. No record was found to indicate payment, but it is presumed he did pay the debt.

At least three of Jeremiah's sons served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. Dickason Jeremiah Seaver, variously listed as Jeremiah D.; J.D.; & Dickason in the Records, enlisted at age 22 for a three year term and became a Private in Co. A, 12th Battalion (Day's) Tennessee Cavalry. He was taken prisoner, swore an Oath of Allegiance to the U.S., and was released in "the north", which, for him, was Louisville, KY. His physical description was given as: Complexion - fair; Hair - dark; Eyes - black; Height - 5'10". Records state he deserted at Kingsport, Tennessee 28 February 1865.

Winton Seaver was listed in Records as Winton W. Severs; Winton Wiley, W. W., and Wiley W. He enlisted at Lyon's Store on 21 May 1863 for 3 years when he was 20 years old. He served in Co. C, 12th Battalion (Day's) Tennessee Cavalry, and his history is essentially the same as his brother Dickason, including capture at Kingsport, Oath of Allegiance and release in Louisville, Ky. His physical description was: Complexion - dark; Hair - dark; Eyes - dark; Height - 5'9".

Fulton was in Co. A, 12th Battalion, Tennessee Cavalry. He would have been 16 years old if he enlisted with his two older brothers. Records did not indicate other details of his service.

Jeremiah Seaver was 60 years old when the Civil War started. He had 5 sons of fighting age - 3 served and returned home. Did John also serve? He died on 16 September 1861. Was he an early war casualty? Did Henry Clinton serve in the military? No evidence was found to answer these questions. Jeremiah died in Whitesburg, Hamblen Co., Tn. on 28 July 1869 at age 64, survived by 15 of his children.

Related stories:

Jeremiah Seaver.

Henry Clinton Seaver and Family.

The Family of M. D. and Paralee (Seaver) Weems.

John Biddle and Laura (Seaver) Smith.

Sources:

1. 1830, 1840, & 1850 Census Records, Hawkins Co., TN.

2. Hawkins Co. Cemeteries, Vols. 1, 2, & 4.

3. Hawkins County Marriages, 1789-1865, by Pollyanna Creekmore.

4. H.C. Seaver Family Bible, Quaker City Publishing Co., Philadelphia, 1873, now in possession of Hugh Seaver, Greeneville, TN.

5. Information from Marjorie S. Stadelmeyer which she obtained through Margaret Louise Seaver McMackin from the Old Seaver Family Bible.

6. TN State Archives, Roll 37, Hawkins Co. Will Book 15, pp. 59-60.

7. Military Records, Civil War, Microfilm Roll 54 TN State Archives, Micro Copy #268.

Submitted by:

Jane Stephenson Fairburn
314 Palmer Lane
McCormick, SC 29835

SENSABAUGH

Some of the following material has been handed down by family; I have been able to prove some information by public records and have so indicated.

John Sensabaugh died in Augusta Co., Virginia, about 1803. He left no will, but there are deeds on file of the disposal of his property by his heirs. He married Eve or Eva and had thirteen children. A son, David, born in 1775 (according to later census records), moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee, about 1794 with two of his brothers, Jacob and Henry. David and Jacob remained in Hawkins County; Henry moved to the west.

David married Katherine Groves and they had three children: David Jr., Nancy, and Joseph. Two of Joseph's sons, Marion and John, died during battle of the Civil War. Records from the National Archives indicate that a third son of Joseph, Leon (Leonidas), served as surgeon with a North Carolina cavalry unit.

After David Sr.'s first wife died, he married Nancy Shanks sometime before 1811. Nancy may have been a daughter of the Michael Shanks who moved from Greenbrier County, Virginia, to Hawkins County in 1802. David and Nancy had eight children: Elizabeth, John L., Michael, Henry, Jacob M., Christian G., Susan, and Richard M.

Christian married Catherine Schenk (Shanks) in 1849 and lived on the site of what is now the Rogan farm on Big Creek. They are buried in the cemetery on the farm. While there are no gravestones there for David and Nancy, I think it is logical to assume that they are buried there inasmuch as the Federal census in 1860 shows David, age 85 and born in Virginia, and Nancy, age 74 and born in Virginia, living with their son, Christian. The 1870 census shows Nancy, age 84, still living with Christian; David's will was proven in 1862 and is on record at the Hawkins County Court House.

Susan Sensabaugh, daughter of David and Nancy, married James Amis in 1848. They raised nine daughters on the property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berry in Big Creek. Their fourth daughter, Eliza, married James B. Goodrum; Eliza and James were my grandparents. Up on the hill behind the Berry home I have seen gravestones for Susan Sensabaugh, her oldest daughter Lucy (married to James E. Lee) and Charles, infant son of Lucy. There are also pieces of other gravestones and it is probable that James Amis is buried there; it has been said that he wanted to be buried there because of the grand view. He was right; it is a lovely view of Tennessee hills, near and distant.

According to records of the U.S. Post Office Department, the Amis Post Office was established in 1880 on Big Creek directly across the road from the home of James Amis. In 1884 D. H. Sensabaugh was Postmaster there, and I feel that he was the David Hiram Sensabaugh who earlier in that same year married Mary Elizabeth Amis, daughter of James and Susan (Sensabaugh) Amis. David H. was the son of Christian Sensabaugh, brother of Susan.

David H. and Mary (Amis) Sensabaugh had four children: Leslie, Elsie, Inez, and Ira. The family is buried in the cemetery near their home on Alum Well Road.

Readers of this article would do well to contact Sensabaugh family members still living in the Rogersville area to gain more information about other Sensabaugh family lines.

Submitted by:

Laura Goodrum Bailey
8 Gr. Meadow Ferry Rd.
Westmoreland, NH 03467

Oliver Miller and Mary Emeline (PAYNE) SHANKS

Mary Emeline Payne (b. January 9, 1862-d. July 25, 1918), daughter of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to Oliver Miller Shanks (b. September 12, 1857-d. March 22, 1943), son of Daniel and Martha I. Miller Shanks. To this union the following children were born: Cora Jane (b. May 29, 1886-d. May 17, 1979), Sallie Mae (b. April 9, 1889-d. August 15, 1973), and William Charles (b. September 13, 1890-date of death unknown).

Oliver Miller Shanks was first married to Ella Virginia Howery (b. April 28, 1861-d. April 7, 1884), by whom he had two sons, Daniel Wilson and Michael Howery (b. 1881-d. January 18, 1975).

Mary Emeline Payne Shanks is buried in the Payne Family Cemetery; Oliver Miller Shanks is buried in the Rogersville Methodist Church Cemetery, as are his parents; and Ella Virginia Howery Shanks is buried in the Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Rogersville. Oliver Miller Shanks had one sister, Narcissus, who married John Shelton. After Mary's death, Mr. Shanks married Nancy Webb. She was called "Aunt Nancy" by Mr. Shanks' grandchildren.

Cora Jane was married to Ernest Leroy McDaniel (b. January 3, 1887-d. September 28, 1972) on November 21, 1909. There was a son born on July 29, 1910, who died on August 2, 1910. There were also two daughters, Mary Virginia (b. September 24, 1912) and Hazel Christine (b. December 20, 1915). Virginia married Roy Henry Greene (b. May 22, 1908), and Hazel married William Edward Price, Jr. (b. March 23, 1914).

Hazel and William Edward Price, Jr. were the parents of the following sons: Roy Edward Price (b. May 19, 1938), Ronald Lewis (b. June 21, 1943), and Marvin Ralph (b. November 14, 1946).

Roy Edward Price is married to Carolyn Ann Hall (b. December 4, 1940), and they are the parents of Lisa Ann (b. December 4, 1963). Lisa Ann was married to Barry Brian Collette on May 14, 1987 at Temple Baptist Church, Kingsport. Roy Edward works for Tennessee Eastman Company.

Ronald Lewis Price was married to Mary Ann Enix on December 23, 1961, and later divorced. There was one son from this union: Robert Mark Price (b. October 2, 1966). By his second wife, Patty, there was a son, William Todd (b. February 6, 1974).

Marvin Ralph Price and his wife Mary are the parents of two children. He is employed by Tennessee Eastman Company.

Sallie was married to Samuel Porter Price (b.. September 20, 1884-d. December 24, 1961). They had the following children: Harvey Miller (b. October 17, 1909-d. November 5, 1926), Clarence Chester (b. April 5, 1912-d. December 28, 1969), Eldridge Hale (b. April 13, 1920-d. August 28, 1991), and Mary Ada (b. August 28, 1922).

William Charles (Charlie) was married to Maude May Conard (b. November 28, 1895) on January 29, 1921. Their children are Juanita Roberta (b. April 27, 1922-d. September 1984), and Roy Kenneth (b. September 11, 1929).

Juanita married Larry Foree Mathews (b. October 25, 1920-d. before September 1984), and there were three children: Marilyn Sue (b. June 8, 1946), Mary Lanita (b. September 19, 1947), and Larry Charles (b. February 25, 1951). Juanita and her husband are buried in Hamblen Memorial Gardens, Morristown.

Roy Kenneth was married to Betty Sue Lane (b. February 25, 1928) in December of 1955. Their son is Michael Roy (b. September 12, 1958).

Daniel Wilson Shanks was married to Roxie (SNU). She was born May 20, 1888-d. April 11, 1914. They had three sons, Oliver, Robert, and Miller.

Michael Howery Shanks was married first to Carrie Wells (b. 1884-d. 1957), by whom he had a daughter, Nanabell (b. May 25, 1905). His second wife was Cornie Burns who had two children by her first marriage, Nina Burns (married G. L. Taber), and W. J. Burns. Carrie W. Shanks is buried in the Burem and Gillenwaters Cemetery.

Nanabell was married to Rufus Baker (b. July 7, 1902), son of Dr. J. K. Baker, of Mooresburg. They had one son, Jesse (b. February 2, 1927-d. at age 65).

Michael's obituary stated that he was survived by seven grandchildren, six great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild.

Related Stories:

Payne - Whitson.

Samuel Porter and Sallie Mae (Shanks) Price.

Submitted by:

*Virginia McDaniel Greene
Box 251, Phillips Town Rd.
Bulls Gap, TN 37711*

Mary Kathleen (GARDNER) SHEPARD

Mary Kathleen Gardner was born to parents, John Wiley "Rock" Gardner (17 June 1871-23 April 1966) and his wife Mary Ann Jones Gardner (6 June 1874-20 February 1940), on 27 June 1905. Kathleen was born in Van Hill, Hawkins County, Tennessee. She had one older sister, Lena Mable, and one older brother, Charlie Miles, who died as an infant. Rock was owner of the Van Hill Store for many, many years. He was also the postmaster. Anytime there was a baseball game on radio, you could count on him to be listening. Rock was the son of Jarvis Wiley Gardner and his wife Mary Ann "Polly" Weems. Mary Ann Jones Gardner was the daughter of Abraham Weems (1800-1877) and his second wife Elizabeth Davis Weems (1815-1890).

Kathleen and Mable were always competing for all the handsome men in the area and all the ones who would be travelling through the hamlet. There were lots of salesmen and surveyors that boarded in the local homes while they worked in the area. On one occasion, Mable was trying on a new frilly dress that an aunt had made for her, when her father's sister invited Mable's boyfriend into the bedroom to see her new frock. Kathleen, who was dressed only in her undergarments, had to hide under the bed quickly. She said that she was under the bed for the longest time! Her aunt thought it was so funny!

Kathleen had a horse when she was a young lady, and she always rode side-saddle. She rode the horse down the dirt road from her home and only rode a certain distance each time. Then she would turn around and ride back home. One day her mother wanted to go visit a friend, and she borrowed Kathleen's horse. When the horse reached the spot where Kathleen always stopped, he stopped and would not take another step, so her mother tied the horse to a fence post and walked the other mile to her friend's house. After her visit, she walked back to the horse that was still tied to the fence post, and rode the other mile or so to her home. Kathleen thought it was funny and never told her mother why the horse stopped.

Kathleen married Paul Etter Shepard, in a double wedding ceremony with her friends, on October 28, 1923. Paul and Kathleen had four children, three of which were born in Van Hill, and one in Rogersville. Mary Pauline was the first child, followed by Charles Gordel, James Rolland, and Peggy Deanna. They raised their children in the log house on West Main Street in Rogersville which was torn down for the new highway exchange.

Kathleen loved to read, piece quilts, cook and work in the yard. She always loved flowers.

Jobs were hard to find in the 40's, and Paul had to go where there was work. He worked building ships in Portland, Oregon, and also homes in Oak Ridge, Tennessee during the big buildup. He worked for A.E. Henard Lumber Company in Rogersville, and built homes in the Rogersville area. In the early 50's he took a job as a carpenter with Union Carbide in Oak Ridge. Paul and Kathleen moved to Oak Ridge in 1952. James Rolland and Peggy Deanna, still living at home, moved also and finished school at Oak Ridge High in 1954 and 1956.

Kathleen took all the flowers from Rogersville to Oak Ridge that she could carry. They lived there from 1952 to 1959, then moved into a new home that Paul built in the Claxton community near Oak Ridge and Clinton. And the flowers moved again! Paul had his woodworking shop in the basement and Kathleen had her hobbies and her flowers and they were very happy. They had their grandchildren that came to visit each holiday and summer vacation, and they had neighbors that were just great! Paul and Kathleen had 11 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Paul died 27 January 1978. He was 74 years old. Kathleen lived at home until May of 1992, when she had a stroke and moved to New Martinsville, West Virginia, where her two sons lived. She lived there until her death on 22 December 1993. She was flown home to Tennessee and buried on 26 December at Tennessee Valley Memorial Gardens where her late husband Paul was buried. Her daughter Deanna Slover continues to live in her home in Powell.

Related Stories:

James Gardner Family.

The Weems Family.

Submitted by:

Deanna Shepard Slover
258 Sherwood Road
Powell, TN 37849

SHIFLETTE

The first Shiflette (also spelled Shiflet or Shiflett) ancestor to enter the Hawkins Co., Tennessee area was Steven (or Stephen) Shiflette. He moved to Tennessee from Albemarle Co. in Virginia in early 1800. He was less than 30 years old at the time. On January 10, 1807 he opened a store account with Phillip Shale at a boat yard. The area is now Kingsport, Tennessee. He bought land on Patterson Creek from James Warren on February 13, 1827. We know he had not brought his family with him to Tennessee until he opened the store account in 1807 because Derrett Shiflette (his fourth son) was born in 1805 in Virginia.

Derrett (the next Shiflette in our line) remained in Hawkins County for the rest of his life. There he married Elizabeth Daugherty (who was born in Hawkins County) and his children were born there.

Jacob Shiflette, his first son, however moved to the Tazwell area of Tennessee, where he married his first wife, Eliza Orlena Lane, and later relocated to Kentucky where the last of our branch of the Shiflette line died in 1980.

Related Story:

The Austin Shiflett Family

Sources:

Sam Shiflett of Speedwell, TN.

James Winton Shiflet (dec'd) of Barbourville, KY.

Submitted by:

L. G. & Lenora Hoover
1991 Hodgenville Rd.
Elizabethtown, KY 42701

The Austin SHIFLETT Family

In the 1830 U.S. Census for Tennessee, there were four Shiflett¹ households, and all resided in Hawkins County. The Shiflett families were listed under the given names of John and Stephen (both between 50-60 years) and Austin and Anderson (both between 20-30 years). It is believed that these four families were all related, specifically that John and Stephen were either brothers or cousins, and that Austin and Anderson were sons of John. Hawkins County records, however, have not yielded specific information in this regard, probably due to the destruction of key documents during the Civil War.

Little is known about the family origins prior to Tennessee and exactly when the Shifletts arrived in Hawkins Co. However, in History of Albemarle County in Virginia, John is shown to have emigrated to Hawkins County, Tn. (no date). At the library in Rogersville, Tn. microfilm records of a ledger book from a store near New Canton, Tn. show that Stephen had an account as early as 1810. The printed index for the 1840 U.S. Census in Tennessee shows John and Stephen in Hamilton Co. but the original copy correctly shows them in Hawkins Co. By 1850, John had died and Stephen was no longer found in the Tn. census. Hawkins Co. deed records in 1841 show an indenture between "... Frances Shiflett widow of John Shiflet ... " for land on the north side of the Holston River on Robertson's Gap. This document also stipulated that after Frances' death the land would be deeded to Noah Spitzer (also "Spitser"), whose wife Nancy is believed to be John and Frances Shiflett's daughter. Frances "Fanny" Shiflett and Nancy Shiflett (later Spitser) are seen on the Hickory Cove Baptist Church membership records as early as 1833. Fanny was listed as deceased in 1856.

Austin Shiflett was born 12 October 1800 in Virginia. Hawkins County marriage records show on 18 February 1823 that Austin and John Loughmiller were bound in the sum of $1250.00 for Austin's marriage to Elizabeth Francisco (daughter of John Francisco²), born ca. 1802 in Tennessee. Austin's earliest known land transaction was in 1825 when he and Sally Hagood bought approximately 110 acres on Caldwell's Creek (registered in 1829). In 1827 Austin received a land grant from the State of Tennessee for land on the north side of the Holston River adjoining lands of Shiflett, Loughmillers, Carter, and Forgey (registered in 1831).

When in Bradley Co., Tn. in 1841, Austin sold his Hawkins Co. land and later resided in Meigs Co., Tn. until his death. He obtained land grants for several hundred additional acres. In 1840, Anderson also was living in Bradley Co., and he obtained land grants in Bradley and Polk Counties. Land records in Hawkins Co. show that Anderson (also read as "Andrew") Shiflett of Bradley Co. sold "six town lots" in the town of Surgoinsville, Tn. in 1841.

Austin and Elizabeth Shiflett had 10 children: (1) Sarah Amanda (ca. 1825-1895), married Andrew Campbell; (2) Mary Ann (ca. 1827-1897), married Joseph Cofer; (3) John A. (ca. 1828-1865), no known marriage; (4) Nancy Jane (1829-1908), married John Cofer; (5) George W. (ca. 1832-1859), married Isabella (Hayes?); (6) Austin Clinton (1835-1908), married Maryline Neeley; (7) Benjamin F. (1838-1859), no known marriage; (8) Andrew Jackson (1840-1915), married Sarah (Heizer?); (9) Francis Marion (1843-1909 in Tx.), married Permelia Fitzgerald; and (10) Harriett

E. (1845-1917), married 1st Jesse N. Witt, and married 2nd James R. Aiken.

In addition to farming the land, Austin, and later his son Austin Clinton, were saddlers by trade and their tannery was said to be one of the oldest in East Tennessee. They were also known to be strong Union sympathizers during the Civil War.

Austin died on 20 November 1874 at the age of 74, and Elizabeth on 1 January 1877 at about 75 years of age. Both are buried in the Francisco Family Cemetery, along with their son Benjamin F., located in Bradley Co., Tn.

Notes:

1 Variant spellings include, but are not limited to, Shefflet, Shifflet, Shifflett, Shifflette, Shiflet, Shiftell, Shifter, Shiftile, Shiplett, and Shipley. See Stephen Shiflet Family in this publication.

2 See Francisco Family in this publication.

Related Stories:

John and George Francisco.

Shifflette.

Sources:

1. U.S. Federal Census for the State of Tennessee 1830-1920.

2. History of Albemarle County in Virginia, by Rev. Edgar Woods, 1901, Charlottesville, Va., Appendix 8, Emigrants from Albemarle to Other States.

3. Microfilm records at the H. B. Stamps Memorial Library in Rogersville, Hawkins Co., Tn. including films titled "Ledger of Store (name unknown) located near New Canton, Hawkins Co., Tn." and "Hickory Cove Baptist Church Records."

4. Hawkins Co., Tn., Land & Property Deeds, Bk 18, p. 18.

5. Bradley Co., Tn. Cemetery records and personal visits to the Francisco Family Cemetery.

6. Hawkins Co., Tn. Marriage Records, Vol. 1, p. 73.

7. Will of John Francisco. Willbook 1836-1850, Meigs Co. Tn., pp. 44, 45, 108, 131, 132, 207, 208, 254, 256, probated 1 April 1849.

8. Hawkins Co., Tn., Land & Property Deeds, Bk. 4, p. 296 (transferred from old Bk. 12, p. 112).

9. State of Tennessee Land Grant records #17144 for Hawkins Co.

10. Hawkins Co., Tn., Land & Property Deeds, Bk. 18, p. 166.

11. State of Tennessee Land Grant records, Ocoee District Nos. 1663, 1666, 4587, 4921, 5680.

12. State of Tennessee Land Grant records, Ocoee District Nos. 2156 (or 2150) in Bradley Co., 2859 and 3859 in Polk Co.

13. Hawkins Co., Tn., Land & Property Deeds, Bk. 17, p. 274.

14. Bradley Co., Tn. Marriage Records, 1886, p. 303.

15. Early East Tennessee Marriages, Sistler, Vol. 1, Grooms, p. 331; Vol. 2, Brides p. 330.

16. 35,000 Tennessee Marriage Records and Bonds, edited by Lucas and Shefffield, pp. 205 and 269.

17. Will of Austin Shiflet, Willbook 1858-1881, Meigs Co., Tn., pp. 344, 345, 351, 352, 386, 387, 408, 417, 418, 476.

18. Will of George W. Shifflett, Willbook 1858-1881, Meigs Co., Tn., pp. 30, 216, 226, 264, 367.

19. Will of John Francisco, Willbook 1836-1850, Meigs Co., Tn., pp. 44, 45, 108, 131, 132, 207, 208, 254, 256.

20. Will of John Cofer, Administrator's Settlements, Vol. 2, 1877-1895, Meigs Co., Tn., pp. 347-348.

21. Will of Mary Ann Cofer, probated July Term, 1898, Meigs Co., Tn., p. 138.

22. Bradley Co., TN., death certificates for Andrew J. Shiflett and Harriett Shiflett 1) Witt, 2) Aiken.

23. Personal visit to headstones at Cofer Family Cemetery in Meigs Co., Tn.

24. Personal visit to New Chatfield Cemetery in Chatfield, Tx.

25. Personal interviews with Shiflett and allied families descendants.

26. Personal Family Records.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Boleynn R. Wilson
(Great, great granddaughter of Austin Shiflett; great granddaughter of Austin Clinton Shiflett)
5003 Pack Saddle Pass
Austin, TX 78745

George W., and Mary (McKENZIE) SHIPLEY

George Washington Shipley, son of Nathan Roller and Mary Ann (Fansler) Shipley, was born 7 November 1862 in Sullivan County, Tennessee. He married on 11 March 1883, Mary Elizabeth McKenzie, born on 16 April 1857, and died 7 January 1926, daughter of John M. and Mary Ann (McCorkle) McKenzie, granddaughter of Greenberry George and Rebecca (Blair) McKenzie, who came to Sullivan Co. about 1826, from Grayson Co., Virginia. Mary has thirteen brothers and sisters.

George W. and Mary (McKenzie) Shipley lived in the Bell Ridge section of Sullivan Co., where they had ten children. After their children married, most of them went to Hawkins Co., where George died 19 December 1922. They are both buried in the Wills Cemetery in Hawkins Co. Their children were: Della Dixon, Cordie Ann, Ora Nathan, Etta Harrison, Lena Ethel, Samuel Roller, James Hiram, John E., Goldie Mae, and Mary Mabel.

Della Dixon Shipley (1 April 1885-3 September 1957) married 17 August 1902 to George Thomas Click, and had children: Lucian Horton Click (22 July 1903-7 May 1981) married Lessie Mae Parker; Mary Helen Click (born 15 June 1905) married Fred Elbert Price; Eliza E. Click (born 15 August 1906) married Logan Taylor; George Thomas Click, Jr. (25 May 1908-11 January 1983) married Eva Bell Carter; L. Pearl Click (12 May 1910-3 November 1983) married Joseph Lee Glover; Fred Ray Click (born 23 May 1913) married Mary Ruth Mitchell; Harold Dewey Click (born 23 November 1915) married 1st Emma Elizabeth Lynch, and 2nd Wilma Sue Bond Tabor; Mabel Click (2 September 1917-8 August 1937), never married;

Clarence Click (29 May 1919-11 March 1923); Gladys Pauline Click (born 11 October 1924) married Elmer K. Sexton.

Cordie Ann Shipley (10 September 1886-26 March 1959) married on 26 November 1913 to Orville Hamilton, and had one child: Dessa Hamilton (born 11 October 1914) married on 1 September 1979 to Jesse E. York.

Ora Nathan Shipley (21 September 1887-19 August 1977) married on 22 December 1907 Mary Lou Smith, and had 3 children: Worley W. Shipley (born 18 November 1910) married Lockie L. Grimm; George Hubert Shipley (18 September 1914-29 November 1986), married on 12 July 1938 Betty Frances Smith; and Ora Nathan Shipley, Jr. (born 25 August 1918), married 1st Nell Leonard, 2nd .

Etta Harrison Shipley (12 May 1889-27 October 1923), married John W. McCracken, and had 4 children: Willie O. McCracken, married Jane Spivey; Sherid Lyle McCracken (born 15 May 1914) married Angeline Hayes; Ruby Cleo McCracken (born 30 September 1916) married 21 August 1935 to John E. Shoemaker; and Juanita McCracken (born 1 April 1920), married 1st 21 October 1939 Joseph E. Clark, and 2nd on 25 August 1979 to Reeser Parker.

Lena Ethel Shipley (12 September 1891-19 January 1980) married on 26 May 1910 to Henry Bellamy, and had three children: Paul Burton Bellamy (13 February 1911-1965) married 1st Beulah Chandler, and 2nd Margaret McDaniels; Earl Cranston (Luke) Bellamy (11 August 1913-8 December 1986) married Mabel Morrison; and Georgia Elizabeth Bellamy (born 26 May 1917) married on 13 September 1937 to Charlie Palmer.

Samuel Roller Shipley (27 June 1892-15 May 1983) married 1st on 13 June 1915 Ethel P. Sandidge, and had one daughter, Mary Beuna Shipley (1 February 1916-1991), married Buford Roscoe Blevins. Samuel married 2nd on 19 January 1919 to Faynette (Faye) Monroe, and had 3 children: Aldameda Shipley (born 8 January 1920) married 1st on 19 August 1940 to Clinton E. Haynes, and 2nd Morris Landiss; Beulah Ruth Shipley (born 2 May 1911) married Hugh Summers Bellamy; and Selma Alice Shipley (born 21 June 1924) married Howard C. Shoemaker.

James Hiram Shipley (6 May 1894-1968) married 1st Maude Franklin Carmack, 2nd Long, and 3rd Lucille McDaniel, and had children: James Carlyle Shipley (born 5 June 1920), Bertram Hale Shipley (born November 1921) married Iris Arthur; Leonard Eugene Shipley (November 1923-21 September 1972) married Jeanne Kirkwood; Agnes A. Shipley died as an infant; Frances Marie Shipley (born 19 October 1928) married Albert Earl King, Jr.; Anna Shipley (born 13 March 1934) married Paul R. Rudder; and George L. Shipley (born 13 March 1934) married 1st Jean Kenner, 2nd Bobby .

John E. Shipley (born 22 June 1896, died in infancy.

Goldie Mae Shipley (27 August 1898-8 December 1976) married on 4 July 1915 to William Muck Leonard, and had one child: Alberta Leonard (born 9 August 1917) married on 25 November 1933 to Emory Morgan Edwards.

Mary Mabel Shipley (16 July 1900-19 June 1972) married 1st I.E. Jones, and had 2 sons: H. Carl Jones, and L.D. Jones.

Related Stories:

Click.

Fansler Family.

Written by:

Elizabeth S. Collins
1800 Stratford Rd.
Kingsport, TN 37664

Submitted by:

Mary Click Price
351 McKenzie Dr.
Kingsport, TN 37660

Christian and Catherine (AMEND/EMMONS) SIMMONS

On 9 November 1738, Jacob Simon and his brother arrived in America aboard the ship Charming Nancy. Family tradition tells us that Jacob married and had ten children, then was widowed. He later married a widow named Margaret Saylor, who also had ten children. In addition to this already large family, Jacob and Margaret had four sons, Adam, Phillip, Christian, and John. Adam died an old bachelor. Phillip married Catharine Crater on 26 March 1788, and they later moved to Clark Co., OH. Christian and John (twins) moved with their parents from York Co., PA, to Botetourt Co., VA. In December, 1798 John married Rozena Krotzner and many of their descendants still live in Simmonsville. On 8 August 1791, Christian Simmons married Catherine Amend/Emmons in Botetourt Co., VA.

Christian and Catherine lived in the area of Greenbriar, VA/WV, for approximately 10 years. Their children Margaret (9 December 1792-6 March 1865), Elizabeth (16 June 1794-12 October 1880), Susanna (19 July 1796-18...), and Jacob (20 August 1798-29 January 1867) are presumed to have been born in that area. Then, on 21 January 1801, Christian bought land on the north side of Big Creek in Stanley Valley, and moved his family there. His daughter Catherine was born there later that year (9 September 1801-29 December 1888). The remaining children in this family were: Mary (6 April 1803-...), Martha (23 September 1806-...), Samuel (15 November 1809-...), George (11 December 1811-...), and Anna (20 January 1816-14 August 1909) were all born in Hawkins Co., TN. Again, family tradition tells us that Christian was a Church of the Brethren minister (as are several of his descendants even today.

Margaret married Edward David Molsbee (11 February 1794-18 April 1864). They had nine children: Catherine married John Kensinger, II, Joseph died of smallpox during the Civil War, Mary married Simeon Isenberg on 8 September 1844 in Rogersville, William married Mary Magdeline Miller on 18 November 1847 in Hawkins County, Margaret married William P. Kensinger, Anna married John F. Shanks, Rachel married James K. Davis, Abraham married Susan Shanks Looney, and his twin brother Samuel married Sarah Gillenwaters on 27 November 1859 in Rogersville. Abraham and Susan left Tennessee and settled in Nocona, Montague County, TX, where many of their descendants still live.

Elizabeth married Jacob Isenberg (23 September 1790-27 January 1861) on 16 April 1811 in Hawkins County. They had eleven children: Joseph married Matilda Klepper on 22 December 1836, John married Martha Winegar on 13 February 1843, Simeon married Mary Molsbee on 8 September 1844, an infant son was born 19 January 1822 and died 24 January 1822, Katherine married Elijah J. Henard, Elizabeth married John Mallory on 22 June 1841, Matilda married Joseph Eidson on 11 February 1858, Benjamin married Elizabeth Miller on 16 September 1852, Jacob married Margaret Klepper on 5 August 1855, George married Susannah Winegar on 26 October 1856, and Martha married Abraham Still on 16 November 1865. This entire family lived in or near Rogersville.

Susanna never married. According to family tradition, she was engaged to a man named either Gilliam or Vaughn, but when she became pregnant he abandoned her. She had one child, John, and she died when he was approximately three years old. He was then raised by his grandmother and his maiden aunt, Catherine.

Jacob married Elizebeth Loudermilch (28 December 1805-12 October 1880) and they had six children: Mary never married, Christian married Hannah Bell Miller on 30 December 1849 and after her death he married Anna Wine on 8 March 1855 in Washington Co., TN. He built the first Cedar Grove Church of the Brethren and was a pastor there. Catherine, Jacob, John, and Elizabeth never married. Jacob died when he was about six months old. (Three Loudermilch sister came from Sullivan Co., TN. Catherine married Jacob's brother George, and Mary married Jacob Klepper).

Catherine married William Francisco (15 July 1806-25 December 1854). They had no children, but William had five children by his first wife, Amanda Chambers.

Mary married John Shanks and family tradition tells us they moved north during the Civil War.

Martha married Benjamin Walker Vaughan and they had five children: Lucinda married David D. Anderson, Samuel and Benjamin apparently never married, Robert died at the "skirmish" at Mossy Creek [ed: Jefferson City], and Martha also apparently never married.

Samuel never married but died rather young as a result of being struck by lightning.

George married Catherine Loudermilch. They had eleven children: Susannah married George Arnold on 18 April 1853, Elizabeth married Peter Miller on 17 December 1855, Jacob married Martha J. Thacker on 14 September 1856, Hiram never married, Delilah married John Klepper on 13 February 1859, Mary married Jesse Miles on 16 October 1873, Martha married Andrew Shanks on 30 August 1868, nothing is known of Abraham or Samuel or George, and Ellen married Hanner Andrew Shanks.

Anna married John Price on 4 February 1841 and they had seven children: Rosanna married Wells Jones, Mary Catherine married Robert Rice on 26 March 1868, Milton never married, Sarah married Lewis Jones, Robert married Margaret Derrick 16 February 1879, Martha never married, George married Nancy Palmer on 16 June 1883, John Paul married Eliza Fields on 14 February 1850, Stephen married Sarah Walters 7 July 1883 and then Millie Hopper in December 1920 (in Alpena, AR). (John and Anna moved to Humansville, MO in 1885, and about 1890 their son Robert moved to Arkansas and John and others soon followed).

Susanna's son John married Catherine's step-daughter Mary Francisco. They had 12 children. The two oldest, William and Amanda, died of the "flux" while in their teens. As a young man, Thomas Jefferson Simmons answered an advertisement for a minister in Osceola, MO. There was a large Church of the Brethren congregation in the area, but it was split by the river, and during the rainy season half the congregation could not get to church, so they decided to have a church on each side of the river. Several of Thomas' brothers and sisters went with him, but only his sister Rachel (and her husband, William Kyle Henderson) stayed. Sister Anna and her husband John Price stayed for a while, but then moved on to Arkansas. Brother James and his wife Elizabeth Gross moved on into Oklahoma Indian Territory and many of his descendants still live in the Kaw City area. Sister Sarah and her husband Calvin Busselle moved on to Mitchell, SD, where her life ended tragically when she was murdered in a fit of rage by her daughter Myrtle. In Osceola, Thomas met, and on 30 March 1885, married Rosie Annie Cripe (one of their children is still living, near Osceola). The church was built on land donated by the Cripe family.

One day, while walking with her sister-in-law, Rachel Simmons Henderson pointed out the area where she would like to be buried. She was not ill, but the area appealed to her and the congregation needed a cemetery of its own on their side of the river. On 15 November 1895, Rachel died and was the first person buried in the Pleasant Mound Cemetery located beside the Church of the Brethren east of Osceola, MO. Thomas' sisters Susan, Mary Ellen, Margaret, and Paralee, and his brothers Daniel and John remained, or returned to Rogersville.

A LARGE portion of today's population in Rogersville can trace its roots to Christian and Catherine Simmons. They and some of their children are buried in a family cemetery in Stanley Valley.

Related Stories:

John and George Francisco.

Henard - Hennard.

Sources:

Cousins, by Jan Simmons Johnson

Submitted by:

Jan Johnson
5530 W. Vogel
Glendale, AZ 85302

James SIMMONS

James Simmons was born in Albemarle, Virginia, in 1758. He grew up on his father's farm in the rolling hills of the Piedmont plateau and on a clear day he could see the great Appalachian Mountains to the west. Living near Lynches Ferry on the James River, he was in the midst of the commerce which saw the tobacco and grain crops of the local farmlands harvested and sent down river for export to England and distribution throughout the colonies.

Growing up within a few miles of the frontier, James watched the expansion of the Virginia Commonwealth across the Blue Ridge mountains. He had heard of the rich and beautiful valleys that lay along the Holston and Clinch Rivers. While he and his teenage friends Elijah and Joel Gillenwaters dreamed of westward adventure, their future was to take a twist. On the first day of 1777, Captain Franklin was in Lynches Ferry recruiting for the 10th Virginia Regiment. He was to enlist a company of foot soldiers to go to the aid of General Washington. James listened to the recruiter and enlisted for three years service.

For almost a year, August of 1778 through the first weeks of July 1779, James spent his time on guard duty patrolling the hills of the Hudson River Valley; but in early July General Wayne decided to attack and take the British fort overlooking the Hudson River at Stony Point. This fortress was a vantage point from which the river traffic was controlled as it passed by this high escarpment in the river bend. General Washington was bent on controlling this strong point. General Wayne hand picked 1200 of the most loyal, brave, and daring troops that he could find in his units. Private Simmons of the light infantry company of the 6th Virginia Regiment was among those chosen to participate. With fixed bayonets the colonists charged up the hill. Firing their guns at one instant and chopping away at the redoubt with axes at the next, the rugged and cunning farmers fought their way up the hill and captured the fortress.

On the 4th day of January, 1780, three years and three days after enlisting at Lynches Ferry, James bade the 6th Virginia Regiment farewell and returned home to his father's farm. He had served his new country well having engaged in the battles of Brandywine Creek, Germantown, Monmouth, and Stony Point. Back home again he settled down to working on his father's farm. When the war moved into the south, his father, Elijah and Joel Gillenwaters, enlisted in the militia of Amherst County in 1783; but he was war weary and stayed with the farm. The following year he bought land about the same time Joel and Elijah Gillenwaters sold their inheritance and migrated into the Holston River valley.

In 1785, James married his childhood sweetheart Elizabeth Gillenwaters. After the birth of his first daughter, Polly, in 1789, James moved his young family into the Spartanburg District, South Carolina where he purchased a farm from Henry Turner in 1790. By 1796 James had fathered three more children, John, Nancy and Frances before he sold out and immigrated into Hawkins County, Tennessee. There he rejoined Joel and Thomas Gillenwaters as neighbors in Hickory Cove. Four more children were to follow in the next seven years: Elizabeth, Thomas, James G. and Rachel.

By 1818, James' household was reduced to his wife, Sally, two daughters - 21 year old Elizabeth and 15 year old Rachel, and one son - 17 year old James G. Because the younger James had never been healthy and robust, he was little assistance to his father in running the farm. Trying to farm rocky and worn out soil, James Simmons was having a difficult time making a living. When the Revolutionary War Pension Act of 1818 was passed, James immediately applied for his pension.

Before the Hawkins County Court of Pleas and Quarter sessions in August of 1818, James made his original statement in support of his claim, never dreaming of the difficulties he would face in the next five years before his case was finally resolved in Washington. In 1777 a young and patriotic farm boy went to war for his country, served three full years when most enlistments were a matter of weeks or a few months, was never granted leave and was only sometimes paid his stipend of six and two-thirds dollars per month. He survived through the terrible winter encampments at Valley Forge and Morristown. He fought in four major battles and two skirmishes. Thirty eight years later he was rewarded eight dollars per month.

Related Stories:

Joel Gillenwaters.

Thomas Gillenwaters.

Submitted by:

John D. Baldwin
9804 Everwood
El Paso, TX 79925-7612

Jeremiah SIMPSON

Jeremiah "Jerry" Simpson, born about 1795-1800 in Virginia, was married 31 July 1821 in Washington County, TN to Elizabeth "Betty" Lautermilk/ Loutermilk, born about 1805-1806 in Virginia. Jeremiah is listed in the Sullivan County, TN census in 1830, and Hawkins County, TN in 1840. In 1850 he is listed as Jerry (55), Elizabeth (54), William (22), Mary (20), Sarah (18), John (15), Henry (14), Jesse (12), Anna (9), and Jeremiah (4). The 1860, Hawkins County census shows Jeremiah (60), Bettie (56), Jesse (22), Ann (20), and Buck (12).

Jeremiah Simpson's Land Grant No. 2323 was registered 14 March 1859 in Hawkins County. An entry dated 4 December 1848 by Jeremiah Simpson, granted by the State of Tennessee unto the said Jeremiah Simpson and his heirs a certain tract of land containing three hundred and seventy six acres lying in the county aforesaid after deducting 160 acres previously granted on the north side of Holston river waters of Laurel Run.

Jeremiah and Elizabeth's children were: William Dale Simpson, born in 1828, married on 13 October 1853 in Hawkins Co. to Malinda Jane Arnold, he drowned 25 February 1875*; Mary Simpson, born in 1830, married on 17 January 1852 in Hawkins Co. to Jesse W. Roberts; Sarah Simpson, born about 1832; John J. Simpson, born about 1835; Henry Simpson, born about 1836, married 4 October 1854 to Mary Cloud; Anna Simpson, born about 1840-1845; Jesse Simpson, born in February 1842, married 1st on 5 November 1866 to Elizabeth Dykes (ca. 1839-ca. 1880/93) and 2nd to Mary Goad, and Jesse died on 8 September 1918; and Jeremiah Simpson, Jr., born about 1846.

*In June, 1887, Malinda Jane Ledbetter Simpson, the widow of William Dale, applied for a widow's pension for the period of 25 February, 1875 up to 10 December 1882, when she remarried. She stated that "William Simpson enrolled at Greene County, TN on the 15th of November, 1861 in Co "A" 1st Regt Tennessee Cav Vols in the war of 1861 to 1865 who contracted disease of back while in the service and in line of duty the time and place where it was contracted not remembered and the said William Simpson died or was drowned on the 25th day of February, 1875." She listed the following children: William J. Simpson, Jr., born 25 November 1861; Thomas Simpson, born on 28 May 1866; Samuel Simpson, born 12 December 1867; Elizabeth Simpson, born 4 May 1870; and George B. Simpson.

George B. Simpson, born 24 October 1872, died 27 March 1905 in Clinton County, MO, married Lucy C. Cavin, born 5 May 1872, died 21 April 1922 in California, on 23 June 1899 in Hawkins County, TN. Their children were: Neinah Belle Simpson, born 10 June 1891 in TN, died 26 October 1984; William Eldridge Simpson, born 17 January 1893/94 in TN, died 23 November 1962; Ervin Presley Simpson, born 9 May 1896 in TN; Samuel Cornelius Simpson, born 9 June 1897 in TN, died 15 October 1963; Chester Arthur Simpson, born 9 September 1899 in TN; Ada Kate Simpson, born 11 June 1902 in Turney, MO, died 6 August 1978; and Raleigh Emmett Simpson, born 3 January 1904, missing in action in 1944 while in the Merchant Marines.

The 1870 Hawkins County census shows Jeremiah Simpson (71), a farm laborer born in Virginia, Mary (37), and George K.T. (2). Apparently Jeremiah died 1870-1880, and Elizabeth died 1860-1870. Both are buried in the Bowser Cemetery, beside the Dunkard Church in Hawkins Co., TN.

Related Story:

Jesse Simpson

Sources:

1830, 1840, 1850, 1860, 1870 Census.

Hawkins Co. Marriage records.

Hawkins Co. Deeds.

Pension records.

Cemetery records.

Juanita Smith.

Karon Simpson.

Submitted by:

*Carolyn Ann Smith Gardner
Route 3, Box 3170
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Jesse SIMPSON

Jeremiah Simpson's son, Jesse, a resident of Blair's Gap in the County of Hawkins, enlisted as a private in Company K, 29th Tennessee Infantry, C.S.A., on 31 July 1861. They assembled at Henderson's Mills, Greene County, TN where they were organized into the regiment. In the fall of 1861 the regiment remained in East Tennessee, being reported at various times at Loudon, Knoxville, Strawberry Plains, and Greeneville. Remarks on Jesse's report dated 11 February 1862: "Left his command without leave after the battle of Fishing Creek but has since returned to his company. He left under the impression that the Brigade was going on the road towards Knoxville, but the Brigade took another road. He is now with us discharging well his duties as he has always done." The regiment spent the winter near Dalton, GA and on 26 May 1864, near Dallas, GA, Jesse was captured by forces under Major General Thomas commanding Department of the Cumberland. Jesse was forwarded to Capt. S. E. Jones' Pro. Mar. G. District of Kentucky, Louisville, KY on June 5, 1864. Jesse was received at Military prison Louisville, KY on June 6, 1864 from Nashville, TN. He arrived at Federal prison, Rock Island, IL on June 9, 1864.

He was transferred February 25, 1865 for exchange. He appears on the register of Jackson Hospital, Richmond, Virginia as being admitted March 7, 1865 and furloughed March 8, 1865.

Jesse, born in May 1842, was married 5 November 1866 in Hawkins County, TN by Solomon Bachman to Elizabeth Dykes, born ca. 1835-1840. Elizabeth was the daughter of John Dykes, Jr. (13 March 1812-7 July 1858) and Judah Morelock Dykes (2 June 1818-25 February 1891). Judah was the daughter of Samuel Morelock (1785-1862) and Elizabeth Stacy Morelock (ca. 1785-1850's).

Jesse and Elizabeth's children were: (1) John, born April 1868, died 1936, married Laura Blakely, born May 1878, died 1949. The 1900 census listed children: Wilford, born April 1896, Adria, born May 1897, and William H., born February 1900; (2) Asa, born May 1870. On the 1900 census, Asa was listed as having been married for seven years to wife Eliza, born March 1875, and their children were: James M., born May 1895, and Sherman H., born October 1898; (3) Leonard Warner, born 11 April 1872, died 30 October 1901, married on 23 January 1891 to Rebecca Jane Christian, and they had five children: Nora Ona Bell, Mortica Monroe, Verdie Ann, Vernie Elizabeth, and Middie Winfred; (4) William Henry, born 24 June 1877, died 25 June 1950, married first on 19 November 1900 to Lenie Goad, second to Flora Crawford, and third to Ellie Rines Crawford.

After Elizabeth died ca. 1880/93, Jesse married Mary Goad about 1894.

Jesse tried to farm a little, and in his pension application dated 12 July 1905 he stated he owned a mountain tract of poor land, he was suffering from chronic rheumatism and totally unfit to earn his support by his labor, and that his disabilities were permanent and fully equal to the loss of a limb.

In a 1916 Hawkins County Deed "for valuable consideration, for the love and affection" Jesse Simpson transferred property to his son J.M. Simpson, registered on 22 January 1918.

On the 26th day of June 1918, Hawkins County Deeds "for consideration of the sum of one dollar each and for love and affection" Jesse Simpson transferred property unto his sons Asa Simpson and William Simpson.

Jesse died on 8 September 1918 and is buried in Bowser Cemetery, and he has a Civil War marker.

Related Stories:

Jeremiah Simpson.

Leonard Warner Simpson.

Sources:

1850, 1860, 1900 Census.

Hawkins Co. Deeds.

Hawkins Co. Marriage records.

Karon Simpson.

Submitted by:

*Carolyn Ann Smith Gardner
Route 3, Box 3170
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Leonard Warner SIMPSON

Leonard Warner Simpson, the third of four children born to Jesse and Elizabeth Dykes Simpson, was born on 11 April 1872 in Hawkins County, TN and died at the age of 29 years on 10 October 1901 in Hawkins County. He was married by B.T. Long on the 23rd day of January 1891 to Rebecca Jane Christian. Rebecca Jane "Granny Beck" was the daughter of John "Snooks" and Anna Dykes Christian, and she died 14 May 1966. They had three daughters and two sons.

(1) Nora Ona Bell Simpson, born 7 November 1891 and died 29 December 1891.

(2) Morticia Monroe "Roe" Simpson, born 5 November 1892, died 12 January 1962 in Hamblen County, TN, married on 27 December 1924 to Betty Emma-line Smith, they had one daughter, Edith Beatrice Simpson Greene, born on 23 September 1926. Their granddaughters are: Karen Elaine Greene Owen, born 15 October 1949; and Delois Anne Greene, born 20 February 1953.

(3) Verdie Ann Simpson, born 11 April 1895, died 22 November 1961, and married on 14 February 1914 by Rev. J.A. Jones to Jesse Lafatte Smith. They had eight sons and two daughters:

Earl Sidrick Smith, Billy Tillman Smith, Charlie Calvin Smith, Quentin Roosevelt Smith, Elsie May Arbana Smith, Lotus Virginia Smith, Loyd Raymond Smith, Jesse "Junior" Reynolds Smith, Marion Hughie Smith, and David Lee "DL" Smith.

(4) Vernie Elizabeth Simpson, born 27 February 1898, died 2 February 1982, and married on 22 September 1923 to William "Bill" Amon Smith.

(5) Middie Winfred "Mid" Simpson, born 19 June 1900, died 1 June 1963, and married on 18 February 1920 in Hawkins County to Emmalin "Emma" Betty Bruner, born 13 June 1895, and died 2 February 1983. Mid and Emma had five daughters and four sons: Bertha Simpson Crawford, Fannie Simpson Housewright, Emmalin Simpson Christian, Betty Simpson Maness, Carrie Simpson Webster, Joe Simpson, Herbert T. Simpson, William "Willie" Simpson, and James E. Simpson.

Leonard Warner and Rebecca Jane Christian Simpson are buried beside each other in the Goshen Valley Cemetery in Hawkins County.

Related Story:

Jesse Simpson

Sources:

Hawkins Co. Marriage records

Submitted by:

*Carolyn Ann Smith Gardner
Rte 3, Box 3170
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Melungeon Families- SIZEMORE, MINOR, GOINS, FISHER and RIDDLE

Being a descendant of two families who were labeled Melungeon, has inspired me to locate the beginning point of their migration. The following is the combined research of several descendants of the Minor and Goins family.

Blackwater Baptist Church was organized in 1801. Minutes found begin in 1816. This Church was located on the Clinch River at Kyles Ford, Hawkins County, TN. This section is now in Hancock Co., TN. Beginning from 1824 through 1834, I find the following distant grandparents who were church members: Zephaniah Goins, Hezekiah Minor, Thomas Bledsoe, Henry and Happy Riddle Fisher, James and Nancy Fisher Hurd, and John England.

The minutes of Stoney Creek Baptist Church (1801 to 1813) prove that many Melungeon families were here before they moved to Hawkins County. This Church was located at Ft. Blackmore, Virginia. The following families joined Stoney Creek Church in 1802: Thomas Gibson, George Gibson, Charles Gibson, Rubin Gibson, and Valentine Collins.

"Sept. 26, 1813. Church sat in love. Brother Kilgore Moderator. Then came forward Sister Kitchen and complained to the Church against Sussanna Stallard for saying she harbored them Melungins. Sister Sook was hurt with her for believing her child and not believing her, and she won't talk to her to get satisfaction, and both is "Pigedish" one against the other. Sister Sook lays it down and the Church forgives her".

The above named members later moved to Hawkins County and joined Blackwater Baptist Church. Some of these claimed to be Portuguese and Indian, while others told their descendants they were Indians.

Some of the first recorded settlers in the Newman Ridge area were Jesse Gibson and James Mullins. Their improvements are mentioned on a land patent by William King, dated February 3, 1796. Jesse Gibson sold his land to my distant grandfather John England on December 26, 1814. This land on Indicuts Branch is near the present day line of Hancock Co., TN and Scott Co., VA.

James Mullins, Jesse Gibson and John Hurd's improvements were located next to each other. The following families were related to them by marriage and may have come with them: Wallen, Riddle, Rogers, Roberts, Monk, and Fisher. They settled in the area known as Big Ridge located on the North side of Clinch River and south side of Newman's Ridge, and almost all of them claimed Indian Blood.

In 1950 my Grandfather Harrison told me his Grandfather William Goins was one half Indian and his grandmother Susan Minor was three quarter. The families of his grandparents are listed below:

SIZEMORE FAMILY: George, b. 1773, and Lydia Sizemore, b. July 28, 1785, are my seventh generation grandparents through their daughter Agatha "Aggie" born July 29, 1803. She married Zachariah Minor, b. 1798. They were married on October 18, 1824. This Sizemore family claimed Indian Ancestors. From 1906 through 1908, they and their relatives filed over 2,000 Cherokee Indian Applications with the Court of Claims. These applications are in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. These affidavits were filed in order to obtain benefits under an Act of Congress approved June 30, 1906. The fund was to reimburse the descendants of Cherokee Indians for loss of their lands when they were forced to leave for the infamous "Trail of Tears" to Oklahoma. No one in this family received benefits because none of their ancestors were in the Cherokee Census enumerations of 1835, 1846 or 1851. These were filed because of Edward "Ned" Sizemore, b. 1720. In 1746 he enters 400 acres at the mouth of Polecat Creek on the south side of Banister River. In 1754 Henry Sizemore enters 400 acres between Polecat and ye (ed: the) branches of Sandy Creek. This was in Lunenburg County, VA in 1746, Halifax County in 1752, in Pittsylvania Co. in 1767, and it is the same area where John Goins and Moses Riddle were located. Their grandchildren settled in the same area of Hawkins County (present day Fishers Valley, Hancock Co., TN). Since they all claimed Indian blood and were not Cherokee, then from which Tribe did they descend?

November 17, 1785 Shadrack Goins sells 451 acres on Polecat Creek.

MINOR FAMILY. Lee Co., VA was created from Washington Co., and the area of Ft. Blackmore was in the new County. On the 1814 tax list of Lee Co. is my seventh Generation Grandparent Hezekiah Minor. He joined Blackwater Baptist Church on May 2, 1824. Zachariah Minor, son of Hezekiah, told his children he was Portuguese/Indian. I descend from his daughter Susan, wife of William Goins.

A descendent who lived in Hopkins County, Texas, filed a Cherokee Indian Application on November 9, 1906. Her name was Lou Mabe. She listed her husband as Frank Mabe, a white man. Her date of birth was March 25, 1866 in Hawkins Co., TN. She lists her parents and Grandparents. Her father was Joseph Miner, son of John and Susan Goins Miner. John was son of Hezekiah and Elizabeth Goins Miner. Susan Goins Miner was the daughter of Zephaniah and Elizabeth Thompson Goins. She lists her mother as Mariah Miner, daughter of Lewis Miner and Sallie Fields Miner. Lewis was a son of Hezekiah and Elizabeth Goins Miner. Her remarks: The English and Indian names are the same as far back as I know, father and mother was the same name, Miner. Her Witness wrote this letter. ["Mr. Miller: I am write to you in regard two Mrs. Mabe's Indian proof. I Have herd her father and mother say their was Indian blood in them, and us all called them Indians when we were children together. I am 55 years of age and have known it ever since a child. Yours Respt. Sam Sullivan. Brownfield, Texas."]

Cherokee Indian was not mentioned by anyone in this application. These people knew they were Indian and may have thought all Indians were covered under this act of Congress.

Bible Records of TN, Volume 2, the James A. Yeargin Family Bible: "Louisa Bolling Carter married John Benjamin Minor, and their daughter Louisa Carter Minor married James A. Yeargin. Tradition of the Minor family is they are descendants of Pocahontas."

Louisa Bolling Carter, born April 27, 1776, married on December 12, 1793. James A. Yeargin was trustee of Elm Street Methodist Church July 1871 at Nashville, TN. According to James Yeargin they are descendents of the Powhatan Indians. Although the connection between this Minor family and Hezekiah Minor is unknown, this statement indicates they were also Indian. The Bolling mentioned is also interesting and is a common name associated with the Melungeons.

GOINS FAMILY. In the minutes of Blackwater Baptist 1816 to 1834, I find 4 distant grandparents (from different surnames) who were in the Revolutionary War: Thomas Bledsoe, Henry Fisher, John England, and Zephaniah Goins, my seventh generation grandfather. Zephaniah filed his pension Application in Hawkins Co. on December 18, 1834, and stated in this Application that he was at the siege, and present at the surrender of Cornwallis. He was born ca. 1758 in Halifax Co., VA, entered the service in Henry Co., VA, and married Elizabeth Thompson on June 20, 1790 in Henry Co. He is listed on the 1810 U.S. Census in Rockingham Co., NC, then he moved to Lee Co. about 1814. I descend to him through William, b. 1835, son of Issiah, b. 1795, and Arminta Lindsey Goins, b. 1810. Their children were: Marianne; b. 1833, married Gilford Minor; Daniel, b. 1834; William, b. 1835, married Susannah Minor; Zachariah, b. 1836, married (1st) Selah Minor, b. 1841, (2nd) Elizabeth Minor, b. 1836; Lydia, b. 1839; John, b. 1841, married Mahala Goodman, Fielder, b. 1843, married Isabella Fisher; Hezekiah, b. 1845, married Rebecca Belcher; Oliver, b. 1848; Margret, b. 1850, married Patton Anderson.

Zephaniah Goins was the son of John b. ca. 1730 in Hanover Co., VA, and Elizabeth Going. John Going's will is written in Henry Co., VA on the 17th day of March 1801. The heirs mentioned are his wife, Elizabeth and the following children: Zephaniah, Nancy, Susanna, Zedekiah, Simeon, John, Isaiah, Zachariah, Clabourn, Littleberry, and Elizabeth, the wife of Hezekiah Minor.

John Going's parents were John Sr. and wife Mary Keife, daughter of Cornelius Keife are in Halifax, Lundenburg, Hanover, and Fairfax, William Going b. ca. 1665 is the father of John Sr. The children of William include: Ambrose, b. 1691; Thomas, b. 1693; William, b. 1695; John, b. 1698; Alexander, b. 1702; and Susannah, b. 1706.

On November 12, 1725 William Going patented 112 Acres in Stafford County. Ambrose Goins, son of William, granted land in March, 1726 (Stafford Deed Book 1, page 353). Later John Goins inherited a portion of this Grant. William Goins died in 1726, near the age of 61.

FISHER-RIDDLE FAMILY. Henry Fisher, b. 1749, is my double 7th Generation Grandfather. Henry and his wife Happy joined Blackwater Baptist Church in 1834. His wife Happy Riddle Fisher filed her widow pension in Hawkins County on March 29, 1861 and stated that she did not know his age, but according to some of his papers was at least 90 yrs old when he died on February 3, 1839. They were married on February 7, 1789 in Russell Co., VA. In 1783 Happy's father William Riddle was hung as a Torie in Russell Co., VA. William's father Moses Riddle is listed as an Indian on the 1767 tax list of Pittsylvania Co., VA.

Henry and Happy Riddle Fisher were the parents of 11 children. I descend from two of them, their daughter Catherine, b. 1806, married Andrew England, then down 4 generations to my mother Ona Arrington Goins, b. 1912. In the Scott County Cemetery Book, she is listed by a descendent in the England lineage, as 7 Ft. tall and a full blooded Indian. Their daughter Nancy, b. 1804, married James Hurd, b. 1782, then 4 generations down to my father Mckinley Goins, b. 1911.

The 1850 census of Hancock County lists the state of birth. Many with Melungeon names are listed as born in North Carolina, but many descendents who have traced their family back to North Carolina, discover the father of that person was born in Virginia, and near the same location. Revolutionary War Pension applications were also used to determine this. Among these are Charles Gibson, born 1747 in Louisa Co., VA (this county was created from Hanover in 1742), joined the service near Salisbury, NC, applied in 1839 in Hawkins County. William and Zephaniah Goins, born in Halifax, and David Smith Goins who traveled through Hawkins County on his way to Grainger, was born in Hanover County, Virginia.

The waters of The York River extend from Hanover County to the Chesapeake Bay. From this area their travels are almost identical, tracing backward they came from New Kent County to Hanover, Lundenburg, Halifax, Pittsylvania, Henry, and Russell in Virginia, then into Granville, Orange, Rockingham, Stokes, and Surry Counties of North Carolina. Then to the New Territory. Many of these same families moved south, while others moved into Kentucky and migrated westward. These families – Gibson, Collins, Mullins, Bolling, Minor and Goins – had one thing in common, they all claimed Indian Blood. Many of them told their descendents they were Portuguese and Indian. Other families migrating with them claimed to be full blooded Indian.

History from the area they descended from indicates they were Powhatan or Rappahannock Indians and Spanish Portuguese. Taken from the HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN: "The Natives of the Bahama Islands, whom the Spaniards were the first to meet were brownish or copper colored, and through the centuries the idea has prevailed that all Indians were the same color, Indians vary from almost black to a pale olive, scarcely darker than a brunet white man. After the so-called Bacon's Rebellion in 1676, the few surviving Rappahannock Indians denied their identity in order to escape persecution, and the tribe was considered extinct, although the tribe still exists in considerable numbers today."

The first Europeans who settled in Virginia were a group of Spanish Jesuits. In 1570, they established a mission on the York River. This order, called the Society of Jesus, was established by the Catholic Church in 1534. Some Historians record this settlement was wiped out by Indians. Then from The History of Virginia, it was discovered later that at least two survived. Some writers believe they were taken captive by the Powhatan Indians. If they were educated by these priests, this would explain why the Melungeons were Christian and were thought to be the Lost Tribe of Israel. They also gave Biblical names to their children and named places such as Calebs Knob. In Needham's Journal the religious ceremonies described seem to have been of a Catholic nature.

Many theories have been suggested for the Melungeons: French Huguenot, Spanish, Portuguese, Phoenicians, Moors; and they intermarried with the Indians. I am convinced through my own family research that the reverse is true. The Indians married the European settlers from several Nationalities. Some of these marriages are recorded in History. Could this be why many families who were in the same location with the Melungeons were recorded as Indians?

The Indian Tribes that lived on the Rappahannock and York Rivers may have been one Tribe at some point in history. The Powhatan confederacy of Virginia once included 30 different tribes totaling about 9,000 persons. The Confederacy occupied much of what became the colony of Virginia. According to tradition of these families I believe we are the descendents of the Powhatan Indians.

Submitted by:

*Jack H. Goins
Route 2 Box 275
Rogersville, TN 37857*

SKELTON Family

The Skelton family of Hawkins County, Tennessee originated in Caroline County, Virginia. This fact is established by the Revolutionary War Pension Application of William Skelton in 1834. The Skelton brothers who migrated to Hawkins County, Tennessee, came to the area at various times. William Skelton was the first to arrive in 1797. Other Skeltons enumerated on the 1809 Tax List of Hawkins County were: John, James, Reuben and Thomas. All are believed to be brothers. They are known to have had at least one sister, Caty Skelton, who married Elijah McAnnally in Amherst County, Virginia. Elijah McAnnally is also enumerated on the 1809 tax list. According to Cavin descendants, Margaret Cavin was born in Virginia and was a Skelton prior to marriage. No proof of this has been established.

John Skelton was born 11 August 1765 in Caroline County, Virginia. It is known that his mother was named Ann.* Around 1779 or 1780 John Skelton and his family moved to Amherst County, Virginia and settled near the Amherst-Albemarle border in what is now Nelson County, Virginia. On the 10th of December 1789 he married Elizabeth "Betsy" Roberts, daughter of Joseph Roberts and his wife, Elizabeth Clemens. During his residence in Virginia, John Skelton owned property on the north fork of Davis Creek near the Rockfish River. John Skelton and his wife Betsy migrated to Hawkins County, Tennessee between 1806 and 1809 where they lived close to John's brother, William, on the south side of the Holston River, on Grassy Creek (District 17). This area was known as the "McPheeters Bend Settlement." Elizabeth Skelton's father, Joseph, died sometime between 1811 and 1823 in Nelson County, Virginia. In 1823, John and Elizabeth Skelton conveyed Power of Attorney to their son, William, to act on Elizabeth's behalf in the division of the estate of her father. Apparently, this estate was not settled for some time as John and Elizabeth Skelton conveyed their interest in this estate to another son, Reuben, in 1846. John and Elizabeth Skelton are listed on the 1850 Census of Hawkins County, Tennessee. At this time, John was 84 years of age and Elizabeth was 75 years of age. According to an old family Bible copied by Prentiss Price in May of 1952, John Skelton died 12 March 1859. His wife, Betsy, preceded him in death. She died 23 March 1851. No other record of their deaths has been located.

The children of John Skelton and Elizabeth Roberts are as follows:

- (1) Joseph Skelton, born 14 August 1791; died 15 February 1792, both in Amherst County, Virginia.
- (2) Alexander Skelton, born 1 June 1793 in Amherst County; died 15 November 1874 in Hawkins County, Tennessee; married (1) 4 September 1809 in Hawkins County, Susannah Dollins; married (2) 1 May 1869 in Hawkins County, Elizabeth Prichard. Alexander and Susannah had eleven children; he and Elizabeth had one child who died in infancy. Alexander Skelton served in the War of 1812 in Captain George Argonbright's Company of Tennessee Militia.
- (3) John Skelton, born 14 September 1795 in Amherst County; married in Missouri and died there.
- (4) Nancy Skelton, born 1 May 1798 in Amherst County; married Clemens Winger or Winegar. Lived in Glasgow, Kentucky in 1874 when she wrote her brother Alexander Skelton (see abstract of letter below).

(5) William Skelton, born 12 March 1801 in Amherst County; married Mary Elizabeth "Polly" Gordon, daughter of James Gordon and his wife, Elizabeth Stockstill. Family tradition indicates that William Skelton left home when about twelve years of age and moved to "middle" Tennessee. In 1827 with three of his brothers-in-law, Alexander Standfield, Hosea Cardwell and Troy Gordon, he migrated to Washington County, Arkansas, where he was a hatter by profession. Due to hostilities arising during the Civil War, William Skelton and Hezekiah Appleby left Washington County, Arkansas, with their slaves and fled to Texas. It is believed that both William Skelton and Hezekiah Appleby died near Waco in 1864 of typhoid fever.

(6) Thomas Skelton, born 10 August 1803. It is believed that he married (1) Martha Dowell and (2) Martha Bond. Family heritage indicates that he was murdered by Union soldiers ca. 1865 in Polk County, Tennessee. He is buried in an unmarked grave in Cumberland Shed Cemetery. Census records indicate that he was a shoemaker by profession. His son, William Alexander Skelton, migrated to Washington County, Arkansas, with his wife's family, the Hannahs.

(7) James Skelton, born 25 February 1806; married (1) Polly Curry and (2) Mary -----. James and his brother, Abraham Carter Skelton, migrated first to Madison County, Arkansas then to Barry County, Missouri where James Skelton died 9 April 1893. He and his second wife, Mary, are buried in the Munsey Cemetery, Roaring River, Barry County, Missouri.

(8) Reuben Skelton, born 11 February 1809 in Hawkins County; died in Illinois; married (1) 25 December 1830, Mary Skelton and (2) Priscilla St. John.

(9) Abraham Carter Skelton, born 14 September 1814 in Hawkins County; died 4 July 1892 in Cassville, Barry County, Missouri. Abraham Carter Skelton is buried in the New Salem Cemetery near Seligman, Missouri. Abraham Carter Skelton married (1) Jane Skelton and (2) Martha Cornelison.

(10) Mary Polly Skelton, born 19 March 1819 in Hawkins County; married John Christian, Jr.

The following letters were found in an old family bible that originally belonged to Reuben Skelton, son of John Skelton and Elizabeth Roberts. At the time Prentiss Price copied the family bible and abstracted these letters, the bible was in the possession of John Wesley Skelton of Churchill, Tennessee.

Letter from Abraham Carter Skelton and Jane Skelton, his wife, of Barry County, Missouri to Reuben Skelton and his family of Hawkins County, Tennessee:

March 2, 1851

State of Missouri

Barry County

Dear Brothers & Sisters & Friends: To let you know we are in the land of the living. Times in this Country is tolerable. Bad crop last season. This Country is filling up fast. There is several families from Hawkins County and the adjoining counties. Jane has not been in good health. I makes me proud to think that I once had a father and mother and one brother who I always took to be my friends. John Skelton and family is well at present and the rest of the connection in this Country so far as I know of. See some of them and sometimes I don't. My best love to father and mother and John Skelton and enquersn (?) friends.

Letter from Nancy (Skelton) Wininger to her brother Alexander Skelton, Jr. (1820-1904). Nancy Skelton was the daughter of John Skelton and Elizabeth Roberts. She married ca. 1835 Clemons Winiger or Winegar.

Glasgow, Kentucky

December 2, 1874

Dear Brother: Sorry to hear that father is dead. Yours of the 22nd last. Did he marry after mother died? Tell me of Bill and Joseph and where the balance of the children are. I am a widow. Clemens died the 4th day of February last with a paralytic stroke. Member of the Baptist Church. I have had six children and have five living. Sarah Ann, my eldest is married and has one son. She married a widower but he had no children - name was Button. Rachel, my second daughter, died ashouting August 27, 1869, in her 16th year. Amanda, my third child, is grown and with me. James, my oldest son, is working for wages and Stephen and William are with me. Will is five and James is fourteen. Amanda is in her seventeenth year. Sarah Ann is in her 21st year.

Nancy Wininger

*Note: Spelling has been corrected in these letters for ease in reading

William Skelton was born 4 March 1762 in Caroline County, Virginia. He died in February 1844 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. In 1834, he applied for a pension for his service during the Revolutionary War. In this application he stated that he volunteered for military service in the spring of 1779 from his native county of Caroline. With his military unit he marched to Williamsburg from Caroline County and in July of that year he was discharged. Sometime between the date of his discharge and the end of 1780, William Skelton and his family migrated to Amherst County, Virginia. On 1 January 1781, he was drafted into the military service in Amherst County and served three months in the service. Around the beginning of May in 1781, he substituted for Hugh McAnnally in a militia company from Augusta County, Virginia. Ten years later, in 1791, William Skelton purchased fifty acres of land on the Rockfish River from John McAnnally and his wife, Ruth. In 1797, William and his family migrated farther west, moving from Amherst County to Hawkins County, Tennessee. On the 8th day of October 1813, William Skelton purchased property in Hawkins County, Tennessee from Robert Hamilton. This land was located on Grassy Creek and was adjacent to land owned by John McPheeters and Nathan Shipley. According to the 1830 Census of Hawkins County, Tennessee, William Skelton's wife was born between 1760 and 1770. Her name is not known at this time. She died in the fall of 1830 in Hawkins County, in the cholera epidemic. The following is an extract from the Knoxville Register on October 27, 1830, regarding this epidemic:

"...A list of deaths by fever in the upper end of Hawkins County...Mrs. Skelton, wife of William Skelton, Mrs. Skelton, wife of James Skelton, Reuben Skelton.

These are all the deaths by fever in the upper end of Hawkins County, since about the first of July, in about 20 miles on Holston River, from Ross's bridge to four or five miles below Surgoinsville. The sickness has been confined to about a mile on each side of the river. There have been probably 400 people sick in this bounds... More than two thirds of those who have died were old people, or at least past the prime of life... The people have suffered much for want of Doctors and medicine."

The last known record for William Skelton is his will dated 9 November 1843. In this will, he left his bed and furniture to his daughter, Nancy Christian; his saddle to his brother, James, and all his other personal possessions to his grandson, William L. Christian. The land which he owned was also given to his grandson, William L. Christian. William's other land, where John and Elizabeth Skelton were residing, was to be theirs the remainder of their lives; thereafter, title to the property was to pass to William Skelton's grandson, William L. Christian.

* The father of the Hawkins County, Tennessee Skeltons is at this time not known.

[Ed: From the Knoxville Register, October 27, 1830, and reprinted in Distant Crossroads, Vol. 8, No. 3, P. 75, Jul, 1991, last names of persons killed in this epidemic: Albert, Alexander, Ball, Curry, Falkner, Forgey, Hamilton, Harless, Harrell, Lane, Lawson, Long, Marshall, McCullough, McDaniel, McKurgan, McPheeters, Morrison, North, Patterson, Pratt, Ross, Skelton, Smallwood, Smith, Surgenor, and Winegar.]

Related Story:

William Lewis Christian (1803-1861)

Submitted by:

Vicki Rounsavall
1949 Juneway Terrace
Fayetteville, Arkansas 72703

SLATER-KITE

Joseph Franklin Slater, born June 19, 1893, died December 14, 1968, son of William and Ella West Slater, was married to Myrtle Leona Kite, born July 5, 1893, died July 25, 1956, daughter of Samuel Elkanah and Frances Catherine Worsham Kite, in 1912. Both died in Kingsport and are buried in the Kite Cemetery in Hawkins County.

The following children were born to this union: James Kite (7/4/1915-

12/8/1925), Grace Pauline (9/8/1916), Paul David (2/15/1919-9/26/1944), Ernest Charles William (8/5/1923-

7/26/1975), Walter Reece (1/5/1926), Earl Rufus (1/25/1930), and Ruby Nell (4/4/1933).

James Kite Slater was killed by a playmate in Dayton, Ohio. The children were playing with BB guns. Paul David Slater was killed in World War II. He was awarded two Purple Hearts. Both James and Paul are buried in the Kite Cemetery in Hawkins County. Ernest is buried in the Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport.

Grace Pauline Slater was married to Cecil Kenneth Light on July 29, 1936. They have three children: Pearl Rose (4/11/1938), Cecil Kenneth, Jr. (1/25/1940), and Earl Wayne (3/20/1946).

Pearl Rose Light was married to Glen F. Parker on February 2, 1959. They have two sons: Bart Allen (3/12/1960) and Bryan Lynn Parker (12/10/1962). Bart was married first to Terri Thompson by whom he had a daughter, Stephanie Gail (6/29/1982), and second to Tonya Renee Hyder on December 7, 1985, by whom there was one child, Randy Renee (born in 1987); and Bryan Lynn Parker (12/10/1962). The family resides in Morristown.

Cecil Kenneth Light, Jr. was married to Marilyn Lane on May 27, 1966. They have three sons: Eric Lamar Light (4/24/1970), graduated with honors from East Tennessee State University in 1993; Aaron Blane Light (4/2/1975), graduated from Sullivan South High School in 1993; and Jason Todd Light (11/18/1977). Cecil, Jr. is employed by the Mead Corporation.

Earl Wayne Light was married to Mary Hutchins (Christian) on November 19, 1984.

Ernest Charles William Slater married June Wolfe and there were two sons: Danny Carson (7/21/1955) and Ernest Jackson (10/16/1958). Danny married Sherry Lynn Hensley in 1986. They reside in Kingsport with their son, Mitchell Carson.

Walter Reece Slater married Lillian Juanita Holly in 1947, and divorced in November of 1991. Their children: Paul David (9/24/1948), Catherine Marie (11/18/1951-11/14/1952), and Norman Lynn (3/24/1954). Paul married Joy Williams; they had two daughters: Catherine Marie (November, 1970), and Christine (January, 1973). They are divorced. Norman married first Deanna Smith, by whom he had two sons: Michael Brandon (8/7/1976) and Micah Jason (4/11/1978). Jacob McKenzie (3/26/1987) is his son by his second wife, Janet Faye Rasnick. Paul and Norman lived in North Carolina.

Earl Rufus Slater married Loretta Castle. Their children: Lois Ann (5/9/1954) and Jerry Lynn (2/5/1956). Jerry has a son, Jeremy. He resides in Jacksonville, Florida. Earl and Loretta were divorced. He resides in Kingsport, as does his daughter, Lois Ann Rybak.

Ruby Nell Slater married first Clyde Arnold, Jr. (this marriage annulled), second Frank Collins (divorced), and again to Clyde Arnold, Jr. (divorced), and lastly to Lee Vera (also divorced). There were two children by Clyde Arnold, Jr.: Karen Hope (5/20/1959), and Scotty Lynn (7/5/1960); and three daughters by Lee Vera: Marie Elisa (10/10/1966), Tania Denise (1/20/1968), and Sandra Lea (2/17/1969). She now resides in Washington State.

Karen Hope Arnold first married Patrick March, by whom she had a daughter, Tammy Lynn (11/15/1980). Her second husband is John Carpe, by whom she has a daughter, Kimberly Ann (6/11/1986).

Joe and Myrtle Slater moved to Kingsport in 1927, where he was employed by Tennessee Eastman. He worked there until his retirement. Ernest worked in construction, Walter Reece worked at Holston Defense Corporation, and Earl worked for the Sullivan County Highway Department after returning from Illinois, where he lived for several years.

Related Story:

Kite-Worsham-Lee.

West Family of Hawkins County.

Worsham-Hendricks.

Submitted by:

*Lois Ann Slater
1374 East Center Street
Kingsport, TN 37664*

Thomas Somerset SLAUGHTER, Jr.

Thomas Somerset Slaughter, Jr., D.V.M., was born on May 30, 1919 at New Bridge on Tuckahoe Creek, the present boundary between Caroline and Talbot Counties, Maryland. He was the son of Thomas Somerset Slaughter, Sr. and Rebecca E. Satterfield, natives of Caroline County. Both traced their ancestors to mostly British settlers who arrived in Maryland and the Eastern Shore of Virginia before 1700.

His father's family included the first attorney general of Maryland, Richard Smith of Calvert County, whose descendants married into other Southern Maryland families in Charles and St. Mary's Counties. Members of these families sailed eastward across the Chesapeake Bay and married into Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia families.

His mother's family traced descent from settlers in Accomac County, Virginia; the Maryland counties of Somerset, Dorchester, Talbot, Queen Anne's and Caroline; and Kent County, Delaware.

Dr. Slaughter's ancestors were Church of England, Quaker, Methodist, and Swedenborgian.

The Slaughters lived at New Bridge, Hillsboro, and Madison on the Eastern Shore before moving to Brooklandville, Baltimore County, Maryland, in 1927. Dr. Slaughter graduated from Towson High School, Towson, Maryland, in 1937. He received his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama, in 1942. He became a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army Veterinary Corps in April 1943. He served with the prestigious Tenth Mountain Division, 616th Field Artillery Pack Battalion at Camp Hale, Colorado; Camp Swift, Texas; and in Italy.

When World War II ended in August 1945, he was in Marseilles, France, with a cadre waiting to sail to the Pacific area to set up headquarters for the division which had returned on furlough to the United States.

With the end of the war, he stayed in France until 1946, helping to close the huge supply depots in the Paris-Reims-Metz area. He left the service in 1947 as a major.

When he returned to Maryland in 1946, he was lucky to be able to buy a pickup truck in which he toured the South looking for a place to practice veterinary medicine. He found Rogersville and made it his home. He married Willie Marian Koger in 1953. She was the daughter of John Carroll Koger and Jennie Mae Rogers, natives of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

The Slaughters have two sons: Thomas Somerset Slaughter, III (born 1955), and John Koger Slaughter, D.V.M. (born 1958). Both are graduates of the University of Tennessee.

As a boy, Dr. Slaughter decided to be a veterinarian when he saw a local vet comfort a little calf who was unable to tell anyone where she hurt. He started his veterinary school fund by selling Queen's German Shepherd puppies. Queen, whose mother was a German war dog from World War I, was a present from a great uncle, Frampton of Tuckahoe Neck, Caroline County Maryland. She arrived at the Brooklandville train station in an August in the thirties during a rainstorm that ended a drought.

Tom was Sunday School secretary at Hunt's Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church (organized in 1773), Riderwood, Maryland, in his teens. He belonged to Boy Scout Troop 319, whose hut was on the church grounds. He was a patrol leader and never missed a meeting. He wanted to hear the scout master tell about his experiments with a "pack" outfit in France during World War I.

While he was a scout, the troop built a rifle range in a field near the church. There, Major Enoch Garey (U.S. Army, retired), the head of the Maryland State Police, a Carolina County native, taught the boys how to shoot properly. Dr. Slaughter was a crack shot, but he would not hunt.

In Rogersville, Dr. Slaughter served as one of the first licensed vets in the area, served in the Army Reserve during the Korean War, served on the Tennessee State Board for Veterinary Medicine, served as attending vet at local horse shows, helped produce the outdoor historical drama about Davy Crockett, helped barbecue the big old bulls for the benefit of the Rescue Squad, belongs to Rogersville Methodist Church, belongs to several professional associations including the American Veterinary Medical Association, etc.

He continues to serve the community as one of the oldest practicing veterinarians in the area.

Related Story:

The Banner Family, 1770-1993

Submitted by:

*Mary Virginia Slaughter
(Sister of Thomas S. Slaughter, Jr.)
6040 Hunt Ridge Road
Baltimore, MD 21210*

Bert E. and Fannie (AKARD) SMITH

Bert Edgar Smith, son of Alexander and Olivia Hamilton Smith, was born 22 March 1877 at the Smith homeplace on the Holston River near Church Hill, Tennessee. He was the grandson of Campbell and Mariah Jane Alexander Smith and Jacob and Margaret Elizabeth Maxwell Hamilton.

He married Fannie Akard, daughter of Eldridge Decatur and Lydia Gunning Spurgeon Akard, 28 February 1900 near Blountville, Sullivan Co., Tennessee. She was born in Sullivan County 26 February 1879 and died 21 February 1958 at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma while visiting a daughter, Mrs. David R. (Roberta) Scruggs.

Fannie Akard was an accomplished horsewoman and in her younger years won numerous blue ribbons for her riding skills. She attended Sullins College at Bristol, Virginia and later graduated from Asheville Collegiate College in North Carolina. In her eighteenth year she joined the Presbyterian Church.

After her marriage, she was active in church and civic work at Church Hill. Mrs. Smith helped organize the Church Hill

Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and took a particular interest in school affairs. She was a long time member of the Tennessee Historical Society.

Bert E. Smith worked on his father's farm from an early age and later together with his older brothers, Walter and Claude, helped his grandmother Hamilton manage her farm south of the Holston.

After his marriage in 1900, he brought his bride to the Hamilton farm and lived there until 1913 when he purchased the 700 acre Smith farm north of the Holston from his father.

His father, Alexander Smith, bought 350 acres of the farm in the settlement of the estate of John Bell Hamilton in 1877. Mr. Hamilton had previously purchased the acreage from the heirs of Burroughs Kinkead in 1849. Burroughs in turn had inherited the tract from his father, David Kinkead, "the Methodist" who acquired it in 1791. The remaining portion of the farm was purchased two years later from Louisa C. Sturm who had received it in the petition of the lands of her father, William P. Phipps. Therefore, what was known as the Bert Smith, Sr. farm was originally Kinkead and Phipps land.

As a farmer and cattleman, Bert E. Smith was well known throughout East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia. He was a large land owner in both states.

He was prominent in community, county and state affairs during lifetime residence in Hawkins Co. President Woodrow Wilson appointed him chairman of Hawkins County Draft Board in 1917. He was a member of Hawkins County Court for many years.

Bert E. Smith recognized that with position goes responsibility and so he served the people of Hawkins and Sullivan in the Legislature at Nashville for twelve years (1943-1955). As an assemblyman, "Uncle Bert" soon earned a reputation for a keen wit. He did not take the floor often but when he did his fellow representatives turned an attentive ear to what the gentleman from Hawkins had to say. He was a devout Democrat to the end but he never failed to listen to problems from Republican constituents as well as those of his own party. As an assemblyman, he represented all the people.

Mr. Smith served on the board of directors (1940-1955) and as president (1943-1949) of Johnson City National Farm Loan Association. Likewise he served as director of the East Tennessee Production Credit Association during the years of 1943-1949.

Following in the footsteps of his Hamilton grandparents, he was a devoted member and financial supporter of McPheeters Bend Baptist Church near Church Hill.

He was a fifty year member of Clay Lodge #386 at Church Hill which his grandfather Hamilton had served as first Master.

Public and community service to Bert E. Smith was the obligation he sincerely felt he owed to the people of Hawkins and Sullivan counties and to Tennessee. He was the country squire who was always pleased to serve.

Mr. Smith was killed instantly July 1955. He was accidentally run over by his car while opening a gate on his "Texas" farm near Warrenton, Virginia. He is buried with his wife at Oak Hill Cemetery, Kingsport, Tennessee.

The children of Bert E. and Fannie Akard Smith: (1) Frances Roberta (1903-1974) married David Richard Scruggs, three children; (2) Margaret Akard (1908) married Richard Taylor Murphy; (3) Thomas Alexander (1911-1954) married Eva Ruth Wiggins, two children; (4) Bert Edgar, Jr. (1913-1975) married Marie Tranbarger, five children; (5) Nancy Jane (1915-1919); Katherine Lydia (1917) married Earl Day, one child; (6) Eleanor Wilson (1918) married Robert E. Long, three children; D. Akard Smith (1921) married 1st Jeanne Brown Britton, three children, and married 2nd Stella Kitchens.

Related Story:

Jacob, and Margaret Elizabeth (Maxwell) Hamilton.

David R., and Frances Roberta (Smith) Scruggs.

Sources:

Smith, Hamilton and Alexander family records in the possession of compiler.

Sullivan County, TN marriage book 4, p. 338.

Hawkins County Deed Books - 1, p 126; 20, pp 242/243/244; 31, pp. 144/440; 61, p. 338.

WITH THE COLORS FROM HAWKINS COUNTY, p 11.

Bristol, TN-VA Herald-Courier, 1 July 1955.

Kingsport, TN News 2-5 July 1955.

Johnson City, TN Press Chronicle, 3 July 1955.

Kingsport, TN Times, 5 July 1955.

Knoxville, TN News-Sentinel, 23 February 1958.

BIOGRAPHICAL DIRECTORY OF THE TENNESSEE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, Volume IV, 1931- 1951, p 352.

Conversations with my Smith grandparents.

Submitted by:

*Patricia Scruggs Trolinger
Ottawa Hill
Route 1 - Box 154
Miami, OK 74354-9370*

The Calvin Morgan SMITH Family

Calvin Morgan Smith, born 10 June 1822 in Hawkins County was a farmer and school teacher with lands on the Holston River near the present John Sevier Steam Plant. He was the son of William Smith, Jr. who died 1859 in Hawkins Co., and Winney Grigsby Smith, a daughter of William Grigsby of Hawkins Co.

William Smith Jr. was the third child of William Smith who died 1805 in Hawkins County and Elizabeth Ridley Smith, daughter of the early pioneer settler Capt. George Ridley who lived in Hawkins County 1778-1789. William Smith owned land in Stanley Valley and perhaps in Carters Valley area of Hawkins County. His parents were Peter and Isabella Smith who came from North Carolina at the close of the Revolution and settled on the south bank of Holston River between Honeycutt and Dodson Creek by about 1788-1790. Peter Smith appears to have been in Sullivan County near the Long Island in 1782.

Besides William, Peter's sons were Joshua, Samuel, John, and Abel, all of whom lived in Hawkins Co., with Joshua and Samuel between Honeycutt and Dodson Creek and John near Church Hill. All appear to have been farmers, but records of William Smith Jr. suggest he was a businessman with land transactions as well.

William Smith, Jr. had sons John Rufas, Calvin Morgan, and Sevier, and daughters Elizabeth Ridley, Cassander, Nancy C., and Minerva Smith. John Rufas and Calvin Morgan served in the Mexican War, with John Rufas moving thereafter to Texas before the Civil War. Calvin Morgan and his brother Sevier both died in the Civil War, Calvin Morgan mortally wounded in the Action at Morristown, and Sevier dying in a Union prisoner of war camp.

Calvin Morgan Smith volunteered in October 1847 for the Mexican War and served in Mexico, returning to Hawkins Co. in July 1848. He married Nancy Ruth Spears, a daughter of Jesse Spears, 16 January 1849 following his return from Mexico, and they had seven children: William Sylvester, born 26 December 1849; Cornelia Frances, born 23 November 1851 (married Burton Maurice Kite in Hawkins Co.); Marcus Lafayette, born on 19 December 1854 (married Sally Jane Louderback in Hawkins Co.); Laura M., born 1855-1859 (married William Reynolds Sanders in Hawkins Co.); George Ridley, born 22 February 1859; Tabitha Jane, born 31 July 1862; and Calvin ("Cap") Morgan, Jr., born 22 May 1864.

Calvin Morgan Smith was First Lieutenant, commanding Co. D, 31st (later 39th) Tennessee Infantry Regiment (Mounted), CSA from its organization in February 1862 until his death. He wrote diaries of his service in the Mexican War and in the Civil War while he was in the field, frequently in action in the Civil War. The unit saw service in the campaign to Perryville, KY, the siege at Vicksburg, and the Shenandoah River campaign of 1864, with a retreat into Eastern Tennessee and the Action at Morristown on 28 October 1864 in which skirmish Calvin Morgan Smith was wounded and taken prisoner to Knoxville where he died 3 November 1864 in a federal military prison. Family tradition is that the sounds of the guns of the action could be heard at Strahl.

His young family must have suffered during the Reconstruction, as family members shortly thereafter left the region for central Texas. William Sylvester Smith came in 1873. George Ridley Smith, Tabitha Jane Smith, Calvin Morgan Smith Jr., their widowed mother, and the Cornelia Frances Smith Kite family came in 1882, leaving the Marcus Lafayette Smith and Laura M. Smith Sanders families in Hawkins Co. thereafter. Occasional returns to Hawkins Co. kept the families in contact.

The Marcus Lafayette Smith and Laura M. Smith Sanders families remained in Hawkins Co. where descendants still live. The group that came to Texas married and settled there, variously living at Waelder, Gonzales, Yoakum, Luling, San Marcos, and San Antonio, working in building construction, carpentry, and cotton ginning, and where each had a large family.

William Sylvester Smith (married Savanna Howell Bond) died May 1931. Cornelia Frances Smith Kite died 19 January 1922. George Ridley Smith (married Lilly Emma Brown) died 17 August 1945. Tabitha Jane Smith (married David Winfield Piland) died 23 June 1912. Calvin Morgan Smith, Jr. (married Eddie Lula Hill) died 27 December 1938 at San Antonio, TX, he being the grandfather of the author of this item.

Related Story:

The Capt. George Ridley Family

Source: The Smith Family, 150 pp unpublished manuscript by Leland L. Smith outlining 9 generations over two hundred years, with references to sources provided in detail.

Submitted by:

Leland L. Smith
104 Royal Ct.
Friendswood, TX 77546

George Washington SMITH

George Washington Smith, suffering from disease of kidneys, affecting his back and hips caused by unloading boats about July 1863 in Nashville, Tennessee, applied for an invalid pension on April 16, 1888, at Lucas, Hawkins County, Tennessee, "As a private of Company

"G" 4th Regiment Tenn. Infantry Volunteers in the Confederate Army, he stated he had to lift and handle heavy boxes". George W., aged 55 years, a resident of Chimney Top, county of Hawkins, being duly sworn, declares "that he was the identical George W. Smith who enrolled at Jonesboro, on November 1, 1862 in Company "G" of the 4th Regiment of Tenn commanded by Capt. J.W. Chockley and was honorably discharged at Nashville, Tennessee on the 2nd day of August 1865; that his personal description was as follows: Age 55 years, height 5 feet and 9 inches, complexion dark, hair black and eyes black".

W. A. Nelson, Limestone, Tennessee, stated in his affidavit, July 31, 1890, "that he first became acquainted with George W. Smith about the year 1865 at which time he moved to my Father's farm and was tenant farmer for several years there after. While he was employed on my Father's farm he complained continually on account of disease or weakness in his back, until he moved from this neighborhood in 1873 or 1874".

Dr. E. S. Depew, aged 56, resident of Sullivan County, Tennessee stated "he had known George W. Smith and Mary A. Smith as man and wife for about 19 or 20 years and that they lived and cohabited together for that length of time. Further says that he was present when 4 or 5 of the children were born, and the youngest, Ibby Jemima, is about 13 or 14 years old and claimant lived in the vicinity and joining neighborhood for the most of the aforesaid time and part of the time lived on affiant's land and affiant was well acquainted with the parties."

"Minutes" of the Holston Annual Conference of the Methodist E. Church South held in Jonesborough, Tennessee November 14 - 20, 1855 states that "Geo. W. Smith was listed as a preacher admitted on trial". and "Ordained by Bishop Paine on Sabbath of conference: Deacon George W. Smith". "In Abingdon District - G.W. Smith - Guess River Circuit".

"Holston Methodism", Volume IV, Conferences of 1854-1857, page 213 states: "Discontinued: G. W. Smith".

George W., born about 1835, and Mary Ann White, born about 1840, were married on 8 November 1857 in Washington Co., Tennessee by Samuel W. Bogart, Justice of the Peace. George W. and Mary Ann had nine children.

David Smith was born 3 June 1858 and died 21 January 1885 of a snake bite at the age of 26. He was never married.

Sarah "Sallie" Smith was born 1 July 1860 and died 9 June 1941. She married first James Bullion, and they had three children. She married second Bill Shropshire, and they had no children. She married third to Robert Caldwell, and they had one daughter Clara Caldwell.

Thomas Marion Smith was born on 2 September 1862 or 1865 and died on 3 March 1941. He was married 10 July 1884 to Clara Ann Allen, born 1 May 1861. They had eight children.

Mary "Molly" Ann Smith was born on 1 January 1866 and was married to Alex Jones.

George Washington Smith, Jr. was born 21 June 1868 and died 10 June 1923. He was married in 1889 to Mattie Grant Campbell, born 1869 and died 11 April 1900. They had two daughters and three sons.

John Leonder Smith, born 28 February 1870, was married first to Martha West and they had 7 children. He was married second to Ida Thacker, and they had no children.

Zachariah "Zack" Smith was born 18 May 1872 and died 4 February 1944. On 25 December 1894 in Hawkins County, he married Mary Francis Caldwell, the daughter of Robert and Jane Christian Caldwell. Jane was born 25 November 1876 and died 16 December 1938. Both are buried at Christian's Bend Church Cemetery. They had three sons and 2 daughters, all born in Hawkins County.

Jesse Lafatte Smith, born 19 October 1895 and died 3 August 1968, married to Verdie Ann Simpson.

William "Billy" Amon Smith was born 7 April 1899 and died 23 July 1969. He was married to Vernie Minnie Simpson, born 27 February 1897 and died on 2 February 1982. She was the sister of Verdie Ann. Their children are: Hobert Ross, Morris, Dewey, and Nellie Kate.

Hobert Ross Smith was born 21 October 1924. He married Ina Lee Lane on 31 March 1946. She was born 22 August 1925. They have one son, Keith Edward Smith, born 21 November 1947.

Morris Smith was born 19 March 1927 and died 26 September 1993. He was married on 17 June 1950 to Irene Thompson, born 7 April 1927 and died in December 1992. They had: one daughter and two sons: Charlotte Maricette Smith McClellan, born 10 March 1951; Billy Truman Smith, born 30 October 1954; and Ricky Wayne Smith, born 15 April 1962.

Dewey Smith was born 21 October 1932 and on 2 March 1956 he married Gladys Jeanette Gilliam, born 24 February 1937. They have 2 sons, Roger Dennis Smith, born 9 April 1957, and Gregory Lynn, born 19 March 1961.

Nellie Kate Smith was born 24 March 1935. She is unmarried.

Arbanner Smith was born 12 September 1905 and died 4 September 1923. She was never married.

Marion Thomas Smith was born 6 May 1908 and died 27 July 1958. On 29 August 1930 he married Lula Carey born 8 December 1894 and died 10 November 1972. They had two sons: Delmer Ray Smith, born 1 October 1931 and married 30 October 1951 to Bobbie Ruth Strong; and Marion Kyle Smith, born on 19 April 1936 and died on 13 November 1989, leaving his wife Addie and 2 daughters, Mrs. Karen Catron and Mrs. Kathy Vaughn, and 1 son, Roy Thomas Smith.

Nancy V. Smith was born 13 June 1911 and died 7 September 1945. She was married to James Alexander Carey. Their children: Charles Hersel Carey, born 25 July 1926; Mary Carey, born 7 April 1929; Pearl Carey; Arlos Carey; Margie Carey; James Edward Carey, born 12 January 1941; Delphia Carey; Marie and Leah Carey, twins born 29 May 1945.

Susan Elizabeth "Lizzie" Smith, born 27 September 1874, was married to George W. Christian, and they had 9 children.

Mariah Gemima "Ibbie" Smith, born 28 May 1877 and died 24 October 1952 was married 1898 Hawkins County to Norris B. Christian, born 14 July 1876, and died 3 October 1956. They had 7 sons and 3 daughters.

George W. Smith received his Civil War pension of $8.00 until his death 23 November 1890. We haven't been able to find his grave. Some say it is located at Van Hill in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

George's wife Mary Ann applied for and received a widow's pension until her death on March 10, 1907. She is buried close to her son, Zack and his wife and daughter in the Christian's Bend Church Cemetery.

Related Stories:

Leonard Warner Simpson.

Jesse Lafatte Smith.

Sources:

Hawkins Co., TN Cemetery Records.

Hawkins and Washington Co., TN Marriage Records.

Confederate Pension Records.

"Minutes" of the Holston Annual Conference of the Methodist E. Church South held in Jonesborough, Tennessee November 14 - 20, 1855.

Holston Methodism, Volume IV, Conferences of 1854-1857, p. 213.

Submitted by:

*Roosevelt Smith
Route 1, Box 695
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Jesse Lafatte SMITH

Jesse Lafatte Smith, the son of Zack and Mary Francis Caldwell Smith, was born 19 October 1895 in Hawkins County, Tennessee and died 3 August 1968. He was married on 14 February 1914 to Verdie Ann Simpson, daughter of Leonard Warner and Rebecca Jane Christian Simpson. Verdie Ann was born 11 April 1895 and died 22 November 1961. Jesse and Verdie are buried at Goshen Valley Cemetery, Hawkins County. They had eight sons and 2 daughters.

Earl Sidrick Smith was born 22 August 1915. On 7 April 1936 he married Douglas Vesta Christian, born on 4 February 1918 and died 11 March 1991. They had two sons: Truman Eugene Smith, born 28 December 1936 and died 1 April 1937; and Roy Darrell Smith, born 10 March 1938. On September 23, 1960, Darrell married Shelby Jean Christian, born January 25, 1942, and they have one son Stephen Joel Smith, born 5 April 1963. Darrell and Shelby are divorced. Stephen is married and has a son, Michael Stephen, born December 8, 1993.

Billy Tillman Smith was born 17 May 1917, and died December 8, 1993. He was not married.

Charlie Calvin Smith was born 23 June 1919 and died 25 April 1982. On 28 June 1941 he married Oma Louise Trent, born 13 November 1922. They had one son, Edward "Eddie" Alton Smith, born 3 August 1942. Eddie was married 2 September 1967 to Linda Diane Davis, born 12 May 1948. They have 2 daughters: Shannon Diane, born 3 December 1971, and Hannah Maleah, born 22 August 1978.

Quentin Roosevelt Smith was born 29 April 1921 and was married to Ruth Elizabeth Helton on 27 September 1941.

Elsie May Arbana Smith was born on 10 May 1923. She married on 25 January 1945 to Carson Caldwell, born 31 May 1914 and died 26 November 1974. They have 2 daughters, Portia and Linda.

Portia Aurellia Caldwell was born 12 April 1946 and was married 4 October 1969 to Harry Leon Callahan and divorced in 1993. They have one daughter, Rachel Michelle Callahan, born 11 December 1974.

Linda Faye Caldwell was born 24 June 1948 and married Carl Edward Callahan on 20 April 1968. Carl was born 23 March 1947 and is a Free Will Baptist Minister. They have 2 daughters: Sarah Rose Callahan, born on 3 June 1970, and Jenifer Dawn Callahan, born 4 October 1974.

Lotus Virginia Smith was born on 30 November 1928. She was married on 1 August 1953 to Enos Hiram Arnold, born 29 March 1925. They have five children: Dwight Stanley Arnold, born 16 April 1956; Randy Michael Arnold born 11 January 1958; Steven Dean Arnold, born 23 January 1961; Valerie Gail Arnold, born 3 March 1962, married 7 March 1980 to David Marshall Austin, born 28 April 1955, and they have one daughter; and Lisa Faye Arnold, who has one son.

Loyd Raymond Smith was born 29 August 1930. On 14 April 1967 he married Marie Carey Lawson, born 29 May 1945. Marie had been previously married to Johnny Lawson, and they had two children: Robin Lawson, born 15 November 1964; and Johnny Reese Lawson, born 6 February 1966. Raymond Smith adopted Robin and Reese. Raymond and Marie have one son, Loyd Anthony Smith, born 9 July 1974.

Jesse "Junior" Reynolds Smith was born on 10 August 1932. He married first on 10 October 1950 to Mary Elizabeth Kinche-loe, born 3 November 1931. They have 2 children: Jessie Marilyn Smith, born 16 February 1952, and Victor Dale Smith, born on 10 August 1959. On 27 March 1977, Jessie Marilyn Smith married Robert Christian Jones, born 9 April 1950. They adopted a daughter, Jessica Ashley, born 28 March 1987. Marilyn and Robert are divorced. On December 1, 1978 Victor Dale Smith married Victoria Lynn Curtis, born on 3 December 1960. They have three children: Timothy Allen, born on 14 April 1980; Christina Marie, born 3 August 1982; and Sarah Elizabeth, born 31 December 1983.

Junior Smith married second on 15 May 1963 to Juanita Marie Callahan, born on 5 April 1940. They have one son, Norman Wayne Smith, born on 1 August 1968.

Marion Hughie Smith was born on 14 August 1934. On 21 June 1952 he married Wanda McLain, born 2 February 1934. They have 3 children, Velma, Jeffery, and Michael.

Velma Iris Smith, born 17 June 1953, married Marcell Dykes, and they have a daughter, Nancy Louise Dykes, born 23 March 1971.

Jeffery Lynn Smith was born August 7, 1960. Michael Dean Smith was born on August 29, 1961.

David Lee "D.L." Smith was born June 25, 1937. On July 6, 1955 he married Jo Ann Hall, born May 22, 1938. They have one daughter, Leigh Suzanne, born November 11, 1968.

Jesse took his family to Inman, Virginia, and for a few years he worked in the coal mine at Inman Hollow Coal Mine.

Later, back in Christian's Bend, he farmed a little and caught fish to sell. He had a holding box where people came by to weigh the fish and purchase them. A few times he would take his fish up to Kingsport and he would sell his fish in the parking lot behind Kress' Store.

One big catfish that Jesse caught was taken by Jesse's son Roosevelt to the Tennessee Eastman where Roosevelt was working. Roosevelt took the catfish and sold it to his foreman for 10 cents per pound. From that day on everyone called Roosevelt "Catfish." Through the years some of Roosevelt's co-workers did not know his given name; all they ever knew him by was "Catfish."

Jesse helped take log rafts down the river to Knoxville. In the summer they would cut the logs and in winter when the water was up they would load the logs into rafts they had made and take them down to Knoxville, and then Jesse would catch the train back home to Church Hill. After one long and exhausting trip down the river, Jesse came home and laid down to sleep. His wife became worried and called for the neighbor when she couldn't wake him up. They decided he was alright, and he slept for several days.

Related Stories:

Rebecca Jane Christian.

Leonard Warner Simpson.

Sources:

Family Bible Records.

Juanita Callahan Smith.

Submitted by:

*Roosevelt Smith
Route 1, Box 695
Rogersville, TN 37857*

John SMITH

JOHN SMITH and his son, also John Smith, moved from North Carolina to East Tennessee. He, his children, and grandchildren, are in and out of the counties of Greene, Jefferson, Hawkins, Grainger, and Knox in the late 1700's and early 1800's. He is listed in the ledgers of Capt. Thos. Amis' store as having a new account in 1783 (Big Creek, Hawkins County, Tennessee, page 30, misc. records).

Two slaves, Brisco, 25 years of age, and Jerry, 23 years of age, were given to William Smith by his grandfather, John Smith, Sr., on February 23, 1790, in Hawkins County. Witness was Micajah Lee. He is thought to have married Elizabeth Whitefield(?).

From Court testimony, John Sr. died in February 1793 in Jefferson County, TN. Intestate at the time of his death, he had property of considerable value. His only surviving son, Samuel Smith, obtained letters of Administration in Jefferson County, TN, took possession of the estate and brought it to public sale. The sale brought $10,542.50. Also listed were the names of 23 slaves. The estate was valued by Jas. Roddy, Alex Outlaw, and James Lea, Esqrs.

On June 3, 1794, Samuel Smith of Johnston County, NC, brought suit in Jefferson Co., TN against his sister, Ann Bryan, and other heirs of John Smith, Sr. This suit was eventually sent to Knox Co. In Knox Co. this suit is in Superior Court Record Book "B" and was Samuel Smith, Adm., against Ann Bryan, his sister, and the other heirs and legal representatives of John Smith, Senr. The seven children of John Smith are listed: Anne, Elizabeth, John, Jr., and Alexander died during the life of the intestate. Samuel, Jane Phelps, and Pheruba Hinton are the surviving children.

Samuel gives testimony that he does not know how much of the estate each heir is entitled to, by law, until it can be ascertained how much each received before their father died, and whether some heirs bought more of the estate than they were entitled to have. He asks of each heir an accounting of all the gifts they have received through the years from their father. He asks the court to direct what proportion to distribute the surplus of the estate.

William Smith, Administrator of the estate of John Smith, Jr. filed a cross bill.

JOHN SMITH, JR. was born around 1736(?). He is thought to have married Mary Exum, perhaps in Virginia. He served during the Revolutionary War and was given bounty warrants to lands in Kentucky and Tennessee. It is not known if he went to Kentucky, although some of his children may have gone. Colonel

John Smith died about December, 1789, probably in Hawkins Co., TN. In Knox Co. there are listed Negro slaves given to his children before his death and also after his death, all listed under the year 1789.

His second marriage is thought to have been to Sarah, who married Micajah Lee after John Smith, Jr. died. She was dead by June 12, 1812, Deed Book 6, p. 544, Hawkins Co., TN.

John Smith, Jr. had children: John Smith, perhaps dead by 1798 as he is not mentioned in his brother Brittain's will; William Smith; Gideon Smith married Sarah moved to Georgia; Edith Smith married John Allen; Abigail Smith married Rice; Jane Smith married Bridges; Brittain (also spelled Brittain, Brittan) Smith was in East Tennessee and owned property in Greene Co. He returned to Johnson Co., NC. His will dated February 28, 1798, names brothers William and Gideon, sisters Edith Allen and Agigail Rice. In the lawsuit in Knox Co., William Smith is appointed guardian of minor children of John Smith, Jr., Phember Smith and James Smith, and others, if there be any. James is said to be in Kentucky. In 1803 with his mother, Sarah Lee. No other mention is made of Phember.

Sources:

Compiled from records of North Carolina, Jefferson Co., Hamblen Co., and Knox Co., TN, and research of Mr. George Burney Smith (deceased) of Morristown, TN, and Sequin, Texas.

Submitted by:

Janie Ruth Smith Dyer
2112 Carolyn Dr.
Jefferson City, TN 37760

John Biddle and Laura (SEAVER) SMITH

Laura Alice Seaver was born September 9, 1859, in Hawkins Co., Tennessee. Laura was the oldest child of Henry Clinton Seaver and Helen Williams Seaver. Her parents were married April 8, 1858, at Rogersville and were lifelong residents of Hawkins County.

Laura's father, Henry Clinton Seaver, was born on October 10, 1833, at Surgoinsville and died on March 28, 1910, at Whitesburg where he was a merchant. He is buried in the St. Clair Cemetery. His parents were Jeremiah Seaver (3/15/1805-7/28/1869) and Nancy Thurman Seaver (12/6/1811-12/27/1850).

Laura's mother, Helen Williams, was born August 16, 1841, Hawkins County, and died October 27, 1875, at St. Clair. She is buried at the St. Clair Cemetery. Her parents were John and Ruth Williams.

Henry and Helen Seaver had eight children: Laura (Smith); Harriet Paralee (Weems); John; Robert (Ida Fox); Mary Eliza (Will Flora); Patrick (Hattie); Verda; and Helen Ann. After Helen Seaver's death, Henry Seaver married Narcissa Elizabeth Reeve. They had two children - Pearl Reeve (Rader) and Clyde Ernest.

On December 12, 1886, Laura Alice Seaver married John Biddle Smith, son of George Alexander and Martha (Squibb) Smith, of Greene County, Tennessee. By 1888, the Smiths were living in Knoxville. Mr. Smith was a bridge and stone contractor. He later was an engineer with Southern Railway. About 1915, the Smiths moved to a farm at Avondale Springs, Grainger County, Tennessee.

John B. and Laura Smith had seven children: Ethel (1887-1946); Homer (1887-1887); Fred E. (1891-1946) who married Georgie McDaniel (Children: William Lee; Fred E., Jr.; and John Charles); Clyde Vernon (1893-1960) who married Ruth Frantz (Children: John Frederick; Marjorie Jean Stadelmeier); Otto (1895-?) who married Mary?; Evan (1898-?) who married Barbara ?; and Helen (1900-?) who married (1) Dave Northern, and (2) Harmon Greenzweight (Children: John David Northern, and Patricia Northern).

Laura Seaver Smith was a lifetime member of the Methodist Church. Laura died June 17, 1922, at Avondale Springs. Both she and her husband are buried at the Presbyterian Church Cemetery, at Rutledge, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

Henry Clinton Seaver and Family.

Jeremiah Seaver.

Jeremiah Seaver (1805-1861).

The Family of M. D. and Paralee (Seaver) Weems.

Sources:

Henry C. Seaver family Bible.

Documents: Wills, Death Certificates, Marriage Certificates.

U.S. Census Reports.

Cemetery visits.

Family sources and records of M. Smith Stadelmeyer, Helen S. Greenzweight, William L. Smith, Fred E. Smith, Jr., Virginia Rader Clemmer.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Marjorie Smith Stadelmeyer
(Granddaughter of Laura Seaver Smith)
13930 Lake Candlewood Court
Miami Lakes, FL 33014*

Matthew Rhodes SMITH

Born in Walker County Georgia on 13 December, 1861, Matthew was the fourth child of Duncan and Mary F. (Carden) Smith. His brothers, also born in Georgia, were: James L. (born on 26 July 1852); Robert E. (born on 12 October 1858); and G. A. (born 21 August 1855 and died 21 May 1858).

When Matthew was about three months of age, his father volunteered to go fight in the Civil War. Duncan joined the Confederate Infantry from Walker County, called the "LaFayette Volunteers." Then on June 27, 1862, Matthew's father was killed at Richmond, Virginia. After this happened, Mary took her three sons (including Matthew) and went back to Tennessee, where she and Duncan were born, lived, and were married. There in Hancock and Hawkins Counties the family lived. There Matthew learned a trade. He became a shoe cobbler, and he was a great fiddle player. He was also a farmer and carpenter.

On December 26, 1880, Matthew married his first wife, Sarah Jane Wolfe. But after a little daughter was born, Sarah Jane died. This left Matthew's mother to raise little Mary Victoria.

On March 13, 1887, Matthew married again, this time to Minerva Jane Wolfe, a cousin to his first wife. In 1888 a little son was born, Manson Cleveland.

Then in January, 1889, Matthew, his wife and two children left Morristown, Tennessee and came to Texas. Matthew and family settled in and around Denton and Collin Counties. Here six more children were born to Matthew and Minerva Smith. They were: Linnie Elizabeth, born November 8, 1890; Otis Levi, born January 16, 1893; Robert E., born November 30, 1895; Violet Ruth, born on March 2, 1909; Otha Glenn, born on October 26, 1906; and Clyde Gideon, born November 2, 1908.

On December 3, 1933, Matthew died at Sudan, Texas. Today there is a large number of Matthew's grandchildren and descendants living in Texas, of which I am a granddaughter.

References:

Family History.

1860 Census of Walker Co., GA.

1880 Census of Hancock Co., TN.

1900 Census of Collin Co., TX.

Submitted by:

*Juanita (Smith) Wells
9809 Home Place
Dallas, TX 75217*

Roosevelt SMITH

Roosevelt Smith, the son of Jesse Lafatte Smith and Verdie Ann Simpson, was born 29 April 1921 in the Christians Bend area of Hawkins County, TN. He was named by his great aunt Clementine "Clem" Dykes Christian. When she came to visit the new baby boy she told everyone "That's my little Quentin Roosevelt." She would pick him up and talk to him saying "my Roosevelt" so he became Quentin Roosevelt instead of Paul like his Mother wanted to name him.

He attended the two-room school house across the road from the Christians Bend Church.

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt started a job program for young people between the ages of 16 and 20 years. It was known as the National Youth Administration, or "NYA."

The NYA shop for boys was located in Rogersville on Depot Street, where later the Rogersville Motor Company (the Chevrolet dealership) built. They worked in a shop that did wood working and carpenter work. They made little chairs and tables for schools, and also water fountains for the school children which was a long pipe where 4 or 5 spouts of water would come out and several children could get a drink as long as someone was pumping water through the pipe.

The NYA shop for girls was located in Rogersville in the back corner of the Court House, in what was to become the Chancery Court. The girls made quilts, overalls, and shirts. These articles were not sold, but were given to people and school children who needed them.

This was where Roosevelt met his future wife, Ruth Elizabeth Helton, born 19 July 1922 in Hawkins County, the daughter of Nessie W. and Nancy Jane Dyer Helton.

Roosevelt was still working at the NYA shop when he was called to work at Tennessee Eastman Company in Kingsport. He started working there on 11 April 1941.

Roosevelt and Elizabeth were married on 27 September 1941, by the Rev. Herman Christian in Christians Bend.

In the fall of 1941 they built a house on part of the 90 acres in the upper end of Christians Bend that was purchased by his g-g-g-g-grandfather Lewis Christian from Roger Top on 8 December 1795 and has been passed down through the family for generations. Their daughter Carolyn Ann was born in the house on 14 July 1942.

In July of 1944 they bought a log house at 200 Huffmaster Street in Rogersville that had been advertised in the Rogersville Review. While there, their daughter Brenda Joan was born at Lyons Hospital in Rogersville on 24 January 1945.

Roosevelt was called into service when Brenda was only 8 weeks old. He went to Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia to be examined for the Army. A bus took him along with several other guys to Chattanooga, TN where they had more exams and spent the night. Afterward he was sworn into the Navy and was put on a train at Chattanooga to take the group to Bainbridge, Maryland. The train, called the "Tennessean", was an express train which stopped to load only at larger cities. It only stopped at smaller ones to let someone off. They ate supper in the diner car on their way between Bulls Gap and Greeneville, TN.

After being in Maryland for 13 weeks, he came home on furlough and then he took a troop train to Shoemaker, California in June, 1945. Shoemaker is about 50 miles from Oakland. For about three weeks he was there at the separation center where they awaited assignments. His assignment was to the "U.S.S. Petrof Bay", aircraft carrier #80 which he boarded at Long Beach, CA and was there several weeks while dry docked for repairs and reconditioning of the ship. Also aboard the same ship were two other sailors from Hawkins County. They were L.B. Minor and Bill Hamblen. Roosevelt was a shipfitter, performing maintenance on the ship along with welding and pipefitting.

Early in 1946 the ship was at San Francisco Bay where it was unloaded of everything except what was needed to run the ship. That was all war materiel, including guns, ammunition, and other equipment. The ship left the San Francisco Bay area and travelled in January and February, 1946 down the west coast, through the Panama Canal, up the east coast to Charleston, SC and Norfolk, VA, and then on to New York harbor where Roosevelt, a Seaman First Class, USNR, was discharged at Lido Beach, Long Island, New York on 7 April 1946. He received the American Theatre Medal, Asiatic Pacific Medal, and Victory Medal.

After leaving the ship at Boston, he returned home, and worked at Eastman for over 40 years. He worked in several departments, including twisting, spinning, laboratory, research building, and Veral Polymer.

Roosevelt and Elizabeth have two daughters, Carolyn Ann and Brenda Joan. Carolyn Ann Smith, born 14 July 1942 in Hawkins County, married Darryl Conrad Gardner, born on 17 November 1942 in Hawkins County. They have one daughter, Yvette Janine Gardner, born on 3 December 1963 in Rogersville, married to Creighton Wayne Harrell, Jr, born on 17 August 1963 in North Carolina. They live in NC, and have two daughters, Kayla Elizabeth Harrell, born on 11 March 1990, and Elishia Marie Harrell, born 22 February 1993.

Brenda Joan Smith, born on 24 January 1945 in Rogersville. She was married on 31 July 1965 to George Edd "Eddie" Buchanan, Jr., born 15 March 1944. They live in Northville, MI.

Roosevelt retired on 1 July 1981 as a foreman in the Veral Polymer Department. Since his retirement, he and Elizabeth enjoy travelling, especially to Hominy Valley, North Carolina where they love to listen to gospel singing.

They recently celebrated 52 happy years of marriage.

They are active in church work, and Roosevelt is very active on the building and grounds committee and as a Deacon at the First Baptist Church of Rogersville, TN.

One of their hobbies is making apple butter, something they have been doing for several years. Recently they made a stir in their back yard in a large brass kettle and they have been told this is the best stir they have ever made.

Related Stories:

The Lewis Christian Family.

Nessie Walter Helton.

Jesse Lafatte Smith.

Submitted by:

*Roosevelt Smith
Route 1, Box 695
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Kindrick A. SPEARS

Kindrick A. Spears was my great grandfather. Kindrick was the son of Lazarus Spears and Nancy Haynes, and the grandson of Samuel Spears and Sarah .

Kindrick was born in Hawkins County in 1820. He married Elizabeth Hicks, and they had eight children. Their son John S. was my grandfather. John grew up in Rogersville, Tennessee, married to Retta Ann Kite, and they had seven children: Ross, Homer, Christopher C., Lawrence, Charles Herbert, Trula, and Jess Lee.

Grandfather John died at the age of 45, on 11 July 1911.

Grandmother Retta and her children lived in a place called Slide on a small farm that she had inherited from her father, Ben Kite. Just across the hill was the Slide Store, a corn mill, Tunnell Hill Church, and Slide's one room school house. This is where she did her trading, sent her children to school and went to church.

Grandmother Retta was born on 22 November 1871 and she died 13 April 1934. She is buried in the Kite Cemetery along with grandfather John and their son Homer L., who accidentally shot himself while hunting at the age of fifteen. Homer was born 1 September 1900 and died 23 November 1915.

My father, Charles Herbert, purchased a small farm from his brothers and sisters after Grandmother Retta's death. He farmed the land, raising tobacco, and also worked on the railroad laying rails for tracks into Virginia. He served in World War I as a Private in Company L, 45th Infantry, Tennessee. He married Effie L. Bruner, and they have five children: Charles E., James Franklin, Bennie, Allie, and Audrey.

In 1943, we moved from the old home place to Weber City, Virginia, when my father was employed by the Blue Ridge Glass Corporation in Kingsport, Tennessee. We would return to the old home place at Slide from time to time to visit, and work around the farm. My father tore down the old house that he was raised in and built another one, in hopes that he would return someday.

While living in Weber City, my brothers, Charles E., James Franklin, and Bennie, my sister Allie, and I attended Shoemaker Elementary School and Shoemaker High School at Gate City, VA. We lived there for almost twenty years, then in 1963 my father moved back to the old home place at Slide.

Things are different now - the store, the corn mill, and the one room school house are all gone. Tunnell Hill Church remains, but a new building stands in its place.

My father, Charles Herbert Spears, died March 17, in 1970.

My brother, Charles E., also moved back to Rogersville, TN. He is very active in Joseph Rogers V.F.W. Post 3543. He is also in the Tennessee Defense Force 301 Infantry Battalion as 1st Lt. He also served in the Virginia National Guard, and he served in the U.S. Army in the Korea conflict.

Charles E. married Margie Thacker, and they have two children, Tresa (McPeck), and Ralph Edward. They also adopted their granddaughter, Tabitha.

My brother, James Franklin also moved back to Rogersville. He owns a farm in Webster Valley, where he is now engaging in raising cattle, and he is employed by the Mead Corporation in Kingsport, TN, where he is almost ready to enjoy his retirement after many years working at Mead.

James served four years in the Virginia National Guard while living in Weber City, Virginia. He married Wanda Musick, and they have four children, J. F. Jr., Tony Anthony, Joyce, and David Ross.

My brother Bennie moved back to Hawkins Co. with his father in 1963. Benny is unmarried and lives on the old home place my father, Charles Herbert, and my Grandmother Retta owned at Slide. Benny worked for Metals Engineering Company in Greeneville, TN, and also eight years for the Hawkins Co. Highway Department. He is also engaged in farming, raising cattle and tobacco.

My sister, Allie, married Thomas E. Jennings in 1956, and they made their home in Kingsport, TN. She was employed for sixteen years with the Oakwood Market, and she is now employed with the Kroger Company in Kingsport as a cashier, and part time office worker. Thomas served four years with the U.S. Army, and four years with the U.S. Navy, and he is now employed with Greenland A.F.G. Industry. They have two sons, Robert and Thomas Jr. Allie was very active as a home room mother, and Thomas Sr. as a coach for the Little League Ball Team at Kingsley Elementary School.

In 1956 I married Henry Dave Salyer. We moved to Wooster, Ohio, where Dave was employed with the International Paper Company. We lived there for twelve years. We had one child, Anita Lynn. She attended Shreve Elementary School, from ages five to seven years. Dave was transferred by International Paper to Murfreesboro, TN in 1968. We lived in Murfreesboro for ten years, where Anita attended Michell Nelson Elementary School and Oakland High School. Dave died at the age of 45 in 1968.

Our daughter, Anita, married Larry Whitaker, and they have one child, Martha Wallis. Martha goes to Hilton Elementary School in Virginia. She is in the sixth grade, and an honor roll student. She has won 4-H competitions, placed in Science Fairs, and tied for first place in athletic competitions.

Related Story:

Samuel Spears

Submitted by:

*Audrey Spears Salyer
Route 8, Box 1215
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Samuel SPEARS

My great, great, grandfather Samuel Spears came from Pasquotank County, North Carolina. He settled in Hawkins County in the late 1700's. He had two sisters, Kezziah and Ferrby. Also two brothers, Arthur and William. Samuel was born in 1761. He served in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted in Halifax County, North Carolina under Col. Hogan in 1778, and he applied for his pension in Hawkins County. The Spears' settled on the north side of the Holston River, known as Mill Bend. Samuel knew and did business with Joseph Rogers. His first marriage was to Sarah. They had four children: Pheraba, Nancy, Jesse, and Lazarus. He was later married to Rebecca Smith.

Jesse, Samuel's son, was born in 1789. He married Ferriby Haynes. Jesse was in the War of 1812. He served from October 1813 until February 1814 under commander Col. William Lillard, in Captain William Gillenwaters' Regiment of East Tennessee Militia. He applied for a pension in Hawkins County.

Jesse's son, James D., was a Captain in the thirty-first Tennessee Infantry, that was organized in Knoxville, Tennessee on March 28 1862, Company D. He was in the Battle at Vicksburg, Mississippi.

Lazarus, Samuel's son, was born in 1786. His first marriage was to Nancy Haynes in 1810. She was the daughter of Christopher Haynes. The children of Lazarus and Nancy were: Drury A., John, Christopher H., Jesse, and Kindrick A. Lazarus was a major in the Tennessee Militia and Justice of the Peace in the town of Rogersville. He served in the committee to open the first turnpike road from Knoxville to the Virginia line and also to bring the railroad into the area. Nancy, his first wife, died at an early age. Lazarus then married Elizabeth Mary Amis in 1833. She was the daughter of Haynes Amis, who was the son of Thomas Amis and his second wife Lucy Haynes.

Lazarus and Elizabeth Mary had seven children. Lazarus, my great, great grandfather died in Hawkins County, on March 4, 1849. He and both wives are buried side by side in the Spears Cemetery in Hunter's Hollow.

Drury Alsbrock Spears, Lazarus' son, was born in Hawkins County in 1811. He married Mary Ann Parks in 1835. They had nine children: Lazarus D., Rachel, Christopher C., Elizabeth, Joseph, Nancy, Mollie (Mary), John, and Elkanah.

Drury and Mary, his wife, owned a three hundred acre farm on the north side of Holston River near the Burem Bridge. He was an active Whig politician, and was suggested to be a delegate to represent the County in 1865.

His son, Lazarus D., was a Confederate soldier in the thirty-first Tennessee Infantry. He was captured by Union sympathizers and was then executed in front of his home when the bushwhackers made a raid on Mill Bend.

Drury and Mary's son Christopher C., was also a Confederate in the Civil War in 1861. He entered the Confederate State Service and enlisted in Company K, Nineteenth Regiment, Tennessee Infantry. He was in the Battle of Shiloh Church, Murfreesboro, Baton Rouge, LA and from Dalton to Atlanta. He returned home in 1865 and engaged in farming until 1870 when he was elected high sheriff of Hawkins County. He was also elected to the same office 1872-1874. In 1872, he was an independent candidate and defeated the nominee of both political parties. He was also an independent candidate in 1874. He changed his politics in 1878 and was a nominee of the Republican Party for Circuit Court Clerk and was elected. He served one term of four years and was reelected to the same office in 1882.

In January, 1887, he was elected coroner by the County Court and held the same office. He attended McMinn Academy in Rogersville, Tennessee in 1870. He married Sederia M. Bean. They had no children. Both Christopher C. and Sederia were members of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

Drury's daughter Mary (Mollie) married Joseph S. Webster in 1872. The farm that Drury and his wife Mary owned was passed down in the hands of his daughter Mary and her husband Joseph. It is now what is known as the Webster Angus Farm and one of the oldest farms in Tennessee. Drury's daughter Mary died April 23, 1923 and Joseph in 1913. Both are buried in Rogersville Methodist Church Cemetery. They had five children.

Christopher C. was born in 1840 and died in 1909. Christopher C. and Sederia are buried in the Rogersville Methodist Church Cemetery. Drury and his wife Mary and three of their children, Lazarus D., Rachel, and Nancy are buried in the Spears Cemetery in Hunter's Hollow, along with his father Lazarus Spears.

Related Story:

Kindrick A. Spears

Sources:

Hawkins County Cemetery Books.

Distant Crossroads.

History of Tennessee, by Goodspeed.

Hawkins County Biographical.

East Tennessee Marriage Book.

Hawkins County Censuses (1850, 1860, 1880, 1920).

Revolutionary War Soldiers of Hawkins Co., Tenn.-North Carolina.

Early Families of Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Hawkins County Court House Deed Books.

Tennessee in the Civil War.

The Old Nineteenth Tennessee Confederate Regiment.

Pension List of Hawkins County.

Hawkins County Court Minutes.

Newspaper Clippings, by Lowell Patterson.

My own knowledge of relatives that I know.

Regimental Histories and Memorial Roots (Military Annals of Tennessee).

Submitted by:

*Audrey Spears Salyer
Route 8, Box 1215
Rogersville, TN 37857*

SPITZER

Johann Henrick Spitzer and Johan Anderas Spitzer arrived in the Port of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 26 September 1764. They were on the ship Brittania from Rotterdam, Germany. Thomas Arnot was the ship's Captain. They moved from PA to Virginia. From the study of census records we are led to believe that Johan Anderas (John Andrew) Spitzer had a son Daniel, which we believe to be my line. Daniel was living in Rockingham Co. VA by census of 1810 and in Washington Co. VA by census of 1820.

A little later the following Spitzers were living in Hawkins County TN: James Spitzer, Noah Spitzer, Jacob Spitzer, Stephen Spitzer, Henry Spitzer, and John Andrew Spitzer.

John Andrew, born ca. 1810, we believe to be the son of Daniel, married Mary * *, born ca. 1820. The children of John and Mary were: Emily, born ca. 1842; David, born ca. 1845; Francis, born ca. 1847; James, born ca. 1850; Thomas, born ca. 1853; Esabella, born ca. 1856; Virginia E. and Tennessee E., born ca. 1859.

Francis married Elizabeth Dodson on 21 January 1875 in Hawkins County. They had one son John Andrew, born in March 1876.

John Andrew traveled to Texarkana, Arkansas where he met and married 1st

Laura Cordelia Giles on 28 July 1895 Miller Co. Ark. The young couple moved to Rogersville, TN. They had two sons, Jacob Calvin, born 18 February 1900, and Rufus born 17 November 1901. John Andrew married 2nd Lucy Best Anderson on September 1910 Hawkins Co., and they had no children. John Andrew died on 29 November 1959 in San Diego, CA.

Jacob Calvin, my father, married Alby Darnell Irick, born 5 February 1904 on 19 September 1921 Tenn, Alby died on 9 January 1986 Barboursville, VA (Ed: Kentucky?), buried in Lynnhurst Cemetery, Knoxville, TN. Jacob died 20 April 1962 Wayne Co., Michigan, and is buried in Forest Lawn Cemetery Detroit, MI.

Their children were: Sadie N., born 17 July 1922, Lois Estelle, born 20 November 1925; Mary Nadine, born 11 January 1931 and died as an infant; and Jack Greer, born 24 March 1932.

Lois Estelle married Millard Wesley Heron, born 22 August 1927 Warren MI, 20 November 1945. Children: Roy Wesley, born 8 October 1946, Daniel Jacob, born 13 September 1948, Gail Brenda, born 19 October 1951, Mark Steven, born 1 October 1955, Nancy Sue, born 13 September 1956.

Sources:

Census.

State Archives.

Court Records.

Bible records.

Personal knowledge.

Family members.

Submitted by:

*L. Estelle Heron
751 Connie Dr.
Lake, MI 48632*

Ann (WINSTEAD) STEPHENS

"Memories of Grassy Valley"

Probably one of my fondest memories while living in Hawkins County was when the family got to visit my Grandma and Grandpa Hensley, in a place called Grassy Valley. They had lived near us on Slate Hill Road, making a living as millers and farmers, but had decided to move to a beautiful little spot called Grassy Valley to run their own General Store. I think it was called "Hensley's General Store." Grandma ran the store, while Grandpa continued to run a saw mill, which also included a ground meal and flour mill. Grandma would sometimes help him, donning an old pair of overalls and working side by side with Grandpa. Some say she was as strong as any man.

Her name was Carrie (Morgan) Hensley, born 1895, and my Grandpa's name was George Kenner Hensley, born 1887, both born, raised, and buried in Hawkins County.

Sometimes Mom and us kids would pack a picnic lunch and walk to Grassy Valley to visit for a while. It took us one whole day to walk from Slate Hill Road to Grassy Valley. We were so excited to be going for we knew Grandma's Sticky's would be waiting for us when we arrived. A Sticky was a cookie that looked like a thin biscuit that was topped with brown sugar and butter. Yum! they were good.

We were also treated with candy from the General Store. That was a treat in those days, we were in heaven to get candy, and it not even be Christmas!

Once my brother, Eugene, and my uncle Dallas Hensley, stole some eggs from Grandma Hensley and sold them to a store to buy tobacco. I had seen what they had done, and told them they had to buy me candy or I would tell on them for stealing. Now was that a bribe or what?

Maybe that's why I remember Grassy Valley so well. When I think of the picnics, the long walks, the good things to eat like the big suppers Grandma prepared, the candy and the Sticky's. Sometimes I think I can still smell the aroma of "Hensley's General Store." It was very pleasant memories for a young girl.

Told by:

Ann (Winstead) Stephens
3677 Old Ky. Rd.
Morristown, TN 37814

Submitted by:

Vicki (Stephens) Potts
1325 Wood Ridge Rd.
Dandridge, TN 37725

A. J. STEWART 1871-1948

A. J. (Uncle Bud as everyone called him) Stewart was a native of Hawkins County and a pioneer of the funeral business in East Tennessee. He started a small enterprise in 1890 and early 1900's at Summit Hill Community in Hawkins Co. He was a blacksmith, as well as his father and his grandfather. This made three generations. He was also a wood crafter, operated a Hardware Store, a Thrashing Machine, a Sawmill, a Well Digger, and provided many other necessary goods and services.

From the woodcrafting, he started making hand crafted coffins, made to conform to the deceased.

A few years later (in 1908) he bought his first horse drawn hearse which was dated about 1865.

In 1918 Stewarts Funeral Home purchased a motor drawn funeral hack. This was the first thought to be in East Tennessee. In the 1930's A. J. Stewart moved to Bulls Gap, TN and bought the old Bulls Gap framed school house and turned it into a funeral home.

On December 14, 1948 Uncle Bud Stewart died, leaving the funeral home to his son, Homer.

Related Story:

Homer Stewart

Submitted by:

Jewell Wheeler
(Great granddaughter of A.J. Stewart)
637 Lincoln Avenue
Morristown, TN 37813

Homer STEWART 1899-1983

Homer Stewart carried on the tradition pioneered before him. For 70 years he was in a business that his father had taught him. From early childhood, he and his brother, Rankin Stewart (1895-1974), started early in life going with their father to funerals and caring for the horses and doing what they could to help out. Their sister, Carrie (1900-1973) made the lining and pillows that went into the coffins. She also helped groom the horses after a funeral. Later on she sent in the death certificates to the state from Hawkins County to be put on record.

In 1964, Homer enlarged and remodeled the funeral home. Later in life Homer Stewart turned his business over to his daughter, Marie, and his son-in-law, J. B. Gulley, and one grandson, James Willard Gulley.

They sold the funeral home in Bulls Gap, TN and bought Westside Chapel in Morristown, TN. They are still carrying on the family tradition that was before them. Four generations have carried on the funeral work for over a century.

The first hearse and a walnut coffin are on display at Westside Chapel in Morristown, TN, and they are still used for funerals when someone requests for their loved one to be carried to their final resting place.

Related Story:

A. J. Stewart

Submitted by:

Jewell Wheeler
(Grand niece of Homer Stewart)
637 Lincoln Avenue
Morristown, TN 37813

STROUPE

The following brief history has been excerpted from a more complete version in the Juno Altom Room of Stamps Library. It was compiled by Lee Stroupe, assisted by Grace Stroup Morelock on research.

The German surname Stroup is a nickname origin, being one of those names based on a physical or personal characteristic of the original bearer. It can be traced to the old Germanic term "Stuppe" denoting one with disheveled hair, "a mop of hair" or curly hair, frequently given as a nickname.

In the early years of the 18th century thousands of German Protestants were driven out of the South Rhine country. They came briefly to Pennsylvania, whence they spread to all parts of the country. Boat load after boat load of immigrants came to Philadelphia. In 1738 Governor Thomas praised the industry of these people for the flourishing condition in the colony.

Among these German families on the "Snow Louthier" October 14, 1731 disembarking was Johannes Straub, then a boy under sixteen years of age. Herbert Kimzey, circuit judge, Habersham County, Georgia relates in the magazine "Foxfire" that David Stroup, who was a soldier and gunmaster in the Continental Army emigrated from the iron manufacturing part of Germany. He settled near the town of Altoona, Pennsylvania. Among his children was a son, Jacob Stroup. He raised and commanded a company of soldiers in the War of 1812. Later he came into North Carolina and built the first iron manufacturing plant there. Later he came into South Carolina and built the first iron manufacturing operation in that state. During the 1820's this iron master came into Habersham County, Georgia, possibly with a son, Moses. The Stroups found two deposits of iron ore of a superior grade. They developed other sources and Moses finally went to Jones Valley (now Birmingham), Alabama, and acquired one or two furnaces there.

Many of the German settlers made their way south through the Shenandoah Valley. We begin the Hawkins County Stroups with Jacob Jackson Stroup, Sr. and his wife Polly who lived in Wythe County, Virginia about 6 miles south of Wytheville. They lived on a farm in a double log house. They had two children, Jacob Jackson, Jr. and little Polly. In the 1850 census Jacob, Jr. b. 1832 was 17 years old and Polly 11 years old. Jacob's wife died in 1858 or 1859. Along with his two children, Stroup Sr. moved to Tennessee, settling 4 miles south of Church Hill. He bought land on the foot of Bays Mountain and built a log house. He had a second marriage to Lucretia Arnold. They had an active part in McPheeters Bend Baptist Church and he was buried there in 1883.

December 20, 1854 Stroupe, Jr. married Elizabeth Myers, daughter of Adam Myers. They had two children: John Jacob (1858-1924) and William Stroupe (1859-1929). Jacob, Jr. moved to Morristown, Tennessee. After his death, Elizabeth and her sons moved back to Hawkins County. She had a second marriage later to Sam Light, December 26, 1865. They moved north across the mountain to Beech Creek in the foothills of Bays Mountain.

John Jacob, two or three years later, left his mother and step-father and went back to live with his grandfather. William continued to live with his mother and step-father. He attended the old Simpson school, sponsored by the Peabody Foundation. At age 21, William married Mary Jane Thompson. About 3 years later he accepted Jesus as his Saviour and took an active part in the church. Three years later he announced his call to preach. He was soon ordained, became a hard working minister, traveling 10 to 15 miles by walking or on horseback, carrying the Gospel to the unsaved.

John Jacob married Sarah Jane Coats (1865-1909), November 9, 1880 at Faith Church of God in Goshen Valley. Their children were: Henry Cleveland (b. 1886); Lissie (b. 1886) died an infant; James (b. 1883) died an infant; Bert Oliver (1888-1964); Enos Eldridge (b. 1891); Mary Ellen (b. 1893); A. J. Holt (b. 1904); Infant born and died 3-9-1909. A nephew, Charles E. Powell (b. 1890), was part of the family, also.

William Stroupe was married to Mary Jane Thompson (1867-1945) of Greene County. Their seventeen children were: Samuel Alexander (b. 1882), died 21 days later; Johnnie (b. 1882) died at one year; McFirlon (1884-1889); Elisa Ann; Laura Naomi; Margaret-Elizabeth; William Henry; Eli (b. 1893), died at 3 weeks; Roy (b. 1895), died at age one; Bessie Mae; Clara Dortha; Frank B; Agnes Essie; Fitzbaugh Lee, died at 2 months; Arrie Ruben 1905, lived three weeks; Lee Hulbert; George Washington (1909-1928).

Lee Hulbert Stroupe (b. 1906) married Mabel Marshall January 16, 1909. She died February 7, 1973. Lee worked at Eastman Kodak, Kingsport, Tennessee for 30 years. Now retired, he lives in Church Hill. Their daughter, Janie (b. 1940), was married to Jimmy Gray Smithson of Greeneville, Tennessee. They now live in Chattanooga and both work in the school there.

John Jacob's and Sarah Jane's children's spouses and children are: Henry Cleveland, Bert Oliver, Enos Eldridge, and Mary Ellen.

Henry Cleveland married 1905 Elizabeth Marshall (b. 1886) at Mascot, Tennessee. Henry worked in zinc mines at Mascot.

Their children are: John Tipton; W. M. Stroup (b. 1908); Samuel Nessie; James Esley; Sarah Lou; Lissie; Henry C.; Wiley (b. 1921) died 1944 in U. S. Army; Virginia Gertrude; Argie Viola.

Bert Oliver b. 1888 m. Delia Cradic Nov. 27, 1915. Their children are: George Stroup (b. 1917) who died at birth, Dana Harmon, Ellen, Emogene, Anna Blanche, Retha, and Hazel.

Enos Eldridge b. 1891 m. Nov. 27, 1912 to Gertrude Blanch Patterson. Their children are Georgia Chassilee, m. Hugh Glen Smith, Callie Grace married Herbert Morelock, Mary O'Dell, m. Clarence Page Poe, and Roxie Mae, m. William Van Mahoney.

Mary Ellen b. 1983 m. William Hensley. They moved to Iowa in 1920's.

John Jacob Stroupe by a second marriage to Ida Tucker had two children, John David and Vernia Willie. John David b. 1912, m. Gertie Lee Breeden. John worked at Eastman 30 years. They live at Warm Springs, Va.

Vernie Willie b. 1913 married Otis Richard. They had two children: Lourene Rich and R. B. Richard.

Much more information is available in the Stroupe history in the Stamps Library.

Submitted by:

Lee Stroupe
345 Woodland
Church Hill, TN 37642

James Peart THACKER, Jr.

James Peart Thacker was the son of Dan Thacker Jr. and Ellen Peters Thacker. He was born in 1891 in Hawkins County, Tn. Peart married Mollie Emily Herron and they had eight children: (1) Lizzie, (2) Lillie, (3) Rosie, (4) Oscar, (5) Ella Mae, (6) James Peart "J.P.", (7) Betty, and (8) Ballard.

Mollie became ill and died at an early age, leaving several small children. Their youngest son was only 15 months old when his mother died. She was buried in Wininager Cemetery on Caney Valley Road in Hawkins County.

Peart never remarried. He enjoyed his children and grandchildren, living with them from time to time.

Peart was killed in an automobile accident at the age of 80. He was buried in Wininager Cemetery beside his wife.

Their daughter Lillie married Paul Byington, the son of Richard Carr "Dick" and Roxie Myrtle Bruner Byington, the subjects of another story herein.

Their son James Peart "J.P." was killed in an accident at what was then Lackey's block plant in Kingsport. He was 21 years of age, having just finished serving his time in the service of his country in the Armed Forces and started working at the block plant. The accident was the result of horseplay. Several men were playing around with water guns.

Related Story:

Richard Carr "Dick" Byington

Sources:

Lillie (Thacker) Byington, daughter.

Submitted by:

*Shirley (Byington) Bradshaw,
(Granddaughter of Dick and Roxie)
1261 Old Stage Road
Gray, TN 37615*

THOMPSON Family History

John Alderson Thompson, Sr. was born on June 30, 1872 in Greene County, Tennessee. The progenitor of this branch of the Thompson family was Archibald Thompson who was born in Virginia on February 28, 1805. His antecedents are not presently known. On March 16, 1825 Archibald married Rachel Reed who was born August 13, 1807. Rachel was the thirteenth of fourteen children born to Humphrey Reed born on December 23, 1758 and Pamilia (family name unknown) born on March 25, 1765. Humphrey and Pamilia were married in 1782. His father was George Reed who emigrated from Scotland and settled in Pennsylvania in the early part of the 18th century. George Reed's wife whose name is unknown was also Scottish.

Archibald moved to Greene County, TN and he and Rachel became the parents of 14 children of whom Harrison was the seventh born July 25, 1840.

On August 21, 1871 Harrison Thompson married Martha Ann Alderson who was born February 14, 1845, the sixth of eleven children of James Moore Alderson and Jane Virginia Beckner Alderson. James Moore Alderson was a civil engineer who emigrated from Alsace Lorraine to build the railroad at Bulls Gap, TN. Jane Virginia Beckner was the daughter of Joseph D. Beckner and Sarah Moore. Harrison and Martha were the parents of seven children of whom John Alderson Thompson was the eldest.

Mr. Thompson, Sr. graduated from the University of Tennessee College of Law in 1905 and moved to Rogersville in 1906 where he practiced law until his death April 9, 1941.

On November 20, 1918 he was married to Mae Edwards born March 19, 1886. To this union was born John Alderson Thompson, Jr. October 19, 1921. As a result of this child birth, Mrs. Thompson died October 25, 1921.

During his career John Alderson Thompson, Sr. served three terms in the Tennessee Legislature, served on the Rogersville Town Council and served as United States Commissioner.

Mr. Thompson, Sr. married Jessie Cullen in 1927. She died in 1976. She was the mother of Elizabeth Cullen who married Colonel Peter Portrum in 1938. Colonel Portrum died in 1985.

John Alderson Thompson, Jr. served in the U.S. Air Force in WWII in the China, Burma India Theater of Operations. Upon his return from service in 1946 he entered the University of Tennessee College of Law from which he was graduated in 1948 at which time he began the practice of law in Rogersville. During his practice in Rogersville, Mr. Thompson, Jr. served one term in the Tennessee Legislature and two terms on the Town Council. He was also a delegate to the 1953 Tennessee Constitutional Convention. In 1959 Mr. Thompson, Jr. moved to California and for two years was a legal editor. In 1961 he began the practice of law in San Francisco which he continued until his retirement in 1988. He is the author of two novels.

Mr. Thompson, Jr. was married to Eileen Mary Weston of Shropshire, England December 18, 1960. To this union were born Juliette Elena Thompson August 5, 1962 and Justine Isabelle Thompson April 15, 1966.

Martha Azalea Thompson, sister of John Alderson Thompson, Sr., was born December 25, 1882 in Greene County, Tennessee and was married to Edwin Hubert Fort on October 12, 1915. To this union were born John Thompson Fort on October 11, 1916, Joseph Alderson Fort on June 17, 1918, and Griffith Harrison Fort on December 3, 1921. The family moved to Rogersville in 1926. Griffith Harrison Fort was killed in action when shot down over Germany in 1944. Joseph Alderson Fort died in 1948. John Thompson Fort practiced law in Rogersville until 1947 when he moved to Chattanooga where he continues to practice law.

Martha Azalea Thompson Fort died in Rogersville in 1974. Edwin Hubert Fort died in Rogersville in 1963.

Sources:

Alderson Family Bible.

Shepherd's Cemetery - White Horn.

1860 Census.

Family Records, Martha Azalea Thompson Fort.

John Alexander Thompson, Jr.

Submitted by:

*John A. Thompson
P. O. Box 422
Pebble Beach, CA 93953*

William Harrison, and Ferribe Josephine (KITE) THOMPSON

FERRIBE JOSEPHINE KITE (b. April 2, 1876-d. April 10, 1967), daughter of Martin Van Buren Kite and Eliza Jane Augusta Lee, married William Harrison Thompson (b. August 10, 1867-d. June 30, 1946), as his second wife. Mr. Thompson was a native of Greene County.

There were six children born to this union: Walter Rex (b. August 11, 1899-d. December 6, 1927), William Hobart (b. June 15, 1902-d. June 27, 1928), Beulah Lee (b. April 26, 1904-d. September 25, 1986), Lillian Viola (b. August 23, 1906-d. March 30, 1988), Sallie Mae (b. June 13, 1913-d. May 15, 1981), and Truman Vance (b. January 26, 1916). Mr. Thompson had a son, Ernest, by his first marriage.

Ernest and Joda Lee Thompson were the parents of three children: Ernest, Jr. who had a daughter, Vickie; Ogle, a graduate of East Tennessee State University, a teacher, married to Bill G. Nelson, by whom there were two sons, Mike and Kevin; and Robbie, who was married to Wayne Davis. The family resided in Morristown.

Walter Rex and William Hobart Thompson are both buried in the Kite Cemetery. Hobart was shot to death by an acquaintance in Kingsport. Neither was married.

Beulah Lee was born in Greene County. She married William Robert Estep (b. July 1, 1900-d. June 21, 1954) on June 11, 1927. Mr. Estep was a native of Johnson City. Both are buried in the Oak Hill Cemetery at Kingsport.

There were two daughters born to the Union of Beulah and Robert Estep: Edith Wayne (b. May 1, 1928), and Helen Marie (b. August 9, 1932).

Edith Wayne Estep was born in Johnson City, Washington Co., Tennessee. In 1950 she married James (Hank) Pleasant (b. August 8, 1921-d. July 4, 1973), a native of Johnson County, Tennessee. There were three children born to Edith and Hank: Robert Michael (b. December 3, 1952), Ricky Lee (b. March 27, 1957), and Lisa Marie (b. November 15, 1962). She was a beautician, but is now retired and resides in Kingsport. Hank Pleasant passed away in Rockford, Winnebago County, Illinois.

Robert Michael Pleasant married Betty Jean Horn about 1976. He is employed by Tri-City Uniform, and owns about 30 acres of land on which he farms in addition to his public employment. Betty Jean is a teacher.

Ricky Lee Pleasant is employed by House Hassen in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Lisa Marie Pleasant is the mother of a daughter, Cheltzie LeShea Pleasant, born May 17, 1993.

Helen Marie Estep married Neal Carpenter (b. ca 1928-d. March 26, 1993), from whom she was divorced on November 25, 1986.

There were three children born to this union of Helen Marie Estep and Neal Carpenter: Cynthia Louise (b. September 24, 1967), Teresa Ann (b. February 27, 1969), and Jeffrey Neal (b. February 10, 1972).

Mr. Carpenter had two daughters, Sheila (Files) and Sharon (Connally), by a previous marriage. Sheila lives in Georgia, and Sharon lives in Florida. Sheila is the mother of a son and a daughter, Sharon is also the mother of a son and a daughter, and Jeffrey Neal Carpenter is the father of a son, Alexander Michael Smith, whose mother is Sharon Smith. Alex was born on December 8, 1992.

Neal Carpenter's parents were Charlie and Louise Goodman Carpenter.

Cynthia (Cindy) Carpenter is employed by the Bristol Regional Medical Center; Teresa works at Kingsport Center for Opportunity, and Jeffrey works at Sears in the automotive department.

Lillian Viola Thompson was married to Herman Kyle Duncan (b. November 17, 1908). They had no children but Mr. Duncan had two sons by a previous marriage, Paul Sturgen (b. July 6, 1929-d. September 17, 1970) and Kyle Reed (b. May 15, 1935). She is buried in the Oak Hill Cemetery at Kingsport. Mr. Duncan was from Hawkins County. Paul Sturgen Duncan was married to Ruby Vaughn by whom there were two sons. Kyle Reed Duncan is the father of five children.

Sallie Mae Thompson did not marry. She died in Kingsport and is buried in the Kite Cemetery.

Truman Vance Thompson married Mildred Barnes on December 16, 1945. Her parents were Rote and Lula Barnes. Truman and Mildred are both retired.

Related Story:

KITE-LEE

Submitted by:

*Edith Estep Pleasant
104 Lakeview Circle
Kingsport, TN 37663*

Isaac THRESHER (THRASHER)

Isaac Thresher (Thrasher), the son of William and Sarah Thresher, was born two days sail from land when his parents were enroute to the United States ca. 1766. They first settled near Harper's Ferry on Bullsken Run. They moved to Guilford Co., North Carolina on Little Buffalo Creek.

At age 16, Isaac Thresher, on the advice of his grandfather, served in Capt. Fawbush's foot company (enlisting in his father's name) at the Battle of Kings Mountain in October 1780.

The family of William and Sarah Thresher moved to Burke Co., NC by 1786. After the death of William Thresher, Isaac moved to Washington Co., TN, about 1804, and was married somewhere around this time to .

In October 1813 Isaac Thresher volunteered under Capt. Hartsell and he served a four month campaign. Later, in September 1814, he was drafted into the infantry under Lt. Peter Miller for six months. Isaac Thresher became ill during the last campaign and was hospitalized at Fort Strother in Alabama. He rejoined the company at Mobile and remained there until March 20, 1815.

He resided for about twelve years after his service in Washington Co., then removed to Greene Co. where he lived for about seven years. He then moved to Hawkins Co. where he lived the remainder of his life.

In January of 1860, Isaac Thresher made application for pension for his service in the War of 1812. At that time, he had been disabled for nearly twenty five years. In March of 1870, George Dodson was appointed the administrator of Isaac Thresher, deceased.

William Thresher (Thrasher), born February 1788, moved to Cumberland Co., Kentucky, was a brother. (War of 1812 - Battle of the Thames).

Samuel Thresher (Thrasher), born 1790, moved to Fentress Co., TN, and later to Cumberland Co., KY, was a brother. (War of 1812).

Anne Thresher Israel (wife of Johnson Israel) moved to Buncombe Co., NC, was a sister.

Mary Ann Thresher Hisaw (wife of Andrew Hisaw), born 1775, moved to Fentress Co., TN, then Overton Co., TN, was a sister. (War of 1812).

Children [Wife or Wives Unknown]:

1. William D. Thresher, born (?), (found dead as a witness).
2. Mary Amanda Thresher, born (?), married (?) Armstrong.
3. Cassandra Ann Thrasher, born 1807, married Thomas J. Christian September 4, 1832 in Greene Co., and lived in Hawkins Co.
4. Isaac H. Thresher, Jr., born 1809, married Sarah Cline December 4, 1836 in Hawkins Co., moved to Overton Co. and later Clinton Co., KY.
5. Elizabeth H. Thresher, born 1811, married William Christian on June 28, 1832 in Greene Co., and lived in Hawkins Co.
6. Uriah H. Thresher, born in 1815, married Cinthia Roark (granddaughter of Michael Roark) circa 1837 in Hawkins Co., moved to Overton Co.
7. Joseph H. Thresher, born 1817, married Elizabeth Maskall on March 6, 1848 in Jefferson Co., TN, and lived in Grainger Co., TN.
8. Teresa Amanda Thresher, born 1819, married George Dodson circa 1842 in Hawkins Co., and lived in Hawkins Co.
9. Samuel Marion Thresher, born September 2, 1822, married Mary Jane Thompson on March 5, 1850 in Hawkins Co., and moved to Overton Co., and later to Wayne Co., Missouri. (Civil War-USA).
10. Louisa Thacker, born 1824, married Michael Roark (grandson of Michael Roark) on May 1, 1845 in Hawkins Co., and moved to Bradley Co., TN.
11. Rachel Thresher, born 1826, married George Hogwood on October 24, 1855 in Hawkins Co. (whereabouts unknown).

Note: Children 1, 2, and 11 have not been proven, they are speculative.

Sources:

Cemetery Records: Cumberland and Clinton Cos., KY.

Census Records: Hawkins, Overton, Bradley, and Grainger Cos., TN; Cumberland and Clinton Cos., KY; Burke and Buncombe Cos., NC.

Civil War Records: Isaac McKinley Thresher, 25th TN, CSA; Robert Young Thresher, 25th TN, CSA; William F. Thresher, 25th TN, CSA; Samuel Martin Thresher, TN, USA.

Deeds: Hawkins, Greene, and Overton Cos, TN.

Death Records: Robert Young Thresher, Overton Co., TN; John Wesley Thresher, Cumberland Co., KY.

Family Records.

Journal of Capt. Jacob Hartsell (War of 1812).

Marriage Records: Greene, Hawkins, Jefferson, and Overton Cos., TN; Clinton, and Cumberland Cos., KY.

Personal Letters: Mary Thresher Hisaw, Anne Thresher Israel.

Probate Records: Hawkins Co., TN.

Tax Records: Washington Co., TN.

War of 1812 Pension Applications: Isaac Thresher, William Thresher, Andrew Hisaw (Mary Thrasher Hisaw).

Submitted by:

Steven Thrasher
4620 Palma Dr.
Louisville, KY 40272

Bob and Turffa TUNNELL

Robert Cornelius Tunnell was born 15 September 1887 in Hawkins County, TN. He was the son of Malinda Frances Dyer and Wesley Tunnell. Bob was a tenant farmer and lived on several farms in Greene County on which he raised a family of eight boys. He later owned his own farm on the Baileyton-Van Hill Road which was located in Greene County near the Hawkins/Greene County line.

Robert was the great, great, great grandson of Stephen Tunnell, who came to Greene County before 1789 with his wife Kezie Money. Stephen served in the Revolutionary War and fought at the battle of Long Island. He was a Methodist minister and served a large territory. Five of his ten sons were also ministers.

On 27 January 1907 in Hawkins County, Bob married Turffa Karentha Jane Richards, daughter of Rebecca Ann Tunnell and Samuel Richards. Turffa was an active member of the Van Hill Methodist Church. She loved to sing in church and did so up until her death on the 12th of January 1974 at the age of eighty-six. She, her husband, and two of their sons are buried in the New Bethel Cemetery in Greene County.

After fifty-six years of marriage, Robert died on the 15th of November 1963 at his home in Greene County. He and Turffa had eight boys: George Gilbert (born 1907); Cubert Cecil (born 1909, married Dessie Light Morrison); Elmer Edgar (born 1912, married Evelyn Lucas); Alvia Gray (born 1914, married Eutella Wolfe); Robert Tilman (born 1915, married Lilly Simpson); Harlow Cornelius (born in 1917, married Mary Dell Frazier); George Haskell (born 1923, married Ruth Simpson); and William Conway (born 1926). Three of their sons served in World War II. They had twenty-eight grandchildren.

Early in their marriage, after their first son was born, around 1908, Bob took his family to Missouri to live. After they arrived there, the weather was so cold they became discouraged and only stayed one year. Many hardships faced them on their returning home. Their buggy broke down on the way so Bob was forced to put his wife and baby on the train. He was going to ride his horse home, but more trouble arose when the horse gave out on the trip and Bob was forced to sell him. Bob had thoughts of hobbing a train home and was awaiting one at the train station where the attendant was letting him stay the night. However, he changed his mind, and bought a ticket on the train.

Bob and Turffa brought very little home with them except for family stories concerning their trip west, some of which have remained in the family to this day. One particular story concerns the cold weather which was one of the reasons they were so dissatisfied there. Family members today remember how grandmother Turffa said, "The weather was so cold that you could throw a pan of water out the door and it would be ice before it hit the ground."

Related Story:

Harlow and Mary Dell Tunnell

Sources:

Family members and Bible records

Submitted by:

*Kay Tunnell Caldwell
(granddaughter of Bob and Turffa Tunnell)
Route 2, Box 243
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

Harlow and Mary (DELL) TUNNELL

Mary Dell lived in Gate City, Scott County, VA and worked at Tennessee Eastman in the early 1940's with a girl, Ruby Wolfe, from Van Hill, Hawkins County, TN. Ruby and Mary Dell would often spend the night with each other. Ruby gave Mary Dell the address of Harlow Tunnell who was in the U. S. Army to write to. They wrote to each other for a year, dated for one month, and Harlow asked her to marry him. They drove to Gate City, Virginia and were sitting in the back seat of a taxi when they were married just outside Gate City on Snowflake Road by Rev. Earl A. King.

They lived at Van Hill when their first child, Iva Kay, was born at a Greeneville, Tennessee hospital on the 5th of December 1945. About a year later, Harlow, Mary Dell, and baby Kay moved to Carter's Valley in Hawkins County near the Holston River with the Sullivan County line just a short distance away. They lived on a farm owned by Walter Bellamy and worked the farm and had two more children, Edith Elaine and H.C., Jr.

They joined the Greenvale Baptist Church.

Kay attended the two-room school "Greenvale." She started school at age four. Although Edith was not old enough to go, she would go to the school every day with Kay. Because they lived less than one half mile from the school, and there were no buses running anyhow, they had to walk to and from school. When the grade cards came out, Edith, of course, didn't get one, and her feelings were hurt, so she would not go back to school with Kay. The teacher asked Kay where Edith was, and Kay told her that Edith was hurt because she did not get a grade card. The teacher told Kay to tell Edith to come back, and she would give her one. Edith continued to go until H.C., Jr. was born, and then she would not go back. She stayed home with the baby until she was old enough to go to school.

In December 1955, the family moved across the river from Surgoinsville to the Long's Bend community. Harlow bought a 50-acre farm from his dad who had bought it from Glen Bailey. By cutting the cedar and selling the lumber, he paid for a tractor and the farm. He raised a crop of tobacco, usually under a half acre. If Harlow was working at a job, Mary Dell would do the farm work. She could do all the work except the tractor work. But she could handle a rototiller as good as any man. She could sucker tobacco and stay ahead of the cutters. She also made lye soap which she used for washing the clothes. Each year when it was time to kill hogs again, lye soap was made from old hog lard which was left over from the year before.

The house they moved into had a huge fireplace. A large wood log, placed at the back of the fire in the fireplace, called a "backlog", would last for a long time, and it would reflect the heat forward from the smaller logs in front of it. The backlog they used was so big it would take both Harlow and Mary Dell to put it in the fireplace.

They spent many evenings popping corn in a screen popper held over the flames. They would wash potatoes and bury them in the hot ashes for an hour or so, then dig them out with a fireplace poker, wipe off the ashes and put good home-made butter on them.

When they moved into the old farmhouse, the electric lines didn't go up to the house because no one had lived in the house for several years. They had to use oil lamps for lights and the fireplace for heat.

Of course, there was a big cookstove in the kitchen with a water tank in it to keep the water warm. Many good meals were prepared on that old stove. Kay learned to cook on it while Mary Dell was out on the farm working. Beans were put on to cook as soon as breakfast was over. About ten o'clock the potatoes were peeled and put on to cook, and the cornbread would have to bake for about an hour in a big iron skillet.

Water was carried from a spring down the road, two big buckets at a time, to save trips and to "balance the load", as the kids were told.

Baths were taken in a galvanized wash tub, usually twice a week, starting with the youngest going up to the oldest. Hair was washed in two wash pans, one to wash and the other to rinse.

By spring, the electric lines were put up and the lights were turned on. The television set was brought out of the bedroom where it had been stored. In a few years an electric stove was put in the kitchen, later came water in the house, and a bathroom was built.

A big garden was grown, and the canning closet was always full of beans, corn, tomatoes, chow-chow, sauerkraut, all kinds of pickles, and other canned vegetables.

Vegetable soup was made in large tubs and canned or frozen. Applebutter, jelly, jam, pear honey, strawberries, blackberries, tame raspberries, and peaches were put up for the winter months.

One year after they had moved into the old farmhouse, on January 24, 1957, Velma Deloris was born. Dr. Conner Lyons of Surgoinsville came out to the farmhouse to deliver the baby.

If there was any place on the 50-acre farm that hadn't had a "playhouse" made on it, Harlow didn't know where it could be. From cedar thickets to branch banks, playhouses were made all over the place. The girls would play in those playhouses all day long when school and work was finished.

In 1968, Harlow started working at Metals Engineering in Greeneville, and a few months later Mary Dell started working there too since Kay and Edith were both married and had new houses and jobs of their own. H.C., Jr. was almost out of school, milking on the farm and selling the milk, and working for Maggard's Grocery and Service Station in Surgoinsville. Velma was still in school.

In 1976, Harlow started working at Dodge (now known as Reliance Electric) in Rogersville, and he worked there until he had a heart attack in 1979 and had to retire. Mary Dell stayed with Metals until she retired in 1984 at the age of sixty-two.

Harlow now spends his time raising a few cattle and putting up hay. He and Mary Dell have a camper and they love to camp. She likes to piece quilts and always keeps a quilt in the camper to quilt on when she sits with friends at the campgrounds.

Mary Dell is a member of the Lone Oak Family and Community Education Club. She is a member of Longs Bend Baptist Church and attends Magnolia Freewill Baptist Church. Harlow still has his membership at Greenvale Baptist Church.

For many years two family reunions were held at the farm each year. At Easter all the Fraziers and families would gather with boxes of food. Cars crammed with people, even truck loads sometimes, would come from Gate City, VA and Kingsport, TN. Charles, Kay's husband, would bring his tractor and big farm trailer. Mary Dell would cover the trailer with white sheets and it would be covered with delicious foods. After the dinner was eaten and boxed back up, they would take off the sheets and sit on the trailer.

The trailer would be completely covered with people from one end to the other and not an empty place could be found. It was time for the hayride, without the hay. Sometimes they rode through Rocky Hollow into Glendale, other times through War Valley or around Red Hill. No matter which way they went there were always tales to tell when the tractor pulled back into the yard.

Again in August, the Sunday closest to Mary Dell and her mother's birthdays, it would be done all over again. But for the past few years, because of failing health of both, the Easter dinner has been at Mary Dell's sister Jean's home and the birthday dinner at Laurel Run Park at Church Hill. But the memories of things past and people gone to be with the Lord still lingers in that hollow and the yard has grass and flowers growing where unfound Easter eggs and maybe chicken bones have decayed.

Related Stories:

The Caldwell Family.

Harlow and Mary Dell Tunnell.

Submitted by:

*Kay Tunnell Caldwell
Rte. 2, Box 243
Surgoinsville, TN 37873*

Elisha UNDERWOOD

Elisha Edward "Lish" Underwood married Gillie Ann Combs in Sullivan Co. on 21 August 1903. Lish was born in Hawkins Co., and Gillie Ann was born in Washington Co., VA. They lived in Hawkins Co., near Rogersville, where Lish worked on a farm. This is where Patsy Alice and Lillie Mae were born. They moved to Blackwood, VA where Fred and Jess were born. While in Blackwood Lish worked in a mining tippie. By 1910 they were back in Hawkins Co., and in the 1910 Hawkins Co. census they lived in the house with Gillie's father and mother, John L. and Katherine Whicker Combs, near Rogersville, in District 10. They had moved on a farm nearby when Leora was born 7 May 1911.

In early spring of 1912, they moved to Mortell, near Lenoir City, 21 miles from Knoxville, TN. They lived in Mortell just long enough to raise one crop.

In the fall of 1912 they moved to Jefferson City, TN in a house close to where the Carson-Newman football field is now.

When Lish and Gillie Ann moved from Mortell to Jefferson City, Lish and Grandpa John L. Combs walked all the way and led a cow.

All the other children were born in Jefferson Co., TN where Lish and Gillie Ann lived the rest of their lives. They lived in several places in Jefferson Co., but always close to Jefferson City. They went to the Church of God which was built about that time. They owned a farm near Piedmont, but had moved back to Jefferson City in a house they bought from Jim and Lillie Underwood when Lish died 8 July 1962. Gillie Ann died at Leora's on 8 July 1964. Leora lived close to Jefferson City.

Lish and Gillie Ann Underwood are both buried in Buffalo Grove Church Cemetery near Jefferson City, TN.

The members of the Underwood family born in Jefferson County are Jim, Juanita, John Henry, Frank, Mary Ruth, Bud, and Bill.

Related Story:

James S. and Matilda (Lee) Underwood

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Clifford (Gladys Morrisett) Miller
1344 Clinch View Cir.
Jefferson City, TN 37760*

James S., and Matilda (LEE) UNDERWOOD

Our Underwood family came from London, England to Isle of Wright, Virginia in the year 1620, then they were in Rapahannock River County, VA, then Richmond County, VA, then Orange County, VA, then Johnson County, North Carolina (now Johnson County, Tennessee). By 1830 they were in Hawkins County, TN, from there to Blackwood, VA (Wise County), then back to Hawkins County, then to Loudon County, TN, and then to Jefferson County, TN in 1912.

James S. and Matilda (Lee) Underwood were married 28 August 1879 in Hawkins Co. Matilda was born 26 January 1855/56 in Hawkins Co. She was the daughter of Lewis H. Lee and Mary Katherine Richardson.

James and Matilda lived in the 10th district of Hawkins Co. in the 1900 Census. They moved to Jefferson Co. in 1918. Their children were: Lewis Thomas, Elisha Edward, Charlie K., Martha Kate, Mallie Elizabeth, Johnny L., Elkaney, Mary J., Louise, and Granville Clifton.

Lewis Thomas "Tom" Underwood married 1st Tennie Leonard 29 December 1901 in Hawkins Co. Tennie was born 2 May 1881 and died 1 April 1916. Their children were: William H. "Bill" (3 September 1903-14 November 1966); Mary Jane (22 December 1905-3 September 1907); James H. (born 14 June 1908); Rosey Lee (born and died 22 June 1911); Georgia (born 30 September 1913).

Tom married 2nd Mary E. Palmer on 10 June 1916. Their children were: Mary Belle (born on 3 July 1918); Paul E. (born 30 June 1920); Nirva H. (born 9 April 1922); Irene (born 13 January 1925); and Rachel (died 1984).

Elisha Edward "Lish" Underwood married Gillie Ann Combs. See the Elisha Underwood story for further information.

Charlie K. Underwood married Nettie Goins on 23 May 1903 in Hawkins Co. He died 10 April 1962. She is also deceased. Their children are: Roze, K. Thomas, Mary Belle, William Luther, Jerry, Heiskel, Howard, Annie, and Katie.

Martha Kate Underwood married Henry Mays 27 December 1904 in Hawkins Co. Henry died 21 January 1941, and Kate died 8 October 1969. Their children were: Henry Morgan Miles "Duke", Frances "Fanny" (dau.), and a son called "Coon" who died young.

Mallie "Mal" Elizabeth Underwood married William "Will" Forgerty on 5 January 1911. Mal died on 5 October 1931. Will was born on 29 February 1881, and died on 4 May 1947. Their children were: Laurlean, married Frank Bales; Minnie Bell, married Frank Farrow; Fred married 1st Eunie, 2nd a Large; Edd married Ola Mae Hickey; Mollie married Raymond Hicks, and she died 3 March 1987; Tillie married Paul Hudson; Eula Mae married a Cline; Joe married ; Emma Lee; Martha Von married 1st a Noe?, and 2nd ; Sam married ; Lenord married 2nd Bess Moreland; Frances was killed in a car wreck; and Agnas married .

Johnny L. Underwood (3 July 1887-11 July 1887).

Elkaney Underwood married Bertie Price. Their children were: Beulah, married Paul McCurry; Walter, married several times; and Helen, married 1st Bud , married 2nd Jim Cox

Mary J. "Mollie" Underwood married 1st to Jason Blevins(?), 2nd to Jerry Covey 22 September 1907 in Hawkins Co. Their children were: Loyd, married; Bess, married; Louise, married Harry ; Clarence, married; Bertha, married; Pearline, married; Jerry, Jr., married; Josephine, married; Stella; Frances; and Eula Mae.

Louise Underwood married Tony Harris 5 November 1918 in Hawkins Co. Tony died 9 June 1938, and Louise died 23 January 1972. Their children, all born in Hawkins Co. are: Tony, Jr. (twin) (7 May 1920-4 April 1973), married Floye McCullough; Phil (twin) (7 May 1920-20 November 1989) married Eula Wallace; Roy (born 23 July 1921), married Bessie Jenkins; Jim (born 20 July 1922), married Mary Jane Fletcher; Margaret (28 September 1923); Walter (4 October 1924-20 August 1984); Mary (born 9 November 1925), married Ed Diamond; William (born 30 January 1927), married Murrell Brooks; Virginia (born 24 December 1928), married Tom Winkle; Woodson (born 12 March 1931); Betty (born 31 August 1932) who was killed (15 August 1954) in a car wreck, and George (born 28 February 1933), married Thelma Lumpkins.

Granville Clifton Underwood (25 April 1897-16 December 1900).

Related Stories:

Thomas Morrisett.

Elisha Underwood.

Sources:

Walter Underwood, son of Elkaney Underwood, who is a brother of Elisha "Lish" Underwood.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Clifford (Gladys Morrisett) Miller
1344 Clinch View Cir.
Jefferson City, TN 37760

James VAUGHAN, Jr.

James Vaughan, Jr. was born 27 September 1767¹ to James Vaughan, Sr.² and Ann Hill³. His grandparents were Robert and Martha Vaughan⁴ of Amelia County, Virginia.

A sketch about the family written by Laura Cantrell Kinser⁵ stated that his wife was Elizabeth Walker; but no other reference has been found to this name. Mrs. Kinser did not give documentation to prove her statement. In the Family Bible the birthdates for James (born 27 Sept. 1767), his wife "Eally" or "Eatty" (unreadable) (born 30 August 1770); and the first five children are listed. In James, Jr.'s Will⁶ in Hawkins Co., TN, he named his widow "Sally."

James, Jr.'s children were: William, born 1790 in VA, married Mary Kinkaid (?); Thomas, born 1793 in VA, married Leah McCarty (daughter of William McCarty and Rachel Kyle, daughter of Capt. Robert and Leah Brooks Kyle); Allen, born 1795, married Ellen/Nelly Steel⁷;

Nancy, born 1797, married Mr. Donelson; James, born 1799; Benjamin W. (Walker?), born ca. 1803, married Martha Simmons; Robert; Milton, died 1838, in McMinn Co., TN, unmarried; Joseph, born 1813 in TN, married Mary Elvira Bassett; John, born 1815, married Temperance Seals(?); Elizabeth, married Mr. Harrell/Harroll; and Martha (Patsy), married Dauswell/

Doswell Rogers. Sons William, Thomas, and Allen served in the War of 1812. Thomas served as County Clerk in McMinn Co. where he died in 1855.

As there were other men named James Vaughan in Hawkins Co. in the early 1800's, it has not been possible in all instances to identify exactly which one was involved in various land transactions.

Related Stories:

Kyle Family.

Capt. Robert Kyle and wife Leah Brooks.

James and William McCarty Families.

Littleton Brooks, Sr.

Documentation:

(1) James Vaughan, Jr., family Bible found in former C.S. Kilgore home, Hancock County, TN where Sarah Jane Payne, wife of Swimpfield Vaughan, died 1926. She probably got this from John and Temperance Seals Vaughan when she and Swimp lived in their home on Copper Ridge. It was found in 1987 by Mrs. Omer (Lurana Lyon) Robinett of Eidson TN and Mrs. Eula McNutt, Gate City, VA.

(2) Will, 1803, James Vaughan, Sr., Will Book 7, p. 15, Amelia Co., VA names children. Served Rev. War, see McAllister's data, Sec. 252, p. 180.

(3) Will, 1765, James Hill, Amelia Co. VA, Will Book 2X:91 names daughter Ann Vaughan.

(4) Will, 1777, Robert Vaughan, Amelia Co., VA, names children. VA Land Patent, Book 19:800 a., Amelia Co. VA for Robert Vaughan.

(5) "Sketches of Some of the Pioneers of McMinn Co., TN and Their Ancestry," by Laura Cantwell Kinser (Mrs. P.A. Kinser), June 17, 1926. This typewritten sketch was found in the genealogical files in McMinn Co., TN.

(6) Will, James Vaughan, Jr., 1840, Hawkins Co., TN, names children and wife Sally.

(7) Will, Allen Vaughan, 1858, Hawkins Co., TN, names wife Nelly. In "TN CIVIL WAR VETERANS QUESTIONNAIRES," Allen Christian stated that his grandparents were Allen and Nelly Steel Vaughan. V.1-5, p. 509.

Submitted by:

*Vera Baker Banas
120 Elmwood
Huntsville, TX*

with research assistance by:

*Mary Gregg
3810 Valley View Road, #208
Austin, TX 78704*

John VAUGHN, The Revolutionary War Soldier

My third great-grandfather, John Vaughn, was born about 1760 in Ireland. Whether he came to America as a young man alone or with his family I do not know.

On 22 November 1777 he enlisted in Captain William Brown's Maryland Artillery for the duration of the Revolutionary War. He enlisted as a Matross, was promoted to Gunner, then to Sergeant. He was at Valley Forge, Ft. Schuyler, White Plains, High Hills of the Santee, Pluckamin, Beacon's Ridge and others. He was discharged in April 1783 and qualified for an extra $40.00 in pay. I next found John Vaughn listed as a single man in the tax assessment of Charles County, Maryland. By 1790 he was in Charlotte County, Virginia, where he met Nancy Callicott, the daughter of Beverly Callicott.

John Vaughn and Nancy Callicott applied for a marriage license in Charlotte Co., VA on 5 October 1792, yet in Nancy's application for a Widow's pension from the Revolutionary War, she stated they "ran away" into Halifax County, Virginia, and were married by Parson Hays.

John and Nancy lived in Halifax Co., VA where their first two children were born, until 1800 when they removed to Hawkins Co., TN. Here they purchased land along the Clinch Mountain on Copper Ridge and established their home. As the years went by more land was accumulated and their family increased to twelve children.

This land was left to their sons when John died. The home place went to his son Samuel, who in turn left it to his son, Carter Vaughn, who built a large two story log house with a kitchen attached. This is now known as the Carter Vaughn farm and has been restored by the present owner.

The Vaughn family cemetery is located across the meadow from the house and it is here where many of this Vaughn family are buried. It has been visited by their descendants and stones were found for many and signs of unmarked graves. I am sure that John and Nancy Vaughn are buried here, even though there is no sign of their graves.

John Vaughn never applied for a war pension, stating he "did not need it or want it." However, Nancy applied for a widow's pension but did not receive it as she could not prove their marriage.

Proof:

John Vaughn's Military Record.

John Vaughn's Will dated 27 July 1841, proved August term 1842.

Nancy Vaughn's Pension Application.

Tax Record of Charles Co., Maryland.

Census Records of Hawkins, later Hancock Co., Tennessee.

Tombstones in Vaughn Cemetery.

Submitted by:

*Mabel Brummet Harp
401 South Powell
Wagoner, OK 74467*

Granny VOILES "The Story and Fortune Teller"

A face calloused with time. White long hair pulled neatly back: tied in a bun. Rumored to be 3/4 Cherokee. Always in a long dress, always barefoot.

Getty Buttry, born to William and LuCindy (Singleton) Buttry, in 1866. LuCindy, her mother, who was born in 1836, was called Cindy by local folk. William, or Will, her father was born in 1834, was a farm laborer. Both were born in Hawkins County.

Getty had four natural children, her fourth child was LuCindy Buttry, who was my grandmother. She married Chris Winstead, my grandfather.

Getty married later in life to a man named Lum Voiles. They made their home near the County Line Road in Hawkins County.

People came from everywhere to get their fortunes told by her. She used the ground coffee method.

I remember as a child I asked her, "How do you tell fortunes, Granny Voiles, and how do you know what to tell people?" She laughed and replied, "Child, it goes like this, You leave a few coffee grounds in the bottom of a cup, slash it around and where it lands, that was the trick. In the landing of the grounds." "But as to how I know what to tell the people, I just tell them what I think they want to hear." That was our secret.

Granny Voiles was also a great story teller, probably the Indian in her. She would gather kids around her, especially her grandkids and tell them stories for hours. Mostly scary stories. She really knew how to keep our attention! One story she was famous for was the headless horseman. She actually told us she had seen him with her very own eyes!

I remember her always going barefoot. She never liked shoes. She walked everywhere she went, and always barefoot, even on gravel roads.

I can also remember her going in to help with the sick, even people with contagious diseases. She was never afraid of anything! But I was! especially those dark nights walking back from her house to mine, when she had just finished telling ghost stories. I always kept my eyes open for that headless horseman. But a funny thing, I never did see him.

Told by:

*Ann (Winstead) Stephens
3677 Old Ky. Rd.
Morristown, TN 37814*

Submitted by:

*Vicki (Stephens) Potts
1325 Wood Ridge Rd.
Dandridge, TN 37725*

VOLCK/FULCK/FAULK

Andreas Volck was born about 1678 near Worms, Germany. He married in 1702 Anna Catherine Merckel from Durnstein, Germany. He was a winemaker.

During the War of the Spanish Succession (1702-1714) their homeland was repeatedly and completely devastated. Homes, crops, vineyards, churches, villages, and cities were pillaged and burned.

The area along the Rhine, Main, and Neckar Rivers of Spire, Worms, Hesse-Darmstadt, Zweibrücken, Nassau, Baden, and Württemberg was laid in ruins. Thousands perished for want of food, clothing and shelter, and thousands were driven from their homes. Not even the sacred tombs of the German emperors at Worms were spared. These plunderings and devastations were a French blunder, inspired by the political ambitions and religious malice of King Louis XIV in an effort to seat his grandson, Phillip of Anjou, a Bavarian youth, on the throne of Spain.

By the year 1708 it was pretty clear to the people of the Palatinate that there was no possible hope for peace and happiness in their homeland. Continual wars, heavy taxes, little opportunity for education and clash of religious creeds left little hope of maintaining their families.

In 1706 Rev. Joshua Kocherthal, a Lutheran clergyman made a trip from Germany to England to familiarize himself with the conditions in the American Colonies. In 1708 he and forty-one Palatines visited England and petitioned Queen Anne for settlement in America. Their petition was granted and it was decided that this group should settle on the Hudson River in the Province of New York. They sailed in October 1708 on the ship "Globe" and arrived in New York nine weeks later.

Andreas and Catherine had three children when they left Germany. One child was born aboard ship on the voyage over and was baptized by Rev. Kocherthal on November 28, 1708. Six more children were born after they moved to America.

They settled in the Mohawk Valley, living in Hochland, New York for awhile. They later moved to Allemangel, Pennsylvania. Their children were: Anna Barbara Volck, born 1703 in Germany; George Hieronymous Volck, born in 1705 in Germany; Anna Gertrude Volck, born in 1707 in Germany; Carlross (Karl) Volck, born in 1708 aboard the ship; Anna Marie Volck, born in 1710 in New York; Johannes Volck, born in 1712 in New York; Elizabeth Volck, born 1714 in New York; Jacob Volck, born 1716 in New York; Anna Catherine Volck, born 1718 in New York; Andreas Volck, Jr., born May 12, 1722 in New York, died August 16, 1790 in Surry County, North Carolina.

Our line of descent is:

Andreas Volck, III, born April 21, 1765 in Hebron, PA.

Jacob L. Fulk, born July 17, 1792 in Bethania, North Carolina.

James Fulk, born 1817 in NC.

Andrew Jackson Fulk, born 1851 in NC.

George Reuben Fulk, born 1887 in TN.

Loy Glade Faulk, born 1912, died in 1982, buried in Church Hill Memory Gardens, Hawkins Co. TN. He married Rosella E. Dykes, born 23 March 1930, daughter of Neal Carson and Lurlie Mae (Jones) Dykes. Their children: Michael Faulk, born 1953, Gregory Faulk, born 1955, and Kathy (Faulk) King, born 1960.

Loy and Rosella's grandchildren are: Andrew and Katherine Faulk, Mika, Michael, and Emmy Faulk, and Ashley and Alex King.

Note the different spellings over ten generations - Andreas/Andrew, and Catherine/Katherine. These names for two of the writer's grandchildren are the same as they had been for their ancestors ten generations earlier. At the time these children were born, no research had been done to know their ancestors' names.

Submitted by:

*Rosella Faulk
2309 Sanford Dr.
Kingsport, TN 37664*

John Barnabus WAGGONER

The earliest known record we find for "Barney" WAGGONER was his purchase of land on 28 December 1781 from John and Mary DAVIS on "the Reedy Creek waters of the North branch of the Holston River" as recorded in Washington County, Virginia (surveyed 28 December 1783). Neighbors were William SNODGRASS and Jacob DROAKS. Another acquisition he made as assignee of Charles WOOLF, in a 1794 survey with Treasury Warrant #1976, was located on "Both sides of the head branch of Reedy Creek," adjoining Frederick SNIDER (patented in 1800).

Reportedly he had migrated to the Holston area from Pennsylvania with the RHODES and DECK families, their children also intermarried. Other Holston settlers that appear to have more than a close relationship are: PRUITT, BOOHER, ELLIS, and MILLHORN.

Exactly where Barney and his family resided has not been determined, but it appears to have been just west of present Bristol, VA, later close to Kingsport, Tennessee, surrounded by other Germans. He bought and sold numerous parcels of land in Washington Co., VA (1781-1806), Sullivan Co., TN (1798 from William SNODGRASS-1803), and Hawkins Co., TN (1803-1806). They left here after 6 October 1806, arriving in St. Clair (now Madison) Co., Illinois prior to 3 March 1807 when he and his son Peter made applications #150, 152, and 153 for land in the Wood River area. His land in Sullivan Co., TN had been sold to Peter SHELBY (1798) and Jacob SINK (1803), on Reedy Creek also.

Barney died in St. Clair Co., IL in February 1808, we suspect during Indian troubles. Dolly (maiden name?) married again on 12 April 1810 to Martin PRUITT, Jr., who seemed to be a family friend, she having cared for his first wife prior to her death in Indiana. Unfortunately they were "separated" by 1820 (no divorce was found), per Madison Co. court record.

Because of an indenture made in 1817 (Hawkins Co., TN) it appears Barney's father may have been Peter. Our reasoning, this indenture follows Dolly's second husband (PRUITT) making himself guardian of the 3 younger children in IL, returning to TN, and trying to sell the 451 acres there, but had to have it transferred "from Peter WAGGONER to John Barnabus WAGGONER" first. It also insinuates he was a guardian to John ELLIS of Hawkins Co., TN. Did he leave a daughter who married him? This was land Barney bought from John KING, Jr. who received it as a grant from North Carolina (near Kingsport?). This maneuver was thwarted by the executors, Dolly and the eldest son Peter, who eventually sold the same in 1820.

The probable father of Barney could have been the Peter WAGGONER who served (and died 20 October 1780 in IL) with George Rogers CLARK, under Capt. Robert GEORGE. Maybe this influenced Barney to migrate there? There was a family Bible and prayer book listed in Barney's estate which has never been located.

The eldest son, Peter, returned to marry Elizabeth "Betsy" DECK (dau. of Jacob and Elizabeth DECK, Sr.). Her brother, Jacob Jr., and possibly others, returned to IL with them.

John Barnabus WAGGONER was probably born in the 1760's in Germany (per family tradition), yet another descendant thinks he was born in America (needs further research). He may also have been married prior to his union with Dolly. The 1818, 1820, and 1830 censuses indicate she was born 1775-1780, making her too young to be the mother of Peter, born 1786. There also appears to be a 10 year gap between his second and third known children. Dolly died sometime after 1883, probably in IL.

The known WAGNER children were: Peter, born 29 June 1786 in Washington Co., VA, died 12 April 1849 in Macoupin Co., IL, married ca. 1812 to Elizabeth DECK (1795-1851), and had 14 children; Anna Catherine, born 4 July 1788 in North Carolina, died 9 October 1877 in Macoupin Co., IL, married 1803/4 to Samuel Henry RHODES (1775-1831), 7 children; Daniel, born ca. 1798, married in 1821 in Madison Co., IL to Fanny "Franky" CLAXTON, 2 sons known; Jacob B. (my line), born 22 March 1799 in VA or TN, died 29 May 1845 in Pike Co., IL, married on 21 July 1821 in Madison Co., IL to Elizabeth Ann "Nancy" MOORE (1797-1847), daughter of John and Mary (BEEMAN), 5 or 6 children; John, born ca. 1802, probably in TN, died in 1834 in Pike Co., IL, married on 30 January 1825 in Madison Co., IL to Rachel MOORE (1809-1853), "cousin" to Nancy, 5 children. Rachel married second to Wiley V. SEEBORN after John's death. Other children unknown?

Jacob B. WAGNER's son Isaac Peter (1824-1885) married Mary Moore HUDSON (1831/2-1887), 10 children, and moved to Missouri in 1857.

Their daughter, Nancy Elizabeth WAGNER (1850-1927), married Stephen A. GENTLE (1843-1924), 6 children. They moved to Kansas in 1870/1.

Their daughter, Ollie Lyle GENTLE (1873-1944), married Albert John MASON (1863-1934), 4 children.

Their daughter, Frances Elizabeth MASON (1900-1976), married Ercey Newton CARVER (1894-1973), had 6 children.

Their daughter, Margaret Louise CARVER, born in Ft. Scott, Kansas, married Leslie E. WONDERLEIGH, and they have four children: Thomas, Margaret "Peg" C., Janet, and Kyle. Margaret and Leslie have 10 grandchildren.

Submitted by:

*Margaret C. Wonderleigh
647 Orange St.
Chillicothe, OH 45601*

Joshua WALKER/Amy WILLIAMS Family

In his pension application for Revolutionary War service, Joshua WALKER (my 3ggg grandfather) stated that he was born 17 February 1757 in Loudoun County, Virginia. He moved from there to Washington Co., VA. There he entered the Virginia Militia as a volunteer under Captain Thompson in they year 1776. His enlistment was for a period of three months. The object of his company was to protect the frontiers from the Cherokee Indians. He was stationed at Fort Shelby and Heaton's Fort.

At the end of three months, he felt that the frontier still needed his assistance, so he volunteered for another three months. During this period of service he took part in a battle at what was called "the Island Flats of the Holston." The Indians were defeated and fled back into the forest. Since the danger seemed past, his company moved back from the frontier, and he was discharged at the end of his second three-month enlistment.

As part of his application for a pension, he included documentation of his marriage to Amy WILLIAMS in Grayson County, Virginia on September 17, 1800. Henry WILLIAMS was a witness. Amy WALKER applied for a widow's pension in 1856. She stated that Joshua WALKER died 16 January 1840.

About 1810 Joshua and Amy (WILLIAMS) WALKER moved to Hawkins Co., TN, and lived there until his death in 1840. They had eleven children. I have information on only three of them, Mary, Joshua, Jr., and John W.

Mary "Polly" WALKER was born in 1800 in Virginia and died ca. 1829. She married John W. BERRY on 16 February 1818. They had six children: Joshua, Malvina, George, Alfred, and two whose names are unknown, all surnamed BERRY. (Her 3ggg grandson, James Harold LEONARD, living in Hanford, California is researching that line of the family).

Joshua, Jr. married Louisa HUGHES, daughter of Abner HUGHES (1772-1839) and his second wife Sarah IDDINGS (1788-1850). In 1848 Joshua, Jr., Louisa, and children Henry and Sarah migrated by flat boat or raft down the Tennessee River and across Arkansas to Independence County, Arkansas. The trip took six weeks. They bought land near Batesville, Arkansas. There a third child, Alice was born, and Joshua died in 1850.

Louisa WALKER married, second, to Abraham ALLEN in 1851. They had one son, Samuel, and were divorced in 1853.

About 1860 Louisa and her family moved into southern Missouri to be near her brother who had moved to Texas County, Missouri earlier. The "Bushwhackers" burned down her house and took her 16-year-old son out on a hill and murdered him execution style. Louisa lived in Texas County, Missouri until her death on 8 April 1903.

John W. WALKER, the third child of Joshua, Sr. and Amy, was born ca. 1815 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Sources:

Pension application of Joshua Walker.

Pension application of Amy (Williams) Walker.

Independence Co., ARK Census Records of 1850.

Independence Co., ARK Land Records.

Letters from Louisa (Hughes) Walker and her mother Sarah (Iddings) Hughes, dated 1848 and 1853.

Hawkins Co., TN Land Records.

Family Bible.

Submitted by:

*Lulu Faye Urback Burton
10250 Caminito Cuervo #28
San Diego, CA 92108-1806*

Guilford WALL

On August 5, 1824 Guilford Wall, born 1796 in North Carolina and died March 25, 1857 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, married Dianna Hoback, who was born in 1805 in Virginia. To this union were born: Oscar, Augustus Bonaparte, Alexander, Thirza, Mary, Albert, Jacob B., Cloyd, and Cynthia. According to Wythe County, Virginia Deed Books, the only known brother of Guilford was Burrell Wall.

Augustus Bonaparte Wall was born on January 29, 1828 in Virginia and died on April 1, 1898. He was married to Lacy Ann Stubblefield, who was born in North Carolina on March 6, 1840 and died on August 20, 1914. Both Augustus and Lacy are buried in the Russellville, TN Cemetery. Augustus was a shoe and boot maker. He and Lacy had the following children: Murphy, William, John, Alfred, Lilley, Floral, and Joseph Hale.

Joseph Hale Wall lived his entire life in Hamblen County, TN. He served on the first Hamblen County School Board. He was born on July 30, 1871 and died March 18, 1925. He was married to Mary Ellen Miller, who was born September 1, 1880 and died July 9, 1929. Mary Ellen's parents were John H. Miller and Martha Mills.

John H. Miller served in the 60th Tennessee Infantry, Co. H., CSA. He was captured at Vicksburg, Mississippi and spent the majority of the war at Point Lookout Prison Camp in Maryland. John's parents were Charles Wesley Miller and Dialpha Mallicoat. Martha's parents were Hiram and Sarah Mills of Hawkins County. Joseph H. and Mary Ellen Wall had the following children: John, Horace, Dewey, and Walter Joe.

Walter Joe Wall, Sr. married Bonnie Mae Fox on January 4, 1928. Walter was a foreman for Tennessee Furniture Company in Morristown, TN, and Bonnie was a homemaker. Bonnie was originally from White Pine, TN. Walter was born February 16, 1906 and died April 21, 1988. Bonnie was born August 9, 1907 and died on August 8, 1989. She was the daughter of Porter and Nellie Fox. Walter and Bonnie are buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery, Morristown, TN. To this marriage were born: Walter Joe Wall, Jr.; Stella Mae; Christina; Jack Hale; and David Marco.

Walter Joe Wall, Jr., married Elizabeth Ann Richards, daughter of Hobert W. Richards, who was born in Hawkins County, and Eva Carter Richards. Joe graduated from East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, and was employed by the Sullivan Co. School System. He is also an ordained Southern Baptist minister. At present he is the minister of Lovelace Baptist Church in Fall Branch, TN. Joe is also a member of the Bristol Evening Lions Club.

Elizabeth graduated from Virginia Inter-mont College and from ETSU, and taught school at Miller Perry Elementary School. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Colonial Dames Seventeenth Century.

Joe and Elizabeth have one daughter, Robin Hope, who was born on April 23, 1962 and is married to Gary Almony Bagnall. Robin and Gary reside in Bristol, VA.

Related Story:

Aaron Richards

Submitted by:

*Robin Wall Bagnall
522 Lee Street
Bristol, VA 24201*

WALLEN/WALLING/WALDEN

This family appears to be well-known in old Southwest Virginia and early Tennessee from Elisha Wallen the "Long Hunter" for whom Wallen's Ridge in Tennessee is named. One story says Elisha named the Cumberland Gap on one of his "hunts" after Cumberland County, Virginia where he was born. I have not been able to find Cumberland records on the family yet. There were Walden families in Eastern Virginia who said they descended from a Lord John Walden of England, and my Mother told me we had an ancestor through our Reed line who descended from a younger son of English nobility.

I believe James Wallen whose Will is recorded in (then) Montgomery County, Virginia in 1785/86 was parent of my "Betsy" Wallen who married Littleton Brooks, Sr. James is said to be a son of Elisha Wallen, the "Long Hunter." One account I found said James Wallen's wife was a Mary White, but this I cannot confirm. I know nothing for sure about James' children either. Old Elisha Wallen's wife is said to be Mary Blevins, daughter and sister of other "Long Hunters." I have Reed line cousins named Blevins here in Oklahoma. I and my family love early American stories and films of the "frontier." We descend from The Cherokee Tribe through Mom's Prather/David family and perhaps through Dad's Underdown/Morrow family as well. This dates back to the time of the American Revolution or earlier.

James and William Blevins, Jacob Wallen, John Cox, Jr., and William Cox were on the same Militia Muster Roll of Capt. Evan Shelby as Littleton and Castleton Brooks in Washington County, Virginia June 11, 1773.

The earliest I have found Elisha Walling is in the records of old Pittsylvania County, VA where he was "appointed a surveyor of the part of the New Road from Staunton River to the Mayo settlement, leading from Banister to Smith River." This was in the 1740's, and he was appointed constable in the same county in 1748 on "Smith's River and the Wart Mountain." Elisha was in Hawkins County, TN early but apparently fell into the new county of Claiborne in 1801 where he (or a son?) was selected for the first Grand Jury. Worth Ray stated in one of his books that descendants of Elisha settled in present White County, TN in a village called Walling on the bank of Stone River where many are buried. Elisha died about 1823, reportedly in Missouri, but I have not researched this for certain as yet.

Related Story:

Littleton Brooks, Sr.

Submitted by:

Tharell Ann Morrow
122 North Louisville
Tulsa, OK 74115

Jacob WAX, Family History

Jacob Wax, the son of Henry Wacks (Wax) and Margaret Geschwind, was born on July 8, 1787 in Frederick County, Virginia. He was of German descent. His mother died in 1791 and his father died on 6 November 1796, Jacob being only 9 years old. His guardian was the oldest son of the family, Peter Wax, who was 28 at the time. He grew to manhood in Rockbridge, Virginia and apparently learned his trade of coppersmith from his future father-in-law, William Galbreath.

Jacob Wax fought in the War of 1812 as Sergeant in Capt. Elliott's Company, Eighth Regiment of the Virginia Militia, and was later (50 years) granted 40 acres of land at Fayetteville, Arkansas, where he moved to and died there in 1865.

Jacob Wax married Susan Elizabeth Galbreath 15 July 1817 at Rockbridge County, Virginia. Her parents, William and Ellen Galbreath, were born in Ireland. Jacob was 30 years old and Susan Elizabeth was 25 years old when they married. Jacob and Susan's first child, Henry Geschwind, was born May 2, 1818 in Virginia.

Sometime following the birth of this child, the family moved to Rogersville, Hawkins Co., Tn. where the second child, William Caldwell Wax (our ancestor), was born 1 June 1819. Records² show he bought a lot in Rogersville 2 September 1819. Here, where the Hasson house now(?) stands, he lived until he sold it 16 February 1836 to Robert C. Crawford. The rest of his children were born in this house, being: Stokley, born February 1822; Elizabeth E., born 1824; Sidney, born 1826; Susan Ann, born 1828; James H., born 1832; and Nicholas F., born 15 July 1834. After the sale of this house, he and his family moved "just east" of town.

At least three of Jacob's sisters, Elizabeth Wax who married George H. Etter, Catharine Wax who married Henry Price, and Susannah Wax who married Daniel Howry, had preceded him to Hawkins County.

The Jacob Wax family is listed in the 1830³ Hawkins County, Tn. census as having 6 children (correct) but their ages and sex are not quite correct. Both Jacob and Elizabeth were listed as between the ages of 30 and 40 (should be 43 and 38). They are listed in the 1840 census as Jacob 53, Susan Elizabeth 48, William Caldwell 21, Stokley 18, Elizabeth 16, Sidney 14, Susan 12, James 8, and Nicholas 6 years.

They are also listed in the 1850 census with Jacob listed as 63, a coppersmith born in Virginia (correct); Susan 58, born in Virginia (correct); and 4 children living at home: Sidney, Susan Ann, James, and Nicholas. Stokley is not living with them. He married Elizabeth Smith, date unknown.

William Caldwell Wax married Lucretia Gillenwater on 24 July 1845 and is recorded in the Tennessee marriage records, so perhaps they were married in Rogersville. His brother, Henry Geschwind, was married the same date to Martha Mary Miller, but their marriage is not recorded in the Tennessee marriage record book.

In December 1850 Jacob Wax and his family were still living in Rogersville, but a letter² of 9 September 1853 from S.D.M. Wilson of Washington County, Arkansas mentions that Jacob Wax now lives in that county. So the family lived in Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tn. approximately 34 years.

Jacob Wax and his wife are both buried in Brentwood, Washington County, Arkansas. William Caldwell Wax moved to Tompkinsville, Kentucky and his family migrated on to Illinois and Iowa. I do not know the whereabouts of Jacob's other children.

I have not been able to document the father-son relationship of Jacob and William C. Wax, although I know it is a fact. Does someone know of baptism records or news items which would show this relationship?

Related Story:

Wax-Price-Brooks-Bean

Sources:

1 National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, D.C., "Forms for War Service"

2 Continuation of a letter from Mrs. L.F. Etter, of Turrell, Arkansas, 8 December 1949, apparently from a Bible record.

3 Hawkins County, Tn. census records.

General: copied from a book entitled "Families", and on page 1465 is an article entitled "Henry Wax", continued to page 1466, and signed by Louise Stracener Payne. (I do not know where I got it).

Family Bibles and family knowledge passed thru the years.

A big help came from descendants of Nicholas Wax, namely Daniel N. Wax of Altus, OK and his brother, Delbert Wax of Gillham, Arkansas.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Charlotte Maris Wax
(widow of Ray Eldon Wax, the great grandson of William C. Wax)
511 N. Hopkins Rr 2 Box 111
Newman, IL

WAX - PRICE - BROOKS - BEAN

Johann Philip Wax (Wachs), born in Germany and died in America, came to Philadelphia. His son Henry Wax (1743-1799), born in Germany, died in Botetourt County, Virginia, married (1st) in Pennsylvania in 1767 to Margaret Geschwind (1750-1791), and married (2nd) in West Virginia in 1791 to Catherine Kerns, (no issue).

Henry was a Sergeant and Captain in the Revolutionary War, service in Berks County, Pa. Margaret was the daughter of Eberhard and Margaret "Yost" Geschwind. Henry moved to Frederick Co., Va. and then to Fincastle, Botetourt Co., Va. where he owned a lot of land and had a Tavern and Inn. Henry and Margaret Wax had the following children: Peter, Catherine, Margaret, Phillip, Elizabeth, Henry, Maria, Christina, John, Madaline, Susannah, Jacob, Ester, and Hannah.

Catherine Wax (1769-1847), born Pa., died Hawkins Co., Tn., married in 1787 in Winchester, Va. to Henry Price (1769-1842). They moved to Fincastle, Va., then to Hawkins Co., Tn. Henry and Catherine Price had the following children: Susannah, Hannah, Isaac, Jacob, George, Mary, Elizabeth, and Henry.

Susannah Price (1797-1854), born in Fincastle, Va., died in Hawkins Co., Tn., married in 1818 to William Dixon Brooks (1784-1854), son of Thomas Brooks, Revolutionary War Veteran, Pension No. S-1795. They lived and farmed in the Choptack area (ed: near Rogersville) of Hawkins County. Both are buried in the William Brooks Cemetery, Choptack. Children of William and Susannah Brooks are as follows: Margaret, George, James, William, Cillina, Mary, Susannah, Lafayette, Thomas, John, Rachel, Albert, Leah, and Nancy.

Nancy Brooks (1840-1893) Hawkins Co. married in 1869 to William Peyton Bean (1835-bef. 1900), son of John D.C. and Alice "Setser" Bean. They lived in Poor Valley, then Bunker Hill, and then Choptack areas of Hawkins County. They were farmers. William Peyton and Nancy "Brooks" Bean's children were: William, Eli, Leah, Mary, James Columbus, Georgia, and Emoner.

James Columbus Bean married first to Lida Elkins, and second to Mollie Elkins. Their son John Edward Bean (1809-) married Ruby Beatrice Jones, daughter of John and Nancy "Wallen" Jones of Keplar.

Related Stories:

JONES-MANES-FIELDS-STRONG-WALLEN-BEAN

Jacob Wax Family History

Submitted by:

Donald R. Bean

(son of John Edward and Ruby Beatrice Jones Bean)

14207 Chelmsford Rd.

Rockville, MD 20853

Albert WEBB

Albert Webb, born 8 December 1866, died 10 October 1938, married Eliza Ann Price 8 April 1894 by J.B. Altom, J.P. He was a farmer and operated a flour and grain mill on Highway 66 about three miles north of Rogersville. Early in his life he made a profession of faith in Christ and became a member of Choptack Baptist Church. On 25 May 1918, he with his family moved their membership to the Rogersville Baptist Church. He was a consistent Christian, an industrious farmer, and a good businessman. They were the parents of eight children, all were born in Hawkins Co., TN.

Fannie Lou Webb, born 2 October 1896, died 2 March 1989, married on 22 December 1923 to Homer John Ross, son of R. Columbus and Mary Leona Rhea Ross. Fannie taught school in the Hawkins County school system for many years, and Homer operated with his father, Ross' Mill and Store on Highway 66 north, engaged in farming and later opened Ross Truck and Implement Co. on West Main Street in Rogersville. Homer was a veteran of World War I, having served in France.

Hubert Walter Webb, born 22 August 1899, died 3 February 1970, married on 3 October 1927 to Ruth Mooney, daughter of Frank and Birdie Howe Mooney. Hubert was a farmer all his life and lived on Highway 66 north.

Clara Bell Webb, born 24 April 1901, married on 26 December 1925 to Oscar "Happy" Alvis, son of Bud and Lucy Haynes Alvis. Clara was born in the old homeplace in the back valley. On September 1, 1911, when she was approximately 10 years old, the family purchased the H. R. Shepard farm containing 128 acres, and the family moved by wagon to the new location. She attended Cedar Hill her first year, and started at the old Fairview School for the second year, and after it burned, attended the new Fairview School. Clara attended high school from 1917 to 1921 and graduated from the old Rogersville Synodical College. School was in session when World War I was declared over, and school was dismissed in order for all the students to go to town to hear a speech. The students marched in 2's over to the Masonic Hall where George L. Berry spoke and told everyone that the war was over.

The Webb children either walked to school or rode in their buggy. Later, Albert purchased a T-Model and Hubert learned to drive it and the kids rode to school. When Albert drove, no one wanted to sit in the back seat as he was always spitting tobacco juice.

Clara's first teaching job was at the Vale Summitt near Church Hill where she was paid $65.00 per month. The next year she taught at a school near Keplar. She met "Happy" in 1918 while attending a 4th of July parade in Church Hill; he was in the Navy at that time. They met again when the Baptist Church was having a picnic at Spears Spring. They were married on the 26th of December, 1925 by the Rev. J. R. Chiles and went to Ft. Bragg, NC on their honeymoon to see his brother, Aubrey Alvis.

Molly Lois Webb, born 25 July 1902, died 30 June 1991, married on 7 July 1928 to James Herbert Warwick. Lois worked at the Standard Knitting Mill in Knoxville when she met Herbert, an employee of Knoxville Utility Board.

Harry Clay Webb, born 5 March 1905, died 14 August 1977, married 26 June 1929 to Carrie Mynatt. Harry farmed briefly after getting married and then the family moved to Knoxville where he accepted a job with South Central Bell where he worked until his retirement.

Murle Clifford Webb, born on 4 June 1907, died 20 January 1987, married on 25 April 1952 to Margie Moon Pyne. Clifford worked on the family farm and ran the family grocery store for many years. Then he took a position with Alcoa Aluminum Co. of America, Maryville, TN and retired there after 25 years.

Mildred Ruth Webb, born 29 January 1909, married on 14 January 1930 to Grant Cope Pearson, son of Brownlow Columbus and Laura Bell Cope Pearson. Mildred was a housewife. Grant was a barber by trade.

Elsie Lee Webb, born on 11 February 1911, died 16 August 1984, married Richard Williams, son of Charlie and Sidney Manerva Brooks Williams. Elsie was a housewife. Richard farmed, served in the U.S. Navy during World War II, worked at the International Playing Card & Label Company in Rogersville. Later he moved to Atlanta, GA and worked for a printing company until his retirement.

Related Stories:

Oscar Ronda "Happy" & Clara W. Alvis.

Joseph W. Alvis.

Theodoric Webb.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Clara Webb Alvis

John W. and Louise Kitzmiller (PAYNE) WEBB

LOUISE KITZMILLER PAYNE (b. August 3, 1858-d. 1922), daughter of William Latham and Letha Whitson Payne, was married to John W. Webb (b. April 15, 1856-d. October 7, 1929), son of Elijah Webb and Mary Ann Brooks. The following children were born to this union: George S. (b. November 5, 1877-d. September 15, 1880), Lida Emeline (b. May 19, 1883-d. April 10, 1950), and Willie C. (b. March 5, 1887-d. July 19, 1887).

George S. Webb burned to death (see memorial following). He, Willie, and their parents are all buried in the Young Cemetery (see Hawkins County Cemetery Book II, page 235).

Following is a memorial written by George Webb: "IN MEMORIAM "Died on the morning of September 16, 1880, at half past three o'clock, George S. Webb, Jr., son of John and Lou Webb, aged two years and ten months. His death was caused by his accidentally falling in to the fire, or by his clothing catching on fire, which burned him so severely that he lived only about 19 hours afterwards. He passed away calmly into the arms of his Redeemer. He was a lovely boy, and we regret very much to have so sad a death of one so fair. We have tendered our sympathies to the bereaved parents on this their sad bereavement."

Lida Emeline Webb was married to Jacob Foy Riley (b. April 25, 1873-d. March 4, 1931). There were two children born to this union: Rachel Louise (b. September 11, 1912), and John Heiskell Riley (b.

March 30, 1904-d. October 13, 1947). Lida and J. Foy Riley are both buried in the Highland Cemetery.

Louise Riley married Joseph Dorton Cross, Jr. (b. December 4, 1909 in Bristol, Tennessee). They had one daughter, Nora Emily Cross (b. May 22, 1939 in Rogersville). J. D.'s parents were Joseph Dorton Cross (b. July 1, 1882-d. May 29, 1953), and Nora Edison Warren (b. May 10, 1881-d. July 22, 1965). He had three sisters: (Virginia Gertrude Cross (b. February 13, 1902-d. September 1972), Willie Mae Cross (b. February 27, 1904-d. May 12, 1983), and Nellie Lou Cross (b. August 17, 1906).

Emily married Dr. Donald Ray Lane (b. March 5, 1939, Rogersville), son of Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Lane, of Rogersville, in Atlanta, Georgia, at Emory University Chapel on December 21, 1962. Emily is a June 1961 graduate of the University of Tennessee, formerly a teacher in the Oak Ridge School System. They resided in Atlanta during his internship at Georgia Baptist Hospital, until he was called to serve in the Army.

Donald attended Emory University, and graduated from the University of Tennessee Medical School at Memphis in 1963.

Emily and Donald have three children: James Michael (b. September 30, 1964, Atlanta), Mary Rachel (b. October 23, 1966, Atlanta), and Joseph Steven (b. September 4, 1968, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas).

James Michael Lane was married on December 18, 1982, to Tammy Irene Ewing, at Mt. Carmel Christian Church Chapel.

Joseph (Joe) Steven Lane was married to Kristy Michelle Blomberg on April 4, 1992, at Mt. Carmel Christian Church, Stone Mountain, Georgia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arthur Blomberg.

Related Stories:

William Monroe and Harriett

Emmaline (Webb) Payne.

Payne - Whitson.

Submitted by:

Louise Riley Cross

Theodoric WEBB

THEODORIC WEBB, born 1769 in Buckingham County, VA, died 10 April 1851 in Hawkins County, TN, married Catherine Mattox ca. 1808. Catherine was born 1788 in Buckingham Co., VA, died on 19 February 1870 in Hawkins Co., TN. Theodoric was a farmer. Both are buried on their old farm in Klondike community, Hawkins Co., TN.

Theodoric and Catherine had twelve children. Three of their daughters married the three youngest sons of Henry Price. Their children: Mary Ann, John, Elijah, Martha Ann, Susannah, Lucinda, Samuel, Gabriel, David, Theodore, Henry, and Catherine Webb.

Elijah Webb, born 5 October 1817 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 29 April 1896 in Hawkins Co., TN, married first on 28 April 1842 to Mary Ann Hamblen, born 16 August 1820, died 27 January 1850. Elijah married secondly to Mary Brooks on 15 May 1851. Mary was born 2 March 1826 and died 22 March 1910. Elijah was a farmer in the Choptack community. Elijah and Mary Brooks Webb are buried in the Young Cemetery, Rogersville, TN.

The children born to the first marriage are as follows:

Leah Webb, born 1 March 1843, died 1920, married Theophilus Webb on 6 November 1857. Theophilus was the son of John and Susan Webb, making him and Leah first cousins. They moved to Arkansas soon after 1870 and were the parents of twelve children.

William H. Webb, born 14 September 1844, and died 27 February 1907.

George Webb, born 26 June 1846, died 19 July 1884, married Nancy J. Price 13 October 1870.

James D. Webb, born 12 February 1848, died 16 October 1920, married Nancy Williams 24 December 1866.

Joseph H. Webb, was born and died 24 January 1850.

Children of the second marriage were:

John Webb, born 15 April 1856, died 7 October 1929, married Louisa Payne on 21 January 1877.

Susan Harriett Webb, born 6 November 1859, died 16 January 1923, married Robert Young Webb on 30 June 1878. Robert was the son of Gabriel and Phoebe Ann Young Webb.

Mary Ann Webb, born on 27 July 1860, died 13 October 1927, married Monroe Williams 22 October 1876.

Thomas T. Webb, born 14 October 1864, died 29 August 1923, married Sallie Walters 13 October 1901.

Albert Webb, born 8 December 1866, died 10 October 1938, married Eliza Ann Price 8 April 1894 (See Albert Webb family story).

Eliza Ann was the daughter of Theophilus and Nancy Webb Price.

Emeline Webb, born 12 March 1868, died 19 November 1933, married Rev. William L. Winfrey 24 March 1884 (See Holmes Warren Winfrey story).

Related Stories:

Theophilus and Nancy (Webb) Price.

Albert Webb.

Holmes Warren Winfrey.

Submitted by:

Mrs. Clara Webb Alvis

The WEEMS Family

The search for the Weems family has led to North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and finally, to the coast of Scotland. The name, which originally began as MacDUFF, was taken from the youngest son of the MacDuff who slew MacBeth in the Scottish wars as related by Shakespeare. MacDuff was given a part of the lands of Fife located on the rocky eastern cliffs. On this land were many small caves which were called weems. John was known as "John of Weems." The name was spelled as Wemyss in Scotland. Weems researchers have enjoyed the information surrounding one of their favorite and most recognized family members - that of the noted Mason Locke, or Parson Weems as he was called, since it was he who wrote the story of George Washington and the cherry tree incident.

The chief progenitor of the Hawkins/Greene County Weems family was John Weems who was born around 1744 and lived in Hillsborough, Orange County, North Carolina 1767-1790. The Orange County population of white male taxables in 1767 was 3,870. John was there at that time as he bought land from William Castleberry on February 10, 1767. John did jury duty (1777-1782) and was the overseer of road construction during the Revolutionary War. John was still living there during the Battle of Alamance on May 16, 1771. Bishop Francis Asbury recorded in March 1783 that he had preached to about 30 people at the Wims' (Weems') near Hillsborough. John was still in NC in 1790 in the Hillsborough District (St. Thomas District) listed as John Wemes. His son, John Jr., was married there on March 28, 1791 to Sarah Jones. Another son, William, also married there on October 30, 1791 to Mary Edwards. John and his wife, Catherine (called Kitty), came to Greene County around 1792. It is believed that both are buried in the Bailey Cemetery at Baileyton. John died in 1812, a year after his son John Jr.'s death.

Children of John and Kitty were: Elizabeth, born 1765, married Thomas Bailey; William, born about 1768, married Mary Edwards; John Weems, Jr., born about 1770, married Sarah Jones; Nancy Agnes, born about 1779, married John Russom Young; Thomas, born about 1775/77, married Hannah Gilbreath; George W., born about 1770, married Nancy Carter; Catherine (Kitty), born about 1780, married William Bowers, Sr.; Sarah (Sally), born about 1784, married Daniel Dugger; James, born about 1785, married Hannah Yates (Yeates).

Abraham Weems was the son of George W. and Nancy (Carter) Weems. He married three times: 1st Polly Young, 2nd Elizabeth Davis, 3rd Elizabeth (Wattenbarger) Bowman. There were seventeen children. It was his son Abraham (Abram), Jr. who came into Hawkins County and lived near the Hawkins/Greene County line.

Abram, Jr. was the first child of Abraham, Sr. and his third wife. Abram, Jr. married Nancy J. Malone on the 8th of October 1864. Abram joined B Company, 8th Infantry, USA during the War-Between-The-States. He joined at Bulls Gap. He was injured during the war. After the war, he and his wife raised a family of seven children on their farm on Widow Hollow Road at Van Hill. Their children were: John, Tine, Mary C., George A., Charlie Ruben, Lucinda, and Lydia Hannah. Abram and Nancy died in 1890 and 1891, leaving three underage children: George, Charlie and Hannah.

Son, George A. Weems, later owned the Weems farm which his son, Lacy, would later own, then gave this land to his son, Charles, who is the present owner in 1993. Both George and his son Lacy are buried in the Weems Cemetery.

George A. Weems was born May 22, 1879, died June 3, 1944 at the home of his son, Lacy, in Rogersville. He married Julia Ann Lyon, 1897. She was born 30 March 1881, died January 11, 1936, and is buried in the Weems Cemetery. Their children were: Ona, Anderson, Sylvia, Lacy, Marie, Ruby, Ulyes, Verna, Lena, and Paul.

Related Story:

Lacy Weems

Sources:

John Weems, Sr., court records in Orange County, North Carolina.

Will of John Weems, Sr., filed in Greene County, Tennessee.

Will of Abraham Weems, Sr. filed in Greene County, Tennessee.

Civil War Pension Record of Abraham Weems, Jr.

Hawkins and Greene Co. Censuses.

Personal interviews.

From:

*Sheila Weems Johnston
Route 1, Box 1330
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Lacy WEEMS

Lacy Weems was born November 15, 1905 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was the son of George and Julia Weems. He grew up and went to school at Van Hill near the Hawkins/Greene County line. After leaving home, he went to Kingsport where he was taught how to cook by a Greek restaurant owner. Lacy would later run several restaurants in Rogersville. He went to work for the International Card and Label Plant at Rogersville in 1933. His father, who was a carpenter, built his home for him in Rogersville where he and his wife, Ina, raised three children: Wanda, Charles, and Sheila. Lacy suffered from diabetes for several years and died unexpectedly on Sunday night, May 30, 1965 at Hawkins County Memorial Hospital after having a heart attack.

Lacy was a member of the First Christian Church of Rogersville. When the new church was being built, Lacy had the trees cut off his farm and took them to John T. Walker's Lumber Company to have them cut and dressed for lumber for the church's flooring.

Lacy loved to fish and play ball. He saw all the games he could, and coached the boys in Little League several summers. He loved the game of baseball which he had followed enthusiastically since early youth. Those who worked with him in the International Card and Label Plant where he has been employed for 32 years and was foreman of the pressroom on the second shift, said when any question came up about big league baseball Weems had the answer. He knew the batting average of the big players and could click them off like a machine.

Weems had something of a career himself in baseball. He pitched for the Kingsport Press team in 1929, played in the Lonesome Pine League and the Tennessee Valley League. But it was his pitching with the Rogersville Red Sox in the early 30's that most older people remembered. Said a former member of that team, "Lacy pitched a high, hard, fast one."

Related Story:

The Weems Family

Submitted by:

Sheila Weems Johnston (daughter)
Route #1, Box 1330
Rogersville, TN 37857

The Family of M. D. and Paralee (SEAVER) WEEMS

Harriet Paralee Seaver, daughter of Henry Clinton Seaver (1833-1910) and Helen Williams (1841-1875) was born 11 September 1861 in St. Clair, Hawkins Co., TN. She married Martin Dale Weems (1858-1923), the son of Elijah Keenn Weems (1826-1890) and Melissa (Dora) Strong (ca. 1828-1860) of Greene Co., Tn. According to family tradition, Paralee was about 15 years old when she married, but it is more likely that she was about 17. The 1880 Hawkins County Census shows Dale Weems at age 22, occupation tanner; "Parilee" as 18 and son Walter is 5 months. It is estimated that they married in 1878.

Their children were: Walter B. (born 1880); Maude Lee (1882-1920); and Charles. Maude was sent to a Boarding School for young ladies. There she became best friends with Daisy Boring and later named her daughter after her friend. M. D. Weems bought a farm outside Gray, Sullivan County, Tn. sometime prior to 1912 and became a gentleman farmer. On 28 April 1912 when she was 30 years old, Maude Lee Weems married Ellis Kelly Hickam (1881-1956), a widower who came to Washington County to teach at Cedar Creek School. His parents were Andrew Jackson Hickam (1859-1903) and Sarah Lucinda Carter (1862-1953) of Sullivan County.

Maude and Kelly had two children, both born in Washington Co.: Daisy Irene Hickam (born 3 July 1913, and Howard Dale Hickam (born 28 August 1914). The young family spent 2 years in Spring City, Tn. where E. K. was High School Principal before returning to Washington Co. so he could attend East Tennessee State Normal School. Next he taught at Science Hill High School in Johnson City, but eventually went into the harness business in Johnson City with a Seaver cousin. When the children were quite young, Maude developed tuberculosis. She spent one year in a Sanitarium in Salem, VA and another year in a Sanitarium in Florida. She died in May, 1920 and is buried in a private cemetery on her parents' farm in Washington Co. She was a lovely and gracious lady whose untimely death was a great loss. The children, ages 5 and 6 when their mother died, were close to their Weems grandparents and spent much time with them during their mother's illness and after her death. E. K. remarried and lived to be 75. He is buried in Gray, Tn. in the Methodist Church Cemetery.

Irene Hickam married John William Stephenson, the son of John Claude Stephenson (188-1962) and Lula Mildred Lane (1881-1971). He was born in Scott Co., Virginia on 9 September 1910. Irene and Bill Stephenson were married in Johnson City, Washington Co., Tn. on 11 June 1931. They lived first in Kingsport, then Oak Ridge, Tn., next in Cincinnati, Ohio, and after retiring from General Electric in 1971, moved to Cape Coral, Florida where they still reside.

Irene and Bill Stephenson's children, all born in Kingsport, are: Thomas, born 25 August 1932; Jane Ann, born 29 November 1934; and Jackie Lou, born 7 July 1936.

Howard Dale Hickam married Mary Virginia Young (1919-1991) in 1942. Their children are: Richard Dale, born 14 December 1947; and Vincent Kelly, born 16 August 1952. Howard, who served in WWII, became a loan officer in Kingsport. He died 5 June 1955 and is buried at Oak Hill Cemetery in Kingsport.

M. D. Weems' Will, written 16 October 1920 with a codicil added 26 August 1922, was very thoughtfully prepared with concern for his wife, his surviving son Walter, and the children of his daughter Maude. His son Charles was not mentioned in the will because he had gone to Colorado as a young man, and according to family tradition, died there from tuberculosis. M. D. Seaver named Walter and son-in-law E. K. Hickam executors. He died 26 August 1923 and is buried beside his wife and daughter in the tiny cemetery on his farm in Washington County.

Related stories:

Henry Clinton Seaver and Family.

Jeremiah Seaver.

Jeremiah Seaver (1805-1861).

John Biddle and Laura (Seaver) Smith.

Sources:

1. 1850 Hawkins County Census.

2. H.C. Seaver Family Bible, Quaker City Publishing Co., Philadelphia, PA, 1873, now in possession of Hugh Seaver, Greeneville, TN.

3. Oral interview with Irene Hickam Stephenson.

4. Personal knowledge.

5. Personal visits to cemeteries in Washington County and Kingsport.

6. Marriage Records Washington Co. TN.

Submitted by:

*Jane Stephenson Fairburn
314 Palmer Lane
McCormick, SC 29835*

WEST Family of Hawkins County

Grandma Molly West said, "There's been Wests, Russells, Rowans, and Kings in Tennessee before there was a Tennessee." I'm not back that far in my family search, but it appears many of her ancestors have been in Webster Valley, Hawkins County, Tennessee a very long time.

William "Billy" Loftig West was born 5 January 1866 in Webster Valley, died 23 November 1939 in Nashville, buried in Rosser, Tennessee. On 29 December 1888 in Webster Valley, he married Mary "Molly" Frances Russell, who was born on 13 October 1869 in Webster Valley, died 14 December 1951 in Compton, California, and is buried in Bell, CA. She was the daughter of John Virgil and Margaret Lucinda (Rowan) Russell.

Billy was the son of Abraham West, born in 1830 in Tennessee, died on 20 February 1887 in Webster Valley, and on 8 February 1858 he married Sarah Booher, born March 1837 in Tennessee, died 7 June 1908 in Webster Valley. She was the daughter of Peter and Lawhorn Booher. Billy and Sarah are buried in Powell Jones Cemetery, Keplar, Hawkins County.

Abraham was a farmer having purchased land in Hawkins County 24 February 1872. He was a veteran (Private) of the Civil War, fighting with the Union forces. Their children, all born in Webster Valley, were: Eliza A., born 1856, died 14 April 1894, married Jake Booker; James, born 1858, died 15 October 1912, married (1) Eliza Ball, and (2) Ella Jones; Lucinda, born in May 1862, died on 8 December 1920, married John H. Smith; Rachel, born 1863, died 13 November 1887; Eliza J., born 1864; William Loftig; Ella P., born 8 April 1868, died 4 March 1939, married William Slater; Elizabeth, born in 1868; and Martha, born 1869, died 9 December 1912, married John Smith.

Billy was the grandson of Abraham West, born 1809 in TN, died before 1860, married Mahala, born 1810 in TN, died after 4 April 1887. Abraham was a chairmaker and first appears in Hawkins County as head of household in the 1840 census. Their children, all born in TN were: William, born 1828; Abraham; Rebecca, born 1832; Elizabeth, born 1834; Jane, born 1836; Vina, born 1838; James, born 1840; Martha, born 1844; and Roena, born 1850.

Billy lived in the "old Webster house" during his formative years and rafted logs down the Holston River to Knoxville. After his marriage he and his family lived in a log cabin on the timber line at the John Virgil Russell farm on Webster Valley Road, eking out a living as a farm laborer. The family's fortune took a turn for the better in 1914 when they moved to Carroll County, TN.

The joy of Billy's life was singing, especially gospel music. Most pictures show him with his "tuning fork" on his belt, and a songbook in his hands.

The children of Billy and Molly West were all born in Webster Valley: Ida Pearl, born 9 February 180 , died 20 March 1949 in Butcher Valley, buried Providence Cemetery, married Joseph Bruce Tunnell; Lulu Elsie, born on 8 June 1892, died 25 April 1970, married Hugo H. Wendt; Sarah Magdeline, born on 10 February 1894, died on 26 September 1970, married (1) John Green, and (2) Francis Newhouse; John Edward, born 29 July 1896, died 17 February 1966, married Etta Emma Welper; Mary Frances, born 13 January 1899, died January 1974, married Marvin Ingle; James Rowan, born 1 December 1901, died 24 July 1918, never married; Bessie Lee, born 18 March 1904, died 27 April 1944, married Joe McRady; Bonnie May, born 18 March 1904, died 29 July 1940, married John Matthews; Charles Paul, born 16 October 1910, died 1 April 1982, married (1) Lily Blackwell, and (2) Mary Helen Andrews.

Related Stories:

Rowan Family.

Slater-Kite.

Submitted by:

*Mel and Jean West
655 La Mancha Place
Hemet, CA 92543*

Sarah WHITSON and Andrew JOHNSON

Sarah Whitson (b. ca. 1830), daughter of Enoch and Elizabeth White Whitson, was born in Washington County, Tennessee. She was married to Andrew Johnson (b. ca. 1830). He was born in North Carolina. The 1850 Census of Washington County, Tennessee, listed Sarah and Andrew as living with her father (age 42). Others listed in that household were Margaret (age 15), Letha (age 13), Isaac (age 11), Julia (age 7, Jesse (age 6, and Susannah (age 4). The mother, Elizabeth, had apparently died between 1846 and 1850.

The Andrew Johnson family had moved to Hawkins County by 1860. The Johnsons had four children by this date: Greenberry (age 7); Calvin (age 5); Elizabeth (age 2), and Elijah (age 1). Some of the Whitson children were at this time living with the Johnsons. They were: Julia, Susan, Isaac, Jesse and Margaret. Also listed as residing with the Johnsons was John White (age 30). Enoch Whitson apparently died between 1850 and 1860. The census information was obtained from the 1860 Census of Hawkins County.

Another source on Andrew Johnson gives a birthdate of 1814 with death date sometime between 1880-1900. The same source gives Sarah Whitson's birthdate as 1830, death date apparently between 1870-1890. The marriage date was given as May 30, 1850. In addition to the names and dates listed above, the following are given: Calvin was born March 17, 1855, and died June 22, 1936. Isaac, born 1862, Jesse A., born 1864, and William, born 1866.

Calvin "Cal" Albert Johnson was the father of ten sons and one daughter by his two marriages. Calvin married first on November 18, 1880, Sarah Elizabeth Bowman (b. November 5, 1864 - d. May 16, 1900). Her parents were M. V. and Martha Jane Bowman. Calvin and Sarah had five son, Oscar Loyal (b. September 6, 1883-d. October 2, 1958), Clay (b. August 7, 1885 - d. December 6, 1966), William Bruce (b. June 8, 1887-d. November 12, 1969), Charles M. (b. December 24, 1882-d. March 21, 1931), and Samuel D. (b. October 1, 1890-d. December 18, 1975).

Calvin married second, Mary Myrtle Jackson (b. June 1, 1879-d. July 9, 1954). Calvin and Myrtle had five sons and one daughter: William "Willie" Guy (b. September 14, 1901-

d. July 16, 1978), Anna Gladys (b. May 29, 1905), Thomas Paul "Buster" (b. March 26, 1907-d. August 1, 1951), Colonel A. (b. November 24, 1911-d. April 3, 1947), Claude Dale (b. February 9, 1919), and Elmer Hugh Johnson (b. August 31, 1924).

Sarah's sister, Letha (b. October 8, 1838-d. January 5, 1911), was married to William Latham (Billy) Payne (b. May 18, 1834-d. February 20, 1915). This family settled in the Choptack area of Hawkins County, and there raised a family of 14 children.

The father of the Whitson sisters was Enoch, who was born in 1808 to William Whitson (b. 177). William was the eldest son of Jesse Whitson who was born in Stafford County, Virginia. Jesse was the youngest son of William Whitson, wife, Margaret. This family is documented back to the immigrant Joseph Whittson who arrived from England aboard the ship Primrose in 1637, at age 20.

The mother of the Whitson sisters, Elizabeth White, was the daughter of David White (b. ca. 1778 in North Carolina, d. ca. 1855), and his wife, Sythe (b. ca. 1788 in Virginia. Elizabeth had sisters, Ann (b. ca. 1815), Susannah (b. ca. 1820), Sarah (b. ca. 1820), Mary Ann, Rebecca, Nancy, and a brother, Isaac. These are the names given in David's will which is of record in Washington County, Tennessee.

Andrew was a farmer who lived his last years in Locust Grove, 21st Civil District of Greene County. His parents lived on a farm in North Carolina, but the location is not known, the names of his parents are not known, nor do we know if he had brothers or sisters. We do know that his father was an immigrant, probably from England or Scotland.

Related Story:

Payne - Whitson

Submitted by:

*Hazel Hillman Johnson
5637 Kentwood Road
Knoxville, TN 37912*

Will WILLEFORD Family

Will Willeford was born in 1800 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. Early census records show other Willefords living there, James, born in 1795, Simeon, born 1801, and Abijah, born in 1802. Possibly all were brothers. Abijah and Simeon were in Overton Co., TN by 1860. Will Willeford's wife and some of their children moved to Overton Co. in the 1860's. We do not know if Will died in Hawkins or Overton Co. I have found various spellings for our name of Willeford, including Williford, Willowford, and Willerford.

Will and wife Zilla had ten children: (1) Elizabeth born 1830; (2) Matilda born 1831; (3) Jacob born 1835, died 1911 in Copeville, Collin Co., TX, married to Mary Ragsdale, known child was Thomas; (4) Abijah (Bidge) born 1837, married to Anna Shropshire, known children, Nancy and Robert; (5) Margaret born 1839; (6) Claborn born 1843, married Mary K. Shropshire; (7) Thomas born 1845, married in Overton Co. to Harriet Copeland, known child Ras Lee; (8) William Anderson born 1848, married in Overland Co. to LeAnn Poston, known children (a) Ida, married Fletcher Stockton, (b) Oda, married Edwin Freeman, (c) Lou Ada, married Joe Bilbray, (d) Thomas Walker, married May Stockton, (e) Joseph Taylor, married Mary Tina McCormick, (f) William Jasper, (g) Verna, married Earnest Stockton; (9) Mary born 1851; (10) B. Franklin born 1852 (called Frank), married in Overton Co. to Nancy Copeland.

B. Frank and his wife lived six miles east of Livingston, TN, where their only child, William Madison, my grandfather, was born in 1872, and died in 1954. In 1884, this family left in the middle of the night for Collin Co., Texas.

William Madison first married in 1897 to Bulah Daugherty. They were divorced in the early 1900's. Their son Alvin was born in 1897. After the divorce, William Madison never saw his son again. In 1910 Alvin was living in Tulsa, Oklahoma with a lady who was not his mother. About 1903 William married Mary Ann Williams, born 1884 in Bonham, Texas, and died in 1960. She was the daughter of John and Unettie Barnhill Williams. Both William and Mary are buried in Bristow, OK. They had two sons, Norman Ray and Willie Edgar.

Norman Ray, born in 1904, died in 1929, and is buried in Maud, OK. He married Helen Edge. They had two daughters: (a) Jimmie Lavon, born 1926, married Paul Braziel. Their children are Claud Paul and Carol Louise. They were divorced, and Jimmie married Truman Kilbourne. They reside in Michigan and Jimmie is a Magistrate. (b) Jackie Yvonne, born 1928 in Bristow, OK. She first married Donald James Harmon of Seattle, WA and had four children: Donald James, Sharon Sue, Robert Zachery Frank, and Catherine Ann. Jackie's second marriage (divorced) was to Ed Burns, and they had one daughter, Nancy Lynn. Jackie is retired from the telephone company and lives near Seattle, WA.

Willie Edgar "Bill" was born November 5, 1910 in Ft. Towson, OK and he died August 1, 1969 in Fresno, California. He married Monnie Bell Lynn, born November 21, 1912 in Paris, TX and died in February 1977 in San Jose, CA. Both are buried in Lemoore Cemetery, Lemoore, Kings Co., CA. Her parents were Ellen Katherine Earnest and James David Lynn. Monnie and Bill lived in Bristow, OK until 1946 when they moved to Selma, CA. They returned to OK in 1949. After the death of Bill's parents, they moved back to CA.

They had two children, Norma Jo and William Madison.

Norma Jo Willeford, born on March 9, 1931 in Bristow, OK, married in 1949 to Kenneth Norred, born in 1928 in San Jose, CA. His parents were Daisy Amanda Glaze and Cecil B. Norred. Amanda's ancestors were from Washington Co., TN. Norma is retired from the Bank of America. They have an almond ranch in Delphi, CA.

William Madison Willeford was born October 7, 1939 in Bristow, OK. His first wife was Melba Fuller. Their three daughters are: Connie Sue, born in 1960, married David Smeds; Mary Alice, born 1961; and Jamie Willene, born 1962.

William is retired from the Reedley, CA Police Department. His second wife is Susan, and they have no children.

Sources:

Bible records.

Birth records.

Census records.

Marriage records.

Personal knowledge.

Submitted by:

*Norma Norred
P.O. Box 994
Delphi, CA 95315*

Daisy Jane (PAYNE) WILLIAMS

Daisy Jane Payne Williams was born April 17, 1883 in Rogersville, Tennessee in a log cabin built by her father, James Madison Payne. When she was a child, the Civil War was recent memory, and the 40-hour work week and automobiles were futuristic dreams. This is her story as told to her grandchildren.

"We lived in the house that my daddy built. It had a big room with a wood stove and a big fireplace. My brothers John, Mack, James, and George would take turns chopping wood. The house had a loft with five beds which were curtained off. Daddy owned a sawmill and he used the wood from our land to build the house. It was cedar and pine and always smelled good. He later added two big rooms on the front. It was beautiful. We lived near a stream with cold water where we kept the milk cold. I churned the cream into butter. It was also my chore to feed the cows while mother milked. One day, my brother dared me to ride a cow when we put them away. I did and bumped my head. Of course I got spanked.

My daddy raised everything we ate. All the meat and vegetables and the grains. Once a week he would load up the wagon with food and take it to town and give it to the poor people. He would not take pay. He was a good man. He said never be greedy and always share what you have.

We only had school about three months a year, and had to walk five miles. Once in a while we would ride the horses, but Daddy never would let us race with the other kids. I loved the horses, they were very gentle.

We went to church twice on Sundays and prayer meetings on Wednesday. All of my family were musical and had good voices. We sang at church and sometimes had friends over to sing. My uncles sang for Woodrow Wilson when he came to Rogersville.

I learned to sew when I was seven and being the oldest girl, I had to sew for the family. I made the mens drawers from mulsin. The dresses were four gourd skirts with big sleeve blouses called mother hubbards. The material cost ten and fifteen cents a yard.

My grandmother, Leatha Russell, lived in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. We were yankees and she had a cave where she hid food and horses from the rebels. My granddaddy, Franklin Russell, was killed in the Civil War and my other granddaddy Payne was a sharp shooter in the war.

I met, and married Daniel James Williams from Gate City, VA on December 7, 1902. After we married, we moved to Eastern Washington and opened a grocery store. That was the first of many moves and many stores that we made. I also worked as a practical nurse and delivered hundreds of babies, even one of my grandchildren.

When we moved to Los Angeles we managed apartments. That's when the Long Beach earthquake of 1933 hit and the whole side of the building collapsed and pinned Don behind a door. I ran outside and bricks were falling everywhere.

When we retired, we moved to Pomona and raised chickens. It was there that Dan died in 1950. A few years later I moved to Las Vegas, Nevada to be near my daughters. I love Las Vegas because I love to play the slots and bingo. I met the governor of Nevada and he declared a Daisy Williams day on my 100th birthday. I got a plaque and roses."

At the time of Grandmother's death in 1989, she was 2 months short of being 106 years old. From her seven children, she had 15 grandchildren, 42 great grandchildren, 52 great, greats and a great, great, great grandchild, making her one of only six known people with six living generations. Our family has grown even more and we miss Grandmother. She was an inspiration to everyone.

Related Stories:

James Madison and Allie Jane (Russell) Payne.

Payne-Whitson.

Submitted by:

*Joan Carter
12238 Kingsford Court
El Cajon, CA 92021-1606*

The Henderson WILLIAMS Family

William Henderson Williams was born in 1807 and died in 1896, and his wife Abigail Canton was born in 1817 and died in 1881. My cousin said they came from North Carolina in a covered wagon, and they had the Milk Cow hitched behind the wagon.

They settled near the foot of Stone Mountain on Clouds Creek, above the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church. He and Abigail and six of their children were charter members of this Church. Their children were: Mary Elizabeth, Annis (my grandmother), Amanda, Cornelia, William, Robert, James, Eli, and Sarah.

My grandparents, Annis Williams and Joseph Dairty Brooks, were married on Christmas day in 1878. They had nine children: Eliza, Albert, Joseph Anthony, Laura, Amanda, Fred, Nora, Maude, and Andrew.

Annis died at a young age. Grand-Pa Joe took the children and lived with his brother, Hugh and his mother, who was sick. Grand-mother Annis had died in September and Grandfather Joseph's father had died in December of that same year, 1894. My mother, Amanda and her sister Laura, helped to care for their grandmother until her death in 1899. They also helped with the housework even tho they were very young.

After the grandmother's death, the home was owned by Hugh, and he and Grandpa Joe lived there after his children were grown and moved away. My mother, Amanda married Mark Kenner in 1901. They owned the farm after Hugh's death in 1920 and Joe's in 1923. They had five children and raised two of her sister, Maude's children, after her death.

The children of Mark and Amanda (Brooks) Kenner were: Herschel, Ernest, Mintie, Kelsie, Guy Brooks, Helen Brooks, and Eula.

Herschel Kenner married Anna Belle Brooks, and they had five children: Ellen, Bobbie Ruth, H.D., Catherine, and Jerry.

Ernest Kenner married Ethel Davis, and they had four children: Coy, Betty, Ruby, and Ray.

Mintie Kenner married Drew Harrell, and their children were: G.M., Fred, Virgil, Norma, Kenneth, Troy, and Thelma.

Kelsie Kenner married 1st to Verna Lee, and they divorced. Their children were Jimmy Ray, Randall, and Jean. Kelsie married 2nd to Georgia Klepper, and their children were: David, Jerry, Odessa, Marcella, Janie, Paula, and Andy.

Guy Brooks Kenner married Delois Wilder, and their children were: Carolyn, Nancy, Ronnie, and Timmie.

Helen Brooks Kenner married Earl Carpenter, and they had a daughter Linda.

Eula Kenner married James Winegar, and they have two sons, David Mark and Daniel George.

Sources:

Bernice Carpenter Williams.

Our Family Bible.

Submitted by:

Eula K. Winegar
Route 2, Box 118-A
Clinchport, VA 24244

Iredell C. WILLIS

Iredell Campbell Willis was born ca. 1842 in Hawkins County, Tennessee to James Larkin and Sarah "Sally" (Stapleton) Willis. He married his first wife, Susan Lawson, in Hawkins Co. on 20 May 1859. They were married by Stephen Delph, M.G. George W. Lawson was security. Susan was born ca. 1835.

Iredell C. Willis enlisted in "D" Company, 5th Battalion (McClellan's) Tennessee Cavalry at Knoxville on 21 October 1861. This was a Confederate unit consisting of men from Hancock and Hawkins Counties. It was later known as "C" Company, 2nd Ashby's Tennessee Cavalry. Iredell is listed on 7 June 1862, at age 23, as deserting.

Chancery Court, Hawkins Co., Suit #123, shows Susan sued Iredell for divorce on 21 November 1865. The divorce, on grounds of adultery, was granted 29 November 1865 (p. 252).

Iredell C. Willis married his second wife, Julia Wolfe* 4 December 1865 in Hawkins Co. They were married by I. Brown, M.G., and J.C. Williams was Security. Julia was born ca. 1848 to George and Sarena B. (McCauley) Wolfe. Iredell and Julia had two children, Mary E. and James.

Mary E. Willis was born ca. 1866. She married William Bloomer the first time. William and Mary had three sons: Clarence Henderson Bloomer, Bloomer, and Bloomer. Mary E. (Willis) Bloomer was married a second time to John Wolfe.

James Willis was born ca. 1868.

Iredell C. Willis is known to have killed the infamous desperado William O. "Wild Bill" Sizemore in Rogersville, near the Masonic Hall, on 11 October 1867. They were distant cousins and had even ridden together while members of the Confederate unit formed at Knoxville, TN.

In later years Iredell was known to have been associated with Bill's marauding band of men, a gang member on occasion. An unknown problem arose between the two men. Witness a Hawkins Co. Circuit Court Suit, dated 1 February 1866, Iredell C. Willis vs. William O. Sizemore (record p. 613).

Bill and his recruits went looking for Iredell and brother, Lafayette, one evening hoping for a confrontation. A granddaughter of James M.D. Willis told the story that Bill Sizemore went to the home of Iredell's mother, Sally (Stapleton) Willis. When Sally wouldn't divulge Iredell's and Lafayette's whereabouts, Bill proceeded to subject Sally to a beating, trying to force her to talk. It is said that because of this beating, Sally became bedridden for quite some time. Later, on 19 August 1867, she died in Hawkins Co from her injuries.

It is believed that because of his mother's death that perhaps Iredell felt that he had a score to settle. There have been stories that certain persons "hired" him, prodded him on to do what he did on that fateful day in Rogersville on 11 October 1867. Who will ever know precisely why? But Iredell did do it.

An article appearing in the ROGERSVILLE HERALD, dated 3 February 1892 regarding the murder trial for James Sizemore, the son of William O. Sizemore, recalls "... Ira Willis, one of Bill's old war lieutenants came along and called Bill to come to him from a crowd in front of the courthouse. He said, 'Bill, you seem to be running the town about as you please.' Bill replied that none dared to interfere. Willis then said he guessed this sort of business had gone far enough and that he had made up his mind to stop it himself and at the same time pulled down on Sizemore, shooting him squarely in the forehead. Bill fell forward and turned over on his back, his head next to the fence between them.

Willis leaned over the fence and shot him again exactly through the same hole, although the ball made two holes in the back of his head."

The article goes on to say Willis himself was waylaid afterwards by a man named BURTON.

Charles W. Lawson, the late Hawkins Co. historian, stated that after Iredell C. Willis had shot Sizemore, a citizen of the town of Rogersville, a Mr. Rogan, turned his hogs loose on the body. It is an understatement to say Sizemore was not liked by many people in and around the Hawkins- Hancock Co. area.

A Hawkins Co. Circuit Court record, dated 5 June 1868, shows the suit between Iredell C. Willis and William O. Sizemore was revived in the name of Powel Robinson, Administrator of William O. Sizemore, dec'd.

In the 1870 Hawkins Co. Census, Iredell's first wife, Susan Lawson, is living in the household of Lafayette Willis and his wife. Iredell's second wife, Julia (Wolfe) Willis, is living in the household of J.W. and Sarena Collins at Lee Valley. The "Sarena" shown, may be Julia's mother. Mary and James, Iredell's two children, are with her.

Before Iredell's death on 11 October 1867 at Rogersville, he is believed to have had a son born out-of-wedlock with Sarah "Sally" (Manis) Lawson, the widow of Palestine Lawson. This son was named Rufas and brought up in the family of William and Eliza (Frazier) Lawson. He later went by the name Rufas Lawson.

Sarah "Sally" (Manis) Lawson was the daughter of Arthur L. and Analiza (Berry) Manis.

* - Julia (Wolfe) Willis' brother was Captain John J. Wolfe, of B Company, 1st Regiment of Tennessee Cavalry, Rogersville. This was a Union regiment.

Related Stories:

Rufas Lawson (1865-1920)

James Larkin Willis

Submitted by:

*Ben Lawson
2812 East 16th St.
Columbus, IN 47201*

James Larkin WILLIS

James Larkin Willis was born on 20 May, 1800 in Hawkins Co., Tennessee, to Larkin and Mary (Reece) Willis. (Larkin Willis first appeared in the Hawkins Co. Deed Books in 1804, Deed Book 4, p. 142). James Willis married first to Mary Ellen Wilson ca. 1820. Mary was born 20 May 1801. James and Mary had four children, Larkin W., Wilson W., Martha, and Elizabeth.

Larkin W. Willis was born ca. 1820 in TN. He married Elizabeth Moneyhun ca. 1842. Elizabeth was born ca. 1813. Larkin W. Willis died ca. 1868-1873 in Hancock Co., TN.

Wilson W. Willis was born 5 September 1821 in Hawkins Co. Wilson married Nancy Mitchell on 17 May 1848. Nancy was born 18 November 1823. Nancy Willis died 21 January 1876. Wilson died 11 May 1903 in Hawkins Co. He is buried in the Jones Cemetery, Hawkins Co.

Martha "Patsy" Willis was born ca. 1824 in Hawkins Co. Patsy married Jesse D. Berry in Hawkins Co. in May 1839. Jesse was born on 28 December 1819. He died ca. 1864 in Hancock Co.

Elizabeth Willis was born 24 September 1825 in Hawkins Co., and died 12 May 1878. Elizabeth married ca. 1845 to Nicholas M. Moneyhun. Nicholas was born on 1 September 1823 and died on 19 June 1890. Elizabeth and Nicholas are both buried in Moneyhun Cemetery, Hawkins Co.

James Willis' 1st wife Mary Wilson, died 21 September 1826. He married his 2nd wife before November 1828, in Hawkins Co., Sarah "Sally" Stapleton. Sally was born on 10 August 1811 to William and Elizabeth (Sizemore) Stapleton. Sally's mother was a daughter of old Owen Sizemore. James and Sally Willis are said to have had eleven children: Mary Ann, Annis R., James Madison Dalton, Somerville Richards, William, Iredell Campbell, Marquis de Lafayette, Perry C., Samuel H., Penelope E.R., and Tivis R.

Mary Ann Willis was born 27 November 1830 in Hawkins Co. at Lee Valley. On 23 April 1843 she married Iredell Campbell Brown, and Absolom A. Kyle was security. Iredell C. Brown was born 27 July 1817 in Hawkins Co. to Thomas East and Sarah (Sizemore) Brown. (Sarah, wife of Thomas E. Brown, was a daughter of old Owen Sizemore).

Mary Ann (Willis) Brown died at "High Oaks" in Hamblen Co., TN on 21 June 1887. Iredell C. Brown died on 30 December 1898 in Hawkins Co.

Annis R. Willis was born ca. 1832 in TN. Annis married after 1850 to Robert Baldwin. Robert was born ca. 1821. Annis died before November 1859.

James Madison "Matt" Dalton Willis was born ca. 1834 in TN. James married ca. 1856 to Mary Elouise Wells. Mary was born ca. 1835.

He served in G Company, 8th Regiment of Tennessee Infantry Volunteers, Rogersville, TN. This was a Union Regiment, and he was a Captain.

James M.D. Willis married secondly to Miss (Jane) Elizabeth Rhea.

Somerville Richards Willis was born ca. 1837 in TN. Somerville married after 1850 to Dr. Henry K. Legg. They moved and were living in Joplin, Cole Co., Missouri in 1873.

William Willis was born ca. 1840 in TN and died ca. 1850-1859 of typhoid. He was unmarried.

Iredell Campbell Willis was born ca. 1842 in TN. Iredell was married first to Susan Lawson in Hawkins Co. on 20 May 1859. They were married by Stephen Delph, M.G. Security was George W. Lawson. Susan was born ca. 1835. Iredell and Susan were divorced 29 November 1865 in Hawkins Co.

He married his second wife, Julia Wolfe, on 4 December 1865 in Hawkins Co. They were married by I. Brown, M.G. Security was J.C. Williams. Julia was born ca. 1848, the daughter of George and Sarena B. (McCauley) Wolfe.

Iredell C. Willis was killed on 11 October 1867 by a man named Burton, after shooting the notorious William O. Sizemore.

Marquis de Lafayette Willis was born ca. 1845 in TN. Lafayette married Julia Ann Steele on 25 August 1867 in Hawkins Co. Julia was born ca. 1836, the daughter of Rev. Reuben and Elizabeth (Newberry) Steele. Julia was first married to Martin Anderson.

Perry C. Willis was born ca. 1847 in TN. Perry married Nancy, born ca. 1844.

Samuel H. Willis was born ca 1849-1850 in Hawkins Co. He may have died before 1870.

Penelope E.R. Willis was born in 18 in TN. She may have possibly been a twin. She died ca. 1860-1873.

Tivis R. Willis was born ca. 1852 in TN.

Tivis married Rhoda (Anderson) Presley in Hawkins Co. on 2 November 1869. Rhoda was born ca. 1845.

James Willis served as a private in Captain Joseph Williams' Company, Lieutenant Colonel Robert H. Dyer's Regiment of Mounted Gunmen, in the Seminole Wars.

James Willis died intestate 6 October 1858 in Hawkins Co. In a letter from Richard Mitchell to his brother Lewis Mitchell, of Sneedville, TN, dated 21 October 1858, it states: "... I will here mention the death of our old esteemed friend, James Willis. He was driving a wagon coming down Johns lane from home, his horses were going very fast and he caught the nibbler and was bearing back when he slipped and fell in before the wheel and it rolled over mashing his leg then passing inside his knees and passed through his crotch mashing his pubis or bason bone, he lived about a week and took the lock jaw and died leaving his worldly concerns in an awful fix, leaving but little property and great many debts, old Larkin is yet alive and quiet pert..."

A note from friend James Lawson of Chuckey, TN, near Greeneville, says that James and father, Larkin Willis, were said to have been buried at Bethesda Cemetery in Hamblen Co., TN. This is near Morristown. He could not find them there and says they may have been moved when Cherokee Lake was filled.

Related Stories:

Thomas East Brown.

Iredell C. Willis

Submitted by:

*Ben Lawson
2812 East 16th Street
Columbus, IN 47201*

William D. WILSON

William D. "Bill" Wilson, son of William and Jenny (Maxwell) Wilson, was born February 8, 1828 in Wythe County, Virginia. He was a farmer, miller, and shoemaker. William Wilson served for one year in the 36th Virginia Infantry (Confederate), and was finally discharged because of "repetitive attacks of rheumatism".

He married first Susan Williams on September 5, 1849 in Smyth Co., VA, and second Jemima H. "Mimy" McFarland on January 14, 1860 in Tazewell Co., VA. William D. Wilson and his second wife and their younger children moved to Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee in about 1888.

William D. Wilson died April 3, 1910. Jemima (McFarland) Wilson died May 31, 1900. They are buried near the Holston River on the Robinette Farm on Flora Ferry Road near Rogersville.

The children of William and Susan (Williams) Wilson were: David Harper Wilson, born July 3, 1850, and went to California; Loudema Wilson, born August 13, 1852; Charles C. Wilson (October 6, 1853-August 25, 1908); Jesse Levi Fillmore Wilson, born January 29, 1859.

The children of William and Jemima (McFarland) Wilson were: John S. Wilson, born July 13, 1863, married Lillie Ferrell in Rogersville in 1889, and lived in Knoxville; Kisier V. "Aunt Kizzy" Wilson, born March 28, 1865, married 1st Joseph Tibbs in Bland Co., VA, married 2nd Joseph A. Owens in Rogersville, and married 3rd Clem T. Stewart, died April 5, 1939, and she had no children; James W. Wilson, born December 26, 1867, married Florence Luttrell, and lived in Bristol, VA; Henry J. Wilson, born March 10, 1870, married Ida Russell in 1889 in Rogersville, and lived in Harlan, Kentucky; Isaac Newton Wilson, born June 21, 1874, and married Alice Johnston; and George Rudy Wilson, born March 10, 1877, married Nancy E. Armstrong in Rogersville, lived in Rogersville, and died in 1948.

James W. Wilson, son of William and Jemima (McFarland) Wilson, was born December 26, 1867 in Burkes Garden, Virginia. He married Florence Luttrell and lived in Bristol, VA.

James and Florence had the following children: Lena Wilson, married William "Willie" Hodge; Carrie Wilson, married Chris Guister; Isaac Newton Wilson; Mary Beatrice Wilson (24 February 1912-17 May 1979), married Roy Carmody; William Wilson, married Grace Chambers; Vicky Wilson, married Earnest Leonard; Anna May Wilson, married George Heneagar; Evans Wilson; and Elizabeth Wilson, married Paul Wilson.

Isaac Newton "Newt" Wilson, son of William and Jemima (McFarland) Wilson, was born 21 June 1874 in Burkes Garden, VA. He moved to Rogersville, TN in the 1880's with his family and later married Alice Johnston, born on 21 September 1879, daughter of Harvey V. and Malinda (Woods) Johnston, 19 June 1898. Newt Wilson died 13 May 1954. Alice Wilson died 10 January 1940.

Newt and Alice's children were: Mabel M. Wilson, born 31 March 1899, and married Rupert Hester; Mary Frances Wilson, born 11 October 1900, married Hack Bledsoe; Ruth Wilson, born 30 September 1902, married Lee Burdine; Lucy J. Wilson, born 2 August 1904, married Ray Carmack; Albert Lyon Wilson, born 7 April 1906, married Ethel Cates; Isaac Clinton Wilson, born 21 September 1908, married Maxie Cinnamon; Maude Ethel Wilson, born 28 June 1912, married 1st Lewis Jenkins, and 2nd Wayman Hurd; Alice Mae Wilson, born 2 May 1916, married Howard Price; William Henry Wilson (2 May 1916-5 April 1931); and Martha Virginia Wilson (17 October 1919-14 June 1937).

George Rudy Wilson, son of William and Jemima (McFarland) Wilson, was born 10 March 1877 in Burkes Garden, VA. He married Nancy Ellen Armstrong in Rogersville 4 April 1896. She was born in 1871 and died in 1965. George Wilson died in 1948.

George and Nancy's children were: Jemima Louise Wilson, married 1st Milton Hungerford, and 2nd George Beckler; Eldridge Wilson, died young; Nettie Lee Wilson, married Gus Ferrell; Bessie Mae Wilson, died young; Christine Wilson, married Ed Boyd.

Related Stories:

Gale C. Jenkins Family.

John C. Johnston.

Sources:

Pioneers of the Bluegrass, by Gose.

History of Bland Co., VA.

Family History.

Submitted by:

I. N. Wilson Family

*c/o Bill Jenkins
Route 3
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Andrew WINEGAR (WINEINGER) etc.

Andrew Winegar (Wineinger) was born ca. 1740 in Germany or Pennsylvania. He died 30 March 1832 in Hawkins County, Tennessee and is buried in an unmarked grave in the Andrew Winegar Cemetery in Hawkins County. He married ca. 1760, probably in Berks County, PA to Catharine Dunkelberg, born ca. 1740 in Berks Co., PA. She died ca. 1836 in Hawkins Co. She was the daughter of Clemons Dunkelberg, born 1705 in Solingen, Germany. He made his will on 12 February 1776 in Berks Co., PA. His wife was Anna Maria Hauer (Hower), born ca. 1720 in Germany and died after 1801, probably in Berks Co., PA.

Andrew Winegar, Sr. made a will in 1810 as he had typhoid and thought he was going to die. Children named in the will were: Peter that married Julia Ann Slusher, Frederick that married Eva Seek, Philip that married Margaret (Peggy) Seek, Andrew Jr., William that married Mary Engleman. No other children were named.

Peter, born 15 September 1782 in Virginia or Pennsylvania, died on 26 May 1832 (cemetery record), buried in Scott County, Virginia, Opossum Creek Cemetery. Peter married Julia Ann Slusher, born 20 August 1780 in Virginia or Tennessee. She died on 30 July 1864 (cemetery record), and is buried in the Opossum Creek Cemetery.

Peter and Julia Ann were the parents of Philip, born 10 October 1804 in Hawkins Co., TN. Philip married (1) ca. 1825 to Mary Ann Wineinger, daughter of George Washington Wineinger, Sr. and Margery Pace Wineinger.

Philip died 25 December 1899 and is buried in the Winegar Cemetery on a hill above Piney Grove Church, and has no marker. He was quite active in the Baptist Church.

Mary Ann (Polly), born ca. 1810, died ca. 1840 after the birth of her seventh child. Their children were: Catharine, married Henry Falen, lived Hope, Kansas; Peter, born 16 October 1828 in Hawkins County, married on 30 August 1848 in Hawkins County to Elizabeth Derrick, daughter of Marvel Derrick, Sr. and Nancy Anderson Derrick. Nancy is thought to be a daughter of David and Elizabeth Hardy Anderson or a daughter-in-law. They were of Hawkins Co., TN.

Other children of Philip and Mary Ann Wineinger Wineinger were: Margery Wineinger, married Isaac Jones; Julia Wineinger, married Andrew Derrick, a brother to Elizabeth Derrick Wineinger; Rebecca Wineinger, married William Case; Phoebe Wineinger, married (1) Joseph Pannell; and George Wineinger, born ca. 1839, no further record.

Philip married (2) to Matilda Collins after the death of his first wife Mary Ann (Polly). He married (3) to Catharine Myers Bean, the widow of Mordaci Bean, also of Hawkins Co.

Related Stories:

The David Anderson Family.

The Marvel Derrick, Sr. Family.

Catherine (Wineinger)'s Story.

George Washington Wineinger, Sr.

References:

Wayne Neel, 8317 Kalanchoe, Broken Arrow, OK, 74081. He is a descendant of Peter Wineinger and second wife Mary Etta Case.

Edgar Ellis (deceased), who copied from the Family Bible in the 1940's, 240 Ellis Lane, Mt. Carmel, TN 37645.

Bob Teasdale, Derrick Book, 1214 Calle Zagalne, Albuquerque, NM 87111.

Shirley Turner, Dunkelburger Book, 2635 North Summit Dr., Tucson, AZ 85785.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. W. R. Wineinger
Rte. 1, Box 39 A
Haddam, KS 66944-9801*

Catherine (WINEINGER)'s Story

If I were able, from my grave in which I was placed five generations ago, to speak to my granddaughter who searched so hard to find me, I would say that I am very glad you did... How I wanted to help you at the beginning of your search!

My name is Catherine Wineinger. I was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee or Scott County, Virginia, (there was no actual line) but my father Lewis Wineinger was born in Hawkins Co. for sure, in 1809. He grew up there and lived with my grandparents, John Alexander and Catherine Huffman Wineinger, who were grandpa's second wife. They had a farm, nestled in a valley between those high mountains that steered the snow away, making the weather kinder in the winter.

Papa Lewis teased me, said I came real close to not being born!! The story goes that Grampa John had worked the farm for a generation 'til Papa was grown up and the land was almost worn out when news came from other Wineingers and Paces that land in French Lick, Indiana was open, they decided to leave, giving power of attorney to neighbors to sell their farm.

Wineingers and Paces had intermarried and migrated together. My grandparents, on my mother's side were Edward and Rebecca Wineinger Pace (John Alexander's sister) who lived close by. They had a daughter, a beautiful girl named Cynthia, who saw Lewis and his family often. It was a difficult move for Lewis, for he was too young to have a place of his own, his parents needed him, and he had to leave cousin Cynthia Pace behind. She was sixteen and had some growing up to do. But they liked to tell the story about how he couldn't get "Synthy" off his mind. In a few years he returned to her, they fell in love, and were married in 1830. I was their first baby, born in 1831, named for Grandmother Catherine. You see if Papa hadn't returned I wouldn't have been born.

We stayed there until I was about a year old, when we heard (I don't remember it of course) that Grampa John Alexander Wineinger had died and Papa took Mama and me to Indiana. It was a place that had natural springs and Potaka Lake. The land must have been better, but there were no mountains which Mama must have missed.

We lived there until I was about twelve, Susanna was the baby, after the twins were born, making six children we moved to Missouri. I had to help with the chores and the younger children. Missouri was different, the hills looked like bread dough rising from odd shaped pans, our farm was only six miles from the Linn County seat and the town of Brookfield where the railroad came through was a few miles south.

I was so hard to find because I was married in 1849, so I was not a Wineinger in the 1850 census (when women were named) but was hidden away on a half written page in the marriage records as Miss Catherine Wineinger and Daniel Evans' marriage date, and on the same sheet was the recording; Mrs. Daniel Evans and Benjimen Hause married in 1857 (You found it!) I thought all marriages were happy like my parents; people said Papa spoiled Mama. I didn't stay with Daniel very long.

Benjimen Hause and I lived close to my parents. Benjimen was a farmer from Maryland. We had our three girls, Anne E. who changed her name to Melissa; Mary (she liked her name), and Martha who changed her name to Cynthia after my mother. Poor baby Cynthia fell from the porch swing, and her little back was humped for the rest of her life, so crooked, she wouldn't fit in a coffin when she died. I didn't live to see it.

I was in the 1870 census with the three girls. Benjimen was gone. I was a widow, and Mama had been gone for 11 years. We helped each other, she had the six children (another pair of twins) to raise, worked a farm, bought and sold goods, but couldn't write her name on her will. We saw my brother Riley die in the War Between the States, Merlinda my younger sister who was pretty as Mama, died in childbirth and several others too, I don't know how she could stand it. But she was strong, she died driving her horse and buggy on the road to Linneus in 1887.

Our pioneer blood was carried from eastern Virginia (James River) clear across the states to the west coast and now my descendants are retracing the paths we took, helping us to live again...nice...

Additional information: Since this story was written, the author went to Missouri again and found 2 land transactions. Catherine Evans had bought 2 city lots in Oregon, Holt Co., MO in August 1853, registering them in December 1853. She sold them in 1855. It was done in her name, which was most unusual for a time when men handled business dealings for women.

She must have been pregnant with grandmother Melissa, who, in later records, was found to have been born in 1854 in Missouri.

Related Stories:

Melissa Hause Hauaise.

Andrew Winegar (Wineinger) etc.

George Washington Wineinger, Sr.

Sources:

Linn Co. Courthouse.

Obituary in Brookfield newspaper.

Letters from family members.

Word of mouth from descendants.

Submitted by:

*Donna Crithfield Thomassen
HCO 3, Box 75
Dripping Springs, TX 78620*

George Washington WINEINGER, Sr.

George Washington Wineinger, Sr., a veteran of the War of 1812, was born April 9, 1786, probably in Rockbridge County, Virginia. His father was John Winegar (Wineinger), who served in the Revolutionary War from Augusta Co., VA, and his mother was Catharine Huffman, daughter of Jacob. She was the second wife of John, Sr.

George Washington Wineinger, Sr. was married to Margery Pace, daughter of William Pace, Sr., in 1807. George died December 12, 1848 from being kicked by a horse. He is buried with his wife in the Pace-Robinson Cemetery in Dubois County, Indiana.

George Washington Wineinger, Sr. came from Hawkins County, TN to Dubois Co. in 1836. Four whole brothers (Henry, Isaac, Alexander, and Lewis) and two half brothers (William and John) came with him to Indiana.

George W., Sr. and Margery Pace Wineinger had eleven children, five sons and six daughters. They were: John A., who married Catharine Wineinger, daughter of Peter and Julia Ann Slusher Wineinger of Scott Co., VA; William; George, Jr.; Samuel; Jesse; Mary Ann (Polly) married Philip Wineinger, son of Peter and Julia Ann Slusher Wineinger of Scott Co., VA; Rebecca; Susan; Catharine; and Julia Ann, who married David Milburn in 1843.

Mary Ann (Polly) and Philip did not go with the rest of the Wineingers to Indiana, but stayed in Hawkins Co. Mary Ann died after the birth of her seventh child about 1840.

John and Catharine, the parents of George Washington Wineinger, Sr. went to Indiana prior to 1836 with the youngest son, Lewis. They settled in Columbia township, Dubois Co., IN. John died about 1836, and he and his wife, Catharine, are said to be buried in unmarked graves in Cane Creek Cemetery, Jackson township, Orange Co., IN. I believe it is near French Lick, IN and that a Christian Church is either near or in the cemetery. (AMW)

Related Stories:

Andrew Winegar (Wineinger), etc.

Catherine (Wineinger)'s Story.

References:

Letter dated January 13, 1975 from William H. Wineinger, 529 East Lawndale, Peoria, IL. He is descended from George and Margery Pace Wineinger's son John A. and wife Catharine. He also has Wineinger history in the Jasper, IN Library, also the IN State Library, and has a newspaper article on the Wineingers from Jasper Herald written by George Milburn in the 1930's.

Also see DAR #339539, Sue Pace Hicks, #739439, Faye Wineinger Homolka Rizek, #691869, Ida May Wineinger Burney.

Submitted by:

*Mrs. W. R. Wineinger
Rte. 1, Box 39 A
Haddam, KS 66944-9801*

Holmes Warren WINFREY

Holmes Warren Winfrey was born in 1820 near Winston-Salem, N.C. Information passed down thru the family, tells of a disagreement with his stepmother, and Holmes left home and started west towards Nashville, TN. Reaching Rogersville, TN, he stopped to help build a barn for William Kyle, father of Judge Hugh Kyle, and there met and married Lucinda Elkins, daughter of Shaner Elkins about 1841. He went no further west. Holmes Warren died in 1886 and is buried in the McCarty Cemetery. Lucinda was born in 1820, died in 1873, and is buried in the McCarty Cemetery. The children of Holmes and Lucinda are:

James Hardin Winfrey, born October 1841, a carpenter by trade, married Ida Penelope Jones, born 14 February 1835, died 12 October 1890, and is buried in the Old Presbyterian Church Cemetery on Washington Street. James and Ida gave a parcel of ground situated in the town of Rogersville and on the street with the County Jail (Washington St.) for the purpose of building a church. Being members of the Missionary Baptist Church, they were desirous of establishing a Baptist Church in the town of Rogersville (Hawkins County Deed Book 38, page 59, dated 1 April 1891, size of lot 75' x 42' x 75' x 42').

Barsha Winfrey, born November 1844, married John J. Johnson.

Sallie Kate Winfrey, born 5 December 1847, died 15 December 1895, married John Mabin Haynes on 31 March 1867. John was born 2 March 1843 and died 9 April 1900. Both are buried in the McCarty Cemetery.

John Johnson Winfrey, born in 1849, married Mary Braxton. Mary was born in 1842.

William L. Winfrey, born 25 August 1857, died 26 February 1914, married (1) Susan Brewer on 28 September 1873. Susan was born in 1851, and died 12 September 1883. Susan is buried in the Shanks Cemetery in Choptack. William married (2) on 2 April 1884 to Emma Webb, daughter of Elijah and Mary Brooks Webb. Emma was born 12 March 1868, and died 19 November 1933. William and Emma are buried in the Lynn-Hurst Cemetery in Knoxville, TN. William was a Baptist Minister for many years and was the first pastor of the First Baptist Church in Rogersville in 1890.

Hal Gillespie Winfrey, born in 1863, married on 12 July 1882 to Annie Fawbush.

Sidney Winfrey, born ca. 1864, and died in August 1884. She never married, and is buried in the McCarty Cemetery.

Related Stories:

Nicholas Haynes.

Theodoric Webb.

Rev. William L. Winfrey.

Submitted by:

*Gladys Alvis
Rogersville, TN*

Rev. William L. WINFREY

Rev. William L. Winfrey, born on 25 August 1857, died 26 February 1914, married (1) Susan Brewer 28 September 1873 in Hawkins County, Tn. by John J. Carroll, minister; and married (2) Emma Webb 2 April 1884 in Hawkins Co. by S. P. Henard, J. P.

William and Susan had three children: William L., Jr.; Grace; and Penelope Winfrey.

Penelope married Thomas William Helton on 7 October 1889 in Hawkins Co. by James Nugent. Penelope was born 30 June 1874, and died in May 1909. William was born 12 October 1868 and died January 1950. Both died and are buried in Bloomington, IL.

Their children were: Bertha Helton, born 1 May 1892 in Hawkins Co., died July 1953, and married Condon; Aleta Helton, born 11 December 1894 in Hawkins Co., died 7 October 1982 in Bloomington, IL, married (1) Hamblen, (2) Herman Perschall; Grace Helton, born 29 July 1898 in Hawkins Co., and married Fred Piest; Lucille Helton, born 14 September 1901, died May 1930, never married; Edna Helton, born 22 May 1904, married Vanderwort.

William and Emma had seven children: Mary, A.E., Lucinda, Murrill, Warren, Herman, and Harry Lee Winfrey.

Related story:

Holmes Warren Winfrey

Submitted by:

*Gladys Alvis
Rogersville, TN*

Amos Jackson WINSTEAD

Amos Jackson Winstead was born near Lee Valley in Hawkins County April 10, 1859. He was the next to the youngest child of John and Fanny Lawson Winstead. Family tradition notes young Amos left home in the company of a brother and went west with a wagon train. There is nothing to support this, but we do know he lived in Kentucky where, sometime around 1881, he met and married Margaret Ellen Laurent, daughter of Joseph and Hannah Knapp Laurent.

Shortly after Amos' first child Fanny Lea was born January 15, 1883, near Louisville, Kentucky, he decided to move to Illinois. He settled in Morgan County near Alexander, working as a farm laborer. There his daughter Josephine was born March 20, 1885. The next children were born in Morgan County near Orleans; they were John G. "Jack" (December 16, 1887); Kathryn "Kitty" (December 1, 1889); and Oscar Laurent "Bub" (December 15, 1890). Amos moved the family to Curran in Sangamon County in time for the birth of another daughter Verna Mae "Mayme" on February 1, 1894 or 1895. His last child Nelle arrived in Modesto, Macoupin County, during November of 1898.

Wanderlust and the widening interests of his children influenced Amos to seek greener pastures. About 1901 he transplanted his family to North Dakota where he worked on a farm north and east of Leeds and later on one near Cando. The harsh North Dakota winters led him to Smithton, Missouri in the fall of 1913. 1919 found him living in Billings, Montana with his wife and several of their children. By 1920 he had returned to Illinois, this time to Jacksonville, opening a grocery on North Main Street, which he operated until his death on March 16, 1925. His wife Margaret survived for two years until July 4, 1927. Both were laid to rest in Diamond Grove Cemetery at Jacksonville.

The Winstead children were particularly close, and, although separated by geography in their adult years, maintained contact and often influenced each other in business and career choices. Fanny married Jesse Lee Garst March 10, 1902, at Leeds, North Dakota; the Garst family moved to Sedalia, Missouri, operating a drive-in restaurant there for several years. Josephine taught school a few years before marrying Alexander Wilson Gardner March 6, 1907 at Virden, Morgan Co., Illinois; the Gardners lived in Montana before settling in Ft. Wayne, Indiana, where they first owned a beauty salon and later Gardner's Drive-In. Jack married Mary Alice Hayden October 1, 1924, in Morgan Co. Illinois where he had a grocery store and a drive-in in Jacksonville. Bub married Pearl Mildred Harper on March 4, 1916 and lived in Sedalia, Missouri. Mayme married Joseph Martin Tobin November 26, 1913, in Smithton, Missouri; the Tobins owned and operated a farm near Devil's Lake, North Dakota. Nelle was a traveling sales representative for H. J. Heinz in the early 1930's, and Kitty was working in a Jacksonville bank, when they decided to join forces and open a drive-in restaurant in Springfield, Illinois. The success of this venture prompted a move to Kansas City where they founded Winstead's Drive-in, destined to become a Kansas City landmark. Kitty did not marry; Nelle married Gordon Montgomery June 16, 1939 and was Amos' last surviving child, dying December 1, 1990.

Related Story:

John Winstead

Submitted by:

*Nola Gardner Marquardt
R.R. 1, Box 82-D
Carlock, IL 61725-9611*

Elmer WINSTEAD The Trader

I never tire of hearing how my Grandfather, Elmer Winstead, turned the art of trading in a most perfect form. You know the ole saying, Anything to make a dollar. He traded small things like knives, guns, livestock, etc. And then he traded larger things like trucks and cars.

Speaking of cars, when he was younger, He and my Grandmother, Mamie, made their residence in Hawkins Co. on a rocky little path, called Hensley Road.

Chugging down the same road in a reliable A-Model, He and my Grandmother, and their 3 children, Eugene, Kyle, and Anna were trodding along when they met the Elbert Lumpkins family approaching the other side, who was also sporting an A-Model. They decided to stop and chat a while, when out of the blue, my Grandfather said, "How would you swap cars? I'll give you mine for yours." Quickly Mr. Lumpkin agreed. So in the middle of the road the two families jumped out and exchanged A-Models.

All settled in place they waved goodbye to each other and chugged down the road merrily on their way, with my Grandmother laughing under her breath, "OH LORD, HOW MERCY!!! THOSE 2 MEN!!!"

Related Stories:

Mamie Winstead...A Profile of My Grandmother as a Young Girl.

Mamie Winstead...She Carried Them in the Snow.

Sources:

Told to me by my Grandmother, Mamie Winstead and Father Kyle Winstead.

Submitted by:

*Debbi K. Clark
4257 Peace Dr.
Morristown, TN 37814*

Eugene WINSTEAD "The Reverend"

Eugene Clark Winstead the 1st born to Mamie and Elmer Winstead. Born February 24th, 1930 died February 13th, 1991.

Mom said there was an old superstition, when a child was small you place them on the floor with a hammer, Bible, and a music instrument. The first one they pick up is what they'll do first in life. She did this with Gene. Of course he picked the Bible up first.

Little did he know as a small barefoot overall clad young boy, raised up in Hawkins County, the events that happen over a period of years in those hills and hollows would follow him the rest of his life.

We had to keep the water on a shelf so the dogs and cats wouldn't get in it. We had a chair there for us kids to climb in and get a drink. Gene climbed up in it; got him a drink and stepped off barefooted with one foot in a 3 legged iron kettle full of hot pumpkin that Mom had cooked for the hogs. It scalded him and took the hide off his foot, but it healed up and didn't leave a scar.

Then mother had gone to the mail box which was close to a mile from the house because we lived way back in the hollow. She had told us not to put wood on the fire and not to let the fire go out, which was impossible. The fire went out and we were afraid we'd get a whipping for it. So, we put wood in the stove but it didn't catch. Gene went and got the kerosene jug and it had a cork stopper in it. He pulled out the cork and poured some kerosene on the wood and dropped the stopper in the stove. He couldn't see the stopper by looking in the door, so he stuck his head in to see if he could find the cork so mother wouldn't know he lost it. When he did the fire blazed up in his face. It singed the outline of his hair off and his eye brows and lashes off too. We closed the stove up, and me and my little brother, Kyle, took Gene by the hands, placed him in the middle of us and ran to the nearest neighbors house, which was a mile away. It was a good Christian man's house, his name was Bill Moore. When we told him what had happened, we met Mom, and they took us in his house. Mr. Moore began praying for him but Gene got to burning so bad in the middle of the prayer, he jumped out of bed and ran out of the house.

Later on that night in our home, which was standing room only, neighbors came in and cried at the sight of him. We sent for Grandma. Mooresburg only had 2 doctors at the time, Dr. Walters and Dr. Baker. But one was sick and one was out of town. So everyone gathered around him and prayed. Grandma scraped an Irish potato and kept it on his face. She said it drew the burn away. Soon later his face turned into a solid scab. His mouth would just barely open, we had to feed him liquids with a spoon because there was no such thing as a straw in those days. This was the only way he could eat. Grandma went behind our house and gathered buds from a Balm McGilly Bud Tree. She cooked the buds down and put lard in it to make a salve. It made a real yellow salve, which was good for burns. His face soon healed and believe it or not, there was not one scar to be found. His eye brows came back like they were arched. His eyelashes grew back just like new.

Years later he grew up and became a Baptist preacher. He said after he started preaching he realized why that happened to him, because he was a faith preacher and he believed in healing and it helped him to become a stronger believer because of what happened to him. He had seen it done in action with no scars which would have left him blemished for life, if God hadn't taken care of it. He preached for a total of 33 years and pastored a total of 21 years before his death in 1991, at the age of 60.

Related stories:

Elmer Winstead - The Trader.

Mamie Winstead...she Carried Them in the Snow.

Told by:

*Ann (Winstead) Stephens
3677 Old Ky. Rd.
Morristown, TN 37814*

Submitted by:

*Vicki (Stephens) Potts
1325 Wood Ridge Rd.
Dandridge, TN 37725*

Hamilton C. WINSTEAD

Hamilton Carmickle Winstead, second son of Jacob Howe and Winney Lawson Winstead, was born 17 October, 1846 at Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee.

At age 18, on March 11, 1864, he enlisted into the Union Army for the Civil War. The length of his service and place of discharge isn't known, but it is believed that he was wounded and in a hospital. One day Winney and the children were outside when she called to the children to be quiet, "Hamilton is coming home", for she could hear him singing.

On 27 August, 1870, Hamilton and Nancy Ann Gillenwaters, daughter of Asbury and Elizabeth Kinkade Gillenwaters, were married, the ceremony performed by I.F. Magruff at the home of her parents. Witnesses were Taylor Stark and Larra A. Price.

Hamilton's family was of the Baptist faith, and he was converted early in life. At age 26, he was ordained to the work of the ministry.

His first church as minister of the gospel, was Tunnell Hill Baptist Church at Slide, Tennessee.

Other church records show that Holston Valley Association held at Persia Baptist Church 4 October, 1884 "on invitation H.C. Winstead accepted a seat in the body."

Hamilton was 5 feet 8 inches tall, slight build, light hair, and blue eyes.

In 1886, he moved to Evansville, Washington County, Arkansas, stayed a year or two, removed back to Tennessee, then in March 1896 moved back to Arkansas.

He worked as pastor and minister in the Fayetteville Association until six years before his death.

His diary tells of each missionary visit, who was there, how much money they gave, Bible text and sermon topic.

It was in Arkansas that he dropped the "A" in Winstead, and from then on the name has been spelled Winsted.

Relatives in Arkansas included James and Margaret Clepper Winstead, an uncle; Aunt, Catherine Winstead, who later in life lived with Hamilton and Nancy. At age 63 she married Will Thomas on 29 November, 1891, but as they grew older, each went back to their own families.

Mary Lott wrote in a letter to Ruth Horton: "I guess you knew that my Father was a Baptist preacher, he was a preacher before he came to Arkansas and you know in the time he was preaching they did not pay much as we had such a large family to feed and clothe, 12 in all. Two did not live to be very old. Typhoid fever was bad everywhere."

With the help of his children, J. B. Winstead and Mary Lott, Hamilton made a pension application on 7 October, 1924 where he stated that he had not been able to do any kind of work because of an ulcer on his foot. For five years he had suffered from diabetes metelus, and the limb was amputated in 1919 from gangrene caused by the diabetes. He lived only three months longer, his death on 11 December, 1924 at age 78. He is buried at Evansville, Arkansas at Crescent Cemetery.

He died rich only in the Holy Spirit, for his worldly goods were valued at $250.00 plus $250.00 insurance for a burned barn. His property was 160 acres valued at $1500.00.

His wife Nancy, sometime later, moved to Liberal, Seward County, Kansas and lived with her children. She died 23 February, 1931 at age 76 and is buried there.

Hamilton and Nancy's children: Windfred Carmickle, Jacob Asbury, Lula Bell, Horace Edward, Martha Elizabeth, Mary Augusta, Andrew Simpson, Sara Jane, James Hamilton, Nancy Catherine, Jesse Baker, and Walter Kimbrough.

A grandson of Jacob, Joe Winstead said that Jacob was a large man.

Ruth Horton described Jacob's house: a 2 story log house. There were four rooms downstairs, and one large room upstairs. As you entered, there was a bed in the far corner. In the center of the room was a large fireplace. To the dining room and kitchen you had to step down. In one bedroom was two beds.

During the Civil War, soldiers would stop and take cloth woven by Winney unless she got it hidden in time. They would hide their meat between the upstairs floor and downstairs ceiling.

Related Stories:

Winston-Winstead.

Jacob Howe Winstead.

Submitted by:

*Joan Carroll
26676 County Road 39
Cheyenne Wells, CO 80810*

Jacob Howe WINSTEAD

Jacob Howe Winstead was born on February 25, 1822 in Hawkins County, Tennessee. He was the son of William and Elizabeth, the second of five children. William, John, Catherine, and James were the other children.

In 1843 he married Winnifred Lawson, and they had ten children: Richard, Hamilton, William, Samuel, Jacob Delena, Mary, Martha, Malinda, Ulysses, and Minerva. Jacob died January 8, 1895 in Hawkins County and is buried at the Devil's Nose Mountain Cemetery.

He lived on the Devil's Nose and was a farmer. He had quite a lot of land and left it to his children since his wife had died in 1892.

Related Stories:

Winston-Winstead.

Hamilton C. Winstead.

Richard Winstead.

Submitted by:

*Rosalie Jaszczak
7818 N. Matanzas
Tampa, FL 33614*

John WINSTEAD

John Winstead was born in Caney Valley, Hawkins County about 1818. By tradition, his parents were Ezekiel and Mourning Watkins Winstead, thus making him the grandson of Francis Winstead, minister and Revolutionary War soldier. John resided in Lee Valley (District No. 2) where two of his lifelong acquaintances were: John Starnes (born 1804) and William Kelley (born 1821). He was a tenant farmer by profession but did manage to purchase 200 acres on Richardson's Creek from Larkin Willis on November 3, 1859; however, debt soon forced him to turn the property over to a trustee, and the property was subsequently sold in January of 1860.

John's military pension application noted that he had served in two military campaigns. In May of 1838 he joined Capt. James Simpson's Company of Tennessee Volunteers against the Cherokees; his service lasted "until the Indians were whipped" sometime in July of the same year. In September 17, 1863, at the age of forty-four, he enlisted for a three-year stint in the Union Army and received a bounty of $25.00. He was assigned to Company L, 8th Regiment of Tennessee Cavalry. Later he served in Company D of the same unit. In October 1864 the record shows he deserted at Morristown, and the Muster Out Roll of September 1865 indicates he owed the U.S. $72.25. It should be noted there was a John J. Winstead from Hawkins Co., who also served in the Union Army, and died before 1870, leaving a widow Eveline C. in the 20th Civil District.

Around 1836 or 1837 John married Fanny Lawson, a Tennessee native. Their family consisted of Nancy (1838), wife of Thomas Stapleton; William (1843); Malin (1845), who married Elizabeth Lawson; Gaines (1847), married to Mary Trent and later to Nancy; Orlena (1850), wife of Commodore Brown; Mary Ann (1853), married to Wilkerson Lawson; Fuller Willis; John Mallot; Matison (1855), who probably died before 1870; Sarah (1858), never married; Amos Jackson (1859), who married Margaret Ellen Laurent; and John (1865), who married Anna Lawson, Molly Rogers, and Maggie E. Mabe. Family tradition notes that Fanny was confined to a wheelchair in her later days; she died December 24, 1872. John was married for a second time to Elizabeth (nee Buttry?) Burton July 25, 1875 in Hawkins County. The 1880 Federal Census shows that a Rufas and Laura Winstead were their children; however, there is some evidence to indicate they may have been Elizabeth's from a former marriage. John died between June 8, 1893 and 1900.

Related Stories:

Amos Jackson Winstead.

Winston-Winstead.

Submitted by:

*Nola Gardner Marquardt
R. R. 1, Box 82-D
Carlock, IL 61725*

John Wilson WINSTEAD

John Wilson Winstead, born on 31 May 1865 in Hawkins County, Tennessee, died on 17 February 1936 in Hawkins Co., TN, and was buried in Winstead Cemetery, Hawkins Co., TN. He married 1st Anna Lawson on 21 September 1886, born October 1861 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 17 July 1901, and is buried in Commodore Brown Cemetery, Hawkins Co., TN. She was the daughter of Herman Lawson and Johnson. They had eight children: William Anderson, Mary Ann, Lonnie, James, Jesse, Frank, Perry Pearson, and John Wilson, Jr.

John married 2nd Mrs. Mollie E. (Rogers) Burton, 5 August 1901 in Hawkins Co., TN, the daughter of Art Rogers and Cornelia F. . Mollie died 2 August 1907. They had two children: Raymond Rogers, and Harley Lee.

Mollie E. Rogers Burton was the widow of Charlie Burton, by whom she had two children, Harry and Daisy.

John married 3rd Maggie Mabe in 1906 in Hawkins Co., TN. She was born 23 June 1883 in TN and died in October 1975. They had 5 children: Bessie L., Morse, Marshall Walter, Mabel, and Fannie.

William Anderson Winstead was born 21 June 1883 in Hawkins Co. and died 28 February 1951. He married Mollie Stapleton 11 November 1902. She was born 3 February 1887 in TN, and died 3 March 1975 in Houston, Texas.

They had 7 children: Annie Jewel, born 17 January 1905 in Fannin Co., TX, and married Elmer Rogers on 24 December 1926; Homer Bedford, born 2 April 1908 in South Carolina, married L. C. Amex on 20 October 1928; Eddie Mae, born 7 November 1910 in SC; Maggie Nettie, born 25 February 1913 in Hopkins Co., TX; William Ray; Ethel Lee, born 28 August 1918 in Hopkins Co., died 3 February 1982; and Edith Pauline, born 14 January 1921 in Hopkins Co. and died on 26 October 1980.

William Ray Winstead, born 4 August 1915 in Hopkins Co., married Roxie Dollie Whisenant on 22 December 1940. She was born on 11 October 1914 in Johnson Co., TX, the daughter of Columbus V. Whisenant and Hattie Tidwell. They have three sons, Roy Dwayne, James Ray, and Ronald Eugene.

Roy Dwayne Winstead was born 8 August 1942 in Sanger, TX. He married 1st Linda Gregory on 13 March 1959 in Oklahoma. He married 2nd Jeannie Fleming. His children are: James Roy, born 9 January 1960; Melinda Ann; Tracy Lynn; Tammy Roxann, born 13 April 1968 in Tarrant Co., TX; Roy Dwayne, Jr., born 23 February 1971 in Tarrant Co.; and Brady Lewis, born 18 September 1974 in Tarrant Co.

James Ray Winstead was born 10 May 1947 in Slidell, TX. On 25 June 1965, he married Marsha Ann Lindsey, born 21 August 1946 in Ft. Worth, TX, the daughter of Marshall Franklin Lindsey and Audrie Mae Womack. They have one son, James Wesley, born 30 August 1966 in Ft. Worth.

Ronald Eugene Winstead, born on 9 February 1955 in Ft. Worth, Tarrant Co., TX, married Cheryl Ann Van Noy 5 July 1974. She was born 23 June 1956 in Ft. Worth, daughter of Ralph Van Noy and Helen. They have three sons, all born in Tarrant Co.: Carl Dwayne born 16 September 1976, Clint William born 30 August 1979, and Clay Matthew born 5 November 1986.

Mary Ann Winstead was born 26 October 1885 in Hawkins Co. and died on 19 August 1971. She married 1st Jeff Goins, and 2nd Jim Bowlin.

Lonnie Winstead was born 5 February 1888 in Hawkins Co. and died as a young child.

James Winstead was born 21 March 1889 in Hawkins Co. and died as a young child.

Jesse Winstead, born 27 September 1891, died 31 July 1922, is buried in the Courtney Cemetery, Hawkins Co. He married Lula Ferrell.

Frank Winstead was born 21 August 1894 in Hawkins Co.

Perry Pearson Winstead was born 26 November 1897 in Hawkins Co., died 9 February 1986 in Hawkins Co., and is buried in Hawkins County Memorial Gardens. He married 1st Julia D. Courtney, born 5 October 1898, died 1 August 1917, buried in the Courtney Cemetery, Hawkins Co. He married 2nd Mattie Melissa Manis on 9 November 1918 in Hawkins Co., and they had eight children. She was born 15 August 1900 in Hawkins Co., the daughter of William B. Manis and Elizabeth Morris.

Their children were: Pauline, born and died 1919 in Hopkins Co., TX; John Hershell (Jack); Dorothy Frances, born 21 December 1923 in Hawkins Co., married Ernest V. Smith 28 August 1948 (born 14 January 1926 in Sullivan Co., TN, parents Decatur V. Smith and Lura Elizabeth Wilcox); Mary Ethel; Perry Ralph; William Leroy; Edith Maxine; and Daryl Ellis, born 19 November 1942, died 12 June 1944, buried in Winstead Cemetery in Hawkins Co.

John Hershell (Jack) Winstead, born 26 July 1921 in Sulphur Springs, TX. He married Frances Blanche Charles, born 25 September 1920 in Hawkins Co., the daughter of Ellis Charles and Florence Hickman. They had five children: Gerald Morris, Phyllis Ann, Linda, Larry Thomas, and Jackie Lee.

Gerald Morris Winstead, born 1943 in TN, married Carolyn Ringley, born 21 October 1947 in Hawkins Co., the daughter of Emory Jack Ringley and Ruth Kincer. They have an adopted son, Joshua Glen Winstead, born 14 March 1980.

Phyllis Ann Winstead, born 19 September 1946 in Hawkins Co., married Jackie Tyman, born 18 February 1945, the son of Jack Edwin Lyman and Delphia Barrett. They have four children, all born in Sullivan Co., TN: Angie Renee, born 22 April 1965; April Dawn, born 12 May 1966; Ronald Shane, born 20 April 1968; and Stoney Jack, born 30 October 1972.

Linda Winstead, born 11 November 1947 in Hawkins Co., married Jerry Scott on 13 November 1965. He was born 6 June 1943 in Sullivan Co., TN, the son of Hugh A. Scott and Mary Ellen Stanton. They have 2 children, both born in Sullivan Co.: Tina Wayne, born 14 February 1967, and Melissa Scott, born 1 May 1969.

Larry Thomas Winstead was born on 1 November 1949 in Hawkins Co.

Jackie Lee Winstead was born on 9 December 1955 in Hawkins Co.

Mary Ethel Winstead, born 1 October 1927 in Hawkins Co., died on 28 July 1965, married Homer Lee Jones, born in West Virginia. They have a son, Jimmy Lee Jones, born 5 December 1948 in Hawkins Co. He married Reginia Brice, born 27 August 1951 in Sullivan Co., TN, daughter of John Brice, Jr. and Hazel Gladys Housewright. They have 3 children, all born in Sullivan Co.: Tonya Lee born 21 January 1974, Jamie LeCastle born 14 June 1976, and Melissa Joe born 5 November 1980.

Perry Ralph Winstead, born 13 April 1931 in Hawkins Co., died 6 February 1986 in Hawkins Co., is buried in Hawkins Co. Memorial Gardens. He married Virginia Willis, born 4 November 1936 in Hawkins Co., the daughter of Ezra Willis and Betty Hurd. They have 4 children, all born in Hawkins Co.: Deborah Jean, born 20 February 1957, married Palmer; Daniel Ralph, born 11 February 1959; York Dwight, born 22 February 1963; and Tina Gail, born 8 February 1971.

William Leroy Winstead, born 2 October 1936 in Hawkins Co., married Beatrice Fairchild, born on 17 April 1937 in Hawkins Co., the daughter of John Jefferson Fairchild and Arthena Hawkins. They have 2 children, both born in Sullivan Co., TN: Connie Denise, born 8 August 1966, and William David, born 20 November 1969.

Edith Maxine Winstead, born 23 June 1938 in Hawkins Co., died 10 March 1986 in Hawkins Co., married Hisel Paul Hensley, born 17 April 1933 in Scott Co., VA, died 10 March 1986 in Sullivan Co., buried Oak Hill Cemetery in Sullivan Co., TN, the son of Ingle Hensley and Iris Gardner. They have 2 children, both born in Sullivan Co., TN: Charles Bryan, born 17 February 1966, and Christy Lynn, born 16 January 1968.

John Wilson Winstead, Jr., born 23 March 1901 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 21 September 1980 in Hawkins Co., and is buried in Highland Cemetery, Hawkins Co. He married Lucy Jane Coffey, born 18 March 1904 in Hamblen Co., TN, daughter of Sam Coffey and Mary Hipshire. Their 7 children were: Jessie Irene, Mildred Ruth, Evel Eugene, Evelyn Jane, Jamie Louise, Charles Wayne, and Barbara Ann.

Jessie Irene Winstead was born 22 January 1923 in Hamblen Co., TN and died 1 October 1932 in Hawkins Co.

Mildred Ruth Winstead, born 22 August 1924 in Hawkins Co., TN, married Frank Wilson Charles, born May 1916 in Hawkins Co., the son of Stephen Ellen Charles and Mary Florence Hickman. They are the parents of 5 children: Donald Edward, Gloria Faye, Frank Wilson Jr., Gary Eugene, and Patricia Sue.

Donald Edward Charles, born 23 April 1942 in Sullivan Co., TN, married Bobbie Mae Byrd, and they had two children: Bryan Edward, born on 7 February 1963 in Marion Co., Indiana and died 18 February 1982 in Hawkins Co.; and Angelia Dawn born 8 December 1967 in Marion Co.

Gloria Faye Charles, born 17 August 1943 in Sullivan Co., TN, married Kenneth Wayne Courtney, born December 1942 in Hawkins Co. They have two children: Tammy Lynn, born 21 July 1963 in Hawkins Co., and Kevin Wayne, born 9 August 1964 in Peru, Indiana.

Frank Wilson Charles, Jr. was born 29 July 1945 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Gary Eugene Charles, born 28 August 1946 in Hawkins Co., married Phyllis Ann Cowden, born 25 August 1943 in Hawkins Co. They have three children: John Stephen, born 5 July 1969 in Hawkins Co., Jennifer Susanne, born 21 September 1976 in Hamblen Co., TN, and Preston Adam, born 10 October 1977 in Hawkins Co.

Patricia Sue Charles, born 18 October 1947 in Hawkins Co., married Billy Ray Courtney, born 20 August 1947 in Hawkins Co. Their two children are: Charles Todd, born 7 May 1969 in Biloxi, Mississippi, and Tabitha Faith born 3 July 1975 in Hawkins Co.

Evel Eugene Winstead, born 24 September 1926 in Sulphur Springs, TX, married Gladys Gladson, the daughter of Jessie V. Gladson and Grace Elkins. They have a daughter, Betty Jane, born 7 August 1951 in Hawkins Co., married William J. Lowe 28 May 1971, and they have one child, Jamie Lynne, born 21 January 1976 in Hawkins Co.

Evelyn Jane Winstead born 16 June 1930 in Sanger, Denton Co., TX, married Charles Vaughn, Jr. 9 October 1949.

Jamie Louise Winstead was born 13 December 1932 in Hawkins Co., TN.

Charles Wayne Winstead was born 16 November 1940 in Sullivan Co., TN and married Marilyn Price, born 3 August 1940 in Hawkins Co., daughter of Bert E. Price and Marie Hughes. They have 2 children, both born in Marion Co., IN: Anthony Dean, born 24 November 1964, and Cynthia Renee, born 14 February 1966.

Barbara Ann Winstead born 28 November 1942 in Sullivan Co., married Walter Edward LeRoy, born 21 November 1941 in Hawkins Co., the son of Ralph Timothy Leroy and Christobelle Lawson. Their children are: Melissa Ann, born 6 June 1966 in Leon Co., Florida, and Timothy O'Brien, born 4 February 1969 in Fayette Co., KY.

Raymond Rogers Winstead was born on 7 February 1901 in Hawkins Co., and he died 15 August 1976 in Pontiac, Livingston Co., IL. Raymond married 1st to Jessica Mae Baggett, and they have 3 children: Billy Joe; Ray; and Geneva, married John Warner Cook. He married 2nd 29 April 1930 in Denton Co., TX to Margaret Marie Barnes, born 30 May 1911 in Thackerville, Oklahoma. They have 7 children: Ray Dial; Tommy Harold, born 13 May 1932 in Denton Co., TX; Delta Theda; Lavesta Sue; Patricia Ann; Peggy Joyce; Sandra LaVonne; and Gary Rogers, born December 1942 in Illinois.

Ray Dial Winstead was born 23 May 1931 in Denton Co., TX. He married 1st Ruth Elaine Brewer on 16 October 1954 in Livingston Co., IL, born 28 August 1954 in Livingston Co., the daughter of Lester Edwin Brewer and Lela Pearl Thompson. They had two children: Valeria Ann; and Venita Rae, born 12 August 1958 in Livingston Co., married Kenneth Ratliff on 13 March 1992.

Ray Dial served in the U.S. Air Force 1950-1954.

Valeria Ann Winstead was born on 2 November 1955 in Livingston Co. On 30 December 1971 in Kane Co., IL, she married Burtlee Enlies Burton, born 30 December 1971 in Kane Co., son of Jimmie Lee Burton and Doris Marie Potts. They have two sons, both born in Kane Co.: Jimmie Ray born 7 June 1972, and Johnathon Lee born 2 January 1976.

Delta Theda Winstead was born in 1934 in Denton Co., TX, and married Albert Heitmann. They have two children, Lucinda and Tracey.

Lavesta Sue Winstead, born 2 January 1936 in Denton Co., TX, married Tom Patrick, and they have two children, Steve and Coleen.

Patricia Ann Winstead was born in 1938 in Livingston Co., IL. She married 1st Bill Walters, and they have 3 children. She married 2nd to Jack Boldrey. Their children are: Bill Walters, Mark Walters, Hope Walters, and Jackie Boldrey.

Peggy Joyce Winstead was born in 1939 in Livingston Co., IL and married Dick Barger. They have a daughter, Denise.

Sandra LaVonne Winstead was born in 1941 in Livingston Co., IL. She married 1st John Scott, and they have a son John, Jr. She married 2nd to Larry Brown.

Harley Lee Winstead, born 22 November 1903 in Hawkins Co., TN, died 6 June 1976 in Pontiac, IL, and is buried in Memorial Park Cemetery, Pontiac, IL. He married 1st , 2nd Nancy Wheatley, and 3rd on 20 November 1934 in Singer Co., TX to Juanita Day Barnes. Harley's children are: Ruth, married Jack Briddick; Daisy, married James Cunningham; Talulah, married 1st Don Schlosser, and 2nd Tim; Nancy, married Charlie Baker; Linda, married Ronald La Piccalo; Harvey, married 1st Carol Crabb, and 2nd Dixie; Dewey, married Imogene; and Keith Douglas, married Paula .

Bessie L. Winstead was born in 1908 in Hawkins Co., TN, and she married Coy Worthington.

Morse Winstead was born in 1915 in Tennessee.

Marshall Walter Winstead was born 3 August 1918 in Tennessee.

Mabel Winstead was born in Tennessee.

Fannie Winstead was born in 1920 in Tennessee.

Sources:

Hawkins County (TN) Cemeteries, Vol. 2, P. 77, 81

1900, 1910, and 1920 Hawkins Co. TN Census.

James Roy Winstead, 5329 White Settlement Rd., Ft. Worth, TX 76114 on William Anderson Winstead line.

Mrs. Ruth Weekley, Box 277, Sugar Grove, IL on Ray Rogers Winstead line.

Sam D. Lawson, 3650 Indianwood Dr., Columbus, IN 47203.

Submitted by:

Martha Winstead
51824 Lilac Rd.
South Bend, IN 46628

Kyle WINSTEAD Just a Dog Named Spot

One of the fondest childhood memories of my father, Kyle Winstead, with his brother, Eugene and sister, Ann, was their dog named Spot. A present from their grandfather, George Hensley, who insisted all boys need a dog. Reluctant at first, their father finally gave in and said, "It does get might lonesome in these hills, I guess we could use the company."

My father said it was JUST A DOG, no special breed. But he quickly adds it was by far the smartest dog he'd ever owned.

It didn't take long to develop a close relationship with the 3 children. If they had to be spanked, my grandmother had to usher them in the house, for if she tried it outdoors, the dog would jump up and try to bite her.

Soon Spot became a constant companion trodding along the banks of Poor Valley Creek, hunting and fishing with the children. He tagged along Blackberry pickings and ran out snakes that hid in bushes.

Dad once said, "Mom was gathering corn in the garden, when Spot ran right between her legs and caught a copperhead that was coiled and ready to strike. He then slung it to it's death, but not without being bit on the face twice. He became pretty sick and his face swoll something awful, but we took turpentine and massaged it in his wounds and he got better in a couple of days."

Soon after when the family was digging sweet potatoes, the dog looked curiously on from the side of the garden. It didn't take long for ole Spot to come scratching and digging the ground for potatoes. He would find one, grab it with his mouth and take it to the potatoe pile and lie it down. The family watched in amazement as the dog continued to do so.

Soon Spot's fame spread through the county, and the neighbors got to witness the potato digging dog at other times. Like Dad, I'm also amazed at Ole Spot but I don't agree; that he was JUST A DOG.

Their residence was Pressmen's Home.

Related Story:

Mamie Winstead...She Carried Them in the Snow.

Mamie Winstead...A Profile of my Grandmother as a Young Girl.

Sources:

This story was told to me by my grandmother, Mamie Winstead, and my father, Kyle Winstead.

Submitted by:

Debbi K. Clark
4257 Peace Dr.
Morristown, TN 37814

Mamie WINSTEAD...A Profile of my Grandmother as a Young Girl

When my Grandmother, Mamie Hensley Winstead, was a young girl, she played hop scotch, hide and seek and jump rope. She carried in wood for the kitchen stove and water from the well.

She use to wade in creeks and had friends to come and visit. She went to a school named Mooresburg in Hawkins Co. Her subjects were Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English, Spelling, Geography, but no Science. She walked to school each day. It was 2-1/2 miles away from her home. She carried her lunch in a lard pail, usually biscuit and jelly, sometimes ham or eggs.

Some of the teachers she remembered were Mrs. Gertrude Summers, Mr. Mack Dalton, and Mrs. Mattie Vaughn.

She remembers a cheer when her school played basketball, it went:

Shimmy-Shake

A Belly-Ache

Hoocha-Coocha Call

Morresburg-Morresburg-RAH-RAH RAH!!!

My Grandmother lived in a farmhouse built by her father. She had no electricity. She used oil lamps. She had no indoor plumbing, but an outhouse. She took baths in big washtubs.

Her father owned a saw mill, and sold oak and popular wood and lumber to local people.

She had 2 mules and 2 horses, and lots of chickens and pigs. Her family raised tobacco, potatoes, and corn. They grew fruit trees; peaches, apples, cherries, and pears. She said she remembered eating lots of applebutter jelly. Her mother canned everything even beans. The only thing that was bought at the grocery store was sugar and coffee.

She didn't have many clothes. She got 1 coat and 1 pair of shoes in the winter. She wore hightop boots and got a sweater in the fall. She had to come to Morristown to buy clothes and shoes, then she rode in a Sarie (ed: surrey) that was pulled by 2 horses. A Sarie is a buggy with a top and 2 seats. She also rode a Sarie to church. She said she enjoyed church very much, because she got to see alot of her friends and talk for awhile. Her favorite day was Sunday. She said it still is.

She said she had a very good life when she was a young girl and I believe her! Sometimes I wish I could wade creeks and ride a Sarie but I don't think I would like a outhouse very much!

My Grandmother, Mamie Hensley Winstead, was the daughter of George and Carrie Hensley, who were saw mill owners and farmers in Hawkins Co.

Related Stories:

Elmer Winstead, The Trader.

Mamie Winstead...She Carried Them in the Snow.

Sources:

Information given to Jimmy-Kyle Clark by Mamie Hensley Winstead. She is his Great-Grandmother.

Submitted by:

Debbi K. Clark
4257 Peace Dr.
Morristown, TN 37814

Mamie WINSTEAD...She Carried Them In The Snow

Back in 1931, when the depression was in full bloom; back in a hollow nestled in the mountains of East Tennessee stood an old four room house surrounded by old barns, one out house, and lots and lots of wild flowers. It was to be where my grandmother first set up house. Like most Appalachian women, she married young. She became a child-bride at the age of 14. My Grandfather had to trap and sell a fox just so he could buy their marriage license's. So from the money of one red fox hide, they headed to the nearest local Preacher's house to repeat the blessed vows; I DO.

After her 15th birthday, she was surprised with her first baby boy. Before her 18th birthday she had bore three surprises in all; two boys and a girl.

One day while visiting my grandmother, we decided to look through an old picture album containing pictures of her and my grandfather. Some of the pages contained her three small children. With a smile on my face I questioned her how she survived her early motherhood. She quickly glanced at me with a puzzled look and explained, that was the happiest time in her life. You see this picture here she asked as her fingertips traced the outline of the old photograph. "This was when life was the sweetest for me." It was a picture of her first and second child, one propped beside her and one bouncing on her knee, and the smile on her face knowing another child would be there by early spring. Her eyes gave a little twinkle, and her words were hushed in a whisper, as though she was sharing a secret with me. "I probably had less in my life at that time, material wise, but more heart wise. It just didn't take alot to be happy in those days." With a nod of my head assuring her I understood, I knew within my heart she did have everything she needed, but most important she had the love of God.

One particular Sunday afternoon after Sunday morning services my family decided to ride to nearby Hawkins County, where my father was raised as a small child. The blooming of the laurel and the sweet aroma of honeysuckle made up for the terrible roads we had to travel to get there.

Glancing to my right I caught sight of an old small church. With a love for anything historical, I quickly said, "Well, isn't that a pretty little church, with it's steeple still standing proud and tall." On the front read a sign, Slate Hill Primitive Church.

With raised eyebrows my father viewed me in his rear view mirror. "That was where we attended when we lived back here in the hollows of these hills. It was the only church around and people had to walk for miles just to attend." Nothing else was said and it seemed forever until we came to the first hollow where he said he was raised. I quickly thought of the distance from there to the little country church. I couldn't help but ask "Dad, did you really have to walk this far just to attend church?" With no hesitation he quickly replied, "And most of the time without shoes." "But Dad what about the weather?" "That didn't stop Mom, no sir!" he sighed as he seemed to recall those days gone by. "In fact I remember one Sunday it had snowed five to six inches, and it snowed big in those days, but that still didn't stop Mom. She just gathered us all together and down that road we went."

With hidden tears, I asked, "She was just as religious then as she is now, wasn't she Dad?" He smiled out of the corner of his mouth with his eyes always staying on the road as he replied, "She attended church every time the church doors were open, but she never went by herself, her children always tagged along with her."

I was mostly silent on the way home, touched by what I had experienced that day. Touched by the love of God my Grandmother still possesses, the love of God she instills in her children, grandchildren and her ever growing great grandchildren. She's been a pillar of strength to her family. In her strength we have gained strength. The doors to her heart has always stayed open not only for her family, but for everyone. She has been blessed, her family has been blessed, and maybe just maybe, God decided to bless, when He looked down from heaven on that cold snowy Sunday morning and seen my Grandmother walking down that long road that led to that little country church...while carrying her children in the snow.

This story is about my grandmother, Mamie Winstead, wife to Elmer Winstead, and her children – Eugene, Kyle, and Ann.

Related Stories:

Mamie Winstead, A Profile of My Grandmother as a Young Girl.

Elmer Winstead, The Trader.

Submitted by:

Debbi K. Clark
4257 Peace Dr.
Morristown, TN 37814

Richard WINSTEAD

Richard Garred Winstead, born 25 June 1844 in Hawkins Co., TN, was the son of Jacob Howe Winstead and Winny Lawson. Richard was a private in Co. B ("Crawford's Regiment") of the 60th Tennessee Mounted Infantry, CSA, which later became the 79th Infantry. He volunteered September 30, 1862 for three years in Rogersville, under Samuel R. Gammon. His company was mustered in November 7, 1862. He was seventeen years of age. He was captured on the Big Black River, near Vicksburg, Mississippi on May 17th 1863, and was shipped to Point Lookout, Maryland. He arrived there on September 26, 1863, and was held as a prisoner of war, until June 14, 1864. There he had to take an oath to the U. S. Army, before he could be released. Family tradition has it, was a happy day when he came home.

He married Sarah A. Brooks, daughter of James Brooks and Mariah ----, on 27 April 1866. They had five children: 1. Rachel Paralee, born 7 April 1867, who married Will Stubblefield; 2. Winny M., who died young; 3. Mary Ellen, born 1870, who married App or Epperson Ball; 4. Renda Jane, born on 4 February 1874, who married Andrew (Andy) Jones, son of Lincoln and Mary (Strong) Jones; and 5. Richard Frank, born 31 July 1876, married Mary Elvia Jones.

From Dorothy Stubblefield, granddaughter of Richard, told about the family in 1980. She stated that Richard made beautiful furniture all the time, he had made a solid maple desk that she could remember, it was in her mother's house with some of his old papers. The walnut chest that he talks about in his will, was with her mother Rachel until her death. Then her daughter Lillie, who married James Dewery Jones, received it. Dorothy said her mother did not talk much about the family, because if you lived right, no one has cause to talk about you, then the other people didn't know everyone's business. The children of Richard and Sarah were born in a log house of poplar logs that were hewed. He also farmed and ran a ferry across the Holston River. After Sarah's death, sometime ca. 1895, he married Loutisle Collins, in 1896, with no issue. Richard is buried in the Jake Jones Cemetery.

Richard Frank Winstead, born on 31 July 1876 near Devil's Nose Mountain, moved with his father as a small child to the Burem area. He married Mary Elvia Jones, on 17 November 1895 in Hawkins Co. She was the daughter of Nicholes Turner Jones and Elizabeth Jane Strong. Mary Elvia was born in the house built by her grandfather, John Jones, who was married to Annis (Manis). Here all of their children were born. Mary and Richard later sold their share of the land to her brother Doctor John Jones, and his wife Sarah Newberry. Dr. Jones practiced medicine from this house until he died. This house was burned by arson fire in the fall of 1991.

The children of Richard F. and Mary Elvia are: 1. George McKinnley (1896-1959), married Sarah Sizemore. Their children were: Edith, Catherine, Vivian, James Kyle, Alford Donald, Margaret June, Priscilla Ann, and Helen Joyce. 2. Phillip Hale (1898-1948), married Gladys Mae Collins. Their children were: Shirley Elosie, Robert Allen, Barbara Phyllis, and Jimmie Colleen. 3. John, died young and is buried in the Jake Jones Cemetery. 4. Herbert Richmond (1903-1946), married Sarah Witt, one child, Carolyn Sue. 5. Reed T., listed later. 6. Thelma Lee (1907-still living). 7. Vernon, and 8. and 9. (twins) Winny and Renda, these three died young and are buried in Jake Jones Cemetery. 10. William Bethel (1910-1978), married Margaret Josephine Payne, their children are: Joyce Faye, Claude, and John Marvin Winstead.

Richard was a farmer, and Mary, his wife, was a wonderful cook and a maker of quilts and many crafts. They left Hawkins County ca. 1915 for Virginia where Richard went to work in timber and the mines. They made their home in Big Stone Gap, Va., and both are buried in the Glencove Cemetery, Big Stone Gap.

Reed T. Winstead, born 29 September 1904 in Hawkins Co., died 17 December 1960 in Pike County, Ky., married Willie Jane Gambill on 28 September 1930 in Bell Co., Ky. Willie was born 13 April 1912, and died 17 January 1970 in Pike Co., Ky. Reed was a farmer and a miner, a hard working man, and talked a lot about Hawkins County, and his family. This man may have lied, but none of his children can ever remember him telling a lie. Reed and Willie worked hard and built their own house, near the small town of Virgie, Pike County, Ky, and here they raised their family. Their children are: 1. Reed T. Jr., born and died the same day. 2. Margaret, who married Clyde Jack Cook, Jr. 3. Kenneth, who married 1st Ruby Jane Carr, one child, Carolyn Jean, and married 2nd Barbara Ann Robinson, two children, Koletta Rayanna, and Kenna Ruth. 4. Richard Porter, married Mary Ann Eavenoff, three children, Sheri Lynn, Richard Porter, Jr., and James Michael. 5. Mary Elizabeth, who married Kenneth Morris Childers, three children, Kenneth Morris, Jr., Clyde Reed, and John Morrell. 6. Blanche Catherine, married Jack Hoyt Adkins, four children, Nancy Lynn, Catherine Ann, Jack Hoyt, Jr., and Lonnie Gene. 7. Gay Elvia, married Joseph Benard Moran, two children, Joseph Benard, Jr., and Kenneth Reed. 8. Earnest Dean, married Wanda Sue Fouts, one child, Denise Jean. 9. Douglas McAthur (1944-1960). 10. Gerald Lee, married Marie Newsom, three children, Mia Michelia, Shawn Dee, and Gerri Daniella. 11. Herbert Clark, married Loretta Jane Hopkins, two children, Herbert Clark, Jr., and Cheri Maxine. 12. Charlotte Faye, married Terry Hill Price, two children, Terry Hill, III, and Bryon Ashley.

Gerald and Herbert are both veterans of the Vietnam War.

Related Stories:

John Ferrell.

Gambill-Gamble.

Winston-Winstead.

Submitted by:

*Loretta and Herbert Winstead
Box 230, Lykins Creek Rd.
Pikeville, KY 41501*

WINSTON-WINSTEAD

The Winstead family can be traced with documentation from Hawkins Co., Tn., through Edgecombe Co., N.C., and Northumberland Co., Va. and through English records to Yapton, Sussex. John Winstead, born prior to 1555, married on 5 October 1571 to Johane Skerrels, in Yapton. His son Richard, born ca. 1572-1577, married Ann ----. Richard was buried on 2 May 1639, and Ann was buried on 10 November 1641. Their son Daniel was baptized on 12 May 1622 in Yapton. He had brothers Thomas, William, Ambrose and a sister Elizabeth. Daniel Winston - the son of Daniel, grandson of Richard, and great grandson of John Winstead - was baptized in 1647, Chichester, and died in 1672 in Lancaster Co., Va.

Daniel Winston, a tailor, is in the court records of Lancaster Co. Va. in 1671. He and his wife Elizabeth lived on Morratico Creek, where their son Samuel was born. Soon after his birth, his father died and his mother remarried, moved with her husband to Northumberland Co., Va. Here Samuel grew to manhood and married Elizabeth -----. He was appointed Constable for Mattapony by County Court 19 May 1697. Birth records in St. Stephens Parish show the birth of their son, Samuel, on 15 October 1701. In Samuel's will, proved on 16 November 1726, he names a granddaughter Betty, a grandson Samuel, and son Samuel, to whom he left his plantation. In one generation in the new world this family had gone from being tailors by occupation to plantation owners.

Samuel Winston-Winstead (the name is written both ways in the records), 1701-1774, grew up in Northumberland Co., Va., and married four times and had sixteen children, by these wives. Seven of his sons went to Edgecombe and Nash Counties in N.C. and bought land along the Tar River and Town Creek areas. The first ones to go were Joseph, Richard, Peter in about 1769. Jeremiah, Thomas, David, and Frances followed in 1792. Daniel, Samuel, John, James, and George remained in Virginia, along with his daughters Elizabeth, Winniferd-Winnifred (written both ways), Hannah, and Susannah.

Francis Winstead, born on 19 November 1758, and his mother Winniferd, are named in the will of Samuel Winstead in 1774. Francis married Catherine ---- in Northumberland Co., and their children were born there: Ezekiel was born 26 November 1775; Sally, born 21 June 1778, believed to have married Joel Cobb, who came to Hawkins Co. with the family;

Francis, born 1780; Matthew, born 1784, married Elizabeth ---- in N.C., and came to Hawkins Co. with his father; Ephriam, born 1786, married Margaret Martin in Hawkins Co. The 1800 census of N.C. shows Francis having one other son and three other daughters, not yet found by this researcher.

Francis applied for a Revolutionary War Pension while living in Hawkins Co. He states that he volunteered, and served under Captain Crawley, and Colonel Thomas Jones. A great part of the time he was stationed at Cherry Point on the Potomac River to prevent the enemy from landing. The British would sail their ships up and down the river and the whole neighborhood would get much annoyed and frightened. He served until sometime in 1782 and was discharged. He and his family lived in the neighborhood of Cherry Point. He was pensioned as a "Minuteman".

Francis moved from Virginia to North Carolina in 1792 where he remained about 12 years. He was ordained as a Baptist Minister in September of 1802 at the Falls of the Tar River Baptist Church in Edgecombe Co., N.C. He was the founder of the upper Town Creek Primitive Baptist Church in December 1802, where he remained as pastor until 21 August 1805, when he resigned prior to moving to Hawkins Co., buying land in 1806. Reverend Francis Winstead, along with John Ferrel and Daniel Howery, served as delegates from the Big Creek Church to the Holston Baptist Association. Minutes of the Association August 1814 showed that a new church in Hawkins Co., on the north side of Clinch Mountain petitioned for admission. Thereafter Richardson's Creek Church was represented in the Holston Association by Ordained Minister Francis Winstead.

In 1820 he petitioned the Association for a church in the Hickory Cove. The Hickory Cove Baptist Church was fully constituted with 20 charter members on 2 April 1822. The Rev. Winstead, founder, served as pastor for the first nine years. His wife Catherine died in 1819, and he died in 1842.

Ezekiel Winstead married Mourning Watkins, daughter of Henry Watkins in Nash Co., NC in 1796. He moved to Hawkins County with his father Francis.

He was a farmer, stockraiser, and the Church Clerk. He owned land on Caney Creek near Hickory Cove, and he died on 23 November 1832. His children that have been identified were: William, born 1797, married Elizabeth Howe; Samuel, who served as a church clerk; Francis, born in 1807, who married Mary Ann Owens, this family moved to Kentucky; Joel, who married Malinda Payne, and lived for several years in Scott Co., Va.; Henry, who married Nancy Jane Helton; David, who married Lucy Smith, and they moved to Rockingham Co., Ky.; John, who married Fanny Lawson. Ezekiel and Mourning had some daughters, but their records have not been found.

William Winstead, born in 1797 in Nash Co., N.C., married Elizabeth Howe, daughter of Jacob Howe and Elizabeth Groves. William was a farmer, stockraiser, and a charter member of the Hickory Cove Baptist Church along with his wife Elizabeth. William died in February 1879, and Elizabeth died on 23 September 1879, according to records of the Church. They raised five children: William A., born ca. 1818, died on 8 January 1895, married Rosannah ---; Jacob Howe, born 25 February 1822, died on 8 January 1895, married Winnifred (Winny) Lawson, born 1825 in Georgia, the daughter of Preston Lawson; John J., born 1823, died ca. 1863-64, a Civil War casualty, place unknown, married Emaline Blevins, born 1822, died after 1880; Catherine, born in 1826, married Will H. Thomas in Washington Co., Arkansas; James C., born 1827, died 27 October 1895 in Washington Co., Arkansas, married Margaret Pilant on 22 August 1853 in Hawkins Co. Both are buried at Ladd's Mill, Washington Co. Arkansas.

Related Stories:

John Ferrell.

Jacob Howe.

Hamilton C. Winstead.

John Winstead.

Richard Winstead.

Sources:

Archdeaconry Court Records of Chichester, Sussex FHL-194565.

Lancaster Co., VA and Northumberland Co., VA Order and Deed books.

Stephens Parish Births and Death Records located in Richmond, VA.

Pension and Church records.

Submitted by:

*Margaret (Peggy) Cook
Route 8, Box 355
Rogersville, TN 37857*

Martin Van Buren WOLF

Although doubtless most people would like to remain on the old homestead where they "played away the happy hours" of innocent childhood, but few are permitted to do so, from one cause or the other; but there is always a sentiment about the hearthstone where the family gathered when we were children that cannot be replaced. So one who, like Martin Van Buren Wolf, one of the venerable farmers of Washington Township, Greene County, Missouri, and one of the oldest native-born citizens of this locality, is fortunate enough to spend his life at his birthplace, is to be envied, and no doubt, being a fair minded man, he fully appreciates the privilege. He has labored hard to keep the old farm tilled and improved, so that it has retained rather than lost its original strength of soil, and the dwelling has been carefully looked after and guarded.

Mr. Wolf was born in the above named Township and county, on the spot where he now lives, December 21, 1840, nearly seventy-four years ago. He is the son of David and Nancy McCoy Wolf. The father was a native of Hawkins County, Tennessee and was reared on a farm in that state, and there received a common school education and married there, and in the early days he made the overland journey in a wagon to Greene County, Missouri, experiencing a number of hardships enroute.

Here Martin entered forty acres from the government, which he cleared and farmed and prospering with the years he added to his original holdings until he owned a fine farm of two hundred and forty acres, having cleared most of his land and improved it himself. Here he became an influential citizen. For some time he served the people of his community as Justice of the Peace.

Early in the War Between the States, Martin joined Company E, Third Missouri Cavalry, under Captain Thorson and Colonel Green, and served gallantly as a soldier in the Confederate Army, but unfortunately took sick about the close of the war and died in Arkansas, after having seen considerable hard service including a number of engagements and a few of the important battles.

Politically he was a strong Democrat and religiously he belonged to the Baptist Church. He has lived to see his community develop from the wilds to a fine farming section, and he is one of the most widely known men in the Township.

The mother of Martin Van Buren Wolf was born, reared, and educated in eastern Tennessee. She was a member of the Baptist Church. Her death occurred at the home of our subject some thirty years ago.

To David Wolf and his wife seven children were born, named as follows: Mary M. Wolf, who is living in Webster County, Missouri; Martin V.B. Wolf of this sketch; James Houston Wolf, who was a soldier in the Civil War, was taken prisoner and killed; Mrs. Louisa Jane (Wolf) Goskill is deceased; Robert Marion Wolf who was a soldier in the Civil War, was captured and killed; Mrs. Margaret Emoline (Wolf) Bateman lives in Webster County, Missouri; Lafayette Jefferson Wolf is making his home in Christian County, Missouri.

Martin V.B. Wolf grew to manhood on the farm and received his education in the district schools. He joined the Confederate Army in the fall of 1861, in the same regiment and company as his father, Company E, Third Missouri Cavalry, in which he served most faithfully and efficiently until the close of the war, taking part in a number of important campaigns and battles, including that at Jenkins Ferry, and the battle of Independence, Missouri, in which he was wounded. He was with the troops that surrendered at Jackson Fort, Arkansas, where he was discharged, and about a year later he returned to the old home place and he and his brothers ran the same for his mother until her death. Our subject then bought the farm, which consisted of one hundred and sixty acres. He has made a success of stock raiser and general farmer.

Mr. Wolf was married on September 8, 1867, in Arkansas to Lydia E. Suttle. She was born in Virginia on October 20, 1845, a daughter of Edward J. Suttle and Minty Whitsel Suttle, both of whom were born in Virginia and died in Arkansas. The father was a farmer. He served in the Civil War a few months but died of measles while in the service.

To Mr. and Mrs. Martin V.B. Wolf were born six children: Nancy M. Wolf, deceased; Mrs. Alice Jane (Wolf) Johnson lives in California; Mrs. Mary Susan (Wolf) Hooper lives in Montana; Minty M. Wolf, deceased; David E. Wolf, deceased; William Martin Wolf lives in Greene County.

Sources:

History of Greene County, Missouri, by Fairbanks and Tuck, Vol. 2, published in 1915.

Submitted by:

Mary Ruth Shoop Hansen
(great-great-granddaughter of David Wolf and Nancy McCoy Wolf, great-granddaughter of Margaret Emoline Wolf and William Archibald Bateman, granddaughter of David Henderson Bateman and Maud Mae Reeves Bateman, daughter of Bertha Mae Bateman and William Joshua Shoop)
6664 West Belmont
Fresno, CA 93705

Emmanuel WOLFE

Much has been written about the Wolfe brothers, John, Charles, and George, who were among the early settlers of Hawkins County, Tennessee, a portion of which later became Hancock County. I am a descendant of the John Wolfe family.

I am the great-great granddaughter of Emmanuel Wolfe, born 1833, died 1864, and his wife Caroline, born in 1836, death date unknown. Emmanuel was the son of George Franklin and Sarah Jane Allen Wolfe, and the grandson of Adam and Jemima McCoy Wolfe, and the great grandson of John and Catharine Barre Wolfe.

Emmanuel and Caroline were married on December 15, 1856 at the house of her father, Pete Wolfe. Peter was the son of Charles and Susanna Wolfe.

Emmanuel served in the Civil War, joining the Union Army with his brothers, Gideon, Manson, and Wiley. They enlisted on March 8, 1862 in Company B, 1st Regiment of the Tennessee Cavalry. Emmanuel was captured near Knoxville, Tennessee on January 1, 1864. He died in Virginia on March 3, 1864 as a P.O.W.

The widow Caroline was left with three young children; Riley, born 1858; Gideon, born 1860; and Margaret Jane, born in 1862, and died in 1933. Emmanuel's brothers, Gideon and Manson, applied for and became the children's guardians.

Caroline married William Blake on September 24, 1865. William became the children's guardian, and they moved to Owsley County, Kentucky.

With this move most contact with the Wolfe family was broken. We became known as the lost branch.

Gideon Wolfe, Emanuel and Caroline's 2nd son, was my great-grandfather. He grew up in Owsley County, KY. Here he was involved in farming and logging.

Gideon married twice. His first wife, Sally Wilson, was my great-grandmother. They had four children: William, born in 1886; Callie, born in 1888; Fannie, born in 1890; and Myrtle, born in 1895.

In 1916, Gideon and his second wife, Eliza Jane Shearer, moved to Middletown, Ohio. He was employed for 16 years at "Polar Bear", a tobacco company. He retired at the age of 72 years.

His daughter Fannie was my grandmother. She married William C. Neal January 14, 1911 in Middletown, OH. They had three children: Pearl Marie, born 1912; Wilson, born 1915; and Fred, born 1917. Fannie died very young, in 1919, of complications of influenza.

Circumstances left the three young children homeless and parentless. Gideon and Eliza took the three grandchildren and raised them. They both lived to see all three grown and married. Gideon died in 1943, and Eliza preceded him in 1942.

Wilson Neal, my father, married Mary Louise Jennens. They had two daughters, Virginia and Marilyn.

Marie married Arthur Bowling. They had seven children: Art Jr., Kathryn, Carol, James, Bill, Gloria and Ewing.

Fred married Ruth Cantor. They had two sons, Aaron and Mark.

I do not have any information about Riley.

Margaret lived in Owsley County, KY where she was married in 1877 to William C. Blake, II, born in 1858, died 1930. They had nine children: Leander, born 1879; James, born 1881; Gideon, born 1884; Lemuel, born 1887; Cora Bell, born 1890; Flora, born 1893; John, born 1895; Zona, born 1899; and Charles, born 1902.

Today there are many descendants of Gideon Wolfe and Margaret Wolfe Blake living in the Hamilton, Middletown, and Fairfield cities of Butler County, Ohio.

I have just recently accumulated knowledge of the early Wolfe generations. Many thanks and gratitude goes to Mr. Gilbert Taylor and Juanita Wells, and also the Hancock County Historical Society for their help. Gilbert and Juanita have kindly and generously shared their knowledge of the Wolfe family with me.

Related Story:

Manson E. Wolfe

Submitted by:

*Mrs. Virginia Dutze
4330 Randall Dr.
Hamilton, OH 45011*

Jeptha Thomas WOLFE, Sr. (1851-1891)

This story is about Jeptha Thomas Wolfe, Sr. and his family. Jeptha Thomas Wolfe was born March 3, 1851, the seventh child of George F. and Jane Allen Wolfe. Jeptha Thomas was my grandfather and any information I have is based on what I have heard, and should not be construed as fact without independent confirmation.

Jeptha was born in Hancock County, Tennessee and I know nothing of his childhood. As a young man he served about seven years in the U. S. Army. This was during the 1870's and most of his time in the army was spent in the West. After being honorably discharged from the army, he returned to Tennessee.

My father who was also named Jeptha Thomas Wolfe was born January 28, 1884 to Jeptha Thomas, Sr. and Louisa Steadman. We have no information at all about Louisa. My grandfather later married Paulina Henry and they had four children.

On June 11, 1891 my grandfather and his friend, Wiley Carpenter, and my father who was 7 years of age at the time were in a store when my grandfather and a man named Henry Bray got into an argument over a spelling bee which indicated my grandfather must have been teaching school. Henry Bray left, and my grandfather, Wiley Carpenter, and my father got on their horses and headed home. My father was riding behind my grandfather.

When they rode past Henry Bray's house, he came out and started shooting. My grandfather and Wiley Carpenter were killed, and my father was shot just below the rib cage and the bullet came out the back. He crawled into the bushes and escaped.

I have heard the argument went much deeper than the spelling bee, and the real issue was trouble between Wiley Carpenter and Henry Bray over land (Ed: the land was located on the north side of Clinch Mountain, on the south side of Copper Ridge). Both Carpenter and Bray descended from the Wolfe line.

After my grandfather died, Paulina took her four children and went home to her parents. My father stayed with his grandfather George until he died in 1897, and then he came to Oregon with his uncle, Captain Gideon Wolfe.

My father grew up in Wallowa, Oregon and married my mother, Rose Jane McCullough on June 2, 1909. I was born December 21, 1910 and am an only child. My father went to work for the Union Pacific Railroad about 1910 and retired as an engineer in 1949. He was a good provider, and I am very proud of him. He was very reluctant to talk about his boyhood as he went through some pretty rough years. He died November 18, 1971 at age 87, and my mother died June 14, 1975, at age 90.

I am 82 years old and have been retired 21 years. I am in good health, and am enjoying the Golden Years. I married Alberta Kirby on November 25, 1935, and we have three children. Our two girls, Kay and Susan are in the teaching profession. The youngest, Jeffrey Kirby Wolfe is a doctor in Portland, Oregon.

This is information I have gathered in various places and from various people. I wish now I had pressed my father harder about his youth, but his reluctance to talk made me back away.

Related Stories:

Jeptha Thomas Wolfe.

Manson E. Wolfe.

Submitted by:

*Harmon Wolfe
1603 Second St.
La Grande, OR 97850*

Jeptha Thomas WOLFE

I have read so many accounts of the Wolfe stories, that some information is either left out or in error. This is our version of the murder incident concerning Jeptha Thomas Wolfe and Wiley Carpenter. Wiley Carpenter was the brother of my great-grandmother (Sara Jane Carpenter), and Jeptha Thomas Wolfe was my great-grandfather's brother.

My brother, Ernest Smith, and his friend have spent many hours and contacts, including in Tennessee, gathering information on these Wolfe families.

The killing was over the land that Charles Wolf deeded to Adam Wolf back in 1803. The land was located on the north side of Clinch Mountain, on the south side of Copper Ridge, adjoining Charles Wolf. Jeptha Wolfe was the grandson of Adam. The killer was McHenry Bray, Jr, the great-grandson of Charles Wolf. It was alleged by Bray, Jr. that Adam never paid for the land, and this contention grew until one day McHenry ambushed and killed Jeptha Thomas Wolfe and Wiley Carpenter as they were on horseback, going home from school. Jeptha and McHenry were both teachers, and on that day both classes had been in a spelling bee, Jephtha's class won and that seemed to be the last straw (so to speak) for McHenry.

The small son of Jephtha was wounded, but lived. He crawled off in the brush and hid. McHenry came back to the scene later hunting the boy, but did not find him.

Little Jepp went to live with his grandfather George Franklin Wolf until George's death in 1897. Then Jepp's uncle Gideon Wolfe came and got him, and took him back to Oregon with him. Little Jepp lived out his life in Oregon.

Pauline (Henry) Wolfe took her 4 babies and went to live with her parents, William Henry and Nancy (Wolfe) Henry. The four children grew up and most resided in Alabama.

Wiley Carpenter was age 44 when he was killed. His wife was Nancy Edwards, daughter of Aaron and Sarah Edwards. Wiley was the son of John Carpenter and Sarah Henry.

Wiley and Sarah had 10 children: Felix Houston, born 11 February 1875, married Susie Lee Parker; William H.; Manson B.; Sarah Jane (Tyler); Amanda "Sissie" (Loving); Ida (Millicot); Bessie (Manning); Frank; Mary (Singleton); and Rector.

I was hoping that someone that knew the story real well would send it in to be printed in the upcoming book that is to be published, but my brother informed the closest descendants of information that they didn't seem to have.

Related Stories:

Felix Houston Carpenter.

Manson E. Wolfe.

Submitted by:

Nita Wells
9809 Home Place
Dallas, TX 75217

and

Ernest Smith
6825 Regis Street
Dallas, TX 75217

Manson E. WOLFE

Manson E. Wolfe was born February 5, 1842 in Hawkins County, Tennessee of parents George Franklin Wolfe and Sarah Jane Allen.

In 1862 Manson travelled to Flat Lick, Kentucky to enlist in the Tennessee Infantry as a volunteer in the Union Army. After the surrender of the Confederate Army, Manson was discharged with the rank of First Sergeant. He suffered a head injury and lung disease. The family had their share of sadness. One of the brothers of Manson died in the Civil War as a prisoner of war. Another of Manson's brothers, Jephtha Thomas was ambushed and killed. Both of the brothers left wives and small children.

Manson was a handsome fellow, five feet and eight inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds with fair complexion, dark hair, and blue-gray eyes. On January 21, 1866, he married Sarah Jane Carpenter, who was born February 17, 1845.

Manson became a Preacher in the Baptist Church. He was also a teacher. He was a member of the Odd Fellows (L.O.O.F.) and had a thirty-year pin.

Manson and Sarah Jane had four children: a boy, William Greenberry, born March 18, 1867, and three girls: Minerva Jane, born August 15, 1870; Mary Elizabeth, born July 27, 1877; and Lydia Samantha, born January 14, 1884.

In January 1889 Manson and his family left their home in Tennessee and went by train to Texas. It was said that a lot of food was prepared to take with them on the train, and it was very exciting to them as the train crossed the big Mississippi River.

The family settled in a home at Lebanon, Texas where both Manson and Sarah Jane died. Manson died November 2, 1917, and Sarah Jane died December 30, 1920.

The child Minerva Jane became my grandmother.

Related Stories:

Emmanuel Wolfe.

Jephtha Thomas Wolfe.

Sources:

Archives.

Family history.

Submitted by:

Juanita Wells
9809 Home Place
Dallas, TX 75217

Andrew J. and Roxie Orval (LOONEY) WOOD

Roxie Orval Looney, daughter of William Carroll Looney and his wife, Rachel, was born 23 April, 1863, in Hawkins County, Tennessee, 7 and 1/4 miles east of Rogersville, at a farm on Big Creek once owned by her great grandfather, Michael Looney, and the original homeplace of her grandfather Absalom David Looney.

Orve, as she was called by the Looneys, moved with his family in 1870 to Hamblen County, near Morristown. She married 21 December 1882, Andrew J. Wood, born 15 January 1858, and died 20 October 1920.

In about 1890 they bought out the Looney heirs and moved to the Looney home at Alpha to care for her parents through their declining years.

In 1900 they traded the Looney place for the Wood place nearer town, and lived there one year. In 1901 the family sold out and with four children, and Miss Rowe Looney, an elderly maiden sister, moved to southwest Oklahoma near Altus.

A.J. (or Gove, as he was called), was a farmer, a member of the rural Baptist Church called "Friendship" and served many years on District School Boards.

Roxie, as she was known in her Oklahoma community, was active in church and community affairs; taught a young people's Sunday School Class; attended conventions as a delegate; served in the W.M.U. Workers Council; helped with the quilting on Worker's Day; and baked cakes and pies for the "Sales" on Community Drives. During the annual revival Meetings, Roxie was always present to lead in prayer, and help the singing with a strong alto voice. The Wood home was a stopping place for preachers, but Roxie maintained that it was her fried chicken and dried apricot pies that attracted them.

A.J. died at the close of World War I. Both sons remained in service. After two attacks of the flu, Roxie's health was greatly impaired and she broke up housekeeping. She made her home with a daughter in Altus, and spent much time in the hospital. She suffered a third stroke in June, 1942, and died June 6, and is buried by the side of "Gove" in the family lot in the city cemetery of Altus, Oklahoma. A double red granite monument marks their graves. Five children were born to this union, four of which reached maturity. They were: Elsie; Annie (died at 8 months); Porter; Carroll.

Related Stories:

John Blair Looney.

Michael and Temperance (Cross) Looney.

William Carroll and Rachel Payne (George) Looney.

Prepared by: the late Elsie Wood Stroud (daughter of Roxie Orval Looney and Andrew J. Wood)

Submitted by:

John A. Stroud
Avondale Estates, GA 30002

WORSHAM-HENDRICKS

THOMAS JEFFERSON WORSHAM, born April 5, 1840, and died February 2, 1928, the youngest son of Rebecca Millard Worsham, married Sarah C. Hendricks, daughter of Nelson and Fanny Hendricks of Warren County, Tennessee. According to family records, the date was April 14, 1864. Sullivan County records list the date as February 12, 1870. It is believed that the 1864 marriage date is correct. The reason for this discrepancy is unknown.

The 1850 Census of Sullivan County, Tennessee lists the Rebecca Millard Worsham family as follows: Rebecca "Washam", age 46, Nancy, 23, Martha, 21, William, 17 (wagoner), Robert, 15, Orlando, 12, and Thomas, 10. Also listed with this family was William Carter, 21, laborer, born in Virginia.

The 1860 Census lists Thomas J. Worsham as married, wife, Margaret E. (age 18), with a son, William F. (5 months). If he was married prior to his marriage to Sarah, it was not known or ever mentioned by the family.

The family of Sarah Hendricks Worsham moved to Missouri in 1865. Sarah is said to have stayed behind, living with relatives while her husband served in the Civil War. He served in the 8th Tennessee Calvary.

Sarah's family was listed in the 1850 Tennessee Census as follows: Nelson Hendricks, age 45, Fanny, 40, Mirum (Miriam), 22, Russell, 19, Sarah, 16, Hiram, 11, Lucinda, 9, Rebecca, 6, Leroy, 1. Nelson was born in Georgia.

The children of Thomas and Sarah were: Frances Catherine (b. October 13, 1870), David J. (b. June 17, 1871), Rebecca Mildred (b. March 24, 1875), and Ralph (b. 1877). According to the 1900 Census there had been five children born to this marriage.

David J. Worsham was married twice, first to Maud Patterson in Cleveland, Tennessee; secondly to Susie Gribble Cash. Four daughters were born to the first marriage, Sarah Ethel, Bonnie Frances, Ruby Lee, and Carrie Beatrice. There were five children by the second marriage, Dewey, Loyd Lee, Mildred, Willie Pearle and Annie Lou. Susie Gribble Cash Worsham had a son by her first marriage.

Rebecca Mildred Worsham first married Thomas Denton Lee in a double wedding ceremony in which her sister, Frances Catherine, was married to Denton's nephew, Samuel Elkanah Kite. Three children were born to this union, an unnamed baby, Paul Dewey and Earle Spears Lee. After Denton's death, Rebecca married John W. Brown by whom she had a son, Louis M. He had two daughters by his first marriage. After Rebecca's death, Mr. Brown married her first cousin, Miriam Webb, of Missouri.

Thomas is buried in the Dodson Creek Cemetery, Strahl Community. Sarah died in June 1911 and is buried in a large church cemetery at White Pine, exact location unknown. His daughter, Rebecca, her husband, and infant son are also buried at Dodson Creek.

After Sarah's death Thomas married Cynthia King Couch, who had several children by her first husband.

Frances Catherine Worsham married Samuel Elkanah Kite (1870-1950) on August 14, 1892, in a double wedding as stated above. The children of Frances and Samuel Kite are: Myrtle Leona (1893-1956), Thomas Martin (1895-1911), Homer David (1897-1960), Ralph Willard (1900-1918), Elmer (born Sept. 7, 1903 - died Sept. 10, 1903), Mildred Grace (1906), William Taft (1908-1964), Charles Oliver (1911-1975), and a son born prematurely and buried on the family farm.

Myrtle Leona married Joseph Franklin Slater (1893-1968) on December 29, 1912, in Hawkins County. Their children: James Kite, Grace Pauline, Paul David, Ernest Charles William, Walter Reece, Earl Rufus, and Ruby Nell Slater.

Thomas Martin was killed by lightning at the Dodson Creek Methodist Church.

Homer David married Cordie Alice Walker (1906-1972) on September 12, 1927. Their children: Homer David, Jr., Paul Warren, Kenneth D., Mildred Blanche, Shirley Ethel, Bonnie Gay and Bennie Fay (twins), and Claude Edward Kite.

Mildred Grace married Robert Franklin Mooney (1899-1962) on September 1, 1926. Their daughter is Frances Jane.

William Taft married Nina Bernice Gibson (1908-1988) on October 1, 1928, at Kingsport. Their children: Sarah Venice, Clara Mae, Eva Glynn, Sam Thomas and William David.

Charles Oliver married Logan Elizabeth Gibson (1910), Nina's sister, on March 10, 1929, in Kingsport. Their children: Virginia Ruth, Betty Jo, Mary Catherine, Helen Jean, and Johnny Ralph.

Related Stories:

Kite-Gibson

Kite-Worsham-Lee

Mooney-Kite

Slater-Kite

Submitted by:

Clara Kite Testerman
304 Scenic Drive
Rogersville, TN 37857

The YOUNG Family

The Young family, one of the oldest families in the county, first came to Hawkins

County in 1762, when William Young came to Carter's Valley looking for land on which to settle.

After staking out a site, Young returned to get his wife, Caroline Walker Young. When he returned, though, he found a man named Thomas Gibbons on his land. The two men settled their differences with a fistfight, and Gibbons, the loser, moved on to his own place several miles southwest on Big Creek.

Members of the Young family still own some of the land originally granted by King George - one of only a few families in the county to hold onto the original land grant. The family home, known as Long Meadow for the long, natural meadow in front of the house, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is possibly the oldest structure in Tennessee built and lived in by the same family.

In 1763, William Young and his wife built a log pen, 17' by 25', that was the first structure at Long Meadow. During the Revolutionary War, William Young and his son John went off to fight for independence. Caroline stayed home to manage the farm, and aided by two slaves, supervised the building of the first of many outbuildings at Long Meadow.

In 1788, John Young married Margaret Galbraith - from one of several Scotch-Irish families settling in Carter's Valley.

John and Margaret Young had 14 children, and to accommodate their growing family, they added a second floor onto the original house.

In 1838, John Young, Jr. married Sarah Miller - from one of the early pioneer families settling on the Holston River. They continued adding on to Long Meadow, building a two-story log pen and a cellar alongside the original dwelling. Double galleries were added to both the front and back of the house.

When John Young, Sr. died, his widow Margaret, who was known throughout the county for her warm and gentle spirit and neighborliness, moved into a small cabin next to the main house.

In 1830, a number of the Young (and Carter) family members, all grandchildren of William Young, with their families, made the first of four migrations from Hawkins Co. to Missouri, settling first in Pettis Co., MO. Later migrations followed - in 1832, 1834, and 1838 - to Morgan, Lafayette, and Boone Counties.

Back in Hawkins Co., John Young, Jr. continued to run Long Meadow. The story is told in the family of Christmas Day in 1864, when Young's son-in-law, Maj. Joseph F. Foard, the husband of Cornelia Young, was arrested at Long Meadow by Gen. Stoneman. Foard, who had on a pair of new cavalry boots, stepped out on the porch to fetch some more apple brandy. Just as he did, Gen. Stoneman rounded a bend in the road above Long Meadow and spotted the soldier. Maj. Foard was forced to walk with the Union troops all the way to Knoxville in his new - and aching - boots.

When John Young died, his widow Sarah went to live with her daughter Kate, and Long Meadow was rented for a time to a dairy farmer in the county. This was the first - and only - time it was not occupied by the Young family.

In 1901, Wylie Young, one of John Jr.'s sons who had married and moved to Virginia, returned to Hawkins Co. with his wife, Ada, and two sons. He made major additions to Long Meadow, adding the two-storied bay window section.

Wylie's son, Henry Allen Young, who never married, lived for many years at Long Meadow, and ran the farm. He was joined in the early 1940's by his sister, Frances Young Schumacher and her husband Charles, who retired to Hawkins Co.

Their brother, Dr. Robert Miller Young, had taught school for a year or so in Hawkins Co. before moving to Knoxville, where he set up his medical practice. His children - Frances Young Torbett of Knoxville, Robert M. Young, Jr. of Sargovinsville and Georgianna Young Pearson of Marietta, Georgia - now own Long Meadow.

In all, six generations of Youngs - all descendants of William Young - have lived at the beautiful Long Meadow and helped to create and preserve it as a living landmark and legend in Hawkins County.

Related Story:

Arthur Galbraith

Submitted by:

*Sylvia Oberle
James A. Syock & Associates
500 Shepherd St., Suite 200
Winston-Salem NC 27103*

for:

*Frances Young Torbett
4641 Wye Way Lane
Knoxville, TN 37920*

James Harvey and Margaret (LAUGHNER) YOUNG

James Harvey YOUNG was born in Washington Co., TN (8 June 1825-14 December 1909), the son of Robert Douglas YOUNG (23 October 1795 - 10 September 1861) and Sarah McCARTY (10 August 1806-4 March 1850), Great-Grandson of Mary and Robert YOUNG of Johnson City, TN, and Grandson of Rachel KYLE and William McCARTY.

James married/1, 29 March 1854 in Greene Co., TN to Margaret LAUGHNER (4 November 1827-22 June 1898). Margaret was born in Greene Co. TN, the daughter of Jane (Jennie) SHIELDS and Daniel LAUGHNER. Margaret was the sister of Catherine E. LAUGHNER who was the 3rd wife of his father, Robert Douglas YOUNG. James was a resident of Hawkins Co., TN prior to his marriage and resided in the county near Rogersville until his death, where he was a farmer with all his children being born in the county. James is reported to have served in the U. S. Army during the Mexican War (Company A, 2nd Volunteers). After the death of his wife Margaret, James married/2, 5 February 1899 to Ola SHEPARD (b. c 1881 in VA), with 4 children born to this latter marriage. After the death of James, Ola is reported to have married...SIMS and in 1948 was a resident of Lynchburg, VA. James is buried in the YOUNG Cemetery, 2 miles north of Rogersville with Margaret being buried in the HOUNSHELL/SNAPP Cemetery of Hawkins Co.

The 10 children of James were: (1) James Robert YOUNG (1 April 1856 - 5 July 1932), removed to Ardmore, OK, Indian Territory prior to 1890 where he was a rancher and married c 1893 to Ella Eugenia JONES (17 June 1874-1 August 1963), born in Cooke Co., TX, daughter of Evaline LAMB and Somerfield JONES. In 1896 the family moved to Ada, OK where James was a merchant, rearing their 7 children in the area. Both James and wife are buried in the Rosedale Cemetery of Ada; (2) Sarah J. YOUNG (c 1858) married T.J BEACH; (3) Daniel McCarty YOUNG (c 1863 - c 1900) reported to have migrated west to TX, and died in a cattle drive; (4) Henry Taylor YOUNG (19 December 1867-27 December 1943) removed to OK, Indian Territory and also settled in Ada, OK, prior to 1890. Henry married on 27 December 1893 in Lone Grove, OK to Elma E. WALLING (28 December 1877-24 July 1956), born in Dallas Co., TX, the daughter of Lou Elma JESSE and John WALLING. Henry came to Ada, OK in 1895, settling on a farm 3 miles east of Ada. He and Elma's 9 children were all born on the farm, and both Henry and Elma are buried in Memorial Park Cemetery near Ada; (5) Emaline A. YOUNG (c 1870 - 8 June 1914) married on 12 November 1884 in Hawkins Co. to Robert Nicholas (Nick) HOUNSHELL (15 January 1863-3 October 1914), born in Tennessee. Emaline and Nick were farmers and resided near Rogersville, TN until they removed to Ada, OK c 1906. Two sons were born in Hawkins Co., Stephen (c 1884-30 July 1915), buried with parents, and James (c 1887-after 1957), married Anita and in 1957 was a resident in Oklahoma City, OK. Both boys moved to OK with their parents. Emaline and Nick are buried in Rosedale Cemetery in Ada; (6) James H. YOUNG (after 1880) reported to have remained in Hawkins Co., TN.; (7) William YOUNG (died an infant); (8)Ada Lee YOUNG; (9) Mattie Ruth YOUNG, married...HOLT, resided in 1942 in Gainesville, TN; and (10) Mary Bell YOUNG, reported to have removed to OH. Children 7, 8, 9, and 10 were by wife Ola.

Related Stories:

James and William McCarty Families.

Sources:

Letter dated 11 September 1949 by Prentice Price.

TN Census records.

Cemetery records of counties involved.

Family stories, and letters.

ROBERT YOUNG SR., PATRIOT AND PIONEER, by Simmons, dated 1984.

Submitted by:

*Dustin Stout
7313 N. W. 107th
Oklahoma City, OK 73162*

James Harvey YOUNG

James Harvey Young, born in Hawkins County, Tennessee on 8 June 1825, and died 14 December 1909, was the son of Robert Douglas and Sarah McCarty Young.

By his first marriage to Elizabeth there was a son, John Young, born in 1848.

By his second marriage, on 29 March 1854 in Greene Co., TN, to Margaret Laughner (4 November 1827-22 June 1898), daughter of Daniel and Jane Shields Laughner, Greene Co., TN, there were five children. James and Margaret Young were a farm family, rearing their children in Hawkins County.

After Margaret's death, James H. Young married thirdly on 5 February 1899 in Hawkins Co., TN to Ola Shepard. There were three children born to this union.

James Harvey Young served in the Mexican War, Co. A, 2nd Volunteers.

He resided in Hawkins County, and was buried in Young Cemetery, in Hawkins County.

James H. Young's children were: John Young (1848-?); James Robert Young (1 April 1856-5 July 1932), married Ella Eugenia Jones; Sarah J. Young (1858?), married T.J. Beach and removed to the Indian Territory by 1906; Daniel M. Young (1863-?); Henry Taylor Young (19 December 1867-27 December 1943), married Emma E. Walling; and Emaline Young (1870-8 June 1914), married on 12 November 1884 in Hawkins Co. to Robert Nicholas "Nick" Hounshell (15 January 1863-3 October 1914).

Nick Hounshell was the son of Robert A. and Catharine Cuppenhaur Hounshell. He was a farmer in Hawkins County prior to his move to the Indian Territory in 1900. Nick and Emaline were buried in Rosedale Cemetery in Ada Oklahoma.

Related Stories:

James Harvey and Margaret (Laughner) Young.

Robert Douglas Young.

Submitted by:

*Dessie L. Simmons
500 Hillrise Blvd.
Johnson City, TN 37601*

Robert Douglas YOUNG

Robert Douglas Young was born on 23 October 1795, and he died on 10 September 1861. He was the son of Robert Young, Jr. and Phebe Douglas Young of Washington County, Tennessee. He was also the grandson of Robert Young, Sr. and Mary Young.

When Robert grew to adulthood, he moved to Hawkins County where he married and had one child. His second marriage was to Sarah McCarty (1806-1850) who was the ninth of thirteen children born to Rachel Kyle (1774-1818) and William McCarty (1764-1818). Robert Douglas Young married the third time 6 April 1855 in Greene County, Tennessee to Catherine Emeline Laughner. They were married by Samuel Sawyer, MG with his son, James H. Young as witness. Emeline was a sister to Margaret I. Laughner who married Robert D. Young's son, James H. Young.

Of Robert D. Young's three marriages: by the first marriage, a son, Robert D. Young, Jr., who moved to Gentry County, Missouri by 1865. By the second marriage: Arthur; James H.; Clinton; William; Sarah; Douglas; John; McCarty; Leah; Luther; Joseph; Margaret; and Phebe Young. By the third marriage: Porter Young and an unnamed child.

Robert D. Young and Sarah M. Young's second son was James Harvey Young (1825-1909). James Harvey and his wife Margaret I. Laughner were married in Greene County 29 March 1854. They had six children - one of whom was James R. Young (1856-July 1932), who was in Ada, Oklahoma in the Indian Territory by 1899. He married Eugenia Jones (1874-1963). They came to Lona Grove, west of Ardmore, in 1882 and spent fifteen years in the cattle business, then moved to Ada, Oklahoma in 1897 and was a merchant. He was appointed postmaster at Ada in 1901.

They had seven children: Clytie L. Young; Paul A. Young; Manilia Young; Dudley E. Young; Ruth E. Young; Muriel E. Young; and James R. Young, Jr.

Robert Douglas Young and Sarah McCarty Young were buried in the Young Cemetery in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

Related Stories:

John Long.

James and William McCarty Families.

James Harvey Young.

Submitted by:

Dessie L. Simmons
500 Hillrise Blvd.
Johnson City, TN 37601